The intercessors are told in this year's Day of Atonement revelation, "File charges against mother nature". When Jesus and His disciples were crossing the sea of Galilee a storm empowered with demonic forces attempted to withstand them. The Lord stood in the boat and rebuked the storm. He expelled the evil power enforcing the squall bringing a calm to the Sea of Galilee.

In the same way, the intercessors are being challenged to stand in the authority of God's Word and rebuke the demonic forces empowering many of the devastating storms. The Lord is allowing many of the natural disasters that are coming to the earth. However, the enemy enters in to these storms and greatly amplifies the devastating effects. The amount of damage done by the coming natural disasters will depend greatly upon the willingness of the church to intercede and combat these forces on behalf of mankind.

The term "mother nature" used by the world is a reference to fire, wind, rain, flood, hail and other such storms. When the judgments of God were allowed on the nation of Egypt, culminating in the death angel passing over Egypt, the nation of Israel was given a covering to protect them from this judgment.

God covenant people were told to place blood on the doorpost of their homes. This act of obedience allowed the death angel to pass over His people; the Lord would not "allow the judgment to touch Israel".

When the Lord sees the blood of His Son on the house of faith, then many of these judgments will pass over the church. However, we must act in obedience to God's Word and intercede on behalf of the believing church as well as the world. The effectual prayers of the righteous will remove the amplified effect of the storms and their devastating results.
The first way to turn back the effect of God's judgments is through repentance. After repentance we then go to the courts of God to “file charges” against the evil that is being released in the earth bringing devastation. In essence, we are going to the Lord's courthouse in order to call upon the justice of God.

Plague 1 - The Blood (Exodus 7:19-25)

As a result of this miracle all the fish abiding in the Nile died. The fish perished because of polluted water.

The admonition to the church during this year is to be extremely careful of the water that we drink. Throughout the Bible the anointed Word is referred to as water. However, when that water has been polluted as described in Jeremiah 23, it then becomes unsuitable for drinking. Biblical teaching that has the precepts of man injected becomes polluted.

When people reject the revelation of the anointed word and continue to drink polluted water will not be able to function if God’s end-time blueprint. Without God’s great grace we will no longer be able to function and survive in the atmosphere that is coming.

Much of the common grace that people have been surviving by will be removed bringing great pressure to those who have not totally committed themselves to the Lord and to the revelation of His Word.

There is much witchcraft, idolatry, and sorcery that presently exists within the institution referred to as "the church". Those who have exercised a spirit of control over people will no longer be able to do so; but there must be a renewal of a "RIGHT" spirit according to the Lord's divine nature and His Holy Character.

The leaven of the Pharisees as described by the Lord is a reference to man-made teachings that pollutes the true revelation of God's Word. This admonition is a call for the removal of the leaven from the Lord's House.

The releases of the ten plagues of Egypt were like dominoes with one plague leading into the next. So shall it be in the coming plagues. One plague will actually set the stage for the release of the next. The blood also has the implication of the beginning of economic shaking. We will not see the collapse of the economy during this year but we will see considerable shaking that will erode the foundations of trust within people.

Those who have put their trust in anything other than the Lord will have those foundations shaken, thus setting the stage for a purging of the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye and the boastful pride of life. (I John 2:15-16)

This will reveal what kind of water people have been drinking. If the church has been placing its trust and faith in the economy or in any other thing outside of the Word of God, then that polluted water will cause those areas of the people to perish. They must then purge themselves of these evil lusts and replace them with faith in God's anointed Word.

The bombardment of evil reports from the news media concerning events occurring in this country will continue to escalate. If a person looks at those reports without having faith in God then they will become neurotic and will look for something to calm them during these seasons of testing.

Plague 2 - The Frogs - EXODUS 8:1-15

The frogs also represented divinity to the Egyptians. This form of false god was revealed to be nothing more than putrefied flesh and the source of a fowl odor that covered the entire land of Egypt. So shall it be in the coming year with false gods that people have erected for themselves that will be unable to neither save them nor provide a source of peace during the coming tribulations. Even within the church there are many who have made idols out of images and other such false gods that will be rendered powerless and exposed for what they truly are.

Even as Israel had to endure the first three plagues of Egypt so shall the church experience the first portion of the judgments that are coming to the earth. Even though we will be experiencing tribulation and hardship, we are to be encouraged through Habbakkuk 3:16-18.

Though it is not an encouragement to hear that the church will endure certain trials during the coming season, it is imperative to know the mind of the Lord so that we can properly respond according to His Word. Even in the hardship and trials, “yet I will exalt in the Lord, I will rejoice in the God of my salvation.” When we obediently respond in this manner then the season of trials will come quickly to an end and the Lord will give us peace and joy in the midst of storms.

Plague 3 - Gnats - Exodus 8:16-19

This year will see a great shaking of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Men attempting to intellectually understand many things taking place this year will result in frustration and disillusionment. Their failed attempts will result in the admission, like the magicians of Egypt that this "is the finger of God". This is an indication of much insanity that will be seen during the course of this year and the time that follows.

The church will turn their eyes toward God and cry for help and the Lord will put a division between the church and the world when they do. This will mark a release in the demonic realm on a higher level that we have not been accustomed to before now. This release will take place in the "thought" realm against the mind and imaginations of man. The church should be admonished to "gird up the loins of her mind" and rest our hope fully on the divine favor that is to be brought to us at the revelation of Jesus Christ. (I Peter 1:13)

The gnats and mosquitoes represent aggravation, irritation, frustration, defeat and discouragement in a profound way. When a Christian experiences these emotions and allows them to consume their thinking, then they become unable to hear from God, allowing the enemy to successfully sidetrack them from the purposes established for them by the Spirit. We are instructed to rejoice even in the midst of these circumstances so that our minds can remain clear and focused upon the Lord in order to receive further instructions and clear discernment.

One thing that is certain, we cannot base our relationship with God upon our own works. It is not because of any merits of our own but because of His loving kindness and compassion that we stand. Those who base their understanding of their relationship with the Father on the works that they accomplish for Him will be sorely disappointed as they recognize the futility of their works. Doing things for the Lord in obedience is appropriate. However, the fullness of our relationship with the Lord is based completely upon His finished work at the cross and His divine favor.

The hoard of demons will do everything they can to rob us of our peace and get us into strife and will try our longsuffering to tempt us in impatience. They will try our faithfulness to see if they can keep us from doing the things that the Lord has called us to do. Instead of gentleness, they will attempt to force us to make rash decisions and instead of self-control, they will attempt to make us angry.

This is not a year that we will have our own way. The church and the world will not have its way this year. The Lord's ways are so much higher than our ways and His thoughts are so much greater than our thoughts that we must now lay aside our ways and our thoughts and take upon ourselves His ways. (Isaiah 55:7-9) Satan wants to replace good thoughts with seeing everything that is evil. He wants to rob us of the fruit of the Spirit.

The enemy wants to make us cruel to those around us rather than sources of blessings and sources of light that will provide illumination during this season of darkness.

Plague 4 - Insects - Exodus 8:20-32

The Lord is now going to bring a division between the church and the world. Many have observed that there is little distinction between those who are in the church and those that are in the world. These hardships that are coming will mark a true line of demarcation between that which belongs to God and that, which does not.

Even as the land of Goshen was set apart so shall the faithful believers in Christ be set apart during the midst of these hardships and tribulations. All authority has been given to Christ and He has delegated that authority to the church. It will now be time for the church to assume her rightful position of authority and intercede in a new spirit of unity.

Thus far, the enemy has been able to conquer through division as the church has been separated into many segments and streams of belief. However, history has proven that unity is always the end result of an attack by a common enemy. The church will now enter in to a new level of unity as a result of these things that are coming. The Lord will then loose His angels and His power to bring true separation between the church and the darkness of the world. This will result in tremendous torment and darkness for those apart from Christ.

The demonic opposition to the mind will become so great that those without Christ will literally become numb in their thinking and overwhelmed by hopelessness. In the natural realm we will see many blood infections and infectious diseases spreading on a new level. The El Nino' that is coming will release biological germs and infections throughout the foods that we eat and the weather patterns will result in increased spread of new diseases and infections that we have not known before. Man shall not be "at ease" but will be "dis-eased". (Leviticus 26:20)

Plagues of man, pestilence, famine, war and the wild human spirit unrestrained will result in the bank account of man being "sucked" dry. Even as the Ghad flies sucked the blood out of man so shall the substance of man be sucked dry.

It is recorded that the ghad flies were more numerous and annoying than gnats and when enraged fasten themselves to the human body, especially to the edges of the eyelids and become a dreadful plague. This represents the addictions that are the result of the "lust of the eyes and lust of the flesh". These addictions are the results of man's search for pleasure outside of Christ. The eye is the gateway to the soul and we must be especially careful of what we allow ourselves to watch.

Who among us can live with continual burning...he who stops his ears from hearing about bloodshed, and shuts his eyes from looking upon evil. (Isaiah 33:14-15)

We must flee to our prayer closet; for only there shall we find the rest of God. There our strength and substance can be replenished through the blood of Christ and His Holy Spirit.

Plague 5 - Pestilence - (Exodus 9:1-7)

The substance of the world will affect the stock market. Even as this judgment destroyed the livestock of Egypt so shall all that man places the "stock" of his life in be destroyed. This is primarily in reference to the stock market and the economic tremors that are coming. The earthquake itself will not come during this year but there will be many tremors.

Men's hearts will fail them because of the things that will shortly be coming upon the world. However, the church shall prosper and grow strong during this season. A clear line of distinction shall be seen between the church and the world. Whatever things the world puts their stock into, other than Christ, shall fail this year and the years that follow.

Plague 6 - The Boils - (Exodus 9:8-12)

As the judgments continue in a domino effect, the body is weakened from the diseases and viruses that are being released in the earth. Through this weakness in our bloodstream, sores will emerge both in the natural realm and in the spiritual.

Boils are extremely sensitive sores that create great pain when touched. So shall many of the elements of life that people have put their trust in be exposed as futility, which creates a very tender sore spot in the hearts and minds of people! However, those who respond in obedience to Christ during this time will be granted a spirit of repentance according to II Timothy 2:25-26. There is power in the blood of Christ obtained through heartfelt repentance and reconciliation.

There will be a genuine release of the spirit of repentance among the believers during this year and the time to follow. Many will "OVERCOME" this year by the Blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony. This year, we must choose whom we shall serve. The opportunity is given to return to Christ; yet if that opportunity is not taken advantage of, then there will be an increased hardening of the heart.

The spirit of repentance will set many free. The scriptures tell us that if we have love for the things of the world then the love of the Father are not in us. A great percentage of the church still holds to a love for the world. That separation will be taking place beginning this year.

Plague 7 - Hail - (Exodus 9:17-35)

The voice of the Lord will be calling forth the wind, the hail, the fire and the famine but the Lord is not in either of these. He is in the still small voice. He is going to speak in the still small voice as heard by the prophet Elijah.

I will make justice the measuring line and righteousness the level; then hail will sweep away the refuge of lies and the waters will overflow the secret place. —Isaiah 28:17

During the course of this year the Lord is going to profoundly take issue with the doctrinal error presently in the church. Where doctrinal error once had a stronghold, the Spirit of Truth will now reign. The Lord is going to release like hail the Spirit of Truth that will bombard, shatter and destroy all strongholds of error that have been taught and embraced by the church.

This will be a release of the "Rhema" word— the God anointed and God breathed Truth by the spirit of revelation." The Apostle Paul once prayed that believers would have a spirit of wisdom and REVELATION OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF CHRIST. It is this strong spirit of revelation that will be released bringing true light to the scriptures.

A vivid distinction will be made between the things that the Lord is supporting and those that He is not. That distinction will be made by the Spirit of Truth, which will guide us into all truth and reveal to us things to come. The spirit of error that has prevailed in the church is high on the Lord's target list and of a great priority to Him during this year and the years to follow.

The Lord is going to sprinkle clean water upon us that we may be cleansed of all filthiness and idolatry. Any form of false god embraced by people will be revealed for what it is. The Spirit of Truth will then cleanse those who embrace His judgments and His Word, in obedience, in order to receive a new heart and spirit. Then the Lord will impart His Spirit in us, causing us to live according to His statutes and His ordinances. (Ezekiel 36:25-27)

Even in judgment the Lord showed mercy to Egypt as He admonished the Egyptians to flee the fields to safety in order to alleviate certain death. Those who were obedient to this admonition survived and those that were not, perished.

Plague 8 - Locust - (Exodus 10:1-20)

The East wind is always a judgment wind. A spirit of poverty will be released to eat up the substance of the world. If you are a Christian, and the world is your source, then get ready for poverty. However, if God is your source then get ready for the storm shelter of God, which is the secret place of the Most High. That is not only a place of protection and fellowship but it is a place of promise. For it is written in the scriptures,

I once was young but now I am old and I have never seen the righteousness forsaken nor His seed begging bread. --Psalm 37:25

influences from the east, and they are soothsayers like the philistines, and they strike bargains with the children of. — Isaiah 2:6

Spiritual famine is the result of mixing the true revealed Word of God with influences from the East or psychological teachings from far-eastern religions. Much of the philosophy and psychology that is counseled in the church is actually the result of many eastern influences. This will produce spiritual famine and death and must be alleviated for true spiritual growth. There will even be sorcery and divination masquerading as true prophetic ministry. Spiritual discernment is essential in the days to come.

This year will provide a great reward for those that are righteous and respond in humility to the Word of the Lord and the purging that is forthcoming. Great fellowship and provision are promised for those that respond in such a manner; yet hardship and tribulation for those who do not.

Everything the Lord has been speaking through these plagues and the promises that are given to those who obediently respond, are not limited to this country or a small geographic region. They are intended for the entire world and have international implications. As it is written in the Psalm the whole earth shall see the salvation of our God.

Plague 9 - Darkness - (Exodus 10:21-29)

The darkness that was brought upon Egypt was so great that they could not see one another, and no man arose from his place. The Israelites alone "had light in their dwellings" (verse 23). This does not refer to their houses but means that their part of the land was not visited by this plague.

If your god is not the Lord then get ready for great darkness. Depression, fear, and defeat will be your gods. However if the Lord is your God then be ready to dwell in "the orange light of the Lord". This, I believe is a reference to the companionship and intimacy that is available to those that respond in faithfulness and obedience.

The Lord is going to send people with a ministry like unto Joseph. Joseph was not only a prophet but he was also a deliverer who provided a source of plenty in time of famine. He is going to impart divine wisdom to certain people allowing them to be sources of plenty even during the seasons of darkness and famine.

Great darkness and famine will exist in the world while the land of the church will experience light and sources of plenty.

Even in the great darkness that will exist in the world, the Glory of God will be seen in the church. The purging, cleansing and purification through these judgments and hardships will be the preparation for the visitation of the Glory of the Lord. The Glory of the Lord will begin to be seen in the church in this season. (Isaiah 62:1-5)

Many of the things that will be initiated by the Holy Spirit during the course of this year will actually continue for the next seven years. We are entering into a new seven-year season of the Spirit that will see the unfolding of all these things. We must have the discernment of Elijah who was not moved by neither the earthquake nor the great wind, but responded with humility and discernment to the still small voice that produced the Glory of God.

Plague 10 Death of the Firstborn - (Exodus 11:1-12:30)

The human faith that has been placed in government and in science and our legal system will fail. The firstborn is considered to be the strength of a nation. Get ready for your strength to fail you if you do not have the blood of Jesus Christ on the doorpost of your heart. For through that blood the Holy Spirit will have access to come into His temple to instruct His people.

These things will be the sign of great deliverance for the church. To extract the humanism and Eastern philosophy that exists in the church. We must be filled with the obedience of a disciple. These are considered to be the friends of God.

The latter days will be marked by incredible restoration. This will transpire for the righteous in every arena of their lives. These blessings will include spiritual maturity, personal health as well as emotional strength. Furthermore, notable natural and spiritual resources will be delegated to this emerging army. The "fortunes of Israel," will be replenished in a multiplied fashion.

God's chosen people will now leave Egypt— the spirit of this world! There will be a separation in the coming season that is more notable than anything we have understood in recent years. This exodus will also incorporate the wealth of the wicked that has been stored up for the righteous. There will be a separation between those who have been sanctified in their spirit, soul, and body from spiritual corruption and those who sponsor it. Furthermore, the liberal mind-set will be glad of it, even as Egypt rejoiced at the departure of Israel.

Fear will be a great nemesis in the coming season. If we have not secured ourselves firmly in the faith of God, then we could be prone to be overcome by anxiety. People in the world will experience extreme pressure from the shaking that is now taking place and will escalate. Possessing peace in the midst of storms will be a great evangelistic tool. The lost will seek peace and those who carry it.

More natural and spiritual shaking is on the horizon. There is another El Niño being formed in the Pacific that will once again bring turbulent weather to this nation. In last years Shepherd's Rod (2004) there was an inverted 7 superimposed over this nation in one of the visions. This was to represent plans and devices of the adversary that are set against this nation. They are strategies of darkness that must be overcome.

Much of the disaster we have seen in this nation has been the result of this evil design. Many of the very places the Lord has identified for expressions of outpouring are the ones being smitten by storms, floods and earthquakes. In contrast, the Lord also revealed an upright "7" to indicate a work of completion done in the body of people prepared for notable anointing. This "7" began in the Gulf Coast region; the very place where four major storms struck this nation. It then went to the Northeast and made the turn across the northern part of the nation to Washington. We are watching carefully these regions.

A cleansing fire is being released in the Church. There is a greater manifestation of the Holy Spirit that forms a spiritual canopy and source of purification. Isaiah 4: 4-6

There will be a release of strong spiritual meat coming in due season that will come on the wind of the Spirit. There is a present call to maturity that must be responded to. The hour has come and a fullness of time juncture in church and human history has arrived. We must become who we have been ordained to be at this crucial crossroad in God's blueprint. Hebrews 5:13-14; Hebrew 6:1

The quail for Israel was either a blessing or a curse depending upon the condition of the heart. The meat that is coming will strengthen some while choking others who have not cultivated a hearing ear and openness to the spirit of revelation.

Times of desperation and hardship will advance in this season; in them the "Joseph’s" and "Daniel’s" will shine most brilliantly. Each of these forerunners excelled in spiritual and governmental leadership during times of difficulty. Not because of any virtue of their own, but because of the spiritual endowments entrusted to them.

The Lord will be releasing spiritual water to dry and thirsty Christians and churches. The next season of the spirit will mark visitations from God in places that we least expect. A holy unrest has been imparted to a large segment of the church that has been unable to continue in former traditions. God will respond to their desire when it is presented in humility and honesty.

There are commissions and promises that were given to certain leaders and groups that have not yet been fulfilled. Some of these pledges go back to the early part of the century following the outpouring of Azusa Street. There will now be a recapturing of these promises and a return to former heritage.

Verse 42-45

God always honors His word. Former promises and bestowals of grace will be remembered and deposited into this generation. Abraham had been in Paradise for several centuries when the Lord remembered His divine promise to the patriarch. The Lord then began His search for the champion who would be the instrument of His fulfillment. In Moses, God found what He needed! If we, like Moses, possess meekness and obedience, we will likewise stand before the Lord as His representation on earth. Psalms 138:2

For the righteous there will be an abundance of blessings in the coming season. However, there must be proper stewardship. If we do not appropriate these blessings with a Kingdom standard, then we can likewise come under the justice of God and His discipline. (Deuteronomy 28:47)

We are to ask for the nations as our inheritance. With the promise and pledge for our birthright, there comes provision for the promise. Our main directive in this quest is charity! All that we do should be from a posture of passion for the Lord and compassion for people. The Lord will remove our stony heart as He sprinkles clean water upon us. He will then give us a heart after His own. The new heart will possess a desire for the Kingdom and willingness to live according to His standard. Ezekiel 36:25-27; Romans 13:9-10

Special Report On The Passion

Rick Joyner

January 9, 2004
Mel Gibson's, The Passion of the Christ is one of the most controversial films to be produced in a long time. There is a reason for this-it is one of the most anointed and powerful films produced in a very long time.

I watched it with a small group of invited guests a few weeks ago. It was by far the hardest movie that I have ever watched, but was also the most powerful and impacting. After watching great movies, I often wake up the next day thinking about them, and will often think about them for a few days afterwards. After watching, The Passion, it almost completely dominated my thoughts for days, and now that it has been weeks after I saw it, I still spend time each day pondering it. It touched something within me that deeply.

I don't think there is any question that this is the most accurate, honest portrayal of the crucifixion ever screened. The acting, directing, and overall quality of the movie is excellent, but there is more to it than that. There is an anointing on it. Even before I saw it, I knew it had the power to begin changing Christianity. I know this may sound like a wild exaggeration, but I believe it to be true. It is my earnest prayer that every Christian will see this movie.

It is graphic. It is like watching the torture of the One you love the most for more than an hour. Several times it was so intense that I was about to get up and leave the room, and then, with extraordinary timing, there would be a flashback to a happier time in the Lord's life. I was able to catch my breath, and then I was thrust back to the most terrible day in human history.

I watched this movie with what I thought would be a very tough audience. There were many entertainers, entertainment company executives, and accomplished artists present-the kind of people whose eye for excellence could not but help to cause them to catch every little flaw or mistake. I was stunned by the weeping I heard across the room. When the lights came on at the end, the entire group looked like deer which had been caught in the headlamps of a car. When it was over, Mel walked up front to answer questions, but it was a very, long awkward time before any one could say anything.

It was curious to me how the pope replied after he viewed it, basically saying, "That's the way it was." For one of the most articulate men of our times, who knows many languages, that he could muster only five words in response is in itself a major statement. This movie will probably leave you speechless for a good while.

If it is like this watching a movie, which was just an hour and a half, what was it like for His disciples, His mother, and the other women who stayed with Him when He was crucified? After having lived with Jesus for more than three years, coming to know who He was, loving Him, and seeing Him endure what He did for their sakes, was without question the power behind their radical commitment, giving them the willingness to suffer for the gospel that gripped the first century church. What Mel Gibson has produced is just a movie, but it may be as accurate as it can be in a movie, and it has an anointing on it that can help us in the same way. If Jesus did that for us, what must we do for Him?

When we showed a few clips from this movie at our Harvest Fest Conference last September, they were so graphic that I was concerned about having the children see them. Then I heard that after watching the clips, my eleven-year old son and his friends were crying almost uncontrollably. I was alarmed until I heard his response to why he was crying like that. He said simply, "I can't believe God would do that for me!"

I think that simple statement captures the most basic message of this movie and of the cross itself.

The cross has been sanitized and homogenized to the point of losing its power. The Lord did not just die for us-He submitted Himself to the most cruel torture of which demented human minds could conceive. Evil vented its rage on Him with all of the power that it could muster on that day. He took it all for us.

There will never be a more powerful demonstration of the love and character of God than what was demonstrated in the last twelve hours of the Lord's life on this earth as a man. This is why His highest title in heaven, and the one the Scripture implies that He will be called forever, is the Lamb.

We have been prophesying for more than twenty years that the cross would be popular again. The church is going to embrace the cross again. I Corinthians 1:18 says, "For the word of the cross is to those who are perishing foolishness, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." Because the cross "is the power of God," when the church embraces the cross, it can be trusted with the power.

As Paul also said in I Corinthians 4:20, "For the kingdom of God does not consist in words, but in power." For the church to preach the gospel of the kingdom at the end as it is called to do, we must have the power. If we want to experience the power of God in our daily lives, we must take up the cross daily. Great power is coming to the church at the end, and it will come because the church has embraced the cross.

I would like to also say something about the opposition to this movie that has come. To date I do not think that anyone who has seen it has opposed it. The most influential leaders of the church from across the spectrum of Christianity have endorsed it. The fears that it will release anti-Semitism are completely unfounded. In fact, every one of the heroes in this movie are Jewish, as are almost all of the heroes in the gospels, and the entire Bible.

My greatest concern is the way that the extremists who claim to be defending against anti-Semitism are themselves driving many to anti-Semitism by their tactics. This extremist group comes across like the very embodiment of the spirit that hijacked the leadership of Israel under Rome, and was the greatest persecutor of Jesus Himself, just as it is in this important movie about Him.

It will probably hit the news at some point about the extreme things that this small group of Jewish extremists have done to try to keep this movie from being distributed. Their threats and intimidations are backfiring, but many Christians who have traditionally been true friends of Israel are already being tempted to become anti-Semitic because of the behavior of these extremists. We cannot let this happen.

These extremists probably represent less than 2 percent of the Jewish population. One of the worst deceptions that continues to bring much destruction to mankind is our tendency to judge others, or other people groups, by their most extreme elements. Let us never forget that our Savior was Jewish. The writers of the New Testament were Jewish, as were the writers of the rest of the Scriptures.

The Lord promised Abraham that his seed would be a blessing to all of the families on the face of the earth, and the Jewish people have fulfilled this-they have been the greatest blessing to every nation, people, and culture, and they still are. Their ultimate destiny, which is clear in the Scriptures, will ultimately make the Jewish people again the greatest heroes of truth and righteousness. Do not let a handful of radical extremists rob you of your support and loyalty for not only God's chosen people, but also for His purposes in our times that will be revealed through them.

Also, do not let them rob you of seeing this movie. It does have the power to begin a profound change of Christianity in our times-which is desperately needed.

Paul Harvey Comments on "The Passion" by Mel Gibson

Paul Harvey's words:
I really did not know what to expect. I was thrilled to have been invited to a private viewing of Mel Gibson's film "The Passion," but I had also read all the cautious articles and spin. I grew up in a Jewish town and owe much of my own faith journey to the influence. I have a life long, deeply held aversion to anything that might even indirectly encourage any form of anti-Semitic thought, language or actions.

I arrived at the private viewing for "The Passion", held in Washington DC and greeted some familiar faces. The environment was typically Washingtonian, with people greeting you with a smile but seeming to look beyond you, having an agenda beyond the words. The film was very briefly introduced, without fanfare, and then the room darkened. From the gripping opening scene in the Garden of Gethsemane, to the very human and tender portrayal of the earthly ministry of Jesus, through the betrayal, the arrest, the scourging, the way of the cross, the encounter with the thieves, the surrender on the Cross, until the final scene in the empty tomb, this was not simply a movie; it was an encounter, unlike anything I have ever experienced.

In addition to being a masterpiece of film-making and an artistic triumph, "The Passion" evoked more deep reflection, sorrow and emotional reaction within me than anything since my wedding, my ordination or the birth of my children. Frankly, I will never be the same. When the film concluded, this "invitation only" gathering of "movers and shakers" in Washington, DC were shaking indeed, but this time from sobbing. I am not sure there was a dry eye in the place. The crowd that had been glad-handing before the film was now eerily silent. No one could speak because words were woefully inadequate. We had experienced a kind of art that is a rarity in life, the kind that makes heaven touch earth.

One scene in the film has now been forever etched in my mind. A brutalized, wounded Jesus was soon to fall again under the weight of the cross. His mother had made her way along the Via Della Rosa. As she ran to him, she flashed back to a memory of Jesus as a child, falling in the dirt road outside of their home. Just as she reached to protect him from the fall, she was now reaching to touch his wounded adult face. Jesus looked at her with intensely probing and passionately loving eyes (and at all of us through the screen) and said "Behold I make all things new."

These are words taken from the last Book of the New Testament, the Book of Revelations. Suddenly, the purpose of the pain was so clear and the wounds, that earlier in the film had been so difficult to see in His face, His back, indeed all over His body, became intensely beautiful. They had been borne voluntarily for love.

At the end of the film, after we had all had a chance to recover, a question and answer period ensued. The unanimous praise for the film, from a rather diverse crowd, was as astounding as the compliments were effusive. The questions included the one question that seems to follow this film, even though it has not yet even been released. "Why is this film considered by some to be "anti-Semitic?" Frankly, having now experienced (you do not "view" this film) "the Passion" it is a question that is impossible to answer. A law professor whom I admire sat in front of me. He raised his hand and responded "After watching this film, I do not understand how anyone can insinuate that it even remotely presents that the Jews killed Jesus. It doesn't." He continued "It made me realize that my sins killed Jesus" I agree. There is not a scintilla of anti-Semitism to be found anywhere in this powerful film. If there were, I would be among the first to decry it. It faithfully tells the Gospel story in a dramatically beautiful, sensitive and profoundly engaging way.

Those who are alleging otherwise have either not seen the film or have another agenda behind their protestations. This is not a "Christian" film, in the sense that it will appeal only to those who identify themselves as followers of Jesus Christ. It is a deeply human, beautiful story that will deeply touch all men and women. It is a profound work of art. Yes, its producer is a Catholic Christian and thankfully has remained faithful to the Gospel text; if that is no longer acceptable behavior than we are all in trouble. History demands that we remain faithful to the story and Christians have a right to tell it. After all, we believe that it is the greatest story ever told and that its message is for all men and women. The greatest right is the right to hear the truth.

We would all be well advised to remember that the Gospel narratives to which "The Passion" is so faithful were written by Jewish men who followed a Jewish Rabbi whose life and teaching have forever changed the history of the world. The problem is not the message but those who have distorted it and used it for hate rather than love. The solution is not to censor the message, but rather to promote the kind of gift of love that is Mel Gibson's filmmaking masterpiece, "The Passion."

It should be seen by as many people as possible. I intend to do everything I can to make sure that is the case. I am passionate about "The Passion." You will be as well. Don't miss it!

Mel Gibson's Passion For "The Passion"
David Limbaugh

How ironic that when a movie producer takes artistic license with historical events, he is lionized as artistic, creative and brilliant, but when another takes special care to be true to the real-life story, he is vilified. Actor-producer Mel Gibson is discovering these truths the hard way as he is having difficulty finding a United States studio or distributor for his upcoming film, "The Passion," which depicts the last 12 hours of the life of Jesus Christ.

Gibson co-wrote the script and financed, directed and produced the movie. For the script, he and his co-author relied on the New Testament Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, as well as the diaries of St. Anne Catherine Emmerich (1774-1824) and Mary of Agreda's "The City of God."

Gibson doesn't want this to be like other sterilized religious epics. "I'm trying to access the story on a very personal level and trying to be very real about it." So committed to realistically portraying what many would consider the most important half-day in the history of the universe, Gibson even shot the film in the Aramaic language of the period. In response to objections that viewers will not be able to understand that language, Gibson said, "Hopefully, I'll be able to transcend the language barriers with my visual storytelling; if I fail, I fail, but at least it'll be a monumental failure."

To further insure the accuracy of the work, Gibson has enlisted the counsel of pastors and theologians, and has received rave reviews. Don Hodel, president of Focus on the Family, said, "I was very impressed. The movie is historically and theologically accurate." Ted Haggard, pastor of New Life Church in Colorado Springs, Colo., and president of the National Evangelical Association, glowed: "It conveys, more accurately than any other film, who Jesus was."

During the filming, Gibson, a devout Catholic, attended Mass every morning because "we had to be squeaky clean just working on this." From Gibson's perspective, this movie is not about Mel Gibson. It's bigger than he is. "I'm not a preacher, and I'm not a pastor," he said. "But I really feel my career was leading me to make this. The Holy Ghost was working through me on this film, and I was just directing traffic. I hope the film has the power to evangelize."

Even before the release of the movie, scheduled for March 2004, Gibson is getting his wish. "Everyone who worked on this movie was changed. There were agnostics and Muslims on set converting to Christianity...[and] people being healed of diseases." Gibson wants people to understand through the movie, if they don't already, the incalculable influence Christ has had on the world. And he grasps that Christ is controversial precisely because of WHO HE IS - GOD incarnate. "And that's the point of my film really, to show all that turmoil around him politically and with religious leaders and the people, all because He is Who He is."

Gibson is beginning to experience first hand just how controversial Christ is. Critics have not only speciously challenged the movie's authenticity, but have charged that it is disparaging to Jews, which

Gibson vehemently denies. "This is not a Christian vs. Jewish thing. '[Jesus] came into the world, and it knew him not.' Looking at Christ's crucifixion, I look first at my own culpability in that." Jesuit Father William J. Fulco, who translated the script into Aramaic and Latin, said he saw no hint of anti-Semitism in the movie. Fulco added, "I would be aghast at any suggestion that Mel Gibson is anti-Semitic." Nevertheless, certain groups and some in the mainstream press have been very critical of Gibson's "Passion."

The New York Post's Andrea Peyser chided him: "There is still time, Mel, to tell the truth." Boston Globe columnist James Carroll denounced Gibson's literal reading of the biblical accounts. "Even a faithful repetition of the Gospel stories of the death of Jesus can do damage exactly because those sacred texts themselves carry the virus of Jew hatred," wrote Carroll. A group of Jewish and Christian academics has issued an 18-page report slamming all aspects of the film, including its undue emphasis on Christ's passion rather than "a broader vision." The report disapproves of the movie's treatment of Christ's passion as historical fact.

The moral is that if you want the popular culture to laud your work on Christ, make sure it depicts Him as an everyday sinner with no particular redeeming value (literally). In our anti-Christian culture, the blasphemous "The Last Temptation of Christ" is celebrated and "The Passion" is condemned. But if this movie continues to affect people the way it is now, no amount of cultural opposition will suppress its force and its positive impact on lives everywhere. Mel Gibson is a model of faith and courage.

The Greater Message
Rick Joyner

http://www.morningstarministries.org/
Last week we discussed the basis of all true spiritual discernment. This week, as we begin our study of the most famous of all of the biblical prophecies concerning the end of this age in Matthew 24, we immediately begin to see why having discernment is so critical.

"And as He was sitting on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to Him privately, saying, 'Tell us, when will these things be, and what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age?'
"And Jesus answered and said to them, 'See to it that no one misleads you.
"'For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am the Christ,' and will mislead many.'" (Matthew 24:3-5)

Many have interpreted this to mean that there would be many coming who would claim to be the Christ, and would therefore mislead many, but that is not what He said here. What He is saying is that many would come saying that He, Jesus, was indeed the Christ, and yet they would still be deceivers and mislead many. This has certainly proven to be true throughout history. Some of the most diabolical deeds in history were done by those claiming to be Christians.

It is also noteworthy that this is the first warning the Lord gives about the end of the age. As it has proven true throughout history, many obviously heard the warning, and did not believe everyone who came claiming to be a Christian. Even in the darkest of times there were many who remained faithful to the Lord and were not deceived.

Some have a hard time believing that one can claim Jesus is the Christ and still be a deceiver because of what Paul wrote in I Corinthians 12:3:
"...no one can say, 'Jesus is Lord,' except by the Holy Spirit."
This is true, but there is a difference between calling Him "Lord," and calling Him "Christ."
The Lordship of Christ Is the Basic Issue

"Christ" means "anointed," and many call Him "anointed" who do not acknowledge Him to be the Lord. Muslims for example, believe that Jesus was anointed, and even a prophet, but they do not believe He is Lord. That He is Lord is the true point of separation. Those of many other religions consider Jesus to have been anointed as a teacher or prophet, but they do not acknowledge Him as the Son of God, or as Lord. It is when He is acknowledged to be the Lord that we know the Holy Spirit has revealed Him to that person.

The Lordship of Jesus was the basic issue from the beginning of this age, and will be the basic issue at the end of this age. This is more than just acknowledging Him as Savior. Understanding the atonement of the cross, and acknowledging the salvation that we have through Him is crucial for salvation. However, the full revelation of Him by the Holy Spirit goes beyond the cross to the resurrection, and where He now sits - above all rule and authority and dominion. Jesus Christ is Lord! Jesus Christ is Lord of all. He is the King of kings. The King above all kings that ever were or ever will be.

This is why He says in verse 14 of Matthew 24 of this great discourse:

"And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole world for a witness to all the nations, and then the end shall come."

"Good News" vs. "The Gospel of the Kingdom"

Throughout the Middle Ages the gospel that was preached was basically the gospel of the church, which promoted membership in the church as the means of salvation. Since the Reformation began more than five hundred years ago, the primary message going forth has been the gospel of personal salvation through personal faith. This is certainly "good news," which is the meaning of the word "gospel," but it is still not the good news that the Lord said had to be preached in the whole world before the end came.

The "gospel of the kingdom" has not yet been preached in the whole world, and in fact has hardly been preached anywhere at all. As the Lord stated, this must happen before the end can come. So, just what is the "gospel of the kingdom"?

It is the good news that Jesus is the King above all kings, that His kingdom is going to come to this world, and His will is going to be done here just as it is now done in heaven. This is much more than just an invitation to "accept Jesus as Savior," as wonderful as that is, but it is the proclamation of Jesus as King - bow the knee! Whether voluntarily or involuntarily, all will bow the knee to Him.

The gospel of personal salvation is certainly too wonderful to ever adequately be expressed. We will be thanking Him forever for our salvation, and that will not be long enough! It is easy to understand how this would tend to overshadow almost everything else in the message that we present to the world. However, the "gospel of the kingdom" is the ultimate message that we are to preach in this world, and it has not yet been done.

No Other Hope Can Ever Compare to the Promise Given by the "Gospel of the Kingdom"

The "gospel of the kingdom" is more than just personal salvation - it is the salvation of the world! When Jesus comes to restore the earth, He will take away all pain and mourning. The lion will lie down with the lamb, and children will play with cobras, and no one will hurt anyone else in all the earth. There is no philosophy, no teachings on utopia, there is no hope given by any other religion, which presents a hope for the future that can ever compare to the promise that we have been given by the "gospel of the kingdom."

That gospel of the kingdom of God is founded on the acknowledgment of Who the King is - Jesus Christ! The "gospel of the kingdom" will certainly be the proclamation of His authority, and the command to bow the knee to Him, but it will also be the proclamation of the most glorious, wonderful hope that the world has ever been given.

This most brilliant hope will go forth during the darkest times that the world has ever known. Just as lawlessness is increasing to the point of anarchy, the greatest authority of all, the King above all kings, will be taking His seat in the hearts of many. The contrast of those who are in the grips of lawlessness, and those who have the law written in their hearts, will be apparent to all.

He Is Coming Again!

When the Lord comes, He will use His rod to smash the rebellious nations. Yes, there will be nations that continue to rebel even in the face of His glory and power. Just as Pharaoh so foolishly sent his army into the Red Sea to attack Israel, even after the overwhelming demonstration of the Lord's power, human arrogance and foolishness has proven utterly irrational in many. However, for the wise and the humble who do bow the knee before Him, His grace, mercy, and love will prove to be even more boundless.

In spite of the eschatology that many hold to, and the way many have taught on the Lord's return, He is not coming back to get even - to avenge Himself. He will destroy those who are incorrigible, but He is not coming back to destroy - He is coming again for the same reason He came the first time - to save. He did not go to the cross and suffer all that He did so that He could vent His revenge, but so He could save and restore.

The true "gospel of the kingdom" will go forth into all the world before the end can come. This will begin very soon.

Special Shirt

In this dream scene, I was observing an unusual ... shirt! It appeared hanging in mid-air in front of me to observe, and 'see'.

This big shirt was largish block colored plaid in muted Autumn colors – very like a shirt my husband has that appeals to me - oranges, greens, golds, browns all quite muted and grayed down in his block-plaid real shirt.

The odd thing was that down the front of this dream-shirt, from neck to bottom, was this panel of black and white checkered material – about two inches to each side of the button placket., including the placket - black and white checkered. This whole middle section of the shirt front, about five inches width, was so odd to see,,, so different from the rest of the shirt .

Still in the dream itself I realized that the main colors in this shirt represented harvest time = Autumn. The black and white checkered front panel represented The Word of God (because this is often so for 'me' with black/white, in the way of God' symbol language to me).

I was made to know that I was being sent the material to make (sew) this shirt; To sew one just like it. So, in wondering I looked closer to see how the inserted front-center panel of this shirt, had been made – and as I looked I then realized it was not sewn in at all, but rather the material itself, the yardage, had been thread woven with these two contrasting; plaid and checkered material and patterns - as one piece! This quite surprised me.

I then began to wonder how in the world I would lay out a shirt pattern on the yardage I was being 'sent' -- to make this shirt 'just right', and I then saw myself (as in a separate vision within this dream) doing just that – struggling to lay out a shirt pattern and trying to 'fit everything' rightly on this special material-yardage I had been sent ……. So that it would end up put together exactly like the example-shirt.

The dream continuing, The Lord spoke calming me,

'You will be sent the material and the pattern. You must build according to the pattern. '

And with that, I knew that I knew I would be able to reproduce the shirt ... for I recognized my Lord's Voice instructing me, giving assurance, and then – I awoke.

 The pattern is our written scriptures WITH Holy Spirit revelation – BOTH; For building (sewing and sowing), unto harvest. The dream may be pointing to our now season, Autumn in the northern hemisphere and spiritual harvesting time, and / or in the larger God' timing sense pointing also to HIS' final harvest in earth.

This is a special shirt-mantle I was shown, that is to be reproduced 'according to the pattern', made and put-together via prayers / intercessions / anointed teaching / prophetic revelation, plus the more, I believe …

To Moses ,,,, he gave perfect heavenly instructions for the tabernacle and all concerning it ...

“... who serve the copy and shadow of the heavenly things, *as Moses was divinely instructed when he was about to make the tabernacle. For He said, "*See that you make all things according to the pattern shown you on the mountain." – Heb. 8:5, & Ex. 25:9

I am mindful too, that the checkered black and white pattern in that dream-shirt was like race-flag material used to signal the end of the race, thus to certify the winners.

"....... let us run with endurance (patience) the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith........" - frm. Heb.12:1,2

" I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." - Phil. 3:14

God has produced the materials, and it will be and is now up to many of us Believers to carefully fashion the garment for those 'special-ones' who are to wear this particular and unique harvest-shirt-cloak-mantle.

A few scriptures that speak to mantle and cloak,

“…and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he was with the twelfth.Then Elijah passed by him and threw his mantle on him.” – I Kings 19:19

“Elijah said to Elisha, "Ask! What may I do for you, before I am taken away from you?" Elisha said, "Please let a double portion of your spirit be upon me." - II Kings 2:9
“He (Elisha) also took up the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him,..." - II Kings 2:13

"Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and also the tunic. Now the tunic *was without seam, woven from the top in one piece. They said therefore among themselves, "Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be," that the Scripture might be fulfilled which says: "They divided My garments among them, And for My clothing they cast lots."* Therefore the soldiers did these things." - Jn.19:23,24 ref. -Ps. 22:18

This was a personal dream-vision given me from Lord, however as is often so with prophetic revelations ,,, it can include others, and so I share it in hopes it will instruct and encourage those who may read and can identify via Holy Spirit with it's message -- freshly given and as a remembrance piece -- for myself, and for those also whom this vision may speak to.

Smooth Sailing Ahead

Mary Clark

(A Prophetic Exhortation)

December 5, 2004

I want you to know, beloved, that there is smooth sailing ahead for one who identifies with My cause – smooth sailing.

Let Me tell you about My plans. Let Me open the eyes of your understanding to some wonderful truths: I, the living God, have made a way for you to walk in a rich discovery of My truth, and what I have planned for you. I want you to know that the hour is upon you when you will see My glory firsthand, walk in it in power and strength, and be living testimonies of the wonders of the living God, as He explodes into your presence and brings new understanding to your heart. I am equipping you to move forward with ease. I am equipping you to see My glory from a front-row seat and participate in all that I have planned. Yes! Audience participation is mandatory. Audience participation will enable Me to show clearly that your Lord God Almighty is ALIVE in this day, and is presenting His heart to all who will receive.

I am telling you, beloved, that smooth sailing is ahead, because I have made it possible. I am telling you that I have spoken My truth in your hearing, and it will be performed mightily according to My will – according to My promises.

Changes are looming ahead for the world-seekers. Changes that will not bring pleasure to their hearts! But to those who trust in the Almighty God, changes will come that will delight. Let Me compound that statement by telling you this: Changes are coming the way of My children that will thrill you deep within your hearts, offer you a wonderful new day, and entitle you to walk in a new understanding of Who your God is and what He has planned for you in this hour.

So don't be surprised when you see wonderful things occur, because I have told you thus. I have told you, and My words live on forever. Yes, beloved, wonderful things are in the offing for those who offer their serving hearts to Me, and they will live on forever. For I am a God Who does all things well, and in this present situation what I am doing will manifest the wonders of the coming hour, and they will last for all eternity. I am not giving you something that is here today and gone tomorrow, beloved – I am giving you an eternal gift, and it will live on forever in the hearts of those who have given their allegiance to Me, offering to Me all that they are, and all of their desires. I am the One Who will supply the wonderful essence of My presence to those who lay down their lives and follow the course of the Beloved.

It is smooth sailing ahead, beloved. Get your position fixed on Me, and know that onward you will march into the day of renown – the day when the Beloved collects His own to dwell with Him forever.

The hour is here! The time is NOW!!!

Savage Wolves

November 29, 2004

Savage wolves are on the attack, beloved. Get yourself braced. Get yourself braced for Me to overtake them on your behalf.

I am calling to My dear children, telling you that I will fight your battles. Keep your focus on Me. Speak My truth over your situations and see results that will pay off in full.

The enemy is on the rampage. He is snarling and biting any who get in his way. Stay focused on Me and see the Avenger avenge. For just as surely as I have spoken My truth over you, I am directing you to a safe haven in Me. Those who willingly accept My plans will know a freedom from the enemy and his snarling ways. They will walk in a place of freedom and delight.

That is what I have planned for those who keep their focus on Me, and speak My truth over their situations. The enemy would like to ravage your life, beloved, but you don’t have to put up with His antics. You are equipped to kick him in the teeth. Just give him a swift kick by speaking My words of truth and know vindication that comes with serving the Almighty God. Yes, true vindication comes in following after My heart and pronouncing that I am your very own. And I am, dear child of the living God. I am your very own and you are Mine – you are certainly Mine!!!

avenger – to get revenge as for a wrong. To take revenge on behalf of, as of a wrong

Stay Connected

Mary Clark

In a vision, the Lord showed me a card on the computer screen that asked if I wanted to stay connected. The cursor went to the block that read “stay connected.” Here is what He has to tell us about staying connected to Him:

Do you want to stay connected, beloved? Do you want to walk in the hope and realization of Who I am to you on a daily basis? If you do, then I make these simple requests of you: Come to Me in the early morning hours. Present your heart anew to Me. Tell Me words that I delight in hearing – words of your loving devotion to Me. This, beloved, is the way to begin your day. This is the time to come to Me with heartfelt prayers – before you begin your day.

Later in your day, I would have you give Me some of your attention. I would love to hear simple words spoken to Me about the pleasure you find in knowing Me. I would love to hear you ask Me questions, and EXPECT to hear Me answer you. Will you do this, beloved? Will you devote your early morning hour to Me? Will you comply with My wishes and converse with Me during your day? If you will I guarantee you that something wonderful will happen in your life – something that will thrill your heart. But if you go about your day seeking your own way, beloved, you will lose out on something quite valuable – something that could aid your life in a wonderful way. You will lose out on getting to know Me – your Creator. You will lose out on My direction for you. You will lose out on knowing the One Who takes such delight in you!

So come to Me. Express your heart to me, and you will see that something of great significance is happening in your life. You will see that the Eternal One has blessed you and enabled you to grow stronger in Him. Now beloved, this is a place in Me that is filled with a rich quality of hope. It is a place that is etched out in My heart just for you. That is where I want you, and that is where you ought to be – in that special nook in My heart that I have etched out for you. Won’t you come? Won’t you surrender your time? Won’t you look to the Almighty One, your Creator, to sustain you every day?

I am asking something of you, beloved. I am extending an earnest plea to you. Come to Me. It will benefit you. It will benefit My kingdom. Many will rise up on that fateful day and call out words to Me about a relationship that they never had with Me. I will tell them that I never knew them. I will tell them that their hearts were far removed from Me. Don’t let those words be spoken to you. Come to Me.

If it has been a while since we conversed, let us renew that old relationship. Come to Me and I will draw near to you. I will move you closer into the things of your God. You will see My glory, and you will taste and dwell in My glory. But if you stand afar, looking at the world, concentrating on what the world has to offer, you will miss out on knowing My goodness. You will be left behind in the dust of My travels. For I am moving on, beloved, and I am taking My own with Me. Don’t be caught in the arms of another when I come for you. Don’t be caught up in the world when I make My entrance. Start now – today – by coming to Me and telling Me of your desire to enter into a deeper relationship with Me. That is the place to begin, beloved. That is the place to start this journey into this place of eternity – eternity in the arms of the Beloved. That is the place to dwell, and that is the place where you NEED to be – safe and secure – safe and secure – safe and secure in the knowledge of My love for you!!!

A Big Sweet Heart
Mary Clark

I have a BIG heart, beloved – a BIG sweet heart, and I am drawing you into it. I want you close to Me. I want you hearing My voice with clarity – such clarity – a clarity that the world will look on as strange. But, dear one, you will embrace My voice – hold it close as I speak tender words of love to you. Hear Me now as I tell you something about My BIG sweet heart:

My heart is tender – so very tender toward you. It is a heart that can consume those things that are a detriment to your walk. Yes, dwelling in My heart can take those things that are a detriment and make them vanish – vanish in thin air. Yes, dwelling in My heart, looking intently into My eyes of love, remaining focused on Me, and hearing My voice in this most unusual way that I am proposing will certainly get a heart straightened out. It will get a heart squeaky clean for My habitation. It will not only get that heart squeaky clean it will give that heart a strength that it has never had, and enable you to walk in My truth in a way that you never dreamed possible.

In this hour I am doing a work in hearts. I am revealing some things about My heart to My dear children. I am showing each of you some things about My personality that you never dreamed it contained. I am about to show you a sweet side to My nature that you did not know existed. When I do, beloved, embrace the sweetness that lies deep in My heart. Embrace it and give Me a word of thanks and praise. Tell Me that you are delighted to know this aspect of My personality. If you will, I will tell you something else about My personality that you never realized. I will tell you words that will thrill your heart. So get ready to walk in a new understanding of who I am, and embrace all that I reveal to you. For this is the time when My children must sit up and take notice of the living God, embracing His cause with everything that is in them. It is the hour to embrace all that I am, and rely on Me to carry you through all that is coming up on the horizon. I truly have a plan for you, beloved – a plan to bless you mightily. So get ready to enter into a new hour, and know as you enter that you must leave at the door your old way of thinking, and embrace a new way of thinking – a new way of thinking about your God and His Big Sweet heart.

Separating The Holy From The Profane

Judy Curmi

LESS OF YOU AND MORE OF ME - That is what I am calling for in this day and this hour. Hear me now. My people are not taking me seriously. They want to dance and play when I am about to go to war. Very few have put their armor on and even fewer have a complete set of the armor, which is required to stand.

Eph. 6:10-18 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the darkness of the rulers of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places.
Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.
Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shed your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, take the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one.
And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God; praying always with all prayers and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for the saints. [NKJ]

Where are the breastplates of righteousness? I have called my people to be holy and set apart, a fit dwelling place for a King. Yet most of my people look at themselves, compare themselves to the world and are satisfied. They do not have a burning desire to be holy and set apart for me, but are constantly “dabbling” in the things of this world.

Where are the shoes for the preparation of the gospel of peace? One does not always have to give an oral testimony in order to have their shoes on and working. These shoes testify to your daily walk. Is it a walk with me or a walk without me? Am I a sidereal (side) thought or an afterthought?

Walking daily with me in humility and love is the best testimony you could possibly give – for a person’s actions and behavior far outweigh the words that come out of their mouth. The mouth can say anything, but in a person’s behavior are the things of the heart truly seen.
What is coming out of your mouth? Is it a gospel of peace and hope? Do your words draw others to my light or do they repel and push people away?

I am supposed to be living through you and I AM supposed to be seen in you. In fact, I want to take over! Yet so many are doing things in my name and saying things they think are “Christian” that have nothing to do with me!

My church, I am calling you firmly and distinctly. War is about to break out and you are not ready! You must know who I am and you must be hidden in me or you will be swept away. This will be Satan’s final hour and he will not go “gently into that good night.” He will indeed RAGE against the dying of the light.*

If you want to stand you must get serious. You must be dedicated and you must give your life to me – all of it, not just bits and pieces around the edges or the margins.

You can not hold things back because you are unwilling to part with them! Whatever you hold on to can become a dead weight to drag you down into a pit of destruction.

The day and the hour are at hand when those who have given their lives to me totally will begin to shine like the stars in the firmament. For I will shine through my beloved in a way the world has never seen before.

I want YOU to shine. I don’t want you to miss it or miss out. I can NOT shine through people that have pieces of their armor missing. For wherever your armor is missing, there is a spot the enemy can attack and he will. He is ruthless. He will attack without hesitation and he is as evil as I am good.

Repent if you are lukewarm and sitting on the fence. Repent if you are only choosing those portions of my Word that please you or inflate your ego.

Satan’s time is running out and he will fight to the bitter end. I am coming with a very big sword and I will divide the holy from the profane. The holy I will set apart to myself, while the profane I will burn with fire.

Time has run out and the hour is upon you for the greatest “fireworks” in the history of the world. Will you listen to me or not? Your time to sit on the fence is over. You must make a decision and you must make it now, for the seas will roar and you will not be able to hear above the din.

Come out of the world before it is too late and you are sucked into a whirlpool that will carry people to their final destruction.

I Remain,
Your Jesus

King of Kings and Lord of Lords

Dylan Thomas:*

Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Profane: 1. Showing contempt or irreverence toward God or sacred things: blasphemous 2. Vulgar, coarse 3. To treat with irreverence 4. To put to an improper, unworthy or degrading use; abuse*

Stigma

Mary Koons

The Institutional Church Article III
July 31, 2004

stig·ma (st¹g“m…) n., pl. stig·ma·ta (st¹g-mä“t…, -m²t“…, st¹g“m…-) or stig·mas. 1. A mark or token of infamy, disgrace, or reproach:

Do you believe that the church as a whole walks in the forgiveness for others that has been shown them by God? Stigma, as given above, is defined as - disgrace, reproach. Interesting when you consider that we - as Christians - are called to extend mercy and forgiveness. But do we? If you are a member of a church that does, then you are to be congratulated! However, it has been my experience and the experience of many others that I have corresponded with, that the "ideal" the Body of Christ should aspire too has been lost in the rivalries, positioning, and politics of the local church. As a result, far too many hurting and lost individuals have been turned off and turned away from the institutional church altogether.

From childhood we seek recognition and acceptance. We WANT others to like and admire us. Most of us shun confrontation and will do just about anything to avoid it. Yet, if we define ourselves by what OTHERS think and say about us rather than what GOD thinks and says about us, then eventually we allow their perceptions to become part of our own reality. In other words, we will LIVE OUT what others PERCEIVE AND BELIEVE THAT WE ARE!! Why do we do this? Because "acceptance" is our goal, whether we realize it or not. Humans are social creatures and we seek companionship. When God created Adam he was perfect. Adam enjoyed complete harmony within himself AND with his Creator. Yet God recognized that Adam was lonely and needed a helpmate! Was God offended that His "perfect" creation still needed companionship with someone of his own kind? In Genesis 2:22 we read:

And the rib, which Jehovah God had taken from the man,
made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. (ASV)

So, God Himself brought Eve to Adam. In this passage we see displayed the omniscient of God. God KNEW that Adam needed companionship and was not offended by it. Therefore, we can KNOW that God created us to be "social creatures" who need the companionship of others of our own kind. But just as Eve as beguiled by the serpent, so we too are beguiled. The beginning of Genesis 3:1 reads:

> Now the serpent was more subtle…

Strong's lists the word translated here "subtle" as also meaning cunning. The "subtlety" of how the enemy uses others to define "us," is what makes the detection of it so difficult. After all - being the social creatures that we are - we tend to make excuses for the behavior(s) of others, ESPECIALLY those who wear the “clothing” of a Christian, do we not? But Jesus warned us to be careful of those who "appear in sheep’s clothing," but are IN TRUTH, ravaging wolves! In the end, Eve was sooooooo beguiled by the serpent and his twisting of God's truth that all of mankind fell as a result. Indeed, we must continually be on guard against the serpents wiles and the oh! so subtle ways he uses not only our own character flaws, BUT colors the perceptions of those around us to paint HIS VERSION of OUR REALITY into their thinking AND eventually, even our own!

HOW is this cycle broken? Who can "mend us" in the minds and thoughts of others of our own kind? CAN AN INDIVIDUAL EVER BREAK OUT FROM SUCH A DIABOLIC ATTACK? The answer is a resounding "YES!" but to do so, one must FIRST identify the attacks true nature and its origination point.

Have you ever had someone not like you on sight? What was your response to this apparent (at least to you) irrational behavior? Did you accept this persons dislike and NOT let it concern you? Or did you attempt to discover "why" the individual felt the way they did - i.e., discuss it with them? To try to define the "issues" that was causing the friction? If you were able to step aside and NOT allow the individuals behavior to affect you in any perceivable way, than you are to be commended. Most of us, however, would ALLOW ourselves to be hurt by the other persons response. We would review within ourselves our actions and words to see if we were somehow, albeit inadvertently, to blame. The truth is that we probably had not offended the other person - BUT, that the enemy had subtlety "colored" their perception of us. Perhaps, before the two of you met, a mutual acquaintance had spoken of you in an unkind way - or mentioned something from your past that had already "colored" that persons perception of you. What defense do you have against that individuals prior perceptions? Innuendo is a powerful force, is it not? Taken to the extreme, it results in the "mob mentality."

God created us social creatures. Therefore, we will do just about anything to be accepted by those with whom we come into contact. If their actions towards us offends us in some manner, chances are we will overlook it to keep the companionship they offer. Yet the Word tells us that GOD gives us "unconditional love and acceptance," NOT just when we have become a new creation in HIM, but even died for us while "we were still yet sinners!" GOD OVERLOOKS OUR FLAWS AND LOVES US ANYWAY…. AND TOTALLY ACCEPTS US AS WE TRULY ARE, WARTS AND ALL. He does not wish for us to remain "sinners," but will love us the same whether we choose too or not! The Pharisees of Jesus' day thought themselves above the "people" they were suppose to serve. Self-righteous, sanctimonious and hypocritical to the extreme, they refused to accept Jesus as their Messiah even though His works were clearly of a Godly supernatural nature. They chose instead to attribute His works to Beelzebub. But Jesus told them that a "house divided against itself CAN NOT STAND…." Words we need to keep in the forefront of our minds! We will NEVER be able to overcome the preconceived perceptions of others UNLESS we first realize that the members of our own body must be undivided and united in harmony with the Spirit of God. ONLY THEN, will we too, be able to say as Jesus did that the enemy could find "nothing in us."

From a practical Christian standpoint then, what should be our response to the actions or reactions of others towards us? In the parable of the Prodigal Son the Lord tells us of two brothers. The younger son through riotous living squanders his inheritance but is eventually reconciled with his Father when he comes to his senses and returns home. However, it is the older brothers response to his return that provides one of the most interesting twists in this parable. His disapproval of his brothers' behavior and the Fathers joy at the young mans return lead him to react in anger and jealousy. Note the closing verse in the parable:

> But it was fitting to make merry, to revel and feast and rejoice,for this brother of yours was dead, and is alive again! He was lost and is found! (Luke 15:32 Amplified Translation)

The parable ends there - but does it? It is doubtful if the older brother who had not shared in his Fathers joy earlier is much swayed by his Father's statement. We are left to wonder how it turned out in the end. Human nature and sibling rivalry being what they are, the enemy was probably able to turn the animosity of the older brother into a continual flood of ill will and disharmony among the members of the household. And did the younger brothers previous actions permanently color the perceptions of the older brother? Wastrel, selfish and self-indulgent…would have been the least of the "stigmas" perceived by the older brother towards the younger. After the younger brother returned home his actions were, no doubt, continually carefully scrutinized by the elder brother, to see if any of the character flaws he had exhibited in the past were returning. And forgiveness? We have NO indications from this parable that the older brother ever DID forgive the younger, and there is certainly no indication that the older brother ever "forgot" what had happened.

Our Heavenly Father tells us that He not only forgives our transgressions but:

> As far as the east is from the west, so far has He removed our transgressions from us.
> (Psalm 103:12 Amplified Translation)

Three predominant themes found in the Gospels are: the love of God, mercy above the law, and forgiveness. Jesus is our example. His ministry was based on God forgiving US - and that we MUST forgive others. What does it cost us when we DON'T forgive? Think about that question very seriously for the consequences could be grave indeed. Many would say, "Yes, but you don't know what that person did to me!" No, I don't. But GOD DOES KNOW and HE said you MUST forgive them anyway. One certain consequence of unforgiveness will be that you will be unable to achieve "harmony" within yourself. You will be "warring against the members" of your own body. Unity with others will be impossible because you are not in harmony!

Many years ago I had a friend - her name was Ann - who I felt extremely close too. Ann and I worked together and lived next door to each other. We often went shopping together, out to lunch, etc. Although I had several people warn me that Ann was not the loyal friend I thought her to be, I disregarded their warnings and it wasn't until circumstances arose that clearly shown that Ann had, in fact been unloyal to me, that I DID believe it. I was devastated! Hurt, angry, and bitter…. I wallowed in those feelings for about a month without let up. Then the Lord began to tell me I would have to begin to pray SINCERELY for Ann and for her family. At first I was incredulous! I could NOT believe that I, as the injured party, should in any way, shape or form have to pray for this woman who had so obviously betrayed our friendship, but the Lord was insistent. After grumbling and arguing the point for a couple of weeks, I finally gave in and began to do as He asked. Admittedly, my prayers at first were not all that sincere, but as I persevered, the prayers began to take on a life of their own and the ill will, anger and hurt I had felt within myself began to crumble. After a couple of months it was gone completely and I slowly began to realize that the real purpose of the Lord in having me pray for Ann wasn't so much for her - as it had been for myself. I discovered that it is IMPOSSIBLE to pray for someone sincerely and maintain any feelings of animosity towards them. The LOVE OF GOD begins to pour forth from His Spirit into yours and through that - into the prayers you speak. The New Testament clearly teaches that prayers offered up to God that are "HIS WILL" for our lives will be answered. Forgiveness of others is ALWAYS God's will!!

Remember Jeffrey Dahlmer? In case the name is unfamiliar to you let me give a brief description of who he was. Dahlmer was a young man from Chicago who murdered numerous other young men, hacked them to pieces and then froze their remains. He was eventually apprehended, convicted, and sent to prison. While he was there he reportedly became a born again Christian. Soon afterward he was murdered by another inmate. I bring this up because I was appalled at some of the "chat room" responses to the news of his death in a CHRISTIAN chat room one afternoon. Only myself and one other individual believed that Dahlmer had been entirely forgiven by God for his crimes and gone straight to Heaven after he was murdered! The rest were of the opinion that God could not possibly forgive such horrendous crimes and that truly converted or not, he was in hell. Although I am not denying the horrific nature of his crimes, the fact remains that "if" Dahlmer's conversion "WAS" genuine (which only he and God alone could KNOW), God's word says that his sins WERE forgiven and that Dahlmer had become a "new creation" IN CHRIST. God does NOT rank sin, man does. ALL SIN IS REPUGNANT TO GOD… and although we prefer to think that someone who has committed murder or adultery is far less forgivable than someone who has stolen a loaf of bread or told a little, white lie, the Bible clearly teaches the opposite. OK, you're probably thinking, Dahlmer - well, maybe…. but what about an Adolf Hitler or an Osama Bin Ladan? Mass murderers both - no denying it. However, do you think that the blood of Christ is insufficient to cover their sins if they cried out from their depths of their being – in total honesty and sincerity, "Lord, Save Me?" It is impossible for us on this side of eternity to measure what one drop of His precious blood has done for ALL of mankind, including the Hitler's and the the Osama Bin Ladan's. Without His blood, mankind HAS NO HOPE - AND NO FORGIVENESS OF SINS. The Word tells us that "ALL HAVE SINNED AND FALLEN SHORT OF THE GLORY OF GOD!" But, we continue to want to judge, classify and place on a shelf every other individual who "we feel" has fallen short, rather than judging "ourselves" has Paul tells us to do.

> For if we searchingly examined ourselves - detecting our shortcomings and recognizing our own condition - we should not be judged and penalty decreed [by the divine judgment]. (1 Corinthians 11:31)

The truth is we ALL need a Savior, each and every one of us and NONE of us can hope for eternal life without one. Our righteousness is as rags before God and none of us can aspire to reaching His level of perfection by our own merits. The institutional church, as a whole, recognizes this "in theory," but "in practice" has fallen far short! The "stigma" of what we were BEFORE Christ came to live and reign in us, and/or even what sins we might have committed since, becomes attached to us and is almost impossible to overcome in the minds and perceptions of others! Like the older brother in the parable of the Prodigal Son, our Christian brothers and sisters weigh our actions carefully to see if past or current character flaws we struggle with might resurface. And even if they never do, their perceptions remain. Those who know they have been called by the Lord are often so demoralized by the actions and perceptions of their own Christian brethren, that the fruits the Lord wants to bring forth in and from them, are never allowed to reach full maturity. We read in Proverbs:

> For as a [man] thinketh in his heart, so is he… (Proverbs 23:7 KJV)

How long will it take for someone to become so bound by the perceptions of others that they become ineffective in the Body of Christ? How long will it take before the perceptions of others becomes that persons reality? In the Gospels we read of Peter who alone of the twelve apostles, verbally denied knowing the Lord three times the night He was arrested. Yet, interestingly enough, in the last chapter of the Book of John, it is to PETER of the seven apostles there that morning (John 21:2) that the Lord specifically calls to minister to His flock! What do you suppose the current institutional church would do to Peter? At the least he would be ostracized by others in his church and more than likely be deleted from the church rolls. The "stigma" of his act of denial would taint any further effectiveness he might have among that body of believers and NO ONE would trust Peter to mentor a young believer!

In Galatians 6:1 we read:

> Brethren, if any person is overtaken in misconduct or sin of any sort, you who are spiritual - who are responsive to and controlled by the Spirit - should set him right and restore and reinstate him, without any sense of superiority and with all gentleness, keeping an attentive eye on yourself, lest you should be tempted also. (Amplified Translation)

Restore and reinstate him…. That is what the church is called to do - and not with an air of superiority, but in meekness and humility! Until we - as the Body of Christ - are willing to admit our failure in this area and resolve the conflict within ourselves in relation to how "our" own perceptions can color another persons effectiveness for the Body of Christ, we can not expect to move forward, but will remain as we are, stagnant and stale. If the Body of Christ wants renewal and restoration - than we must FIRST "renew" our commitment to each other by resolving those inner conflicts of what "we think, feel and perceive" to what God says that we are - IN CHRIST. If we have been forgiven our sins as far as the east is from the west - why do we allow the enemy to continually bring to our minds our sins and past deeds? How can our body, soul and spirit be in harmony if there is continual conflict among them? The answer is - they won't be. And UNTIL they are, the enemy has effectively stopped us from being an effective servant of Christ.

Most of us can not imagine or comprehend the depth of enmity the enemy has for us or how truly evil - evil can be. Our finite minds can no more grasp this, than we can grasp the magnitude of the love and forgiveness of God or the uncharted vastness of the universe He created. Unless we have personally experienced evil on this scale, it is impossible for us to believe it! I know this to be true, because I HAVE experienced it. For many, MANY years I marveled and wondered at how the early church martyr's went to such horrible deaths - singing praises to God. Although I too love the Lord with all my heart, I'm well aware of my "pain tolerance" level and I could not imagine quite HOW they had endured the physical pain and agony to which they had been subjected. In April of 1999 I was privileged enough to find out. It was a Saturday night and I had turned my bedroom light out at about 10:30, rolled over and gone to sleep. An hour later I awoke with the most incredible sensations pouring over my body that trying to find the words to describe it is almost impossible. The closest I can come would be to tell you to imagine yourself under an intensely powerful, vibrating heat lamp. As this lamp moves, it sends radiating waves of exquisite sensations from the end of your toes to the top of your head, flooding your entire being, every nook, every cranny…. reaching a depth within you that you didn't even know you possessed! If that sounds as foreign to you as it felt to me, then you can understand how I had NO idea what was happening. I had NEVER heard of anything like this! I only knew that it was coming from the Lord. All I could do was hang on for the ride! These "waves of vibrating heat" would sometimes change directions, but they didn't stop. They continued for hour after hour - growing in intensity and power. At about three that morning I got up and walked outside. The sky was overcast with threatening dark rain clouds accompanied by a fierce wind westerly wind. After a few moments I began to sense an even darker, foreboding presence surrounding me…. So close and so potent that it felt like it inhabited the very air molecules I was breathing. The strength of the anointing I was under however was EVEN STRONGER!! This evil could NOT touch me - and I knew it. I literally laughed in the face of it, something no one in their "natural mind" would do when faced with such a malevolent presence. I further realized for the first time "how" Christian martyr's throughout the centuries had been able to go to their deaths singing, totally joyful at their impending release from this world. I KNEW there was no physical type of death that could even come close to touching this incredible anointing. That NO MANNER of death - no real physical pain would be able to touch the place where I now found myself. Being burned at the stake, beheaded, etc., nothing could touch "me" because I was completely and totally in His Hand and under His great power!

Although the Lord had called and told His purpose for my life a few years before this, this night - this incredible night - I was clearly and positively identified and targeted by the enemy. Prior to that night my life had, for the most part, been quite normal with few upsetting episodes. SINCE that night, my life has been one wild, roller coaster ride! Within two months the enemy would physically try to destroy me twice, and would make his third and apparently last attempt to kill me a year later. Failing all three times, he has since resorted to other tactics, which appear to be mainly psychological and/or emotional. He has made others as well as myself question the Lord's call upon my life and even my own sanity. The one thing the enemy has NEVER been able to do is to make me question what happened that "one night." It was entirely supernatural - and of God and although there have been days, weeks, even months since when I would have loved to have "thrown in the towel" and quit altogether, I can not because I KNOW - that I KNOW - THAT I KNOW that for such a night to happen in the first place, means that I AM A CHILD OF THE LIVING GOD and that no weapon formed against me will prosper - in the end. I look back upon that night and dream of a day when the Body of Christ can all move together as One under that same powerful anointing. No wonder the enemy fears us! For when "all fear" is removed there is nothing that will stop us from moving forward and retaking everything he has stolen from us.

What others think about me is immaterial! It is what GOD says about me and has said to me that matters…. What about you? Will you continue to allow others to color your perceptions of yourself – attach a “stigma” to your reality?

OR, will you remember God and what HE says?

What then shall we say to [all] this? If God be for us, who [can be] against us? – Who can be our foe, if God is on our side? (Romans 8:31)

In His Love,

Stay In Step

Aquilla Nash

The Spirit of the Lord would say, "Stay in step. Stay in step with that which I am doing in this hour and this day. Stay in step with that which I have chosen, the path that I have created for you to take. Stay in step with that which I have ordained and that which I have called from the foundation of the world. Stay in step with those things that I have planned and purposed for your life. Even as you walk with Me, I will take you unto high places and I will show you great and marvelous things. I will cause your eyes to be open unto greater truths and understanding. But you must stay in step with that which I have ordained.

If you go your way and do those things that you have planned and that you have purposed, you will not be in step with My plan. And when I begin to move concerning My plan in your life, you must be in that place and in step with Me. Surely as you walk with Me, as you allow the Spirit of the Living God to lead and to guide you, you will know of a surety that you are exactly in the place that I have anointed for your life. And you will be on time and I will be on time with those things that I have purposed for you. And you will come unto a higher realm and you will see things that you have longed to see and to hear things that you have longed to hear. Stay in step with My Spirit, with that that I have ordained. And it will be wonderful. It will be peace and joy everlasting triumph. If you will stay in step with Me I will lead you into the high places."

Saved To The Uttermost

Becky McLendon

"Wherefore also He is able to save to the uttermost them that draw near unto God through Him*, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them."* Hebrews 7:25

What a savior! What a gospel! How can we neglect so great a salvation?

T. Austin-Sparks describes this savior and this salvation in a most excellent message "A Saviour to the Uttermost." He says:

"A saviour who never fails, who can never be confronted with a situation too difficult for Him, is a fundamental necessity to all who are seeking to live to the glory of God in an end time, and who are, therefore, continually meeting the fierce and unceasing antagonism of the forces of darkness. . .it is indeed "good news" for the sinner. No one, however sunken in sin, is beyond the reach of His saving power. He is able to save all who come, and to save them to the uttermost. . . No case is too hard for Him!. . .It is a glorious declaration of His saving power in relation to those who draw near to God, and is based not only on His death on calvary, but upon His upon His present life and ministry as the High Priest of His people. . .The more dire the need (and some of the Lord's people are in desperate need) the greater the comfort of the declaration. . .interceding for us at the right hand of Divine power, we have One Who, because He ever liveth is able to excercise saving power to the full range and depth of an uttermost need. . .To trust Him is to find salvation. . .

"To the uttermost. . .is a word with a big content. . . It speaks of His ability to save completely in the present need, however dire, and also for every future need to the end of our earthly history. . .Whether the problem be related to sin, self, the world, the Devil, or to death and him who wields it as a potent weapon, the power of an uttermost salvation resides in our Priestly Intercessor on the Father's throne. . .

"Death has no dominion over Him, nor can we be brought under the power of it while we keep Him in full view. . . Living, He is abundantly able to save."

What a savior! My savior can save me so completely that I can rest in Him and His power to do whatever it is to save me! This makes me WANT to be saved everyday! It drives me to His feet in repentance when I sin, and it lifts me to my feet to walk strong in Him, confident that He is sufficient!

Sufficient. The blood of Jesus is all powerful and sufficient to save us to the uttermost, if we draw near to Him.

"And they overcame him because of the blood of the Lamb and because of the word of their testimony; and they loved not their life even unto death." Rev. 12

Recently I sent a message by Bill Yount that stated the blood is still on the doorposts! What a revelation to us who get bogged down with spirituality seeking and wander off the path into danger. The enemy comes and breathes threats, but HO! The blood is still on the doorposts. This is healing blood. This is living blood. This is holy blood and it is on the doorposts of our "house". When we capture this reality in our hearts, we overcome him (the enemy) by the blood of the Lamb. When we proclaim His salvation to the uttermost we overcome him (the enemy) by the word of our testimony.

T. Austin-Sparks says in another message "Because of the Blood of the Lamb":

"Give the enemy one little fragment of old Adam, of the flesh, of self, of sin, and he immediately takes the place of power and immediately brings you under accusation and begins to weaken both life and ministry. . .But stand continuously in the efficacy of that Blood, stand continuously in your receiving by faith of all that the Lord Jesus is made unto you from God, clear up everything concerning which the Holy Spirit speaks in conviction, clear it up in virtue of that Blood, and the enemy is ruled out, he is not in the place of power. . .the ground of the Blood is sufficient for this full-orbed, many sided, all-around victory. . . you and I can stand now in the presence of God as sinlessly perfect, not in ourselves, but in Christ, as having absolute sinless perfection put to our account by God."

This blood is LIFE to us. This is the uttermost salvation. In laying hold of His blood and BELIEVING Him, we meet our savior to the uttermost! We get a blood transfusion, and that blood becomes our blood.

Amen and amen.

Change Not
Becky McLendon

We are being changed from our "Changeable state" to the unchangeableness of God. How? In returning and rest.

Two types of people say "I change not":

1. the unrepentant and religious who refuse to "change." They are "good enough" in their own eyes, and proudly boast, "I have no sin. God is pleased with me the way I am and with all I do." They lie.

2. the repentant who have laid hold of the Blood and the faith of God and His unchangeableness. These base their state of unchangableness upon Him and nothing else. They are powerless within themselves to say "I change not" as God "changes not". They stand solely on Christ the Solid Rock no matter what.

It is the latter who can testify of the power of the Blood of Christ and the work of the Lamb, for they have eaten of all of that Lamb.
And the spirit of God reveals who are His own. They can stand and say "I change not" and be accused of blasphemy, but their declaration is simply what God has said of them. The unrepentant and religious are judged for saying the same thing, because it is simply not true.

HE IS LORD and HE CHANGES NOT. Truth must be established in our inward parts for the "change" to "unchangeableness" to take place What He has said and what He has given cannot be altered, nor can it be stopped. May our salvation continue and find its perfection in that Unchangeableness.

Amen.

God Vindicates What Is His
Becky McLendon

"If God has really given anything, that will never be lost. Time will vindicate it. Sooner or later we shall have to come back for our very lives for what God has given. . .God vindicates everything that he has done and given. . .It is a principle, a law that anything God does is forever and will be necessary. . ." (T. Austin-Sparks, "The Peculiar Conditions of an End Time", emphasis mine)

Much has been gained for the Millennium. This is the "rest" that we wait for. Let's keep our eyes ever on HIM and HIM ALONE.

"For Thou shalt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee." Isaiah 26.

We desire the pure silver and gold of God, therein lies His holiness. Therefore we present our bodies, a living sacrifice daily, we die daily, that we may live in the fulness of Christ. We submit to the fire on that altar daily, that the wood, hay and stubble is consumed and the sacrifice is consumed. What then remains is God only, His "tenth." His "tithe" that is brought into His storehouse.

Oh Lord, "You desire truth in my inward parts."

So be it!
Love and shalom,
Becky

Drawing Near To Jesus

Recently I had a beautiful experience with Jesus, which I would like to share as a blessing and encouragement to the Bride of Christ. In the morning I had spent an hour or so in prayer, expressing my heart's desire to be close to the Lord.

In the vision, I saw Jesus walking backwards towards the water's edge of a lovely expanse of crystal clear water. In His hands were small musical notes and hearts. One by one, the Lord knelt down and placed a musical note, then a heart, drawing me to follow him right up to the water's edge. It was like a game of follow the leader!

When He eventually reached the water's edge, the Lord beckoned me closer to join Him by His side. Jesus smiled at me and then took my hand and we began to walk on the water. With Christ leading, we skipped and jumped across lily pads that were placed upon the surface. The water was extremely deep, but I had no fear because Jesus was holding me by the hand. It was a joyous, exciting, and yet, equally peace-filled adventure as we ran helter-skelter across the top, skimming the water; hearts and hands united we giggled and laughed together. This was fun!

Just before the vision ended I asked the Lord if the ocean had a name. He replied, "Child this is the sea of Salvation. When my children worship me in Spirit and truth, and praise me with hearts filled with child-like trust and adoration, my joy and my glory are released on the earth producing the beautiful fruit of healing and salvations."

Without sounding demeaning the interpretation of this vision is extremely simple. As a friend of mine would say, "Catherine, it's not exactly rocket science." Which is just as well really, or I wouldn't have a hope of understanding (smile). Do you know what? I had almost forgotten what it felt like to run and skip and jump. Can you remember the last time you splashed in a puddle or spun around until you were dizzy or lay down on the ground just for the wonder of gazing at clouds scudding across the sky? Or when was the last time you picked up an earth worm, or made a daisy chain or sprinkled sherbet on your tongue just to feel it fizz, or flew a kite, or raced at high speed on your roller blades? Oh the joy of childhood, when we are innocent and desperate for all things new. Perhaps as the memories of childhood fade away with the passing of time, we also sometimes we forget how to be childlike and just enjoy the presence of the Lord. Could it be we are too busy being grown up at times to realize that the King of the Universe delights in us, simply because we are just that - His children?

The vision has a two-fold encouragement. One, it is a reminder that there is a child inside of each one of us just waiting to grasp the hand of God and run with him for the sheer joy of it. We may have many roles in our busy lifestyles, but let's remember the most important of all is that we were created for relationship and intimacy with Abba, our Heavenly Father.

Secondly, it is a call to the Bride of Christ to burst into new horizons of joy-filled worship and praise, trusting Jesus to lead us by the hand. God calls us to lay down tiredness, disappointments, self-condemnation and disillusionment and accept that Jesus loves us because He loves us. We are absolutely beautiful to him! We may be a work in progress, but we are earthen vessels full of His glory!

The symbolism of the hearts and musical notes, express the Lord's desire that his Bride would 'whoosh' into fresh depths of bridal intimacy and worship. It's the Lord who calls us and woos us with his amazing love. He just loves to pour out gifts on His children. We don't need to be all religious or pompous to get into His presence. We don't need to 'do' anything to win His affections. Whether we are peeling potatoes, writing a sermon, editing accounts, driving a truck, teaching, being a lawyer, whatever we may turn our hands to - we are lovely and loved because we are children of the Most High God. Our praise and worship can take place anywhere, and at any time, and it's always acceptable to God.

I was filled with fresh joy, peace, faith and hope as a result of this lovely spiritual experience. May you also know a fresh burst of Jesus-filled joy in your heart today as you reach out to praise our glorious Savior.

Of eternal significance is the name of the waters on which worship and praise were represented - the sea of Salvation.

In Acts 16 we read that when Paul and Silas had been stripped, beaten, flogged, imprisoned, and were undoubtedly wounded, exhausted and perhaps a little bit afraid. However, they chose not to focus on their circumstances, but rather to concentrate on praising Christ. The results were phenomenal - praise released all the prisoners bonds, and the jailor and his entire family received their salvation and were baptized that very night! Our sacrificial praise and worship today will release God's glory on the earth.

Beloved, the Lord calls us to receive His joy and to release it. Choose to praise Jesus today - because He's worth it!
Abundant blessings from an almost forty-year-old, mother of four, lay preacher, rejoicing in Jesus!

Submerged In The River Of God
Musa Opiyo

April 12, 2004
Vision:

In a vision I saw someone on a riverbed step into the river. At first they had gone ankle deep, then knee high until finally submerging themselves into the river. The river then began to pick up speed which then swept the person away.

"I want a people that are submerged in My River", the Lord said.

Interpretation:

I believe for a long time we in the Body of Christ have been content to stay where we are, doing things in ways we have felt comfortable with. But I believe the Lord is calling us deeper. The River of God represents the work of the Holy Spirit. As we have been reluctant to go deep, we have experienced 'stagnant waters' in the work that he is doing in us. But as we, in faith, go past ankle deep and past knee high, past what we have felt familiar with, into the deep waters of his presence, we will experience a deeper closeness and oneness with him. As we leave what is comfortable and what we have known, into the work and the new move of the Spirit, we will experience also an acceleration in what he is doing not only in us as individuals but corporately as the Body. It will be a place where we will have no control over what he is doing. It is our choice to either "go with his flow" or go against what he is doing.

I Came To Set You Free

I came to set you free from all besetting sin. I came to restore your joy and give you renewed hope, knowing that I AM the I AM. You are free because I say you are free. Yet the enemy would tell you otherwise. He would rather see you bound to sickness. He would rather see broke and barely able to make ends meet. He would rather see you flee My presence through self condemnation. Yet even as this season is Passover I am passing over you at this very moment. My Glory Cloud is descending upon those who have cried out to Me in brokeness. I come to apply the Balm of Gilead to those places of hurt and pain. For I am your High Priest who has mediated and gone before you to make your paths straight. Would you now rather believe Me, the I AM or would you rather trust the one who lies by his teeth and comes only to steal, kill and destroy? The Spirit and the Bride say come. To him who is thirsty, I say come, for I will fill you with the Water of Life to bring refreshing to your soul. I am he who has come to set you free, says the Lord.

A Call To The Marthas
Musa Opiyo

April 13, 2004

My Spirit calls out to My Marthas who have labored faithfully in My presence. You have been guided and allowed yourself to be guided by the Holy Spirit in your endevours and you have worked well. In fact, so well that the enemy in desperation spoke lies to you saying that you needed to work more. As you listened to his voice, you became convinced that your work was your identity and therefore have labored for things that have no eternal value.

Some of you have even forgotten why you are doing what you are doing, and much of your work has become robotic to where My Spirit is not leading you. Some are beginning to get stressed out and you are burdened down with this weight, yet under the justification that you are doing Me a favor. Have I not said that where My Spirit is there is liberty? Yes I have anointed you in the workplace, in your homes and with your ministries. You have been faithful in being My ambassadors. Yet some of you have been so burned out by your labors that you have not sensed My heart.

My Spirit longs that you enter My rest. Come spend time with Me. Have I not said that those who wait upon Me shall renew their strength like the eagle? As you wait upon Me and listen for My still small voice, My Spirit shall direct you on the things you are to do. As situations come up that need attending, I will say 'Yes' to some and 'No' to others, yet trust that I am God and know what I have called you to do.

The days ahead will call for strength and stability upon the Rock. Rest spiritually as well as physically is vital in this hour. The enemy would have you running around under the delusion to do, until when finally out of strength, he ambushes you with the intention to steal, kill and destroy. Rest in Me. I am in you as you are in Me. You are not justified by your works because if you were then My sacrifice on the cross was for nothing. You are My priests and Kings who shall rule and reign in My authority even as you carry My name throughout the earth. Be still and know that I am God.

Suddenlies

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Num 16:41-43 NKJV   Now it happened, when the congregation had gathered against Moses and Aaron, that they turned toward the tabernacle of meeting; and suddenly the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared. 43 Then Moses and Aaron came before the tabernacle of meeting.

" I am escalating things in the world and there will be many suddenlies for many of you. Suddenly means that it is not something you can expect, but that suddenly it will just happen. I love surprises don't you ? And I have many surprises for My children. I have a whole storehouse of gifts waiting to be given out. I am a good Father Who gives good gifts to His children, am I not ? Remember how as a child you anticipated what you might get for Christmas ? That is how I want you to be – eager for the changes Your heavenly Father will bring ! I want you to EXPECT great changes and blessings commensurate with those.

I'm not saying there won't be a cost, but for many that cost has been paid, and you are just awaiting My timing. That timing is soon My beloveds so ready yourself for what is to happen soon. I also am eager to pour them out on you. But I see the beginning from the end. I see all the factors that you don't see. So My timing is always perfect. It is hard as humans to wait, but your waiting produces perseverance .

Persevere: to persist in a state, enterprise, or undertaking in spite of counterinfluences, opposition, or discouragement.

I am longing for union with you more than you are longing for it My beloveds.
I am here, and see the growth of wickedness every day in the earth, but I also see those who have persevered under great pressures and suffering and I am pleased with those who are My own. I am please when you persevere in believing in Me despite all the unbelief, mocking and skepticism around you.
I am pleased when you think of others and not just yourself. I am pleased when you continue to give to the poor, despite the pressures on your own life. I know that life is hard. My Son was One acquainted with suffering and grief. He suffered greatly so that you could live life in freedom to be and do all I've called you to be and do. Take up the shield of FAITH and quench all the fiery darts of the evil one. He is trying to take advantage of the hour and discourage and defeat as many as he can. So I am please when you resist the temptation to feel discouraged and instead turn on music, or play your guitar and sing praises to me and dance. Praise is a great weapon in My arsenal. I am raising up the tent of David so I WANT you to praise, and to sing, to worship , so that the enemy can have no hold on you. In ALL THINGS, praise Me and watch how the circumstances will turn. I have a few surprises for the enemy also ! And I am about to put them on display !
SUDDENLY I will come down and you will see the desires of your heart as you worship Me in the beauty of holiness. Tumultuous times are coming and they too will come suddenly in various areas of the world. So PRAISE ME and do not let up your guard. Put on your armor daily. The blood of Jesus is a standard of glory against all the strategies of the enemy. Speak the TRUTH of My Word . Use it as a sword to cut through the enemy's taunts.

I love you My beloveds and there is nothing I won't do for those who love
Me so long as your heart is melded with Mine. Take My hand as we walk through these days and times together. Like a good child, do not let go of My hand while crossing the roads ahead. I am

WITH you. I am EMMANUEL - God with you ! I will NEVER leave you nor forsake you ! No matter what happens, My love never fails. NO matter how you fail, My love does not fail you. I am steadfast and persevering in My love for you, and I never let go !”

Acts 9:3 NKJV As he journeyed he came near Damascus, and suddenly a light shone around him from heaven.

Num 12:4-6 NKJV Suddenly the LORD said to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam, "Come out, you three, to the tabernacle of meeting!" So the three came out. 5 Then the LORD came down in the pillar of cloud and stood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam. And they both went forward.

1 Kings 19:2-5 NKJV Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, "So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by tomorrow about this time." 3 And when he saw that, he arose and ran for his life, and went to Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.
4 But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a broom tree. And he prayed that he might die, and said, "It is enough! Now, LORD, take my life, for I am no better than my fathers!"
5 Then as he lay and slept under a broom tree, suddenly an angel touched him, and said to him, "Arise and eat."

1 Kings 19:13 NKJV So it was, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. Suddenly a voice came to him, and said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

2 Kings 2:11 NKJV Then it happened, as they continued on and talked, that suddenly a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire, and separated the two of them; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.

Other scriptures on Suddenlies:

Job 1:19 NKJV and suddenly a great wind came from across the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell on the young people, and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

Ps 6:10 NKJV Let all my enemies be ashamed and greatly troubled; Let them turn back and be ashamed suddenly.

Prov 29:1 NKJV He who is often rebuked, and hardens his neck, Will suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

Eccl 9:12 NKJV For man also does not know his time: Like fish taken in a cruel net, Like birds caught in a snare, So the sons of men are snared in an evil time, When it falls suddenly upon them.

Isa 29:5 NKJV "Moreover the multitude of your foes shall be like fine dust, and the multitude of the terrible ones like chaff that passes away;
Yes, it shall be in an instant, suddenly.

Isa 47:11-14 NKJV Therefore evil shall come upon you; You shall not know from where it arises. And trouble shall fall upon you; You will not be able to put it off. And desolation shall come upon you suddenly, which you shall not know. 12 "Stand now with your enchantments and the multitude of your sorceries, In which you have labored from your youth — Perhaps you will be able to profit, Perhaps you will prevail. 13 You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels; Let now the astrologers, the stargazers, and the monthly prognosticators stand up and save you from what shall come upon you. 14 Behold, they shall be as stubble, the fire shall burn them; They shall not deliver themselves from the power of the flame; It shall not be a coal to be warmed by, nor a fire to sit before!

Isa 48:3-4 NKJV "I have declared the former things from the beginning;
They went forth from My mouth, and I caused them to hear it. Suddenly I did them, and they came to pass. 4 Because I knew that you were obstinate,
And your neck was an iron sinew, and your brow bronze,

Jer 4:20-21 NKJV Destruction upon destruction is cried, for the whole land is plundered. Suddenly my tents are plundered, and my curtains in a moment. 21 How long will I see the standard, and hear the sound of the trumpet?

Jer 6:26-27 NKJV O daughter of my people, Dress in sackcloth And roll about in ashes! Make mourning as for an only son, most bitter lamentation;
For the plunderer will suddenly come upon us. 27 "I have set you as an assayer and a fortress among My people, that you may know and test their way.

Jer 51:8 NKJV Babylon has suddenly fallen and been destroyed. Wail for her! Take balm for her pain; Perhaps she may be healed.

Ezek 9:1-2 NKJV The Wicked Are Slain
Then He called out in my hearing with a loud voice, saying, "Let those who have charge over the city draw near, each with a deadly weapon in his hand." 2 And suddenly six men came from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north, each with his battle-ax in his hand. One man among them was clothed with linen and had a writer's inkhorn at his side. They went in and stood beside the bronze altar.

Ezek 37:7-8 NKJV So I prophesied as I was commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and suddenly a rattling; and the bones came together, bone to bone. 8 Indeed, as I looked, the sinews and the flesh came upon them, and the skin covered them over; but there was no breath in them.

Dan 7:5 NKJV "And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: 'Arise, devour much flesh!'

Dan 8:5 NKJV And as I was considering, suddenly a male goat came from the west, across the surface of the whole earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes.

Dan 8:15 NKJV Gabriel Interprets the Vision
Then it happened, when I, Daniel, had seen the vision and was seeking the meaning, that suddenly there stood before me one having the appearance of a man.

Dan 10:10-11 NKJV Prophecies Concerning Persia and Greece
Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands. 11 And he said to me, "O Daniel, man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you." While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

16 And suddenly, one having the likeness of the sons of men touched my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke, saying to him who stood before me, "My lord, because of the vision my sorrows have overwhelmed me, and I have retained no strength.

Mal 3:1-3 NKJV The Coming Messenger
"Behold, I send My messenger, And he will prepare the way before Me. And the Lord, whom you seek,

Will suddenly come to His temple, Even the Messenger of the covenant, In whom you delight. Behold, He is coming, "Says the LORD of hosts. 2 "But who can endure the day of His coming? And who can stand when He appears? For He is like a refiner's fire and like launderers' soap. 3 He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver; He will purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer to the LORD an offering in righteousness.

Matt 3:17 NKJV And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Matt 8:23-24 NKJV And suddenly a great tempest arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. But He was asleep.

Matt 8:28-29 NKJV And suddenly they cried out, saying, "What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before the time?"

Matt 9:20-21 NKJV And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and touched the hem of His garment.
Matt 17:5-8 NKJV While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!"
And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid. 7 But Jesus came and touched them and said, "Arise, and do not be afraid." 8 When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

Matt 26:51 NKJV And suddenly, one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

Mark 9:8 NKJV Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

Mark 13:35-37 NKJV Watch therefore, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming — in the evening, at midnight, at the crowing of the rooster, or in the morning — 36 lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping. 37 And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!"

Luke 2:13-14 NKJV And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying: 14 "Glory to God in the highest, And on earth peace, goodwill toward men!"

Luke 9:38-39 NKJV Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, "Teacher, I implore You, look on my son, for he is my only child. 39 And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth; and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him.

Acts 2:2-4 NKJV And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. 3 Then there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire, and one sat upon each of them. 4 And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

Acts 16:25-26 NKJV Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened and everyone's chains were loosed.

Acts 22:6-8 NKJV "Now it happened, as I journeyed and came near Damascus at about noon, suddenly a great light from heaven shone around me. 7 And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?' 8 So I answered, 'Who are You, Lord?' And He said to me, 'I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.'

United We Stand Divided We Fall
Priscilla Van Sutphin

November 26th, 2004
www.upstreamca.org   tearsofthefather@comcast.net

I was disturbed again by this whole issue brought up again tonight re: Andrew Strom and his attack on the Toronto/Kansas City movement...Not sure how he feels about Brownsville, but I am upset that people are willing to believe people without even knowing them. The Lord told us to judge the tree by the fruit. As I was praying to Father about it, I heard, " United we stand and divided we fall. I thought to a song from the 60's and then felt to look it up on Google.

UNITED WE STAND
(Written by Tony Hiller / Peter Simons)
The Brotherhood of Man
There's nowhere in the world that I would rather be
Than with you my love
And there's nothing in the world that I would rather see
Than your smile my love
For united we stand
Divided we fall
And if our backs should ever be against the wall
We'll be together, together, you and I
For united we stand
Divided we fall
And if our backs should ever be against the wall
We'll be together, together, you and I
And if the world about you falls apart my love
Then I'll still be here
And if the going gets too hard along the way
Just you call, I'll hear

Sounds much like a song that the Father could sing to His children right now? A spirit of division is the fruit of witchcraft. Derek Prince once said the extent you see divorce in a nation will tell you the amount of witchcraft going on…{paraphrased}.

So then I asked, “What do You want to say Father about this ?”

“The enemy who is the author of division seeks to destroy this next move of the Most Holy Spirit by bringing even further division within My church.
Do not give in My children to the spirit that wishes to divide and conquer.
For he wishes to subdue those who will move into greater authority and power than you’ve ever seen for many hundreds of years. There is nothing he can do to stop what I will do, but he will try. You can make your penance now for any ills done to you in the church or by the churched, or you can wait till I come. But I tell you the truth, NO ONE is above reproach. The moment you catch yourself looking at the faults of another, means your focus is off Me. Most people right now in My church need to be looking at their own sins.

It’s not that the church doesn’t have problems, but you must be above reproach yourself if you want to be part of the solution. No one can walk together unless they are agreed, and so many have parted from the buildings or from congregations because they have seen the hypocrisy and greed, and all the false teaching and stifling of My Spirit. But I tell you the truth, that you will weep and wail on the day I reveal your own faults to you, and I am coming soon to do just that, and to pour out My love. It will come however as a the Spirit of burning for Your God is a Consuming Fire and I will burn off all that cannot withstand the test.

It is NOT a waste of time to spend hours in worship to ME, or to speak My Word in prayer. I have many roles in My Kingdom and there are those who have given themselves fully to MY ideas for what they should do, that now are being shot at by others who are jealous and covetous of the positions and power they have, when they have not paid the same price as the others.
You cannot ascend to power and position unless I RAISE YOU UP.
You cannot make revival happen. That is the work of My Holy Spirit.
You cannot confront darkness when you walk in that same darkness in your own life. You cannot deliver others from bitterness and hatred, from resentment and covetousness if you have that same spirit working in you.
You cannot deliver from control if you are still controlling and manipulating yourself !

If PRIDE lives in you, then you are willing to look at the speck in your brother's eye without seeing what is in your own eyes ! Pharisees were always quick to point out the faults of others, and question what My Son did when He was only listening to what I wanted Him to do, and obeying. There are many of My own in this hour who have the same thing happening to them for the same reasons. The pharisee's were jealous. There is much sibling rivalry in My house today, because there is so much healing and deliverance needed to the body. But how can I join you if you all have your own agendas ?

Words are twisted to mean something they are not. Lives are ruined because you bite and devour one another ! Blessing and cursing come out of the same mouths that claim to love Me in their worship and it should not be so ! There is much to be done to change the church. There will be confrontation shortly that will bring change. But it will come through those LEAST expected to do anything important for ME. And it will NOT come through those who exalt themselves or their own opinions above others, nor from those who have to tear down others to build themselves up. Those who do the correction will come out of the wilderness with a limp like Jacob.

For they will have been wrestling with ME in PRAYER and they will KNOW MY CHARACTER. They will know MY HEART. And MY heart is not one of condemnation and accusation. Have you forgotten that I said, that those who are lost are already condemned ? And if they are not lost, then they are to be corrected with kindness, and humbleness, recognizing your own propensity for the same sins. Will I not empower you to confront the church when it is time and will you not go in the POWER of Elijah ? I have not poured it out as yet, so how can you take up that mantle without ME ? You WILL know, and it will not because of some stirring in your fleshly heart. It will be in power and in authority - and with great consequence.

I am shaking and I am breaking down false foundations and I will rebuild them with new ones that will hold the building steadfastly. It will be built on TRUTHS, not half truths and lies. The apostolic will be loosed in HOLY vessels. I AM THE ONLY ONE WHO CAN MAKE YOU HOLY. It comes from time spent seeking My face, and obedience to what I tell you to do. So many are still bound because the church has been weak and emaciated spiritually.
You, like iron, sharpening iron, are to also rub on each other. The one who inadvertently offends is often the vessel I have used to test you or to try you. Either way, it is because I am working MY CHARACTER into you. You cannot run from the process. Father knows best what you need to look like Me.

There are many stirred up in your hearts because you have seen the injustice. Then sow to the heavens, and sow in the opposites to those around you and watch what I will do. I will give keys if you ask to how to change the environment of your neighborhood, your church, your city. Ask and you shall receive. Knock and the door will be opened. For many of you, if I knocked you wouldn't even notice. There are many types of prophets in the bible, so don't think that just because your role is one thing, that the others are not right. Ezekial had to lay on his side for over a year. Prophets today would have labeled him a lazy fool. I said to the person that calls your brother fool, that he is in danger of hell’s fire !

Matt 5:22-23 NKJV But I say to you that whoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment. And whoever says to his brother, 'Raca!' shall be in danger of the council. But whoever says, 'You fool!' shall be in danger of hell fire.

Come away with ME and buy from ME GOLD REFINED IN THE FIRE ! If you will spend more time in prayer praying for those brothers, without praying your own agenda, but blessing them and praying MY agenda, then perhaps if you BELIEVE, then those prayers will be answered, along with the prayer to make you ONE as WE ARE ONE ! Granted that many will fall away as predicted will happen. But right now in this nation, I am calling you to be ONE in ME. One in the Spirit. LOVE ONE ANOTHER as I HAVE LOVED YOU. I have been patient with you, so will you love one another ? If someone has done you harm. Will you pay in like kind or reject them, or will you do something kind for them, and love them anyway. I told you to love your enemies, to be kind to those who hate you, and to pray for those who spitefully use you. THAT is the standard I want you to aim for. I have been patient with you, have I not ? Who made you the judge ? And if you judge rightly, you have nothing to fear. If you are without sin, then you can cast stones.

Suddenly

A season of "suddenlys." Long you have waited for this fulfillment. Now you are confirmed. I have promised it, I AM doing it. Suddenly, all at once, what was not, is.

Have hope! Years of prayers are not lost. Why so long? Because the battle was greater than yourself. Great warfare has taken place in the heavenlies and worldwide strongholds have been broken. Your portion is coming. Give Me time to set things in order. Be prepared. Even now the prey is being divided and sent on its way.

Flood waters covered the land, but now they are receding. With each new day, new land is emerging. Inheritance free and waiting to be occupied. Yes. Go for it.

"...So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order. And Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people: for the thing was done suddenly." (2 Chronicles 29:35-36)

Do You Need Surgery Or Favor
Sandy Warner

Sep 20, 2004?
When the enemy has made plans against you for your destruction, always remember that I hold the wind and the waves within boundaries. Sometimes I allow the enemy access to rebuke and chasten the ones I love who have burned their consciences and are blind to their own rebellions. Yes, a time of surgery is coming for those who are blind, naked and lukewarm. They have tested Me through their love for compromising worldly entertainment and fallen short. This has opened the door to embracing plastic counterfeit spirits into their lives.

Those of you who have yielded to Me in earnest repentance, those who are humble, willing, teachable and yielded to Me, you have nothing to fear. As you bow low before Me with fearful hearts, not because you fear the demonic plot, but because you want to please Me, I completely canopy you with My grace and favor. Anything the enemy says becomes a false alarm, for you are safely preserved. He may accuse you of being slimed from the counterfeit and the storm may appear violent but it will pass you without harm.

I do allow the wind and the rain to touch your soul and flesh. I will use the storms in life to draw out and separate that which does not belong to Me. I separate between the soul and the Spirit that My living water may run clear and pure without mixture in your life.

Yes I ask you to stand and say no to the enemy slime and uncertainties. Yes it is vital that you learn to read the signs of the times and stay within the boundaries of safety that I have prescribed. As you stand in the reality of My generous covering, you will find, dear one, that no matter what you see coming against you, it will turn to mere smoke that is swept right past you. Let Me carry you and your burdens. No matter what the alarm, do not worry precious one. It is your choice to rest in My favor and stand against the alarming signs of the times.

John 17:15 NLT
I'm not asking you to take them out of the world, but to keep them safe from the evil one.

Pray At Dark On Yom Kipper
Sandy Warner

Sep 24, 2004
Papa on the beginning of this holy night, I lay my heart before You and ask that the blood of Jesus cover us, our families and our loved ones. I ask for Your loving mercy to forgive our daily, hourly, moment by moment sins where we each have failed and fallen short of You. Not one of us are righteous or worthy.

I ask for Your mercy and the blood of Jesus Christ to cover us and keep us warm and protected as we each individually pass under Your rod and the inspections of Your all seeing eye. Lord Your eye searches to and fro to seek out those whose hearts are turned toward You. You listen to our thoughts and You separate our motives. You know our passions and where our treasures are.

Oh dear Papa, the Almighty One Who sits on His throne of Justice, I ask that You will allow us as a people to graduate to the next level of Kingdom authority, Kingdom movement and Kingdom plan. We have now come into the days of acceleration Lord. I thank You that delay is broken and Your divine time clock is ticking faster. I ask by a move of Your divine plan and hand, that You will thwart the plans of darkness and allow us all to graduate and move on past the years of hopeless delay.

I ask that we will together stay bonded as a corporate family and move into the awesome days You have promised. Lord I ask that those whom we have carried, who are rebellious and stubborn and still seek their own ways, that You will be gracious and answer the earnest prayers of praying parents and allow these to cross over with us onto the next level. We ask that in so allowing them to come, that Your dealings remain with grace, but that Your dealings will be accelerated and highlighted for a quick work to bring them to repentance. It is Your kindness that leads to repentance Lord. I ask that in Your kindness, we will not have to leave our loved ones behind on the other side of the dividing line, and because of the years of pain and delay in waiting, I ask that we will not have to stay behind with them as bridges and intercessors. I ask instead, that we will all be allowed to move forward as a corporate family in one unit. Here our cries Lord, coming from years of bondage, sin and decay. Visit us oh Father and move us forward away from captivity.

I ask that You will visit your prophets this night in holy communion and bring us Your living rhema Word for this next season in our life. I ask that Your Word will bring clarity, hope and deliverance for all who would receive it. In Jesus Name.

Prov 15:3 KJV
The eyes of the LORD are in every place, beholding the evil and the good.

Jer 17:10 NLT
But I know! I, the LORD, search all hearts and examine secret motives. I give all people their due rewards, according to what their actions deserve."

Heb 10:19-23 NLT

And so, dear brothers and sisters, we can boldly enter heaven's Most Holy Place because of the blood of Jesus. This is the new, life-giving way that Christ has opened up for us through the sacred curtain, by means of his death for us. And since we have a great High Priest who rules over God's people, let us go right into the presence of God, with true hearts fully trusting him. For our evil consciences have been sprinkled with Christ's blood to make us clean, and our bodies have been washed with pure water. Without wavering, let us hold tightly to the hope we say we have, for God can be trusted to keep his promise.

Recovering Family Time
Sandy Warner

Sep 24, 2004
My people have fallen into the pain of isolation and barricaded hearts due to disjointed and broken relationships. How I have grieved over them, that they might know the intimate comfort of belonging to My loving family!

The children look to their parents and wonder if the scepter of favor will be extended, so they may approach their parent's esteemed world. The parents minister through the constraints of need. All reach out through wounded arms and hands, having been burnt from their past disappointments.

Listen up, dear family! When I begin to draw you into the loving warmth of genuine relationship, do not run away. Do not fear. Do not go deeper into your safe and cold hearts, lest you die from freezing temperatures. I AM warming the hearts of My kindred heart family. I AM drawing them into a new place. It is there that the table of My Presence will be round, where all may sit equal distance and face to face. I shall link your hearts in common support and mutual pursuit of My Word. I shall bring you together into this new place where you shall discover that your lives are intimately joined at the hip like the puzzling together of My Word. From the youngest to the oldest, all shall know the purity of My love and the beauty of the unity of the brethren.

Ps 133 NLT
How wonderful it is, how pleasant, when brothers live together in harmony! For harmony is as precious as the fragrant anointing oil that was poured over Aaron's head, that ran down his beard and onto the border of his robe. Harmony is as refreshing as the dew from Mount Hermon that falls on the mountains of Zion. And the LORD has pronounced his blessing, even life forevermore.

Still Uniting Team Ministries

I have called many to connect in team ministries. These teams gifts shall weave in and out and bring forth My Word-pictures as signs to light the way. A little here and a little there, I shall delight all who participate in teamship, with confirmations and increased gifts as I shed additional light and understanding upon what I AM speaking.

Colossians 2:2 NLT

Yielding To The Natural Way
Sandy Warner

Sep 8, 2004
Precious one, how I love your tenacity to cling to Me and how proud I am of your stubbornness to resist enemy plots. Dearest, I have carefully watched you, and if you had to make the choice you would choose to go down with the ship, if that is what you believed was the right way.

There are times to stand for supernatural intervention and there are times to submit to natural wisdom. In all ways, I have asked you to occupy until I come. Sometimes, because of the timing of your waiting period, it is necessary for you to yield to the voice of wisdom that I have given to men who have gained expertise in their field.

I know this is not your highest choice or aim, all of heaven knows your strong stand of faith. But I am asking you to yield to Me in this matter and know that I also work through men. Trust Me to carry you through this. Remember it is I Who declares all boundaries. You have nothing to fear. Please trust Me to also take care of you in this natural way.

Job 38:8-11 NLT
Who defined the boundaries of the sea as it burst from the womb, and as I clothed it with clouds and thick darkness? For I locked it behind barred gates, limiting its shores. I said, `Thus far and no farther will you come. Here your proud waves must stop!'

Room For You At The Fort
Sandy Warner

Sep 10, 2004
Yes, My loved ones, I am making room for you. Even as Jacob traveled towards his beloved son Joseph, you have traveled far to be reunited with what you have lost. The world will grow colder, but there will always be warmth and ample supply in your spiritual Goshen. I have gone before you and prepared a place for you. Drive your burdens, families and promises right to the doors of protection. The watchmen will see you coming and swing them wide open. There's room for you in this safe place. There is much joy in the camp, for they have great anticipation for forthcoming family reunions.

Genesis 46:29-31
"And Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Israel his father, to Goshen, and presented himself unto him; and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while. And Israel said unto Joseph, Now let me die, since I have seen thy face, because thou art yet alive. And Joseph said unto his brethren, and unto his father's house, I will go up, and shew Pharaoh, and say unto him, My brethren, and my father's house, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me.

Spiritual Warfare 101

Bob Neumann

For the last few hours I should have been watching some really anticipated college football games. Instead I stayed in my place and waited. All I "got" was that the "SO CALLED SAINTS" have no real knowledge of "WARFARE IN HIS SPIRIT". TWO things should jump out at whoever reads this...."SO CALLED SAINTS"...."WARFARE IN HIS SPIRIT".

Let's take the first one..."SO CALLED SAINTS" which means that there are people out there who think they are SAINTS...those who have separated from the world and "are of THE LORD"....but are not. These are obviously the GOATS who will cry out "BUT LORD, LORD" and will be told by THE KING..."I NEVER KNEW YOU".

The second is obviously an overflow of #1. People who are in warfare but not in THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT. Which means the battles "they choose" is not THE LORDS... and what empowers them is not HOLY.

With all the experts out there writing books and giving seminars, and all the peoples who have gotten into "it"....why is the church in such a mess... why are so many "Saints" messed up and struggling all the time.

Now what I was given concerning this was just an old song....real old....

Psalm 18 1 I will love thee, O LORD, my strength. 2 The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower. 3 I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies. 4 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid. 5 The sorrows of hell compassed me about: the snares of death prevented me. 6 In my distress I called upon the LORD, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears.

SPIRITUAL WARFARE 101 is simple...it starts with I WILL LOVE THEE, O LORD. Awesome ain't it. And it only gets better...they acknowledge that THE LORD ONLY is MY STRENGTH. So peoples out there who are perpetual victims are those who still want to do things there own way. Why did THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT just give me the term "perpetual victims"? It is because GOD'S PEOPLE are supposed to be OVERCOMERS. Obviously they never got to verse 2 The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.

If you are not looking to THE LORD in all these images you become vulnerable. If you do not live each and every day in verse 2, you will not find verse 3I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.

Now David had his troubles and they are shared with us in the next verses4 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid. 5 The sorrows of hell compassed me about: the snares of death prevented me. David only had three areas of trouble....DEATH, UNGODLY MEN, and HELL. They would be sufficient to make anyone realize that he David, THE LORD'S ANOINTED needed GOD. So we have verse 6 In my distress I called upon the LORD, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry came before him, even into his ears. The only ONE who could SAVE was DAVID'S GOD. So you have to ask...the "so called saints"...who or what is "their god"? Who or what do the worship?

I do not even want to touch this, but I have to. THE LAMB OF GOD taught us a person can not SERVE TWO MASTERS. THE SAINTS can not be double minded, in anything. Granted we are all "works in progress", but the times and seasons have changed and so do HIS SERVANTS. Because they wait upon HIM and HIM ALONE.

this is just the first lesson...

All Those Turkeys
Bob Neumann

Last night my wife asked what I wanted for Thanksgiving dinner. While turkey is traditional there are some choices. Cajun Deep Fried, Smoked Turkey, Roasted Turkey, Mesquite turkey breast..... and of course glazed spiral ham. I suggested how about "smoked turkey", and my wife commented "too dry". So I stayed silent...if I can not guess what my wife wants the first try....my second and third are always worse.

So I went up to the bedroom anticipating actually sleeping but just could not "get comfortable". So I got up and put an old ISRAEL'S HOPE cd on and just worshipped. When it got to the song that went "O GIVE THANKS UNTO THE LORD, CALL UPON HIS NAME...." I heard a most familiar VOICE ask a question. "REMEMBER ALL THOSE TURKEYS?". And I thought immediately.... remember all those TURKEYS?....how can I forget.

In the last week I have had my problems, we all have problems. Issues about MERCY and SUFFERING, TITHING and GIVING, WARFARE and HARVEST. This week amerika will celebrate THANKSGIVING. Basically what we have is a nice long weekend and lots of leftovers to devour watching football games. Few will remember the origin of this FEAST OF REMEMBRANCE...few will actually care in this "land of plenty".

It is easy to forget the BLESSINGS and GRACE of ABBA when things are going well. When things go bad, we are screaming and demanding quick response time. Sometimes you have to remember who your Daddy is.... and all that HE HAS DONE FOR US...

I remember the TURKEYS quite well. Mainly because it was the Thanksgiving after Hurricane Andrew hit us hard in southern Dade County. Over three months had passed and we still had our roof covered with plastic sheets and tarps. About 40% of our roof had been blown completely off and all the insulation had been sucked out and scattered all over the Everglades. So the slightly cooler weather was most welcome.

In previous years the hospital I worked for gave turkeys to all employees. This years rumors were flying about changes in management...bankruptcy.... and no turkeys. The hospital and the corporation were in serious trouble. In the next year the hospital would be sold to another corporation, so some of the rumors had some foundation. But I had worked there over 10 years...hadn't bought a turkey for thanksgiving in years.

And me being cheap...I mean a good steward...I knew there would be sales on turkey...and did not worry. Since Andrew I was averaging over 56 hours a week and the overtime jumped my taxes horribly...so I could afford to buy a turkey. But a few weeks before TURKEY DAY at a meeting of men's ministry we got into how THE LORD had done such great things for so many of us in this period after Andrew. And I mentioned that OUR GOD sees to our needs and will PROVIDE...MORE THAN ENOUGH. Of course I still had a job, my house though badly damaged was "livable"...(my opinion, my wife did not agree)....so I understood how many of these guys had been pushed to the breaking point and were barely holding on day by day.

So Tuesday morning I went from work to the local Winn-Dixie. I bought a turkey...real cheap...my wife was not happy because it was "too big" and not a "butterball". 16 pounds was the smallest of the cheaper birds they had left. So I made room in the fridge and went to sleep. Work that night was the usual and about 6am the hospital CEO came into the ICU. He had spent the night arguing with corporate types and found the other CEO's of the other hospitals in the corporation had chipped in and he got turkeys for all the employees.

Like I said I am cheap. And I had at home a near empty chest freezer that I had got all the mildew out of after Andrew cut out our electricity for 13 days. So I took it home. Went to put it in the freezer and found two turkeys already there. My wife did not tell me that her hospital decided to give out turkeys, they had never done it before and never would again. I worked there part time...so she got two turkeys....each less than 16lbs...no butterball... but they were free.

That afternoon I had a friend stop by. His church was passing out food baskets and he wanted to "bless" me because of the joint work several of our churches had done. I tried to refuse...and realized I would hurt some feelings needlessly. So now I had 5 turkeys. That evening someone else came by, from the church I attended ...he had spent hours delivering turkeys...he had two left and wanted to bless me..... I wonder if Trey remembers....he knew I had a near empty chest freezer. I had room for a few extra TURKEYS..... actually Trey supplied us with turkeys several times over the years...

Now I had 7 turkeys....the eighth came from my sister in law. She had been given a turkey from the hospital she worked for...several years later after much help cooked her first American turkey. She and her husband and son were going to eat with us...which is why I thought 16lbs was not too big....but her husband was invited to Orlando...soooo they went and left us their bird because they had no freezer space. By this time neither did we.

On THANKSGIVING DAY the year Hurricane Andrew went by I was sitting in front of the TV as my wife and kids headed out to see a movie. I was stuffed and turned off the TV at half time. AND I pondered...and I thought of an old Bing Crosby song about COUNTING YOUR BLESSINGS. So I started...missed the whole 3rd quarter. That night when wife Mila, daughter Jennifer, and son Andrew were all snoring up a storm I walked through the house giving thanks and worshipping. Telling my ABBA how wonderful HE WAS/IS/WILL ALWAYS BE. I thanked him for keeping my wife and children safe THROUGH THE STORM...thanked HIM for not knocking down the hospitals we worked at so we did not loose our jobs. Thanked HIM for toilets that flushed and for AIR CONDITIONING. Thanked HIM for all HIS SAINTS in my life and my new brother TREY HE had brought down after the STORM.

But I did ask HIM why all the TURKEYS....it had amazed me how they kept coming from all directions. and all I heard was "JUST REMEMBER".

But I had not thought about it in years. Funny how it came back now. So I actually had forgotten. I wonder how much we have all forgotten....until THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT brings things to remembrance. Selah old dog

Spiritual Warfare 102 - Revelation To Relationship

Bob Neumann

The story of King David's life is a text book example of SPIRITUAL WARFARE. David's survival is spelled out in THE REVELATION he was given of his GOD. The reason why so many "so called saints" are in continuous turmoil in their lives is that there is no revelation. Without REVELATION there is no relationship. Without relationship there certain It is no covenant. David expresses his knowledge of just who his GOD is in Psalm 18 verse 2.

2 The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.

Count them, there are seven declarations here. If you look at this seven part PATTERN it is the CLASSIC MENORAH. The LAMPSTAND of the TABERNACLE which is referred to AS THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD. Following this pattern we can see that David's LORD was his ROCK, his FORTRESS, his DELIVERER.... and then DAVID SAYS HIS LORD IS HIS GOD........... now DAVID'S LORD is THE STRENGTH IN WHOM DAVID TRUSTS.... then DAVID'S LORD is HIS BUCKLER/SHIELD and the HORN/SOURCE of SALVATION. And Last, DAVID'S LORD is HIS HIGH TOWER.....the PLACE WHERE THE RIGHTEOUS RUN TO.

THE MOST HIGH GOD had revealed HIMSELF unto DAVID. How has THE MOST HIGH REVEALED himself to any of you?

Now that may not seem an important issue. Especially to those "so called saints" secure and safe within their personal deception. They may say this "stuff" is all over the Bible. The problem is that it is not. Not as David puts it. Nor is there anything like what follows after DAVID called out in his DISTRESS....and HIS LORD...HIS GOD...HEARD HIM

7 Then the earth shook and trembled; the foundations also of the hills moved and were shaken, because he was wroth. 8 There went up a smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it. 9 He bowed the heavens also, and came down: and darkness was under his feet. 10 And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: yea, he did fly upon the wings of the wind. 11 He made darkness his secret place; his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the skies. 12 At the brightness that was before him his thick clouds passed, hail stones and coals of fire. 13 The LORD also thundered in the heavens, and the Highest gave his voice; hail stones and coals of fire. 14 Yea, he sent out his arrows, and scattered them; and he shot out lightnings, and discomfited them. 15 Then the channels of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of thy nostrils.

Psalm 18 is repeated in 2 Samuel 22. What David accounts here is quite dramatic. More so because no one else were given anything near the level and clarity of vision. So the reason that GOD speaks of DAVID as being a man after HIS OWN HEART is this awesome level of revelation that births a relationship unprecedented.

Now David was not perfect. He just repented when faced with his sins. In Psalm 51 he begs that THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT not be taken from him. The COMFORTER that JESUS promised HIS FOLLOWERS was no stranger to DAVID. The last thing David wanted to happen was a loss of relationship..... of FELLOWSHIP with THE LORD HIS GOD.

Paul tells us to "put on the whole armor of GOD". FIRST THERE IS TRUTH.... FOLLOWED BY RIGHTEOUSNESS...Then comes the PREPARATION of THE GOSPEL of PEACE....THEN COMES FAITH, SALVATION, and THE WORD OF GOD. All require revelation to understand and to utilize... IF....IF....IF....you are to survive THE EVIL DAY.

Do you really know THE GOD DAVID SAW IN VERSES 7-15? THE GOD DAVID LOVED?

So what relationship do you really have.

Are you a VICTIM....or an OVERCOMER?

Do you really know?

Spiritual Warfare 103..... Divine Focus

Someone asked how relationship with GOD has anything to do with what is called SPIRITUAL WARFARE. The fact that someone need to ask the question made me realize that maybe I was barking up the wrong tree. In Ephesians 6 Paul gives an explicit account of who our opposition is. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Just the concept of "SPIRITUAL WICKEDNESS" should make you look at this from outside the prospective of the natural. Likewise to assume that what Paul writes of was something new on this planet as the disciple went forth to preach the GOSPEL of THE KINGDOM is facetious. What we call the public ministry of JESUS was warfare against the "SPIRITUAL WICKEDNESS" wherever HE TRAVELED. So if you are honest you have to admit that David's battles were not just in the natural.

4 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.

Verse 4 speaks of Sorrows of Death and Floods of ungodly men. Now you can try and take it literally and say that David was afraid of natural death at the hands of human men. But verse 5 takes it out of the natural plain. 5 The sorrows of hell compassed me about: the snares of death prevented me.

Here David speaks of DEATH a second time. And the TERM "SECOND DEATH" should be familiar to the student of the BOOK of REVELATION. In the Letter to the church in Smyrna we are introduced to a new concept, "the synagogue of SATAN". JESUS HIMSELF has the answer on how to deal with this situation.

10 Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. 11 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

Death in the natural is anticipated, but the "overcomer" shall not be hurt by THE SECOND DEATH. David was fighting in the natural realm where his own courage and skill was a great asset. But when HELL and DEATH come together as they do in verse 5 and in Rev 6:8 we are dealing with something very Supernatural. And I looked, and behold a pale horse: and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed with him. So David needed someone far greater than himself to call out to. How did he figure out WHO he needed? James 4 gives us some valuable information.

6 But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble. 7 Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. 8 Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded.

Now David did not start Psalm 18 with a declaration of "submission", it was a declaration of LOVE. David was well into the drawing nigh. "I LOVE YOU" is a lot more emotional than "I submit to your authority". James is giving his readers a crisp scourging by addressing them as sinners and double minded sinners at that.

We all know that David too sinned, yet HIS GOD heard his call and acted. Once again we have a pattern. 16 He sent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters. 17 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hated me: for they were too strong for me. 18 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my stay.

Verses 16-18 addresses David's rescue from the flood of "ungodly men". The "waters" stirred up to destroy David were "many" but useless when compared to David's GOD. In verse 17 David acknowledges both the strength and hatred of those that sought to kill the shepherd boy. Verse 18 reinforces his dependence on his GOD. And it is here that things change.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place; he delivered me, because he delighted in me. It seems that DAVID'S GOD was mighty fond of DAVID. GOD must have a reason. 20 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.

Look back at James' words. David's hands were clean...in GOD'S EYES. For which DAVID WAS REWARDED....GOD saved and delivered him from all his foes...natural and spiritual. And it goes farther....

21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God. 22 For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his statutes from me. 23 I was also upright before him, and I kept myself from mine iniquity. 24 Therefore hath the LORD recompensed me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his eyesight.

Once again we have the clean hands, but what preceded it was clearly a single mindedness that I find worth emulating.

KEEP THE WAYS OF THE LORD! CLING TO GOD AND FLEE WICKEDNESS! BE AWARE OF HIS JUDGMENTS AND FOLLOW HIS STATUTES! WALK UPRIGHT BEFORE GOD ALWAYS! STAY FAR AWAY FROM INIQUITY!

All of this sounds sensible, even prudent. So why is this thing called "SPIRITUAL WARFARE" such a "BIG DEAL" in so many places?

Just maybe there are a whole bunch of "so called saints" whose hands GOD sees...and GOD does not delight in them as HE DID DAVID? Selah dog

Spiritual Warfare 305 - The Pathway To Victory
Bob Neumann

To comprehend the level of attacks that will befall the TRUE SAINTS OF GOD in these END TIMES/LAST DAYS all we need to do is look at David. Psalm 18 speaks of a two way relationship between David and HIS LORD. It speaks of David's revelatory knowledge of GOD. It also speaks of what HIS GOD does for him...and through him.

You have to remember that King Saul was the KING after the People's HEART. When the people went to THE PROPHET SAMUEL and demanded a king like the pagans had, Samuel thought they were rejecting his work. Only GOD corrected Samuel and explained that what ISRAEL was rejecting was GOD'S PLAN. David was the man GOD intended to bring ISRAEL to the level they failed to reach under Joshua and THE JUDGES. King Saul started with an anointing and prophesied. When Saul decided when and where to ignore GOD'S WILL, he fell and was given a SPIRIT to torment him.

Now GOD "sent" that spirit unto Saul. David's music held it at bay, until Saul started taking David's popularity personally. And we all know how Saul ended.

So back to Psalm 18 and the next turn it takes.....

33 He maketh my feet like hinds' feet, and setteth me upon my high places. The "hind" is an archaic term for deer. David is given swiftness and sureness of foot. Attributes quite useful in close combat. But then he speaks of BEING SET on THE HIGH PLACES. Here we have a classic double image. THE HIGH PLACES were a major place of idol worship. Of ASTROLOGY and DIVINATION. Of unholy rituals and debauchery to appease the "other gods" YHVH ADONAI had warned Moses and the children of Israel while still in the desert. It was this "worship of other gods" that brought trouble and misery to GOD'S COVENANT PEOPLE. In Rev 13 we are told that the FALSE PROPHET that "looked like a lamb" but had "the voice of the dragon" will strive to get the WHOLE WORLD to worship THE BEAST. Here David is set upon THESE HIGH PLACES....you may ask why? The HIGH GROUND is the choice to fight a battle. Forces the enemy to attack running uphill. Places David in the superior position in several ways.

34 He teacheth my hands to war, so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms. All of this is so David could make war...against GOD'S enemies. Both in the natural world and the world of the SPIRIT. The terminology of "teacheth my hands to war" is most interesting. Easily you can take it that David was "taught" how to handle weapons. Sling, sword, bow and arrow were ancient weapons David would use. Yet the image of "to war" speaks of strategy... of command leadership...which brought David to a place people recognized. Yes, David was a great warrior, killing his thousands and ten thousands. Yet in the caves men came to him out of their own troubles and became the core by which the ARMY OF ISRAEL was established. The ARMY that David led to victory, that was the foundation that Solomon used to expand THE KINGDOM. No earthly army wanted to fight it, so they married their daughters to Solomon and established agreements for peace and trade. In the second part of verse 34 we have the aspect of supernatural strength to go with speed and maneuverability. Now these alone should have sufficed to assure David victory. Only David knew better.

35 Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleness hath made me great.

Long before Paul penned his letter to Ephesus David understood the images Paul passed down to us...and added to it. We are all given the SHIELD of GOD'S SALVATION... but DAVID acknowledges it is GOD'S RIGHT HAND...HIS MESSIAH...that holds him up. How did David see that 1000 years before the CHILD WAS BORN and THE SON GIVEN? Simple...RHEMA. Now Verse 35 ends on a different note...YOUR GENTLENESS has made me great. David's revelation of the GREAT AND TERRIBLE GOD is also a revelation of THE SHEPHERD and THE FRIEND....of THE ONE WHO CARES FOR DAVID....in spite of his sins and failings.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me, that my feet did not slip. First impression is this is sort of where we started....hind's feet....only it is not. Steps here is not where David places his feet...but on WHAT... STEPS are the means of climbing...going up.... Add to that David says that it was done so that his feet would not slip makes this important because it places David going UP. As in "LET US GO UP TO...." ....which is always the GOAL David desires, dreams of, sings about...THE HOUSE OF HIS GOD. Which is a strange way to end this section. Or maybe it is not. It all depends on what our purpose and reason for our belief systems is derived. What we desire to be....in HIS TIME. Selah old dog

Listening To The Wind Chimes
Bob Neumann

A SHORT VISION AND RHEMA... It is TUESDAY...It is DECEMBER 7th...I just got off the phone with my friend Harley. At the beginning of the conversation he mentioned just watching an EAGLE fly overhead. He mentioned the local squirrels and birds who usually were active at this time of day had all hunkered down until THE PREDATOR was no longer around. While we talked I could hear the wind was just tearing through the wind chimes on the front of the house. Continuously chiming for all the time we were on the phone. From the sound of the wind we were getting gusts of 40-50 miles per hour. As I sat and watched out the front of my house I watched the 3 sets of wind chimes spin and move with the wind. With each gust the chimes moved and the house creaked. And me being the perpetual optimist thought, HOW MUCH COULD THIS HOUSE TAKE? The thought centered around "wind". Throughout the time I was on the phone I had noticed two things. The gusts were definitely getting stronger, and the dog was not in any of her usual places. I found her in the bedroom on the floor with her head down and tail unmoving. My wife was pleasantly snoring away and oblivious to the wind or the dog's unease. So I left the two of them upstairs and went back to watch the wind.

So far today I have kept the TV off, ran two short errands and stayed still and quiet. Today is TUESDAY. It is also PEARL HARBOR DAY. As I pondered that I had a little journey. Where I had been looking through a large windowed vista, what was now before me was open. A strong cold wind was blowing as I looked out into a rainy, gloomy world. Like in my home, I was looking down. And instead of a road and other houses, all I saw was darkness.

What I was looking through was an opening in a stone wall. Over my head was a ceiling of sorts. So I was standing in a window of a keep or a well built walled area. My first thought was "interesting". Then I heard a shout.. "THE BARBARIANS ARE AT THE GATE".... My first thought was whether they "brought their invitations this time". At that time I heard running footsteps overhead. Obviously someone was awake and sober...and ready. It was then I heard a familiar voice ask a question: "WITH THE BARBARIANS AT YOUR GATES, WHAT DO YOU DO WITH THE PSYCHOPATHS AND SOCIOPATHS INSIDE?"

You can plan to defend yourself from outside attack. But what do you do with the PREDATORS already inside? Harley's EAGLE soared overhead. Everything vulnerable found a bolt hole. When the EAGLE left the area, or found his dinner elsewhere, things would return to normal.

It all depends what NORMAL means.

there was a time where a people lived in PEACE and Safety. they worked hard and watched the world around them. some watched the events of the world and voiced their concern. some said if we stay out of other people's situations their problems would never concern us. they called themselves isolationists.

then one day word came that one of their cities had been attacked, their fleet was decimated, and war had come to them. FDR said that December 7th was a day of INFAMY....a day that should never be forgotten. later we found that THE AXIS nations had developed extensive networks for espionage and sabotage against this people who had been content to sit and watch.

I share this VISION and RHEMA with all who have eyes to see and ears to here. There is coming a time where we all will have to have an answer to HIS QUESTION. Selah bob, an old dog

Spiritual Warfare 444 - The Steps Of The Conqueror
Bob Neumann

For years the AMERICKAN ANTI-CHURCH has made big money on their game of SPIRITUAL WARFARE. They have peddled their wares far and wide for years. Tens of thousands of people have taken courses and attended conferences. Yet after all that has happened the state of THE SPIRITUAL STATUS of the AMERIKAN NATION is abysmal. Crime is still endemic, Violence is everywhere, Drug use expands, IMMORALITY is everywhere.

Now TAKE THE CHURCH. Half is liberal humanist... Half is some type of moderate/conservative. In either half UNCLEAN and FAMILIAR spirits abide and prosper in either OPEN/BLATANT false doctrines and teachings, or HIDDEN/COVERT manipulation, control and seduction.

All of these crimes the ANTI-CHURCH and the AMERIKAN SOCIETY in which it sprang up has been INDICTED, shall now stand before THE JUDGE OF ETERNITY. IN HIS COURT THERE ARE NO PLEAS FOR LENIENCY BECAUSE HE JUDGES AND MAKES WAR IN RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Five times we have turned to Psalm 18 to understand how we, DAVID'S SEED can journey in his footsteps. Now this sixth lesson is actually the POST GRADUATE course of the curriculum. It is putting the first five lessons learned to actual use.

So we start with the next image in DAVID'S LIFE.... 37I have pursued mine enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were consumed. David came to a point where he left the caves and ATTACKED ISRAEL'S ENEMIES. Here he speaks of PURSUING his enemies...chasing them down, hunting them out. No longer is he "hiding" no longer is he in the defensive position. Simply withstanding the plots and attacks are enough. Now he is HUNTING DOWN...running down his enemies and eating them.... "till they were consumed".... DEVOURED.

38I have wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen under my feet. Here is an interesting image. David's foes were so badly wounded they lay helpless on the ground. Neither in verse 37 or verse 38 DOES DAVID SAY I SLEW MY ENEMIES....KILLED 'EM ALL....WIPED THEM ALL OUT. MAYBE IT WAS BECAUSE HE HAD ENEMIES THAT COULD NOT BE KILLED....because they were SPIRIT...and not FLESH AND BLOOD.

39For thou hast girded me with strength unto the battle: thou hast subdued under me those that rose up against me.

Once again we see DAVID acknowledging HIS STRENGTH is HIS GOD and not himself. He declares that THE GOD IN WHOM HE HAS PERSONAL REVELATION AND RELATIONSHIP subdued those who were a danger to DAVID.

40Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies; that I might destroy them that hate me. Imagine your enemy at your feet, neck exposed, awaiting the execution richly deserved. David found his enemies just that way. SO...they cried for mercy...

41They cried, but there was none to save them: even unto the LORD, but he answered them not. At this point DAVID had OVERCOME his FOES. He had complete victory. HE HAD CONQUERED. All because he had put HIS TRUST IN HIS GOD. Even "the fallen" called out to DAVID'S GOD...and GOD does not answer. "BUT LORD...LORD...."

42Then did I beat them small as the dust before the wind: I did cast them out as the dirt in the streets.

BEATEN BADLY AND CAST OUT...sound familiar...

26His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strawed: 27Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury. 28Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents. 29For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath. 30And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43Thou hast delivered me from the strivings of the people; and thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known shall serve me. Now David speaks of the strivings with the people. Here David is talking of the NATURAL WORLD... David had defeated his foes in both THE NATURAL and the SPIRIT...because HIS GOD gave him the victory. EVERY KNEE BOWED TO DAVID...and HIS SEED.

44As soon as they hear of me, they shall obey me: the strangers shall submit themselves unto me.

45The strangers shall fade away, and be afraid out of their close places. They hear and obey. They accept DAVID'S AUTHORITY over them. They are submitted to HIM as GOD'S SOVEREIGN. Even strangers who have fled out of the land FEAR his dominion.

I wonder how fearful of THE ANTI-CHURCH are the POWERS OF DARKNESS? Do PRINCIPALITIES tremble when NICOLA TIN OVERLORDS try to shout them down?

35Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

36As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

37Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

38For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

VICTORY IN JESUS...TO OVERCOME...is wonderful.

BUT IS IT ALL WE ARE CALLED TO DO?

each SHEEP and each CHILD and each servant must choose for themselves.

Spiritual Warfare in the Last Days
Dorothea Monatgue

http://www.angelfire.com/in/hislove
montagud@telus.net

My precious people...I wish to speak unto you today regarding Spiritual warfare and your need to become proficient in using the weapons of warfare which I have provided for you. Many of you are enduring many things that are coming against you...loss of jobs, of health, of finances, of homes and of children and you have not even thought of these disasters as being instigated by the enemy. Satan will try everything at his disposal to turn you away from Me and from the path I have chosen for you. Do not accept the trials that he is endeavoring to put upon you but rise up and use the weapons and power which I have given you, to defeat all his efforts. Become proficient in using all my weapons of warfare because, as tribulation increases in your world, you will encounter many times when you will need to go into battle against the enemy.

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places. (Ephes. 6:10-12)

So many of you, My people, ignore this portion of Scripture, thinking that the enemy will not come near you. Indeed, I say unto you, every one who has accepted Me as your Savior is prone to attacks by the enemy and needs to be protected and ready to go to war with him.

Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day , and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. (Ephes. 6:13-17)

My people, take heed to My admonition to daily put on My armor and so protect yourselves against anything the enemy might bring against you. I tell you, My precious ones, as these days of tribulation increase in intensity, the only way to protect yourselves from attacks of the enemy is to become proficient in using the weapons of warfare I have given you to come against him.

Another weapon I have provided for you is to attack the enemy with words of Scripture, declaring "It is written." The enemy cannot tolerate My Word and you will see him depart from you.

And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives to the death. (Rev. 12:11)

My people you cannot comprehend the power contained in My blood which was shed for you on Calvary. Proclaim it against the enemy and see him lose all power over you. Battle him also with the words of your testimony.

Beloved, as you are faithful in using My weapons of warfare you will find freedom from all areas that the enemy could attack and therefore freedom in serving Me. I am preparing you, My people, for your end time ministries for Me when you shall go forth with the power of My Spirit, to win your world for Me. Even in the midst of great tribulation as foretold by the prophets of old, shall you boldly go forth and minister salvation and healing to the multitudes.

As promised in My Word I shall never leave you nor forsake you as you are obedient to all I ask of you. Your ministries shall be far reaching and shall bring joy to your hearts as you fulfill My calling on your life.

Defeating The Enemy
Dorothea Monatgue

O, My people, I am speaking to you today amidst the persecutions and tribulations of the world. I have prepared your hearts to withstand the troubles of the world and you are not succumbing to the attacks of the enemy but standing strong for Me. Of course the enemy does not want you to serve Me so is bringing his weapons to bear against you. However, I admonish you to be in remembrance that, "Greater is He who is within you than he who is in the world." I say unto you, My people, as you are faithful in prayer and study of My Word, I shall make you strong and nothing shall be able to penetrate the armor I have provided for you.

I have been preparing you, My precious people, to battle the powers of darkness which shall endeavor to overcome you in these, the last days. You have been aware of My strength and My power being poured upon you in these days and you have felt all fear of the future draining from you.

I am raising up an army to serve Me in these days, a strong army which shall not be defeated. As you, My beloved, go forth to serve in My army you shall witness the defeat of the enemy on every side and you shall have the freedom to minister for Me wherever I shall lead you. I shall put in place powerful end time ministries amongst My people. I shall make you "fishers of men.

And He said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men." (Matt. 4:19)

O, My people, these are times of harvest and even in the midst of great tribulation multitudes will be won for My kingdom. You will speak forth with boldness the words which I shall give you, to all whom you meet, which will touch the hearts of all who hear. You shall speak forth words of Scripture which you have never learned and they, too, will touch hearts and draw them to Me.

I tell you, My beloved, I am coming soon for those who are Mine so time is of an essence to bring in the harvest.

Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven, that one of these little ones shall perish. (Matt. 18:14)

Troubled times shall abound all over the world and I am preparing each of you to contend with every aspect of troubles and trials. I am pouring My strength upon you, My people. I am preparing you to minister in the supernatural where wonders and miracles shall abound..

My beloved, prepare in the Spiritual realm. Seek the infilling of the Holy Spirit and receive the Gifts of the Spirit. Do not fear to use the Gifts I shall give you as you minister to others.

But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all: for to one is given the word of wisdom through the Spirit, to another the word of knowledge through the same Spirit, to another faith through the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by the same Spirit, to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another discerning of spirits, to another different kinds of tongues, to another interpretation of tongues. (1 Cor. 12:7-10)

My precious people, I am calling you to seek Me for all preparation you will need to go forth in the power of the Holy Spirit to serve Me in these last days.

Stand Fast in the Faith
Dorothea Montague

My beloved people...

Watch, stand fast in the faith, be brave, be strong. Let all that you do be done with love. (1 Cor. 16: 13,14)

Yes, My people, stand fast in the faith, put your trust in Me as you face the troubles and trials of the world as it is in these present days. Do not waver in your faith, Stand strong in My Word and know that it is truth. Believe that every promise therein is truth and store them in your heart. With love in your hearts for all who cross your path testify to them of Me and of My salvation which is offered so freely to all. Timing is of an essence in these last days and I need you, My people, to bring in the harvest of souls destined for My kingdom.

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those who are in any trouble, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God. (2 Cor. 1:3-5)

O, My children, the world abounds with hurting, brokenhearted people and I am instilling within your hearts a great compassion for these people and you will begin to comfort them in all their troubles, even as I have comforted you. In doing so you will win many for Me.

I am instilling in each of your hearts a great compassion for those with sickness and disease in their bodies and you shall begin to pray for them with great power and see them healed. Be in remembrance that I took your diseases and infirmities on the cross of Calvary as well as your sins.

....Who Himself bore our sins in His own body on the tree, that we, having died to sins, might live for righteousness...by whose stripes you were healed. (1 Peter 2:24)

I not only died for the sins of the whole world that everyone who comes to Me might be saved but....

He Himself took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses. (Matt. 8:17b)

If My Word says that by My stripes you were healed, then you are healed for My Word speaks only truth. So many of you are crying out for My hand of healing to touch you when in reality you have received your healing. You need only believe that this is so and begin to praise and thank Me for your healing. So many of you, when yoyu pray for the sick are imploring Me to heal them when they are already healed. You need rather, to teach them the truth about healing so that their faith would arise and they would receive healing. Sometimes it is the faith of the one who is praying that brings healing to those for whom they pray.

O, My people, you need the infilling of My Holy Spirit and if you do not have it I would admonish you to seek it.

If you then, being evil, know how to give gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him. (Luke 11: 13)

You may be asking, "What can the infilling of the Holy Spirit do for Me?"

But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you, and you will be My witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth. (Acts 1:8)

Do you not see, My children, how much you need the power of the Holy Spirit to help you to minister in these last days? When you speak to unbelievers in the power of the Holy Spirit they shall surely know you speak truth and they shall listen. I shall put into your hearts the words I desire you to speak to every person to whom you minister.

Go forth, My beloved in boldness and My power to bring unbelievers into My kingdom and to pray for the sick and see them recover, teaching them that their healing was accomplished on the cross of Calvary and that they need only believe and come to Me with their praises. I covet the praises of My people. You are seeing the evidence of the fulfillment of this Scripture.

And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, that I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh; your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your young men shall see visions, your old men shall dream dreams. And on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days; and they shall prophesy. (Acts 2:17,18)

As I pour out My Spirit on all flesh in these last days everyone in the whole world will have an opportunity to be filled with the Holy Spirit. Of course many, even among My people will reject receiving the Holy Spirit but they do so to their own detriment, depriving themselves of great blessings for ministry.

Know always, My precious ones, that I shall be with you, guiding and directing your paths in whatever destiny I have chosen for you.

Show Your Scars

Olivia Reitz Long

faithbuildersministries@yahoo.com
October 22, 2004

Earlier this week I had an accident that left a long, wide and deep gash on my right hand. As the bandages have been changed, the thought occurred to me "This is going to leave a humongous scar." Father then began to speak....

MY BELOVED, I am about to give you new meaning to your scars. ALL scars - whether physical, spiritual or emotional. With the physical they are in plain view for people to see but with spiritual and emotional scars they are well hidden and you would rather keep it that way. Scars from friends who have proven untrue, scars from betrayals where you trusted, scars from emotional woundings that have wounded your spirit, scars of wrong decisions that deterred you from My path, wounded hearts full of pain. Your wounds have been red - long, wide and deep but with the touch of the I AM - you are healed. Men say to you "Cope with it" but the I AM says "I shall deliver you" --- with faith restored and trust renewed.

Every scar tells a story which is a testimony for others going through what you have experienced. If you haven't suffered pain how could you truly know My compassion? How could you reach out to others who are hurting in the same way as you have if you couldn't feel what they are feeling? To you, your scars are hideous and you would rather keep them out of sight hidden from all - but scars, My Beloved, are a sign of healing - a sign that the wound no longer exists and for those of you still wounded, now you shall see the complete Healing of Your Lord!

Scars, My Beloved, are not left to disable or mar you either externally or internally but to show healing has occurred. You see them as ugly but they are beautiful to ME. My Son, Jesus Christ, had scars on His hands, feet and side from the crucifixion. Why did I allow the scars to remain after His resurrection for I could have easily taken them away - for the very same reason as you, not to be a reminder of His pain but a sign of His healing. My Son reached out to Thomas and said "Touch My scars, Do not doubt but Believe In Me!"

So many painful memories, memories that have changed your lives but even with the healing of your memories you remain with faded scars. Scars imbedded deep inside you. It is time to allow them to be seen. Scars telling a story of how the wounds killed your spirit at times but MY Son brought you back to life. Be brave and courageous to speak of things you would rather keep hidden to those who 'need' to hear. I AM healing all of your wounds... yes scars remain - do not hide them but show them off proudly to suffering people everywhere of what your God can do! As I sought to help you, now you shall go forward helping others and they, as you, will learn to Touch MY scars and not doubt but believe In Me!

Vain Imaginations
Olivia Reitz Long

October 11, 2004
Many say they are walking for Me, talking for Me and listening for Me .... but I say many are listening to vain imaginations and thoughts planted by the enemy himself. For those who truly are walking for Me I will seal your ears from the vain imaginations of the enemy. But for those purporting to walk My desired walk, but who are not, I will continue to ALLOW your ears to be opened to those imaginations. I AM speaking to many of My own and deep in your heart you know who you are ...

My Word , MY TRUTH, is NOT anything for man to play around with or to add to - but unfortunately many are doing just that -- and the truth you are believing is the truth you speak and you are reflecting it in your life. Take heed !!!!! Do NOT! Do NOT twist My TRUTH to match your carnal thinking. As in everything you do, seen or hidden, the choice is always yours. Choose this day ... either your vain imaginations or MY TRUTH for ONLY MY TRUTH WILL SET YOU FREE!

As I have great patience, Satan also has great patience. Why? In order to bring you down. He will take the simplest thought that you have and turn it into your own vain imaginations in order to fulfill your own desires and will - which in turn will take you down a path of destruction.

HEAR ME NOW, YOU WERE CREATED TO BE IN MY IMAGE, NOT ME IN YOUR IMAGE.

MY TRUTH IS MY TRUTH, not for you to twist to satisfy your own desires. MY TRUTH IS MY TRUTH and the I AM has absolutely NO TOLERANCE for incorrect positions of My own. I do NOT honor what you say or think, I do NOT honor your opinion, I ONLY HONOR MY TRUTH!

You have little time to respond to My pleas either for this or other matters I have brought before you for everything is set in motion and MY timetable shall stand! Search your hearts now and cast down your vain imaginations.

Systematic Dismissal
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Nov 9th, 2004

The Lord said to me, “systematic dismissal”

Luke 2:25-35 NIV Now there was a man in Jerusalem called Simeon, who was righteous and devout. He was waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. 26 It had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not die before he had seen the Lord's Christ. 27 Moved by the Spirit, he went into the temple courts. When the parents brought in the child Jesus to do for him what the custom of the Law required, 28 Simeon took him in his arms and praised God, saying: 29 "Sovereign Lord, as you have promised, you now dismiss your servant in peace. 30 For my eyes have seen your salvation, 31 which you have prepared in the sight of all people, 32 a light for revelation to the Gentiles and for glory to your people Israel."

“I am removing some great saints in the eyes of the people in the days ahead. Many fathers in the faith of this generation will come home to ME. They have seen the unfolding of what is about to happen and now I am calling them home that the next generations may fulfill the call on their lives. Do not be surprised by this event. Do not give credit to the enemy for what I am doing to assure the setting in place of those I am calling in this hour to step up in their places.

Do not either be dismayed as if there is no one to replace them.
I am your exceedingly great GLORY. There is NO ONE like ME. I am removing cause for idolatry to man in many ways at this time. For I will have a church in which MY SON is preeminent ! I will have a church that puts ME first and who loves each other. There is a time for planting and a time for harvesting what has been planted. I am calling forth HARVESTERS that will LOVE the lost and pour My compassion on those who are broken and hurting all over the world and who are willing to pay the price, even if their flesh is unwilling. If your heart is willing, then I will give you the GRACE to overcome your flesh !

HARVEST IS ON MY HEART and it is in this hour that a very great harvest will be reaped upon the earth. Nations will be converted and bow down and worship the King of Kings and the Lord of LORDS ! Be encouraged that the time of awakening is at the door. REACH OUT AND TOUCH SOMEONE.
PRAY FOR DIVINE APPOINTMENTS DAILY ! And I will give the lost into your hands. I will do miracles, signs and wonders if you will speak the word and pray for the lost !

LIVE the WORD that has been implanted in your hearts ! Do not just read it, but LIVE IT ! ACT on it. LOVE ONE ANOTHER so that the world will see that I am in you ! See how the church has done this thing to elect the president with one heart and voice. That voice in unison has thundered a message to the world that it wants morality more than anything to return to this nation. Even if all the pieces are not fitted together, nor the hearts of all concerned perfect. I can through this unity now MOVE into the heart of this nation and STIR the hearts of men and women, boys and girls to ME again. For where unity is, there is BLESSING. Now rise to the occasion when calamity comes to your door, and show the world that you can sacrifice things for the sake of the hurting, for each other. Lay down all selfishness
In your hearts, and show the world that Christians are not hate mongers and full of selfish ambition.

Show them the love that I have shown you and the GRACE I have given you even when you have failed. DEMONSTRATE My love and it will speak louder than words. Your actions will help others to realize the truth in many cases.
There will be always those resistant, so don’t look upon them with disdain, for they are already marked for destruction. Have pity on the heart that longs to do what is right, and wants TRUTH more than a lie. LOVE IS THE GREATEST. It is as strong as death. It will conquer all the resistance if you will learn to love as I have loved you, and ask for it daily so you are replenished to give it out. I love you as no other loves you. I will help you overcome with MY love and then you will help others overcome with the love I’ve given you !”

John 13:34-35 NKJV A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another. 35 By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

John 15:12-15 NKJV This is My commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. 13 Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends. 14 You are My friends if you do whatever I command you.

Rom 12:10 NKJV Be kindly affectionate to one another with brotherly love, in honor giving preference to one another;

Rom 12:15-16 NKJV Be of the same mind toward one another. Do not set your mind on high things, but associate with the humble. Do not be wise in your own opinion.

Rom 14:13 NKJV Therefore let us not judge one another anymore, but rather resolve this, not to put a stumbling block or a cause to fall in our brother's way.

Rom 15:4-7 NKJV Now may the God of patience and comfort grant you to be like-minded toward one another, according to Christ Jesus, 6 that you may with one mind and one mouth glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. 7 Glorify God Together - Therefore receive one another, just as Christ also received us, to the glory of God.

Gal 5:13-15 NKJV For you, brethren, have been called to liberty; only do not use liberty as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another. 14 For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself." 15 But if you bite and devour one another, beware lest you be consumed by one another!

Something You Would Never Believe

Mary Lindow

"I AM GOING TO DO SOMETHING IN YOUR DAYS THAT YOU WOULD NEVER BELIEVE! "

Acts 13:41 "Look, you scoffers, wonder and perish for I am going to do something in your days that you would never believe, even if someone told you."

THESE WORDS THAT WERE SPOKEN OUT IN THE BOOK OF ACTS SEEM TO BE AS FRESH AND DELIBERATE FOR TODAY AS THEY WERE BACK WHEN ORIGINALLY SPOKEN!
Oh! How the Lord has been saying over and over again, "I am going to fulfill what I said I would do in this age!" And yet. Scoffers, and those still riddled with the leprosy of having worldly ambitions, and the smell of self promotion emanating from them ...still with smirks of doubt on their lips and eyes rolling in their head in mocking gesture, still...don't believe that the Lord will deal with such petty things as the little issues of personal secret sin!

THE LORD IS THE ONE GOD WHO HAS SUCH UNENDING AND VAST GRACE AND PATIENCE!

He urges, intercedes, and directly visits those who are living on the fringe of His best for their lives, trying to compel them to be honest before His throne! But at this time, many in the earth who claim to have a link with Name with the King of Heaven, are slipping into the outer "skimmings" of the camp of God! They live off of the "fringe" of all that God has to offer, because they have an evil blemish in their hearts that they refuse to examine or allow others to hold them accountable for. These individuals will listen to those who seemingly have a form of godliness, but whisper from outside the camp of God! They say, "Listen to this! God is moving here! Come over this way!" And, these voices will scoff and mock, tearing down the pathway that is yes! NARROW. They will offer a broad and fun pathway that appears to be so less difficult and without thorns or struggle!

THE LORD WARNS US AT THIS TIME. HE IS RAISING UP HIS CHAMPIONS IN THE EARTH WHO WILL NOT SWAY TO THE VOICE OF THOSE WITH SILK TONGUES AND WHAT APPEARS TO BE AFFLUENT EASE!

DON'T JUST "SKIM READ” AWAY WHAT I AM SHARING WITH YOU!

Read the following passage of Scripture! It strongly confirms what the Lord is sharing.

Psalm 1
1 Oh, the joys of those who do not follow the advice of the wicked, or stand around with sinners, or join in with scoffers.
2 But they delight in doing everything the LORD wants;

day and night they think about HIS WORD!
3 They are like trees planted along the riverbank, bearing fruit each season without fail.
Their leaves never wither, and in all they do, they prosper.
4 But this is not true of the wicked.
They are like worthless chaff, scattered by the wind.
5 They will be condemned at the time of judgment.
Sinners will have no place among the godly.
6 For the LORD watches over the path of His anointed but the path of the wicked leads to destruction.

IT IS A SEASON WHEN THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN UNDER THE HEAT OF THE WILDERNESS ARE STILL BEARING FRUIT...
...EVEN WHEN IT'S NOT FUN.
They just kept digging deeper for the water from heaven. Answers and help from the Father.
Others, get impatient and start finding ways to make things happen on their own timetable.
These people begin to create a place of power for themselves, and out of a very shallow commitment to spiritual depth, paint a picture for other weak believers to follow. Sadly! It is nothing more than "mirage" in the dessert.

"WHEN YOU CHOOSE TO LIVE ON THE FRINGES OF WHAT GOD IS SAYING IN HIS KINGDOM, YOU ARE ALWAYS SUSCEPTIBLE TO THE VOICES THAT WHISTLE IN THE PARCHED DESERT WIND!"

Blessed are those who wash their robes, that they may have the right to the tree of life and may go through the gates into the City. Revelation 22:14,

IT'S TIME TO WASH OUR ROBES!
How? Well...soap gets out stains when combined with the friction of rubbing under pressure!
Let the soap of God's Word and you applying it, cleanse the spots and stains you have allowed through complacency, to stain your garment of praise!

We are not going to be able to effect our cities or make any impact on the lost if we try to enter the gates with the stains of sin and smell of slothfulness on our own clothes!

GET SOME MUSCLE BEHIND YOUR WORDS! STAND UP! PERSEVERE! SACRIFICE! DOWNSIZE! STREAMLINE!
HAVE A SPIRITUAL GARAGE SALE!
Move into simpler lifestyles, nearer to the fire of God and His Presence where the pillar warms in the night seasons and the cloud shields from peril during the day! When you are so consumed by the glory and presence of God that you must do everything you can to live in it and near it you will be a blessed person! Blessed is the man who..!

TO FLOURISH IN GOD MEANS TO HAVE NO OTHER LOVE FOCUS BUT HIS WILL!

And! No secret agendas or hope of personal greatness in reward for your efforts! The verse below tells of our deserved reward IF WE PERSEVERE!
Blessed is the man who perseveres under trial, because when he has stood the test, he will receive the crown of life that God has promised to those who love him. -James 1:12

THERE IS TIME RIGHT NOW, TO CLEAN UP OUR HEARTS AND MOVE BACK INTO THE PRESENCE OF THE LORD!
Some may need to literally cut of friendships with scoffers and whisperers! Better to lose an evil voice than your soul! Some need to stop kissing the almighty dollar bill or currency of choice and, learn to share with others freely without feeling suspicious of them! Perhaps you need to examine your tendency to be harsh and over corrective of those around you in service? These are all stains needing to be washed out of our robes before we can enter into the city or "cities" of harvest God has waiting in such heavy laded expectancy!

LET'S STOP PONDERING THE THINGS GOD IS SAYING AND BEGIN TO QUICKLY ACT ON THEM.
Little children love it when a loving Father promises a treat if they finish their task and assigned chores, because they know it is something special! Let us return as well, to that simple trust, as we obey the Father, and go about taking care of the little tasks of cleaning up our lives. in hope of a greater reward.
Restore to me again the joy of your salvation, And make me willing to obey you. Psalm 51:12

Revelation 14:1

God's love shines down from on high
Declaring the glory of God's eternal Light
Still people proclaim
They know the truth, they know the way
As they refuse God's precious gift of grace
And turn their eyes toward open unmarked graves
Where so many have remained
Buried in the depths of pain and sorrow.

Who will arise in the glory of God's Son
Holy vessels reflecting His perfect love
Whose hand will refrain
From casting doubt on God's holy name
As they lay down their stones of accusation.
Who will arise in the glory of the Son
Who rose from the grave on third day's dawn
And move forward in the power of resurrection.

Abraham looked forward to the day
When the world would be delivered unto grace
When sin would be judged
And the righteous would shine as the sun.
Where men would rise from their graves
Bearing gifts of honor and praise
The reward of the faithful through all persecution.
Blessed are the precious first fruits of the resurrection.

From out of the ruins of the city of God
The land called Zion, or the city of David
Would arise a new city built according to love
So that saints kept according to faith
Would arise from their graves and proclaim
That God is faithful to every generation.
May God's saints of today
Join with saints of yesterday
Lifting holy hands to praise the day of their salvation.

> "And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Zion, and with him a hundred forty and four thousand, having His Father's name written in their foreheads." Revelation 14:1
> "And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed a hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel." Revelation 7:4
> "Tell ye the daughter of Zion, behold, thy king cometh unto thee, meek, and sitting upon an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass." Matthew 21:5

"Behold, thy king cometh unto thee." Jesus Christ, King of all kings, the bearer of mankind's salvation was born in the city of David, which is called, Bethlehem. God would cause a star to rise up from the east so that wise men would be led to the birthplace of the prophesied "Star out of Jacob" where they would behold their King. God created light to fall upon the wise men's path so they would be led safely to their determined destination. As the wise men beheld the small child, who would one day be "for the fall and rising again of many in Israel" they would fall down before Him and worship Him. The small child, Jesus, would grow up before men, full of wisdom and grace, and at the appointed day and hour, would be used of God, to put the enemies of sin and death to flight.

Sin and death came upon the world because of man's fall in the garden. Man, who was cast out of the garden by God, would multiply in great number. And as day faded into night, generations of men would be birthed and generations of men would die, each passing generation giving birth to the next. As man's voice was heard upon the earth, a man named Abraham would rise up who would be blessed of God. God made a promise to Abraham that "in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice."

From the seed of Abraham would come forth a man named Jacob. God would later change Jacob's name to Israel. From Jacob's seed twelve sons would be born. These twelve sons would become the heads of the twelve tribes of Israel. The tribes of Israel had the honor of knowing that God had established an eternal covenant for those called of His holy name and who obeyed His voice. They were to be a "peculiar treasure" unto God.

Under the covenant established according to the testimony of God's Word spoken to the tribes of Israel, they were to be a kingdom of priests and a holy nation above all the people of the earth. For all the earth is the Lord's, and those who bore witness to the Word of God, were to bear the blessings of God. But, as the twelve tribes of Israel multiplied in number, so did their rebellion against God multiply. Instead of experiencing blessings from the hand of God, they encountered the wrath of God.

Repeatedly, throughout the generations of Israel, those called of God's holy name would be punished by God for their rebellion against His divine authority. God's hand of chastisement upon the children of Israel would cause some men to weep for the suffering their brethren brought upon themselves through their disobedience. Men, faithful unto the heavenly calling, having had the testimony of the Lord bound upon their hearts, would receive the seal of God's law upon their lives. But those called of His name, and who rebelled against the living God, were sure to, "stumble, and fall, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken."

Many sealed unto the law, marked by their faith in God, would weep for their brethren, calling out day and night for God to deliver their brethren from the tribulation of sorrow and suffering that they had brought upon themselves. Those marked by their faith in God, would fall before God, repenting of their own sins, and for the sins of their brethren. God would give heed to their cries and show pity toward the remnant of men who bore the testimony of His holy name in honor and fear. For His name's sake, God would deliver those who bore the name of Israel from out of the hands of their physical enemies.

Through each generation God would keep for Himself a remnant faithful to the testimony of His Holy Word. Until the promised "Shiloh" was brought forth from the seed of Israel, who would gather all the faithful unto God, a remnant bearing witness to God's law would remain upon the earth. Through each generation, God continued to deliver the tribes of Israel from their physical enemies. But men continued to be undone by enemies of far greater power and influence than their neighbors near and far. The enemies of immense power and influence, which brought great suffering and chastisement upon the children of Israel, would be the enemies of pride and rebellion.

Pride and rebellion are enemies that can be compared to a deadly snake that has been kept hidden away in a pit, hungry as it waits for its prey to move into position. Once the snake attacks, it quickly releases its deadly poison into the victim's life so that it can kill, destroy and consume its prey. When the poison of pride and rebellion spreads through a man's life, he will find that his thoughts and actions are influenced by truths that do not reflect the holiness of the Lord. A man who is filled with the poison of pride and rebellion will not think clearly, and may turn away from the goodness of God. To turn away from God is to stumble through life, hungry and thirsty, without ever finding eternal sustenance to satisfy the soul. To turn from God is sure to bring destruction and eternal death upon a man's life.

Those of Israel, who lived according to the nature of pride, filled with a multitude of thoughts aligned to rebellion against the goodness of God, would continue to perform the outward rituals expected of the children of Israel. Outwardly, many professed to be descendents of Abraham, and of Israel, but inwardly, their hearts and minds revealed that they were children of rebellion. Because God looked upon their hearts and found only pride and rebellion, He took no pleasure in their keeping of the sacrifices, statutes, and rituals. God did not delight in their burnt offerings. Because God looked upon the hearts of those who walked apart from His full council, their outward performance, in keeping rituals, became an abomination in His sight.

As each generation lived upon the earth, God would mark His remnant according to their faith in His holy name. Some generations would pass and it would be said that only a few remained loyal to His calling. Yet, no generation passed from the earth without a remnant who would bear God's mark upon their heart, which proclaimed they were to receive the inheritance promised of the Lord. God promised His chosen an inheritance of eternal value, and He would be sure to keep His promise. Throughout each generation there remained a remnant of the seed of Abraham, who would faithfully carry the message of the promise God had given to mankind.

> "And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission. It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us: nor yet that He should offer Himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others; for then must He often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath He appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself."
> Hebrews 9:22-26

God's divine authority upon earth was ordered according to His established governmental authority in heaven. On earth as it is in heaven. But, until Jesus Christ ascended into the heavens to sit at the right hand of God, causing His precious blood to sanctify even the heavens, the brightness of God's glory would not shine upon men's hearts in the fullness of God's purpose and intent. Until the heavens were purified with the blood of Christ, men would not experience for themselves the fullness of relationship that God purposed in Christ.

The carnal commandments were to be used as a scepter in the hands of just men called of God, to lead, chastise and govern. But when the Scepter of Righteousness, Jesus Christ, ascended to the heavens, the gift of eternal life, the Holy Spirit, was extended to all mankind. So that the Light of God's glory could move in power upon the earth, redeeming men's souls, causing many sons to be brought into conformity of God's Word, even the heavens needed to be sanctified by the blood of Christ. What the law could not accomplish, the Holy Spirit would.

The world, ordered according to the carnal commandments, was kept under a shadow of the purposes God intended toward mankind. The world that was kept under carnal commandments experienced a foretaste of God's power and authority. But when Jesus Christ ascended to the heavens to sit at the right hand of God, His precious blood also ascended upward so that not only was the earth purified, but also the heaven's. It is the precious blood of Jesus Christ, which opened up the floodgates of heaven, so that the glory of God could be released upon the earth. It is the glory of the Holy Spirit that will move in power within a man's life, overcoming and destroying the sin of pride and rebellion.

The world, ordered according to the carnal commandments, would be rolled up like a scroll in the hands of God, as the new covenant was signed and sealed in the blood of Christ. The old world, ordered according to carnal commandments, would give way to the new world, governed according to the holy commandments of grace. God's Son, having paid the penalty for sin by the shedding of His precious blood, signified that the new world, ordered according to grace, would replace the old world order of carnal commandments. A new divine government was established within the heavens, as Jesus Christ sat at the right hand of God, which was then established upon the earth. Those, whose eyes are opened as the Spirit of God moves upon their hearts and minds, to understand the price that was paid so they could live according to the covenant of grace, will give God praise for His divine plan of salvation.

> "Those all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is a heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city." Hebrews 11:13-16

The covenant between God and the chosen tribes of Israel was a solemn agreement ordained for those who lived according to the governmental authority God established within the heavens. Those who were to receive the estate promised of God were those who remained faithful unto the heavenly calling. The land of eternal inheritance, where peace runs as a river through the city streets, and righteousness flourishes upon trees, which line the city streets, was prepared for the remnant who remained faithful unto God. Those, whose thoughts were governed by pride and rebellion, were those whose bones were not kept intact, but scattered as dust to the wind, so that they could not gain entrance into the heavenly estate prepared of God.

The eternal inheritance promised of God was purposed upon Jesus Christ. The rock of man's salvation, which is the foundation of God's eternal city, would be built according to the purposes found in Jesus Christ. To pass through the gates of praise and stand safety within the walls of salvation is possible only through faith in Jesus Christ and receiving the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the promised hope, which gains man entrance into God's eternal kingdom of righteousness.

Those, whose faith is built up upon Jesus Christ, will receive the promise of life unto eternal salvation, the Holy Spirit. To receive the Holy Spirit, is to receive the divine council of God. The truths, established within the heavens that have been purged by the blood of Christ, will be revealed to the man who is filled with God's Holy Spirit. Though a man physically stands upon the earth, because he is joined to God through the Holy Spirit, God will progressively open the eyes of the man's heart so that he is able to rise up above earthly focus and perceive the majesty, power and love of God's divine council, which fills the heavens and the earth.

Through the Holy Spirit, God makes His home within a man's heart and mind. God's eternal home that is established in the heavens, is established upon a man's heart and mind through the infilling of God's Holy Spirit. A man filled with the Holy Spirit, which is the glory and love of God sent down from heaven, has partaken of the heavenly nature. The precious blood of Jesus Christ caused the heavenly realm to touch earth so that man could partake, and be conformed into the heavenly nature. Those who believe in the promises of God, who place their faith in Jesus Christ, are those who are called to be partakers of the heavenly nature.

> “Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.” 1 Peter 2:5

When a man is joined in holy union to God through his faith in Jesus Christ, so that he receives the Holy Spirit, he takes his position alongside others who love God’s holy name. As a man stands upon the rock, who is Jesus Christ, he himself will be built up into a living, lively precious stone. Because that which a man partakes of, will become the image he is transformed into, so that God is given honor and praise. As a lively stone, he is joined to others through the Spirit, who make up God’s heavenly kingdom that extends beyond the boundaries of time and the heavens. As a lively stone, a man becomes a living testimony to the glory that fills his life.

And though a man’s flesh may have returned to the dust, the Spirit that had given him eternal, resurrection life, continues onward within the heavens, reflecting the glory of God. A man filled with the living presence of God, which is the Holy Spirit, though his flesh may have been returned to the earth, his position as a living stone that makes up the spiritual house of God remains intact. Zion, the city of God, the New Jerusalem, which is founded upon the rock, Jesus Christ, is made up of spiritual stones, living stones. When a man’s flesh returns to the earth, his position upon the wall that makes up spiritual Jerusalem is not removed.

Though upon physical death, a man’s spirit may soar through realms unknown, his position as a living stone that makes up the wall of God’s eternal kingdom will remain intact. A man who is a living stone, neatly fitted together with others, creating the wall of God’s eternal kingdom, will remain intact so that the Lord’s election of grace will stand. God is the God over all living stones that He has placed into position within His heavenly kingdom. No man is able to annul what God has brought together. Those of the Spirit, while alive, reign in the same humility, compassion and love as their great high priest, who is Jesus Christ. And upon their physical death, those of the Spirit will continue to reign with Him. Those who are joined to the Father through the Son will remain joined to the Father upon physical death.

> “Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.” John 5:28
> “And the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arose, and came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many.” Matthew 27:52-53

From among the twelve tribes of Israel, God found men worthy to be numbered among those who kept their first estate through faith in His holy name. As these walked upon the earth, enduring hardship and persecution, they did not turn back from following after God. “Those all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.” Those, who died holding onto hope in the promises of God while alive, were not forgotten of God. Those who died before the promised Holy Spirit was poured out upon mankind, were kept according to faith until the day of their redemption.

The remnant of the tribes of Israel, who died before the Holy Spirit was made available to all men, were kept according to faith until the day that Jesus Christ ascended on high. Those, who did not receive the promised Holy Spirit while alive, would receive the promised gift of the Holy Spirit, which is eternal life, as they ascended on high, with Jesus Christ. As Jesus Christ ascended on high, those kept according to faith would also rise from their graves, prepared of God to walk upon the streets of salvation that exists within God's eternal holy city of righteousness.

It was the Holy Spirit who would give life to men's dead bones. God opened the graves of the remnant who were faithful to the heavenly calling, who waited in hope for the promises of God to be released from on high. When God's breath, the Holy Spirit given through Jesus Christ, was breathed upon the dead bones of the faithful tribes of Israel, they would rise from their graves, never to be separated from God. The Kingdom that was made available through Jesus Christ would become their permanent habitation. The faithful remnant, resurrected from their graves, would be seen and appreciated by future generations, as a great company who helped make up the cloud of witnesses who bore the glory of the risen Lord.

Those of faith, who walk the earth today, are knitted together perfectly, through the Holy Spirit, with those who waited in hope for the promised Messiah. The eternal Holy Spirit, which lifts men today from out of their graves of sin and disbelief, unites those of the Spirit with those who have gone before them. All have been baptized unto the same Spirit through faith. All who are filled with the Holy Spirit have walked through the same gates of salvation into God's eternal kingdom of righteousness.

> May all who love God's holy name, "…lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us. Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God." Hebrews 12:1-2

Turn To Me
David Haase

My beloved children, My Heart bleeds for your loss, each and every one of you I have watched and know every hair on your head. I see what you could have chosen to become, but instead chose to walk away in sin, in self, your love of all things gratifying took you away from Me, Oh children if only you would open your eyes, your hearts, your noses to that place you now stand. You have chosen loneliness over Loving fellowship with your Father, you have chosen death over life eternal. How can you claim not hear to hear My Voice, I call you in everything that surrounds you. My voice is found on your lips in the morning just before you awake, My voice is found in the dew that greets the new day, My Voice is found in the songs you hear, the shows you watch, the games you play.

Each of you has heard me, each of you know of Me in your heart, yet you choose to walk away and not look back. My little ones have no one help wash them or show them how dirty they have become, for the hireling does not care for the lost sheep, he talks big, does little, only enough to keep his pay. I asked you to follow Me, where did I say your payment came from those I sent, When the hireling eats of the flock he is to protect what do you do with him, he is held accountable far beyond any of those who where lost. Oh children please turn back, turn to Me and I will show you Love and Mercy and Grace no matter what from the depths of My Heart of Hearts, to walk with you and show you the wonders I have in store for you, So much to share, so few come to be embraced, to be Loved by My Heart, if they only knew, if they only understood, what awaits them,

Through His servant in Christ Yeshua

Lima Peru

Standing in open vision in the middle of a large town center. The Lord fills me with that this is Lima Peru it is day time, in front of me is a old looking fountain, beyond that is a large tower/skyscraper. This city is set very high above the ocean behind the tower. >From the west a Large rock falls from the sky into the ocean, it causes a wave higher than the tower in front of me. This will be first of seven…

From The Whirlwind
David Haase

The Lord showed me that the invading armies (those who are coming to attack America) will forage for many of their needs like fuel and food.

11-15-2004
America is sleeping for I have allowed this. She will never see the attack coming, so well will the camouflage and misdirection be. Prisoners will not be kept, all will be killed. Her aircraft will be destroyed in the first moments of the war. Her ships will be cut off from their bases with no hope of support; these will be picked off until all are destroyed. Her allies will fade away in fear… none shall come to her aid. So complete will the destruction of the American army be that she will never again be able to protect herself, never again will she rise beyond the least of all nations. Only those whom I have called by name, who serve Me and My Son, will be spared the cruelty saved for those whom have chosen other gods to serve. Yet even here My hand will save those who truly repent and call on the name of My Son, for in Judgment I seek all to repent and turn My anger from them… yet so few shall heed these Words… so few…

The Two Veils
Milt Rodriguez

"And Jesus uttered a loud cry, and breathed His last. And the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom." Mark 15:37, 38
"Having therefore such a hope, we use great boldness in our speech, and are not as Moses, who used to put a veil over his face that the sons of Israel might not look intently at the end of what was fading away." II Corinthians 3:12, 13

These two veils represent for us the two main aspects of God's eternal purpose. The veil in the temple and the veil on the face of Moses only exist in the Old Covenant. In the New Covenant, they are removed. However, the sad fact remains that most Christians today are still living by the Old Covenant, and therefore, for them, the veils remain intact.

In order to see this, we must first understand the difference between the Old Covenant and the New Covenant. Then, we must see in what ways we are still living by the Old Covenant. And then finally, we need to see the way out of the old system and into freedom of the new and living way. (Heb. 10:20)

The Way of the Old Covenant

Even though everything we read in the Old Testament really happened and is recorded there for our benefit, we need to realize that it is all shadow, symbols, and types of what was to come. What the Old Covenant brings to us in shadow and type, the New brings to us in reality and fulfillment. The main relevance of the Old Covenant to us is that we can learn about the reality by looking at the shadow. There are many riches stored for us in those shadows.

The first thing we need to realize is that the Old Covenant was externally based. Everything happened on the outside of the believer. An external law was given to be obeyed externally. The ceremonial washing of hands is a good example of this. Jesus told the Pharisees that they washed their hands on the outside, but on the inside they were filled with all sorts of uncleanness. The Jews took the law and tried to obey it to the letter. Basically we are looking at a "book religion" here. Read the book, and then do what it says. Holiness and transformation are based upon how well you obey the rules. The problem was that no one could obey all of them. No one could be good, no not one.

The second main aspect of the Old Covenant is that there was no direct access to God. In a sense God was in a box! The Box was called the Ark of the Covenant. No one had access to the box except the high priest once per year when he would enter the holy of holies and perform sacrifices for the sins of the people. There was a veil separating the holy place from the holy of holies that contained the presence of God Himself. No one could pass through that veil except the high priest and he had to perform all kinds of rituals to prepare for that. Direct access by the people was restrictive and external.

Another aspect of the Old Covenant is that it was only temporary. Of course, this makes sense since it was the forerunner to the New Covenant fulfillment. This brings us to the second veil which is found on the face of Moses.

Moses would go up the mountain to meet with God. Being in God's presence would somehow affect the face of Moses so that it would actually shine or glow. Paul called this "glow" glory, which in the original language means: brilliance, splendor, magnificence, excellence, and beauty. The "glory" of God shone (or was expressed) on the face of Moses whenever he would meet with God. However, this glory would fade from his face after a period of time. The glory was temporary because it was external. So we can see from this that the expression of God would only come through meeting with God. But in the Old Covenant, both the meeting (or fellowship) with God and the expression of God were only temporary because of their external nature.

The New and Living Way

In the New Covenant we have the substance and fulfillment of all things that were shadowed in the Old.

Now, everything becomes internal. God comes to actually live inside of the believer. This is accomplished by something the scriptures call "spirit." God is Spirit and he puts a spirit into each one of us. Now when we receive the Lord Jesus Christ, He actually and literally comes to live in our spirits by means of His Spirit. The law is no longer an external set of rules that are written on stone tablets, they have all been fulfilled by a Person who has now come to indwell the believer. Now, it is the life of the Person inside the believer that fulfills every law, not the believer himself (Galatians 2:20).

Access to God has now become complete and intimate. The veil blocking the entrance to the holy of holies has been torn. But now, much more has taken place in our access to God than we could have ever imagined. Through Christ, our access to God is infinitely greater than under the Old Covenant. Not only can we be in His direct presence, now we can actually go inside of Him! Paul doesn't' speak of being in God's presence, he only talks about being "in Christ." The believer is now actually inside of his Lord! This is so much better than being in His presence. This is as intimate as you can get! When you are in the presence of someone you can only get to know them to a certain degree. The only way to completely know that person is to go inside of them to know their thoughts and feelings. That's intimacy! That's the New Covenant!

The expression of God' glory is now permanent because that glory resides internally. Fellowship with God happens in the spirit of the believer and the resulting outward expression is permanent. Paul said it this way: "Christ in you, the hope of glory!" We have no use for a veil because we know that glory will not fade.

Moving from One Covenant to Another

Like I said at the beginning of this article, most Christians today are still living as if in the Old Covenant. We are in the New Covenant, but we live out our lives as if we are under the Old. Please let me explain.

We practice our Christian faith, for the most part, in an external way. We feel that by using external means something will happen internally. Think about all of the things you are told to do to be a "good"

Christian. Read the bible, pray, go to church, give, worship, witness, etc. Those things are essentially all external and are not to be the means or engine that drives your life. We are still a "book religion." We read the bible and then do what it ways. We hear the Pastor preach a sermon on Sunday and then we do what he says.

We get to know God by getting to know the bible better. We still view God as being outside of us up in heaven somewhere. We have no Christ-in-you consciousness. We believe that Christ lives in us but we don't live like it. In summary, we don't live the Christian life like Jesus did. He lived His life by an indwelling Father. We live our lives by "religious" activities. We go to church meetings hoping to "feel" the presence of the Lord. We are waiting for Him to arrive, but He is already inside of us! We are still living behind the veils!

Paul said that when someone turns to the Lord the veil is removed (II Cor. 3:16). Brothers and sisters, we need to learn how to turn to the Lord who lives in our spirits.

The Time for Favor has Come

James Goll

www.mttnweb.com or www.prayerstorm.com

1. SCRIPTURE REFERENCES for the Favorable Year

Read all of Isaiah 61: 1 - 7 - especially:

Verse 2 - "To proclaim the favorable year of the Lord, And the day of vengeance of our God; To comfort all who mourn. . ."

Verse 7 - "Instead of your shame you will have a double portion, And instead of humiliation they will shout for joy over their portion. Therefore they will possess a double portion in their land; Everlasting joy will be theirs."

Compare with Luke 4: 16 - 21 as quoted by Jesus in the synagogue on the Sabbath.

2. I HEARD HIS VOICE - "The Time for Favor Has Come!"

As many champions of the faith have graduated on to their heavenly reward in recent months, so room has been made for the next generation of dread champions to arise! Recently, the voice of the Holy Spirit drew near to me saying, "The Time for Favor has Come!" Faith was ignited in my heart as His word exploded within my heart. Close your eyes and see this for yourself. Hear the word of the Lord coming to you, "The Time of favor has come!"

I have had repeated visions recently in which the King's scepter was lowered to His chosen ones. Like Esther make your urgent appeal before His throne. It is a Day when the King's Scepter is being lowered to His bride. His scepter is being lowered. Make your appeal boldly - He wants you to draw near! Many vessels have passed through His Fire. Now is the time to approach Father God for it is an hour of Favor!

3. WHAT IS FAVOR? WHAT FOLLOWS FAVOR?

- Favor is the grace of God being manifested in a specific situation upon a specific person for a specific task.
- Favor is the wagon that carries the cargo of faith.
- Favor is often preceded by acts of consecration and preparation.
- Favor is often followed by an increase of authority and power of God invested in and through an individual or collective group of people.
- Favor comes upon you and displaces shame and humiliation. Favor releases a knowing that victory is near.
- Favor results in the manifested presence of Jesus Christ being noticed by others in and through your life.

4. A REMINDER

I encourage you to believe the Lord for supernatural encounters. It is a season where the "light of God will shine on your life" and His favor will be manifested.

Luke 1: 28 - 30 recalls to us the words from God the Father through His messenger Gabriel, "And coming in, he said to her, "Hail, favored one! The Lord is with you." But she was greatly troubled at this statement, and kept pondering what kind of salutation this might be. And the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary; for you will conceive in your womb, and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus."

Expect the manifested presence of God to draw near to you in this holiday season. He is here. He is among us. His favor fell upon a young teenage woman named Mary. Are you one of the Mary's God is looking for today? Are you ready to carry His presence with you in new ways and give birth to His purposes and destiny for your generation?

In this season, both in the natural and in the spiritual, expect His favor to shine upon you and conception of fresh purposes to occur.

5. PRAYER PROCLAMATIONS For You to Make!

Make Declarations of Faith as an Act of Preparation for the New Year! Join me in Prayer Proclamations and Watch your Faith level Rise!

- I am anointed by the Holy One of God. I am His chosen vessel. His presence goes before me and dwells within me.
- Jesus Christ dwells in my heart by faith. Greater is He who dwells within me than he who is in the world.
- The favor of the Lord is upon me! He has anointed me to proclaim the Good News and to set captives free. My life is set apart to give God glory!
- The best is yet ahead for me and my family! God is for me - not against me. Together, we make a great team! His plan, purpose and destiny for my life shall be fulfilled.
- The enemies of my soul shall become like grasshoppers in my own sight. I shall enforce the triumph of Christ over the powers of darkness and Jesus shall be magnified through my life!
- The Time of Favor has Come!

Tabernacles

Howard Morgan

Sep 24, 2004

Life is temporary so relax and enjoy the presence of the Lord.

The festival of Tabernacles speaks to us of the gathering of the people of Israel together to worship the Lord. They were to gather in temporary make-shift dwellings or booths called in Hebrew a Succot.. These booths represented in the natural realm the temporary dwellings of the people of God as they made their way through the wilderness on the way to the promised land. This festival called the nation to gather in Jerusalem and spend a week living in these Succot's. This was intended to remind the people that their ancestors once dwelled in the wilderness in tents. They were to remember their past, so they would understand their present and have a prophetic comprehension of their future. God was insistent that they do this every year so that every generation would feel for one week what their ancestors felt like for forty years. God wanted them to have an actual experience of leaving the comfort of their own home and dwell in these booths. This was to remind them of who they were, so they would understand who they are, and be conscious that God had called them to Himself for a future purpose. This is very important for us today as believers. So many people do not know who they really are because they tend to forget who they were and do not see themselves as God has called them to be. Because of this they are unsure of where they are going and therefore live a life of spiritual instability.

Tabernacle's serves a reminder to us of the great deliverance that God wrought in our lives when he brought us out of bondage to sin and also to remind us of the transient nature of our life now. Spiritually we are all dwelling in booths. Our human Body is only a temporary dwelling place. Tabernacles reminds us every year that we are not to take the wrong things too seriously because they are passing away, and we are also reminded to take the right things very seriously. This temporary dwelling, our time in mortality, is for the purpose of tabernacling with God, to meet with God and to allow His purposes to work in our life.

If we only dwell where we are comfortable in the places of our own choosing we can very easily stop pursuing the purposes of God in our lives and readily get caught up in the cares of this world. They grow in such importance to us that they consume our time, energy and talents. We can get caught up in the illusion that temporary things are really more important than they actually are. Tabernacles reminds us that this is not true. Is serves to show us that life is temporary and that we should keep our priorities in order, that we should seek God's Kingdom and Righteousness first, because this life is as temporary as the booth is. Tabernacles serves to remind us that we should see all of life with its many problems and temptations, tests and trials, from this temporal perspective.

Another point of vital importance to us as members of the Body of Christ is that we are called to join with the rest of the Body in these booths. The picture we must see is the whole nation coming to Jerusalem to worship the Lord and dwell in booths. The Body of Christ is called to an understanding of the fact that together we are only dwelling in booths, that we are to have eternity, and God's eternal purposes in our minds and hearts as we relate to one another. We should not take earthly offences to seriously and allow them to hinder our eternal destinies. I think that there are too many believers who are not dwelling in booths with other members of the Body because of past hurts and offences, disappointments and negative experiences, that forced them to break fellowship with other members of the Body.

Tabernacles reminds us every year that we are commanded by the Lord to come to his capital city and to worship him in these booths. We are called by the Lord to remember that our relationships in the Body of Christ are all about Him and His purposes. Our life is not about us and our happiness or our comfort or that which pleases us. If it was about our comfort we would be dwelling in our own homes and invite those to be with us that we liked. You cannot say to the Lord who He can or cannot bring into your life. You cannot dictate to the Lord who you might be in relationship with for a season.. All relationships in the Body of Christ are for a season as Tabernacles so clearly teaches us. Indeed Tabernacles reminds us of the temporary nature of all aspects of this life. We must have this understanding, and a heart for the purposes of God, so that we can say to the Lord and to ourselves, that those relationships which are not particularly comfortable have a purpose. God has caused us to dwell together, He has caused us to "tabernacle" together. So let us tabernacle with the Lord and with each other to find out the lesson God wants us to learn. Seasons can be of various lengths of time. But they are merely seasons. So rejoice in that. Let Tabernacles instruct you, do not get overly concerned. Just ask God what he wants you to learn form this time of sharing the "tabernacle" together.

Relax! Tabernacles is one of God's ways of reminding us that we have been invited to worship Him and to enjoy fellowship with Him. Indeed God is searching for us to enter into a deeper relationship with him. He wants us to "Tabernacle" with Him that is why Jesus came to "Tabernacle" with us. (John 1: 14)

It is very difficult to worry when you are truly worshiping God. When the anointing of the Spirit comes down, as it always does when we are truly worshiping the Lord, His sweet loving presence always speaks peace into our hearts. It lets us know every thing will be ok, that all things will work together for the good (Romans 8:28). So Relax, and enjoy your season of Tabernacling with God.

True Apostolic Brings Saul To Become Paul

Russell A. Durose

Jul 17, 2004

We are living in a day when radical visitation will characterize the season.

The Lord is going to blind some to show them a new dimension so that the unknowns can be bold enough to pray for what will be known and feared for being "hard nuts."

But the new boldness that is so far so rare a quality today, will come forth.

The established church will have not much to do with this new move.

For new radical and informality will characterize this new move.

But it takes an eye like that of Barnabas to bring out Saul to be Paul. We see Barnabas a man of faith and positive action. He knows of Saul's reputation, but he also sees the marks of the apostleship and brings him before the brethren.

There is a bringing out coming forth.

There is a keen eye needed in God's apostles.

There are many who are blinded even though they see, yet they CHOOSE TO BE BLIND, it is not temporary like that of Saul, rather it is a permanent choice.

They determine another's destiny and manipulate another's reputation, so that potential "Sauls" do not come forth.

That day is changing. There is the ministry of Barnabas going forth. He is the son of consolation.

He brings a new turning point, and this consolation has deeper connotations than we realise.

It is the same as the name Nehemiah in scripture, Noah too.

In the Hebrew they mean "God that consoles." This consolation is more than just a pat on the back.

Rather, it is a TURNING POINT, FROM RUIN TO REBUILDING, FROM DESPAIR TO HOPE, FROM REVILING TO REVIVING.

We also go to Luke 2, to a man called Simeon, who waited "for the consolation of Israel."

This hope brought him into the Spirit, so that he lived and moved into this realm.

Houses and prayer groups had arisen because a sense of the coming Messiah had come. Hope had arisen.

So when Simeon had walked so much in the Spirit denying the flesh and its dictates, so he was led to Baby Jesus, to recognise eternal and mysterious plans.

So consolation had come to him and Mary and Joseph.

Also the widow Anna who spoke with all those who waited with them.

So we come to the Church. Barnabas needs to come, to bring a turning point, so that Sauls can be revealed for who they are. In this way they take a backseat.

It is interesting to note that whilst Barnabas was the elder and more experienced, the Lord brought up Paul to a place where Barnabas was now serving his ministry.

How much more we need men of this calibre!

God bless you all and have a blessed weekend.
Shalom
Russell

The Antichrist Doesn't Wear Tights

John Loeffler

Sep 29, 2004
Recently the Christian world has been impacted by a rash of end-times novels and movies offering the same recipe:

1) The world is in a political and economic crisis; woe is us!

2) The Middle East is in conflict.

3) Suddenly all sorts of people are "rap-zapped" and disappear.

4) Kapoof! Mr. AC himself appears on the scene, dressed in red Spandex tights with horns and a tail, as obvious as a Christmas cracker. Well, I guess he wears an expensive three-piece suit instead of the tights, but you just know he's got them on underneath.

Mr. AC persecutes post rap-zap believers and requires everyone to get their hand stamped so they can get into Globaland. Finally he proposes his great cure for the world's ills, which - for reasons totally obscure to a thinking mind - are accepted universally without a moment's critical thought by anyone.

There's just one problem with this starched scenario: it lacks subtlety. The Antichrist doesn't wear tights and, traditionally, evil is far more clever and subtle than that. So much so that in the last century whenever it befell a church, the church never saw it coming, even though the clues were always there for anyone who cared to look.

No "world citizen" would ever buy into the things Revelation says will happen without being psychologically prepped for it ahead of time. Perhaps the greatest fallacy of popular "rapture reasoning" is that the Western church will be "out of here" before anything bad befalls it, and this philosophy has become a paralyzing narcotic in the face of rapidly encroaching danger.

Magnum Opus Malum1

Right now, Christians are witnessing a tremendous change in Western culture and belief, which is a harbinger of very troubled times to come. The battle for the West began in the wee years of the 20th century, when humanism seized control of academia and declared its goal of dethroning Christianity as the core Western belief system (see our articles in Personal UPDATE, March 1997 and September 2001 for background information).

The process continues today as atheistic humanism yields to global socialistic pantheism.2 The changes began first among philosophers and academics, moving into the arts, then into common culture and, finally, as the new disciples came of age, into the legal and political system. Now we are seeing the total conversion of Western society and a march towards a great utopian vision of global governance controlled by socialism. In reality, we are embracing ideas of the past which have resulted in much bloodshed and destruction of civilizations.

The Great Prepping Away

For the past 50 years, the West has been slowly unfrozen from its traditional belief systems and tricked into accepting a new belief system, without even realizing that the transition was taking place. We are now being refrozen in the new belief system, without realizing our core beliefs and values have been sacrificed, bit by bit.

1) The educational system has moved Western culture from a didactic, fact-based system of thought rooted in logic and absolute truth to a dialectic, feeling-based system of thought rooted in constantly changing, non-absolute values. The only mortal sin is failing to believe absolutely that there are no absolutes. (Note the inherent contradiction, but that doesn't seem to stop the politically correct.)

2) History has been rewritten so that people can't remember the lessons of the past or the greatness of their own heritage (granted that no heritage is perfect). Good things have been called bad and bad things good. Westerners have been subjected to an ever-present demonization of their culture. The U.S. Constitution and its Bill of Rights, for example, are said to be the outdated product of dead white slave owners who also slaughtered Indians, rather than one of the most liberating documents of history, along with England's Magna Carta. The British, too, are trading in a 1,000-year tradition of freedom under law as they buy into another one of Europe's attempts at failed socialism.

3) Communism has been minimized or exalted (despite its being responsible for the slaughter of 100 million people in the 20th century). Capitalism is condemned as a great evil of rich men (despite its record of having provided the most prosperity and freedom for the most people in history).

4) Important distinctions between cultures have been minimized and all cultures are now said to be of equal value, and all beliefs are said to be of equal value with no way of discerning which values might be better or worse (although history teaches otherwise).

5) Tolerance has been substituted for love of neighbor and truth. A corollary is the switch from laws based on absolutes to more complex and nebulous laws, which float with current understandings of "good" or "evil," about which there is much debate among the "experts."

6) Religion has been forced into a corner, being told that it is a personal thing, and it has been prohibited from making any claim to absolute truth or the right to impose itself on the culture.

7) Science and science alone - with or without ethics and morals - is permitted to make any claim to truth. Science is said to be the salvation of the human race. (Tell that to those who died in the Holocaust's "scientific" gas chambers.)

8) Socialism has been substituted for capitalism as "democracy" and "free market" decried as evil. In reality this belief system is "Marxism lite," wherein virtually all the major English-speaking countries have accepted the major tenets of Marxism without a struggle, including:

Atheistic government with no influence from religion. Abolition of private property in the name of the common (read soviet or collective) good. This includes abolishing any rights of property inheritance. (This is underway in various stages and countries, utilizing various legal mechanisms. It is by no means complete, but the principle is growing in acceptance.) The populace must be disarmed (for their own safety, of course). Government must maintain control of education and what is taught. Heavy progressive taxation must be ever-increasing (Europe's VAT is perhaps the most abusive), so that government can... Maintain control over its citizens' lives from womb to tomb, including constant surveillance on their activities and private lives. In essence, law is becoming a means of defending government from the populace rather than the populace from government. Hostile, not Neutral

As we arrive in the 21st century, the prevailing Western paradigm is hostile to traditional monotheistic religions (Christian, Jewish and Muslim), being a mix of atheism and pantheism. It decries belief in absolute truth, including absolute law. It has set itself up as the determiner of "right" and "wrong," even though those change continually. Traditional religious beliefs are being labeled extremist and radical.

The new system views itself as utopian in nature, above any religion, viewing religion as a major cause of all the world's problems. If we really examine the emerging "new" system, it is merely a recapitulation of old, failed Marxist and occult beliefs with a generous dose of pantheism. Unfortunately we're about to do it again, only this time on a global scale.

What Does This Mean?

You have but to look at history to know where we will end up. Cultures rejecting God invariably degenerate into wickedness when left to their own devices without a counterbalancing force of religion to stop them.

The signs of rot are apparent. The West now routinely sacrifices millions of babies annually (to which the Church has voiced only a weak response) and the elderly are next as euthanasia becomes prevalent. Instead of valuing all human life, we will make decisions based on the "quality of life," which will most certainly be decided by persons other than you or I, and which will largely be determined by economic forces and how well your beliefs conform to the current norms. If your life benefits the collective (the "soviet"), you will be permitted to live. If not, adios!

In a Christian culture, people are generally self-governing, knowing God watches their every move and laws are merely a formal framing of what the people already believe as a group. But in a culture where there are no absolutes, everyone does what he or she wants as long as they can get away with it. This produces chaos. As the chaos brought on by the new belief system increases, freedoms diminish as governments attempt to deal with the chaos. They do this by becoming more and more police-oriented as a plethora of laws is emitted, designed to control the ongoing crisis.

As government continues to dictate its own atheistic, ever-proliferating standards of conduct and belief, many of these will be unpalatable to the beliefs of orthodox Christians, Jews and Muslims. There will be increasing pressure on Christians to conform to the new standards. This pressure will range from social pressure to formalized pressure in the job place, where it may mean jeopardizing a job or promotion to a steadily increasing series of regulations. Finally, as more and more people espousing the new paradigm gain control of the legal process, they will use the mechanism of law to impose their utopian vision on the churches that do not conform. This means fines, penalties, increased taxation or loss of tax-free privileges, even prison sentences - all designed to enforce conformity to the new wisdom, which is currently embodied by the push for the amorphous notion of "tolerance."

The Diabolical Choice

In the new system, there is a place for Christianity...as long as it conforms to the new values, which will be forever changing. Religions will not be permitted to: 1) claim they are the only way, 2) have absolute truth of any kind, or 3) attempt to force their belief and value systems on the culture at large (i.e., evangelizing is out!). Those minor considerations aside, religion will be permitted to exist in the new system as a "personal thing," as long as it yields to the prevailing political correctness, which if you hadn't noticed is growing more evil every day.

Traditionally, churches facing this dilemma have made one of two choices: a) loving defiance and paying the penalty, or b) continual compromise with the prevailing system until it is shameful to even call it a Christian church. As Sabine Wumbrand once remarked, "they are spitting in the face of Christ." In our next installment, we'll see how churches in similar circumstances lived or died.

Notes:

Magnum Opus Malum: (Latin) Great Evil Work. A "magnum opus" in the arts usually refers to an artist's greatest work. Adding the word "malum" makes it the greatest evil work. "Global": The new government will be global governance. "Socialistic": It will not be representative in the way we have known in the past and government will control all. "Pantheistic": Religion will be tolerated as long as it conforms to all of the politically correct norms government dictates.

Truth And Error

Yolanda Ballard

The Grace to Know the Difference

At last I've come of age you might say, but what you need to say is that you have finally gained enough maturity in Christ where you are able to discern truth from error. For so many in the body of Christ have given into every wind of doctrine just because it was spoken forth by a well-known prophet or teacher. This must not be. You must be like the faithful Bereans who search the scriptures comparing what they have heard with the truth of God's word.

This is the day of the latter rain outpouring and one of the weapons the enemy is using against God's people is deception and pride. Pride because of having an unteachable spirit in justifying the error even though they see it plain in the Scripture. Once you see the truth through the grace of God, just rejoice because I have said that the elect would not be deceived. Yes, maybe for a period of time, but they will see the light and truth and be set free made stronger than before able to show the error to others with such an anointing and grace enabling others to see the truth.

Halleluia! for I have come to set the captives free so that they might delight in My presence. Escape the clutch of the evil one and run the race unhindered by the traps of the evil one. Freedom is what I have called My people to be, and grace is to be their banner.

Love is to be your greatest weapon against evil for it is the only weapon strong enough to repel it. Don't fall into the snare of bitterness and retaliation when you find out that you have been ensnared by the enemy using man. For man is not who you are to come against. Bless those who have portrayed your enemy. Pray for those who use you.

Do all things in My name and for Me, and I will reward you if you have worked with a pure heart with motives of love to only please Me. Even when you tithe into My kingdom, do not worry about where the money goes or even if I get it. Just give and you will receive pressed down and overflowing. Yes, you will reap from what you sow.

This is the day and the hour where I will reward My people. I will separate the sheep from the goats, the men from the boys, the fearful from the faithful. And I will raise up My army of warring worshipers who will march across this land promoting grace and holiness. They will stand up for Me no matter what the cost for they have learned to love not their life unto death.

Yes, this is the final hour, and I AM cleaning up My bride. And they will be a people of truth and holiness, and they will be man enough to admit when they were wrong and strong enough to know when they have been given the choice to be set free. Yes, error and deception are a snare, but don't allow pride to keep you bound.

I love you and I draw you near. Resist the enemy and he will flee. Watch and pray and wait upon Me for I will pour out My burden of intercession upon you and even a greater anointing that you may worship Me in spite of the enemy trying to hold you back. I see that he has tried to greatly hinder you, but you will prevail for I AM pouring out greater grace. I just want you to be receptive and sensitive to My Spirit and never give up on My keeping my promises to you.

Yes, you will overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of your testimony as you love not your life unto death. Be ready for this is the final hour.

True And False Wisdom
Connie M Giordano

Jul 17, 2004
What kind of Wisdom are we exposing ourselves to week after week? Is it False Wisdom or True? What kind of fruit is it producing in our lives? Are we growing more worldly, carnal, and sensual as a result? Or are our lives exemplifying more godliness and holiness of living?

Jeremiah 8:9 - "The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wisdom is in them?"

James 3:15 - "This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish."

James 3:17 - "But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy."

The Prophet Jeremiah asked a most profound question about the leaders of his day - "The wise men...lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?"

Today it would behoove us to ask the same question concerning our ministers and leaders. So many are swept away by the "smooth talk" of the so-called preachers. Just because a man carries a string of credentials from the most renowned Bible School does not make him a wise man. Just because he can sputter out a very impressive command of Biblical knowledge does not make him wise either.

Matthew 7:15-16 - The Lord Jesus warned us to "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits..." He sandwiched this warning between His teaching on the strait gate / narrow way and the discussion of the wise man / foolish man and their relationship to the Word of God.

What categorized the one man as wise and the other as foolish in Jesus' eyes? Their simple adherence to the Truth of God's Word made the difference.

The wise man heard the Word and obeyed it; the foolish man heard the Word and rejected it. Once again, we quote the Prophet Jeremiah - "...Lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord, and what Wisdom is in them?"

Are many preachers today as wise as we suppose? What would the Lord Jesus say of them? Would He commend them for their scholarly and charismatic ways, or would He call them "false prophets" and "foolish" because they hear the Word, know it, yet disdain it by breaking its commands and teaching others to do so?

They will not be governed by God's Holy Word, nor will they allow others to be governed by it. They refuse to follow its directions and keep others from following its ways. 2 Peter 2:2 - They are prophets - false prophets - "by reason of whom the way of truth" is evil spoken of. 2 Peter 2:15 - They have "forsaken the right way" - the strait and narrow way - and "are gone astray." 2 Peter 2:18 - They "speak great swelling words of vanity" which definitely are not the Words of Almighty God. 2 Peter 2:17 - Some are greatly impressed and affected by their marvelous display of "wisdom," yet in all actuality, they are "wells without water." They offer no sustenance to the people of God because they have rejected the Scriptures which are the Bread and Water of Life.

Whoever rejects the Word of God is not wise.

We see throughout the Scriptures that wisdom is the Word of God, and the Word of God is wisdom.

Wisdom without God's Word is like an ocean without water. It cannot exist as true wisdom.

James drew a marked distinction between true and false wisdom in his grand Epistle. In Verse 15, he mentioned the wisdom which "descendeth not from above." Then in Verse 17, he referred to "the wisdom that is from above."

Just as the Lord Jesus and the Apostle Peter distinguished between true and false prophets, even so did the Apostle James distinguish between true and false wisdom which, in turn, determines the true and false prophet.

We cannot be fooled by the display of so-called wisdom. James readily demonstrates that there are two kinds of wisdom. Not all of it comes from above, is from God, or coincides with the Word of God. We must examine what is being preached today and then make a judgment based on the Scriptures.

He gives us substantial criteria to use in our judgment. James 3:14 - After mentioning "bitter envying and strife," James 3:15 - he says - "This wisdom descendeth not from above..." Then in Verse 17, he contrasts - "But the wisdom that is from above is..."

We see that there is a false wisdom that does not have its origin in God. He is not the author of it. It may look and sound like wisdom. The Apostle James does not deny that fact. He simply warns us that its source is not God. James 3:15 - He uses three words to describe it - "earthly, sensual, devilish."

It does not come from above or from God. It comes from the earth or is derived from man's level. It is "earthly" - pertaining to this earth, intent on serving earthly purposes, and springing from earthly principles. Instead of men being governed by the Word of God, they now - under this wisdom - are governed by worldly maxims.

It is "sensual." It indulges the flesh and disregards the spirit of man. Its main objective is the gratification of the passions and lusts of the flesh.

It is "devilish." God is not the author of confusion. Nonetheless, wherever this wisdom springs forth, it leaves a trail of confusion and every evil work among His people. It produces strife and contention wherever it is found.

Jeremiah 8:9 says - "...lo, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wisdom is in them?"

What about all the preaching today which pumps up man and appeals to his fleshly passions and lusts? It leads to self-conceit which - in turn - leads to envy, jealousy, strife, confusion, and every evil work.

The Apostle James points out - It is not from God! It is false wisdom! It is not based on the Word of God! It is "earthly, sensual, devilish."

How will we ever be able to recognize the true wisdom? Are there certain characteristics which distinguish the true from the false?

The Apostle offers us seven features as a possible gauge.

First of all, true wisdom is "pure." Its initial effect on man is to make him upright, sincere, candid, and holy. It is free from mixture...unadulterated...and produces purity in thought, word, and deed.

This "wisdom that is from above" is "peaceable." It makes a man peaceable whereby he will do whatever he can to preserve peace with others so that it may never be broken. Wherever peace has been lost, he will do whatever he can to restore it.

This true wisdom is "gentle." It produces mildness, moderation, and patience in all men who will receive it. It causes a man to be inoffensive. He is not rude or overbearing in conversation nor is he cruel or harsh in temper.

It is "easy to be intreated." In other words, it causes men to be willing to yield, be compliant, and be easily persuadable in any non-compromising situation.

This gracious gift from God is "full of mercy and good fruits." It transforms men whereby they are merciful and disposed to show compassion to others. It produces the fruits of righteousness - holy, godly, right, kind, just, and benevolent actions.

This wisdom which has an Heavenly Origin is "without partiality." It causes men to be impartial in their treatment of others. Those who obey it are not prejudiced or racist by any means. They are not influenced by worldly criteria such as dress, position, color, nationality, education, physical appearance, or financial status. They show kindness to all.

Lastly, this "wisdom that is from above" is "without hypocrisy." It produces sincerity in all whereby they are exactly what they profess to be. They wear no mask or disguise. Their utmost desire is to be real and sincere with everyone that they encounter in life.

Matthew 7:20 - The Lord Jesus warned us - "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." What classifies a man as a false prophet is how he treats the Unadulterated Word of God. He may display wisdom, but is it that which is based on the Word of God?

The Apostle James also admonishes us to be aware of the fact that there are two kinds of wisdom with distinguishable and differing results. That which appeals to the flesh and indulges the flesh is false wisdom. It is "earthly, sensual, devilish," producing "earthly, sensual, devilish" disciples.

On the other hand, the true wisdom produces holiness in heart and life. It is "first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy."

The questions we must ask ourselves are these - What kind of wisdom are we exposing ourselves to week after week? Is it false wisdom or true? What kind of fruit is it producing in our lives? Are we growing more worldly, carnal, and sensual as a result? Or are our lives exemplifying more godliness and holiness of living?

Just remember - A preacher who rejects the Word of the Lord is not wise. The Lord Jesus calls him a false prophet and a foolish man. He admonishes us to beware of such.

May we be sure to heed the Master's words to us today.

I Send Thee To...

When you think of ministering to others, what concept comes to mind? What is your definition of ministry? Does your conception include only positive encounters? In this message, we would like to look at the work and callings of three Prophets - Isaiah, Ezekiel, and Jonah - to get a Biblical perspective of what ministry oftentimes entails. May we have ears to hear what the Spirit of the Lord is saying through the examples of these three godly servants.

1. The People

Ezekiel 22:2 - "...the bloody city..."

The Prophet Ezekiel was sent to pronounce the sentence of death over Jerusalem for their bloody crimes. Here was a city that was filled with murderers - a "city of bloods," if you will. As a result of their gross idolatry, innocent children were sacrificed to Molech - a false god. Life was no longer considered as a priceless treasure.

Jonah 1:2 - "...Nineveh, that great city...their wickedness is come up before Me."

Nineveh was one of the most ancient cities of the world. Located on the Tigris River, it was the capital of Assyria for over a century. It was noted for its great wealth, power, and dominion.

Its people were filled with pride, greed, brutality, and adultery. Their sins had reached the highest degree - were full to the brim, so to speak - swelled up as if to almost slap God in the face.

Isaiah 30:9-10 - "That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the LORD: Which say to the seers, See not; and to the prophets, Prophesy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophesy deceits."

These were God's chosen and separated people. Yet here they are referred to as being "rebellious." Through their sin, they had become profane and wicked in going against their own convictions and breaking covenant with their God. They made many promises to Him but never kept them. They proved to be unfaithful.

Their main objective seemed to be to blind and silence the prophets who were sent to warn them of their wicked ways and the resulting misery and destruction to come. They did not want to hear the law of the Lord. They had the "light" in their midst, but chose the "darkness" of sin. Hence, they violently opposed those who spoke plainly to them of their vices. They did not want to hear "right things," but rather "smooth things" - that which flattered them in their sin and was in accordance with their lusts, passions, and prejudices. They sought out preachers and teachers who confirmed their high opinion of themselves, assured them of their future prosperity and success, and left off the forewarning of judgment to come.

Isaiah 58:1 - "...My people..."

These Jews were extremely religious - zealous in outward performances but negligent when it came to personal holiness of living. They were filled with formality and hypocrisy. Due to their overall sin, they became insensible, dull, and stupid in the ways of God.

Ezekiel 2:3-5 - "...the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against Me: they and their fathers have transgressed against Me...For they are impudent children and stiffhearted...whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, (for they are a rebellious house,)..."

Here, the children of Israel were referred to as being a "rebellious nation." This terminology was applicable to the pagans, yet we see it being utilized in reference to God's people. It implied a breaking of the covenant relationship between them and God.

They had become totally heathenized or wretchedly degenerate through their gross idolatries. Their hearts were hardened through sin, and their faces were stubbornly set against any change of habits or behavior or the turning away from evil practices. Their ears were not open to discipline of any kind. They refused to stoop or bend - they had become inflexible and incorrigible.

These Scriptures describe the type of audiences to whom these three Prophets preached -

"...bloody city"
"great city" whose "wickedness is come up before" God "rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the LORD: Which say to the seers, See not; and to the prophets, Prophesy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophesy deceits." "rebellious nation that hath rebelled against Me" "impudent children and stiffhearted"

This certainly depicts the world in which we are presently living.

2. The Message and Method

Ezekiel 22:2 - "Now, thou son of man, wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge the bloody city? yea, thou shalt shew her all her abominations."

Isn't this method a bit strange? Here God is pleading with His Prophet to "judge" the people.

In response to this, some would retort with the Scripture - "Judge not, that ye be not judged..." (Matthew 7:1) - or with the argument which says that God does not call any man to "judge."

Is that so? Some need to have another look in their Bibles.

Indeed, this was the very method that God chose for Ezekiel to use. He was not only to "judge" Jerusalem but to graphically "spell out" - using "plain speech" - all her "abominations" or sins.

Jonah 1:2 - "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before Me."

From this example, we see that God does send one man or one women to "take on" an entire city.

Some would wait for Him to raise up a committee before answering the call. After all, they would say - it is a bit dangerous for one person to confront so many.

But contrary to popular belief, we see here that the Lord God called one man - Jonah - to "Arise" and "go."

This was a city that was notorious for its brutality and violence. Yet He sent His Prophet alone to "cry against it" - confront them for their abominable ways and sin and pronounce judgment on them if they did not repent.

Some would argue - Surely, the Lord God understands that we need to send ahead the "drama team," "rappers," sports and Hollywood "superstars," "motivational speakers," "Prosperity Preachers," as well as the "Christian comedians" to establish some sort of friendship evangelism.

No, He does not understand such methods. His ways are definitely not the ways of this world's system.

He wasn't trying to be "nice" with the Ninevites. He commanded His Prophet to "Arise," "go," and "cry" - rebuke them for their sin - and that is exactly what He expected Jonah to do.

Isaiah 30:8 - "Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever."

In this particular instance, God directed Isaiah to engrave on either a stone or wood tablet - "table" - a record of the rebellion and perverseness of the children of Israel. It was to be placed in a public setting as a constant reminder to the people of their wayward ways and also for the future generations to read and hopefully learn from their forefather's errors.

It was also to be recorded "in a book" - using a parchment roll - as a standing testimony that at one time these people did indeed break covenant with their God, turn their back on His Law, and attempt to silence or shame His Prophets who were sent to warn them to turn from their sin. Their descendents would be able to see and read of their evil dealings and the Faithfulness and Mercy of God in spite of it all.

Isaiah 58:1 - "Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew My people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins."

God instructed the Prophet Isaiah to "cry aloud" - to cry out with utmost strength - with an open throat or full voice - so as to be heard by all. He was to "spare not" - in no way, shape, or form hold back or restrain his voice.

In fact, he was instructed by God to rebuke these people for their sins in such a demonstrative way that his voice would "boom out" like a trumpet - "lift up thy voice like a trumpet." The people were dull and deaf in the spirit. They needed something loud, full, and strong to rouse them from their spiritual stupor.

"Shew My people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins." - Notice that the Lord Almighty did not send Isaiah with the message - "Give your life to God. He has a wonderful plan for your life."

Not at all! These were His people, yet they were unwilling to acknowledge their wicked ways or to call sin what He called it - an abomination in His sight! They were willingly ignorant and blinded. Hence, He sent His servant to be plain and particular with them in showing them their transgressions.

Ezekiel 2:3-5 - "And He said unto me, Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel...I do send thee unto them; and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD..."

From this example, we see that God still sends Prophets to His wayward people - who in our case would include those who are compromising and worldly in the Church.

God said to Ezekiel - "...Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel..."

This particular spokesmen had a Word from the Lord - he had something to say to the people. Man did not give him the message to deliver - God did! Because it was a message for hard-hearted, self-willed, and brazen-faced rebels - it was necessary for it to be introduced with the words - "Thus saith the Lord" - in order to emphasize its divine origin. These rebels had to realize that if they rejected the Word of the Lord, they would suffer serious consequences and have to answer to God for it. In rejecting the message, they were not rejecting a man - but God Himself!

God has not changed. His methods are forever the same. What He required in the days of Isaiah, Ezekiel, and Jonah - He requires in our day as well.

"wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge the bloody city? yea, thou shalt shew her all her abominations" "Arise, go to...that great city, and cry against it" "Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book" "Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew My people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins." "Son of man, I send thee to.. I do send thee unto them; and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD"

Sin needs to be addressed - not in a quiet and sheepish manner - but in a bold and fearless fashion.

Has God called you to the ministry? Are you one man or one woman standing against the multitudes? Do you feel the calling to confront the sins of your city...community... denomination...church...or family?

Herein lies God's idea of ministry - calling a wayward people back to the Bible and a sin-cursed society to repentance.

And this should be our view as well.

May God Bless His Word.

Take Back All The Enemy Has Stolen

August 18, 2004 mopiyo@btinternet.com

Awake sons of God. The call has gone forth to war in the heavenlies against the forces of your enemy. Your enemy is not the flesh and blood, but the principalities and powers and rulers of this dark age. Watchmen stand upon those walls and keep watch for the enemy is advancing to plunder the children of God, but I will not allow it says the Lord. I instead say turn the battle at the gates and in reverse, YOU plunder the enemy camp. Take back all the years the locust, the cankerworm and the palmerworm has stolen from you. This is the year to take back what the enemy has stolen. He has no more power except that which you give him.

Fear is one of the greatest weapons he has released in this hour to cripple My army and to render them ineffective, yet arise for I have not given you a spirit of fear, but power, love which casts out all fear and a sound mind. Do not retreat back like the children of Israel did for fear of the giants, but go even as Joshua and Caleb were determined to take back the land that belongs to you, for it is your inheritance says the Lord.

'Faith sees the invisible, feels the intangible and achieves the impossible'

Through A Mirror Dimly

Stephen Hanson

Now We See Through A Mirror Dimly; Then Face To Face"

[12] Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known. I CO. 13

I have thinking of the concept of how a mirror reflects our image as we gaze into it and look at what we see. Perhaps we don't always see what we want to see, especially as we get older. We are told in James that:

JAS 1. [23] Anyone who listens to the word but does not do what it says is like a man who looks at his face in a mirror [24] and, after looking at himself, goes away and immediately forgets what he looks like. [25] But the man who looks intently into the perfect law that gives freedom, and continues to do this, not forgetting what he has heard, but doing it--he will be blessed in what he does.

We must remember who we are in Christ. It's easy to gaze into the mirror and either imagine who we "think we are," or even to diminish who we are because of circumstances and the trials of life. But we told above in 1 CO. that we only know in part now. We only prophesy in part. Everything that we do in this life is "in part." Nothing will compare to the glories and the life that is to come. To be sure, we have a "taste;" we can experience some of what there is to come, but not in completion. God knows us completely now and He sees us as "we will be." This is because He knows our frame and "sees us through the eyes of His Son who paid the price for us and completed the work." He sees the finished work. As an analogy, an artist works on a painting or a sculpture and while it is yet unfinished and is in the raw state of being worked on, he or she sees beyond this stage and sees the "finished work." It is said that Michelangelo saw the finished work of his marvelous figures in the stone before he even started on them. He said that he was just "freeing them from the stones themselves." God who is the great artist and creator, sees us in the same way. The image may appear to be fuzzy at times and unfinished, as we gaze into the mirror before us, but remember that on the other side of this mirror is One who sees us completely. He is beholding the same person, and yet He doesn't see the earthly image as we see it. We know that when people are being interrogated they are often in a room where there is a one-way mirror. Those that have been accused can not see the people who are outside of the room. However, the spectators can view the person from the outside and they see them. The difference here is that God sees us "as we are in Him." We are not prisoners or ones who are being interrogated, but we are His sons and daughters, and He sees kings and queens before Him. The only problem is that we can't see the image that He is seeing.

The time will come when we will see "face to face." We will look into the eyes of our Lord and we will see what He sees in us. The reflection will be true. It will reflect the "finished work."

So when you look into the mirror and behold the reflection that is before you, do not despair. Do not wish or imagine that you are someone else. You are known by Him who created you, and that reflection will one day be something where you can see on both sides of the mirror.

[2] Dear friends, now we are children of God, and what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. [3] Everyone who has this hope in him purifies himself, just as he is pure. 1 John 3

It Is By Grace
Stephen Hanson

May 22, 2004

[8] For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith--and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God-- [9] not by works, so that no one can boast. [10] For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do. Eph. 2

RO 6:1 What shall we say, then? Shall we go on sinning so that grace may increase? [2] By no means! We died to sin; how can we live in it any longer? [3] Or don't you know that all of us who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? [4] We were therefore buried with him through baptism into death in order that, just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, we too may live a new life.

"I have come to give my people a message of hope. I have come to tell them that all their long years of service have given them their "full rights to the kingdom of God." Service is something that I have asked you to do, but it is not a "saving thing." Have I not said in my word that "you are saved by grace?" No matter what you do, you are not a better person for Me. You cannot make your way more certain, and you cannot make me love you more by doing things. It is only through the work of my spirit. It is only through my grace that you are able to do these things. All the great things that you have done will not make you better in my eyes. It is GRACE, it is simply my GRACE. And yet, some have abused my grace. Some have continued sinning, knowing that I would forgive them. They have willfully sinned, knowing that it is provided for them. This is an abuse of my grace. You are forgiven, but do not be willful about your continued sinning. These are things that you should learn, and these are things that are important. So, there are two sides to my grace. You are forgiven, and it is only through my grace that you can do the things that you have done for Me. It is my strength, and not your own. When you know these things and you do them, then you will be blessed. "

Stephen Hanson

You Need Strength Of Faith For What Lies Ahead
Stephen Hanson

May 15, 2004

1TH 3:11 Now may our God and Father himself and our Lord Jesus clear the way for us to come to you. [12] May the Lord make your love increase and overflow for each other and for everyone else, just as ours does for you. [13] May he strengthen your hearts so that you will be blameless and holy in the presence of our God and Father when our Lord Jesus comes with all his holy ones.

EPH 3:14 For this reason I kneel before the Father, [15] from whom his whole family in heaven and on earth derives its name. [16] I pray that out of his glorious riches he may strengthen you with power through his Spirit in your inner being, [17] so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith. And I pray that you, being rooted and established in love

"This is the new era for my believers. It is a time of faith-building and renewal. It is a time to gather all of your faith and hope in Me. You may wonder why it is time for such things as this. I tell you it is because of the darkness that falls very soon. You need to gather these things unto yourselves in preparation for those days that lie ahead. For tragedies and disasters are coming. There will be tragedies in the natural and there will be tragedies in the spiritual. I tell you that earthquakes are set in motion for the western states. And these "rumblings" will signal the rumblings that are yet to come. "

(The Lord showed me an aerial view of the state of California. I saw the state clearly marked out. Above it I saw an angel who was blowing a trumpet. Right after this I was not permitted to see any more for a curtain was being pulled back in front of me preventing me to see anymore. Then as I continued praying, I noticed some things that were rising from the California area. They looked very much like bubbles. There were small ones and larger ones that rose into the air and some were drifting across the country into the east. I asked the Lord what these were and He said, "These are the prayers of my people that are rising to Me.")

"The days ahead will be difficult days; that is why I want you to form your faith. Faith builds upon itself. Faith is also contagious. Strengthen one another and encourage one another in Me. For the strength of your faith will carry you through. "

The Altar of Surrender
Susan Cummings

On Friday, while talking and praying with a fellow Pastor, I had a vision. On Saturday evening while at Intercession at our Ministry Center, I had the same vision. Then on Sunday, it came to pass fully.
I would like to share this vision with you…..

The Vision:
I saw this altar. It was an earthen altar, and it had wood that was stacked upon it. It was ready for an offering. Then, I saw myself upon this altar, and the wood was lit and the wood began to burn. The flames that were burning were multicolored flames and were beautiful.

I could not see myself, as the flames were high and hid me in the middle of the altar. While I watched I could see an angel who stood by the altar, and he had a jar, and a spoon or scoop utensil of some sorts. He would reach in as it was burning, and pick up the ashes from the offering, which was me, and place it in this bottle. He did this many times as I watched the scene.

Then the flames began to die down. As they did, there was nothing left upon the altar, except this lone eagle. It was small, and gold/brown in color, and it looked around at me. Then it screeched and took off into the heavens, flying as it called out. It soared high and then it was gone.

I have been on a Journey for the last nine months. I have come to a place in My Calling that the Lord was separating me, and beginning to cause me to move forwards in Ministry and to begin to travel more. It has been a painful time, and a time of exploration as I sought out God's path for me, and our family, and where it would take us and it's bearing with my association with Broadcasters for Jesus Ministries.

On the Saturday, that is mentioned above, I saw the vision for the second time. I knew that God was calling me to lay down all that I had held dear and had known, and I wept with the pain of that loss, as it was precious indeed. I had labored for 7 years with them, and now God was calling me to give birth to something new. It was both a challenge and yet, a joy to release it all.

Then, on Sunday: Those who I am in Ministry with (Rev. Sharon Sours and Rev. Jean Clark), also had come to this point, and God led them to release me from the position that I held with them, and from My original Call to them. They initiated a Ceremony of Commissioning for me and Donald. It was a moment of tremendous pain, and I fell under the weight of it all. I could not stand as they released me before all of the people. The final death had came.

What I did not know was that God had also led them to commission our Kairos Transport Ministries to become an Associate Fellowship under their Ministry Canopy, as a full partner Ministry.

The Lord had not only removed me from being the position of Director of Foreign Missions within their ministry, but now had brought forth a whole new ministry, wholly standing upon itself, along side of them, to go forth as God had decreed at this time.

In the Commissioning Ceremony, they handed me my Legal Document of Fellowship and Ministry Recognition, but also handed me a key ring, and a gold coin. The key ring symbolized the release of my ministry to the Lord and that it would go wherever the Lord took it, and the gold coin had a woman and a new baby on one side, and an eagle on the other. They did not know of my vision before this time, so God was confirming this whole new release, as it unfolded.

This new commissioning has only just begun, and it will unfold before us as we walk this out.

What I want to share now, after laying this foundation above, is what the Lord said to me concerning the altar experience, as it is for all of His People who follow after Him…..

Each of My Children will follow Me as I direct them, and they will come to this altar many times in their lives. For at each altar it will be a death, and a new life. For this Altar of Surrender, is a yielding to Me of their mind, body, and spirit. It is of a true heart that you must climb upon this earthen altar and give yourself to Me.

The altar is earthen, because it is one that you must build to Me yourself. It is made from your earthen vessel, and your earthen works, and all of your future. Once it is built, then I call My People to Myself, and they can choose to let it all go, or to keep what they have.

Those who choose to let it all go, do so with a knowledge that there might not be anything left, or of value afterwards. That it is My Choice what will be their outcome and what they will become after the death of their vision. They give their future completely into My Hands with abandonment, and utter submission.

Those who choose not to climb upon their altar, do so with the knowledge that this is all they will ever be, and the thing they have erected in the flesh, will also die and become a snare to them. For what they hold to them will destroy them and control them.

The angel who stood by the flames and scooped up the ashes, was taking the precious offering of yours, and keeping it in a bottle of remembrance before Me. For the death of My saints is precious to Me, and none will be forgotten or denied. I see all things, and I see the death of My Children, whether it is a physical death or spiritual, they both are true deaths. They are precious, and I hold it as a treasure to Me.

My Book of Remembrance is kept on My Precious Ones.
Nothing given to Me is wasted or trivial. Everything I ask of My People, is of true importance and of true value. I count all actions done in My Name as a sweet sacrifice and I delight in the aroma of Love that is offered up to Me, in abandonment. There is nothing sweeter to Me than this.

My Son offered Himself upon the same altar, and made the way for you. My People can now ascend to My Throne, and partake of Me, and know Me. They can also know the Joy of Union with Me, and the Joy of offering to Me, their lives and futures.

I take the offering, and fashion it into a Glory and an Expression of Me, which is then released back into the person who chose to become that offering. They now receive a greater portion than they had before, and will walk in a greater intimacy with Me than before. For they have become a New Wineskin, into which I can be poured into.

You are that eagle, child, that I have destined to fly, from the creation of time itself, and you will indeed cry out, and soar in the Heavenlies, and will declare those things which I will show you. For I am releasing My Eagles, all over the land, to ascend to the Heavenlies, and to begin top proclaim the Word to My people in this Hour, from the Heights. It is a New Day, and you have only begun to see and to hear.

Now My Eagles will run and fly and begin to roar. For the Lion of the Tribe of Judah has already sounded, and now it will become louder through the Eagle’s Cry.

The Pillar of Truth
Susan Cummings

The Pillar of Truth - The Fountain of Living Waters

The Lord gave me a dream tonight, which upon my waking was still happening to me, whether my eyes were closed or not….. Here, I will share with you this experience…..

I am standing, looking at a very huge and glorious Pillar of Living Light. It is as a torch that burns brighter than any natural torch known to man, or seen upon the world of men. It burns with the intensity of the sun, yet greater than a thousand suns. It is as looking into the face of the Lord, and seeing Him.

The Pillar is so bright in it's intensity, that man cannot look upon it directly, but at an angle, and only for the brief moment that the Lord allows. It is of Pure Spirit Essence and is the visible expression of God. Only those who have been directly summoned by the Lord can stand before it without perishing and they come by the Grace of God.

It emits a very direct flow of Spirit that is so Holy that is seems as Light, but is actually the form and essence of the Father. It shines with His Holiness and Pure Love with such an intensity that all else pales in comparison with His Word, His Truth. His Word is living, and is ever creating, and is the Force of His Expression that moves eternally throughout all creation, revealing Himself to whoever would seek Him.

This knowledge floods me as I stand there. I don't understand how I am able to absorb this or to comprehend this, but it seems to just flow through me and I join with Him, and am able to grasp a portion of this Light, and it illuminates me, and I am able then to see the Lord in this form.

The Lord then compels me to step into the Pillar of Truth. I feel than I cannot move, as if I am constrained by the Glory of the Light of this Pillar, but as I think this, my feet are released, and I flow into the Pillar. The Pillar is alive. It is as if standing in the midst of Living Light, and it is moving all around you, and flowing through you, and filling you all at once.

It is the Fountain of Living Waters.
All of a sudden I understand this, and can see how the Living Word flows, and how it moves at the Will of the Father, and how it fills everything, wherever it is sent. The Pillar of Truth, is the Living Word, which flows forth, and is the Fountain of Living Waters that is sent forth into the realm of men, to illuminate and water those who would step into it.

It flows upward.
As I stand in this Pillar, this fountain, it flows upwards. The Flowing of Truth flows upwards towards the Lord, as He is the Truth. He is the Living Waters, and He is the Living Light. It is He that reaches out to men upon the earth, and then flows into and upon and through those vessels that embrace Him.

The Stream of Truth that flows forth from the Pillar, is a very powerful River. It is being released now, as a Fountain, but will soon burst forth as a Raging Torrent of Living Light, Truth, and it will explode in His People with His Glory.

The Father is permitting a knowledge of Him, a portion of His Form to be seen, at this time. He is calling forth to those who will step into Him, and will stand in Him, and who will be watered with Him. These will then flow with His Form, and partake of the Living Word, and it will transform them, and bring them to the depths of His Love. The knowledge of this Love, will then be released, and it will come forth from these vessels, and it will flow as that Mighty Torrent throughout God's House. It will sweep clean all of the remaining debris taught of men, and cause His People to shine with Him.

The Fountain is both full of His Light and full of His Glory, but also full of His Justice. For the Word judges all things. The Judgment of all things is left to the SON, and the SON is the LIVING WORD. The Sword of Truth. He is all and the One.
The release of this Fountain will cause true Justice to be once again delivered in God's House. For the hearts of men will once again turn to the Truth, and will embrace the Sword, and it will remain IN HIM.

Justice will no longer be held at the gates, but will be the gate through which all will enter in. For only the Love of the Truth will allow one to enter into the Presence of the Lord. Truth is the Plumbline by which all will be measured and will be found IN HIM. For the Light will once again be seen over His People, and within Them.

This understanding flows through me as this river. I can grasp it and feel it, and see it all at once. It is apart of me, and I am One with the Lord, the Truth. It is as if there was never any separation at all. This is the true position of His People. The relationship that the Father desires for His People. To be One with Him, and the Son. John 17. The Union.

Then we will walk in the Light, as He is in the Light, and we will be One, and will see Him, and know Him, and unite with Him. Jesus pierced that veil with His Own Flesh and prepared the way for men, that they might have access, and became the Living Way, the true veil, by which we might see the Lord, for no man can see the Father, but through Him. For they are One.

Now, the invitation is to whosoever will, to come and drink from the Living Fountain of Truth, to partake of His Living Light. Whosoever thirsts for Him, and forsakes all, will be satisfied and will thirst no more, but will be fully filled with Him, and know true Union. For the Lord has called to His People to come up here, and to see Him.

Now is the Father seen among men, and the Truth shining in the darkness, for all who would seek for it, and who would come to His Bidding. The Pillar of Truth has returned to the House of God and they will now feed and drink from Him.

The Arrival Of The Bride

Rest in Me. Put your trust in Me. I am moving in your circumstance. I am lining things up with My will and purpose. Do not think that I have left you out, that I have not positioned you strategically. I have, and now is the time for My End-time plan to move forward. The End-time plan includes outreach to the nations, outreach to your own community and abroad. It includes whole households coming into order in this day.

You will see how I uncover My plan. I am raising up nobodies to do the work of evangelism. I am raising up those of no reputation to be on frontlines. How would I do this you ask? I have My hidden ones, Josephs, who have been wrongly accused and sent to the dungeon who are coming out of hiding. And yes, I am opening a whole new vista, a panoramic view of what I call My church. And I am birthing forth a revelation into the hearts of men, men of no relevance in the system of today's church.

I am shaking the pedestals of men and soon they will come crashing down. I am igniting a holy passion for the truth in the hearts of those who are open to the revelation. Some have said the church is sleeping. Others have implied that it is dead, but I tell you, My church is on the rise. It will rise up out of the dust and come to life, for I shall fill it with breath and life. So do not mistake what you see for what is real. Much of what you see stems from the heart of man and not God. What you see is a reproduction of the real, a counterfeit.

Do you think I would use one man out of multitudes to lead the way? Do you think that I need men to facilitate what I am doing? My ways are high above the ways of men and cannot be contained in the doctrines and teachings of men. They cannot be twisted and made to fit man's agenda.

I am at work throughout the Earth raising up the least expected from places least expected, those who have not been tainted by the religious systems of men. I am raising up My apostles and prophets, My End-time army that shall infiltrate the Earth and take it by surprise. Those least expected will be ushered forward into places of prominence. With them will come kingdom authority, not that which you see in religious circles, but from above, for I am releasing My authority into the lives of multitudes who have come through the trials and have been refined as pure gold. I am releasing power from on high into the lives of those who have disentangled themselves from the religious systems of men and who have enthroned Me in their hearts and lives.

The world has yet to see the true church arise, but in this day, it will be awakened by the arrival of the Bride of Christ. I am raising up a Bride who is spotless and the whole Earth shall marvel at her beauty, for she will not resemble anything the world has ever seen.

Picture this, the trumpet blast, and the whole Earth put on alert to the arrival of the Bride, prepared and ready for her Bridegroom... This is the picture I leave with you.

The Gospel Message

Once Again The Truth Of The Gospel Message Shall Be Spread Far And Wide riverpub@sgci.com
May 3, 2004

Many in My house are looking for wisdom from the wrong sources. They go to and fro trying to understand things from a human perspective. They encounter difficulties and run to the nearest comfort. They have not learned to seek Me, to seek My face and My counsel. They are a people who call themselves by My name, yet do not know Me. They think that if they keep the pattern handed down to them by their earthly fathers, they will be justified.

This is the dilemma My people face, they have traded a living, vital relationship with Me for the comfort of following the traditions of men. You ask why? It is because of unconfessed sin in their hearts and lives. They are able to excuse their sin thinking it is covered by My blood. But I tell you, that unless a man is purified by the washing of the water and the word, he cannot see God, nor can he enter the Kingdom of Heaven.

Write these words of encouragement to those who truly seek Me. Tell them that they shall surely find Me and shall be blessed of the Heavenly Father in ways unsearchable. Tell those who follow a form of religion, yet do not know Me, that the time is running out. Soon they will have to make a decision regarding whom they will serve, God Eternal, or the gods of this world. Will they seek wisdom from above, or the wisdom of men passed down through the generations?

It is a new day, and in this new day, I shall once again pour out My Spirit upon men. Either they will taste and see that the Lord is good, or they will run from My holy presence. Tell those who do not know Me that I am knocking at the door of their heart, and if they open the door to Me, I will come in and sup with them.

This is the message I leave with you today. Go and do the works that your Heavenly Father has prepared in advance for you to do and do not look back, for the time is coming when all of mankind will have to give an account of what they did with that which has been revealed through the Son. Jesus preached a new day to those who were steeped in religion two thousand years ago. The message is the same today. What will you do with the truth of which the Son of Man spoke and demonstrated to those who would believe?

Check your heart. Check it to see if you have truly grasped the message of the new day, or if you, too, are steeped in empty forms of religious behavior passed down through your fathers. I came to bring liberty, to set the captives free from the doctrines of men and demons. Who has heard the message and responded? Who has grasped hold of the truth and run with it?

Once again the truth of the gospel message shall be spread far and wide over all the Earth. Once again I shall display Myself in splendor and let the nations know that the Day of the Lord has appeared. Once again I shall rent the Heavens and make a display of My splendor in the Earth and all the nations will know that there is a God, for I shall shake the Heavens and the Earth as a sign of My coming. They will either fall on their knees in repentance, or cling to the old.

I am coming soon, and those who are Mine will rejoice. The clouds shall be rolled back and the angels shall descend. This is the sign of My coming.

The Activation of the Creative Word

Clo DiPilato

March 16, 2004

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. John 1:1.

Prophecy and prophetic revelation is the word of God from eternity into our time.
The foundation of true prophetic utterance or precept or premise is the eternal word, Logos. The creative dimension of prophecy is energized by the prevailing and undergirding force called, "The Word of God", the very same that was "in the beginning with God" who made ALL things; and whose presence was required that things could be made!

"All things were made by Him, and without him was not anything made that was made." John 1:3

Beloved, the presence of God is the overseer and active "project manager" to all that comes into being and reality through the spoken Word. The story of creation is the prototype, the model upon which present prophetic authority and power rests, and the foundation for His kingdom coming which even now is.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
And the earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. And God said…" Genesis 1:1-3a

Before God uttered a single word, the Spirit moved. God's presence is His Spirit! The presence of God is a force likened unto a wind that causes motion in the object of its attention. The Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
One would not be able to "see" the Spirit of God, but one would see the rippling of the waters affected by the wind of the Spirit. It was after God's Spirit moved, that God spoke.

My friends, if you want prophecy issuing forth from your life with creative power, do not speak until you have the evidence of His Spirit, His Presence with you because nothing will be seen or manifest or created , by a word void of the preceding presence of the Lord moving. That is nothing but an empty, powerless, off the top of your head, homespun idea concocted by your own religious intelligence!
(And when I say "you", of course, I mean ME, too!!)

God's divine order in creativity at the foundations of the earth sets the precedent for the fulfillment of that substance made, created, or formed by a creative "rhema word" from God.

The Spirit moved, God said, and then God "saw".

Dear ones, it takes the presence of the Lord, and a true word from God to "see".

"And God said, Let there be light and there was light. And God saw the light…" Genesis 1:3,4.

There is a divine connector between present prophetic power and authority within the life of the believer, and the eternal foundations which infuse the prophetic word with "life."

In Him was life, and that life was the light of men. John 1:4

What is that "divine connector"?

It is the "will of God, begetting us with the "word of truth" that we should be a kind of firstfruits of His creatures." (James 1:18)

It is the reality that we are born again, not of corruptible seed (life), but of incorruptible, by the "word of God" which liveth and abideth forever. (1Peter 1:23)

It's God's will that we be created in His image specifically for the purpose that we should be a kind of "firstfruits of His creatures." In other words, there is no other creation or race afforded divine attributes found only within God, Himself.
Since He is the only, sole, express "Word of Truth" it is from Himself that the seed of the Word of God must come into our being.

The seed is LIFE, and the life is the "light"! It's the "seed-life-light" that translates and moves us from the dark womb of imperceptibility and mystery into revelation whereby what we see (the light) is greater than the darkness which previously engulfed us.

"And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not." John 1:5

The fulfillment of this progression from darkness into light is realized by us through the unveiling of Jesus Christ. This will be the prophetic spirit and reality of the kingdom of God.

God who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets,
Hath in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;
Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power… Hebrews 1:1-3a.

The God-life that impregnates us because we are born again by the "incorruptible seed of the Word of God" enables us to
- feel the wind of the Spirit
- to speak the Word of the Lord
- and to SEE the fruit of it because in being created uniquely after His kind, even as He, we feel, speak, and see!

There is a Bible story found in John 6:16-21 which demonstrates the "laws of Creation"
- The Spirit moved
- God spoke
- And then He "saw" and realized Creative Power

being worked out in the relationship between Jesus and His disciples.

"And when even was now come, His disciples went down into the sea.
And entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them. John 6:16

And the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep. Genesis 1:2.
Our condition when Jesus has not yet come to us!!

And the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew. John 6:18

And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. Genesis 1:2
That "great wind" is nothing less than the Spirit of God moving!!

So when they had rowed about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing nigh unto the ship: and they were afraid. John 6:19 (This reminds me of how Adam and Eve heard a "voice walking" at the dawn of creation.)

But he saith unto them, It is I; be not afraid. John 6:20

And God said, Let there be light, and there was light. Genesis 1:3
The disciples were afraid in the dark, but when He spoke, the light (revelation of who He is) came!

Then they willingly received him into the ship; John 6:21a

Of His own will beget He us with the word of truth! James 1:18
Oh to have His will merged into our will so that we gladly receive the word of the Lord into our vessel!!

And immediately, the ship was at the land, whither they went!
John 6:21b

As God saw the light, they saw the results of an intended purpose.

Before the disciples experienced the good fortune of being where they desired to be, there was a willingness on their part to receive Him, His presence into their vessel. Notice, that prior to their receiving Jesus, they were afraid.

Whenever a word of the Lord comes that requires us to open our spirits gladly and willingly, there is a space of hesitancy, a reservation before we reach the place of willingness.

But the results, the solutions, the arrival at destiny and seeing and perceiving concrete evidence of a word spoken because the Spirit moved, happens in the presence of receptivity.

"Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauty of holiness from the womb of the morning: thou hast the dew of youth" Psalms 110:3

Beloved, what is the "day of God's power"? It must relate to a time when things take place beyond man's ability. It's the day of the revelation of the force that causes creativity! And that power is RELEASED through willingness!!

My friends, our self-denial and crucifixion of personal will and desire builds great character, and qualify us as overcomers who will manifest God's purposes and judgments in the earth.

But when our will has been crucified and self has been denied, it's not time to morph into a morose and morbid world of monastic asceticism and "will" worship, taking great pride in our spiritual accomplishments. That is not the "beauty of holiness" from the "womb of the morning".

What is to be birthed out of the morning? It is the promise of a day that will increase in promises of productivity and brightness! What is the "dew of youth", but renewed hope in that which the seed is capable of bringing forth! How will that child grow and mature into manhood and fullness?? Perhaps He will be the President, or a world-class surgeon, or a famed opera singer!

After we have denied the self, it's time to ACTIVATE the seed of the New Creation Man within us---that which OF HIS OWN WILL He "begat" within us of the Word of truth!! In the natural, we cannot "activate" a seed by the sheer force of our will or desire to see it grow. But we can do "the right thing". We can water it, and give it time in the sunlight. That which nurtures the spiritual seed is DESIRE. We grow by desire!! "Desire the sincere milk of the Word that ye may grow thereby." 1 Peter 2:2. Maturity will come through desire!!

It's time to let the will of the Almighty Christ come forth within us, to be so immersed in the JOY of the revelation of the will of God because HIS WILL has truly become OUR WILL! No more struggle! Complete rest in God, and JOY UNSPEAKABLE and FULL OF GLORY!! There is a song that has the phrase, "out of the narrowness of self, into thy heights, into thy depths, lift us up into thy greatness, Oh Lord."

How many of us have been caught up in majoring religiously in the little phrase,
"out of the narrowness of self"…….ever with our eyes fixed upon the price, and not upon the prize. Beloved, if Jesus had that outlook, He never would have gone to the Cross! The Bible shows us very clearly in John 17 that Jesus recalled heavenly glory with His Father! On the Mount of Transfiguration, He shared a little of it with Peter, James, and John. The writer of Hebrews tells us that it was because of the JOY set before Him that He was able to endure the Cross!

We've denied ourselves, and struggled to bring ourselves into conformity to the will of God. Now it's time to see the JOY and the GLORY that is set before us!!
Beloved, God's creativity, the activation of the CREATIVE SPOKEN WORD is going to be birthed out of the womb of the morning! The place of hope for God's New Day, God's new order where the atmosphere of heaven, that holy and lofty place where the perfect will of God reigns supreme permeates our personal earth.

What releases God- willingness within us? It is the perception of a need and the DESIRE to meet the need! In Creation, God saw the condition of the earth…..empty, form, without void, darkness upon the face of the deep! The Spirit perceived a need and MOVED, and God was willing to speak light and order into the creation.

This is the same God that anointed Mark to write these words spoken by our Lord Jesus:

For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea and shall not doubt in his heart , but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith.
Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. Mark 11:23,24.

We must compare spiritual things with spiritual, and the scripture alone has the ability to defend and interpret itself. This isn't a blanket statement of approbation on declaration and receipt of self-centered, self-ingratiating, consuming lusts and covetousness just because we give ourselves to avidly declaring and confessing what we want!

Reading the scripture in context pre-empts such a thought. Jesus had just cleansed the temple of the self-serving money-changers and merchants who thought they could make a profit off of poor people who had come from long distances and needed to purchase the proper animals in order to make required sacrifices. (Mark 11:15-17)

And then they came upon a withered fig tree that Jesus had cursed because it had not produced fruit! (Mark 11:20,21)

The groundwork Jesus laid for Mark 11:23 and 24 must have had those disciples walking softly and tip-toeing in His presence because those were days that He was showing unto them a side that demanded a reverence reserved only for God.

The Lord had just manifested His authority in a way that would tell those hearers, Be careful what you desire!! Don't be selfish like the money-changers and the merchants in the temple! Don't be fruitless like the pathetic fig tree!

There is CREATIVE POWER coming to those who will be full of faith in the will of God. His Word is His Will. When Jesus said to those disciples "WHATSOEVER THINGS YE DESIRE"……..He knew

He had just gone to great lengths to bring them to a place where they were most introspective about desire! "Desire" had been purified!

Beloved, our faith, and the creative prophetic word will never conflict with our desires! We need to pine and yearn and hunger and long for the will of God greater than the insatiable dissatisfaction of things never satisfied! Meditate upon this verse in Proverbs, and let your desire for the will of God and for the Lord Himself surpass the relentless refusal of these things to find satisfaction! Let our inward cry ever be, I need MORE of you Lord, and a GREATER REVELATION of your will than what I presently have!!

"The horseleach hath two daughters, crying, Give. Give.
There are three things that are never satisfied, yea, four things say not, It is enough: The grave, and the barren womb; the earth that is not filled with water;
And the fire that saith not, It is enough. " Proverbs 15:16.

We are created a "kind of firstfruits"……unique in that we have, by reason of Divine Impartation, the power of God within us to DISCERN A NEED, and to stir up God's Spirit within us to respond to the need, and speak a word, and see results!! We do not need to stay where we are! We need to cast off all fear and doubt and unbelief, receive Jesus (His Name is called "The Word of God" Rev. 19:13) into the ship of our lives; and experience the outworking of creative prophetic Destiny!! Beloved, when DESIRE is at the God-level, IMMEDIACY will be EXPEDIENT in the heart of God!! "Then they willingly received Him into the ship: and immediately the ship was at the land whither they went." John 6:21.

Within the next couple of days, I will conclude this prophetic teaching with the great scriptural example of what was accomplished creatively through those who were "willing in the day of thy power"! It's a story or restoration and resurrection life!! Please pray for me that God anoints me to follow through!

Always in His Love,

The Architecture Of The Spirit
David Orton

".he was looking for the city. whose architect and builder is God" Heb 11:10

There is an "architecture of the Spirit" which will build the city of God.

It is not what many of us have thought of as "The New Testament Pattern", nor is it "The New Apostolic Blueprint". And it is definitely not "The Local Church Model for Success"!

It is rather an artistry born of the Spirit that will guide us in the construction of the "new thing" that God is about to do.

The Greek word rendered as "architect" in our text (Heb 11:10) is "technites", which Trench suggests brings out the artistic side of creation. It is the word used for an "artificer", "artisan", or "craftsman". According to Vine, "one who does a thing by rules of art".

Painting by numbers

This is far from slavish subjection to a pattern. We have not been called as "wanna-be" artists, mindlessly painting by numbers, but as true "artisans" of the Spirit, as those with talent and with skill. Just as an artist is gifted with innate talent, which is then honed into a skill through practice and cognizance of the laws of art, so too, the man or woman of the Spirit.

We have been called to "build" in the Spirit. But first the design comes from God and then the building. But unfortunately, we build according to our preconceived notions of the design of our particular understanding of "the local church", of "the apostolic", or even of "community transformation". And often in our presumption we call our notions, "the blueprint" or "the pattern", believing we have the "scoop" on growth and success. However, we are only breathing our own air and merely imitating another model.

It is time then, to heed the call to, "Trust in the LORD with all our heart and lean not on our own understanding" (Prov 3:5).

Uncharted territory

We have not "been this way before". We are being called into uncharted territory, into ways of doing the work of the kingdom, and being the people of God that are unfamiliar. There is a unique way for every time, season, and people. The old ways and paths, though good for their season, will not suffice for the "new thing" that is about to break out.

We, therefore, need the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Jesus. The skill and creativity of the artisan is all about wisdom. It is one thing to have knowledge, but another to have insight into how and when to apply the knowledge, appreciating its full implications and applications. It is all about living in the knowledge of God and practicing His ways.

"Architecton" - wise masterbuilder

And so, Paul the apostle could refer to himself as a "wise masterbuilder" (see 1 Cor 3:10), or in Greek "architekton", from which the English word, "architect", is derived. However, the ancient usage of the word suggests more than the modern day architect, thus the rendering, "masterbuilder". It denotes the creative skill of the artisan, operating according to the rules of art, in both conceiving and implementing the design.

It would seem then, that the building of the city of God is far from some mechanistic, programmatic, engineering feat. And yet this is exactly what so much of contemporary church life has become. One can, therefore, only assume that much of what is being built is not the "city" that Abraham was looking for! Thus Paul's warning for each of us to "take heed how he builds" (see 1 Cor 3:10).

"Come, let us build."

Man has a propensity to build. But not all building is of God. This is reflected in the first human community at Babel when they said,

"Come, let us build ourselves a city. so that we may make a name for ourselves." Gen 11:4

Many are building ministries, churches, networks, movements, and denominations, but we are not building the city of God. Rather than building out of the "architecture of the Spirit" we build out of the "architecture of self", to build for ourselves a name. Sure, superficially it is "for the kingdom", but at a heart level it is something else altogether.

So, how do we build the city of God?

Through the "architecture of the Spirit", and it begins in the foundations.

For Paul, as a wise masterbuilder, the foundation to be laid is Jesus Christ (see 1 Cor 3:11). The infrastructure is, therefore, to be consistent with the foundation. If not, the builder will be constructing with consumables with wood, hay, and stubble. And these will be tested by fire to ascertain their oneness with the foundation (see 1 Cor 3:12-15).

There is a fire about to be poured out on the church. Motivations, models, traditions, and innovations will be touched with the fire of God's holy nature. Everything that can be shaken will be shaken, so that only the unshakeable will remain (see Heb 12:25-29). Every human contrivance in the church will come under challenge by the Spirit of God. This is evident, even now, in the endemic failure of our present system of ministry. Over 1,600 pastors every month in the USA are forced out of ministry due to power struggles within the church. This figure is not inclusive of those pastors who leave the ministry because of burnout! Something is radically wrong! While we rejoice with every victory, it really doesn't matter how successful the latest tele-evangelist is, or mega-church may be, or for that matter any ministry when, overall, the Western church is losing ground.

The Husk or the Kernel?

So, the "architecture of the Spirit" will call us back to the foundation of Christ, to rediscover the kernel of intimacy with him, and to experientially know him. Knowing about His person and work is good, but knowing Him is even better. Doctrine and theology are good, but it can be the husk rather than the kernel, the packaging rather than the substance.

Jesus said,

"You search the Scriptures, because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is these that bear witness of Me; and you are unwilling to come to Me, that you may have life." Jn 5:39-40

In varying degrees it is possible to know the Scriptures but not know Jesus. They give witness to the One who is the living Word. However, it is possible to stop at the letter, thinking we have arrived, and never come through to the spirit behind the letter to the knowledge of God (see 2 Cor 3:4-6; also Hos 5:4; 6:3, 6; 8:2).

The implications of this are deeply disturbing. Much of what we call our "spiritual life" or "church life" are merely the husks. It means we can do "church" and not really connect with the head of the church, read the Bible and not really know the author, or do "worship" and not really commune with the One worshipped.

And I am not talking about traditional and liturgical churches. The words of Jesus and Isaiah speak prophetically into the contemporary Evangelical/Pentecostal scene:

"Though seeing, they do not see; though hearing, they do not hear or understand. In them is fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah: "'You will be ever hearing but never understanding; you will be ever seeing but never perceiving.'" Mtt 13:13-14

And our blindness is unconscious:

"You say, 'I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing.' But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked." Rev 3:17

We do not realise our true condition we think we are free when we are bound we think we see and yet we are blind we think we are filled with the Spirit when we are not. We are therefore, in fact, deceived.

Revelation - words that are spirit

So, how are we set free?

Through the truth. And this only comes through the words that Jesus speaks which are "spirit and life" (Jn 6:63). But they are not received cognitively, through the mind, and therefore not taught by the church nor any man, but by the Spirit. While we may read them, or hear them preached, they are only truly received when they come as light and revelation to our spirit. Only to the degree the words are given wings by the Spirit of God and carried to us as revelation is the city of God built up.

This is why John said,

". the anointing you received from him remains in you, and you do not need anyone to teach you. But as his anointing teaches you about all things and as that anointing is real, not counterfeit-just as it has taught you, remain in him." 1 Jn 2:27

Despite the fact that Peter had been with Jesus Himself and received much information it had not become revelation. However, when questioned as to how he saw Jesus, he suddenly responded from his spirit, "You are the Christ!" Jesus then explained what had just occurred: ".flesh and blood did not reveal this to you but My Father who is in heaven". He had received revelation.

This is what Jesus meant when he said, ". upon this rock I will build My church." (Mtt 16:17-18). The church that Jesus is building is only built on the rock of revelation but not just any revelation it is the revelation of Jesus as the Christ.

What does this mean? Without a current revelation of Christ without intimacy the church, by definition, cannot be the church. It may be the institution that calls itself "the church", but it is not the church that Jesus said would overcome the gates of hell! A survey of the current condition of the church easily confirms this. We must therefore conclude that the foundation is not in place.

The foundation of apostles & prophets

This is why the restoration of true apostles and prophets is so significant, and therefore so clouded with confusion and by counterfeits by those "who say they are apostles and are not" (Rev 2:2; also 2 Cor 11:13). The restoration of intimacy with God and of true apostles and prophets goes hand-in-glove. With Christ as the chief cornerstone, apostles and prophets are the foundation (see Eph 2:20; also Rev 21:14). The true apostle or prophet will be one with Christ, not in theory or sentiment, but in experience and in reality. They will be one with Him in the fellowship of His suffering and in His ascension glory (see 1 Cor 4:9-13; 15:7-8; 2 Cor 11:16-33; Phil 3:10; Col 1:24).

Therefore true apostles, prophets, and saints will heed the call toward the city of God to be with Him outside the camp, "Let us, then, go to him outside the camp, bearing the disgrace he bore. For here we do not have an enduring city, but we are looking for the city that is to come." Heb 13:13-14

De-construction before Construction

This means the loss of all things of reputation, respect, and resource of all the securities of this life and its regular patterns. The "architecture of the Spirit" will always de-construct before it constructs it will uproot, tear down, destroy and overthrow before it builds and plants (see Jer 1:10). As long as we are secure and satisfied with our patterns and ways, we are not able to receive revelation, nor experience true intimacy with Christ.

The "architecture of the Spirit" is calling you into a place of complete abandonment a place where you are no longer in control into a place of brokenness and contrition of heart where God can download the "new thing". Are you ready?

The Architecture Of The Spirit
David Orton

> "…he was looking for the city… whose architect and builder is God" Heb 11:10

There is an “architecture of the Spirit” which will build the city of God.

It is not what many of us have thought of as “The New Testament Pattern”, nor is it “The New Apostolic Blueprint”. And it is definitely not “The Local Church Model for Success”!

It is rather an artistry born of the Spirit that will guide us in the construction of the “new thing” that God is about to do.

The Greek word rendered as “architect” in our text (Heb 11:10) is “technites”, which Trench suggests brings out the artistic side of creation. It is the word used for an “artificer”, “artisan”, or “craftsman”. According to Vine, “one who does a thing by rules of art”.

Painting by numbers

This is far from slavish subjection to a pattern. We have not been called as “wanna-be” artists, mindlessly painting by numbers, but as true “artisans” of the Spirit, as those with talent and with skill. Just as an artist is gifted with innate talent, which is then honed into a skill through practice and cognizance of the laws of art, so too, the man or woman of the Spirit.

We have been called to “build” in the Spirit. But first the design comes from God and then the building. But unfortunately, we build according to our preconceived notions of the design – of our particular understanding of “the local church”, of “the apostolic”, or even of “community transformation”. And often in our presumption we call our notions, “the blueprint” or “the pattern”, believing we have the “scoop” on growth and success. However, we are only breathing our own air and merely imitating another model.

It is time then, to heed the call to, “Trust in the LORD with all our heart and lean not on our own understanding” (Prov 3:5).

Uncharted territory

We have not “been this way before”. We are being called into uncharted territory, into ways of doing the work of the kingdom, and being the people of God that are unfamiliar. There is a unique way for every time, season, and people. The old ways and paths, though good for their season, will not suffice for the “new thing” that is about to break out.

We, therefore, need the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Jesus. The skill and creativity of the artisan is all about wisdom. It is one thing to have knowledge, but another to have insight into how and when to apply the knowledge, appreciating its full implications and applications. It is all about living in the knowledge of God and practicing His ways.

And so, Paul the apostle could refer to himself as a “wise masterbuilder” (see 1 Cor 3:10), or in Greek “architekton”, from which the English word, “architect”, is derived. However, the ancient usage of the word suggests more than the modern day architect, thus the rendering, “masterbuilder”. It denotes the creative skill of the artisan, operating according to the rules of art, in both conceiving and implementing the design.

It would seem then, that the building of the city of God is far from some mechanistic, programmatic, engineering feat. And yet this is exactly what so much of contemporary church life has become. One can, therefore, only assume that much of what is being built is not the “city” that Abraham was looking for! Thus Paul’s warning for each of us to “take heed how he builds” (see 1 Cor 3:10).

Man has a propensity to build. But not all building is of God. This is reflected in the first human community at Babel when they said,

‘‘Come, let us build ourselves a city…so that we may make a name for ourselves… .” Gen 11:4

Many are building – ministries, churches, networks, movements, and denominations, but we are not building the city of God . Rather than building out of the “architecture of the Spirit” we build out of the “architecture of self”, to build for ourselves a name. Sure, superficially it is “for the kingdom”, but at a heart level it is something else altogether.

So, how do we build the city of God ?

Through the “architecture of the Spirit”, and it begins in the foundations.

For Paul, as a wise masterbuilder, the foundation to be laid is Jesus Christ (see 1 Cor 3:11). The infrastructure is, therefore, to be consistent with the foundation. If not, the builder will be constructing with consumables – with wood, hay, and stubble. And these will be tested by fire to ascertain their oneness with the foundation (see 1 Cor 3:12 -15).

There is a fire about to be poured out on the church. Motivations, models, traditions, and innovations will be touched with the fire of God’s holy nature. Everything that can be shaken will be shaken, so that only the unshakeable will remain (see Heb 12:25 -29). Every human contrivance in the church will come under challenge by the Spirit of God. This is evident, even now, in the endemic failure of our present system of ministry. Over 1,600 pastors every month in the USA are forced out of ministry due to power struggles within the church. This figure is not inclusive of those pastors who leave the ministry because of burnout! Something is radically wrong! While we rejoice with every victory, it really doesn’t matter how successful the latest televangelist is, or mega-church may be, or for that matter any ministry when, overall, the Western church is losing ground.

The Husk or the Kernel?

So, the “architecture of the Spirit” will call us back to the foundation of Christ, to rediscover the kernel of intimacy with him, and to experientially know him. Knowing about His person and work is good, but knowing Him is even better. Doctrine and theology are good, but it can be the husk rather than the kernel, the packaging rather than the substance.

Jesus said,

“You search the Scriptures, because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is these that bear witness of Me; and you are unwilling to come to Me, that you may have life.” Jn 5:39-40

In varying degrees it is possible to know the Scriptures but not know Jesus. They give witness to the One who is the living Word. However, it is possible to stop at the letter, thinking we have arrived, and never come through to the spirit behind the letter – to the knowledge of God (see 2 Cor 3:4-6; also Hos 5:4; 6:3, 6; 8:2).

The implications of this are deeply disturbing. Much of what we call our “spiritual life” or “church life” are merely the husks. It means we can do “church” and not really connect with the head of the church, read the Bible and not really know the author, or do “worship” and not really commune with the One worshipped.

And I am not talking about traditional and liturgical churches. The words of Jesus and Isaiah speak prophetically into the contemporary Evangelical/Pentecostal scene:

“Though seeing, they do not see; though hearing, they do not hear or understand. In them is fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah: "‘You will be ever hearing but never understanding; you will be ever seeing but never perceiving.’" Mtt 13:13-14

And our blindness is unconscious:

“You say, ‘I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing.’ But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked.” Rev 3:17

We do not realise our true condition – we think we are free when we are bound – we think we see and yet we are blind – we think we are filled with the Spirit when we are not. We are therefore, in fact, deceived.

Revelation - words that are spirit

So, how are we set free?

Through the truth. And this only comes through the words that Jesus speaks which are “spirit and life” (Jn 6:63). But they are not received cognitively, through the mind, and therefore not taught by the church nor any man, but by the Spirit. While we may read them, or hear them preached, they are only truly received when they come as light and revelation to our spirit. Only to the degree the words are given wings by the Spirit of God and carried to us as revelation is the city of God built up.

This is why John said,

“… the anointing you received from him remains in you, and you do not need anyone to teach you. But as his anointing teaches you about all things and as that anointing is real, not counterfeit—just as it has taught you, remain in him.” 1 Jn 2:27

Despite the fact that Peter had been with Jesus Himself and received much information it had not become revelation. However, when questioned as to how he saw Jesus, he suddenly responded from his spirit, “You are the Christ!” Jesus then explained what had just occurred: “…flesh and blood did not reveal this to you but My Father who is in heaven”. He had received revelation.

This is what Jesus meant when he said, “… upon this rock I will build My church…” (Mtt 16:17-18). The church that Jesus is building is only built on the rock of revelation – but not just any revelation – it is the revelation of Jesus as the Christ.

What does this mean? Without a current revelation of Christ – without intimacy – the church, by definition, cannot be the church. It may be the institution that calls itself “the church”, but it is not the church that Jesus said would overcome the gates of hell! A survey of the current condition of the church easily confirms this.

We must therefore conclude that the foundation is not in place.

The foundation of apostles & prophets

This is why the restoration of true apostles and prophets is so significant, and therefore so clouded with confusion and by counterfeits – by those “who say they are apostles and are not” (Rev 2:2; also 2 Cor 11:13). The restoration of intimacy with God and of true apostles and prophets goes hand-in-glove. With Christ as the chief cornerstone, apostles and prophets are the foundation (see Eph 2:20 ; also Rev 21:14). The true apostle or prophet will be one with Christ, not in theory or sentiment, but in experience and in reality. Therefore true apostles, prophets, and saints will heed the call toward the city of God – to be with Him outside the camp,

The Abundance Promised

I Am Leading Your Household On Into The Abundance Promised
riverpub@sgci.com
May 24, 2004

Increase in stamina. Come into complete health. Line up with My will and purposes and you will be on your way into your destiny.

Proclaim the gospel of Christ to a lost generation. I shall walk you out from the doldrums and into the land of promise. Know that I will never fail you, that My promises are true. I promise you, that though others refuse to believe, that I, indeed, will perform My wonders on your behalf. Hold onto every promise, every word assigned you and do not let go. I am moving My promises forward and I will take by surprise those who did not believe. I am coming to set the captives free, to loose the prisoners, and to proclaim the day of the Lord. I will define borders and make My ways clearly known.

This is the day of great grace. Grace be unto you. Grace is the substance that will carry you through. It will give you the stamina you need to press through. So rejoice, for this is the day of salvation, of whole households coming into salvation. Rejoice and sing, for I have intervened to make known My purposes and will. I will instruct and give counsel according to My good purpose. I will make an issue of grace in this day. All will know that it is not by the hands of men, by power or might that My purposes will be accomplished, but by the power of My spirit that is at work to bring all things into divine order. Even now I am working behind the scenes to bring justice to the poor and to oversee the work of My kingdom being established in the hearts and lives of your youth. I will grant favor to all in the house. I will trample underfoot all that aligns itself up against My perfect will. I will establish blessing in the household of God, blessing upon blessing.

Courage, take courage. I am leading your household on into the abundance I have in store. I am reimbursing those who have lost out in the past with new stamina, new credibility, new desires, new ambition, positive thoughts, progress in the direction of My choosing. I am filling them to the full with My counsel, with My word of truth that shall nurture and train them and bring them into maturity. So rejoice, for your whole household is lining up with My purposes, from the youngest to the eldest. This is the promise I make to you, that your sons and your daughters shall enter the land of plenty. Rejoice and sing, because I truly have blasted apart the roadblocks that had been set up to keep them from receiving all I have in store for them.

Monies will come rolling in to finance those things I am calling your youth to. A great abundance will be released to bless them and carry them on into training. You will see favor upon favor released upon your youth, for I shall, indeed, transport them out of hopelessness and into a hope-filled life of service to their king. I will bless them with every spiritual blessing in Heavenly places and I shall release to them the desires of their hearts. Know this day, that I shall carry them on My wings and transport them into realms of glory. I have My hand upon each one and I shall walk each one into their inheritance in Christ. Bountiful blessing awaits them. Pastoral care awaits each one, for I shall make a commitment to provide continued guidance. I will not let their foot slip. I will not leave them out in the cold, but I shall gather them in where it is warm. I shall cover them with My wing as a mother hen does her chicks. They shall rise high above the storms of life and experience safety as in the eye of a tornado.

I Am Moving Your Youth

I Am Moving Your Youth Forward In Time With My Will And Purpose

Encounter greater satisfaction in the arms of your Heavenly Father. Come up higher, My child, high above the distractions. Know that I am your "daddy," your Father who gives you good advice.

I will counsel you and give you the answers to the dilemmas that you face. I will open wide My storehouses of fresh manna to enlighten you. Do not believe the ill report of what you see, but continue to believe My promises toward you and your household. You will see changes, great change in the heart and life of each of your children, changes in their behavior, and change in the structure that exists, for I am bombarding the gates to the city and releasing those who have been bound by the limitations put on them by the fleshman. I shall utterly destroy the power of traditional lines set.

I will destroy the limitations on the lives of your children and usher them into the fullness I have in store for them. Not only will they walk in the power of My Spirit, but they will walk into the work and areas of expertise of My choice freely with no opposition. This you will see as the fulfillment of My promises to you, your children walking in the authority of sons of God. You will see them "fill the position" I have for them in the workplace and in My kingdom.

No man is able to stop what I am doing. I am blasting apart preconceived ideas of what I can and can't do, and I am blasting away limitations erected by the powers that war against My will. I will utterly destroy the power that would hinder My chosen from going forward in the call upon their lives. Though men say "it cannot be done," I will prove that I am able to override the rules and regulations of men to achieve My purposes in the lives of those I am moving forward in this day.

Counsel given of men will be futile against the counsel of God that I am releasing in this day. I will counsel your sons and daughters. I will determine the outcome of events taking place in their lives. I will take the reigns out of the hands of men and guide and direct according to My good pleasure.

So rejoice, for I am moving your youth forward in time with My will and purpose.

Press In To My Promises

Resist the devil and he will flee. I will give your grace to walk through the turmoil unharmed, unscathed.

Dream, dare to dream. Do not let your dreams be snuffed out. Open wide your heart to receive all I have for you. Gird up your loins, put on the breastplate of righteousness, and be led forward in the call.

Press in to My promises. Believe them with all your heart and do not waver. I am moving on your behalf. I am instituting My will and My purposes into your midst.

Extreme revelation is coming your way. You will walk in the extreme. Extreme power is resident in you and now about to break forth. You will see it move mountains on your behalf. You will see it bring forth counsel and admonition, hope, and health, revelation of kingdom living, living in the economy of God, without limits.

I will give you direction. I will lead the way. I have given you My promises and I shall walk them out in your life. Life abundant is promised to you. Joy unspeakable is in store. Yes, the attacks have been fierce and the shakings terrible, but I have sustained you through them all and I will continue to sustain you. I will propel you forward and give you grace to continue on in the call. I will carry you on and into your destiny.

The Agape Reformation

Ron McGatlin

The most powerful force for reforming the church and the world is agape' love. Gods love flowing in and through His maturing sons is the strength to move mountains and reform the landscape of our world. We are in the early stages of a long season of transition and maturation into a church and world based on the intimate love relationship of God and man. The Word by the Spirit is cleansing hearts and clearing the land for a new paradigm.

The greatest principle of the kingdom - the predominate force and most significant factor in the kingdom of God is the love of God.

Without the love of God, there would be no salvation for mankind. Jesus would not have come to earth. There would be no cross, no resurrection, no indwelling Holy Spirit, no righteousness, no peace or joy on earth, no forgiveness, no deliverance, no healing of the heart, no reason for living, no relationship between man and the living God, no drawing force establishing God's kingdom on earth. Apart from the love of God, there is no kingdom of God, from heaven, on earth. Yet, who can really describe what the love of God is?

John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

Matthew 22:36-40: "Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?" Jesus said to him, "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets."

Many people have known of the love of God, but there are many today who really know the love of God in a personal way. To know God is to know love. "God is love".

The spiritual union and intimacy of knowing (experiencing) the love of God is the greatest fulfillment in life. Earthly accomplishments and human desires all fade into the distance. The highest highs of life pale in the rapture of experiencing His love. There is nothing one would not do, nothing one would not give, to please Him. The only fear is the fear of disappointing Him. The heart's greatest desire is to hear His voice and to do His bidding; to be pleasing in His sight.

The intense love between a man and a woman is a natural parable of the love of God. In the Bible, the Song of Solomon is an expression of spiritual love in natural terms. Anyone who has ever really been in love with someone knows to some degree the feelings of experiencing God's love.

A man in love will do anything to be with the one he loves. When they are apart, a deep aching and longing fills his chest. Only embracing her and pressing her against his chest will stop the ache and fill the longing. Her every characteristic, even with her flaws, seem intensely beautiful and desirable to him. He will look deep into her eyes and say, "I will change the whole world for you. I will move the greatest mountain, defeat the fiercest enemy for you." They kiss and she melts in his arms and replies, "I am yours forever. I will serve you with my whole heart; only, please, never leave me nor forsake me." He promises, "I will never leave you nor forsake you."

The world may have difficulty in understanding why one in love with God will leave the activities and things of the world to be with Jesus. Religious people, with their rules and strife, may demand for the person in love with Jesus to be more involved with their religious activity. They may never understand why their ceremonies mean so little to the one who is personally experiencing the loving presence of God.

His love motivates us to purity. Our desires are to be, to have, and to do, according to His will. No other needs drive us. He is all we need. His will and ways are always righteous obedience to the Father. The great mystery of love changes harlotry to purity. Love Purifies - Unlove Putrefies.

The love of Jesus can change a rebellious, adulterous bride into a faithful, purified bride without spot or blemish. Jesus, by the love relationship, becomes one flesh with His bride and is manifest in her so that His life becomes flesh on the earth. As His presence appears within us and is revealed through us, we become as he is in the world; we are purified.

Ephesians 5:25-27,29-32: Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it that He might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, that He might present it to Himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing, but that it should be holy and without blemish.

Pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love,
Ron McGatlin

The Archway Is Opened
Sandy Warner

As I blow upon your heart with hope and commission, I will set job opportunities before you, whether part time, full time, or any time. For I have opened up the archway, that great door of hope - and you shall drive through to new roads. On the go, you shall visit My people far and near. I shall use you to blow the seeds of My Word upon them and My Spirit shall blow great refreshment upon many fainting souls. Through so much waiting and delay, many hearts are waning and about to faint. I will shore up and strengthen their walls. What took the enemy many years to canker, I can repair with just one touch of My breath. I will send you to them. Follow your conscience and the enemy will have no say in your life and I will bring you through the door of hope.

"I will return her vineyards to her and transform the Valley of Trouble into a gateway of hope. She will give herself to me there, as she did long ago when she was young, when I freed her from her captivity in Egypt. "In that coming day, says the LORD, "you will call me `my husband' instead of `my master.'" (Hosea 2:15-17 NLT)

Monarchs - The Egg & Caterpillar
Sandy Warner

Jan 27, 2004
Adult female Monarchs lay their eggs singly, one egg on the underside of each milkweed leaf. The egg larvae feed on the milkweed leaves for about two weeks and develop into caterpillars. A caterpillar remains on the plant where the egg was laid and feeds. Caterpillars grow several thousand times in size, to about 2 inches.

The Monarch butterfly is sometimes called the "milkweed butterfly" because the only thing the larvae and caterpillar eats is milkweed. The milkweed has a poison that keeps this butterfly safe from predators. The toxins from the milkweed give the butterfly a natural defense.

PARABLE
Today Wayne heard the Lord say, "Potential." That was a confirmation to me because yesterday I had a children’s song repeating over and over again in my mind. (One of the ways the Lord speaks to us is through bringing a song to our mind.)

Children’s song:
"I am a promise. I am a possibility. I am a promise, with a capital P. I am a great big bundle of potentiality. And I am trying to hear God’s voice and I am trying to make the right choice. I am a great big bundle of potentiality."

Many times when the Lord plants His seed within us, it comes as a promise of what He is bringing us into. With His seed planted within us, we are a bundle of potentiality.

GRANDMA ANNA RHEMA

HEARD POEM:
Come and dine on the Master's truth. Come and dine.
It's time to feast at My table. Yes, it's time.
Who is blind but My servant who thinks he really sees?
I AM opening your eyes to set you completely free,
With eyes birthed for now and eternity.
A "New Age" they say, from eyes too blind to see.
For what they say, can't be.
Because the New Age comes forth through you - by Me.
It's a seed I planted 2000 years ago.
A seed to whom I said, "Now grow!"
It's a mystery created in front of their eyes.
It's the story of the butterfly.
It's been a worm.
And in the cocoon it's had its turn.
Out of the darkness and into the light
Bursts forth My seed with glory bright.
This is the New Age and they will declare it.
Yes, Candle, I light your flame.
You, My Pillar, with a new name.
What's birthed, comes from afar.
My own ones to whom I have given the morning star.
Overcomers in every way,
All things they conquered to begin the New Day.
Birthed out of majesty, their words declare.
There is nothing, no nothing that will ever compare.

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}
WORD TO PONDER MY GOD SEED IS PLANTED
I planted My tiny God seed inside of you and carefully surrounded you with the milk of My Word. Slowly you grew to the place where you could crawl around in search for nourishment. All these years I have watched you eat and grow, eat and grow, then eat some more - and grow, grow, grow.

My seed in you may be very, very tiny, but what marvelous things I have in store for those that love Me! As always, each seed produces after its own kind and because I have planted the seed of Myself inside you, one day My very image shall reflect in all that you do and all that you are.

Someday you will no longer crawl like a worm within the limits of your planting, but you shall sprout wings of faith that will take you high above all circumstances. You shall overcome, against all odds and rise in newness of life. Do not worry, My love. You are safe in Me. You may feel small and overwhelmed as you see wicked adversaries press in, but they will not devour you. As you have fed upon My Word and My Word has sustained and changed you, this has also produced a toxin inside of you that is poisonous to your adversaries. What I have planted in your life shall not fail. You are My child, and you will have all eternity to discover what that really means.

Gal 4:6-7 NKJV
And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, "Abba, Father!" Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.

Wrapped In A Cocoon
Sandy Warner

Jan 29, 2004
Within the amazing journey of the Monarch butterfly, when the caterpillar has eaten its fill and grown to about 2 inches, it attaches head down onto a convenient twig, then sheds its outer skin and begins the transformation into a pupa (or chrysalis).

The pupa or cocoon resembles a waxy, jade vase and becomes increasingly transparent as the process progresses. The caterpillar completes the miraculous transformation into a beautiful adult butterfly in about two weeks.

"…When the Lord gets ready to do something, He does it in the heavens. In 87 this supernova came. It came on 2/20. You didn't realize it, but boy you were appointed to a death; that is Galatians 2:20. "I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me."

"A death started working in you like the cocoon of the anointing. You were like worms that crawled around on the earth. You didn't get any higher than the plants you climbed on. But all of a sudden you began to get wrapped up in the anointing and you began to die. All of a sudden you were totally bound. You were totally restricted by the Holy Spirit. You didn't get anything you thought you were going to get. You had preset ideals of what you thought you were going to be. You stayed there in that cocoon and year after year went by. And what you haven't realized - You're not the same person that went into that cocoon. You did some dying in there and some changing.

GRANDMA ANNA RHEMA
HEARD: The tomb, the tomb. Little one, you are in the tomb. All these things I'm fighting in the tomb. Loneliness, despair, hope deferred, sadness, grief. Fight back until they know the strength of your will. When it's no , IT'S NO!

Where is the Lord God of Elijah, Elohim my redeemer, my friend? Coming in enrichment, enlargement and glory. Stone rolled away from the door. Walk out of the tomb. New life. Metamorphose. Butterfly. A big one. Unfurling. Cocooned. (I literally sneezed as I heard this.)

VISION: I saw a blue butterfly. HEARD: Huge. Precious fruit of the earth. I'm waiting. The tomb of isolation. No more. Resurrection. Wait. Coming. Glare. Light. Blinding. Power. One by one come unto Zion. My blue butterfly.

Covered in your tomb. Warm blanket of love. Soon emerge. A blue butterfly edged in gold. Wait.

CONCLUSION

{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER WRAPPED IN HIS BLANKET
I have fed and fed you when your ravenous appetite has yearned for My Word. Because I have brought you through many outward changes, your growth has been visible to all around you,

There comes a time when these outward changes lessen and I begin to work on the inside of you. During this time I surround you with a warm blanket of My love and I separate you unto Myself. It is like being inside a cocoon, as you cling desperately to Me, your Vine of hope. Yesterday's food grows deeper within you. The world does not witness what is taking place. I AM working many changes in this hidden place. I work upon your mind-sets, your will and your motives. I bring your soul, body and spirit into alignment with My Word, My mind, - the mind of Christ. The world sees little of this, but deep inside your being, these changes are lasting and sure, for I establish My own.

Dear one, you may feel isolated and separated as I do these inner workings within your soul. You may feel upside down. You may feel like you are the tail and not the head. The expectations of your promises are waiting to be fulfilled. Yes it is hard to wait, and wait, you have. Wrapped in the tomb of waiting, all you know is that I AM God and I AM in control. It is OK, precious, allow My anointing to have its way in your heart and life. Die to the idols of the soul and yield everything to Me. Nuzzle into My blanket of love. Soon you shall burst its seams in resurrection power. Do you know your tomb of waiting is really My womb of birthing? Break through is coming and you, My love, will be birthed.

Ps 42:11 NKJV
Why are you cast down, O my soul? And why are you disquieted within me? Hope in God; For I shall yet praise Him, the help of my countenance and my God.

Ps 49:15 NKJV
But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave, for He shall receive me.

Much Joy Is Coming
Sandy Warner

Jan 28, 2004
Precious one, I know your heart is so tired. I continue to say rest, but don't quit. Beloved, so much joy is coming your way. You think it will not be enough to fill the depth of the need. Yes it will, says the Lord your God. I AM coming with My manifest Presence. I will kiss My people with My love and with My power. I have heard their cry. I AM enough.

"I have set the LORD always before me; Because He is at my right hand I shall not be moved. Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoices; My flesh also will rest in hope. For You will not leave my soul in Sheol, nor will You allow Your Holy one to see corruption. You will show me the path of life; In Your presence is fullness of joy." (Psalm 16:8-11 NKJV)

Teach Them How To Read The Water

Sandy Warner

Jan 30, 2004
Sweetheart, My children are not able to maneuver in the river waters ahead nor carry their own gear, so I have placed them and their gear in your boat. Don’t worry about the strength to handle their weight while shooting the rapids. Because you are yoked with Me, it will be light and easy.

They are in the boat with you, because you have learned to read the water. You know where the rocky stumbling stones are subtly hidden under the white water, you know where the currents carry too swift a pace, you know where they slow into eddies. With one glance you can read the signs and know exactly where to go and how to maneuver the oars for a smooth ride. My children shall be safe in your boat, for I have taught you well. They shall learn from you merely by your example and one day they shall lead others into the land of fruitful inheritance. Teach them well, and your reward shall be great.

"Therefore you shall lay up these words of mine in your heart and in your soul, and bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. You shall teach them to your children, speaking of them when you sit in your house, when you walk by the way, when you lie down, and when you rise up. And you shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates, that your days and the days of your children may be multiplied in the land of which the LORD swore to your fathers to give them, like the days of the heavens above the earth." There's A Whole Lot Of Plowing Going On

Jun 13, 2004
There's A Whole Lot Of Plowing Going On

The Bible is indeed an amazing Book. It uses the topic of plowing to teach us many truths. Let's study and see what it has to say on this particular subject.

Every Christian is called to be a spiritual farmer - whether it be in the cultivation of his own heart or in the hearts of others. Hence, throughout the Scriptures, we find terminology pertaining to plowing, threshing, harrowing, sowing, reaping, watering, and feeding.

Each saint of God is called to be a plowman. He has a job to do, and he must stay focused in order to accomplish it.

There are plowmen who are working toward a good end, while others are attempting to reach an evil one.

In this day and hour, there is a desperate need amidst the Body of Christ for a deep and thorough plowing to occur - which will render the soil of the hearts of the people fit to receive the Seed of God's Word without resistance or hindrance.

In this message, we would like to examine six different Scriptural illustrations for the plow. May we all be strengthened and edified in our study today.

1. A Picture of Repentance and Reformation

Jeremiah 4:3 - "For thus saith the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem, Break up your fallow ground, and sow not among thorns."

What is "fallow ground"? How do we break it up in a spiritual sense?

"Fallow ground" is that which had once been tilled but has long remained uncultivated. It is land slightly plowed and full of weeds and thorns.

This is a picture of many Christian's hearts who daily and weekly are trying to receive the seed of God's Word into their hearts. It is no wonder that - after a period of time - there is no marked change in their lives.

This ought not to be!
Especially when considering that the Word of God is full of supernatural power - it is living and active. It is capable of bringing about change in anyone's life.

So what is the problem? The problem lies not in the seed but in the soil which receives the seed. Many are sowing the Word of God "among thorns" - in "fallow ground" - ground that is untilled, unplowed, or unprepared.

The Lord Jesus, in Luke 8:14, gave us a perfect illustration of this - "And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection."

Here we have a heart that is "fallow ground." It is untilled, unplowed, and unprepared. It is full of "thorns" - "cares and riches and pleasures of this life." Just as the seed that falls into "fallow ground" cannot produce any fruit, even so the Word of God, falling on a heart that is "fallow ground," becomes fruitless.

This is the reason why the Prophet Jeremiah admonished the people to "break up your fallow ground." Even though they were the people of God - possessing the oracles of God - they were unchanged and acting like heathen.

Even so is the case today with many in the church. They appear as heathen. Their hearts are unchanged and unfit soil to receive the Word. Oh! At one time, they were ploughed and tilled through repentance, tears, godly sorrow, the Fear of God, and exposure to the rain of the Holy Spirit. But over a period of time, these same people allowed their hearts to become hardened through sin, worldliness, idols, compromise, complacency, indifference, and spiritual slumber. Eventually, the "cares and riches and pleasures of this life" grew and filled their hearts.

What is so desperately needed in the Church today is the hot and heavy, heart-searching preaching that plows deeply within the hearts of the people. It severely convicts any and all of sin and worldliness. It causes hearts to melt like wax before the piercing light of the Holy Spirit and rivers of tears to flow in godly sorrow for sin. It breaks up the soil, strips it of all weeds and thorns, and renders it fit to receive the seed of God's Word - which works effectually in all who believe and brings forth fruit even an hundredfold.

Oh! Where are the preachers who would dare to plow the ground of their people's hearts until every heart is fit soil to receive the Word of God and bring forth fruit abundantly!

What is also needed - in this day and hour - is for all Christians to plead with God in fervent prayers for the torrential rains of the Spirit of God which will pound upon their hardened hearts until they become softened once again in true humility. Also, that they would plead for the cleansing blood of Jesus to wash away all corrupt affections and lusts.

We make this song our earnest plea today as we seek for a fresh plowing of our hearts -

"Lord, send the rain,
Pour out your Spirit,
Let the fire fall,
Heal us one and all,
Fall afresh on me."

2. A Picture Of Peace and Prosperity

Isaiah 2:4 - "And He shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

A people who once walked in their own ways would now serve the Lord and follow His rule. God would be their judge. He would put an end to all contentions and strife among them. Nations at war with each other would be brought to peace.

The very instruments of war would be transformed into instruments of agriculture. "Swords" would become "plowshares." "Spears" would be turned into "pruninghooks" - a long piece of wood with a crooked knife attached to it, used in cutting the limbs of trees or vines.

The Gospel would act as a spiritual, farming implement to cut at the hearts of men, softening their spirits, and disposing them to be peaceable rather than at war with each other and God.

3. A Picture Of a Severe Course Of Affliction

Hosea 10:11 - "And Ephraim is as an heifer that is taught, and loveth to tread out the corn; but I passed over upon her fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride; Judah shall plow, and Jacob shall break his clods."

At first, we have an illustration of Ephraim being as one broken in the yoke and tamed - "And Ephraim is as an heifer that is taught..."

She "loveth to tread out the corn..." Corn - in the East - was threshed by means of oxen trampling it out under their feet. They traveled in a circular fashion, drawing a cylinder containing an iron harrow which is a cultivating tool - containing spikes, teeth, and disks used in pulverizing the soil. The "heifer" loved to "tread out the corn" because she was not muzzled and could freely stop and eat.

The picture here is reversed however by the word "but..." Instead of peaceably treading out the corn, Ephraim would be made "to ride." God would pass "over her fair neck."

What does this mean? It signifies that Israel would come under severe afflictions, troubles, and punishment - "I passed over her fair neck." She would no longer be able to eat of the corn. She would be brought under a strict yoke. God would set a rider on her(Assyria) in order to master, tame, and bring her into submission.

"Judah shall plow" - Like Ephraim, she would be restrained from treading out the corn and receiving instant fulfillment. She would be made to "plow" - be placed under the yoke to labor and receive gratification only after the necessary harvest was accomplished - which was to once again come into subjection to God's rule and commands.

"Jacob shall break his clods" - "Clods" were lumps or masses of earth or clay which hindered the growth of the seed. Spiritually speaking, these were areas of their lives which produced hardness of heart and hindered any spiritual growth. They were broken up by using a harrow or plow.

4. A Picture Of A Course Of Sin

Job 4:8 - "Even as I have seen, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same." Hosea 10:13 - "Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men."

To "plow iniquity" or "wickedness" is an apt illustration for pursuing a course of sin. Every day, sinners form plans and carry out sinful purposes for a harvest. As they lead their wicked lives, they are like farmers who prepare the groundwork for their ungodly projects by sowing wickedness and reaping iniquity - expecting some type of gain in the end.

They work hard at their unholy pursuits. They labor sinfully, taking great pains to accomplish their goals which are in total opposition to what God commands. With hearts that are stubborn and hardened, they pursue after lies and the false worship of themselves - "thou didst trust in thy way" - or "mighty men."

Just as God has His ministers who prepare the soil of the people in order to receive the Word of God, even so does Satan have his ministers who purposely harden the soil of the hearts through sin, rebellion, stubbornness, error, deception, idols, and distractions. These "ministers" preach that it is acceptable before God to sin a little every day in thought, word, and deed.

5. A Picture Of The Labor Of Ministers

1 Corinthians 9:10-11 - "Or saith He it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: that he that ploweth should plow in hope; and that he that thresheth in hope should be partaker of his hope. If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?"

The farmer who plows does so in hope of a harvest. He cultivates the earth with the main prospect of enjoying the fruits or success of his hard labor.

The Apostle Paul is making the analogy here between the farmer and the minister of righteousness who sows the seed of God's Word into the hearts of His people. Just as the farmer plows the ground and then sows the seed for a harvest, even so does the preacher labor for the Lord - expecting to reap a harvest.

Using the analogy of husbandry, Paul, in this entire passage of Scripture, deals with the fact that ministers of the Gospel are to be supported by the financial blessings of God's people.

1 Corinthians 9:9-11 says - "For it is written in the law of Moses, THOU SHALT NOT MUZZLE THE MOUTH OF THE OX THAT TREADETH OUT THE CORN. Doth God take care for oxen? Or saith He it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: that he that ploweth should plow in hope; and that he that thresheth in hope should be partaker of his hope. If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?"

The ministers of the Gospel labor heartily - sowing "spiritual things" - the Word of God - unto the people of God. In turn, the Holy Ghost speaks through the Apostle Paul in saying that these preachers then should reap the "carnal things" or financial support of those to whom they minister.

According to the Scriptures, every minister who is touching the lives of God's people has a claim to their financial support. And this support should not be given grudgingly but should be considered as only fair and right as fruit for their toils.

We are not to give to a ministry out of obligation or pride. Many give to their churches not because the Pastor is preaching the unadulterated Word of God - causing them to grow spiritually and live victoriously over Sin and the world's enticements. They give because they want to make a good impression on others or because they sing in the choir, teach a Sunday School, or are on the deacon board and feel under a certain obligation to do so. None of these are Scriptural reasons for giving.

Then we have those who give to a ministry to get something in return. They are not being changed and established in the Faith by the Word coming forth. In some cases, it is plain error that is being preached. Yet, in spite of it all, they give out of a lust for an autographed book, a new Bible, or a trinket of some sort like oil from Bethlehem or Jerusalem. Again, this is anti-Scriptural reasoning for giving.

The only justifiable reason for the Body of Christ to financially support a ministry is because the Truth of God's Word is being preached and taught, and the people are being changed, transformed, established, strengthened, and edified by it. Any other reason for giving will be burnt up in the fire on Judgment Day.

Those ministers who are plowing are plowing in the hope of being rewarded for their labors. God has ordained that those to whom they minister be the ones to supply their "carnal things" which is among other things - financial support.

6. A Picture of the Continued Devotedness Required In Christianity

Luke 9:62 - "And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Every Christian is called to be a farmer who cultivates the soil of his own heart - keeping himself fit for work in the kingdom of God.

He has a very important mandate. He must solemnly and intently keep his focus on the goal that lies ahead of him - not veering to the right hand or to the left through the many distractions that lie along the sidelines.

He is called upon to love the Lord Jesus with all of his heart. At no time or under no circumstances is he ever to look back regrettably at the worldly pleasures, wealth, honors, pursuits, favor, and friendships that he relinquished in coming to Christ.

Isaiah 40:3 - The Prophet Isaiah prophesied of the ministry of John the Baptist when he said - "The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the LORD, make straight in the desert a highway for our God."

This same ministry is needed today. God is calling all of His plowmen to get busy. The day is coming when no man will be able to work.

May God Bless His Word.

The Breaker Anointing

The Breaker Anointing - A Holy Invasion where Eternity Breaks Through"

Micah 2:13 - The one who breaks open will come up before them; they will break out, pass through the gate, and go out by it; their king will pass before them, with the Lord at their head.

What does it take for heaven to invade earth? It takes a breaker anointing! One of God's names in the Bible actually is the "Breaker." A breaker anointing is a catalytic deposit of the Holy Spirit where eternity breaks through into the natural realm. It is a holy invasion where the gates of heaven are opened!

This type of anointing will break through every obstacle and hindrance to the furtherance of the Gospel. It shakes every shackle loose that holds individuals and the Church back from coming into their destiny and inheritance. Jesus promises that "the Kingdom suffers violence and the violent take it by force." The breaker anointing is the core anointing of the apostolic church for advancement.

Warfare at the Gates

Today there is tremendous warfare at the gates of our cities; there is a contesting at these gates to shut down the supernatural. Demonic forces often control the entry way of God's presence. For example, you may feel a tangible heaviness, a ceiling or oppression in a service. It takes a breaker anointing to open up the spiritual atmosphere so heaven can invade earth.

When the breaker anointing occupies an area, individuals, churches, socio-political structures, and belief systems are revolutionized. The Breaker must come if we are to see the transformation of our cities.

A Fifty Mile Radius of Glory!

Let me offer you one of my favorite examples of one who carried this anointing. Maria-Woodworth Etter was a healing evangelist in this past century. She was such a friend of Holy Spirit (as you are learning to be) that for fifty miles around her, the glory of the Lord would cover that region. A glory cloud with a fifty mile radius surrounded her with signs and wonders following!

Do you want a breaker anointing? Do you want the fullness of the Holy Spirit? The Lord wants to once again manifest Himself as The Breaker. Get ready! Cry out for this anointing!

Prayer: Lord, I am going to press into this because I am hungry for all of You. What I have is good, but it is not enough. I want my life to carry a breaker anointing. I want my life to break out to touch people who are suffering so that they can experience breakthroughs in their own lives.. I want to contend at my city gates and bring heaven to earth!

The Breaker Anointing
Bill Burns

August 3, 2004

Micah 2:12-13 "I will surely assemble all of you, O Jacob, I will surely gather the remnant of Israel; I will put them together like sheep of the fold, like a flock in the midst of their pasture; they shall make a loud noise because of so many people. The one who breaks open will come up before them; they will break out, pass through the gate, and go out by it; their king will pass before them, with the LORD at their head."

Jesus, the Lord of the breakthrough, is coming in this season to break through on behalf of His people. He is coming to give His people victory over those things that hold them in bondage, and God's people will pass through the gate of victory and go out by it. 2004 is the year of the open door (gate), and the Lord of Hosts is going to bring us out of the confinement that Satan has imposed upon God's people.

Isaiah 61: 1 "The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon Me, because the LORD has anointed Me to preach good tidings to the poor; He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound.

This is a word that the Lord spoke through me on June 13, 2004:
"I remind you that I am the Lord of the breakthrough. I say to specifically in these three months of June, July and August, you have the potential and possibility of coming to a great personal victory. I have already spoken to you that it will either be a turning point or a vanishing point. Some of you need a reference point for turning, and I say, is it not your faith? Is it not faith in Me? Am I not the author of your faith and the finisher of your faith? Am I not the Lord of Glory who always leads you in triumph? If you are to achieve that personal victory, you must turn to a position of faith. You must turn and cut off the defilement of the past and face the future. Face it in My face, for in My face you shall see My eyes that burn like fire, which produces the glory of resurrection power. I am bringing you to live in such a place, the power of resurrection life even in these days, says the Lord. You are a final and glorious generation, a holy priesthood, and My work is being done in you. All that I require is your submission to that work and your faith that the good work I have begun in you will be accomplished, says the Lord. This is a time to gird up the loins of your strength. Lift up the hands that hang down with infirmity. Strengthen your legs and knees and feet in the walk of faith that is before you. Learn to call upon the Lord in your time of need. Come with ears to hear and eyes to see, for I shall surely show you the way in this dark hour of the earth. Out of the gross darkness comes the greatest light, for I am the Light of the earth; I am the light of My Church; I am the light of the Temple. I will come and show you the way. If you will follow the path and believe in Me, then you shall see My glory. If you will believe, you will see the glory of this day, says the Lord."

I believe that most people who are seeking a breakthrough will have it in August. Many have experienced a breakthrough in their personal circumstances in June and some in July, but the majority will experience victory in August. The question is how can we position ourselves to have the victory?

The Breaker Anointing:
Isaiah 10: 27 It shall come to pass in that day that his burden will be taken away from your shoulder, and his yoke from your neck, and the yoke will be destroyed because of the anointing oil.

It is the anointing that will break us through and give us the victory. The anointing of this season is spikenard. Spikenard represents extravagant adoration and intimacy with Jesus, which will produce resurrection power. John 12:1-7 records the account of Mary anointing Jesus for His burial with the costly oil of spikenard.

The root word for spikenard means: having the power of persuading, producing belief (faith) and a faithfulness that can be relied upon. Anointing that produces the gift of faith. (1 Corinthians 12:9) The oil (spikenard) that Mary anointed Jesus with did not represent death; it represented resurrection power (victory over death, hell and the grave).

This Present Season:
The Church entered a new five-year season in which five oils would be given (one for each year). The revelation of the five oils and this present season is titled "The Eighth Year" and can be found at http://ft111.com/eighthyear.htm .

Spikenard is the anointing oil that we will use at our Where Eagles Gather Conference. We are believing, according to the word of the Lord, for a specific impartation for personal victory in August.

Purpose for Victory:
The purpose for these personal victories is to liberate God's people so that they can be used in the battle for the soul of America that will take place this fall. September, October and November will be an intense time of warfare for the election that is forthcoming. If ungodly leadership wins this next election more judgment shall surely come upon this nation.

These are perilous times that we live in, and God is preparing the warriors of the morning of the Third Day to wage war in the heavenlies against the thrones that Satan has established over this land. The battle is at hand, and the people of God are about to rise up and take the victory. The anointing of the breaker is upon us, and victory is assured.

May God give us this fresh oil so that His resurrection power may rest upon us. The battle is the Lord's, but we are His battle axes. Let God arise and His enemies be scattered!

Warriors Of The Morning
Bill Burns

July 5, 2004: Warriors of the morning, I call you forth into battle. You are a people the nations have not yet seen or observed, a people that the Church has desired and waited for, even the sons of the living God that are coming forth in the Spirit of God in these days who will change the spiritual atmosphere of the nations and bring forth the power of divine purpose. I call you out of dry and dead religion and out of self-serving. I whisper and call to you to come forth and stand fast in the liberty of the Spirit. Come forth and be inspired. Come forth with dedication and purity of heart. Come forth, for I have risen to be your Warrior King. I have a sword in My hand, and I go forth to do battle. Come, My people, and be empowered to join me in this battle of the end of the age, says the Lord. Let the warriors of the morning arise!

Marsha Burns

July 5, 2004: I have called you, My people, to rule and reign with Me. I have called you to be leaders in My kingdom and to rule by the power of My Spirit, for the rulership of the flesh breeds dictatorship. You are not to dictate but to lead by the contrition of your own hearts. Be contrite and bow before Me so that your relationship with Me is pure and holy, and then (and only then) I will raise you up to lead those around you. Otherwise you would become despotic. You are My people, My chosen people, My generation of people, and I will teach you to lead in righteousness, says the Lord.

The Blessing And The Breaking

Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/blessing.html

"And it came to pass, as He sat at meat with them, He took bread, and blessed it, and brake and gave it to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew Him" (Luke 24:30-31).

There is a simple truth demonstrated in this post-resurrection encounter with Christ. Can you see it?

I cannot think of a single Christian that does not desire the blessing of the Lord. We earnestly seek and desire God's blessings on our life. We want the Lord to bless our spiritual life, our home life, our children, our finances, our churches and our ministries. Is there anything wrong with that? Of course not. But the fact remains that we do not always get what we ask for.

What does it mean to be blessed? The common assumption, I believe, is that when God has blessed a person then they will enjoy physical health, financial prosperity, and a general sense of happiness and well-being.

I want us to see that when Jesus blesses something He breaks it. The blessing results in breaking. The prayer for "more" results in "less". The request for "increase" results in "decrease". The prayer for blessing results in brokenness.

Do you want to be a blessing to other people, or a burden? Most Christians would say they want to be blessing to others. So God blesses them and then breaks them.

What is going on here? Simply put, the blessing of the Lord is in being reduced to Christ. Who is blessed? Not the one who is rich in spirit, but the one who is poor in spirit. The poor in spirit possess the Kingdom. Those who are broken are blessed, and those who are blessed are broken.

The heart-cry of a disciple of "more of Jesus". How do we get "more" of Jesus? By getting less of us. With less of me there is more of Him. As I am decreased, He is increased. This is what it means to be blessed.

A brother in the Lord related the following experience to me. As he was watching television he says he came across a woman who was yelling, "Increase! Increase! God wants to increase you and all you have!" This brother says he staggered out of his chair laughing, and said, "Decrease! Decrease! Keep decreasing me Lord, till all there is left is YOU!" Friends, when we understand the blessing and the breaking then we will find ourselves responding the same way. What I love about this is the brother LAUGHED as he rejected the "increase" and embraced the decrease. This is what it means to take up the Cross.

We cry out for "increase" but God has already (past tense) blessed us with "every spiritual blessing in heavenly places in Christ" (Ephesians 1:3). We have the blessing already. What we are lacking is the breaking. We want the blessing without the breaking. But it is not that we need more of the Lord, because we already have all of Him; we just need less of everything else.

After Jesus blessed the bread, and broke it, and gave it to them, their eyes were opened and they knew Him. Until you have the blessing and the breaking your eyes will remain closed. Blessings alone do not open our eyes. Indeed, blessings by themselves tend to close our eyes. We do not come to know Him in the blessing, but in the breaking. Then what we already have in Him will be revealed. Our eyes will be opened and we will see that He has been standing there the whole time.

Do you want to know Him? Do you want to see Him for Who He is? Do you want to go deeper? Do you want to have your eyes opened? Embrace the blessing AND the breaking; receive them both. If you are a bruised reed or a broken cistern, take heart, because you are making progress.

He Could Not Be Hidden
Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/hid.html

"And [Jesus] entered a house and wanted no one to know it, but He could not be hidden" (Mark 7:24b).

The ultimate purpose and intention of God is to increase Christ and decrease everything else so that Christ may be ALL IN ALL. John the Baptist stated this quite succinctly when he summed up God's Eternal Purpose with those seven simple words: "He must increase, but I must decrease" (John 3:30).

We must see that everything God has done, everything God is doing, and everything God will do is for the purpose of INCREASING Jesus and DECREASING everything that is not of Him.

This principle is so powerful that it makes no difference if you agree with it, understand it, believe it, or like it. He MUST increase; therefore, He WILL increase and HE IS increasing. At the same time, I MUST decrease, therefore I WILL decrease, and I AM decreasing.

This is a spiritual law, and it is working as we speak. For the Christian who is seeking first the Kingdom of God and His Righteousness this is wonderful news. For selfish, carnal Christians it is a frightening thing, this talk of losing your life and taking up your Cross and denying yourself. That is why you hear so much about spiritual power and so little about spiritual brokenness.

"He must increase." When we look at the earthly ministry of Jesus we see that He did not seek to increase Himself. He actually humbled Himself and tried to be inconspicuous. Even so, when He tried to hide Himself, He could not be hidden. I want you to think about that. When God was ready to reveal Him then He could not be hidden. He could not even hide Himself.

I tell you, this idea of Christ increasing is the most powerful reality in this universe! Nothing can stand before it, nothing can resist it, nothing can stop it.

Here is an amazing fact: the Bible says that we carry this Treasure (Jesus) within earthen vessels. In other words, the Living Christ indwells us now. We are His House, His Temple, His Dwelling Place, His Body. I doubt if we really comprehend that. Do we really know that we are in Him, and He is in us?

And this Jesus, Who lives in us, Who is ever increasing, cannot be hidden. Think about what that means.

Friend, I don't know how you first came to the Lord. It may have been a very solemn and peaceful event. It may have been a quiet, personal thing. A lot of preachers will say, "With every head bowed and every eye closed, if you want to give your heart to Jesus, quickly slip your hand up and put it right back down. Praise God, I see your hand! Yes! Yes! Way in the back, I see your hand. Anyone else? Let's all pray this prayer out loud together." It may have happened to you like that, and if it did, I am not demeaning or minimizing that at all.

Here is my point: you might have invited Jesus in through the back door of your house while everyone had their eyes closed, and He certainly accepted your invitation to come in. But dear brother, dear sister! He cannot be hidden! He must increase! He is increasing, He is expanding, He is enlarging Himself and stretching you, pushing you, making you more and more uncomfortable. What do I mean? I mean that His Kingdom has established itself within you, and the borders of that Kingdom are ever increasing. He cannot be hidden!

The subtitle of a book I read once is called, "The Illusion of A Manageable Deity." It comes against the idea of being able to control God, to manipulate Him with a certain way of praying or singing. It challenges the notion that God is an all-powerful good luck charm that we can put in our back pocket. It is an illusion, yes, and more than an illusion - it is a deception and a fantasy. He cannot be managed, He cannot be controlled, He cannot be contained, He cannot be hidden!

I am thinking of pastors who see the truth but are afraid to speak out because it will upset their congregation and cost them a paycheck.

I am thinking of those in leadership positions who see the truth but are afraid to speak out because it will cost them their place on the worship team, the youth group, the Sunday school, or the deacon board.

I am thinking of precious brothers and sisters sitting in church who see the truth but are afraid to speak out because they might be asked to leave and they think they have nowhere else to go.

I am thinking of apostles, prophets, and evangelists who see the truth but are afraid to speak out because no one will ask them to come minister anymore and no one will send them their offerings.

How long are you going to deny the truth and be in bondage to the fear of man? How long are you going to resist the Lord and His inevitable increasing? Deny the truth long enough and you start losing your ability to tell the truth.

There is only one thing to do: stop wrestling with God like Jacob and start cooperating with God like Daniel. If it means the lion's den then so be it. If it means the fiery furnace then so be it. "Our God is able to deliver us... but even if He does not, we will never bow down to your idol. Never! Never! Never!"

Nicodemus came to see Jesus at night. He probably thought that would be the wisest, safest thing to do. What if his colleagues back in the Sanhedrin found out? No need to risk being seen with Jesus during the day! Well Jesus, I know you're from God, and I know you're speaking the truth, but can we please keep our meeting a secret?

And then there was Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus, but "secretly, for fear of the Jews". He and Nicodemus (that other secret disciple we just talked about) came to get the Lord's body after He was crucified. Later we find all the disciples assembled behind closed doors "for fear of the Jews". Midnight meetings with secret disciples behind locked doors! That is how the Church started out. It doesn't sound very promising, does it?

I want you to know that Jesus just appeared right there in the midst of them. Had He knocked on the door they would have been too afraid to open it. So He just walked right through the wall. He cannot be stopped, He cannot be killed, He cannot be hidden!

"Peace be with you! Stop being afraid. Stop doubting. Believe! Do you understand that I cannot be hidden? I have not called you to be secret disciples. I did not give you Light to see you try and hide it under a basket. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. My Father's Kingdom is expanding, and I need you to go disciple the nations and prepare them for Heaven on Earth, a world where Righteousness dwells. Now go into all the world and bring them this message: I am coming soon!"

And so, a few weeks later, when Peter and John were told not to speak anymore in this Wonderful Name, they said, "We cannot HELP but speak the things we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:20). Isn't that a miracle? What a powerful testimony. He cannot be hidden!

If God can find a man or a woman who will give Him the preeminence and will give Him the freedom to increase then there is no limit to what God can do through that yielded vessel. And if He can find a handful of people like that then He will use them to turn the world upside down. It has happened once before and I am positive that it can happen again.

The Father is seeking those who will worship Him in Spirit and in TRUTH. Has He found what He is looking for in you? Will you be the one? Will you be the chosen?

Jesus is Truth, and Truth is living, breathing, expanding, and growing. Once you open the door and Jesus enters your house it is only a matter of time before He is discovered. He could not be hidden then, and He cannot be hidden now.

The Burning Bush
Mary Clark

Moses turned aside to look at the burning bush that was not being consumed by the fire. In this day, I want you to turn aside and look – look at the One Who is holy, righteous, and true. Look and tell Me what you see. Do you see the One Who is radiant – beautiful? Do you see the One Who is lovely and true in all of His ways? If you do see Me, beloved, then you are in for a special treat. If you cannot see My beauty – if you cannot see the One Who is righteous and true in all of His ways, I would have you draw closer. Just how does one draw closer to the living God, you ask? How does one get close enough to see all of His attributes? It is simple, beloved – quite simple: One draws near by coming to Me through his day, and looking for Me. One draws near by giving testimony to My grace by looking in the pages of My Word for Me. One draws nearer by listening for My voice and responding to My call.

In this day, many are hearing the voice of the Beloved. Many are drawing closer to that voice. Many are searching My word for the truth that lies therein. Many are eager to know Me – to draw close. I want you to know, beloved, that this delights My heart. It delights My heart to have you draw near to Me during your busy day. It delights My heart to see you turn aside to read My word, and search for Me in My Word. Yes, it does delight My heart. But I want you to know that I am requiring something in this day from you that you never dreamed that I would ask. I am asking that you return something to My possession. I am asking for your whole heart. Just how do you give that to the Beloved, you ask? You simply make a decision to give it to Me as I ask for it – piece by piece. You surrender during your day. You make that choice as I call for that certain piece that you are holding at the moment in your possession. You give it to Me and then leave it in My hands. You give it to Me as I ask, turning aside from it after you have given it to Me, and remembering no longer that you ever had it. Does this sound difficult? It does? Then let Me tell you what I am going to do for those who wish to give Me their whole heart, but are having a time with some areas. I am going to do something for you, beloved, to help you turn it over to Me completely as I require it. Would you like that? Would you like that help from your Holy Master? Okay then, get ready for Me to reach into your heart, and do a little turning in My direction. This will not hurt. It will actually feel good. You have asked for help. I am complying. I am going to do something for you, beloved, that will enable you to release that heart to Me – ALL of it – once and for all. Get ready for Me to maneuver some things in your life that will enable Me free access to your whole heart, and then get ready to have Me take that whole heart and turn it aside once and for all!

I am ready to do this. Are you ready for Me to do this? Simply respond with a nod of your head and a “Yes, Lord.” The fun is about to begin, beloved. The fun is about to begin for you. I am going to turn that heart over and look at the under- side, and when I do, you will never be the same again. You will never want to be the same again. You will remain in this state of wonder for all eternity.

I am about to burn something deep within your heart with My eternal heat. Get ready for a heart burning – a heart cleansing. Get ready to walk in an attitude for which you have longed, and know, dear heart, that the final decree has been handed down: You are totally Mine – heart and soul – you are totally Mine!!!

Beginning Of The End
Mary Clark

barnabessie@earthlink.net
July 22, 2004

It's the beginning of the end, beloved.
Brace yourself for the final act.

Get ready to explore the wonders of your God in a most satisfying way.

I am rendering some things inoperative in order to bring you this final hour. I am pulling out some stops that the enemy thought permanent.
I am about to show My beloved some things about the living God that you never realized.
Get ready, dear child of God.

Get ready to step into a place of exotic wonders, because just as surely as I spoke words of wonder in days of old, I am speaking them today, and they will come to pass.

They most certainly WILL come to pass!

Let Me tell you one more instance to which you may look forward: An hour is coming when you will take that step into the realization of My will for you in a most profound way.

You will realize with a certainty what I am requiring of you, and you will welcome My direction.
It will be precise.

It will be a direction that is just as plain – just as clear-cut as the nose on your face, beloved – as the nose on your face!

So get ready to walk in a ready knowledge of My will for you, and know deep within your heart the strategy of your God as it unfolds, offering new hope – new inspiration – a new place of most pronounced wonder in your very midst.

I want My beloved to know that the beginning of the end has arrived, and with it is coming a strong appeal from the One Who is love for you to step into your destiny with a willing heart.

This appeal is being spoken to you in a most earnest tone, for it is imperative that you take that step into this new place with a surety of Who you are in Me.

Remember, beloved: I am the all-powerful One Who has had a plan for you since before time began, and I am with you now and I will be with you as all unfolds in your midst.

So get ready to enter into an exciting hour, and know deep within your heart that I have tempered this hour with My great love, and nothing can stand in the way of My all-powerful love accomplishing all that I have spoken.

I have spoken it. It is truth, and it will prevail, beloved.
My truth will prevail. You may count on it.

You may look forward to it, and you may know it as is permeates your heart, offering to you a delight that will thrill you, beloved, from head to toe.

That, dear child of the living God, is how I operate.
That is how I do things.

Look forward to all that I am bringing with a confidence in the One Whom you serve – the Almighty, All-powerful One Who loves you, delights in you, and will carry out His plans in you and through you. That is a fact, beloved.

That is My truth ringing forth in the halls of heaven, announcing that a new day is here, and to put it simply it is the beginning of the end – the beginning of the END.

Gumming Up the Works
Mary Clark

July 19, 2004

In a vision, I saw Someone using a sharp-pointed instrument. He was going along the cracks where two planks of wood joined and scraping out something white and gummy. Why did You show this to me, Lord?

I want My children to know that I am at work in their lives. I am going deep into the crevices of your heart, and removing something that you have looked on as pure and holy, but I look on it as gumming up the works. Let Me tell you about this work, and what I plan to do for YOU!

I plan to go deep into those crevices and scrape and pick out every last vestige of religion. I plan to scrape and pick until I see no more in My body. How does that sound to you, beloved? Are you willing? You say that you are not only willing, you are eager for Me to get on with the process? Okay! I will do just that! Let Me start tonight. There is something that I would like to say to you that should get the procedure going along very well for us. Here it is:

I see My dear children going along in their lives in this so-called religious mode, doing things that cause Me to wince. “What are they?” you ask. I will tell you: The first thing that I see that I would like to rid My church of is the way you attack those who don't believe as you do. Don't do this! Leave them alone. I am in charge of that heart. Don't judge it. If a person is trying to walk according to My will, leave him alone. Don't try to make him see eye to eye with you. Leave Him to Me. I am the One Who works the changes. So I am saying to leave those alone who aren't like-minded with you. Leave them alone. If there is something that needs to be corrected or added, I will do it. I can and will bring that person into a new place with Me. Hands off, beloved! Hands off!

One other thing that I would like to say is this: I look on each of My children as very special. I want you to know that you are special, and that one that you are looking at with the critical eye is special to Me too. Don't judge that one, beloved. Leave the judging of that one to Me. Just leave it to Me!

I want My dear children to realize tonight that I am a God Who takes delight in His chosen. I long to see each of My children in a place of rest in Me. I want you to be kind, tender-hearted and loving toward your fellowman. You say, “Father, that is just not always easy.” I say to you, beloved, “Give it a try. Don't judge. Don't fault Him. Accept that person for who he is, and thank Me for doing a work in that one to purify and make him holy. Thank Me for working in mankind to bring him into that place of My glory. It is not My will that any should perish or be left out of My blessings. No! It is My delight to bless all – bless one and all, beloved – one and all.

Let Me end on this final note. I look on My dear children with My delight. Even the prospect of performing a cleansing task delights My heart, beloved, because I want to see you set free of so many things. I gave My life that you might walk in an understanding of My grace toward you. I gave My life that you might know Me and receive the hope and wonder that lie in knowing Me and being My very own vessels of honor. Look on one another in this fashion. Look on others as My vessels of honor, and know deep within the wealth of wonder that lies in this fact.

I am giving much in these days to those who will follow seeking after My heart. I am giving things to My dear children that they never dreamed of experiencing. Be of good cheer! You are Mine, and I am yours. We are coming together into a holy union of love. We are coming together to the delight of My heart. Know that this thrills Me right down to My toes. It does delight Me! So get ready to walk in a newness of life that you never dreamed possible, and know, beloved, that I am moving those of My children who will follow Me into an exciting new hour. I am moving those who will follow Me into a place where they will see with accuracy the plans of the living God. I want you there. I want ALL of you there. It is not My will that ANY should miss out on this final hour of wonder. So do Me a favor. Let Me go into those deep crevices and get all out that is gumming up the works, so to speak. Relinquish that thing that is keeping you from growing strong and gaining the power and strength of your Beloved. For in so doing, you will arrive into a place of glad tidings, and I, beloved, will be the One giving forth the plenitude of My divine will, showing you that the trade-off was well worth it. Yes! You will see that trading in those gummy works paid off in full, and you are rising to a new and holy status in Me. That is My plan. That is what I plan to do. I am hoping that you will respond to Me in the affirmative. Yes, I hope you will be as willing to let Me go deep into those crevices as I am willing to go, and that is pretty deep, beloved – that is pretty deep!!!

Taste-tempting Treats
Mary Clark

July 23, 2004
The devil wants to offer My beloved some taste-tempting treats, but let Me warn you about these treats. They are deadly. They are pure poison. So pay him no mind when he walks your way with his tray laden with his poisonous treats. Do not give his tray a second look. He is up to something – something that will destroy My work in you. Pay him no mind, beloved. Pay him no mind at ALL!!!

I want My beloved to step into that golden place that I have for you. I want you to shed the old and put on the new. I want you walking clear of the upheaval that is coming to earth. I want you safe in the confines of My heart. He wants to lure you away from the path that I have selected for you. He wants to destroy you, beloved. He wants to see all of the plans that I have for you go UP in smoke.

But you, beloved, must pay him no mind. You must stay the course that I have selected for you. He wants you to grow weary in doing this. He wants you to throw your hands up and retreat into the place to which he is luring you. He wants to offer you some things that are not of Me – some things that will not only get you off track, but will destroy the work that I have done thus far.

So this is the plan that I have for you, beloved. This is a fool-proof plan that I am laying before you this day. Hear the word of the Lord God Almighty as He speaks His truth concerning the coming days, and the actions that I wish for you to take on My behalf: I am calling for My children to stay focused on My divine plan for them. I am asking that you seek Me, looking to Me during your day to steer you in the right direction. Come to Me with expectant hope in your heart. Should the enemy get your attention, it would be in your best interest to turn away IMMEDIATELY from the lure that he is dangling in front of you – IMMEDIATELY, beloved. IMMEDIATELY!!! Don't wander off in his direction. Don't give him a second glance. Turn your attention BACK on your Beloved, and advance according to My instruction.

Yes, there will be days when you will "feel" that you are getting nowhere on the path that I have selected for you. There will be days when you will "feel" that you have taken a giant step backward. But, beloved, I do not want you dwelling on these "feelings." I want you dwelling on Me. Looking in My word day by day will give you the needed strength to combat these "feelings."

Once again I say to you, beloved, do not go by your "feelings." Trust Me to deliver you to that place of My delight. We are nearing the end of a journey that will surprise and delight. So know this. Remember this, and keep your eyes focused on Me – on My word – and on My promise to secure you in a safe and wondrous place in Me. This is a promise, beloved. Hang in there with Me. Don't give up now. The dawn comes before the bright light of day, and the dawn is coming forth as I speak. Be aware of this fact. Trust Me, and see the coming together of My plans for you and others as you walk this road to deliverance – deliverance into a place of great wonder – great experience – where you will know the truth that will set you free to discover the wonder of your God in a magnificent way. Get ready for rich discovery.

Just be aware that the enemy has a tray laden with what may look like attractive "treats." They are poison, beloved. They are detrimental to your walk. They will bring only death to the work that I am performing in your heart. Don't sample his offerings. Don't give his tray a second glance. Turn IMMEDIATELY and look to Me to deliver you from that place of danger. Pay him no mind. Pay his wares no mind. Heed My instructions, beloved. I am asking that you HEED My instructions, and stay focused on Me – your Beloved – your Lifeline!

The Bride Coming Forth Part 2

Christine Beadsworth

[South Africa]

In the first part of this article, I dwelt on the symbolism in the feast of Pentecost or Shavuot and its relevance to the prophetic time in which the Church finds itself. We are now approaching the Jewish New Year, known as Rosh Hashanna on the 16th and 17th September and I would like to share some further insights the Lord has given me for this season.

Rosh Hashanna has many names and themes which give us great understanding into the times we are walking into. It is known as the Feast of Trumpets, the Coronation of the King, the Day of Remembrance and the Wedding ceremony. If Pentecost/Shavuot is a picture of the betrothal, then Rosh Hashanna is the marriage. From the understanding I had when I wrote the previous article, I spoke of the crowning of the head in the birth process of the sons of God as taking place during the Pentecost season. However I now see that this actually takes place during Rosh Hashanna when the crowning of the King or Head is believed to take place. So the time period between Shavuot and Rosh Hashanna is equated to the trip down the birth canal. Shavuot heralds the departure from the womb of preparation but there is still the birth canal to be negotiated before the coming forth is complete. This process is set in motion by God. It is His command that causes the waters to break and the contractions to begin. The baby then enters into a journey that is narrow, pressurized, uncomfortable and exhausting. It is completely at the mercy of the One bringing it forth and has no control over the length or strength of the contractions. It is upside-down and spiraling through a dark narrow passage to its destiny. Until the crowning of the head, it has no indication that the breakthrough it has anticipated will happen. Then light breaks through and once the head is crowned, the shoulder follows and the rest of the body exits easily from the birth canal.

Does this describe what you have been going through in the months between Pentecost and today? Have you been facing trials, pressure, disorientation and exhaustion, coupled with confusion because you rightly discerned the announcement of a new season in the spirit and a breakthrough on its way and yet there just seemed to be opposition all around you, darkness and resistance to you moving forward into your destiny? Well, rejoice, because you are right on track with the process of being brought forth into your destiny. Keep pressing through because Rosh Hashanna is on its way! The baby presses forward in faith without sight and so we too, in these months since April, have been persevering and moving forward inch by inch because we know in the depths of our Spirit that we have heard the Word that God has spoken over our lives and we, like Paul, press forward to take hold of that for which Christ Jesus took hold of us! The crowning of the head is about to take place and we will begin to possess the promised land of our inheritance in God. God’s timetable is moving forward and the manifestation of the sons of God is about to take place for He has promised in His Word:

(Isaiah 66:9 KJV) Shall I bring to the birth, and not cause to bring forth? saith the LORD: shall I cause to bring forth, and shut the womb? saith thy God.

The first part of the body to appear after the head is the shoulder. This represents government and authority. As God reveals His sons, their areas of authority in the spirit will be evident and so they will be recognized for who they are in Christ and no longer recognized after the flesh.

The time between Shavuot and Rosh Hashanna is also a season of preparation for the wedding ceremony. Once the betrothal has taken place, the bride is focused on only one thing and that is getting ready for the wedding. Anyone who has prepared for a wedding knows that this is a pressurized time of separation, consecration and making ready. The Bride is ‘set-apart’ for this purpose. She can think of little else. There have been calls by many respected leaders in the Body of Christ in these days to set ourselves apart in a time of repentance and consecration and as one has put it, ‘ preparation for increase’.

The Jews undergo a thirty day period of repentance before Rosh Hashanna. The shofar is blown every morning and they examine themselves to see how closely their lives line up with God's Word. This is important because one of the other names for Rosh Hashanna is 'the Day of Judgment'. This is the day when the books are opened and men's lives are examined. Daniel describes seeing one such Rosh Hashanna:

(Daniel 7:9) I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire. A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgment was set, and the books were opened.'

One of the books opened is the Book of Remembrance mentioned in Malachi 3. This is why we have been in a period of deeper consecration and preparation – because God is wanting to take us into a period of increase, a double portion of favour making the way open for us. However, this can only be for those who have set their hearts apart for Him alone; those who have said, "here am I, Lord, send me". This explains why Rosh Hashanna is also called 'the Day of Remembrance'. It is a two-way remembrance; we remember God and He remembers us. Just as God remembered Noah and brought him out of the ark and God remembered Hannah and she bore a child, in the same way God is not deaf to our cries. He has heard our prayers and the set time to favor and have compassion on Zion has come! The long period of being formed into a vessel fit for the Master's use is almost past and the time to arise and shine is upon us.

The Lord took me to Song of Solomon chapter 8 to teach me further on this wedding ceremony that is going to take place.

(Song of Solomon 8:4) ' I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, that ye stir not up, nor awake my love, until he please.
(Song of Solomon 8:5) Who is this that cometh up from the wilderness, leaning upon her beloved? I raised thee up under the apple tree: there thy mother brought thee forth: there she brought thee forth that bare thee.
(Song of Solomon 8:6) Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame.'

Here we hear a warning not to stir up or awaken this bridal love until the Bridegroom pleases. We cannot force our way through to what we are wanting to experience. The awakening is according to the desire of God. The Hebrew word for 'please' in verse 4 actually means 'to desire, to favour'. So the awakening is brought about by His favour. One of the themes of Rosh Hashanna is 'to awaken' and it is sometimes referred to as the Day of the Awakening Blast! There is a night of trial and testing and there is a rising of the dawn which occurs according to God's clock. We can do nothing to bring the morning before its appointed time nor bring ourselves into our destiny before His appointed time. Like Jacob, we have been wrestling with God all night, getting our characters and names changed and now, praise God, we, like Israel, are about to walk forth with the light of His favor upon us!

(Genesis 32:30) And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.
And as he passed over Peniel the sun rose upon him'

Remember in Zechariah 4 we saw how the headstone is to be brought forth with cries of, 'favour, favour'. This is the awakening described in Song of Solomon 8:4. There is an awakening to the beauty of sexual love that comes to a bride at the appointed time of her wedding. The fruit of intimacy will then be seen in the earth.

In Song of Solomon 8:5 we hear the Bridegroom's words of wonder at the beauty of His Bride. He is gazing upon her with His eyes of fire as He exclaims," who is this coming up from the wilderness, leaning on her beloved?" Her beauty and purity takes His breath away and He speaks of her awakening. He says, "I awakened you, I raised you up". The word 'raised thee up' is the same Hebrew word translated 'stir up' and 'awaken' in verse 4. So He is speaking of awakening her mature bridal love and he tells us this took place under 'the apple tree'. The Hebrew word used here means 'to breathe upon'. So as He breathes upon us, we are awakened to a new dispensation of intimacy. This same word is used in Ezekiel 37:9 when the prophet calls upon the Lord to breathe upon the dry bones that they may live. When this happens, then they stand up on their feet, ‘an exceeding great army’. This word for army is also translated ‘virtuous woman’ elsewhere in the Word where we are told that a virtuous woman is a crown for her husband! From this we can understand that the description in Ezekiel 37 pictures the Bride of Christ, the crown of her Husband, arising as an exceeding great army in the earth! The same thing is described in psalm 110:

(Psalms 110:3) Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holiness from the womb of the morning shall spring forth your young men who are as the dew’ (AMP)

Seeing that he crowning of the King and the marriage take place at Rosh Hashanna, it follows that this is the season into which the Church is about to enter. Songs 8:5 also tells us that it was during this experience of being breathed upon (the apple tree) that the bride was brought forth by her mother. We know from Zechariah 4:7 that Zerubbabel was the one who brought forth the headstone and that the root meaning of his name is ‘to flow, to overflow’ referring to a double portion anointing. Songs 8:5 confirms this understanding because being ‘brought forth’ is spoken of twice. There is a double anointing and a double bringing forth. The Hebrew word for ‘bring forth’ is chabal, which is translated: to wind tightly (as a rope), that is, to bind; specifically by a pledge;also to writhe in pain (especially of labour): - X at all, band, bring forth, lay to (take a) pledge,travail.

There seems to be a description of vows being taken ,hidden in the folds of this verse. We are being ‘wound tightly’ to our Bridegroom by our pledge. There is a double pledging and double favour in this season when the King of Kings is being crowned by His Bride.

Songs 8:6 gives us further insight into this wedding as the Bridegroom instructs His Bride to set Him as a seal upon both her heart and her arm. So there is a double awakening, double pledging, double sealing in this time. The seal refers to being marked with His Name on both our hearts and our arms because He says, ‘set Me’ as a seal. This word ‘seal’ comes from the word for ‘signet ring’ which is something which bears the crest and carries the authority of the owner. The Lord is wanting to imprint the mark of His authority upon both our hearts and all that is sown and planted from our lives. When something is declared and sealed with a seal, then its purpose cannot be changed. It shall be brought to pass. God is not only wanting us to set Him as a seal on our hearts and arms but he wants to make this Bride that walks with a double portion of favour and anointing to be His signet ring in the earth! Then we shall declare a thing and it shall be accomplished:
(Haggai 2:23) ‘ In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel, my servant, the son of Shealtiel, saith the LORD, and will make thee as a signet: for I have chosen thee, saith the LORD of hosts.’

This verse in Haggai tells us that Zerubbabel came from Shealtiel, which means ‘asked of God’. Just like Hannah asked God for a son and God rememberedherso too those who have been hungering for this double portion anointing shall be released to operate in God’s authority in the earth.

God has a passionate jealous love for His Bride. He will not share her with another and he who touches her touches the apple of His eye. She is his peculiar treasure, His holy nation and He defends her and destroys all that would contaminate or defile her.
(Deuteronomy 4:24) For the LORD thy God is a consuming fire, even a jealous God.
It is the heat of this fiery love that makes us pliable enough to have the seal of His Name imprinted upon us.

Just as the high priest had to go through a time of consecration after which he received his priestly garments, so too we as His priestly Bride in the earth go through the same process. The Lord showed me there is a link between the sealing on our heart and arm and the high priest’s breastplate and shoulder stones. The high priest had the names of the tribes on Israel engraved on his breastplate, over his heart, and on his shoulder. These are the names which made up the bride that God betrothed to himself at Shavuot. Jesus is our great High Priest. Now it is time for the Bride to receive the seal of His Name on her heart and shoulder. This is an exchanging of vows, a taking of one anothers’ names. This is a wedding! There is a double pledging and a double sealing, an eternal wedding covenant set in place. This is why we are being asked to say, “here am I, Lord, send me” It speaks of a total surrender, a yielding to the will of the Bridegroom.

The description of the making of the breastplate and shoulder stones yields some interesting nuggets of understanding:
(Exodus 28:11) With the work of an engraver in stone, like the engravings of a signet, shalt thou engrave the two stones with the names of the children of Israel: thou shalt make them to be set in ouches of gold. And thou shalt put the two stones upon the shoulders of the ephod for stones of memorial unto the children of Israel: and Aaron shall bear their names before the LORD upon his two shoulders for a memorial.'
Notice the mention of the signet! The Hebrew word translated 'ouches' also means 'the setting of a gem'. So we see here that consecration and setting in place are linked. The Lord is wanting to position His jewels in their places:
(Exodus 28:20) And the fourth row a beryl, and an onyx, and a jasper: they shall be set in gold in their inclosings.

The stones of the breastplate were set permanently in their 'enclosings'; this word coming from a root word meaning ' consecration'. As we consecrate ourselves and bind ourselves by a pledge to the Lord, He sets us in place in His Bride as he sees fit. This is the position of our priestly office from which we will function in the power and authority of the King of Kings.
(Exodus 28:21) ' And the stones shall be with the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a signet; every one with his name shall they be according to the twelve tribes.'

The word for 'names' in the above verse is significant as it conveys much more than the English word 'name' does:
A primitive word (perhaps rather from H7760 through the idea of definite and conspicuous position; compare H8064); an appellation, as a mark or memorial of individuality; by implication honor, authority, character: - + base, [in-] fame [-ous], name (-d), renown, report.
The whole breastplate in itself is a picture of the Bride of Christ worn over the heart of the great High Priest as a seal:
(Exodus 28:29) 'And Aaron shall bear the names of the children of Israel in the breastplate of judgment upon his heart, when he goeth in unto the holy place, for a memorial before the LORD continually.'

It is called the breastplate of judgment and this word 'judgment' carries within it the idea of 'governing, to condemn or defend, to vindicate or punish'. This is how his Bride will rule in the earth, as described in Malachi :
(Malachi 3:17) And they shall be mine, saith the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him. Then shall ye return, and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not.'

The verdict comes from the heart and is announced with authority from the shoulder which is why the breastplate and shoulder stones are linked by gold chains. God is wanting a Bride who will rule in righteousness and so he puts us through much purifying and purging to prepare us.

Lets go back to Song of Solomon and find out what happens after the vows!
(Song of Solomon 8:8) 'We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we do for our sister in the day when she shall be spoken for?
(Song of Solomon 8:9) If she be a wall, we will build upon her a palace of silver: and if she be a door, we will inclose her with boards of cedar.
(Song of Solomon 8:10) I am a wall, and my breasts like towers: then was I in his eyes as one that found favour.'

It seems there are those who do not think their little sister has what it takes to satisfy the Bridegroom – she has no breasts! However she knows who she is in Christ and declares boldly, "I am a wall and my breasts like towers". She has structure and the ability to nourish many and so she finds favour in His eyes. This word 'favour' means ' to be safe, to make amends, to repay, perfect, prosper, recompense, make restitution, restore'! We are entering the time when we will receive double what we have forfeited and everlasting joy shall be ours. He will perfect that which concerns us. It doesn't matter what our older brothers in the church think of us, we know what our new name is, we are 'Mrs Lord of Hosts' and we walk in His authority! The word describing her breasts as 'towers' is interesting because it can be translated ' a rostrum, a pulpit'. There is a platform to speak from with power because we have the ability to nourish many and we go forth with a double portion of favour!

In Revelations John sees the Bride descending out of heaven covered in the glory of God with a light like a jasper stone. Jasper makes fire when struck with steel and is used to make seals! The wall of this great city is built of jasper and the bride in Songs 8 says," I am a wall" – this wall that is made of the same material as seals has 12 foundation stones and twelve gates and 12 angels at the gates. This Bride walks in apostolic authority. The wall is 144 cubits high (12x12) and in Revelation 14 we are told of 144000 standing with the Lamb, who have His Father's name written on their foreheads. There was one more place the high priestly garment carried a seal – on the front of the head turban over his forehead was a seal which read ' holiness to the Lord'. This same seal was given to the first fruits to God and the Lamb in Revelation 7 which marks them as functioning in a high priestly office and sets them apart for His service because they have no inheritance, the Lord is their inheritance. The bride in Song of Solomon says," my beloved is mine and I am His" and we say the same – He is our inheritance and we are His!

(Revelation 3:10) Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth. Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown. Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name.

Here we see the three names or seals. They are upon the heart, the arm or shoulder and the forehead. As we come up to Rosh Hashanna, we need to complete our consecration and preparation, knowing that God is wanting to release us into a whole new sphere of influence carrying His authority as never before. He wants to extend the scepter of His rule from Zion but first He will extend His scepter to us, just like Esther who received a double portion of favour from the King and was crowned his queen.

The season of purification and preparation will have been worth it for God has been removing all idolatry and uncleanness from our lives :
(Hosea 2:15) ' And I will give her, her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope: and she shall sing there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt. And it shall be at that day, saith the LORD, that thou shalt call me Ishi; and shalt call me no more Baali. For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their name.'

The word 'Ishi' means 'husband' whereas the word 'Baali' means 'master'. That day in which the Lord will do these things is this day, the Third Day.
(Hosea 2:19) And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in lovingkindness, and in mercies. I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulness: and thou shalt know the LORD.'

This passage speaks of a returning to the Lord and entering into a covenant forever, now that all unfaithfulness and idolatry have been dealt with. The word 'know' can be translated ' to ascertain by seeing, to understand' and is the same word used when Adam 'knew' Eve and she conceived. It speaks of intimacy and the result of intimacy is fruitfulness as it goes on to say in Hosea 2:21
' And it shall come to pass in that day, I will hear, saith the LORD, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth;
And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil; and they shall hear Jezreel.
And I will sow her unto me in the earth; and I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God.'

The corn, the wine and the oil symbolize harvest increase and blessing and the word 'hear' in the above verses means 'to sing, to respond, to shout, to announce'. So what God is saying here is that in the coming season, the intimate marriage relationship which He will bring His beloved into, will precipitate a time of fruitfulness brought about by God responding to His spoken Word through us.

Jezreel' means 'God will sow' and comes from the same word as that for 'arm' used in Songs 8 where God sets Himself as a seal upon our arm. This means that he will work through us. God in us will sow by singing, shouting and declaring and because His Word never returns void, there will be a corresponding response from the heavens and the earth and the harvest will be brought forth. I see this bondslave Bride in the earth declaring the Word in power as God's scepter is extended from Zion. She is His wife, co-ruling with His authority, a plumbline of righteousness and justice for the world to see.

There are two interesting scriptures in Jeremiah which refer to the Lord's name, chapter 23 says 'he shall be called' and chapter 33 says 'she shall be called'. So we can see that a marriage is taking place and the Bride is taking on the Bridegroom's name:
(Jeremiah 23:5) ' Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. (Jeremiah 33:15) In those days, and at that time, will I cause the Branch of righteousness to grow up unto David; and he shall execute judgment and righteousness in the land.'

(Jeremiah 33:16) ' In those days shall Judah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely: and this is the name wherewith she shall be called, The LORD our righteousness.'

Let us approach these last few days before Rosh Hashanna with reverence and complete our consecration, waiting for Him to breathe upon us and raise up up. Let us be aware that The Lord is requiring of us a pledge and yielding of both our hearts and our arms (or ministries) so that He may in return set the seal of His kingly name upon them. Then let us rule with Him from the heavens in our priestly garments and bring forth His judgments in the earth that His glory may cover the earth as the waters cover the sea!

The Beast

Don Walker

"When my heart was embittered and I was pierced within, then I was senseless and ignorant; I was like a beast before You. Nevertheless, I am continually with You; You have taken hold of my right hand. With Your counsel You will guide me, and afterward receive me to glory.
Psalm 73:21-25

Throughout the Bible we encounter dramatic imagery which is designed to illustrate for us spiritual realities. One of these significant word-pictures is "the beast." The root of the fallen nature in mankind is identified as the nature of a "beast." The beast-image of sinful human behavior abounds in the Scriptures.

Beginning in Genesis we find Satan coming to Adam and Eve as a beast. "Now the serpent was more crafty than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made" (Gen. 3:1). Through their disobedience to the Lord they exchanged the image of God, in which they were created, for the image of the sinful nature of the beast. This is illustrated by their being clothed by God in animal skins (Gen. 3:21). (This having the dual symbolism of falleness and redemption.) Man having yielded to the tempter became like him, having a beastly nature. This is why Jesus in addressing those who opposed Him said, "You are of your father the devil, and you want to do the desires of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth because there is no truth in him. Whenever he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own nature, for he is a liar and the father of lies (John 8:44).

A beast is a predator. It is only concerned about itself. It hunts prey in order to feed itself through the death of another. Man in his fallen state is predatory, he is only concerned with himself, and like the Devil, goes about "seeking whom he may devour" (I Peter 5:8). Some are more direct in their predatory quest than others. Some are more subtle, cunning and deceiving in their approach. Some have even deceived themselves into denying their predatory nature. Jesus said that some dress up in religious garments but are inwardly predators (Matt. 7:15). The reality is that apart from regeneration and the sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit, we are all predators.

Man tries to "cage" the beast that he recognizes lies within the human heart. Religion and social mores are designed to keep the beastly nature from rising up and revealing itself at inopportune times. Religion cannot "tame" the beast, only confine it with rules, all the time the beast rattles the bars of the cage seeking to be released. (See Col. 2:20-23) Jesus tested the religionists of His day, provoking them, so that their beastly nature would reveal itself. God wants to bring the beast in us to the surface to order to show us our need to rely upon Him for the transformation of our character. Ecclesiastes 3:18 states: "I said to myself concerning the sons of men, 'God has surely tested them in order for them to see that they are but beasts.'"

Man apart from God seeks his own way and in his pride ignores God. In Psalm 49:12 we are told that "Man in his pomp, yet without understanding, is like the beasts that perish." Man, ignoring the fact that he was created in God's image (Gen. 1:26), chooses to indulge and nurture his sinful beastly nature. God's intention was for man to have dominion over the beasts (Gen. 1:26-28), but man in his disobedience allowed himself to be taken captive by them. He worshipped the beasts and became like those that he worshipped. Paul described this process in the first chapter of Romans.

"For even though they knew God, they did not honor Him as God or give thanks, but they became futile in their speculations and their foolish hearts were darkened. Professing to be wise, they became fools, and exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God for an image in the form of corruptible man and of birds and four-footed animals and crawling creatures. Therefore God gave them over to the lusts of their hearts to impurity, so that their bodies would be dishonored among them. For they exchanged the truth of God for a lie, and worshipped the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever, Amen. For this reason God gave them over to degrading passions . . . And just as they did not see fit to acknowledge God any longer, God gave them over to a depraved mind, to do those things which are not proper, being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, greed, evil; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, malice; they are gossips, slanderers, haters of God, insolent, arrogant, boastful, inventors of evil, disobedient to parents, without understanding, untrustworthy, unloving, unmerciful . . . . " (Rom. 1:21-31).

King Nebuchadnezzar is used in the Scriptures to illustrate the true beast-like condition of man resulting from his humanistic arrogance. (See Dan. 4:29-37) Jude in his epistle writes: "But these men revile the things which they do not understand; and the things which they know by instinct, like unreasoning animals, by these things they are destroyed" (Jude 10). Beastly behavior has become the "norm" in the world today. Like the boys in the novel, The Lord of the Flies, savage behavior is the ultimate result of moral darkness.

Salvation is not merely about the forgiveness of sin. It is not simply about pardoning the beast. It is ultimately about the transformation of the beast. We must face the reality that as believers some of the old beastly habits die hard. We are in the process of being restored to God's image, our beastly appetites still have a way of revealing themselves. Our hope rests in the words of Scripture: "He who began a good work in you will perfect it until the day of Christ Jesus" (Phil. 1:6-7). Paul understood his ministry to be aiding the work of the Holy Spirit as a spiritual father to those given to him, "My children, with whom I am again in labor until Christ is formed in you . . ." (Gal. 4:9). It is in only taking up our daily cross and keeping our eyes on Jesus, allowing Him to put to death the beast, so that the life of beast is exchanged for the life of Christ.

The Community of the Beast
Don Walker

In the previous edition of Arrows of Truth, we examined the biblical imagery relating man's fallen nature to the "beast." We find this beast imagery, explicitly or implicitly, throughout Scripture. In this edition, let us look briefly at the corporate expression of the beast.

The story of the tower of Babel is an early example of the corporate beast. Mankind in its rejection of God, united in a determination to "make for ourselves a name" (Gen. 11:1-9). The proud arrogance of man is expressed in that statement. Because of this God intervened, confusing their languages and causing them to abandon the tower, scattering them throughout the earth. The capability of this "community of the beast" is such that God says, "nothing which they purpose to do will be impossible for them" (Gen. 11:6). The nature of the beast is horrible in an individual, but when men unite in a beastly union, the collective predator that emerges is terrifying. History is full of examples of this.

In the seventh chapter of the book of Daniel, Daniel is shown the future from his day to the time of Christ. God shows him four literal empires that would rule the world. These "four great beasts would rise up out of the sea" (Dan. 7:3). The "sea" is understood by most commentators to refer to humanity, i.e., "the sea of humanity." Therefore, out of humanity would come forth these corporate beasts. The nature of each of these empires was predatory. The fourth and most brutal was the Roman Empire, under which Jesus was born, lived, and was crucified. The Roman predator persecuted and brutally martyred many Christians. It is described in Daniel 7:19-22 and in very similar way in the book of the Revelation. "And I saw a beast coming up out of the sea, having ten horns and seven heads, and on his horns were ten diadems, and on his heads were blasphemous names" (Rev.13:1). Revelation supplies us with greater information and tells us that Satan gave his authority to this beast (Rev. 13:4).

The beast has the number of a man, 666 (Rev. 13:18). (In terms of the use of numbers in the Scripture, three is used frequently as the number of God or the "signature" (witness) of God, whereas six is used as the number of Man, three sixes speak of man elevating himself to divinity.) In Revelation, most commentators agree that the imagery of the beast shifts between what is called "generic" and "specific." Generically, the beast represents a kingdom. In some passages the beast has seven heads, which we are told represent seven kings (Rev. 17:10). In other passages the term is used specifically to refer to an individual, one of the heads. For example, John instructs his readers to "calculate the number of the beast, for the number is that of a man" (Rev. 13:18). Most often when people speak of the beast they are making specific reference to an individual.

The Roman Empire, though centered in the Caesar (who claimed divinity), was a predator comprised of a plurality of human beings who have given themselves over to their beastly nature, becoming a collective pawn of their father, Satan. It was given to Satan to "breathe" into this beast, infusing it with his own nature – a demonic reversal of Pentecost. John further declares that, "I saw coming out of the mouth of the beast and out of the false prophet, three unclean spirits like frogs; for they are spirits of demons . . . " (Rev. 16:13). The beastly nature of an individual man opens the door for a demon to make a "home" in him (Matt. 12:43-45). Demons also infest a collective beast, creating a beastly community, Nazi Germany being an example. A community of the beast is the collective expression of Satan's nature; this "body" is infested with demonic spirits and released to kill, steal, and destroy.

The motivation behind Satan's rebellion has always been an envy of God's sovereignty. The "image" of the beast is mentioned ten times in the book of the Revelation. God's purpose is to conform us as His children, into the image of His Son (Rom.8:29). Satan, as a counterfeiter, seeks to have his image formed in man.

John also speaks of believers who refuse to worship the image of the beast and are martyred. "And I saw something like a sea of glass mixed with fire, and those who had been victorious over the beast and his image and the number of his name, standing on a sea of glass, holding harps of God" (Rev. 15:2). Here we have a different "sea of humanity," people who refused to identify themselves with the beast. They are holding harps indicating that God has appointed them as worshippers.

Revelation shows us that the "community of the beast" is overcome by the "community of the Lamb" (Rev. 17:14). Beastly empires rise and fall, yet the Kingdom of God continues to go forth. "The sovereignty, the dominion and the greatness of all the kingdoms under the whole heaven will be given to the people of the saints of the Highest One; His kingdom will be an everlasting kingdom, and all the dominions will serve and obey Him" (Dan. 7:27). This is the truth on which we stand.

The Beloved

Luz Cintrón

January 26 2004

Where are your eyes flames of fire burning love desires?

I will rise and seek Y'shua
He will see me from afar
I will seek the One who finds me through the city where I stand.

Have you seen the One I'm searching?
Pity me and tell me now.
I have sought to find Him early but He waits still to be found.

What is He that we should notice from among all those that pass this our city in their journeying what He's got to stand apart?

What it is that brings you wandering torn the veil that in your flesh once stood up between your longings and this surrender that you make?

Cast you hair unto the wind lift you face and let us see if this Loved One that you seek now is as lovely as you think.

Lift your face and let us see Him by the love with which He loved if it is as you have stated
if He is fairer to behold.

I am dark but became lovely when His eyes were set on me eyes that are like flames of fire glance of love that set me free.

Free but hungry
free but thirsty
once I knew His love in Love now I stand only to seek Him calling, searching, pleading, waiting, longing, standing hope in all.

Oh I know He is so near
I can smell His hair not far
I can feel His garment brushing almost touching me like that.

I can almost feel Him smiling
I can almost touch His face
I can almost feel the cradle of His arms of tender grace.

I just know He stand so near but my eyes are blind to see and my heart is agonizing in the midst of pain and fear.

Lift right now your face and tell us what it is that makes you search one that is such painful sorrow when He hides from your embrace.

My Beloved is so mine that my arms have left with him and my eyes are left without light only tears are left in me.

He is the rising sun that makes the earth wake to light and sound through the darkness He is still reigning death can not hinder Him now.

I am dying but I'm living in the hope of Who He is and His everlasting promise still upholds me unto Him.

I have spread my arms before me when my heart left after Him no pretenses, no heroics weak and trusting now I seek.

Set your eyes away from us now we have seen Him glance within in your yearning shines like fire that constrains our hearts to Him to behold in awe His beauty or to dwell under such love

He is a strong tower and refuge shelter to the weary soul.

You were dark but now you are lovely since He set His eyes on you thus revealing all things hidden thus proclaiming all things new.

He is a living flame of fire setting ablaze your love's desires.

Your servant in His love;

The Best Is Yet To Come

Marc Lawson

The other day an old Tony Bennett song kept coming to my mind as I was contemplating the contents of this book. The song was, "The Best Is Yet to Come". I then heard it several times over the next few days on the radio in my car and watching television. That was when I realized I was having a prophetic experience and the Lord was speaking and attempting to reveal things to me through this song. I searched and found the lyrics on the internet. Look and see for yourself:

The Best Is Yet To Come
Words by Carolyn Leigh - Music by Cy Coleman

Out of the tree of life I just picked a plum.
You came along and everything started to hum.
Still it's a real good bet the best is yet to come.

The best is yet to come and, babe, won't it be fine?
You think you've seen the sun but you ain't seen it shine.

Wait till the warm-up's underway,
Wait till our lips have met,
Wait till you see that sunshine day,
You ain't seen nothin' yet!

The best is yet to come and, babe, won't it be fine?
The best is yet to come, come the day you're mine.

Come the day you're mine, I'm gonna teach you to fly.
We're gonna taste of the wine;
We're gonna drain the cup dry.

Wait till your charms are right for these arms to surround.

You think you've flown before but you ain't left the ground.
Wait till you're locked in my embrace
Wait till I draw you near
Wait till you see the sunshine place
Ain't nothing like it here!

The best is yet to come and, babe , won't it be fine
The best is come, come the day you're mine.

While today the church isn't where it should be and is still inundated with Churchianity, what God is about to do could be appropriately entitled, "The Best is Yet to Come"! This is foretold in Isaiah 60:1-7: "Arise, shine; for your light has come and the glory of the LORD has risen upon you. " For behold, darkness will cover the earth, And deep darkness the peoples; But the LORD will rise upon you, And His glory will appear upon you. "And nations will come to your light, And kings to the brightness of your rising. "Lift up your eyes round about, and see; They all gather together, they come to you. Your sons will come from afar, And your daughters will be carried in the arms. "Then you will see and be radiant, And your heart will thrill and rejoice; Because the abundance of the sea will be turned to you, The wealth of the nations will come to you. "A multitude of camels will cover you, The young camels of Midian and Ephah; All those from Sheba will come; They will bring gold and frankincense, And will bear good news of the praises of the LORD. "All the flocks of Kedar will be gathered together to you, The rams of Nebaioth will minister to you; They will go up with acceptance on My altar, And I shall glorify My glorious house."

God is about to turn the church upside down, inside out and any which way He can! Why? By this shaking off of the old and the realigning back to Him, the church is going to gleam with the light and glory of the Lord! God will remove those things man in his own reasoning and ways has brought into the church that has removed the LIFE! Look at what the Lord was speaking through this song:

"Out of the tree of life."

For too many years recently, God has gotten a bad rap as represented by His church. Many in our society look to the church to find God and they see no life. In fact, they see death. As the world looks around, most of what they see in the church is more religion, rules and death. This is because the church is primarily no longer ministering life, but the knowledge of good. "And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, "From any tree of the garden you may eat freely; but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat from it you shall surely die." (Genesis 2:16-17)

Good is the greatest enemy of the best. The church has fallen for this trap of telling people how to be good instead of how to come to LIFE! The knowledge of good is just as bad for us as a knowledge of evil, because both keep us from coming to Him. "When Christ, who is our life, is revealed, then you also will be revealed with Him in glory." (Colossians 3:4)

"You think you've seen the sun but you ain't seen it shine. You ain't seen nothin' yet!"

We haven't yet seen the glory of the Lord revealed through His church! Healings, miracles and signs and wonders working through love are all about to spring forth from the corporate body. But it will only happen as we begin to grasp the revelation that only He is our life and that religion, activity and dead works only impedes the release of this glorious life from within us. Jesus said that this Kingdom was within. "Jesus replied, "The kingdom of God does not come with your careful observation, nor will people say, 'Here it is,' or 'There it is,' because the kingdom of God is within you." (Luke 17:20-21)

"Now to Him who is able to do exceeding abundantly beyond all that we ask or think, according to the power that works within us." (Ephesians 3:20)

"I'm gonna teach you to fly."

"Yet those who wait for the LORD Will gain new strength; They will mount up with wings like eagles, They will run and not get tired, They will walk and not become weary." (Isaiah 40:31)

God wants His church to begin to do the things only a supernatural people who know their God can do! We are to do exploits!

"Beloved, now we are children of God, and it has not appeared as yet what we shall be. We know that, when He appears, we shall be like Him, because we shall see Him just as He is..By this, love is perfected with us, that we may have confidence in the day of judgment; because as He is, so also are we in this world." (1 John 3:2,4:17)

The Bible declares a day when God's people will begin to see Jesus for who He really is and when that happens, they will begin to move into that supernatural realm of living that accompanies the revelation that we are "sons of God". The Bible even says all creation is longing to see that day! "For the anxious longing of the creation waits eagerly for the revealing of the sons of God." (Romans 8:19)

That Greek word for revealing is the same root word that revelation comes from. It means: to unveil, uncover or to reveal something that is hidden. "For nothing is hidden, except to be revealed; nor has anything been secret, but that it should come to light. "If any man has ears to hear, let him hear." (Matthew 4:22-23) That same word is also found in Colossians 3:4. That passage makes a correlation between a believer who receives a revelation of Christ and who He is fully is actually working in him and the unveiling of the glory of God coming forth in that believer! "When Christ, who is our life, is revealed, then you also will be revealed with Him in glory" (Colossians 3:4) We see that WHEN Christ is fully revealed, THEN the glory of God comes out or forth in that person.

"Jesus even said those who believe could and would do greater works than the ones he did. "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go to the Father." And whatever you ask in My name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son." (John 14:12)

For example, Jesus raised 4 people from the dead in his 3½ years on the earth. But there have already been several men and women of God on earth who have far surpassed that. Smith Wigglesworth, who lived during the early 20th century, raised at least 11 people from death. David Hogan, working in remote areas of Mexico, has seen over 220 raised from the dead through the prayers of faith offered by him and his team.

So many American preachers and theologians who were taught cessationism attempt to twist the meaning of these and other scriptures to mean they'll only be fulfilled when the believer gets to heaven. But Jesus didn't say that and He had much to say about what awaits the believer in heaven. No, their unbelief is masked by their attempt to change the meaning of the passage, but the bottom line is: Jesus said we would cast out demons, heal the sick, raise the dead and preach to the poor, PERIOD. There are so many passages that make this clear that to argue any other way only exposes that person's dogged unbelief.

"We're gonna taste of the wine;
We're gonna drain the cup dry."

The new wine that Jesus spoke of is coming and that new wine is going to be drunk in full measure by this generation who desire it. And He was also telling them a parable: "No one tears a piece from a new garment and puts it on an old garment; otherwise he will both tear the new, and the piece from the new will not match the old. "And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the new wine will burst the skins, and it will be spilled out, and the skins will be ruined. "But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins. "And no one, after drinking old wine wishes for new; for he says, 'The old is good enough." (Luke 5:35-38)

The big danger when it comes is that the new wine cannot be stored or held in the old wineskin. Jesus said, if that is done, both would be lost. The old wineskin would be damaged and the new wine poured out. This addresses the principle involving the attempt of those with a new revelation attempting to fit it into an old structure, method or form. It's not simply the structure, but it involves more in what form Jesus is revealed to them in. Luke 16:12 tells us Jesus appeared in a different form to the two men on the road to Emmaus and the two could not see that it was Him till near the end of their journey he revealed Himself in a form they were familiar with. The Greek word comes from the same Latin word we get morph from. It literally means to change appearances like a chameleon, to morph to a different shape.

In each generation, the Lord reveals Himself in a form to that generation in a way they can relate to and understand. The way God chose to come and reveal Himself to the Woodstock generation would not necessarily be the same as how God reveals Himself to the Generation arising now. What worked in the 1970's will not work on today's kids. Most churches today resemble the youth ministries of 20-25 years ago. This is why Jesus said it is futile to attempt to put the new thing God is now doing in an old form or way. By doing so, both the New and Old are damaged and the new wine is even lost which is unproductive.

"Wait till you're locked in my embrace;
Wait till I draw you near,
Wait till you see the sunshine place,
Ain't nothing like it here!"

Wow! This is truly the best part. God's people are about to enter into a realm of rest and intimacy with God that will surpass anything yet seen or known before. While mystics through the centuries have had awesome encounters with God, their beliefs about God hindered them from truly experiencing the incredible riches of the knowledge of God. False understandings about God limited their ability to grasp all they could have. The best is truly yet to come as God will reveal Himself to the hungry seekers! As they return to the simplicity and purity and devotion to Christ they will come into a level of intimacy with God few have ever understood or experienced.

" But for you who fear My name the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings; and you will go forth and skip about like calves from the stall. " And you will tread down the wicked, for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet on the day which I am preparing," says the LORD of hosts." (Malachi 4:2-3)

Many teachers and preachers have attempted to imply that this sun is really The Son of God. While that is a cool play on words, it can diminish the ramifications of what that verse actually is declaring. This passage is speaking of a new day dawning where righteousness is the light that brightens everything and exposes all wickedness, even as the sun now gives us natural light. It also speaks of healing and the defeat of the wicked being part of this generation's inheritance. When it says, "the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings.." its good to know what is implied by the term "in its wings..". The word there kanaph means edge or extremity and is easier to understand in the context of a bird's wingspan.

It is describing this sun rising as a picture of a giant eagle spreading its wings and within the breadth of this enormous wingspan, healing goes out even to the corners and edges! This is saying, even at the very edges of this sunlight that is dawning, healing and the defeat of the wicked will be found. This new day is dawning and is upon us even now.

The Birth Of A Reformation Is At Hand

Rex Burgher

The Birth of a Reformation is at hand!

There is something being birthed that will change the way we do church. Within the church there is a paradigm shift-taking place. God is letting us know that a reformation is afoot. A reformation within the church speaks of a radical change for the better in understanding of practices and doctrines we once held as unchangeable. We got by with these doctrines and practices because of our immaturity, but now that things are being put in order a new revelation is about to take place.

This reformation will change not only the way church is done but carry over and affect society as we know it. We are about to witness the collision of the Kingdom of God and the Kingdom of darkness. It will quicken the return of the King. Prophetically the movie ‘Lord of the Rings’ ends the trilogy with the final battle called “Return of the King”.

There is taking place right now within the Kingdom of God a positioning of both individual and corporate ministries. These strategic alliances are being brought together to help propel the church forward during the battle that is about to be unleashed during the churches greatest hours.

The Apostle is coming back to the church and the Father is coming back to the family. There will be order, because DAD WILL BE ‘IN THE HOUSE’!!! A new foundation of righteous behavior and authority will be established.

Look for restoration of the eagles

Third is that the seasoned eagles are being restored and taking flight. With renewed supernatural strength and incredible eyesight these eagles will soar to places only seen by a few people during past moves of God. A fresh wind is about to blow from the throne room of God lifting us higher and higher into new realms of revelation.

Once we were only preoccupied with our own battles but now we will see and understand the greater vision of God. We will be lifted high above the valley floor, above the fighting to see over the mountains into other valleys and see the host that are coming our way to assist us. Allegiances called networks are now being formed that will be “Bands of Brothers” rather than denominations. These new allegiances speak of loyalty to a vision and a call so outside of themselves that they will be obedient to the ‘Return of the King’. A fresh new look is coming upon the church. In the past God allowed us to have denominations, which speaks of a class system of authority, it worked fine for the season but that season is about to change. There is a new scent in the wind, a new fragrance is settling upon us of things whispered long ago about ‘such a time as this’.

Because of this rise in height leading to increased vision, there will come greater authority. Old territories especially ‘the watchtowers’ once given over to the enemy will be taken back especially in regard to the families.

We believe these three messages are central to the new thing that the Lord is releasing upon the earth in 2004. Something new is being released from the throne room of God. We believe throughout the world God is birthing a revelatory message to the church in 2004. A new wave of Holiness and Integrity will be released to the church. To those who have fought over injustice look for wholeness, soundness, uprightness and honesty to be banners over the coming armies. Greater clarity in understanding will be released to these restored eagles.

Look for the convergences of different looking ‘networks’ or bands of brothers to start coming together. In the past it would have looked strange to see these brothers walking in unison but now it will make all the sense in the world as pet doctrines once held as unchangeable will be delegated to their correct importance in the scriptures.

Look for a new breed of leadership to emerge in the next couple of years.

I strongly believe that God is coming alongside many prodigals right now calling them back to him.

One thing we know is that God is very much into restoration. A calling back of things once discarded. Many prodigals have failed God and because of that failure they have gone back to doing what they formally had laid aside to follow God in the first place. Like Peter did in John 21:15-19 when he went back to what he previously had been doing, fishing. He had turned aside from what God's ultimate purpose and destiny had for his life. Others in the past several years have been chased into caves. God is bringing many out of the caves into a new level of intimacy and responsibility.

Holiness and intimacy will be the garments of these mighty men and women of God; lifting them into a place of authority few have seen or witnessed before. With this comes wisdom and understanding. Look for a great separation to occur between churches, ministries, and individuals. The Episcopalian church is a prime example of this separation. This new breed will not accept individuals and ministries that do not have integrity. This line of demarcation will frustrate some in leadership because they will come to realize that the respect shown to them in the past was respect for the anointing that God placed on their ministry with little respect for them personally because of their lack of character in ministry.

God is showing us that the anointing He has placed upon our lives for ministry must match up with character. I believe that He is jealous and will not tolerate us using The Anointing as an excuse for Bad Behavior. Because of the mature walk of these new leaders they will know how to handle the difficult character issues before the church. Remember the Fathers/Apostles are coming home and with them will be greater authority in areas of discipline with regard to holiness and integrity.

I see this year as a year of restoration to those who had given up hope. Those who were disillusioned thinking they had somehow blown it. Peter was the rock that the church was to be built upon, the rock of the second chance, the over comer. There is a new order coming through correct spiritual authority and discipline.

We are finding out that our strength comes from resting in Him. We are finding out that you only have authority over the storm you can sleep in. When Jesus was asleep in the boat and the disciples were fighting the storm they awakened Jesus to find him calmly standing to his feet and rebuking the storm. Your strength comes from your resting beside Him, this will be a central theme in this next move of God.

God desires Extreme Radical Christianity to come back into vogue. Look for those being raised out of the dust. Some asked if these bones would live! And behold they came forth. Out of the dust God is about to raise up an army. Poor, rich, young, old, fat, thin, short and tall God is releasing a wave of holiness and integrity and many will receive it for IT IS WHAT THEY HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR ALL THEIR LIVES!

I do believe the next wave will be a wave of holiness and integrity. The manifestations of that wave will be mighty in that it will change the way the church will look and do things from that moment forward. There has been a season of grooming that has been taking place over the last couple of years in particular. Individuals and ministries that have consistently failed to make right choices of integrity/holiness may find themselves, like the Episcopal Denomination, having to make statements of faith concerning the reason for their choices or be labeled, not Christians!

Look out for an event! Suddenly it will happen!

The Baptism Of Fire
Angel Dahilig

The Baptism of Fire
These Three Remain: Faith, Hope, and Love

There was a turning point in my life with Christ, where I was quite literally thrown on my face before the Lord and put into the fire. In this tribulation, I went through many "points of decisions" in my heart. I struggled with what is common to all of us, but in the fire, it is all compressed and made more intense. How we choose to react in the fire, and under the pressure, determines whether we will be transformed by it through walking in it and persevering and clinging to Him, or we can be destroyed and fall away. The transformation process that occurs in the fire, is akin to the metamorphic process that rocks undergo when compressed under tons of pressure from the layers of rock and earth, combined with the intense heat generated by underlying molten lava. As it cools it forms crystals. We call these changed crystallized rocks, "Metamorphical Rocks". Metamorphic means "changed".

During this intense time, I chose each moment to cling to my Hope in Christ, in His Mercy. Through the struggle between flesh and spirit, my flesh wanted to protect itself. My flesh was tempted to become rebellious and say "What good is being good when you are betrayed or falsely accused?" But my spirit was in a struggle, to hope in Christ's salvation.

Through Hope, I could trust Him.
Through Trust, I grew in Faith.
Through Faith, I learned to grow in Love.

During this lowest point in my life, I visited a pentecostal church. I grew up in a pentecostal church, so it's familiar to me. The church had a visionary pastor full of enthusiasm and energy. It is a church that has been building and growing, and has many ministries. It believes in the gifts and operation of the gifts of the Holy Spirit. The worship and service was one of those clapping, joyful worship services... lots of talk about the "joy of the Lord". There was lots of pep talk of how they were building God's kingdom and about the pastor's vision for building the church. There was even a healing altar call. But in this low point in my life, I left that church feeling that there was no spiritual food to feed my soul... nor the poor, oppressed, and hungry. There was no spiritual power in those words to feed or heal a hurting heart. No wonder the homeless, oppressed and hungry don't feel comfortable in many churches today. I left there asking God to teach me His simple truths in such a way that they would be ingrained in my heart and spirit, so that I could feed the poor, oppressed, and spiritually hungry someday. I had already seen that His truths were simple, as He and His Word (scriptures) were my only life, and hope, and teacher, while I was in the valley of despair. It was in the valley of darkness that He had become my living bread and living water. (Rev 7:14-17; Isaiah 49:9-13)

Rev 7
14. And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.
15. Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple: and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them.
16. They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat.
17. For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

Isaiah 49

9. That thou mayest say to the prisoners, Go forth; to them that are in darkness, shew yourselves. They shall feed in the ways, and their pastures shall be in all high places.
10. They shall not hunger nor thirst; neither shall the heat nor sun smite them: for he that hath mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water shall he guide them.
11. And I will make all my mountains a way, and my highways shall be exalted.
12. Behold, these shall come from far: and, lo, these from the north and from the west; and these from the land of Sinim.
13. Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

We wonder why the lost don't come to Christ much in the churches? Because although many churches claim to have the power of God, they are powerless. I'm not talking about "power" to heal the body, nor power to cast out demons. Haven't we been taught by the apostle Paul that these gifts without love are dead and are nothing. We must seek God's heart, not just after manifestations of power, but after the power of God to Salvation! His power came to raise the dead. His power came to set the captives free. His power came to heal the sick! You want to see all these things done? Then start in the heart. You want to have power that gives life? Then examine your heart. The truths of Christ are so simple. And after 2000-3000 years we should understand them, but sadly I don't see that the "church" overall does.

Everything shall pass away, including prophecies, tongues, and the gifts of the Holy Spirit that we so covet. But there are only 3 things that shall remain: Faith, Hope, and Love, in and through Christ. (1 Cor. 13:13) If you are not building your spiritual house based on a Faith in Christ that endures, the Hope of Salvation, and His perfect Love, then you are building with sticks and stubble and your house shall be destroyed by fire.

Am I speaking against gifts of the Holy Spirit? By no means, as I also operate in the gifts. What I see however is our lack of understanding of what are the foundations of the Faith of Christ that we so freely say we know.

Have you seen "spiritually gifted" people devouring each other with their words and arguments? Have you heard "prophets" judge and condemn "sinners" in the house of God forgetting their own filthy rags are covered by Grace, not works? Have you heard people say "I won't pray anymore for so-and-so because God's judgment hangs over them?" Have you heard people refuse to pray for our nation because they think God's judgment is at the door? I have heard and seen all of these things. I tell you these believers who do these things are deceived and do know not what spirit they are of! (Luke 9:54-56)

If you value being right, over the soul and life of your fellow believer or enemy, then you are deceived. (Isaiah 13:18; Luke 6:27-36) If you value getting credit or being recognized for your spiritual gifts, more than you care about letting God's Holy Spirit work in others so that they can grow in their gifts, then you are spiritually puffed up and deceived. Remember, a little leaven puffs up the entire batch of dough. A little leaven in our heart defiles our heart and makes us wrong.

If you think that God's judgment is reserved for "them" and not for you too, then you are deceived. Judgment will begin at "the house of God"! (1 Peter 4:17)

There is a baptism of water, and a baptism of fire.

Many Christians think that the "baptism of water" is a physical baptism and that means their faith is affirmed in Salvation. They have stopped short of the meat and have settled for milk. (Hebrews 5:8 -

6:2) The "water immersion baptism" is a symbol of the true "baptism of water" that is the immersion in God's Word; That is CHRIST. God's word cleanses us, and Christ, who is the "Living Word", is also the "Living Water". He, The Word of God, cleanses us and baptises us. Let us renew our minds through the washing of water by His Word and scriptures. (Ephesians 5:26) Through Him we are made clean and we die to sin. (Romans 6:1-4)

All Christians must be purified by the baptism of water, and also through the baptism of fire.

Some think that the baptism of fire is the gift of tongues. They are mistaken, this is an evidence of a gift of the Spirit, but it is not "The baptism of fire". Christ himself spoke about having a baptism to undergo and he was distressed until he accomplished it. What was that "baptism"? It is the baptism of fire. (Luke 12:49-50) It is the baptism of suffering, of persecution, of affliction. (Mark 10:38-39; John 15:20; Acts 14:22) Through this baptism we are "made perfect" and "purified". Anyone who wants to live a righteous life will be persecuted. (2 Timothy 3:12) We are promised to share in His glory, IF we have shared in His sufferings. (Romans 8:17) The Israelites of old went through a baptism in the Red Sea, and we go through a spiritual baptism by God's Word and through the enduring and persevering in faith through troubles and persecutions.

Do not rejoice in your flesh, when you see someone in tribulation or persecution or afflictions, thinking in your heart that they are being judged or that they "deserved" it. For you are deceived and do not have understanding. (Job 31:28-30) You should rejoice when you are in tribulation and persecutions and afflictions. (James 1:2-4) For you are sharing in His sufferings and undergoing a baptism of fire. (Mark 10:38-39; John 15:20) You will also share in His glory, if you stand firm and endure. (1 Peter 4:12-19)

Many shall be purified, made white, and tested. (Daniel 12:10)

When your brother or sister is suffering, make every effort to build them up in the faith. Do not tear them down. "A foolish woman tears down her own house with her own hands." (Proverbs 14:1) Do not tear down God's house with your own words. You will be judged for this. But understand what the will of God is, and build up, and not tear down, bless and not curse. (Luke 6:28) For judgment belongs to God only. (James 4:11-12; Romans 14:4)

Each of us will give an account before God for our heart. If we have not purified our hearts we will be defiled and unholy before a Holy God, and will be rejected. (Matthew 5:8, Deut. 23:14)

As Samuel said, "I will not sin by not praying for you, O Israel." (1 Samuel 12:23)

There are only 3 things that shall remain: Faith, Hope, and Love, and the Greatest of these is Love. (1 Corinthians 13:13)

Let me show you the Most Excellent Way... the way of Love. (1 Corinthians 12:31)

1 Corinthians 12:12b - 13:13

12:12b... And now I will show you the most excellent way*.*
1 If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am only a resounding gong or a clanging cymbal.
2 If I have the gift of prophecy and can fathom all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have a faith that can move mountains but have not love, I am nothing.
3 If I give all I possess to the poor and surrender my body to the flames, but have not love I gain nothing.
4 Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud.

5 It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs.
6 Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth.
7 It always protects always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.
8 Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away.
9 For we know in part and we prophesy in part,
10 But when perfection comes, the imperfect disappears.
11 When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put childish ways behind me.
12 Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known.
13 And now these three remain: faith, hope, and love. But the greatest of these is love.

John 15:12-14
12 My command is this: Love each other as I have loved you.
13 Greater love has no one than this, that he lay down his life for his friends.
14 You are my friends if you do what I have command.
16 You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you to go and bear fruit - fruit that will last. Then the Father will give you whatever you ask in My name.
17 This is my command: Love each other.

John 13:34-35 (KJ)
34. A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.
35. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.

Love, grace, and peace in abundance, to my brethren, in Christ Jesus who is our Salvation and Light.

The Basics Of Holy Choices

Sandy Warner

May 26, 2004

My people are wanting the rich butter of My anointing oil, but they have stopped short of separating themselves from evil. I AM growing My body into manhood, strong and able to defeat My enemies. Milk is a basic ingredient to raise children, but men need meat.

Living on milk does not train one to know the difference between the holy and the profane - knowing right from wrong. The profane includes all that is done in My Name that I have not authorized. I AM training My own to let go of their arm of flesh, and not trust in their own strength.

As they rely on Me, I will teach them how to overcome the stronghold's that imprison them, such as fear of men and an unholy thought life. They shall rise in newness of life and stop their circling of basic training as they release their old natures to Me and allow Me to do My cleansing work. I will teach them to discern what they hear and grow them up with solid food, enough to last their entire journey. As a result, they will have graduated past the basics and learn to flow in the anointing of My Spirit.

Heb 5:12-14 NLT You have been Christians a long time now, and you ought to be teaching others. Instead, you need someone to teach you again the basic things a beginner must learn about the Scriptures. You are like babies who drink only milk and cannot eat solid food. And a person who is living on milk isn't very far along in the Christian life and doesn't know much about doing what is right. Solid food is for those who are mature, who have trained themselves to recognize the difference between right and wrong and then do what is right.

Spending Your Day

Sandy Warner

May 28, 2004
How do you spend your day? I have placed a daily allowance in your bank account. I give you daily strength and ability, daily provision and sustenance, and 24 hours. There are many ways to spend your day. Always remember that your daily deeds will be judged, and whatsoever is done from love will be eternally recompensed.

"For we must all stand before Christ to be judged. We will each receive whatever we deserve for the good or evil we have done in our bodies." (2 Cor 5:10 NLT)

The Book Of Life

LaTonya Williams

The Book of Life & the Names in It
Visions & Dreams
2000

My best friend LaShandra and I were at a farm somewhere in my dream when a tornado hit. It was very strong and it touched the ground two seconds after I moved my body from where I was laying. After it left, my cousin Demita was looking through old stuff in the barn, family pictures and such and I found a book. It was ancient looking so I opened it up and names were in it and some of these names were whitened out and other people's names were written over them. Then I woke up. I realized after reading the word, that the theory of once saved, always saved was not the case and that if you got saved and then turned away from God, never repent and then die, that you have forfeited your place in his Book of Life.

The Word of God

Thus shall he who conquers (is victorious) be clad in white garments, and I will not erase or blot out his name from the Book of Life; I will acknowledge him [as mine] and I will confess his name openly before My Father and before His angels. (Revelation 3:5)

But nothing that defiles or profanes or is unwashed shall ever enter it, nor anyone who commits abominations (unclean, detestable, morally repugnant things) or practices falsehood, but only those whose names are recorded in the Lamb's Book of Life. (Revelation 21:27)

And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt.
(Daniel 12:1-2)

And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire.
(Revelation 20:15)

And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book. (Revelation 22:19)

Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous.
(Psalms 69:28)

Let his posterity be cut off; and in the generation following let their name be blotted out.
(Psalms 109:13)

And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works.
(Revelation 20:12)

He was further permitted to wage war on God's holy people (the saints) and to overcome them. And power was given him to extend his authority over every tribe and people and tongue and nation, and all the inhabitants of the earth will fall down in adoration and pay him homage, everyone whose name has not been recorded in the Book of Life of the Lamb that was slain [in sacrifice] from the foundation of the world. (Revelation 13:8)

In a dream that Dumitru Duduman had in August of 1991, “heavenly beings” gave him the same message about the book of life. Here is what was said,

“They said, ‘We are heavenly beings’. Their clothes were white as snow. They had eyes that were penetrating. There was a light in them so bright I could hardly look at them. Their hair was white as wool, and it was long, going down their backs. One of them had a book and the other had an ink well attached to his belt, and a large pen in his hand. There was an eraser on one end.

The one with the pen said, ‘I was sent to complete the book of the Gentiles. Do you want to see your names?’ I looked and saw that all the names of my family were written there, and they were circled. I asked why they were circled. He said, ‘The devil doesn’t like what you do and fights powerfully against all you do. I have circled your names so I can give you extra protection.’

He opened the4 back of the book and counted 4 remaining blank pages at the end. ‘When these are filled,’ he said, ‘the book of the Gentiles will be complete. Then I will return to my people. Some of the names that are listed here will be erased. I will erase the names of those who have mocked God and tested the Spirit of Grace. I will replace them with other names.”

A Crack in the Door leads to Deception
LaTonya N Williams

The Whole Armor of God:

(Ephesians 6:11-18)

(11) Put on the whole armor of God so that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.
(12) For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the world's rulers, of the darkness of this age, against spiritual wickedness in high places.
(13) Therefore take to yourselves the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.
(14) Therefore stand, having your loins girded about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness
(15) and your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace.
(16) Above all, take the shield of faith, with which you shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.
(17) And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God,
(18) praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching to this very thing with all perseverance and supplication for all saints.

Satan Raped The Church Through A Cracked Door Not Properly Shut
Latonya N Williams

Visions & Dreams

February 16, 2003

I had a dream that a man was chasing me and so I closed the door behind me. The door had a crack in it and would not close all of the way. Then the man broke through the door, got a hold of me and tangled me to the floor. I was naked. Then it tried to rape me but I prevailed over it and shut the door. It changed forms from a man to a demon, a big one. I ran and grabbed a knife and cut it then it ran out. I looked around and saw that the windows were cracked and there were double doors on the second floor that was not closed all of the way. As I ran and told everyone to close the cracks immediately, some listened and some did not. Then I saw the group Destiny Child on the second floor by the doors and everyone went to see them perform, but there were still cracks in the doors up there. The leadership around me decided to get knives to fight the demons if they came through. But the demons did not show up yet, everyone was so busy watching the performance and entertainers and then I woke up.

God's message to the church:

We are too busy dealing with the things of this world, we will be caught off guard every time with the enemy until we have the knife, the word, which is sharper than any two-edge sword.

The leadership has to be bold and stop letting the masses run over them. Leaders have to take a stand and stop worrying about if they tell what God really has to say, who will get offended and stop supporting their ministry.

God is showing us that Satan has gotten inside of the church through a crack that was not properly closed up and that he has reproduced himself through demons of worldliness that has raped the church in America of her anointing to heal the sick, raise the dead and be prophets, proclaiming "Thus said the Lord." The church must repent of her sins and come back to God or those who continue to follow the world, leaving God's message and work behind will be like the foolish virgins who did not bring extra oil for there lamps. They must work because when the night comes, no man can work. The church must arise and listen to what God is saying or it will not be able to hear and be deceived when the enemy comes to rape them.

Introduction to these dreams:

I had been reading the word all week and it seemed like every time I went to sleep, I had a dream. Some of them I couldn't remember but I remember these two because they occurred back to back and they were so exciting to me. They are among my favorite dreams ever, so I listed them together to show the significance of each one in relation to the other. In the first dream, I time traveled to the days of the Old Testament, Sodom and Gomorrah, giants and sinners. In the second dream, I saw Jesus Christ on the Crucifix.

Visions & Dreams

I had a dream that Jamerson, myself and a couple of more people were in some type of space craft or something like that in space. We were going to different places on earth to prophesy and tell people to repent. Then we landed in a place were we had on Hebrew garments, there was sand around us and cities from the Old Testament. We went through the cities telling everyone to repent and turn back to God. Then we were captured and brought before a King and his court. They were all drinking and marrying and dancing and having sexual orgies. The cups that they were drinking out of were golden and golden calves were everywhere.

The court had purple, green and blue silk around it. Everyone was laughing and in sin. There were giants around, women naked and having sex with everyone in the court along with midgets and jesters, men having sex with men. And then, we started to prophesy that the cities would be destroyed because the cry of sin had reached Heaven.

We prophesied that the time of destruction was now because they had not heeded to the word of God or his prophets and because they sought to kill us. Then one of the giants who were about to stone us fell down on his knees and repented. And then the ground shook. Fire and brimstone began to fall from the sky and everyone was being killed by the buildings falling on top them. The giant who fell got a chance to repent before he died. A couple of columns from the walls fell on him. Then we were taken up into the ship or whatever it was and there were two angels there with us to welcome us from our journey and then I woke up.

The Crucifix

Visions & Dreams
May 2004

Later that week I had a dream that I was witnessing the crucifixion. I saw Mary and John crying. People were weeping and the Romans were there and the Pharisees and Sadducees. I saw the two thieves each on one side of Jesus. He was in the middle and all that He did was look at me. The look was intense. I can’t explain it. But it was a sharp look. One that said, “This is what I have done for you and for the world.” “Live for me and love me.” “It is finished.” “Love one another.” “Be bold”. And then I woke up.

Both dreams relate to each other in the since that before we were even born, God knew us and our calling. He uses us to preach His message. It has been the same message since the time of the creation. It is that God wants man to be in fellowship with him. He hates to see man in evilness and sin and it hurts His heart to see man go to hell in sin. He has always said, “Come, let us reason together.” “Come, let me love you and cover you in my wings.”

But we sin and turn our backs on Him. He has sent prophets and judges and they killed them. Then He sent His son. His son died for us and took on the sin of the world in our place. That is love. God wants us to repent. Some will only have time to repent before death. Others will repent and have their entire lives to praise Him and minister the word. But the ultimate thing is that He died for us and we should repent. It is never too late while we are alive. When man does not repent and judgment comes, God’s mercy and grace will run out. This occurs when man dies physically.

This is also what happened to Sodom and Gomorrah, to Israel when they got ran over by foreign powers and to the Kings and Princes who sat and drunk in sin right before God’s hand wrote on the wall. But even in judgment, we, Christians, are to come boldly to the throne of God asking for forgiveness and repentance because of what Christ did for us. He loved us and that is why we love Him. He is our advocate in front of the father. And most importantly, because of what he did for us, we should love one another, Jesus said, “Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.” (John 15:13) Love our enemies and those who persecute us and preach the gospel to even those in the most horrible sins; everyone should hear the gospel, whether we like them or approve of them or not and whether they will persecute us or kill us, we should be bold and do God’s will.

(1 John 4:7-19)

(7) Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God, and everyone who loves has been born of God, and knows God.
(8) The one who does not love has not known God. For God is love.
(9) In this the love of God was revealed in us, because God sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him.
(10) In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation concerning our sins.
(11) Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.
(12) No one has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwells in us, and His love is perfected in us.
(13) By this we know that we dwell in Him, and He in us, because He has given us of His Spirit.
(14) And we have seen and testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.
(15) Whoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwells in him and he in God.
(16) And we have known and believed the love that God has in us. God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God in him.
(17) In this is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment, that as He is, so also we are in this world.
(18) There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts out fear, because fear has torment. He who fears has not been perfected in love.
(19) We love Him because He first loved us.

My little children, I write these things to you so that you may not sin. And if anyone sins, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous. And He is the propitiation concerning our sins, and not concerning ours only, but also concerning the sins of all the world.
(1 John 2:1-2)

And most of the brothers in the Lord, becoming confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the Word without fear. (Philippians 1:14)

But also suffering before, being insulted in Philippi, as you know, we were bold in our God to speak to you the gospel of God in much agony. (1 Thessalonians 2:2)

Who gave Himself for our sins, that He might deliver us from this present evil world according to the will of God and our Father, (Galatians 1:4)

And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give. (Matthew 10:7-8)

Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge you in their synagogues; And ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles. But when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye shall speak: for it shall be given you in that same hour what ye shall speak.For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you. (Matthew 10:16-20)

And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved. (Matthew 10:22)

And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell... Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven . . . And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it. (Matthew 10:28,32-33, 38-39)

Blessed are you when men shall revile you and persecute you, and shall say all kinds of evil against you falsely, for My sake. (Matthew 5:11)

But I say to you, Love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who despitefully use you and persecute you, (Matthew 5:44)

Therefore, behold, I send prophets and wise men and scribes to you. And you will kill and crucify some of them. And some of them you will scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city; (Matthew 23:34)

Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who foretold the coming of the Just One, of whom you have now been the betrayers and murderers; (Acts 7:52)

Remember the word that I said to you, The servant is not greater than his master. If they have persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they have kept My saying, they will also keep yours. (John 15:20)

Desolation, Foreign Powers & the Revealing of the Anti-Christ

Dream series
Visions & Dreams
2002, 2003, 2004

Introduction to this series of dreams:

These dreams were given to me while I was seeking a deeper level in my walk with God. They show my hometown, Houston, Texas and how it relates to the end times. They also show America as a whole and the revealing of the Anti-Christ. The last dream about the Anti-Christ came to me a couple of days after I started to read about other people's dreams and visions on Bill Somer's website, "End Time Prophetic Vision". My mentor, Jamerson a.k.a. Eleazar the Last Testament told all of us months ago about the website and other sites that were dedicated to the end times and that we should visit them to get a glimpsed of the things that God shows other people like us. So after months of being too busy, I finally went on the website and there God had me in a level of consecration. Two days later, September 11, 2004, I had a dream about the Anti-Christ and then two days after that I was blessed with a job. I had been unemployed for seven months. Then right in the eighth month, I got a job. Only after eating and sleeping in the word, I finally got a job because I was literally fed on the word from sunup to almost sun up the next day. It is a time now that we discern the times and get with the program. America will be destroyed and you can either get right with God and repent or go down in the destruction. Just like in the book of Joel, God's message is the same for today:

Proclaim this among the nations: Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up. Beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruning hooks into spears. Let the weak say, I am strong. Gather yourselves and come, all you nations, and gather yourselves together all around; cause Your mighty ones to come down there, O Jehovah. Let the nations be awakened and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat; for there I will sit to judge all the nations all around. Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe. Come, come down; for the press is full; the vats overflow, for their wickedness is great. Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision; for the day of LORD is near in the valley of decision! (Joel 3:9-14)

Astroworld, Houston & the End times

LaTonya N Williams

I had a dream that I was at Astroworld in Houston, TX and that I was watching people ride the roller-coasters. Suddenly a man fell from his seat and smashed into a part of the freeway. Then the ride broke and people were on the freeway stuck in traffic but no people were in the cars. The man that fell was dead and bloody but no ambulances came. Everything was desolate and nobody was on the rides anywhere. I had a sense that something was not right and that we were somehow in the end times because of the sudden desolation. Then I woke up.

Desolation of the Earth

I beheld the earth, and, lo, it was without form, and void; and the heavens, and they had no light. I beheld the mountains, and, lo, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly. I beheld, and, lo, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were fled. I beheld, and, lo, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the presence of the LORD, and by his fierce anger. For thus hath the LORD said, The whole land shall be desolate; yet will I not make a full end. For this shall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black: because I have spoken it, I have purposed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it. The whole city shall flee for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen; they shall go into thickets, and climb up upon the rocks: every city shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein. (Jeremiah 4:23-29)

Series Two:

Poisoned Water Supply

LaTonya N Williams

I had a dream that I was on my balcony talking to my dad. I was asking him what were they doing on the ground. Then the ground got larger and took on the form of a freeway. Many construction workers were drilling holes in the concrete of the freeway and cars were at a stand still in traffic. People were mad because they were late to work. Then all of a sudden, dark water begin to come out of the ground and everyone was walking backwards to avoid the water touching them. They knew that if the water touched them they would die. The cars saw the water coming out of the ground and they started to put their cars in reverse to drive away. People were scattering everywhere. The water came up slowly then fast and I saw that it was blood. The water of the world was poisoned with blood. It was in the pipes, in the oceans and seas. It rusted the pipes and made living things dead. Then I woke up.

(Revelation 16:3-7)

(3) And the second angel poured out his vial on the sea. And it became like the blood of a dead one, and every living soul died in the sea.
(4) And the third angel poured out his vial on the rivers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.
(5) And I heard the angel of the waters say, Righteous is the Lord, who is, and was, and who will be, because You have judged these things,
(6) since they have poured out the blood of the saints and prophets; and You gave them blood to drink, for they were deserving.
(7) And I heard another out of the altar saying, Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are Your judgments.

Poisoned Water Supply Dream #2

May 2003

My fiancée, Robert and I had a dream on the same night. We both saw that Pebbles our cat was dead and sift. In his dream he took her out of the water and her body was cold and pale and sift. My dream was the exact same. The Meaning in this was that the water is poisonous in the last days. It will bring death and desolation. The lead and other man made particles are in the water. The government conceals it like the A.I.D.S. virus. The water will kill you. Jesus said that He is the source of the everlasting flow of water. We will never thirst again. My mentor also had a dream about the water supply being poisoned. It was different from our dream.

Series Four:

Houston Overcome By The Chinese: America Implements Propaganda For The Army

Visions & Dreams

August 5, 2004

In my dream, a group of young people, including myself were in the area of the Astrodome and the new Reliant Dome. And then we looked up at the sky and there was a plane or a helicopter flying. I remember that I had some kind of watch on my wrist and it started to light up and when it did the plane that was in the sky stopped and then sent a missal towards my way. At the last minute we dodged out of the way and the bomb hit this box that was right behind us. So afterwards, I figured that the watch had something to do with like a tracking method or something, so I took the watch off and then threw it to my right somewhere. Once it hit the floor, it exploded. Then it was like we were walking to our cars when all of a sudden Chinese soldiers came up from everywhere with no warning. A Chinese girl, my friend in my dream was right next to me and the soldiers all took each one of us by our arms and the general said something to her in Chinese. She refused to say anything back. I believe that he asked her who throw the watch but since she didn't say anything quick enough, the general suddenly beheaded her right in front of me and then with bamboo sticks, they led us into a line.

Then the scene changed and we were in a jail. I said to some of the young people there that I would go and get help to get us out of jail, so I was somehow able to get out and with the help of two other people I never seen before, we began to travel through the woods. There was guns shots everywhere, sounds of terror and people being killed. Then the scene changed and we had to take a rest from our journey. We were at their little oasis like building and went to the restroom, got water and supplies. However, in the middle of us gathering supplies, we heard someone coming, so we hid in the closet. And thinking that we were about to get killed for escaping jail, we were trying to gather enough faith and belief that we will get killed, the door swung open. There, a member of my family appeared and asked, “What are you doing in there? I thought you were one of those trying to find out where we were hiding.” Seen apparently, we where not the only ones searching for other people to help out.

So he began to help us reload our supplies and then He told me that on the other side of his compound, government officials had set up this weird looking machine. So we went and saw it. It was a narrow jail cell like building that had six places for people to stand, three on each side, which contains helmets and arms braces. I wondered what it was. And as soon as I said that to myself, as if we were no longer present, people started to appear in the cell like building. They had the helmets on and their arms in the braces. They were telling each other that they were about to journey somewhere. Then as soon as they put the helmet on, they disappeared. Then seconds later on the opposite side of these machines, they reappeared. But they looked different. They had aged and brought things back with them. Everyone who got into these machines were young men, Americans. I even heard a few of them saying that they were going to time travel to go get there brothers and cousins to enlist in the army. The army was promising money for college and all sorts of things if this young people would join. The young people were so excited about joining the army; they didn't see anything else that was going on around them. They did not know that the Chinese was here already. All of these young men were voluntarily drafting themselves into a army that had no hope of winning. Then I woke up.

America and Her Sins

The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made stand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it. (Daniel 7:4)

As Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire. (Jude 1:7)

And the ten horns which thou sawest upon the beast, these shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire.
(Revelation 17:16)

And they cast dust on their heads, and cried, weeping and wailing, saying, Alas, alas, that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the sea by reason of her costliness! for in one hour is she made desolate. (Revelation 18:19)

Series Five:

The Revealing of the Anti-Christ

Visions & Dreams
Anniversary of September 11th Day
September 11, 2004 7:20am

I had a dream that me and my fiancée were driving along Houston on the 288 and 610 freeway and we got off onto the exit by our Astrodome/ Reliant Stadium. Just as we were at the stop light, a Mayan building block floated across the street and was going left. We then entered the freeway again and cars were suddenly crashing. There were about five cars just crashing out of nowhere so we exited the freeway again and took the feeder road a little closer to the Astrodome. Again a Mayan looking block with scriptures or some sort of hieroglyphics went by.

Then we looked up in the sky and in the middle of the day there were hundreds of lights in the sky. We did not know if these were UFO's, planes or spacecrafts. But the lights were scattered and they were white bright lights.

Then suddenly we were at my aunt's house, the place were I grew up. In all of my visions and dreams that mostly deal with anything the Lord shows me, I end up here.

I was in my aunt's house, me and my fiancée and only one aunt and one cousin were there. I was trying to figure out were my other aunt and other cousin were but they were no where to be found. And in my soul in my dream I knew something was not right and we, meaning me and my fiancée started to lock the doors and windows and anything that would let anything in. All of a sudden, I was outside on the porch and my fiancée was at the door of my aunt's house and we looked up at the sky and hundreds of black helicopters were circling, hovering, and just moving slowly in the air. There were so many helicopters that it was hard to see the sky at times. But it was mid-day and people in Houston were cutting grass and lounging outside and doing everyday things.

Next, as it seemed that the helicopters got a command, they started to form ranks and lines in the sky and then I saw from the ground but also in spirit that they were all over Houston and they started to drop bombs on buildings, churches, houses and the skyline of Downtown.

They did not do this to all of the buildings but only certain ones. And then suddenly I saw Black Jeeps and Hummers go through out the neighborhoods and they were stopping at all homes. After they left, some homes were bombed and caught on fire. Then one jeep came to my aunt's house.

I had no choice but to go see what they wanted because I did not want my aunt's house to be bombed. But I knew in my spirit that these men were not right with God. They were two Caucasian men in black suits and in the man's hand in the passenger side, he had little slips of regular notebook paper and on each slip were names, addresses and a census count of everyone who lived anywhere. They pulled out one slip of paper and gave it to me to right down my address and the names of all in house. I only wrote down four people present. And as if they knew my mind, they said "You are not telling us the truth, there are more." But I told them that we couldn't find the others. And then they looked at each other, the men looked like agents in the Matrix movie by the way. And then they looked at me and said, "Well, we are promoting this movie." And then they tried to hand me a VHS tape. I knew what it was and I did not want it.

See the VHS had a message about a man, one man who came to heal the wounds of the earth and united all men. We would heal the sick and give you whatever was needed if you took his mark. While they were talking to me, the spirit of God in me reminded me that I was sleep and that I seen this man on TV, in politics, in news, He was here. But in the dream, the dream was real as well, like another dimension. And then the men in the car told me the name of that man, The Antichrist. And I remembered also in the dream that I saw him on TV and my soul knew who he was.

They told me to take the tape and asked if I wanted to see it. Not wanted to say no because if I did, I knew that they would bomb my house right then and there, I used wisdom and told them that we would think about it and make a decision. They said that they would only give us a little while and that they would be back and then they left.

I went to the door where my fiancée was and immediately without looking at the tape, without saying a word, our spirit men took charge and talked with each other without saying a word and we woke my cousin up and I tried to wake my aunt up. She was so sleepy, physically and spiritually that it took a long time to get her up. I told her that the antichrist was revealed and that we must flee the home in order to save others and that nobody in this house was getting any mark today. And I grabbed her and her took a pair of pants and a shirt and she and I went into a room and I grabbed a blanket, pants and tennis shoes, knowing that it is the end time, we will not have time or need for food or anything else in this house, but wearing something that will be comfortable was wise. Then I grabbed the smallest bible I had and couple of regular bibles and ran outside. There, my fiancée and my cousin were in the car and me and my aunt jumped through the window in the car.

As we left the parking lot, it seemed as if God concealed everyone's eyes to us because a yellow sports car pulled up as we were leaving and it did not see us. A do not know who was in the car because we took off and as we approached the corner of my aunt's house, we saw that the two men in the Jeep did not leave us, but were hiding in the back of the house to monitor our activity.   They did not see us leave either and as we went down the street I did not know if they found out we were gone or if they blew the house up, but I woke up from my sleep.

This happened the morning of September 11, 2004. I did not even realize that my vision/dream occurred on the anniversary of the Twin Tower bombings until I woke up my mentor Eleazar the Last Testament and told him about it. He has had numerous dreams and visions about the end time and how God will destroy America for her sins and pride.

A Few Passages from the Bible that I thought about during this series of dreams:

The Anti-Christ

Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time. (1 John 2:18)

Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God. (2 Thessalonians 2:3-4)

Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son. (1 John 2:22)

And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world. (1 John 4:3)

The Great Whore

And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither; I will shew unto thee the judgment of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters: (Revelation 17:1)

And he saith unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues. (Revelation 17:15)

And the ten horns which thou sawest upon the beast, these shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire. (Revelation 17:16)

For true and righteous are his judgments: for he hath judged the great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath avenged the blood of his servants at her hand. (Revelation 19:2)

Election 2004: Bush vs. Kerry, Unleashing the Beast of the End Times
Visions & Dreams
October 1, 2004

In this dream, I was at my Aunt's house, a constant symbol to me for God is telling me something and safety. While I was there, my grandma was in the kitchen leaning over the kitchen counter telling me about the Election that is coming up. Whenever my grandma is present in my dreams, God allows me to see her as wisdom and she normally has a urgent message from God.

She told me how God was using Bush for his purposes, whether the people saw Bush as a bad person or not, God allowed him in office and that God's agenda, not Bush's or the Republican party's agenda, was being done. She said that every before the earth was formed, God knew the times that we would be born in and that Bush was born for such a time as this, so were you and I and the rest of the people on the earth today.

And then Bush appeared at out nowhere and he was glowing and smiling with a radiance of heavenly light. I was able to see the compassionate President that he was called during his last campaign and he was all sparkly with joy.

And then all of a sudden, the front door burst open and darkness filled the room. There was Kerry. He was a man but there was darkness about his face. He started to talk and was brilliant in speech.

Words flowed out so brilliantly but as he continued to speak, he opened his mouth and smoke came out and Kerry began to shake a little. His mouth opened up very while, wider than humanly possible and there in front of all of us, a big dark beast emerged from his mouth. It was horrible. It had a look of death on it. Kerry was happy with a straight forward face as he stared at Bush and at us.

My grandma began to warn us about Kerry and gave me tips on the election and what to do about the beast. Then as Kerry began to speak about America and his plans, the Beast spoke as well. And that is when I woke up.

I normally post bible scriptures along with my dreams but this dream, I do not have any as of yet that relates to it. The only broad thing that comes to me is anything in the bible that deals with the end times. I would suggest people to read all of it and pray, fast and ask God to reveal things to us.

As a reference, I did see this dream and vision on www.etpv.org, written by Angel Dahilig that was posted under the 2003 file, this dream refers to the same thing that I saw in my dream, except, my dream actually showed a person's name as the next evil President, if he becomes President at all. Here is the 2003 post:

The Last U.S. President - A Time To Flee, Angel Dahilig

Released August 17, 2003

> Job 33:14-18:
> 14 For God does speak -- now one way, now another -- though man may not perceive it.
> 15 In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men as they slumber in their beds,
> 16 he may speak in their ears and terrify them with warnings,
> 17 to turn man from wrongdoing and keep him from pride,
> 18 to preserve his soul from the pit, his life from perishing by the sword.

On the early morning of April 21st, 2002, I believe the Lord spoke to me in a dream.

I saw myself inside of the White House of the United States of America. I knew that President Bush had just moved out and the next President was to move in. I heard or knew that President Bush's presidency was represented by the color "yellow" (seems like I saw a pale yellow). I heard. "The tribulation has already begun, but some haven't recognized it as having begun yet." I also heard, "Some have wondered if President Bush is the anti-Christ, but he is NOT ." and "President Bush will complete out his term*." The next President was yet to move in, and I saw that his color was a drab bluish-grey, yet I was perplexed because if the new President hadn't actually moved in yet, why was I seeing the White House walls painted in this drab gray color already?*

While I was in the White House, I had the feeling of dread in my heart and I just wanted to get out of there and run, and I heard these words about the next President or Leader. "HE WILL BE DREADFUL AND FEARFUL. JOY WILL ESCAPE AT THAT TIME. IT WILL BE A TIME TO FLEE, TO ESCAPE." I also heard that the next President "WILL BE THE END." I heard these exact words . "WITHIN 48 MONTHS WILL BE THE END!" (That was the timeframe I heard at the time that I had the dream, in April 2002.)

But then I heard these reassurances from The Lord. "BUT, THOSE WHO LOOK TO ME, I WILL EXALT, I WILL KEEP."

The Lord speaks to give warning to the erring and to give hope to the righteous. God's judgments always come with the HOPE OF REDEMPTION for HIS REMNANT, THE SPOTLESS BRIDE OF CHRIST. Soon it will be a time unlike any time known to us. IT WILL BE A TIME OF DREAD, AND JOY SHALL ESCAPE. (Isaiah 15-16, Joel 1-3, Isaiah 24-26, Jeremiah 48).

God's Judgment Preceeded by A Warning with A Timeframe
For those of you skeptical of timeframes, as I was. The Lord showed me Isaiah, chapters 15-16, which is about the judgement decreed against Moab. I saw correlations of what I heard in my dream and what is written in this passage of scripture. My eyes were opened with this passage:

*Isaiah 16:13-14 -- This is the word the Lord has already spoken concerning Moab. But now the Lord says: "WITHIN THREE YEARS, as a servant is bound by contract would count them, Moab's splendor and all her many people will be despised,and her survivors will be very few and feeble."*

I was praying about this dream in Sept 2002, when I released a first draft to a handful of people. That same week, I saw the headlines read "Thousands FLEE Isadora". Also, that same week, my 8 year old son brought me a book to read to him called The Trail of Tears, which is about the American Indians being forced to flee from their homes and land to reservations set aside for them by the American government. (He then fell asleep after I started reading it to him, and has never brought it to me again.) However, when the Lord showed me Isaiah 15-16, and specifically Isaiah 16:13-14, I learned that God does speak warnings with timeframes, in one particular circumstance.

What is the one circumstance found, in scripture, in which God gives a warning with a timeframe attached to it? . BEFORE HE BRINGS DESTRUCTION AND DESOLATION*, TO GIVE WARNING TO THOSE WHO WILL LISTEN.

Other examples of scriptures, where the Lord has spoken TIMEFRAMES BEFORE JUDGEMENT AND DESOLATION*:

- Isaiah 7:9b. "Within sixty-five years Ephraim will be too shattered to be a people."
- Isaiah 21:16 - This is what the Lord says to me: "Within one year, as a servant bound by contract would count it, all the pomp of Kedar will come to an end."

This is very important to understand.

> Every usage, by God in scripture, using the words "within ." And a given timeframe had to do with god's warning of pending judgment by destruction and desolation. In God's great mercy and grace, before the destruction, he warns the people, and even gives them a timeframe in order to get their lives and hearts in order before the day of his wrath upon them.

* Desolation -- to make the land forlorn, devoid of inhabitants.

To those who will hear, I believe that this dream speaks a loud warning to the coming destruction and desolation of America.

Luke 21:34-36 (NKJV)
34 "But take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with carousing, drunkeness, and cares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly.
35 For it will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth.
36 Watch therefore, and pray always that you may be counted worthy to escape all these things that will come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man."

Let the Wicked Forsake His Ways

> Isaiah 55:6-7 - "Seek the Lord while he may be found; call on him while he is near. Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon."

After prayer, The Lord gave me this encouragement for His children:

> Romans 8:17-39 (NKJV)
> 17 And if children, then heirs -- heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together.
> 18 For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.
> 19 For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God.
> 20 For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope;
> 21 because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.
> 22 For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now.
> 23 And not only they, but we also who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body.
> 24 For we were saved in this hope, but hope that is seen is not hope; for why does one still hope for what he sees?
> 25 But if we hope for what we do not see, then we eagerly wait for it with perseverance.
> 26 Likewise the Spirit also helps in our weaknesses. For we do not know what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit Himself makes intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.
> 27 Now He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God.
> 28 And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose.
> 29 For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son, that He might be the firstborn among many brethren.
> 30 Moreover whom He predestined, these He also called; whom He called, these He also justified; and whom He justified, these He also glorified.
> 31 What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us?

32 He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?
33 Who shall bring a charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies.
34 Who is he who condemns? It is Christ who died, and furthermore is also risen, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.
35 WHO SHALL SEPARATE US FROM THE LOVE OF CHRIST? SHALL TRIBULATION, OR DISTRESS, OR PERSECUTION, OR FAMINE, OR NAKEDNESS, OR PERIL, OR SWORD?
36 As it is written: "For Your sake we are killed all day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter."
37 Yet in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us.
38 For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor principalities nor powers, nor things present nor things to come,
39 Nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing, shall be able to separate us from the love of god which is in Christ Jesus Our Lord.

Luke 21:28 (KJV)
And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh.

Submitted, by the power of His Holy Spirit,
under fear and trembling,
yet looking upwards towards the hope of our redemption.

So, after reading this dream and understanding that God is also showing other people the same things as I saw, I felt a little better about posting my dream. I am a Republican, sort of. I am a political science major at Houston Baptist University and when I studied politics, I saw my views as conservative and Republican. I am also Black, African American, so many Blacks normally tend to flock to the Democrat side for what ever reasons, they laugh and call me a sell out. But I have been conservative for almost five years now and I it is not really a politically thing, but a religious thing. I am 23 years old this year and I am young and modern. But I do not believe in all of the rights and freedoms that my generation is practicing and then they call it modern rights and “get with the times”.

Homosexuality is wrong. Abortion is murder. Freedom to molest boys in church is wrong. Gay pastors are wrong. The freedom of speech and religion has now turned into the right of atheists to take down bibles from courts, suspend judges from work if they support keeping a bible in there court room. Gays want marriage to also include them.

It is all crazy and it shows us one thing- that we are indeed living in the end times. Harry Potter and witchcraft is increasing popular yet it is not okay for football players to pray before games. This is all foolishness and God will judge America in her sins and the church for allowing it, never taking a stand, trying to remain neutral in isolation from the world’s problems. The church was meant to be a light, not sit down and let the world run over the ways of the Lord. So, of course God will judge us first and separate the wheat from the tares. It is all a shame, but the real remnant of the Lord sees these things, and knows to discern the times. Praise God for his remnant!

The Bordello
Luz Cintron

(a dream)

In my dream I found myself inside a church that was a bordello. There were two kinds of servants. The older ones were rigid in their ways and the younger ones not so set in them, more open and less prideful, there was still hope for them. Regardless the fact that both of them were pimps, I saw that the Lord was still using their service for His purpose. I went to them and started to tell them, "You know you have to leave this place because it is coming down. It won't be long, the Lord will tear this place down. You must come out and join those who are already out there."

They knew that what I was saying was true, (it was not new to them) they knew it was going to happen. The young ones were more open about it and they did not become angry at my speaking, but only some of them would leave the place. The majority would stay, because of what they thought they had to lose. They justified themselves saying, that there was a lot of people who needed the place open. The older ones became very angry against me and their anger turned to violence.

I asked the Lord "What words would you want me to speak to them? How can their heart be opened to you? The place will come down and bring them along into destruction. What else can be done to stop such a great loss?"

He spoke to me;

"My people go a whoring before my eyes, they ignore the Truth unveiled. They deceive themselves and others thinking they are doing what I have call them to do, but they stand far from it and do not allow others to enter or to see. I came to give life and life more abundant but it can not flow if the body is not united. They have reduced the communion of the saints to 2 days a week and there is no true fellowship among each other. They profess to worship me, but they come around to please man and promote the flesh of man. They profess to love but they neglect each other. There is no consolation to the one who weeps, there is no encouragement for the one who is broken, the widow and the orphan are plundered, the sick and the feeble are not tended to. They resent each other's burdens. They come and gather but I am not in their hearts and when they worship they mention my name but My ways they deny in their living. There can not be a gospel without the communion of the saints. I have called you to be one as we are one. They will gather together, I will make them one. They will gather willingly or I will gather them myself in my jealousy. I Am love and so intense that I Am also a consuming fire."

To the one who has ears let him hear.

Cry Out Loud

Cry Out Loud And Spare Not Your Tears

Funny! The other night I was changing channels, nothing worth watching and then I turned to TBN. There was a PTL thing going on and this brother was being interviewed. He said that he plans to "reach" to rich. That everybody reach out to the poor but nobody reaches to rich. He said that if anything just to have more to help the poor there should be an outreach for the rich. There was a tidal wave of applause from the audience.

I wanted to puke.

This is not about rich and poor. To the one who has ears let him hear. His sheep they hear his voice and follow him. If He does not gather in vain labor those that shepherd the flock. Does he have a voice for the rich and a voice for the poor? But we may end having two voices and two seats and two kinds of everything in order to accommodate the rich among us. If they have money, let them deal with the Lord who told the young rich ruler, "go sell all you have and follow me". Reaching to the rich with the whore mentality prevalent within this society and within the church that has copied the culture at the cost of her anointing to serve, will only mean trouble. We have worshiped man and their individualistic traits, there is a black church and a white church, a Hispanic church a gringo church, church for this and church for that and they do not mingle at all, but if they do they feel as if they had done a mighty deed. Don't they know that their very existence is a testimony of how we have divided His body? If we divide His body, what will be left for us then?.... How's that? Have we not heard that we are no Jew or gentile, no man or woman, no slave or free man, but all new creatures in Christ servants of each other?

Christ is one, and we are to honor His body and be one with each other as he is one with the Father. It doesn't matter what color you are, what language you speak, how much you know or don't know. If we reach to the rich we risk being bought to the one we will end selling our very souls. Preach the word at all times, if needful with words as someone said, and let the power of the gospel of Christ bring them in. But why should He bring anyone if the nets are broken and cannot catch fish? Mend the breaches on the wall, unite our hearts to fear His Name for His name is holy! Let us gather and confess our sin, let us repent and turn from our wicked ways, then.... let us search together after Him with all our hearts, in brokenness, in tears and in fasting and we shall find Him. That is His promise to us.

Anything else beside this is a delusion, vanity of vanity, deception from the pit of hell. We can package it and promote it, but it will not stand by itself because it is not. Its time to move from wishful thinking into faith

The day is coming and is now at hand, in which those who adore Him, will do so in Spirit and in Truth, loving not their lives to overcome by the blood and the Word of his testimony, all that opposes the Gospel of Christ in this society and with in the church, for He is Who He says He is.

Cry out loud and spare not your tears!

Rend your hearts and confess your sins! There is mercy and grace abounding still to be found in Him. Turn to Him that we may find favor to bring His harvest to His threshing floor. Why should the grain rot in the barn when Christ has been lifted? In Spirit and in Truth He has sought us, in Spirit and in Truth to set us free. Turn you hearts to Him for He is still waiting.

And ye shall seek me, and find [me], when ye shall search for me with all your heart. Jeremiah 29:13

Luz.

The Breath Of The Beast

John L. Moore

> "They have sown the wind and reap the whirlwind." Hosea 8:7

Now is the time and season to establish safe environments. A tempest is stirring in the second heaven that is the Breath of the Beast. This is not the materialization of the Beast of Revelation but is a clear sign that the Beast has entered our sphere and is drawing close. This breath has disguised itself for a full generation as a halcyon -- a seductive breeze from the south -- but is now revealing itself in its true nature.

Those who should be most concerned are the Samson generation -- Baby-Boomers like myself who came to the Lord during the Jesus Movement of the early 1970s. Having started in the spiritual many of us are now finishing in the flesh and are held captive by pornography, greed, and the pride of life. Our spiritual eyes have been plucked out and we are reduced to being the enemy's amusement. Yet, even in our bondage and blindness, my generation will be given a last opportunity to push against the pillars, and in death-to-self, destroy more of the enemy than we had during decades of self-ambition and indulgence.

It is a time for prodigals to return but it is not a time for prodigals to play with the idea of returning. The Samsons who will not strain against the pillars of their strongholds will find the fruit of their sin reaped upon their seed, namely their own daughters and grandchildren. This is the very vortex of the whirlwind. The daughters and sons of the Samsons are at risk, not due to the judgment of God, but through the dues Satan extracts when we sow to the flesh. But, again, those who arouse themselves to a final effort will strike against evil within its very courtyards.

> "These speak evil of whatever they do not know, and whatever they know naturally, like brute beasts, in these things they corrupt themselves." (Jude 10)

Mankind, having sown relativism and hedonism for many seasons, will further reduce himself to animalistic levels. Yet, in these tempestuous times many of the lost will say "enough!" and seek truth and salvation. They will wander from structure to structure seeking fresh air and life. Some will find religious structures to be as polluted as the environments they are fleeing and will escape to Cities of Refuge in the wilderness.

Others will find safe environments within established church structures, but the safety and purity will be maintained only by single-minded devotion to Christ, His Word, and the Holy Spirit. The Breath of the Beast will own some buildings and systems and the allegiance of the people will be severely tested.

As the Beast's breath strengthens respiratory illnesses will rise and many who thought themselves healthy will succumb to a heavy congestion in the chest and lungs. One illness will replace another, will replace another.

The Breath of the Beast would turn the heavens gray, a muddying of truth and error. But those whose principles are black-and-white shall behold great displays of atmospheric glory. Signs in the sky will merely be signs of increased corporate revelation. Dreams and visions will intensify in color. The spiritual world will so brightly shine that even fairest day will seem dim in comparison.
Supernatural provision will become common. Young people will pick up swords discarded by the Samson generation and advance without fear against the enemy. Their battle cry will be: "This is not a time for Hobbits!" -- a phrase from the third Lord of the Rings movie, "The Return of the King." And, indeed, this will not be a time for those who live in comfortable holes and seek only to fill their days with mirth and pleasure.

This will be a time of reaping what has been sown. Those who have sown for years, even decades, with little harvest will need help to gather in all that will be provided. The whirlwind that brings harsh judgment to some will bring great grace to others.

Now is the time to establish safe environments, clean dwellings, and fortified storehouses.

Tabernacles

Bill Somers

> Col 2:16 Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days:
> 17 Which are a shadow of things to come; ….

This is third in a series of articles on the major biblical feasts. It follows The Passover Pattern and A Few Looks at Pentecost; both posted earlier this year [2003].

We are going to cover the basic layout of the Feast of Tabernacles, and then focus on two major prophetic themes of this feast. They are The Revelation of Jesus Christ and End Time Revival and Harvest. Along the way, we will look at biblical events that took place during the feasts as partial fulfillment of their prophetic meaning. And we will examine the question: What exactly does it take to transform a believer into a totally obedient servant of the Lord?

The Feast of Tabernacles

The Feast of Tabernacles has a double meaning. It is often used in a general way to denote the entire group of fall feasts. Specifically it refers to a 7-day period from Tishri 15-21. This is similar to how Passover is used to mean the group of spring feasts, but the actual Passover is just one day of those feasts.

Tabernacles Ordinances

Here is the portion of scripture that lays out the basic ordinances of the fall feasts, or Tabernacles.

> Leviticus 23:23 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
> 24 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall ye have a sabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, an holy convocation.
> 25 Ye shall do no servile work therein: but ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.
> 26 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
> 27 Also on the tenth day of this seventh month there shall be a day of atonement: it shall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye shall afflict your souls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.
> 28 And ye shall do no work in that same day: for it is a day of atonement, to make an atonement for you before the LORD your God.
> 29 For whatsoever soul it be that shall not be afflicted in that same day, he shall be cut off from among his people.
> 30 And whatsoever soul it be that doeth any work in that same day, the same soul will I destroy from among his people.
> 31 Ye shall do no manner of work: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations in all your dwellings.
> 32 It shall be unto you a sabbath of rest, and ye shall afflict your souls: in the ninth day of the month at even, from even unto even, shall ye celebrate your sabbath.
> 33 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
> 34 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, The fifteenth day of this seventh month shall be the feast of tabernacles for seven days unto the LORD.
> 35 On the first day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein.
> 36 Seven days ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: on the eighth day shall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: it is a solemn assembly; and ye shall do no servile work therein.
> 37 These are the feasts of the LORD, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD, a burnt offering, and a meat offering, a > sacrifice, and drink offerings, every thing upon his day:

> 38 Beside the sabbaths of the LORD, and beside your gifts, and beside all your vows, and beside all your freewill offerings, which ye give unto the LORD.
> 39 Also in the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD seven days: on the first day shall be a sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a sabbath.
> 40 And ye shall take you on the first day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days.
> 41 And ye shall keep it a feast unto the LORD seven days in the year. It shall be a statute for ever in your generations: ye shall celebrate it in the seventh month.
> 42 Ye shall dwell in booths seven days; all that are Israelites born shall dwell in booths:
> 43 That your generations may know that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.
> 44 And Moses declared unto the children of Israel the feasts of the LORD.

The Jewish Calendar

The Jewish calendar is a lunar calendar and each month begins on a day of the new moon. To even up the lunar calendar with our solar calendar, an extra month is added every 3 months or 7 times in 19 years according to Kevin Conner [The Feasts of Israel 1980 Bible Temple Pubs]. This is why Passover [and Easter], Jewish New Year and Tabernacles fall at different times of the year in our solar calendar. Passover comes in the first month of the Jewish religious calendar, named Aviv also known as [a.k.a.] Nisan. Tabernacles comes in the seventh month, named Tishri.

Here's a little chart of how the months run.

Solar Calendar	Sacred Calendar	Civil Calendar
March-April	Aviv or Nisan	Tishri
April-May	Iyyar	Heshvan
May-June	Sivan	Kieslev
June-July	Tammuz	Tebeth
July-August	Ab or Av	Shebat
August-September	Elul	Adar
September-October	Tishri	Aviv or Nisan
October-November	Heshvan	Iyyar
November-December	Kieslev	Sivan
December-January	Tebeth	Tammuz
January-February	Shebat	Ab or Av
February-March	Adar and Adar II	Elul and Elul II

In years where an extra month is added, the extra month comes at the end of the religious year. So in those years you have Adar I and Adar II. This means that there is a constant set of intervals between the Passover feasts and the Tabernacles feasts. And that Nisan is always the first month of the religious year, Tishri is always the seventh month of the religious year and the first month of the civil year.

If you think this is confusing, you're right.

I have found that many of the authorities, who are supposed to be experts on this stuff will give you differing dates for the feasts. [Authorities are like lawyers or economists, if you have three of them in the same room, you'll get 5 opinions.]

To make things more interesting, the Jewish calendar day changes at 6pm in the afternoon instead of at 12 midnight.

If you think this is confusing, you're really right.

The Layout of Passover

Here's an example going back to material from The Passover Pattern. Some authorities claim Passover falls on the 14th and some claim it falls on the 15th. The catch is that the day begins at 6pm in the Jewish calendar. So, it works like this.

On the 10th of Nisan, they take a lamb from the flock. It's inspected for 4 days.
On the 14th the lamb is killed and roasted, from 3 - 6pm.
At 6pm, the day changes to the 15th.
Then the lamb is eaten.
Also, on the 15th begins the first day of The Feast of Unleavened Bread. It runs for 7 days.
On the 16th is the feast of First Fruits.
The 16 is also the first day of the Counting of the Omer. This is where 50 days are counted off till Pentecost.

So as near as I can figure it out it works like this.

The 14th of Nisan or Aviv is called 'The preparation of the Passover'.

The 15th is called Passover and the beginning of Unleavened Bread.

The 16th is called First Fruits or day 1 of the Omer.

Day 1 of the Omer is the first day of the 50-day count leading to Pentecost a.k.a. Shavuot.

Pentecost falls on Sivan 6.

[Some authorities [Kevin Conner, in The Feasts of Israel, 1980] claim that First Fruits falls on the 18th as that is the day of Jesus resurrection. I use a Jewish Calendar Program that runs on Windows called Kaluach. You can down load it Here; it's about 400KB. This calendar shows day 1 of the Omer on the 16th, but it does not specify a day for First Fruits, [Bikkurim in Hebrew]. Eddie Chumney says, "Today, this festival is not observed in traditional Judaism." The Seven Festivals Of The Messiah Eddie Chumney http://www.hebroots.com]

Now here is the layout of the Fall Feasts a.k.a. Tabernacles.

Tabernacles Basics

1. Season of Teshuvah

   Meaning: A time of turning

   Dates: Elul 1 - Tishri 10

   Idea: This is a season of repenting in preparation for the High Holy days to come.
2. Feast of Trumpets a.k.a. Rosh Hashanah also Yom Teruah

   Meaning: Rosh Hashanah is Head of the Year, Yom Teruah is Day of the awakening blast [of the trumpet or shofar], a shout, or a War Cry.

   This is Jewish New Year, the first day of the civil year. In the religious calendar, it is the first day of the seventh month.

Idea: Blow a Trumpet in Zion, a Call for Repentance

3. Days of Awe a.k.a. Yomim Noraim

   Meaning: Fearsome or awesome days

   Dates: Tishri 1 - 10

   Idea: A period of even more intense repentance. These are the High Holy Days.
4. Day of Atonement a.k.a. Yom Kippur

   Meaning: Day of atoning sacrifice.

   Dates: Tishri 10

   Idea: Getting Right with God
5. Tabernacles a.k.a. Succot [or Succoth]

   Meaning: Booths

   Dates: Tishri 15-21

   Idea: Preparing a Dwelling, Time of Great Joy, Harvest
6. The Eighth Day or The Great Day a.k.a. Shemini Atzeret

Meaning: The eighth assembly

Dates: Tishri 22

Idea: Even more great Joy.

Rosh Hashanah is how most secular Jews refer to The Feast Of Trumpets. But it is not called that in the bible. All that Rosh Hashanah means is head of the year. We call it Jewish new years. We celebrate new years on January 1, there is also Chinese new years, and so on. But The Feast Of Trumpets is not just another day to celebrate. Observant Jews and anyone who understands the feasts know it as Yom Teruah, the day of the shout or awakening blast.

Eddie Chumney points out the importance of the idea of awakening.

> The theme of awakening from sleep is used throughout the Bible. It is found in John (Yochanan) 11:11; Romans 13:11; Daniel 12:1-2; and Psalm (Tehillim) 78:65. In Isaiah 51:9 it is written, "Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the Lord; awake as in the days of old, the generations of long ago..." (NAS). The arm of the Lord is used as a term for the Messiah in Isaiah (Yeshayahu) 53:1. The word arm is the Hebrew word zeroah. During Passover (Pesach), a shankbone, known as the zeroah, is put on the plate. So, "awake" is a term or idiom for Rosh HaShanah. In Isaiah (Yeshayahu) 51:9 quoted earlier, the awakening is associated with the coming of the Messiah. (Eddie Chumney)

A Pattern in the Fall Feasts

OK lets look at the ideas behind each element here.
A Season Of Repenting
A Call For Repentance
Intense Repentance
Getting Right with God
Preparing a Dwelling, Time of Great Joy, Harvest

Do you see a pattern here? First of all, we see Repentance, Repentance and Repentance. That's a great thing, you can't overstress it. It's like those other repetitive slogans: Location, Location and Location; or Prioritize, Prioritize and Prioritize.

And then what does repentance produce? Getting right with God of course!

OK so what does Getting right with God result it? It results in a great many things, and they are expressed in a great variety of ways all through the bible. Here we see three mentioned.

Getting right with God brings great joy. There is just nothing comparable to the Joy of the Lord! He says The Joy of the Lord is my strength.

Preparing a Dwelling speaks of dwelling with God and Him dwelling with you. It's entering in and dwelling with Him, in his Rest and his Peace.

Consider now that Tabernacles is the seventh feast and comes in the seventh month. It is a High Holy Day and a Sabbath [Lev. 23:39]. Entering in and dwelling with Him, in his Rest as we said above speaks of the Sabbath rest. In the quotes from Leviticus you can see a continual emphasis on doing no work. This is a time when we must stop all striving, struggling and trying to do things in our own strength. A time to give up what we have on our agenda and get with God's agenda.

As the Sabbath is the seventh day, it corresponds to the seventh millennium in God's prophetic week. This is a clue that the final fulfillment of Tabernacles is in this seventh millennium.

Now tabernacles takes place during the time of fruit harvest. [Passover is at the barley harvest, and Pentecost is at the wheat harvest, so the idea of harvest is always an element of these feasts.]

Getting right with God brings a great harvest into his Kingdom. This is also part of the Joy.

From this, you should be able to see elements of one of our two main themes: End Time Revival and Harvest.

Alternate Names of the Feasts

The Feast of Tabernacles was also called
The Feast of Ingathering, because in took place in the season of harvest
The Feast of The Seventh Month, because in took place in the seventh month
The Feast of Dedication, because Solomon dedicated the temple at this time
The Feast of The Open Book, because people were taught the Law at this time
The Feast of Illumination, because the temple was illuminated at this time
The Feast of The Outpouring Of The Waters, because they had a water pouring ceremony at this time. Each of these titles is also prophetic.

Hanukah is also called The Feast of Dedication and this is another source of confusion. The bible speaks of Jesus in temple during the Feast of Dedication, John 10:22, and some writers take that to mean Hanukah. Since Hanukah is not one of the festivals mentioned by Moses, I tend to think that the incident refers to tabernacles.

Prophetic Types

Earlier we quoted Colossians chapter 2:

> Col 2:16 Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days:
> 17 Which are a shadow of things to come*; . . .*

When the bible says something is a shadow, it means that it is an image or figure; it is a picture. It is a type and in effect, a prophecy of things to come. This is why we study the feasts, not so we can impress people with our knowledge of Jewish practices.

Here is another way of explaining it.

In 1991 Destiny Image published a book by Lou Berthleson titled Holiness for these Awesome Days. Here is what he says in chapter one about the prophetic nature of the Feasts of the Lord.

> Our study of patterns will begin with the feasts of the Lord as set forth in Leviticus 23. The Jews saw these as appointments with the Lord Jehovah. They called the festivals Miqra', or rehearsals.
> In First Thessalonians 5:1-5 Paul addresses mature Jews about the "appointed" time of Jesus' return. He referred to the festivals, Sabbaths and new moons that were the focus of the Jews' religious calendar.

> The word "times" in First Thessalonians 5:1-5 is Mowed, which is translated, "a specific appointment in time, a particular time or appointed season." The seven feasts of the Lord were given as appointments or rehearsals. They were designed by the Lord to foretell the events that would surround the coming of His Son and ever point to the proper attitudes requited of believers.

A Bigger Pattern

Lou Berthleson also mentions a certain pattern in the events of the first feast of tabernacles that links it with the patterns of Passover and Pentecost. This pattern is also prophetic, and relates to the coming of the Lord. Here it is in part:
Moses came down from the mountain with the second set of stone tables on the Day of Atonement.

Now the questions this raises are several. What is the significance of Moses returning exactly on the Day of Atonement? How does this connect with Passover and Pentecost?

How does this fit in with the pattern of the fall feasts mentioned above? What does it have to do with the Revelation of Jesus Christ? And what is the connection to the coming of the Lord?

First of all lets look at a brief summary of the events in Exodus.

In the Exodus, Moses led the people out of Egypt at Passover.

Then they journey to Mt. Sinai and receive the law at Pentecost.

The Lord gives Moses the stone tables. Then after Moses breaks the first set of stone tables, he ascends the mountain again. He comes down again after some time with the second set of stone tables. He instructs the people to begin gathering the materials to build the tabernacle. This happened on or about the time of Tabernacles.

The tabernacle is completed 6 months later on the first day of the first month, just in time for the celebration of the Passover.

So, we can see that Passover is the beginning and the end. All of the feasts point to Jesus, our Passover, and all are prophetic.

> Revelation 22:13 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

Each of the feasts has been partly fulfilled by Jesus, in the past, and awaits a further fulfillment to come. We are starting to see a connection with our other main theme, the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

This also brings up one more question, how did Jesus partly fulfill the feast of tabernacles? We can see that he fulfilled Passover in his death and resurrection. And we see that the coming of the Holy Spirit in Acts 2 is a fulfillment of Pentecost. But what did he do that fulfilled tabernacles? Don't let me forget to come back to this question.

123 Days.

Now we just said earlier that Moses came down from the mountain with the second set of stone tables on the Day of Atonement. But in our short summary, all we said was that it happened on or about the feast of tabernacles. How do we peg this to be exactly on the Day of Atonement? Psalm 90 speaks of numbering days, so we'll do just that.

> Ps 90:12 So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.

We saw above that the day after Passover was the first of 50 days counting off till Pentecost. So, there is our connection between Passover and Pentecost. Using a handy dandy Jewish calendar we will find that from Pentecost to Trumpets is 113 days and to the Day of Atonement is 123 days

Moses Timetable

So, we need to look at Moses schedule after Israel received the Law on the first Pentecost. Part of it is found in Exodus, and part in Deuteronomy.

First of all, Moses goes up on the mountain for 40 days.

> De 9:9 When I was gone up into the mount to receive the tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant which the LORD made with you, then I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights, I neither did eat bread nor drink water:

Then he has to hurry back down the mountain to find the people have been worshipping a golden calf.

> De 9:16 And I looked, and, behold, ye had sinned against the LORD your God, and had made you a molten calf: ye had turned aside quickly out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.
> 17 And I took the two tables, and cast them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes.

Moses repents before the Lord another 40 days.

> De 9:18 And I fell down before the LORD, as at the first, forty days and forty nights:

Then Moses takes and destroys the golden calf. [The order of these events is not perfectly clear.]

> De 9:21 And I took your sin, the calf which ye had made, and burnt it with fire, and stamped it, and ground it very small, even until it was as small as dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the brook that descended out of the mount.

Next Moses makes an ark and prepares two more tables of stone.

> De 10:1 At that time the LORD said unto me, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first, and come up unto me into the mount, and make thee an ark of wood.

Moses spends another 40 days on the mountain.

> Ex 34:28 And he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water. And he wrote upon the tables the words of the covenant, the ten commandments.

Finally, Moses comes back down.

> De 10:5 And I turned myself and came down from the mount, and put the tables in the ark which I had made; and there they be, as the LORD commanded me.

There are three periods of 40 days here, allowing a day for destroying the golden calf, a day to make the ark, and a day to prepare the second set of tables, we get 123 days. This places Moses return on the Day of Atonement. This is not a precise proof since we are estimating the extra three days, but it all works out very neatly making the third 40 day period line up exactly with the season of Teshuvah. He that has an ear will hear.

So, Moses returns from the mountain on the Day of Atonement. What does this signify? If we ask why did Moses return on that day, the answer would be to set in place a pattern that points to future events relating to the coming of the Lord.

Moses coming down from the mountain speaks of the Lord coming down from Heaven. We can see this in more depth by looking at more of the details.

What do we know about the Day of Atonement? Among other things, special sacrifices were made that day. It is the day of atoning sacrifice.

In the book of Hebrews, we find this description:

> Heb 9:1 Then verily the first covenant had also ordinances of divine service, and a worldly sanctuary.
> 2 For there was a tabernacle made; the first, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread; which is called the sanctuary.

> 3 And after the second veil, the tabernacle which is called the Holiest of all;
> 4 Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot that had manna, and Aaron's rod that budded, and the tables of the covenant;
> 5 And over it the cherubims of glory shadowing the mercyseat; of which we cannot now speak particularly.
> 6 Now when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God.
> 7 But into the second went the high priest alone once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himself, and for the errors of the people:

The tabernacle which is called the Holiest of all is what we know as the holy of holies. The high priest would enter there once every year. This was on the Day of Atonement.

This description from Hebrews harkens back to Leviticus 16 where the Lord is telling Moses about the high priest burning incense and sprinkling the blood.

> Le 16:12 And he shall take a censer full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before the LORD, and his hands full of sweet incense beaten small, and bring it within the vail:
> 13 And he shall put the incense upon the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of the incense may cover the mercy seat that is upon the testimony, that he die not:
> 14 And he shall take of the blood of the bullock, and sprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy seat eastward; and before the mercy seat shall he sprinkle of the blood with his finger seven times.

This is the context of Luke 1:8-11 when Zacharias goes in to burn incense and meets the angel.

Now a key verse to understanding what happens here is Leviticus 16:2

> Le 16:2 And the LORD said unto Moses, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail before the mercy seat, which is upon the ark; that he die not: for I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy seat.

This is telling us that on the Day of Atonement, when the High Priest enters the Holy of Holies, the Lord Appears to him, in the cloud on the mercy seat, right on the top of the ark of the covenant. So Moses coming down from the mountain on the Day of Atonement coincides with the Lord coming down to meet the high priest on that day.

This is the one day of the year that the Lord appears in the temple. You could say that the Lord reveals himself in the temple on that day. Then you start to see a little more connection with the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

That is only part of the significance of Moses return. To comprehend the rest of it, we need to look at what else Moses does and what happens as a result.

Remember that the first time that Moses disappeared for 40 days, the people got restless and went into rebellion and idolatry. Compare that to the second time Moses came down, what happened then?

For one thing, he manifested the Glory of God.

> Ex 34:29 And it came to pass, when Moses came down from mount Sinai with the two tables of testimony in Moses' hand, when he came down from the mount, that Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone while he talked with him.

Secondly, the people experienced a Fear of the Lord.

> 30 And when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face shone; and they were afraid to come nigh him.

Thirdly, He began to instruct the people.

> Ex 35:1 And Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together, and said unto them, These are the words which the LORD hath commanded, that ye should > do them.

In the very next verse, Moses emphasized the Sabbath rest of the Lord and called for holiness.

> Ex 35:2 Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day there shall be to you an holy day, a sabbath of rest to the LORD: whosoever doeth work therein shall be put to death.

Then in Exodus 35:4 and following he commands the people to gather the materials for construction of the tabernacle. And instead of the usual rebellion and murmuring, we find willing obedience.

> Ex 35:21 And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing*, and they brought the LORD'S offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments.*

The people are described as willing five times in Ex 35.

What is it that made them so willing? To put it another way, what does it take to transform a believer into a totally obedient servant? Consider the following:

> Jer 31:31 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah:
> 32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD:
> 33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts*; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.*
> 34 And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the LORD: for they shall all know me*, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the LORD: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more.*

This tells us of a new covenant that the Lord intends to make with his people. He will write his law in our hearts. And we shall all know Him. This is part of the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

Here is another description from Jeremiah 32.

> Jer 32:40 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

Here we see that this new covenant will make it so that his people will not depart from him. Ezekiel explains it this way:

> Eze 36:26 A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh.
> 27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes*, and ye shall* keep my judgments*, and do them.*

The Lord is promising that he will cause us to obey him! This will certainly do the job of seeing us become totally willing and obedient. It means getting right with God and staying that way.

Willing And Obedient

So, when Moses finds the people willing and obedient what does that typify? Remember what Moses brought with him on his return. It was the second set of stone tables. Symbolically the first set of tables was the first covenant, and the second set of tables represents this second covenant.

So now, we see some more significance in Moses actions. Moses coming down from the mountain with the second set of tables is prophetic of the Lord coming to his people and establishing this second covenant that Jeremiah and Ezekiel wrote about. The new covenant is what makes us willing and obedient.

Are There Two Second Comings Of The Lord?

In the Revelation of Jesus Christ, chapter 19 depicts the Second Coming like this:

> Re 19:11 And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war.
> 12 His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself.

But in Hosea, we read that he will come to us as the latter rain!

> Ho 6:1 Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up.
> 2 After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.
> *3 Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

In Joel chapter 2 the same ideas is expressed.

> Joe 2:23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month.
> 28 And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions:
> 29 And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit.

So, we need to consider two comings of the Lord, one spiritual, and one physical or literal.

Hosea also tells us that this happens in the third day. Prophetically the third day is the third 1000-year period since Jesus first came and the 7th 1000-year period since Adam. This puts us in the seventh millennium or Sabbath Rest of the Lord. Earlier we said that tabernacles points to this seventh millennium.

So then, Moses return on the Day of Atonement is a prophetic picture of the spiritual coming of the Lord during the 7th millennium. Ezekiel 36:27 says And I will put my spirit within you, [this is a spiritual coming] and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them. And this spiritual coming brings the new covenant with it. This is what it takes to make a believer become a totally willing and obedient servant.

Other places in the scripture tell about the people being willing. Notably Judges 5:1-5 and Psalm 110 which alludes to the third day as the Day of thy Power.

> Ps 110:3 Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holiness from the womb of the morning: thou hast the dew of thy youth.

Also compare Hosea 6:1-2 with this passage in Jeremiah 32, the same chapter we cited above concerning the new covenant.

> Jer 32:42 For thus saith the LORD; Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, so will I bring upon them all the good that I have promised them.

Earlier we said that our two themes are The Revelation of Jesus Christ and End Time Revival and Harvest. Well so far have we gotten two out of three. The coming of the Lord as the latter rain establishes the second covenant by putting his Spirit within us.

It brings the Glory of God to his people and creates the Fear of the Lord within them. This is nothing less than the Revelation of Jesus Christ and it is End Time Revival. Since we become totally obedient servants of our King Jesus, it is also the Kingdom of God in its fullness.

You can find other examples of how the Revelation of Jesus Christ transforms someone into a totally obedient servant, Isaiah 6 for example. The most notable of these is what happened to a man named Saul of Tarsus on the road to Damascus.

Harvest

Now what about harvest? What do Moses actions prophesy in the way of harvest?

Moses commanded the people to collect the materials for construction of the tabernacle. The work was finished and tabernacle was raised up on the first day of Nisan or Aviv. It was done in time for the Passover!

> Ex 40:17 And it came to pass in the first month in the second year, on the first day of the month, that the tabernacle was reared up.

And here we find our answer. Gathering the materials for the tabernacle represents the harvest. The Passover is the [physical] Second Coming of Jesus Christ! This means that Moses actions here are an allegory of God's entire end time plan.

Everything we have said about the feast of tabernacles relates to that end time plan.

God's Dwelling Place

So how does the gathering of the materials for the tabernacle tell us anything about harvest?

The tabernacle was to be God's dwelling place. Later a temple was built for God's dwelling place. David spoke of building him a house to dwell in. These three terms for God's dwelling all speak of the church, this is to be a spiritual dwelling, the house or family of God. [Note that the bible speaks of someone's family as being their house in many cases, as in house of Jacob, or house of Joseph.] There is also a connection between the idea of the house of God and the Body of Christ. They are ways of saying the same thing for a spirit can dwell in a body in the same manner as a man can live in a house.

> Ac 7:48 Howbeit the most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands; as saith the prophet,
> 1Co 3:16 Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

So ultimately, God is not going to dwell in a physical structure at all.

> Re 21:3 And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.

The materials of the tabernacle or temple speak of men, the souls of men, which are to be harvested in these end times. Peter uses this analogy to speak of us as lively stones.

> 1Pe 2:5 Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

Being a lively stone means being a part of the spiritual temple. It is also to be a member of the family or part of the body. In Ephesians 2, these ideas are tied together.

> Eph 2:19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God;
> 20 And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;
> 21 In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord:
> 22 In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.

We see here in this passage a mention of being fellow citizens, which would mean citizens of the Kingdom of God. Next mentioned is the household of God, so we are part of the family of God. Also, we are built into a habitation of God, a dwelling, through the Spirit, that is the second covenant, his spirit in us. We are built on the foundation where Jesus is the chief cornerstone. In him, the building is fitly framed. That is the building or body if you please is properly assembled. And the building or body, once properly assembled, grows into a holy temple. So, we are to be built into God's dwelling place.

There are two very important points to notice here. One, the building or body is properly assembled in Christ; the phrase fitly framed is also sometimes translated as rightly joined. Two, the building or body then grows.

The same idea is seen later in Ephesians 4.

> Eph 4:14 That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;
> 15 But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ:
> 16 From whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love.

Here it speaks of maturity as growing up, that is growing up into Him, Christ, the Head of the Body. So that maturity is to be in Christ. Next, we see mentioned that the whole body is fitly joined to the head. And that this causes the body to increase or be built up.

Assembly And Growth

The two ideas here are assembly and growth. They relate very simple to our theme. Assembly is End Time Revival, and Growth is the Harvest.

In our case of Moses, we can see these two points clearly.

His coming down on the day of atonement and finding the people willing to hear the word of the Lord and obey speaks of End Time Revival, which means the proper assembly of The Body Of Christ. The gathering of the building materials then speaks of the growth of the body once it is properly assembled, in other words, the harvest.

An Illustration from Scripture

This can be seen illustrated in the story of the construction of Solomon's temple.

David had the desire to build a house or temple, but God only allowed him to gather some of the materials and plan for the building.

Solomon, Shelomoh in Hebrew, means peaceful. His name speaks of the time of peace or rest. The Sabbath rest or seventh day is when the actual assembly and completion of God's dwelling takes place. His dwelling is his rest or place of rest. Psalm 132 is a prayer for the Lord to come into his rest. This means to come and dwell in his resting-place. This resting-place is in his body, the church, once it is properly assembled.

> Ps 132:8 Arise, O LORD, into thy rest; thou, and the ark of thy strength.

When David passed on and Solomon came to rule speaks of this time of rest. And it was Solomon who built the temple, which is a type of the place of rest. Solomon used the materials David had gathered but also gathered 10 times as much besides that, which also went into the temple building.

Now look at the ideas of assembly and growth. Solomon assembled the materials David gathered, and then he added another 10 times more. Comparing this to the end time revival it implies that the Body Of Christ will experience at least a 10 times increase in growth during the harvest, once it is revived [properly assembled].

Let's take this illustration a little further. David's rule represents the church from the time of Jesus till now. Just as David gathered building materials, the church has had converts all this time. David never actually constructed the temple. In like manner the church has never been properly assembled, at least that part of it that is on the earth. When Solomon took over all he had was a lot of building materials laying all about in no particular order. This is like the church of today. We have millions of Christians all over the world who are not rightly connected or assembled into a body. In many cases, they are actually fighting each other. Solomon starts to build the temple and put all the materials at hand to use. Likewise the coming of the Lord as the latter rain will put things in order in his Church, and establish his kingdom.

A Recap

What we've seen here so far is this:

We saw that the basic pattern of Tabernacles could be summed up like this. Repentance, repentance, repentance, getting right with God; followed by the dwelling place and great joy in the harvest.

Then we analyzed Moses' actions at the first tabernacles. We can see that this basic pattern is contained in Moses' actions and that our two main themes are present also.

Moses spends a second 40 days on the mountain. This speaks of repentance.

Moses coming down on the Day of Atonement points to the coming of the Lord in the end times as the Latter Rain. This is The Revelation of Jesus Christ.

Moses teaching the word of God to the people points to Jesus who is the word of God. This is The Revelation of Jesus Christ.

Moses' arrival brings the Glory of God, The Fear of the Lord and makes the people willing to serve. This points to End Time Revival, or in other words, getting right with God, which is a direct result of The Revelation of Jesus Christ.

Moses instructing the people to gather materials and raise up the tabernacle points to End Time Harvest.

Everything Moses did points to what Jesus is going to do in the end times. It is all the work of the Lord.

In Zechariah 4, we see this verse speaking about Zerubbabel. He is also a type of Jesus, so as you read this verse substitute the name of Jesus for Zerubbabel.

> Zec 4:9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you.

This shows that the Lord begins the work and He is the one to finish it.

Partial Fulfillments Of Tabernacles

Like the other feasts the Lord established by Moses, Tabernacles has had several partial fulfillments. We're now going to look at a few.

Moses and the Open Book

In chapter 31 of Deuteronomy, there is a special mention of the Feast of Tabernacles and Moses actions at that time which relate to it as the Feast of the Open Book. The entire chapter covers this but the key elements are found here:

> De 31:9 And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it unto the priests the sons of Levi, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and unto all the elders of Israel.
> 10 And Moses commanded them, saying, At the end of every seven years, in the solemnity of the year of release, in the feast of tabernacles,
> 11 When all Israel is come to appear before the LORD thy God in the place which he shall choose, thou shalt read this law before all Israel in their hearing.
> 12 Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn, and fear the LORD your God, and observe to do all the words of this law:
> 13 And that their children, which have not known any thing, may hear, and learn to fear > the LORD your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

Solomon's Dedication of the Temple

When Solomon had completed the temple, it was dedicated during tabernacles. The Ark of the Covenant was brought from Mt. Zion where David had placed it and taken into the temple. The Ark of course symbolizes the presence of God. Once it was properly located, the Glory of God manifested as a cloud that filled the temple, much as the same glory cloud filled the tabernacle in Moses' day. This is a case of the symbol immediately followed by the reality.

> 2 And all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto king Solomon at the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.
> 10 And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the LORD,
> 11 So that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD.

Haggai's prophecies

In the Book of Haggai, the prophet's very name is prophetic. It means festive, feast, festival of Jehovah or born at the time of the festival. Haggai gives three prophecies, all having to do with the rebuilding of the temple, which he calls the House of the Lord.

All three prophecies are given on very specific dates. The first one comes on the first day of the sixth month, which is the start of Teshuvah, the season of repentance.

> Hag 1:1 In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet unto Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, saying,
> 2 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not come, the time that the LORD'S house should be built.
> 7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Consider your ways.
> 8 Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith the LORD.

The second prophecy of Haggai comes on the last day of tabernacles proper.

> Hag 2:1 In the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD by the prophet Haggai, saying,
> 2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,
> 3 Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do ye see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it as nothing?
> 4 Yet now be strong, O Zerubbabel, saith the LORD; and be strong, O Joshua, son of Josedech, the high priest; and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and work: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts:
> 5 According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt, so my spirit remaineth among you: fear ye not.
> 6 For thus saith the LORD of hosts; Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land;
> 7 And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the LORD of hosts.
> 8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts.
> 9 The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, saith the LORD of hosts.

The third prophecy was given on the day before Hanukah, and speaks of further blessings to come. Hanukah was not established at the time of Haggai and significance of the timing is unclear.

Nehemiah and the Open Book

In the book of Nehemiah, there is a partial fulfillment of tabernacles. It's found in verses 7:73 through 8:18. Here we read of a solemn gathering of the people that took place in the seventh month, the time of the fall feasts.

> Ne 8:1 And all the people gathered themselves together as one man into the street that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded to Israel.

Here in this verse are four things you should hear with spiritual ears. First, the people come into unity. Second the water gate speaks of the pouring out of the Spirit, Third, Ezra the scribe is a type of the Holy Spirit because a scribe is one who writes out the Law, and the Spirit is the one who inspired the writers of the bible. Fourth, the scribe brings the 'book of the law', this points to The Revelation of Jesus Christ.

This chapter goes on to describe how Ezra read from the book and taught the people to understand it's meaning. There are 10 or 12 references, depending on how you count them, which imply that the people received and understood the meaning of the word. This harkens back to the idea that Tabernacles is the Feast of the Open Book. And it also speaks of the opening of the seven-sealed scroll in Revelation. And of course opening the book that was sealed once again speaks of the Revelation of Jesus Christ. Let's look at this in detail.

The Meaning Of The Scroll

Moses had a commission to tell the Israelites that God had sent him. 'Tell them I am that I am'. That I AM had sent him. He also had authority to pronounce judgments.

Jesus had the same commission to reveal the Nature of God to the people of God. And he had the authority to pronounce judgments.

In the End Times, it will be God's people in this role.

In Revelation 5, The Lamb who is worthy takes the scroll. Some claim that the scroll represents the decrees of God concerning the acts of judgment and redemption to occur in the last days. The seven seals represent the judgments and they are opened by Jesus, the Lamb, because he has the authority to initiate all the judgments to follow.

Other writers have claimed that the scroll is the 'title deed to planet earth' or a catalog of woe and sorrow.

Kevin Conner says:

> The opening of the Book in the Feast of Tabernacles is alluded to in the opening of the Seven-sealed Book in Revelation 5:1-5 and the opened little book in Revelation 10:1-11. The Book is God's Word, the Holy Bible, the Book of Redemption. [p. 92}

I too prefer to think of the scroll as representing the bible itself. The reasons for this are scriptural and provide a marvelous glimpse of the sheer genius of God in the construction of his word.

1. The Scroll is said to be written within and without or on the front and back side. Rev. 5:1

2. The stone tables of the Law given to Moses are said to be written on the front and back sides.

> Ex 32:15 And Moses turned, and went down from the mount, and the two tables of the testimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other were they written.

This identifies the scroll with the law, hence with the bible, and ultimately with the Word of God, Jesus. So, Moses coming down with the law is like the Holy Spirit coming to reveal Jesus.

3. Since part is on the back side, then clearly it's not all readily apparent. Some meaning is hidden. The sealed scroll clearly has only a part of the writing visible.

4. There are several references to books being sealed in the O T. [Isa 8:16, 29:11-12, and Dan 12:4] Daniel says they are sealed till the end. Here opening the scroll is the unsealing of the books.

5. Opening the seals means revealing hidden meaning in the Word. So opening the scroll is one of many illustrations of the key concept summarized in the opening verse of Revelation. The Revelation of Jesus Christ.

6. Jesus is the only one who can open the scroll. No man is worthy. This shows that God reveals himself. Man cannot learn of these things on his own.

7. Each seal that is opened produces a judgment, and this also speaks of the Revelation of Jesus Christ since as Ps 9:16 says "The LORD is known by the judgment which he executeth: …."

So, the Lamb that was slain is Jesus Christ. The Scroll is Jesus Christ. Opening the Scroll is the Revelation of Jesus Christ. The Judgments that come forth are the Revelation of Jesus Christ. And the book is the Revelation of Jesus Christ. The Bible is The Revelation of Jesus Christ. In other words, it's all about knowing God.

Since the Feast of Tabernacles points to the opening of the Book, we may expect that God will reveal hidden meanings in the bible during the End Time revival. In fact, that's what is prophesied in Daniel 12.

> Da 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.
> Da 12:9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end.

Jesus' Fulfillments Of Tabernacles

In the gospel of John chapters 7, 8 and 9 all take place during tabernacles. The beginning of chapter 7 has a discussion with his brothers about going up to Jerusalem for the feast of tabernacles. He tells them to go but that he would not go up yet.

> John 7:10 But when his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

Then in verse 14 Jesus suddenly shows up.

> John 7:14 Now about the midst of the feast Jesus went up into the temple, and taught.

Since this shows the Lord coming to the temple during the feast, it counts as a partial fulfillment of tabernacles.

Also it is a partial fulfillment of Malachi 3:1

> Mal 3:1 Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple*, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts.*

Later on we read:

> John 7:37 In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.
> 38 He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.
> 39 (But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)

Here also is a partial fulfillment in which Jesus also reveals himself as the source of living water, and speaks of the pouring out of the Holy Spirit. It ties in with tabernacles as The Feast of The Outpouring

Of The Waters. It's another case of the Revelation of Jesus Christ. Also, note that this happened on the exact same day as Haggai's second prophecy.

On the very next day in John chapter 8 we see how Jesus duplicates the action of Moses coming down from the mountain and teaching the people. Note also that he came into the temple. This is another partial fulfillment of tabernacles.

> John 8:1 Jesus went unto the mount of Olives.
> 2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them.

Later in that same chapter, we see Jesus revealing himself again as the light of the world. This ties in with tabernacles as the Feast of Illumination.

> Joh 8:12 Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

Acts Chapter 2

In the second chapter of Acts, the Holy Spirit comes upon the assembled group of disciples.

> Ac 2:1 And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place.
> 2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.
> 3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them.

This is generally regarded as the beginning of the church, the giving of the Spirit and the start of the New Covenant. This is partly true. It was a partial fulfillment for the building of the church, a partial fulfillment of the giving of the Holy Spirit, and a partial fulfillment of the New Covenant. These three ideas here are all roughly synonymous ways of looking at the same thing.

Verse 1 above says "they were all with one accord in one place." The idea here is unity of the brethren. So clearly, this is a also partial fulfilling of Psalms 133, which speaks of the End Time Revival in terms of the anointing coming upon the head and body of Aaron. It typifies the proper assembly of the head and body of Christ, for Jesus is our High Priest and in him is our place of unity. There we see the blessing come. That blessing is the Spirit, the presence and glory of God, life eternal. It is dwelling in the secret place of the most high as in Psalms 91, who is the way, the truth and the life.

> Ps 133:1 Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!
> 2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard: that went down to the skirts of his garments;
> 3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the LORD commanded the blessing, even life for evermore.

In The Last Days

We said the giving of the Holy Spirit in Acts 2 is a partial fulfillment. Peter in his sermon that day makes mention of the prophecy of Joel. He is telling the people that what they are experiencing that day is a fulfillment of Joel's prophecy.

> Ac 2:14 But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judaea, and all ye that dwell at Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken to my words:
> 15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, seeing it is but the third hour of the day.
> 16 But this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel;
> 17 And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams:
> 18 And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; > and they shall prophesy:

This is a reference to Joel Chapter 2:28-29.

We know it's only a partial fulfillment because the rest of what Joel has to say there still awaits fulfillment in the last days. Look at verses 30-31.

> Joel 30 And I will shew wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke.
> 31 The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and the terrible day of the LORD come.

A Measure of the Spirit

The description of the coming of the Holy Spirit as cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them also indicates a partial fulfillment. It shows that each one received a measure of the Spirit. The had a small flame rest on them. The complete fulfillment will be intensely greater. It will be the Spirit without measure.

> Heb 12:29 For our God is a consuming fire.

The Pickle Recipe

As we are looking at the baptism of the Holy Spirit, a good way to explain this comes from a word study on baptism.

Some time back I copied the following definitions from the On Line Bible program. This definition of baptism came with a very interesting word study that illustrates what God is about to do in the Church. There are two words closely related to baptism; Bapto and Baptizo.

> baptizo {bap-tid'-zo}
> 1) to dip repeatedly, to immerse, to submerge (of vessels sunk)
> 2) to cleanse by dipping or submerging, to wash, to make clean with water, to wash one's self, bathe > bapto {bap'-to}
> 1) to dip, dip in, immerse
> 2) to dip into dye, to dye, colour
> Not to be confused with baptizo. The clearest example that shows the meaning of baptizo is a text from the Greek poet and physician Nicander, who lived about 200 B.C. It is a recipe for making pickles and is helpful because it uses both words. Nicander says that in order to make a pickle, the vegetable should first be 'dipped' (bapto) into boiling water and then 'baptised' (baptizo) in the vinegar solution. Both verbs concern the immersing of vegetables in a solution. But the first is temporary. The second, the act of baptising the vegetable, produces a permanent change.
> When used in the New Testament, this word more often refers to our union and identification with Christ than to our water baptism. E.g. Mark 16:16. 'He that believes and is baptised shall be saved'. Christ is saying that mere intellectual assent is not enough. There must be a union with him, a real change, like the vegetable to the pickle! Bible Study Magazine, James Montgomery Boice, May 1989.

The interesting idea here is that union with Christ is what He requires and when this is real, and not just a positive confession, there will come a real, permanent change in us. Like the vegetable is radically transformed, well so must we be transformed.

All the great moves of God in the past, including the book of Acts, have just been bapto's, temporary changes. The revivals of the past have had long term permanent effects of course but the awesome holiness, the irresistible power of the Lord has only lingered on for short periods.

Even this refreshing called the new wine or the river is just a bapto. A bapto is the ankle deep water of the river. the knee deep and waist deep, the chest deep water is still a bapto. At these levels, you can always get back out of the water. When it gets over your head, it's baptizo. See Ezekiel 47:1-5. When you can no longer go on your own way, it's baptizo. When you have to change from walking to swimming, never to go back it's baptizo. It's a permanent change. It's the kingdom of God come into your life and you entering into the kingdom. It's the manifesting of the sons of God.

Like the pickle is changed, we will take on the texture, the color, the taste and the aroma of the Lord God of Heaven. We will be like Him because we will see Him as He is. The world will forget what we were like before because they will see Jesus in us. That's what tabernacles is pointing us toward.

The Earnest of the Spirit

Another way to approach this partial fulfillment idea is to look at what the scriptures say about the Giving of the Spirit.

In Ephesians, it tells about being sealed by the Holy Spirit using the word earnest.

> Eph 1:13 In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise,
> 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory.
> Eph 4:30 And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

Second Corinthians also mentions the earnest of the Spirit.

> 2Co 1:21 Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God;
> 22 Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.
> 2Co 5:5 Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

So what is an earnest?

Strong's lexicon gives this definition:

> earnest - a pledge, i.e. part of the purchase-money or property given in advance as security for the rest.

In other words, an earnest is a down payment. It's only part of the payment. And the early church receiving this partial payment in Acts 2 means that it was a partial fulfillment.

The word for earnest is translated pledge in the Old Testament.

> Ge 38:18 And he said, What pledge shall I give thee? And she said, Thy signet, and thy bracelets, and thy staff that is in thine hand. And he gave it her, and came in unto her, and she conceived by him.

Easton's bible dictionary says this:

> The Spirit is the earnest of the believer's destined inheritance (2 Cor. 1:22; 5:5; Eph. 1:14). The word thus rendered is the same as that rendered "pledge" in Gen. 38:17-20; "indeed, the Hebrew word has simply passed into the Greek and Latin languages, probably through commercial dealings with the Phoenicians, the great trading people of ancient days. Originally it meant no more than a pledge; but in common usage it came to denote that particular kind of pledge which is a part of the full price of an article paid in advance; and as it is joined with the figure of a seal when applied to the Spirit, it seems to be used by Paul in this specific sense." The Spirit's gracious presence and working in believers is a foretaste to them of the blessedness of heaven. God is graciously pleased to give not only pledges but foretastes of future blessedness.

Ephesians 1:14 describes the Holy Spirit as the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession. As we are looking at the earnest meaning pledge or down payment, this tells us that the rest of the payment will come at the time of the redemption of the purchased possession. This is speaking of the redemption of the church by the full outpouring of the Spirit in the last days i.e. the End Times.

> Ac 20:28 Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God*, which he hath* purchased with his own blood.

The Double Portion

Now back in Joel 2 it also makes reference to the latter rain, which comes in the first month. This speaks of the time of Tabernacles.

> Joe 2:23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month.

We saw something similar in Hosea

> Hosea 6:3 Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

And in the New Testament, James mentions the same thing.

> Jas 5:7 Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain.

Each one of these verses mentions the former and the latter rain coming at the same time. Now the former rain is the spring rain, and the latter rain is the fall rain. [or vice versa depending on whom you consult.] But to have them both at the same time is a logical impossibility. The Lord is using this as a clue to show that he is speaking of the Double Portion. Which is to say the end time outpouring of the Spirit is going to be extra special, extra ordinary. The double portion is the inheritance of the First Born, The Lord Jesus Christ and those who are in him.

Tabernacles points to the Latter Rain - The Revelation of Jesus Christ

We have had a lot to say about the Spiritual Second Coming as the Latter Rain. We're going to list the various ideas mentioned so far and look at what else the bible has to say about it.

First, we saw that the Spiritual Second Coming as the Latter Rain is part of The Revelation of Jesus Christ.
It includes Showing forth the Glory of God, and experiencing the Fear of the Lord. These are a natural consequence of the presence of God.
It entails revealing the meaning of the word of God.
Holiness comes with entering into the Rest of God, i.e. the Sabbath.
It is the New Covenant making the people willing and obedient.
It is the End Time Revival, The Day of God's Power, The Coming of the Kingdom, and the setting up of God's Eternal Dwelling Place.
The members of the Body of Christ will come to truly be in Christ, as they are properly assembled or rightly joined into His Body.
This is also the temple building becoming fitly framed.
God's people will all come to know him intimately as they enter into the Kingdom, Family and Household of the Lord.
It means the Spirit in us, leads us to maturity of the believer, because His Law will be written in our hearts and his Love will be set in our hearts.
It's the brethren living together in unity, under the outpouring of the Spirit.
It means being in the secret place of the most high, the place of peace that passes all understanding.

There Is More.

The Baptism of Fire

Earlier we looked at Malachi 3:1. Let's note what it says in verses 2 and 3.

> Mal 3:1 Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts.
> Mal 3:2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's fire*, and like fullers' soap:*
> 3 And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the LORD an offering in righteousness.

Malachi here mentions being refined or purified by fire. The same idea is found in the gospels when John the Baptist speaks of Jesus.

> Mt 3:11 I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance: but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire*:*
> 12 Whose fan is in his hand, and he will throughly purge his floor, and gather his wheat into the garner; but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.

> Lu 3:16 John answered, saying unto them all, I indeed baptize you with water; but one mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose: he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire*:*

The point here is that the baptism in the Holy Ghost is the earnest, the down payment. The Baptism of Fire is the payoff. It's what Jesus will use to purify the Church.

> Isa 33:14 The sinners in Zion are afraid; fearfulness hath surprised the hypocrites. Who among us shall dwell with the devouring fire*? who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings?*
> 15 He that walketh righteously, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil;

Purifying the Church

> Eph 5:26 That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, > 27 That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish.

Going Up To Zion

Psalm 24 touches on purifying the church, speaking of the church as the city set on a hill, Mt. Zion, The City Of The Great King.

> Ps 24:3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?
> 4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.
> 5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

The New Creation

Being In Christ is a great transformation. You become a new creature, carried by the spirit into the Kingdom of God.

> 2Co 5:17 Therefore if any man be in Christ*, he is a* new creature*: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.*

> Joh 3:5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and > of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

> Ro 8:1 There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
> Ro 8:10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.

Race, Gender, And Status Are Eliminated In Christ

The new man leaves old things behind.

> 1Co 13:11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

When we come into unity, the differences between us will be seen as childish things, left behind by coming into maturity.

> Ga 3:28 There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus.
> Ga 6:15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.
> Eph 4:23 And be renewed in the spirit of your mind;
> 24 And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness.

The Love of God

Being In Christ means having his Spirit in us, and his love.

> 1Jo 4:16 And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.
> Ro 5:5 And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us.
> Ro 8:39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

The Mystery Of God And The Hope Of Glory

The coming of the Lord as the Latter Rain will reveal mysteries.

> Col 1:25 Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God;
> 26 Even the mystery which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints:
> 27 To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory:

Partaking in the Divine Nature: Holiness

The Revelation of Jesus Christ means we will have a greatly increased knowledge of him and understanding of his ways. We shall see him as he is, and become as he is.

> *1Jo 3:2 Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.
> Ro 8:29 For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

> 2Pe 1:4 Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

> Heb 12:10 For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but he for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.

Glory and the Unity of the Brethren

Part of the blessing that comes with unity of the brethren is the Glory of God. Jesus prayed for this unity in John 17.

> Joh 17:20 Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word;
> 21 That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.
> 22 And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one:
> 23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me.
> 24 Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

> 2Co 3:18 But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.

Obedience to the Law in our Heart

In Psalm 40 we see a link between obedience to God's will and having his law in our hearts.

> Ps 40:8 I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart.

The 176 verses in Psalm 119 are written from the viewpoint of the end time believer who is going through the baptism of fire.

Completions and Conclusion

We could go on and on exploring all the ins and outs of these themes. Another 20 pages of scripture quotes would still not cover everything the bible has to say about the Revelation of Jesus Christ and the End Time Revival. Hopefully we have shared enough to let you see the implications of the pattern established in the Feast of Tabernacles.

Moses actions at the first tabernacles led to completion of the tabernacle in time to allow a celebration of Passover. All of these features of the Latter Rain lead to Completion of The Spiritual Temple. This means completion of the Global Witness when the gospel is preached through all the world.

At some point the Great Harvest comes to an end, and the enemy has his day. This we can see in Revelation 13.

> Re 13:7 And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations.

This is another completion as it brings the fullness of the Gentiles with the number of martyrs being completed also.

It amounts to the destruction of the temple. But on that topic, Jesus had this to say:

> Joh 2:19 Jesus answered and said unto them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.
> 20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days?
> 21 But he spake of the temple of his body.

Prophetically he is speaking raising up the Body of Christ. This leads us back once again to the Passover and the Resurrection of the Saints.

The Butler

Judy Bauman

There he was standing in my kitchen dressed in a fine black tuxedo with tails, black tie, white shirt and gloves, and a regal looking face. He appeared and acted just as one would expect the finest and most refined butler to look and behave.

In his left hand he held out a very large silver platter covered by an exquisite dome lid. It was ornate around the edges, and he smiled as he held out the large, impressive, decadent piece. I leaned towards him in anticipation to see what was being presented to me under the dome. It was surely to be something wonderful. The distinguished man smiled as he slowly lifted the dome off the platter and presented it to me. I smiled back at him with eager expectation and looked intently under the dome at the contents of the fine plate.

What I saw so deeply shocked me that I gasped and stepped back. I looked up to take another look at the face of this man who at first seemed to be there to serve me. He stepped toward me and again presented the silver platter and beckoned me with his smiling eyes to take it. I took another step backwards and refused his offer. This was much too costly of a 'meal' for me! Then, just as quickly as he had appeared, he vanished (James 4:7). I pondered what I had just witnessed.

Under the dome lid on the silver platter was a 'kingdom' in all its splendor. The 'kingdom' that was under the dome was "Christian Fame." At that moment I realized that when Jesus was standing on the mountain being tempted by Satan this was one of the kingdoms presented to Him. (Matt 4:9) Because I have always thought of kingdoms as large areas of land with rulers and riches, this was a kingdom that I had never considered. I could see that it might have been the most tempting for Jesus, as well as to His church. The Lord showed me how this 'kingdom' is being presented to many Christians, and this meal is being prepared specifically for them according to the call on their lives. A short little scene was played out for me in my kitchen that day to illustrate how the devil uses 'Christian Fame' to lure many of God's children out of God's timing and will for their lives.

Understand clearly that this does not mean that persons famous in the Christian realm have taken the bait of Satan. God has called some to evangelize, teach, sing, prophesy, encourage, and gather financial support for orphans, homeless, and widows through television, radio, book writing, tapes, CD's and the like. However, there are many that the devil has come to holding out his silver platter and they are either not called to that arena or they get out ahead of God's timing.

Do not be misled by the teaching: "God is no respecter of persons - He has to do for you what He has done for others!" That is only a half-truth. (See Deut 10:17; Acts 10:34). Yes, God will not respect man because of position, skills, class, wealth and those types of things, however, God is not obligated to do for me what He has done for someone else. We have many examples of that in Scripture. Not everyone is called to be a teacher or a prophet. Not everyone is an apostle or a pastor. If I have the gift of evangelism, I can't stomp my foot at God and demand He make me a TV evangelist because He did it for Billy Graham. He may want me to evangelize in children's church, a prison, or in a nursing home. God made David king, but didn't permit everyone to be king just because He did it for David. David wanted desperately to build the temple, but was not allowed. Many times we are not permitted to do something we want to do, but we must trust God anyway. Unless God is the author of the vision then we labor in vain struggling to accomplish some thing He will never bless (Ps 127:1). My prayer is for you to be only what is shown to you by God's Holy Spirit, and not get poisoned by partaking in this fatal meal this Butler hopes you will eat. As 1 John 4:1 warns, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world."

To Build You Up

Sandy Warner

Dec 3, 2004
You have swallowed enemy lies to think that I would refrain from building you up in My love language to you. He accuses you of false pride to hear such things from My lips that build you up into your calling, and into your full inheritance as My sons and daughters. Yes, you have gone through a long season of stripping. And I do lower the mountains and make the crooked places straight. But I also raise up the valleys in your life. You have been over corrected for a very long time, and this has caused a wound. I AM trying to reach you through the many layers of false guilt and condemnation enshrouded and embedded into your heart.

The truth is that you have been so browbeaten with your own failings and the demonic accusations, that to add any rebuke from Me is totally unnecessary. My heart is to build you up, edify you, comfort you, strengthen you, establish you. I want you to intimately know and receive My greatest favor upon your life, that you will walk into your full measure of inheritance in Me, being given birthrights as My children. You are Mine! Would I not treat you as the jewel that you are to Me? Listen again as I affirm you and surround you in My language of love.

NKJ Song of Solomon 2:4-6
He brought me to the banqueting house, And his banner over me was love. Sustain me with cakes of raisins, Refresh me with apples, For I am lovesick. His left hand is under my head, And his right hand embraces me.

To Restore Your Joy

Sandy Warner

Dec 1, 2004
I love to delight you with tickles in your heart. I love to hear you laugh! I want to satisfy the very essence of your soul. I will restore your humor and bring you back to health. For laughter makes good medicine. Dear one, your body can only become as healthy as your soul. So take delight in the joys of each day and watch My repairs begin. It is a good work. I can hardly wait to see that bounce back into your step.

Prov 17:22 NKJV
A merry heart does good, like medicine, But a broken spirit dries the bones.

3 John 2 NKJV
Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers.

Claim Your Land
Sandy Warner

Dec 5, 2004

Stretch forth your tent stakes and claim your land.
Take your ground and make your stand.
Beyond our limits, stretching beyond compare.
I know He is with us, I know that He is there.

Bought and won with great cost and great grace.
Burst forth from the birthing stall to run the great race.
The gates are now open to claim your place.
Go forth with power, as you seek His face.

It's the power of the gospel to change a life
To rearrange a heart and to still all strife.
To calm all the cares and the worries and fears.
It's the gospel in power as He draws so near.

Daddy says you all may prophesy.
To give Words of comfort, to build and supply.
To tell the secrets of the heart of men
To return to their Maker and His arms again.

The Word of God is a two edged sword.
To pierce and divide and declare He is Lord.
He's our Lover, but He's Lord and King.
Our hearts belong to Him, to Whom we sing.

He takes our lives as frail they may be.
Giving Him our best expecting victory.
Like the little boy's fishes and the loaf of bread
The weak and the foolish He empowers instead.

The force of His lightning rod to strike a heart.
To drive back the demonic and his fiery darts.
Be brave and be bold to declare His holy Word
Hold nothing back from what you have seen and heard.

Come Holy Spirit as we lean on You.

To perform what You've promised and to do what You do.
Come gentle Dove, light on me.
To release Your power and Your victory.

Gather in Your crops that are all so late.
Rake Your loving arms through the narrows and the straights.
Send forth Your reaping angels through the wide broad plains.
To gather every stalk that does remain.

Leave nothing behind that wants to come.
In the union of the brethren, to be one with the Son.
Drink of His cup and be made whole.
Prosper in your body just as your soul.

Rejoice mighty army that you may know.
His glory in the midst of His enemy foe.
That they may be one as We are one.
United together God's will is done.

With no big I and no little you
In a family of love with hearts that are true.
As bold as brass, yet gentle as a dove.
Go forth my family and dwell in love.

Heb 4:12-13 NAS
For the word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword, and piercing as far as the division of soul and spirit, of both joints and marrow, and able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart. And there is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are open and laid bare to the eyes of Him with whom we have to do.

The Case For Radical Repentance

David Bryant

www.davidbryantdirect.com

Gathered under a full moon, on the center mall at the University of Texas, nearly 300 students joined me for an evening of serious, biblical reflection on radical repentance. As hundreds of other students passed by, I spent nearly 90 minutes proclaiming a new perspective on the topic and then guiding the responsive "Prayer of Radical Repentance, which you'll find below.

A few paces from where we gathered stood a larger-than-life bronze statue of Dr. Martin Luther King, inscribed with these words: "If a person does not have something worth dying for, their life is not fit to live." That, I told the students, is half the call of the Gospels: to lose your life for Christ's sake and thus find it. But I suggested the reverse of King's statement is equally true: "If a person does not have something worth living for, then they are not ready to die."

So often we call each other to confess the sins that have broken God's moral laws, such as sexual impurity, arrogance, strife. But how often do we choose a repentance that comes to grips with how unwilling we are to die for Christ, how we retreat from serving Christ with sacrifice?

Mascot or Monarch?

For example, in how many ways do we diminish Christ, treating Him more like our evangelical "mascot" than our Monarch (the way royalty in Great Britain is mostly a figurehead)? What about the sin of manipulating Christ, using Him only as far as we think we need Him? Or hoarding Him by seeking His blessings with no real intention of sharing them with those who don't know Him? Or withholding our deepest affections from Him because we are afraid of what it might cost?

Put simply, should we not declare with broken hearts all those "innocent" ways we have abandoned our passion for Christ, substituting it with fine "Christianly" endeavors performed in His name? Does our repentance praying ever get that radical? Is it true repentance if it doesn't reach that level?

I shared the same message with the National Prayer Committee (NPC) recently, taking them to Zech. 12:7-13:3 to make my case. From among the beautiful cascade of revival themes in that book, I focused on Zechariah's repentance, which he called "mourning" and "grief."

The brokenness portrayed in Zech. 12:10-14 is truly radical. A great sorrow rises up from every sector of the nation, because their Deliverer has been pierced-by the ones to whom He has come in glory (compare Rev. 1:5-7), by the ones He has come to save.No wonder the sound of mourning fills the land. The covenant people realize they have betrayed and wounded their Messiah (both His body and soul). They have grieved the heart of the only son, their only hope (Zech. 12:10). Enabled by the Spirit, tearful supplications surge like waves from one clan and tribe to another, from the least to the greatest. They radically repent, not over violating God's law, but over violating His Son!

A Revelation of God's Glory

In his booklet called "The Mortification of Sin," 17th century Puritan scholar and Oxford University dean John Owen wrote, "[Christi is grieved by our many lusts, as a tender, loving friend is grieved at the unkindness of his friend. He is grieved by our harboring in our hearts with Him His enemies, and those whom He came to destroy The Lord Jesus is wounded afresh by our betrayals."

Owen continues: "Look on Him whom thou has pierced, and be in bitterness. Say to thy soul: 'What have I done? What love, what mercy, what blood, what grace, have 1 despised and trampled on! Is this the return I make to the Father for His love, to the Son for His blood, to the Holy Ghost for His grace? What can I say to the dear Lord Jesus? How shall I hold up my head with boldness before Him? Do I account communion with Him of so little value, that for this vile lust's sake I have scarce left Him any room in my heart? What shall I say to the Lord? Love, mercy, grace, goodness, peace, joy, consolation-I have despised them all, and esteemed them as a thing of nought, that I might harbor a lust in my heart. Shall I daily grieve that Spirit whereby I am sealed to the day of redemption?'"

Now, that's radical repentance. Radical repentance revolutionizes mind and action in response to a fresh revelation of Christ's glory Radical repentance is an outcry not primarily over individual sins, but first of all over the grief I have brought to my Savior!

Biblical brokenness is really all about Him-about what we've done to Him. Yet so often we make it sound like it's mostly about us and how sin has affected us.

The "Prayer of Radical Repentance" below is a potent antidote for our lusts. More importantly it focuses on renewing great joy in the heart of the Master we've pierced so often. It's all about revival. Because His joy among us is the source of our renewal.

A Prayer of Radical Repentance
We press into Your heart this day, glorious God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
We celebrate all that Your precious Son is-who He is to us iand for us, over us and within us, through us and before us and upon us.

Before all heaven we proclaim:

- Christ is supreme!-He is sovereign, sufficient, and totally satisfying!
- Christ is our hope!-He is the summation of all Your promises, the source of all Your riches, more and more and more, for now and forever!
- Christ is our glory!-He is Alpha and Omega, the consummation of all Your purposes, for all creation, for all the ages to come! In Him our life is hidden with You, until the hour He returns in the final triumphs of grace and truth.
- Christ is among us!-He is accessible to us, in all of His fullness, here and now. He stands with us, willing and able and ready to act for us, and in us, and through us!

SELAH: Pause for silent reflection

Therefore, we REPENT-individually and on behalf of all Your people:

- We* repent . . . for how we have diminished Christ, regarding Him as our mascot rather than our Monarch.
- We repent . . . for how we have hoarded Christ, seeking His blessings for ourselves, with little though about bringing those blessings to others. We've assumed that He was there only for us. We've forgotten that He is Lord of neighbors and nations.

- We repent . . . for how we have avoided Christ, withholding our affections from Him because we were afraid of what it would cost us. By our lifestyles, we've denied that He's truly supreme and sufficient. In His place we've substituted creeds, and programs, and organizations, and causes-as well as our own feeble attempts to look spiritual. In doing so, we've abandoned the consuming passion for Him He deserves, as the Center of everything.
- SELAH: Pause for silent reflection

Forgive us!
Cleanse us! Purify us! Resurrect us! Reconvert us! Restore us! Refill us! Recommission us! By the blood. Through Your mercy. O Lamb of God! O Lamb of God!

We are ready-Ready . . . to revolutionize mind and action. Ready . . . to embrace the full extent of Christ's supremacy. Ready . . . to walk with Him for all He really is. Ready . . . to wrap our lives around Him, and the mighty advances of His kingdom. Ready . . . for this and for nothing less.
So together, in brokenness and hope, here and now-*O God of our salvation-*we cry out for all to hear: "Lord Jesus, Come and conquer us! Lord Jesus, Come and conquer us! Lord Jesus, Come and conquer us!"
SELAH: Pause for silent reflection
Wonderful Father: Standing at this crossroads moment, we pledge to Your Son the words of Saint Augustine:
You
called, You cried, You shattered my deafness.
You sparkled, You burned, You drove away my blindness.
You shed your fragrance, and I drew in my breath.
Therefore, from now on, I will pant for YOU alone.
To that end, Father, visit afresh with Your Spirit every one of us. May He turn this prayer of radical repentance into a radical way of life, for all your people, everywhere. Hallelujah! AMEN! Let it be done!
(This prayer is intended to be prayed responsively)

The Cross And Anti-Semitism

Rick Joyner

On Feb. 25, "The Passion" was released. This movie can change your life, and maybe even change the church. It has that kind of power. It can do this because it will help to restore the cross as the center of our lives—so central that we will begin to truly take the cross up daily and carry it with us in all we do.

What we are doing on this earth is not about us—it is about Him. We have been purchased with a price, the greatest price that could have ever been paid—the life of the Son of God. We are not our own. We cannot go on living for ourselves. Our lives must be centered around and motivated by the Lord and His purposes.

We must behold the cross, and the price that He paid which demonstrates like nothing else ever could just how much He loves us and how much sin cost Him. This movie can help bring this reality back to our lives and our message. There is no greater message than the cross. It is the foundation on which everything else must be built, and if it is not built on it rightly, then it is a weak foundation at best.

Also, if we are going to walk in truth we must be delivered from a great source of deception—the tendency to get our understanding from the secular media instead of seeing by and through the Holy Spirit. We must start being discerning enough to recognize that when something becomes controversial it is often because it is something of great importance from God.

It is the devil who operates through fear, innuendo, and hearsay; the Lord has more class than that. When such controversy has been kicked up about this movie, it is often (but not always) because there is something very important from God which the devil is trying to turn us away from. The controversy being stirred up about The Passion is actually from the same spirit that persecuted and crucified the Lord.

This is not to imply that this is something especially embedded in the Jewish people, but there are some Jewish extremists who are still subject to this, just as there probably are in every people group. The extremists who are attacking The Passion are motivated by the same anti-Christ spirit that persecuted Christ.

Some of the villains in this movie are Jewish, but so is the greatest hero in the movie, and in all of eternity. God came to us as a Jew! Not only was Christ Himself Jewish, the apostles, prophets, and everyone who wrote that which is now canon Scripture were Jews. All of those who were the greatest heroes in biblical history were Jewish.

Abraham was promised that his descendents would be a blessing to all of the families on the face of the earth. And they, the Jewish people, have been the greatest blessing to all of the families on the face of the earth. We all owe the Jewish people more than we owe any other race, culture, or people group on the planet.

We also need to understand that the Jewish people have been even more persecuted by Christians than any other religion—beginning with Peter the Hermit who led the first crusade, and formulated the diabolical doctrine that the Jews should be killed to atone for Christ's death.

For nearly a thousand years they were under a continuous threat of annihilation from those who called themselves Christians. They had their children and property taken from them, they were forcibly baptized, and if they refused, they were killed by those who called themselves Christians. Many credit the doctrines of Martin Luther for the Holocaust they experienced under the Nazis.

For this reason it is understandable that the Jewish people would have a knee jerk reaction to anything Christian, and especially anything that might again in any way incite the kind of persecution they suffered for nearly a thousand years. What Christians did to the Jews in the Middle Ages was far worse than the threats they now suffer from Islam, and in many ways worse than even what happened to them under the Nazis.

However, even though there is a need for understanding and repentance on the part of Christians for the way the Jewish people have been treated in the past, we cannot allow our own devotion to our faith to be controlled by this. Many Jewish leaders also understand that their best friends, now and throughout the Middle Ages, were Christians who were of a different spirit.

They know, but seldom fully understand, that these Christians were not Christians because of their association with an institution, but because of a deep personal devotion to Christ. Those Christians who have this devotion have always had a deep love for the Jewish people through whom their Savior came.

I know many true friends of the Jewish people, who are true Christians, and are being offended by the Jewish response to The Passion. Others are asking questions about the Jewish control of Hollywood, the news media, and other such things that seem to be used to attack Mel Gibson, and this movie. We must not let the reaction of the extremists on either side drive a greater wedge between Christians and Jews. Our goal should be to overcome evil with good. There are some practical ways we can do this.

One way to do this is to contact the Jewish people you know, or who you may not know but are in your community, and express your appreciation for them, and the great blessing that the Jewish people have been to us all. In spite of the terrible way that they have often been treated, they have tended to be the best citizens and best neighbors in every nation in which they have sojourned.

I think it would be appropriate to even send them a gift, or send an offering to the local synagogue. Also, if you have the opportunity, tell them you are sorry for the way they have been treated by those who have called themselves Christians—that you do appreciate the great blessing they are to your community. I have done this with remarkable results.

We also need to understand that it is the same anti-Christ spirit that worked through those who often claimed to be Christians, which have been seeking to destroy the Jewish people that also worked through the extremists among the Jewish people to persecute and crucify Christ.

The same spirit that sought to destroy Christ is so intent on destroying the Jewish people because he knows the destiny of the Jewish people at the end. They will not only embrace Christ but will become the “one new man” (Ephesians 2:15) that Paul wrote about which will reveal Christ so powerfully at the end of this age.

Because it is the same spirit that is persecuting both Jews and Christians, some estimates are that just as many Christians died at the hands of the Nazis as Jews. We do have the same enemy! For this reason the enemy’s greatest victory is to turn Christians against Jews, or Jews against Christians. Let us determine that regardless of what the enemy tries to do, we will not let this happen.

As we proceed toward the end of this age, there will be more and more things arising that will try to divide Christians and Jews. The devil is attempting to use this movie in that way. But its ultimate result is actually going to give Christians a far greater appreciation of the Jewish heroes of humanity. It will also give the Jews a far greater understanding of true Christians, not just those who serve an institution which claims to be Christian.

Let us learn from this lesson, and resolve not to respond, to react, or to be controlled by the extremists on either side. The Christians that are trying to use this present controversy to illuminate “Jewish control” of the media are the same voices speaking through some of the Jewish extremists, both of which are trying to cause a greater division.

Let us determine that we are going to use the whole thing to bring a greater unity. Let’s show our Jewish neighbors the true nature of Christ, who loved both them and us so much that He went to the cross. That is how true disciples will always be recognized.

"By this all men will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another" (John 13:34-35).

Judgment Begins With Justice
Rick Joyner

February 9, 2004

We have been studying how racism will play a major part in the last days, as the Lord indicated in Matthew 24:7: "For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom." As we studied, the Greek word translated "nation" in this verse is ethnos from which we derive our English word "ethnic." This is speaking of ethnic conflicts being one of the major signs of the end times. We also examined some of the roots of this most tragic evil, and how we must be free of it if we are going to be a light in the midst of the coming darkness. Now we want to look at another aspect of this evil that will be increasingly important for us to understand as the future unfolds.

As we have also mentioned earlier, when the Lord said in Matthew 13:39: "the harvest is the end of the age..." this not only speaks of the greatest ingathering of souls into the kingdom, but it also implies the coming to maturity, and the reaping, of everything that has been sown in man, both good and bad. The light will be brighter and more glorious, but evil will also come to full maturity at the same time.

As Paul wrote in Galatians 6:7: "Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, this he will also reap." This is a spiritual truth that gives us much insight into the things that are going to come upon the world at the end of this age. As I heard one man say, "I sowed a lot of 'wild oats' when I was younger, and I have been praying for a crop failure ever since." This is true of us as individuals, and as the human race. We need some crop failures, and the way to insure they happen is the cross. The cross of Jesus breaks this curse.

However, just as it would not have been of any benefit for the children of Israel to slay and eat the Passover lamb if they had not applied the blood to their doors, there are doors or gates to our lives that also must have the blood applied to them. It is not enough to just know that atonement was made for us-the blood must be applied. This is true of us as individuals, and as nations, or ethnic groups. The Lord does tend to see the nations as ethnic groups rather than just national borders, which politics and wars have drawn up. This is why we see in Matthew 24:7 that the Lord distinguishes between "nations" and "kingdoms." The kingdoms addressed here are what we tend to think of as nations. These are human realms of authority, which we will address later, but for now we are focusing on the ethnic groups, or nations.

If we examine the racial conflicts in the world today we will find historical roots to the contemporary conflicts. We often refer to this as "bad blood" between them. What they need is the good blood, the blood of Jesus, to be applied to them. Nothing else will heal the source of these conflicts.

Can we eliminate all of these ancient wounds? No. The Scriptures will be fulfilled, and at the end there will be conflicts between both ethnic groups and kingdoms, which are realms of human authority. However, we know that at least some of these conflicts can be reduced, and some can be avoided. One of the most dramatic of all is in the place that is now experiencing the deepest and seemingly most implacable conflict-the Middle East. This we see in the remarkable text of Isaiah 19:19-25:

In that day there will be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar to the Lord near its border. And it will become a sign and a witness to the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt; for they will cry to the Lord because of oppressors, and He will send them a Savior and a Champion, and He will deliver them.

Thus the Lord will make Himself known to Egypt, and the Egyptians will know the Lord in that day.

They will even worship with sacrifice and offering, and will make a vow to the Lord and perform it.

And the Lord will strike Egypt, striking but healing; so they will return to the Lord, and He will respond to them and will heal them.

In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrians will come into Egypt and the Egyptians into Assyria, and the Egyptians will worship with the Assyrians. In that day Israel will be the third party with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing in the midst of the earth, whom the Lord of hosts has blessed, saying, "Blessed is Egypt My people, and Assyria the work of My hands, and Israel My inheritance."

The land of Assyria is included in what is now Iraq, and all of the land around Israel to the Sinai. This is a text that very few include in their end time teachings because they do not know how to make it fit with some of their other beliefs. Those who have addressed it have usually relegated it to the millennium, which could not be because there will not be "oppressors" then. This is a prophecy that has not yet been fulfilled, so we know that it must be before the end. And, as impossible as it may seem, there will be peace in the Middle East before the end of this age.

If this ultimate conflict which goes back thousands of years could be healed, how can we not have faith for others? The devil has been working overtime to sow his evil seeds, and water those which he sowed in man six thousand years ago. There will be great darkness and conflict at the end, more than the world has ever known before, but there will also be the greatest light, and some of the greatest victories, because the truth that God sowed in man will prove itself even greater before the end.

This does not negate the fact that if the Lord did not shorten these days there would not be anyone left on the earth. The devil is trying to destroy not only mankind, but the earth as well, because it is going to be God's dwelling place, and the witness for all time that truth is greater than the lie. Even though the Lord will intervene to prevent this ultimate destruction, when the end of the age comes there will be many triumphs of the truth, and witnesses of the ways that are true and right, which will be such witnesses for eternity. It will be the devil's desperation because he knows that his time is short which will bring about some of the most dangerous and deadly conflicts.

It has been one of the devil's main goals to wipe out the Jewish people since the Lord first gave His promises to Abraham. Regrettably, the devil seems to understand God's purposes with the Jewish people better than many Christians. The devil thought he could destroy them by scattering them throughout the nations. To his surprise, that did not work, and the Lord has now re-gathered them to their land "a second time" just as He promised.

The devil is now making every effort to destroy the Jewish people by destroying Israel, but it will not work. In fact, in due time peace is going to break out in the Middle East which is a greater peace than can be found between nations anywhere else on the earth. The devil will then rage against the rest of mankind, seeking desperately to destroy the whole earth. He will come close to succeeding, but the Lord will shorten those days.

Even through this great time of trouble there will be a number of other places where there will be peace between nations and kingdoms-those places which have bowed the knee to the Lord, just as we see in the text above happening in Egypt, who will then "worship (the Lord) with the Assyrians." How will the cross heal these ancient wounds between races? This is one of the ultimate questions that we should now be asking.

First, there is a misunderstanding with many that time will heal all wounds. This is not true of any wound. It may take time to heal them, but time itself does not do the job. For any wound to be healed it must be dressed with something to prevent infection and then closed. This is true of physical and cultural wounds. History testifies repeatedly that those who attempted to just cover up, or close a wound, caused deadly infections that allowed that wound to burst open again. For this reason the Lord made certain that the unrighteous wounds caused by His people were addressed before the issue could be closed, as we see in II Samuel 21:1:

Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year, and David sought the presence of the Lord. And the Lord said, "It is because of Saul and his bloody house, because he put the Gibeonites to death" (II Samuel 21:1).

David's administration was under judgment for the sins of the previous administration because there had been a major injustice done by his people that had not been addressed, and the Lord would not let it go. Our God is a God of justice, and every wrong will eventually be made right. This begins with His own household, but it will ultimately be true of the world when He takes His rightful dominion over it.

Because of this injustice David had to give Saul's sons to the Gibeonites, who put them to death as restitution for Saul's injustice. The reason David could only relieve this judgment by restitution to the Gibeonites was because this happened when they were under the Law, and under the Law there was only one way for these sins to be remitted... "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth" (Matthew 5:38).

Now if the whole world was required to pay for all of its injustices in this same way, there probably would not be any people left. The cross of Jesus is the restitution that God made for the sins of the world, and when we turn to the cross our sins are remitted, forgiven, and cancelled. As we see throughout the New Testament, the gospel was not just to be preached to individuals, but to nations. The cross can also be applied to nations. The power of the cross can heal these national and cultural wounds, and it is the only remedy that can.

Just as we see at the end there being famines in diverse places, these too are being caused by covered up injustices that have not yet been healed, just as it was in the case with King David. This is why the reconciliation movements that have been raised up recently, which seem to be unique to our times, are so important for breaking the curses and saving many in the times to come as the seeds that have been sown start fully maturing.

Again, we are belaboring some of these issues because our goal is more than just knowing the signs of the times-we want to be prepared for them. There is a true apostolic ministry about to be restored to the church, and as with all true apostles, they will be proactive in engaging the darkness of this world, and the ultimate issues that keep mankind in darkness. In the greatest times of trouble the world has ever known, or will ever know, the church will shine in its greatest glory.

In Christ, troubles are turned into triumph, so in Him we look at what is coming as the times of the greatest triumphs the world has ever known! The conclusion of all things is that we win! The cross will prevail. This is the foundational truth that all of our understanding of these times must be based on. There will be no retreat in those who walk in the true light. When you open your shades at night, darkness does not come in and flood the room. Rather the light shines out into the darkness because light is stronger than darkness. The darker it becomes, the brighter our light will be. Where sin abounds, grace will that much more abound.

It is now time to understand how this is practically worked out, and how it fits with the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom to all nations. Therefore, we will continue this theme next week. Great victories are already being won, but this is a foundational issue in these times, and the work is really just beginning.

We have been made ambassadors, and given the ministry of reconciliation for this purpose. It is now time for the church to rise up and become the force that it is called to be in this. The time is coming when, if there is honesty in the Noble Peace Prize, it will go to Christians every year. Not that we would do it for this, but because Christians are going to become the greatest force for peace on earth among men, as the Lord originally intended.

Liberty and Truth
Rick Joyner

February 23, 2004
All of creation is a witness that it is fundamental to the nature of God to love diversity and creativity. He makes every snowflake different, every tree different, and every human being different. There are no two hills, streams, or lakes alike. This must cause us to ask another one of those ultimate questions: "If God so loves diversity and creativity, why is the church, which is supposed to be His representative on the earth, so boringly uniform?"

This reflects one of the great tragedies in how the church has come to misrepresent God on the earth. Where does this pressure to conform come from? Obviously, it is not from God. The answer is at least partly from spiritual racism.

What is "spiritual racism," and how does this differ from racism? As we have stated, racism is established on two of the ultimate evils of the human heart-pride and/or fear. This causes us to reject those who are not like us as either inferior, or to be feared. "Spiritual racism" is the same thing that causes us to be prone to resist or reject other Christians who may not see everything exactly the way we do, or serve the Lord in exactly the same way we do.

This goes with the understanding that for us to be Christians, we must agree on certain basic doctrines, and practices. However, it has been the bane of Christians for nearly two thousand years to agree on 98 percent and divide over the 2 percent on which they disagree. The overwhelming majority of divisions in the church have been caused by non-essential, peripheral issues. This has caused the church to look more like a Babel of confusion to the heathen rather than being the witness to the one true God, and His habitation that she is called to be.

We are spiritual racists when we think we are better than other Christians because we are part of a certain denomination or movement. We are spiritual racists if we are afraid to have fellowship or interchange with other denominations or movements that are different from us. The church is not only presently separated along racial lines, but we are divided in just about every way that we could be divided from one another. Someone once said: "Eleven o'clock Sunday morning is the most segregated hour of the week." This is probably still true, though it has been changing some. There is also a great deal of interchange and fellowship now going on between denominations and movements. There are few things that we could do to strengthen our own churches than this.

The Lord likened His people to sheep. Any farmer knows that if his heard inbreeds it will get weaker, and more prone to disease with each succeeding generation. The same is true spiritually. Every church, denomination, or movement that becomes isolated will become weaker and sicker with each succeeding spiritual generation.

God made His creation, both the old and the new, to require interchange for its health and well-being. If what we have been building on is so fragile and weak that we are afraid of interchange, then what we are building on is a foundation that will certainly collapse anyway.

If we do not think we need interchange because we already have all we need, then we are obviously already deceived and filled with a pride that has departed from God's grace. The Scripture is clear that "... we know in part, and we prophesy in part..." (I Corinthians 13:9). Therefore, if we are going to have the complete picture we must put our part together with the others.

Likewise, as this is a study of the prophecies concerning the end times, if we are going to have the complete picture, we are going to have to be open to those who have a different view than we do on these matters. We will find as we proceed that these different views really are not in conflict, but rather fit together to help complete the whole picture.

There are many teachers of eschatology that will shamelessly try to make everyone who does not see things exactly the way that they do, out to be a false teacher or false prophet. But, in fact, to bring that kind of division in the church will make one out to be a heretic according to the proper definition of the term. If we are going to have the complete picture, we are going to need both faith and humility to be open to those who see things differently than we do. We are going to have to resist racism in all of its forms. This is why Paul required that elders be those who were given to hospitality to foreigners, and even said that by doing this they would entertain angels at times.

To know the truth, we must have more faith in the Lord to lead us into all truth than we have in the devil to deceive us. We must also understand the ways of the Lord are higher than our ways. As someone once said, "He does not hide things from us; He hides things for us." He requires both faith and humility to find the real treasures of knowledge and truth.

In my pursuit of understanding the things that we are addressing in this study, I have found great treasures in almost every denomination and movement. That is, with the exception of those in the strongest prisons of fear and pride, which become almost completely isolated.

As we go forward, let us keep II Corinthians 3:17 in mind: "Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." As we search for truth, and as we build what we may feel called to help build for His purposes, we must always resolve to protect one another's liberty in the Lord if we want His Spirit to go with us.

Two Calls Coming

Two Calls Coming to the Bride of Christ for This Day -- Mark Kaphaem

4 Apr 2004

I hear two calls coming to the bride of Christ for this day.

One is a call to enter into the "sanctuary" of His Love. The other is a call to enter into His dance.

The call for the bride to enter into the sanctuary of His Love is a timely one.

His Love is the "Ark", that will lift us above the flood that is coming upon the Earth in this day. He is calling His bride to enter into the inner sanctuary of His Love. As we enter into to this stronghold of His Love He will close and seal the doors behind us.

Having our identity firming rooted and grounded in the Love of the Lamb is essential as we enter into the days ahead. The enemy knows this and will be coming to challenge us on this ground.

Do not attempt to fight the enemy on this issue. As he comes with questions and accusations do not defend yourself. Instead bring all his questions and accusations to the feet of the Lamb of God.

This is how we enter the sanctuary of His love.

The other call to enter into His dance is all about leaning to move out of a place on intimacy with Him.

The Lord is looking for more than follower's in this day. He is looking for "partners".

He is looking for those who will follow His lead and then move in response to Him.

The Lord says His dance is not difficult to learn when you allow Him to teach it to you. Take your eyes off of your own feet and place them on His feet. He will start out with very simple moves but will have you doing beautiful, intricate dances in no time.

Many of you do not picture yourselves as dancers. Lift this to the Lord. His desire's is to romance you in this place. This is all about knowing we are beautiful and desirable to Him. It's about being in a responsive relationship where He touches our heart and we touch Him back.

This is the relationship He longs for with us.

The Chapel

Victoria Boyson

A Vision of Personal Intercession BY Jesus for YOU!"

Years ago, I struggled through a depression for a period of time. Because of this, I cried out to the Lord for help. His answer came to me in a vision. I had recently gone through several traumatic events that left me feeling emotionally numb; I felt overwhelmed by the reality of the painful events that had occurred.

I knew that this was a time for me to experience just a portion of the pain Jesus Himself had endured on the cross. The Lord did not allow me to endure more than He knew I could handle, but it felt like much more.

The suffering I endured opened my heart and mind to experience so much more of God than I had previously known was available to me. I found, during this time, that God is truly on my side! And His love for me didn't stop with salvation, but He continues to save every day. He is on my side, and He prays for me.

"If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all - how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things?

"Who will bring any charge against those who God has chosen? It is God who justifies; who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died - more than that, who was raised to life - is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us." Romans 8:31-34

I had known from childhood that Jesus loved me. I was raised in the church and cannot remember not knowing the song, "Jesus Loves Me." However, there is a difference between knowing love and feeling it. I knew God loved me, but during this time I could not feel His love for me. I cried out to the Lord to show me His love...He did.

My Vision

On this day the Lord opened the spirit realm for me, and suddenly I saw heaven. There were rolling green hills with large beautiful trees that dotted the landscape. As I stood on top of one of the endless hills, I saw nestled in the valley below a small, ornate chapel. I knew in my spirit that I just had to be there, and suddenly I was there.

The chapel looked very old, but was obviously well cared for. Through the windows of the chapel I could see a light glowing inside; I was compelled to go in. I opened the door at the back of the chapel and stood there for a while absorbing the warmth from the light inside.

The chapel was empty except for one man who was praying at the altar. An amber glow filled the area where he knelt, and I had a forceful desire to see who it was. Instantly, I was at the front of the chapel looking at the man who was kneeling there.

He was crying and seemed desperate to touch the heart of the Father with his prayers. He prayed with such earnestness, that I was curious to find out what he was praying for. He did not appear to know that I was there, so I moved closer to him. As I saw his face streaming with tears in deep intercession, I heard him say, "Father, please help Victoria." I gasped. "He is praying for me," I thought.

It was then that I recognized who this man was...it was Jesus.

"Does He Really Love Me That Much?"

The man praying in earnest was my Lord Jesus and I was the subject of His prayers. He was crying and interceding for me. I felt the love He had for me and His desperate desire that I be pulled from the depression that had gripped my life.

I stepped back from the Lord to try and process all that I was seeing. I was completely stunned. Who was I that Jesus would intercede for me and with such earnestness? Was I really that special to Him? Did He really love me that much? Why would He take all this time by Himself, just to pray for me? It was difficult for me to fathom that His love for me was that great. But it was.

I sat for a while at the back of the church, watching Him pray. Suddenly, He stood up and turned and looked at me. He saw I was there and ran to me. Falling at my knees, He reached to embrace me, but I was still in such shock; I did not return His embrace. He looked at me with such love, that I was finally shaken from my numbness and became fully aware of the love I was experiencing.

My eyes were opened and now I could see and feel His love for me. I knew then that I was very precious to Him.

You are Very Special

Why is it that if you believe you are special to God, some accuse you of thinking too much of yourself? Are we not all precious in His sight?

If you were special enough for God to send His own Son to die for you, then you can believe that you are special enough for Jesus to intercede for. He gave Himself for you once in death, and He gives His life in intercession for you now. "He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how will He not also with Him freely give us all things?" (Romans 8:32)

He is for you, NOT against you! He is the one trying to convince you that it is possible for you to do great things for His glory. And "if God be for us, who can be against us?" (Romans 8:31). The answer is: NO ONE CAN!

"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword?" Romans 8:35
"For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels or demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 8:38-39

"Therefore he is able to save completely those who come to God through him, because he always lives to intercede for them." Hebrews 7:25 (emphasis mine)

You Are His Priceless Treasure

He died for us that we might live, yet now He lives to pray for us that we would experience all of Him! He saves us completely, not just at our redemption, but He desires our complete transformation. He knows this is the only chance we have of truly living, to become one with Him in every aspect of our lives - giving our all to Him and watching Him transform us into His likeness.

That moment in my life, when I was permitted to see Him interceding for me, changed my life. And I hope that reading about this experience will also have an impact on yours.

You are very special to God and He wants you to know it. It is not presumptuous to think that you are special. You are not just another face in the crowd to Him. You are what He died for. You are His priceless treasure.

The Choice

Luz Cintron

4/13/2004
There is a choice opened before pastors of His flock in general today and as I'm given to see it I also feel that the time is really short. It goes like this:

You can build the ministry or you can chose to build the people.

If you build the ministry all you will have is a ministry.

If you chose to build the people, they will be released in their service before and unto Adonai. Then there will be ministry but a faceless one that will not bear your name because it will be the manifest presence of Yeshua.

Its your choice. Always have been.

But you can not tend to the whole flock, or so some of you think. "Impossible to tend each family!"

That is why it takes the abolishment of classes within the body to bring the body together into its fullness. No clerics and laity anymore but priests and kings living in the "one another". That is the true release and empowerment of the five fold. I am not talking of anarchism. There is an order, but that order is not control (which is fear) and is not manipulation (which is control through flattery), it's order though the love first to the Lord and then to each other, it's trust to the Lord first and then to each other, it's submission to the Lord first and then to each other. Is the willingness to decrease so that He may increase. It's true trust which is faith.

Pastors are called and separated for the equipping and releasing of believers. To equip and release not to own. Even so I tell you, in releasing you will own. But whatever you may hold onto, will rot like yesterday's manna before His presence. This invitation, is also your release, from burdens not yours to carry, that have afflicted you in the past.

It is always your choice. To those who have chosen correctly let this be a confirmation, to those who have doubts let this be a witness and may the Lord bless you and comfort you in all that is set before you. May He grant all of you a deepening of the vision in understanding and strength in you heart to follow the One you love.

"Come up higher!" is the invitation that starts the book of Revelation. "Come up higher!" is also the call extended to a greater measure of intimacy through trust, right now. This trust which is faith will open the book of Acts to be finished by the same Spirit who started it back then. That is the heart of the choice.

Your servant in His love,
Luz

The Chariots of God May 10, 2004

In my dream last night, my husband and I lived in a ground-level house on a flat plain with a clear view in many directions. There were awesome signs in the heavens for many days, including strange blue lights and spinning vortices. Nobody knew what was happening and there was great confusion.

One day we saw a tornado approaching from the distance. Although it wove some from side to side, it largely appeared to be headed straight for our home, so we took cover. When the tornado actually struck, I was not only preserved through it, but was swept up into the most realistic and loving encounter with the King I have ever known. I could actually SEE HIS LOVELY FACE for the fist time in my life an experience I have always longed for. Jesus and I spoke of our great love for each other, and then the tornado moved on, leaving destruction in its wake.

Next we lived in an underground structure, and our apartment was on the bottom floor. Each level of the building had an atrium in the center, with a boxed ceiling made of glass framed with gold. The purpose of the atrium was to let in light. Again we saw a tornado coming straight for our home. For some reason we cleverly took cover in our bed, which was on the lowest level of the building, right under the atrium! When the twister hit, every level of the gold and glass atrium ceiling came crashing down onto us. But I was again unharmed, and swept up into a loving, mind-blowing visit with Jesus.

When I woke up after this incident, I was lying prostrate on top of a table in a bustling fast food restaurant, totally dazed. Of course, this attracted some attention, but I seemed to be completely unashamed of my embarrassing situation. Someone asked if they could help me, and I managed to mumble that I had been swept up in one of the recent tornados. Of course everyone knew of these tornados, which appeared to be a terrible judgment upon the whole earth. The person began to console me, but I said, No, please don t feel sorry for me. Something wonderful has happened. Jesus loves me, and I have been visited by the King!

I don’t remember if I was in a house for the third tornado, I may have been outside. Once again, the twister seemed to seek me out specifically, but I was again preserved and swept up into a loving encounter. By this time I almost looked forward to the tornados, because although they caused great destruction all around me, they were a message of hope to me. This great majestic King of the entire universe seemed to be saying that he loved me and, in answer to my prayers, he was coming to release the earth from sorrows so that I could live with him in joy forever. The tornados were simply his chariots.

The Church

Harold Reedy

Harold Reedy (DATAOFWORD@wmconnect.com)

I am not a prophet and I do not claim to have complete truth. I write this article to express what I feel is something that God is trying to tell His people.

I see articles that are written of prophecies that are from God but the ones that prophesy simply do not grasp the full meaning of what God is saying or trying to say to his people regarding the church. Simply put, they do not differentiate between a denominational organization and the true CHURCH AGE Church.

The denominational church has so messed up God's meaning of the TRUE CHURCH and refuse to listen to His prophets trying to deliver a message to His people giving them divine knowledge regarding His will of His true church.

If the people ever come to an understanding of God's divine directive to HIS church, the wildfire of the Holy Spirit sweeping this world will truly make all revivals in history pale in comparison.

As most prophecy of today states it is prayer and intercession that will make this revival ignite in the hearts of God's people. It will not be a place of meeting or a name attached to a group. It will be in the prayer closet of a secluded individual heart crying out to God to dominate and consume that heart and being of that person. They will hear from heaven and know that it is in their self that the spark has turned into a burning flame fanned by the Holy Spirit.

They will then take hold of a neighbor who is in need of this fire that burns in their bones and that neighbor will be healed or filled with the Spirit or fall on their face before an Almighty God confessing they have need of His will or His truth revealed in their hearts.

This revival that we seen on the horizon is the CLOUD OF HIS GLORY. It is not to a building that claims to have the mind of God but to the heart of the hungry soul crying out to which this consuming cloud will come. It will have the WIND OF THE SPIRIT that is of such force that it destroys sin and the traditions of men.

All that will be left is HIS WILL and HIS WAY. The hungry heart will be consumed with the GLORY of HIS COMING to their heart and they will take hold of another who is searching and waiting for his coming and the process will repeat until the fire is out of control. The enemy cannot stand, he will flee and the fire will consume all who will hunger and thirst after righteousness.

It will be as when Peter walked down the street and the people's needs were met. They were healed and clamored to know this God of which Peter preached. His ministry had little to do with a denomination or the temple. God was no longer desired in those places.

God moved HIS TEMPLE from the brick and mortar building to his own creation when he gave His only begotten Son. The resurrected Son testified of this when He said it was expedient that He return to the Father so that the Father could send his Holy Spirit to bring gifts to men. Not to a building or to an organization but to his sons and daughters. These are His church and THEY will be FILLED and THEY will SPREAD this REVIVAL FIRE.

UPON SONS AND DAUGHTERS WILL HE POUR OUT OF HIS SPIRIT. And to them and to them alone will He pour Himself into.

And when they pray MY WILL they will fan the lame of the Spirit and none will remember the structure that man built called church that is classified denomination. It was a long run of denomination and they failed because they did not remember the God of their fathers and so I the Almighty have now decreed and end of the man church and now I AM is working in MY CHURCH.

To those who have an ear to hear let them hear......

I AM is pouring out now. Will you humble yourself to be the I WILL of MY WILL?

The Church Is Being Shaken

Brian Medway

Unless you have just arrived on the planet, you would be aware that there is a serious shake up happening in the church. It could well be described in the words of the New Testament:

25 See to it that you do not refuse him who speaks. If they did not escape when they refused him who warned them on earth, how much less will we, if we turn away from him who warns us from heaven? 26 At that time his voice shook the earth, but now he has promised, "Once more I will shake not only the earth but also the heavens." 27 The words "once more" indicate the removing of what can be shaken-that is, created things-so that what cannot be shaken may remain. 28 Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken, let us be thankful, and so worship God acceptably with reverence and awe, 29 for our "God is a consuming fire."

Hebrews 12

It might sound surprising to those of us who live in a nation like Australia to think that the church in Australia is being shaken in a measure that may not have a historical parallel. There are still plenty of buildings around. There are still denominations and denominational conferences and activities. We can look at the amazing phenomenon of something like the recent Hillsong Conference and rejoice that a Christian gathering makes it to the national news editions of print, audio and video news. And the idea that a Christian worship CD outgunned every secular CD for sales last week is astounding (The Hillsong CD topped secular charts).

Moral Shaking At the same time, hardly a week goes by that we don't see another scandal involving sexual abuse somewhere in the church, every week the numbers of married people who are separating are almost the same inside the church as outside. Few churches are growing and more churches are declining in average weekly attendance. All in all the church, in the main, gets a big yawn from the community at large. It may be slightly less the case in rural areas, but the trend is exactly the same.

Theological Shaking When you put another overlay across that of the rank apostasy that we are witnessing in the church. It is truly a strange thing to see apostasy happening before our eyes. The divine nature of Jesus has been abandoned by much of the western church, the Word of God set aside for the dictates of current philosophical speculation.

Structural Shaking We have witnessed another kind of shaking going with church structures. Among the many ways in which the Pentecostal and Charismatic influences of the last century have impacted the church, we have seen the strong walls of denominationalism crumble. It means less to people which name is on the outside of a church. Individual congregations within any movement may identify with spiritual values that are not core values of their denomination. The fact that we are living in an era when denominations are becoming less and less relevant, doesn't necessarily mean that there is more unity, it refers more to the fact that the focus is shifting from national identity to local congregational identity. People today will generally join a congregation not because of its denominational name, but because of its own vision and values.

Shaking of Identity Interestingly enough, theological or spiritual identities are also diminishing. In the sixteenth century the Reformation rocked both church and secular society and spawned a whole raft of theological iconographies: look at the words that became famous over the next few hundred years: reformed, Calvinistic, evangelical, pietistic, pre-millennial, just to name a few. Add to that Pentecostal, charismatic, third wave. All of these have had their time in the spotlight. There is very little mileage in any of them in these days.

There are more organic gatherings occurring, driven by some reasonably significant decisions we have made. People have taken issue on some matters of conscience regarding what it is we belong to and what we don't belong to. We have risked the disapproval of people with whom we have had long term relationship. We have found ourselves at odds with the leaders of our denominations. We have decided to set aside some long term associations and have had to cope with another kind of identity crisis. We have gone from having a relatively well known "spiritual" identity to a virtually unknown one. Nearly all of us will have fielded the question as to what church we belong to and have responded by giving them our new name only to find that people have no way of placing that in any known category.

Without realizing it, we have actually joined a road by making these decisions. Regardless of whether people in our community understand what we are doing, we have made a decision to join a purpose that God has been working for a very long time. That purpose has to do with the kind of church God has purposed to build, or should I say restore. God is restoring the church and every phase of that restoration has to do with a measure of fresh revelation about the church - what God has designed it to be and become.

Up until the late eighties, there was no definitive collection of churches spawned by the Charismatic movement. Most of us stayed within our denominations. In my own view this was totally consistent with the character of God and could be attested down through the generations. God has always loved the church. While Jesus challenged the institutional "church" of his own day, he held out his hands to the end. It is God's way to provide a window of opportunity for the wider church to embrace what God is saying. That window is finite. It is open for a time and then it closes. We are witnessing the closing of that window. We have seen how the administrations of many traditional denominations have not only NOT welcomed the word of God through these renewal testimonies, but have become opposed to them. In their resistance they have even regressed more strongly into their own humanly contrived modes. As a result they have become prey to the enemy and have openly adopted positions of moral and spiritual compromise.

In the heat of all that foment, God has been working to testify to the things HE wants to build into the church. The important matter to focus on here is not whether we have risked friendships, caused some people to question our actions, stepped out of financial security or away from a familiar community identity. The issue to grab hold of is "What is God doing in the midst of all of this ?" And the answer to that is always going to be the same. He is shaping and molding the church. He is equipping it and empowering it to be the weapon of warfare it was always designed to be but often isn't. That pattern will always be Biblical and it will always be measured by the signs of greater Christlikeness and Christ- centredness and greater dependence on Him. That is, it will always be a church that loves and serves Jesus more. It will also be a church that more effectively achieves the purpose it was designed to achieve. The fruit will not be known in polished theological arguments and tightly defined structures but in its testimony to the power of God working in the theatres of war to gain victories that glorify him.

The opportunity we have before us is as unique as it is daunting. My deepest conviction tells me that we have an opportunity to make decisions of convenience but decisions based the call of God in this hour. If we can avoid a few infamous temptations, we can have the opportunity of building churches that declare the future in the present in way that is genuine Holy Spirit driven, missionally focused and authentically Australian. We can grow churches that impact their communities, not just their members. We can see a church emerge that will attract the presence of God to this nation like the nation has never known it ever.

The Crash Of Two Planes

LaTonya N Williams

Visions & Dreams
November 8th, 2004

I had a dream early in the morning that I along with my co-workers were in the military in Houston, TX and that we were in some type of camp or military post. It looked like the kind of set up that was on the television show M.A.S.H. were there was a hospital tent, a cafeteria tent and a bedding tent, etc.

We were outside talking and I believed we were given guns and weapons. Some people were gathered in different groups or clicks and were talking “in there own little world”.

Someone began to talk to me and as they were talking I looked up in the sky because I noticed a plane. Something about it was odd. It was low like it was going to land at a airport but it was staggering like a drunk person trying to walk. I told the lady that was talking to me that something was wrong with that plane and she said, “Nothings wrong, they are just landing.”

I said, “There are no airports around here and secondly it is too low to land that way and to low to fly anywhere.” And inside my spirit I felt as if that plane was going to crash. The dream began to move somehow into a slow motion dream. I was telling everyone to move and I began to run to take cover but some people were still talking and stayed were they were. Suddenly we were not in a military place anymore but in the middle of downtown next to a park or a open place that had grass. If anyone has ever been to Houston, they know that our landscaping goes from extremely tall buildings to parks and homes in a matter of seconds. So I was moving in slow motion trying to tell people to move but some were like “Nothing is going to happen, its fine.”

Now I am looking at this plane like how can they say nothing is wrong when this plane is low to the ground and it should be high in the air flying. Plus I was kind of upset because no one was listening. Then all of a sudden, after I was trying to warn the people around, the slow motion of my dream turned into regular time and I saw that plane turn towards us, I began to move out of the way and the plane began to fly towards us and it hit the ground at a high speed. It was like, during the slow motion part there was a warning to give, those who did not listen were caught off guard when it crashed and even when it first hit the ground, they continued to talk until a big mushroom cloud erupted exploded from the plane crash site and then the dream began to move back into slow motion. I saw the mushroom cloud expand towards the sky, it was so loud that it made no sound and then suddenly the radiation or dust, whatever the sides of the mushroom ball was, starting to expand on the sides to cover all the land. It moved fast like a plague and I saw people still talking and uncover get evaporated by the ash or whatever the sides of the mushroom cloud was. As I saw it move towards me I jumped up and supernaturally I was able to stay in the air for what seemed like 30 minutes to a hour as the cloud ran passed me. I was untouched. It was as if angels or something lifted me up or god let gravity not keep me down on the earth as this happened. I saw the whole city and then I gradually began to come back down to the ground from my jump. The city was gray where the mushroom cloud was and I looked to my left and right and the rest of the city was still green with a blue sky. That plane that crashed was red. And I also believe that I saw white on it as well, although I can not remember right off hand.

When I saw that both sides of the city were still in color I began to turn around to leave and go away I guess, the get away from what just happened. Immediately when I made an about face, there was a plane in the air, paused in gravity staring me in my face. The nose of the plane was in a downward motion and it was feet away from my face. It was as if I turned around and it was dangling from an invisible hand or string in the sky. I turned back around to where the first plane, the red plane had crashed, the site was still gray, people were dead in ashes. I turned as saw that on both sides of the site on the edges of the city of Houston that they were still green with blue skies and people were talking, having fun. And then I finally turned back around to face the second plane. I knew in my spirit what was going on now. So I moved out of its way and stepped to the side. As I stepped to the side, the invisible hand or string that was holding the plane in the sky left. As I moved my body in slow motion to the side, that second plane ran fast to the ground and hit at the same site that the first plane hit. But this time, whatever was not killed or dead by the first red and white plane, was killed or dead instantly by the second plane. All I did was watch the plane smash into the ground at a deadly rate. I was not harmed. The second plane was yellow and orange with a brown like color I believe. But I do remember that the second plane's color was kind of loud like and a different color that is hard to explain, but all three colors where there in one: yellow, orange, and brown.

Saints please pray for the meaning of this dream and the interpretation of the dream, the message, the colors, the plane crashes and the mushroom cloud. I believe that I do know more about this dream than I did at first as far as what God is trying to say to us. It does seem to me that this dream has a double meaning. 1) A spiritually warning to those who are sleeping on discerning the times and 2) a real time message or war and politics about America for the end times. Maybe the colors of the planes represent countries or governments like communism countries that will destroy America through terrorist or invasions like the other prophets have seen. The Coming Era > 2TI 3:1 But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. [2] People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, [3] without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, [4] treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God-- [5] having a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them.

"The horizon has many things that it has looming upon it. I tell you that the coming election will signify many things. It will be a new era in the White House. It will be a candidate that I have not chosen. It will be one who will change the direction of the United States. There are times ahead that will call for strength. New policies will be made, and liberalism will take the front stage. "

(I then saw a scene of the Statue of Liberty, and saw that it was rocking back and forth. Eventually the statue itself toppled and fell to the ground. There was water all around and I noticed that a searchlight was looking in the depths of the ocean for it. It was dark all around and a small light was all that I could see searching on the ocean floor.)

"I tell you that many freedoms will be lost. Those things that you once held as sacred will be lost. These things will come and they will enter the world into the last stage. "

The Sound Of A Lying Spirit
Stephen Hanson

July 26, 2004

EZE 13:10 " `Because they lead my people astray, saying,"Peace," when there is no peace, and because, when a flimsy wall is built, they cover it with whitewash, [11] therefore tell those who cover it with whitewash that it is going to fall. Rain will come in torrents, and I will send hailstones hurtling down, and violent winds will burst forth. [12] When the wall collapses, will people not ask you, "Where is the whitewash you covered it with?"

ISA 3:12 Youths oppress my people,women rule over them.O my people, your guides lead you astray; they turn you from the path.

MIC 3:5 This is what the LORD says: "As for the prophets who lead my people astray, if one feeds them, they proclaim `peace'; if he does not, they prepare to wage war against him.

"I tell you that a lying spirit is coming to America. Those who have claimed to speak for Me will fall prey to this spirit. It is very subtle and it promises many things. What can be done about this? I tell you.....forsake the love of money. I tell you that many who have spoken in this hour do so because of this lying spirit. I tell you that America is being led astray because of voices that lead her astray. I tell you that many of your prophetic gatherings fall prey to this as well.
Who can hear the truth and who would stand up for it? I tell you that many of your watchmen have fallen. They speak of prosperity and peace. You say, 'Let us go and hear these good things!' Who would lead and who would be the spirit of this age? I tell you that it would be better not to go and hear these things. A delusion has set in. "

(The Lord now showed me a scene of an angel who was blowing a trumpet. This trumpet had a very large bell or opening, on the end of it. The angel who appeared to be an angel of light, was actually gray, or dark in appearance. This trumpet was set to the ear of a person, probably a watchman of some sort. This person then heard the "sound" of the trumpet that came forth from it. As the sound came forth, it first seemed very melodic and beautiful. Then it slowly changed and the sound produced a flower. This flower opened up to yet another flower, and this process continued for some time, with each successive flower opening up into another flower within it. Finally, at the end of this process the last opening revealed several bugs and insects crawling within the center of the flower. The flower itself withered and died.)

"I tell you that the message of many of these prophets will "wither." For this message has been polluted by the sound of a lying spirit. "

You Will Know The Timeframe
Stephen Hanson

> ECC 3:1 There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven:
> 2 a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot,
> 3 a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to tear down and a time to build,
> 4 a time to weep and a time to laugh, a time to mourn and a time to dance,
> 5 a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them, a time to embrace and a time to refrain,
> 6 a time to search and a time to give up, a time to keep and a time to throw away,
> 7 a time to tear and a time to mend, a time to be silent and a time to speak,
> 8 a time to love and a time to hate, a time for war and a time for peace.

"I tell you that I have said again and again that a storm is coming. From the north it will come and descend. It will hit just certain areas, but then it will leave them devastated. There will be a sign given and then you will know when these things are coming. These things will come because this nation has not heeded my warnings. Many are saying good and sweet things in this time period, but I tell you that they are piping our a melody that is false. There is but two years before some of these things develop. The timeframe of the events that lead up to my second coming will be plainly seen. What can be done and what can you do to save yourself?--seek Me with your whole heart. Then when the deception comes and the devastation sets in you will be saved. Until that time you may hear of brighter things that are promised, and you may have a brief period of security, but it is but a veneer that is covering the underlying layers. I say that it is time to get your house in order. So, set your hearts on Me and do not fear, but be ready. These things will come and they will follow, and you will know the timeframe. "

The Coming Fire
Reuben Ekburg

April 12, 2004

I have been praying for the Church for some time and I have been asking for the Lord to do whatever it takes to deliver and set free the Church.

The thought occurred to me - Just as the fire loosed the ropes that bound the 3 Hebrew children in the fiery furnace, so the same would occur for the Church.

The time of the Lord's fire would loose the bonds, and set the Church free. It will seem to be a perilous time, but the result will be a glorious release.

Furthermore, this miraculous release would be so great that it would convert a nation, not only America ,but every nation on the globe.

The Charge of Joseph

Robert Fraser

Clinging to the Promises of God

Joseph is listed in the Hebrews 11 "hall of faith," making him a hero of faith. What mighty deeds did Joseph do that made him famous in God's eyes? What astounding works, what exploits of faith did Joseph perform in order to enter into this elite order*? "By faith Joseph, when his end was near, spoke about the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt and gave instructions about his bones" (Heb. 11:22).*

For years I read this seemingly bizarre scripture with only perplexity. As I was meditating on it one day, it hit me. Joseph's great-grandfather Abraham had been promised a rich land for his descendants - a land that was fully occupied by fierce inhabitants. And he had been promised that they would become a great nation, though they had entered Egypt as no more than about 75 nomadic ranchers. Yet now the promises were far off - they were in this rich, wealthy foreign land; they were multiplying and prospering; they were tasting of the "good life" as part of the greatest nation on the earth at that time. They eagerly partook of the riches, the cuisine, the art, the craftsmanship, the learning, the science, the government, the culture, and the extravagance of the Egyptian way of life - the most advanced and fabulous culture on the planet. It was clear why God has sent them here: to become strong, and to learn to build a great nation under the tutelage of the greatest nation yet perceived. But there was a problem: along with the greatness, there was sensuality and indulgence; the fabulous riches were seductive - they could forget who they were, they could forget the promises, they could forget the purpose for which they were designed; they could become comfortable and complacent; they could be assimilated. In his latter days, Joseph fell out of favor and the Jews were given hardship. This was God's mercy; they could grow strong and learn about nation building, but they would be safe from forgetting who they were.

As Joseph gave instructions for his bones, I can imagine his speech. "It is God's plan that we become a great nation in another land, as promised to our forefathers. There will be a day coming, some 350 years hence, when God will come for us to fulfill everything He has said. Until then we must make the most of this opportunity in Egypt. Though Egypt is our home today, it is not our destiny. Though we are here in Egypt, we must not become Egyptians."

"Soon I will die; and though I was great and wealthy in the house of the Pharaoh, though I have many friends here, this is not my true home. I place my bones in your care; place my bones in a box and take them with you when you leave this land. Bury them in the land God has promised. Though I will not live to personally see the day of promise, I will still participate in that great day."

By his astonishing declaration about his bones, Joseph proclaimed he lived for the promises, rather than temporal concerns; he refused to be identified with his accomplishments or the blessings on his life, but only with the promises. He proclaimed this Egypt was not his home (nor theirs), but the Promised Land was; he and they were but strangers and sojourners in the land of Egypt. His bones became a "monument of temporality" to his descendants, reminding them this life was but a warm-up for the life to come, and their promised inheritance in that other life.

Most commentators agree that Egypt is a type of the world. Joseph is a type of the marketplace Christian, anointed to govern but in a foreign country. But while he serves, his eye is on another country; he lives in awareness of the promises, and he is steadfast in making sure his legacy is in the promises; not the foreign country. The coming exodus is a type of the Second Coming of Christ, when He will confront darkness and lead his people in great power and wonders. Like Joseph, we want to be a part of this great drama, even if it's only our bones. The Promised Land is heaven. We don't want to be forgotten in Egypt, our only legacy a worldly legacy, nothing more than a passing of dust. We want our bones taken to the Promised Land, where we want our true legacy.

The Danger of Being a Marketplace Minister

We live in the wealthiest, most seductive culture ever to exist on planet earth. We face the same dangers that the Israelites faced in Egypt: we are in danger of being assimilated by the world. Every day the pleasures of life, dissipations, distractions, and desires and pursuits of other things war against our soul, seeking to undermine the promises, making them distant, seeking to make us forget who we are, and seeking to make us forget our true purpose.

Joseph's bones are a "monument of temporality" to us as well. Where do we want our bones buried? Where do we want our legacy? Do we want our legacy to be rotting trophies, bank accounts, homes, boats and automobiles, passing pleasures, and the temporary glories and praises of man, which, when the promised land is our home, will completely pass from memory, and even become an embarrassment to us? Or do we want a heavenly throng to greet us at the gate, our Father to praise and affirm us, and Jesus to receive the full praise and glory for a life that only tried to love Him well?

We are instructed and commanded to live as "strangers" on earth in our earthly journey. "Strangers" meant those who lived among others but were not one of them; foreigners, sojourners, those just passing through:

"Since you call on a Father who judges each man's work impartially, live your lives as strangers here in reverent fear. For you know that it was not with perishable things such as silver or gold that you were redeemed from the empty way of life handed down to you from your forefathers, but with the precious blood of Christ, a lamb without blemish or defect. He was chosen before the creation of the world, but was revealed in these last times for your sake. Through him you believe in God, who raised him from the dead and glorified him, and so your faith and hope are in God" (1 Pet. 1:17-21).

"All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised; they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance. And they admitted that they were aliens and strangers on earth" (Heb. 11:13).

"Dear friends, I urge you, as aliens and strangers in the world, to abstain from sinful desires, which war against your soul" (1 Pet.*

2:11).

We are to treat our earthly journey as those simply passing through; those who are in and amongst, but not of the world; those who are fully here, but who have a different inheritance, a different people, and a different land. Like ambassadors in a foreign land, we do not seek our reward in the land of our service, but in our homeland, and only in the eyes of our King. To seek our reward in the land of our service would be a betrayal of our King, because it is Him we are to be serving and representing. We know our service is short, and we must faithfully discharge the trust He has placed in us, representing Him and His wishes as much as we are able, not our own, until we return home.

The Purpose of the Wilderness

Many saints have experienced severe seasons of "wilderness" - seasons marked by hardship, trial, and testing. Through these seasons, many express hurt and frustration, not understanding the purposes of God in such seasons. But the scriptures clearly lay out God's intentions in Deuteronomy 8:11-18.

God takes us through the wilderness to "do good to us in the end." His goals are (1) to keep riches, comfort and ease from becoming pride; (2) to humble us, so that we are unable to trust in the strength, wisdom and will of man; and (3) to understand that God alone is our source and supply. These three truths God is committed to driving deep into our souls, so much so that He is even willing to cause us temporary pain and hardship. But to God, who sees the end from the beginning, it is a price worth the result.

John Wesley was a classical scholar; he had a love of books and learning; he also had a passion for art, especially music and architecture. Yet he spent his life in the saddle, and a strenuous life. Visiting the beautiful grounds of an English nobleman, he said, "I too have a relish for these things; but there is another world."

The Conversion of Kingdoms
Clo DiPilato

Dearest Friends in Jesus,

The Spirit quickened to me strongly two scriptures today that I feel are the word of the Lord for those whom the Lord wishes to advance even as the Josephs and the Daniels of our time. Listen my friends, as the chosen executors of God's righteousness into the earth, there has to be in place those not only that KNOW the will of God for a society, but those that have power and authority to make inroads into the present systems and economy of this world during the process of conversion.......the very conversion taking place where the kingdoms of this world ARE BECOME the kingdoms of our Lord, and His Christ (His anointed.) See Rev. 11:15.

It's not enough to know things that are wrong, and contrary to the precepts of God's Word, and His holy commandments. Righteousness is not going to supplant wickedness simply because we've got a good working knowledge of the Word. We need to advance beyond knowledge into revelation whereby within us is birthed understanding that there is literally coming for God's elect a lording over the houses of Pharaoh, a ruling over this world's substance, a binding of those (by the spirit) in worldly authority, and a TEACHING of God's wisdom to those in place in the world's systems. (See Psalm 105:21-22).

God needs to change our mindset. And here is the first quickened scripture:

And the Lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely; for the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light.
Luke 8:16

We can no longer be content to let the children of this world in their generation be wiser than the children of light. Luke 16:8.
You may recall the Bible story, and if not, please read the context. A wasteful man had misused what was given to him. He rectified the matter, and made peace with the rich man by simply coming up with a plan to get the rich man's debtors to pay something of what they owed........the first step in making good on any debts. We don't know "the rest of the story", but I'm sure many of those debtors went on to pay their debts in full. Now, the editors of my Thompson Chain Bible label this the "parable" of the unjust steward. However, I question if this was just a parable, or the Lord actually relating someone's testimony because I've heard that some Bible scholars believe that when the Bible says "a certain rich man", it means that person was not just a storybook character but an actual person the Lord uses as an example whereby He can impart truth. So, if I believe this, then I have to believe that there was more to the story than the portion the Lord shared......some went onto pay their debts in full, some may have ended up in 'debtor's prison', some may have died and left their debts to their relatives. There is a mysterious "rest of the story" to this portion of scripture.

We got the part God wants us to have, though, for our own wisdom and instruction. The message is this: If you are going to outsmart the world, then you are going to have to beat them at their own game by being willing to understand, without fear that will rob you of your faith, where concessions can be made on the road to a victory. You are going to have to know how to "go to the table" to get something from the other side that will help you in your cause. We can get specific on all sorts of issues facing a holy Church of a holy God raging on the world scene, and especially here in America, at this time. The issue could be homosexual marriages, or abortion, or prayer in the schools, or ten-commandments in courthouses. We can march on Washington, or assemble in Alabama, or hand out pamphlets at abortion clinics. This can all be done with a determination NOT to back down, or give even one inch of the "barley patch" over to the Philistines. (Read 1 Chronicles 11:13 and 14)

But my beloved friend, there is a distinction to be made between taking a stand in the Spirit in the presence of Almighty God and the principalities and powers that are entrenched in the heavenlies, and engaging unnecessarily in contention with mere flesh and blood that may actually be TEACHABLE if God's people would learn to engage in a bit of strategic intelligence and savvy which would actually HELP THEIR CAUSE. We must learn to discern the difference between levels of warfare and understand the necessary arms to engage our strength to it's fullest potential. Why are we wasting energy fighting battles with flesh and blood?? Actually, if there is any wisdom to be derived from Luke 16, then the message is we are to negotiate with flesh and blood, not fight with them, and do the fighting and the wrestling on spiritual turf........that is, in the prayer closet on our knees, or as we are called to those holy times of a resolute "prayerful pacing" up and down in His presence.

(Have you had those times when you know the Spirit spoke to you to stay on your feet in prayer, and walk and walk and walk and NOT sit down , and you KNEW that something was being accomplished by the Spirit, and that truly, in doing so, you were even treading upon serpents and scorpions in His Name? At times, it may be at an actual strategic location, but at other times it will be in the privacy of our own home, or as a church meets for a "prayer vigil."

Oh, the miracles wrought just by being OBEDIENT in exactly how God tells us to pray, even when we don't understand the reasons. Recently I went through a strong prayer discipline where the Lord told me I was absolutely NOT to undress for bed until 2 a.m. He told me I needed to stay fully-clothed until 2 a.m., and stay alert, and I was not to get in bed before that time. One night, I said to myself, "I am so tired, surely the Lord could not have meant that I do this. I must be making this up from my own spirit." So, I got into my nightgown, and got into bed. What a rebuke I felt in the Spirit!! I knew I must IMMEDIATELY get out of that bed, and get back into my clothes!! And so I did just that.

I won't go into detail, but after a couple of months of having to do this, the Lord released me, and I experienced a deliverance and a victory in a certain area that I know was the result of obeying the Lord on that little matter of doing what He spoke to me to do in the wee hours of the morning.

Prayer is not just the petitions we make before God. It's the atmosphere of true obedience in which we can launch our prayers from a platform of true faith because we have a true peace that we are doing what He is requiring of us at a given time. "And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us: and if we know that He hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him. 1 John 5;14, 15. My friends, when we are doing what He asks us to do, it brings a confidence that we KNOW He is hearing us!! The heavens are NOT brass, and "confidence" IS faith!!)

The Bible says that the children of the world are wiser "in their generation". What does that mean? It means that in carrying out their personal agendas to advance their generational values and substance, (that which will be passed onto their children, and their children's children) they are truly more intelligent on the natural level than God's people!! Sad, but true!! Let's learn something from this portion of scripture!! Let's learn to be successful in seeing the conversion whereby the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ, we must KNOW how to "intercept that process" of worldly generation by the children of darkness!!

Let's also see that the unjust steward had enough of an inkling of the personality of the "rich man" to know what would put him back in favor with that rich man. If we truly know the Lord, we will know where we can "negotiate" in order to move along a righteous agenda without grieving the heart of God.

And at the very same time, all along in the Spirit, where the TRUE BATTLE lies, we can be as militant and as defiant of the powers of darkness as we dare to be!! We can choose to "march on Washington", or we can choose to "march against the gates of hell" through prayer and intercession and just watch those gates NOT prevail against the church of the living God!!!

Now, the next part of this article is something I am seeing by the Spirit, and I know it's one of those things that is only meant for those whom the Lord is truly calling to such a thing.

Not everyone will have "ears to hear", and not all are meant for this word. This is not meant to sound "exclusive" or "elitist" in any way. It's simply a matter of the Lord's choosing and calling. There are those reading who are going to know by the Spirit that God is truly speaking by His Spirit TO THEM, and it's going to be because God has already been speaking and dealing with you along these lines. When God speaks to us so specifically, we must be careful not to straddle others with burdens and convictions that are not theirs to have.

As God's elect, (by this I mean a prophetic people who have endured process whereby, even as Joseph, the word of the Lord has "tried them"...Psalm 105:17-19) I truly believe that this time of transition into a fuller unveiling of God's kingdom is coming in some measure through certain ones who have ears to hear, and a heart willing to be a part of a " not many wise, mighty, and noble" company of believers being launched from within the ranks of the weak and the foolish and the base and the despised, NOT to undermine how the Lord so wonderfully and miraculously works through a "peculiar people", but as those who can be a voice on the Lord's behalf into the systems of man where there would be no entryway, except for a people prepared for such a thing.

Consider Moses. What a process that man had to go through before he actually stood before Pharoah, and said, "Let my people go...." The most glorious part of that preparation was truly his "burning bush" experience, where he "turned aside" and saw the Lord in a burning bush, and received a revelation of "I AM". And there is no doubt that MUCH of the ways of Egypt had been purged out of Moses system through his personal dealings on the backside of the desert. And yet, the truth of the matter is part of God's process in order that Moses could stand before the king of all the earth at that time, was that he had been raised in Pharoah's house, had been part of Pharoah's army, as a prince had attended the very best schools Egypt had to offer. Moses did not go back to the courts of Pharoah as a stranger or a novice. God, through the circumstances of his life, had prepared him for the assignment in every way.

For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty men, not many noble, are called:
but God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty,
And base things of the world , and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are; that no flesh should glory in His presence.
But of Him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption;
That according as it is written, he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. 1 Corinthians 1:26-31.

Notice, the scripture doesn't say there are NO wise men after the flesh, or NO mighty men, or NO noble men. It simply says there aren't very many of them!!
But beloved, I truly believe that I'm being quickened by the Spirit to hear that there are those who are presently being called out from the rag-tag, motley crew called "God's people" to levels of personal sacrifice and discipline that are going to be used of the Lord to be able to "go to the table" in the presence of earthly-recognized brilliance on behalf of the Lord's people, and His righteous agenda that will literally shock and stun the snobbery and arrogance out of the world's brightest and best in the courts of Egypt (worldly systems) and Babylon (religious systems.)

Beloved, I will tell you by the word of the Lord that God's people are going to start filling some of the most strategic and scholarly positions in education, media, government and on the commercial scene.......where ever there is INFLUENCE and a voice speaking into the hearts and minds of people because in the "conversion of kingdoms" there needs to be INTERCEPTION from the righteous to UNDO the "generation" of the children of the world who have until this time been "wiser in their generation" than the children of light. But , I declare by the word of the Lord, NO MORE!!

Within David's hold at the cave of Adullam, he had an army made up of the poor, the despised, the rejected, the outcasts, those who were in debt. But at this same place were also David's mighty men who were able to break through the ranks of the Philistines to get the king exactly what he wanted!! (In David's case, some cool, clear water from a favored well in Bethlehem, which he ultimately poured out before the Lord.) 1 Chron.11:15-18.

Beloved, God is going to raise up certain ones who are going to hear the clarion call of the spirit into their beings to prepare themselves to be the very best they can be, even as Daniel and the three Hebrew children excelled above all others in the courts of Babylon. Your grandma may have been a horse-thief, and your grandpa may have rode with Jesse James, and you may live in a shack on Shantytown and go to the church with the broken windows, shredding carpet, and falling-apart pews. But you may be that one whom God is calling to "get Him exactly what He wants, even as David's mighty men went to get him that water!!" You just may be one that God is preparing to "go to the tables of negotiation" where some debts are going to begin to be paid!! You may be one who is CALLED AND CHOSEN BY GOD to be instrumental in the "conversion of kingdoms". It's going to be a high calling, and a holy calling because you are getting the Lord what He wants!! He wants this world and it's systems BACK from the devil!! He paid an awesome price for our redemption, and He's purchased us with His own blood, and we truly are in the process of very fully becoming His, and His alone.

Yes, we ourselves , were part of the "kingdoms of this world", and our own conversion signifies that He is truly successful in the translation of kingdoms! But there is a day coming when ALL of the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, even as the waters cover the sea! (See Isaiah 11:9) ALL that God does, He does through His people!! Through a people prepared, He will continue His process of "kingdom-conversion" until EVERYTHING that brings expression into this earth IS an expression of His praise and His glory!! Beloved, we might even think of this as part of the "restoration of ALL things." Whatever belonged to God, will be His again.

Read the history of the ivy-league schools of this nation. What were their roots? Most of them started as seminaries to train people for the work of the ministry. Read the story of Cotton Mather. You will literally go between doing cartwheels in the spirit for the JOY of the reality of the godly history of this prominent historical figure to experiencing this man's intense deep grieving as you realize the suffering this man went through in his own spirit because he constantly anguished and agonized over the fear that he might some how be missing or hurting the Lord by his actions. When I began to read his history, I had to put it down because it was more than I could handle. I suffered in my spirit as I read this book because it was as if the Lord let me feel every pang of grief and conviction that man went through as he worked his way through his salvation with fear and trembling. And this man was instrumental in the founding of either Yale or Harvard, I do not recall which one. After reading that history of Cotton Mather, not for one moment do I believe God is going to leave his legacy forever in the hands of godless secular humanists! NO WAY!!! The conversion of kingdoms: God is TAKING BACK that which rightfully belongs to Him, and RESTORING ALL that was spoken by the prophets!! Glory to His Name!!

Who upon this earth can readily and easily distinguish the part that God might do sovereignly from the part that is requiring obedience on the behalf of His people?? One thing I do know: if God is asking me to do something that requires obedience, then THAT is the part that NEEDS obedience in order that it might be fulfilled.

Someone reading this is being challenged by the Spirit to apply for a high-level position in a major teaching hospital in this nation. Someone is being challenged to apply for a scholarship to attend an ivy-league school that seems absolutely impossible for you to find favor for such a thing!! My dear friend, it's not for your own glory, but it's because the Lord is preparing a people who are not to be the offscouring or a laughingstock, but who are being prepared to find favor NOT for any personal advantage, but because they are being SET IN PLACE BY GOD to do that little part of God's "kingdom conversion" plan which will be accomplished through the "not many wise, mighty or noble" spoken of in 1 Cor. 1:26.

I do not even begin to think I have adequate brain cells to feel I qualify for such a calling myself. (And I certainly don't have the stamina.) But as the Lord's servant, I know YOU are there reading, and that you are being challenged in your faith to enter into that place of preparation for this calling, and if you already have been in that place of preparation, then, by faith, step forth into that which God is calling you to do!! Don't be fearful, and don't waver. You know that the rest of us, your friends in the faith, are standing with you in prayer, and we are truly your biggest fans and supporters as you are going forth in His Name to move into those strategic places God has called you to fill!!

We don't need more marches, more intercessory groups, more "grass-roots" movements. We need those who are called and prepared by obedience to the Spirit to move into position whereby they are INTERCEPTING the generation of the worldly. Beloved, you cannot begin to make this up if it's not your position to have. The spiritual forces in play are way too powerful and strong for anyone not truly called, and anointed of God.

Well, when I feel the unction on something I can go on and on, and I know I should now rest. I trust in the Lord that you have ears to hear what the Spirit is saying, especially if this pertains to you.

I know by the Spirit I have really been talking to some people today!!

Always in His GREAT Name, and Glorious Love,

The Coming Move of God

Larry Taylor

I believe that God is releasing in the earth a move of His Holy Spirit that will exceed anything and everything He has done up to this point. What I have experienced in the River of God has made me hungry for more. What I have heard the contemporary prophets declare has led me to seek after more. What the biblical prophets foretold causes me to expect more.

But what can we expect and what should we look for as characteristics of this move? It would be a repetition of the error of previous generations to so precisely define the parameters of the move of God that any departure from our preconceived construct would be dismissed. However, I do believe that there are some definitive discernible characteristics emerging as the prophetic puzzle comes into place.

*The coming move will be defined by a greater revelation of His Glory. The glory of the latter house will exceed the former.

*Jesus will be the focus of this move. It's all about Him. No other foundation can be laid than that which is laid which is Jesus Christ. As we behold His image revealed by the Holy Spirit we will be transformed into that image.

*The coming move will release a fresh outpouring of the revelatory gifts. Prophecy, words of wisdom and knowledge, dreams and visions will increase in frequency, accuracy and intensity.

*In the coming move His Word will come forth with clarity, purity and precision. As the Word becomes alive the Body of Christ will be equipped to use the sword of the Spirit with the purpose of God to reveal the motives and intents of the hearts of men.

*In the coming move many will be refined, purged and purified. The cleansing work of the Holy Spirit will produce a people of holiness and righteousness derived from nearness to His presence and not from legalism and human control.

*In the coming move there will be unprecedented signs, wonders and miracles on the earth and in the heavens. Greater works are coming as we allow the anointing to flow through the pure conduit of the compassion of Christ.

*The coming move will bring about a tremendous harvest. No region of earth, no tribe or nation will be left untouched.

*In the coming move God will use a remnant to reveal His Glory. As many, including myself, have spoken of the "nameless faceless army" that God will use there is a danger of discounting the roles of individuals in this move. God has always used people to accomplish His will on the earth. Rather than diminishing the role of His Body, we will be taken into the full revelation of His Body---The Church of Jesus Christ fully alive, fully empowered and fully functioning as one.

*As this move of God increases, so will wickedness, evil, false signs and wonders and false religion. Those who practice deeds of darkness will become increasingly bold and outspoken. The wicked will act wickedly. The contrast of the godly remnant in the face of the godless will justify the ultimate judgment that God will bring on all who practice evil and love darkness rather than light. Just as the religious system of Jesus' day was a cumulative personification of all the previous generations of religious disobedience, so will the godless now be revealed as the perverse generation that they truly are. The self seeking pride, overt merciless violence, wanton debauchery and unbridled greed of this generation in contrast with the pure spotless bride will set the stage for the vindication of God's judgment on the unrighteous and mercy on His chosen.

*The coming move will be a sovereign work of God. Not by might or by power, but by my Spirit says the Lord! He has declared it, He will do it!

The Cry Of My People

Lance Abernethy

lance649@hotmail.com

Now it has started. Last night the Lord visited me in my bed with a part interpretation of the coming cloud.

"Listen, and again I say listen." So I stood in the middle of a treeless plain and feared for my own life, for my own salvation as the many sins that I have committed passed before my eyes. "Can you bear it, can you face the coming shame associated with declaring my word, my name, for your sin as well as that of the rest of my people is now before me says the Lord, and your judgment is upon you as well."

Then I said then why do you show me these things?

"Because you need to be cleansed with the persecution of my people. For if you listen and remain quiet you can hear a hissing and a murmur, and the accusations of those who you have addressed, and will address. They will not hold back, but will publish to all your many indiscretions, for they are loathsome and full of revenge.

The accuser of the brethren is rampart among my people. They have yielded to his desire to twist the truth. They are totally without scruples as they destroy the innocent with their lips, with their words of deceit and lies. They have forgotten the Good Word that I planted in them and are intent on making My work their own. Indeed they have taken ownership of My house, and turned it into a den of secrecy and control. They have twisted My word and used it to defend their own deceitful actions saying; "I'm a pastor, a prophet, a sage sent from God, hear me."

Well they are not from Me, for their father has no compassion, no regard, only the protection of self interest and greed. And they are their father's children. So you must be aware that you will be attacked and brought low. Many will leave you and scoff, even good trusted friends will leave and write you off as a crackpot a false prophet, but I will speak to you says the Lord, and turn your weakness into strength. The old man will indeed be slaughtered, but the new man in Christ shall see life and rejoice.

As the cloud approaches you will despair at the apparent uselessness of saying anything to anyone as you witness the innocent and the aware being put down without cause, then will come a quietness and the leaves of the trees will hang limp and the singing of the birds go quiet as the cloud gets closer.

He who hears, let him hear.

Then shall the declaration of my word from these so-called temples of mine be more and more polluted with the filth of pagan practices, and that which is evil shall be called good. Acceptance, acceptance, shall be the cry, in the midst of my rejection of these pagan forms of worship and kingdom building, these blind self indulging prophets of prosperity and debauchery shall accept every false wind that blows being even more deceived. They shall become ever more boastful and declare to all who question their evil intent that they cannot be touched, for they have heard from God!!

And indeed the god of this world has truly blinded theirs eyes to the coming judgment. Listen, says the Lord, this is not the intent of my heart to see calamity and pain amongst my people, indeed my heart bleeds for my own, and they shall be saved, but these wicked priests shall not stand in the cloud of judgment, as it descends upon my body the church, their name and deeds shall not be remembered in the land for ever. Unless they repent! So go now and ring out your own fouled, polluted garments of sin and selfishness, put away your wanton desires and seek my face even more, and it may be that you will be remembered and forgiven when I purge the temple.

For purge it, I will. Indeed weep before me, for your sins are many, and you have said; "I'm forgiven!" But repeat the same offences before me without shame. Well, be ashamed and repent and bow before me and return to me the worship the honour and the regard due to me, and I will once again take you and wash you clean and change your filthy rags and put a new coat on your back and heal you and your family.

But be warned the cloud contains blindness for all who ignore it's approach. Rent your clothes and fear for the lives of your own blood as I purge this temple. When, you say to me, when? Could it be when you have forgotten the words that I have spoken to you this day, and passed it off as some vain imagination? Read my word, for in it is the answer to the question you ask. But be assured you have time to repent and redeem the time you have wasted in wantonness and greed.

Bride or Whore
Lance Abernethy

A vision. A Warning. Time to repent. A question: Bride or Whore.

This is an account of what the Lord spoke to me in a vision that began in the truck coming home from Perth at 4AM. I have been praying about my reaction or lack of it to the recent negative events in my life, especially my dealings with others who would call themselves my brethren. The following is the answer, not to my specific situation, but to the current standing of the Body of Christ, the church in this country today.

As I was driving the Lord asked me to look at the carcasses of the dead kangaroos that litter the side of the highway. He told me that each one represented the many churches that have, and continue, to die after colliding with a road train of lies, deceit, adultery, fornication, idolatry, witchcraft, that is disguised as prayer, lust, the Cain spirit, the greed of Esau, the nepotism of Eli, the broken down walls of sound teaching, and the increase of mystics and soothsayers and pseudo prophets, of gatherers, of deceitful wickedness in the priesthood.

Then the next day He showed me the crows and eagles feeding on these carcasses, stripping the bones white as they gorge themselves on the dead flesh. He said these are they who wait to devour those mislead into error and confusion by the strong lights of the road train as it speeds towards them. Notice He said, how they jump from this side of the road to the other, not sure just what it is that is coming, and then too late.

This road train that hits them is the pseudo ministries that have, and continue to wander this land promising the prosperous abundant life of Christ, but eating and partaking of it's firstfruits themselves. They entice the kangaroo, [the church] to the side of the road with the promise of better feed and water, and when it is dead they strip it bare and get another church to come closer to the road, to see the big light and to be blinded by it and die. Then he said look at the horizon behind you. There in the distance on the flat horizon was gathering a storm cloud of judgment, not against the ungodly, but against this body, this church, this whore, this impostor, who flaunts herself as His bride. Who dresses herself up in His blessings, in His word, in His promises, and calls them all by a name of her choosing. Around her waist are the knives of gossip and backbiting with the innocent blood of those she has consigned to death by innuendo, malice, and ill will. Her dress is stained with the blood of those who have died of mortal wounds in her grasp as she has taken their sanity, sincerity, money, and heart for God and flung it on the ground in the name of Jesus. Come to me, come to me she cries. Be part of me. I'll show you heaven, worship my music, worship my preachers, pay homage with your tithes, give me a bigger building to parade myself in.

Then the Lord said "Lance you too have been part of that whore, that lustful wench, you too have wanted her goods, her acceptance, her charisma. If you don't repent, then you too will lay as a dead sinew, a dead bone, a dead stinking piece of rotting skin and flesh beside the road".

Then He said "your children, and the children who have witnessed the deceitful dealings of this so-called bride, in the lives of their families, and who no longer follow me, because of the forked tongues, the false witness, and charades played by their parents with the whore are safe. I took them out to protect them, and yes, they wander, but they shall return when I show them the truth that you neglected too. So write this down, and go all of you who hear the word of this prophecy and repent and seek God, or you will die in your deception and wickedness. Cease from all that is corrupt and a stench in my nostrils, and take heed to when you think you stand in your riches, knowledge and way of life, for without the mercy and blood of my Son Jesus you are but a fleeting irritant in my sight".

My God have mercy on all of us!

Lance Abernethy.

The Coin Purse

Mary Clark

The Lord showed me a coin purse. It was light blue and had a curved ruffle trimming the opening. Why did You show this to me, Lord?

I want My children to recognize My work in their lives. I want them to be grateful for all that I am doing. I want them to know that the time is coming when they will look on My work with new eyes, and when this time comes, I would be extremely grateful to hear exclamations of joy. Don’t hold back, beloved. Speak words of loving acceptance to Me for all that I am doing, and know that it delights My heart to hear those words. Yes, it delights Me right down to My toes.

A process is on the way in which you will see benefits arise in your life that will catch you by surprise. You will see your finances with a different view. No longer will you look on your finances with an eye to hoard. Oh, no! You will look on your funds with an eye to bless, and bless, and bless. You, beloved, are going to let the finances flow out of your heart and into the hearts of other. The flow from your heart to others will spill over into your view of your finances, and you will see that the more you give the more you will receive. It will be a constant cycle – a constant cycle where you will know beyond a doubt that your Lord has intervened in your life in an astronomical way. Yes, blessings, upon blessings, upon blessings are coming your way, because of your giving.

I am telling you, beloved, that your finances are about to take on a new look – a look that will surprise and delight. When this happens, I want you to know that it is My delight to bless you as you bless others. It is My delight to see your needs met far above your expectations. So get ready for something fancy to appear in your life – something that many will look on with an eye to correct, but you will know that no correction is needed. Your God is doing what He does best. He is multiplying the gifts that He has already given you. He is multiplying them triple-fold. Why? Because you, beloved, have taken on a new attitude – an attitude to bless and NOT hoard, and this is to the delight of your King. It is to the delight of My heart.

So accept the plenty that is coming your way. Accept it, knowing that I am giving to you that you may be a giver to others. I am heaping upon those who will be My conduits of blessings more than their hearts could ever contain. And know this, too, beloved: The container that these gifts will be coming in you will look upon as a bit extraordinary. I want you to know that the frills were put there by your King, and with every frill will come something that is guaranteed to bless – guaranteed to bless you and to bless those to whom you give. I am returning something triple-fold to those who will step out in the confidence of the living God and behold His goodness firsthand. Those who delight in the knowledge of My will in their lives will know something of great wonder: You have inherited something of greater value than you could ever have dreamed. You have inherited something of a value greater than you have ever had in your lives, and I am moving you forward into My plans, enabling you to manifest My giving heart to all who will receive. This is the hour for the most extraordinary. This is the hour for My goodness to manifest triple-fold in the lives of My chosen. Yes! This is the hour to open your coin purse, peer in and see the goodness of your God in a way you never dreamed existed, for I am about to cause an increase to flood through you to others. And when this happens, the world will see you with new eyes – inquiring eyes – eyes of envy – extreme envy, for they will know that you have been blessed – blessed beyond their knowledge, and beyond your expectations.

I am opening the gates, and letting the personal goods flow to those who will be My ready conduits, ready to give out more than their hearts can contain. I about to show Myself in all of My generosity. You, My beloved, are about to see an hour of benevolence unfold that will surprise you, but just keep this in mind: Did I not say that I am a benevolent King, willing that all should come into the knowledge of My love – willing that all should know Me and My provision? I am about to reveal that side of My nature in a most extraordinary way, dear child, and when I do, once again you will give a sigh of contentment – contentment in knowing Me – knowing Who I am, and resting in the sweet sensations of your God as He strokes your heart, introducing you to a final discovery about His love that will give you cause to wonder. But be at rest – rest in the knowledge that this One Who gave His life is still giving. He is giving more than you than you could ever hope. More than you ever suspected is being poured forth for the beloved – My bride – the one I have prepared to walk down the aisle adorned with the finest – the finest that this life could have to offer – the finest that the world will look upon in awe – the finest that could only be called ethereal. That is what you may expect, sweet and generous giver – the ethereal presence of your God, manifesting in your life and introducing you to a new day of fun-filled surprise, replete with My abiding glory – My sweet and affectionate love!!!

The Coming Of The Lord

David Wilkerson

When I was a boy, the cry of the church was, "Jesus is coming! Like a thief in the night, he will return when you least expect him. He'll come in the twinkling of an eye, with the sound of the trumpet. Be ready at all times."

Throughout my teenage years, this cry was heard at every Sunday meeting. Every evangelist who came to preach in my father's church had a stirring message about the soon return of Christ. Their cries are burned into my memory. And the message formed in me a godly fear and expectancy. I learned to live expecting the Lord to return at any moment.

This cry, "Jesus is coming", is seldom heard in the church today. I can't remember the last time I heard a message on the coming of the Lord. As a result, when I look at Christ's body, I see little expectancy for the Lord's soon return. Sadly, only a few righteous servants seem to yearn and look for his appearing.

In fact, there is a new mindset on this subject among many Christians. The thinking is, "Jesus isn't coming. We've heard that for years now. Of all the prophecies that need to be fulfilled before his return, only a few have come to pass. Why should we expect his appearing? Everything continues just as it has."

The Bible warned of this very mindset. Peter said scoffers would come in the last days, mocking the message of Christ's return: "There shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation" (2 Peter 3:3-4).

Incredibly, many dread the sudden return of Christ. The very thought of their life coming to an end, and of having to face a day of judgment, is so frightening that they put it out of their minds. How could this be true of believers, you ask? According to Peter, their lives are dictated by lusts: "walking after their own lusts" (3:3).

Think about what Peter is saying. If you cling to a bosom sin, you want nothing to do with this message of Christ's return. The idea that Jesus will come and judge you is the most frightening thought any sinner could have. So you have to mock the idea of having to stand before God in your consuming lust and give an account.

Peter's message to us is clear: "Here is what's behind all the flippancy about Christ's coming: a mockery of God's law. It's a hatred for the Bible, a despising of the Ten Commandments, a contempt for the evangelical gospel. That's the cause behind all the lawlessness, the flaunting of sin, the powerlessness of the church. Mockers are preaching a new message: 'Christ isn't coming. There is no day of reckoning. All things continue just as they have for years. You don't have to fear a judgment day.'"

Just as Peter prophesied, those mockers are here today. And they're not mocking the law of the land. They're mocking the laws of God. We see it in the push to break down the institution of marriage between a man and a woman. Their focus isn't the Constitution, but God's Word. And these mockers are in high places: in Congress, in high courts, in colleges and schools, even in biblical seminaries.

Because of this rampant lawlessness, people have been plagued with a willful blindness. Mockers can be heard saying, "All things continue on in an orderly fashion. The sun will rise on schedule tomorrow, the seasons will come and go. All the warnings we heard in the past still haven't come to pass. So, let nothing disturb you. Indulge and enjoy yourself. Do whatever makes you happy."

I have to shake my head at this. How could anyone living today say that things continue as they always have? Think of the absurdity of this statement, in these terrifying times. Terrorists have destroyed the Twin Towers in New York. They've blown up a train station in Spain. And they're beheading people in the Middle East.

It has been said that a mass genocide like the Holocaust could never happen in our day. Yet 700,000 innocent Rwandans have been slaughtered by their own countrymen in a matter of months. AIDS is killing millions in Africa, China, India and other nations. Rogue countries with the hydrogen bomb are poised to hold the rest of the world hostage. And there is a rise of deadly new diseases, such as SARS and Ebola, that consume a person's flesh within weeks.

"All things continue as they have"? What willful ignorance. It should be clear even to the ungodly that the Lord is shaking everything that can be shaken. And what's coming in the near future is too dreadful even to think about.

Yet, as all these things happen, there is a mighty, unseen power at work in the earth. It's a power no man can evade or ignore. I'm talking about the power of the Holy Spirit. He is Christ's administrator on earth. He was sent to empower the righteous, and to convict the world of sin, righteousness and judgment.

The Holy Spirit knows exactly why Jesus hasn't come yet. It is because our Lord is longsuffering. He is patient toward sinners, willing that no person should perish. In his mercy, he's waiting for the vilest sinner to repent. And for that very reason, the Holy Spirit will not let up on his assignment. You can mock him or try to shake him off, but the Spirit comes again and again, convicting of sin and revealing the truth of Christ.

--- Although mockers will come, Scripture says the Holy Spirit will also come in the last days, being poured out on the earth. ---

This has happened, at Pentecost. And now, at the closing of the age, the Holy Spirit is making a final, midnight cry: "Jesus is coming." Islamics and Hindus will hear this cry. Atheists will hear it. Every sinner and saint, every Jew and Gentile on earth, will hear it. This truth will be proclaimed to the nations.

You may ask, "What kind of 'coming of the Lord' are you talking about? Are you referring to a secret rapture? Are you speaking of a pre-tribulation return, or mid-trib, or post-trib? Or, do you mean Jesus will come at the very end of time?"

Some Christians believe that Jesus will suddenly evacuate his people from the earth in what's called a rapture. Others teach that Christ will come midway through a period known as the great tribulation. This period will last for seven years, and will be marked by terror and chaos such as the world has never seen. Others believe Jesus will come at the end of this seven-year tribulation period. Still others teach that Christ will return at the very end of all things.

There are respected biblical scholars in each of these camps. Yet there is one thing every Christian can agree on: Jesus himself says no man knows the hour of his coming, not even the angels. And for the true lover of Christ, the timing of his return is not an issue. Such servants are ready to go at any time, whether through a sudden rapture or in the midst of tribulation. It doesn't matter to them whether they have to endure terrible trials and suffering. They trust that the same Jesus who carries them through each day now will see them through all things. They live in constant expectancy of his return.

No, there is a greater issue at work here. And that is the wicked thought that Satan has implanted in many who claim to be true believers. The devil is whispering a vicious lie into the ears of multitudes of God's people: "Christ has delayed his coming."

In Matthew 24, Jesus tells a parable about being ready: "Be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh. Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Verily I say unto you, That he shall make him ruler over all his goods.

"But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to smite his fellow-servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken; the lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of, and shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth" (Matthew 24:44-51).

Note that Jesus is speaking about servants here, meaning believers. One servant is called faithful and the other evil. What makes the latter servant evil in God's eyes? According to Jesus, it's something he "shall say in his heart" (24:48). This servant doesn't voice such a thought, and he doesn't preach it. But he thinks it. He has sold his heart on the demonic lie, "The Lord delays his coming." Notice he doesn't say, "The Lord isn't coming," but "he delays his coming." In other words: "Jesus won't come suddenly or unexpectedly. He won't return in my generation."

This "evil servant" is clearly a type of believer, perhaps even one in ministry. He was commanded to "watch" and "be ready," "for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh" (Matthew 24:44). Yet this man eases his conscience by accepting Satan's lie.

Jesus shows us the fruit of this kind of thinking. If a servant is convinced that the Lord has delayed his coming, then he sees no need for right living. He isn't compelled to make peace with his fellow servants. He doesn't see the need to preserve unity in his home, at work, in church. He could smite his fellow servants, accuse them, hold grudges, destroy their reputations. As Peter says, this servant is driven by his lusts. He wants to live in two worlds, indulging in evil living while believing he's safe from righteous judgment.

--- Some claim that Paul warned against preaching that the Lord's coming is near, so as not to excite people. ---

Paul wrote, "We beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto him, that ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand" (2 Thessalonians 2:1-2).

Scoffers point out, "See, someone in the early church shook up believers with the message that Christ was about to come. And Paul told them, 'No, don't worry about it. Don't let it trouble or concern you.'"

But that's not what the original Greek reveals. The root word is "[be not shaken]...that the day of the Lord has come." What disturbed the Thessalonians was they thought Christ had already come, and that they'd missed it.

Paul reassures them in the next verse, "Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition" (2:3). Paul was only addressing their fears when he said, "Don't be worried, because two things have to happen first."

So, what was Paul's primary theology about Christ's return? We find it in two passages: "Knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. The night is far spent, and the day is at hand" (Romans 13:11-12). "Let your moderation be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand" (Philippians 4:5). Paul is crying, "Wake up! It's past midnight already. The Lord's coming is drawing near, so stir yourself. Don't be slothful. Jesus is coming for those who expect him."

Skeptics may ask, "But what about Paul's own words? He did say two things had to happen before Christ returns. First, the Lord can't come until a great apostasy takes place. And second, the Antichrist has to rise up and proclaim himself God. We have to see the Antichrist sitting in the temple, demanding that people worship him, before Jesus will come."

First of all, you have to be willfully blind not to see a raging apostasy gripping the whole world. Unbelief is sweeping through nations, with believers falling away from faith on all sides. The apostasy Paul refers to clearly has arrived.

Note Paul's words here: "The mystery of iniquity doth already work" (2 Thessalonians 2:7). What is this mystery of iniquity? It is lawlessness. It's a spirit of chaos, with no respect for God's law. And it's the very reason why God destroyed the earth by Flood, because of man's violence and lawlessness.

If the lawlessness that Paul saw in his day has only increased, it's no wonder decent people today are alarmed and frightened by what they see happening. Laws and institutions that for ages kept society from falling into chaos are being torn down left and right.

Paul says of this, "He who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way" (2:7). He's telling us, "There is a restraining power at work, holding back the chaos. But that restrainer is about to be removed." The Spirit will always be here to fulfill his mission. But his restraining ministry will be "taken," or lifted, "out of the way."

I can think of no power that's able to restrain lawlessness other than the Holy Spirit. Think about what happens to a society when the Holy Spirit lifts his restraining power. Every institution, from government down to families, spins totally out of control. I can't imagine what New York City would be like without the Restrainer holding back wickedness from erupting. I wouldn't want to be near this city if the Holy Spirit weren't at work.

Yet we see a spirit of lawlessness at work all over the world. The Antichrist forces are already gathering and revealing themselves at high levels. Right now, the European Union is putting into place a Constitution that totally denies God. A Pentecostal minister in Sweden sits in jail today for preaching against homosexuality. That's just one sign of how the stage is being set.

You may say, "Yes, but Paul clearly says Jesus can't come until the Antichrist is in power." Yet, consider what Scripture says: "Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son" (1 John 2:22). According to John, the Antichrist is anyone who denies the Father and the Son. Moreover, he says, the increase of such Antichrists is proof that we're living in the very last days. In addition, there will come a man who will embody the "name of sin."

In short, nothing is holding back Christ's return. Think of the worldwide terrorism, the deification of self, the blatant attacks on marriage and godly values. Think of Islamic brutality, militant homosexuality, the vileness of TV and movies, the widespread molestation of children. One Catholic diocese on the west coast recently declared bankruptcy, unable to pay the millions awarded to sixty childhood molestation victims by one priest.

Consider that all this has been under restraint until now. I ask you, what happens when God says to the One who has been restraining it all, "Lift your restraining hand. Let it run its course to the climax"? Paul gives us a picture: "(The Restrainer) will...be taken out of the way. And then shall that Wicked be revealed" (2 Thessalonians 2:7-8).

The Holy Spirit knows what is soon to take place, when there will be no more restraint. Every man will give himself over to his lusts. Every militant religion will force its gods on others. Every holy thing will be despised. Every law will be broken freely. And the backslidden church will preach the most corrupt, damnable doctrines of hell.

Everything is in place for this to happen even now. Great apostasy has covered the earth. Self has taken the throne of men's hearts. And in a very short time, when the Restrainer is gone, there will come what Paul calls a "strong delusion, that they should believe a lie" (2 Thessalonians 2:11).

What is this lie? It's the blind acceptance that anyone who comes in Jesus' name speaks for God. False teachers will arise who acknowledge Christ as a good man but not as God: "having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof" (2 Timothy 3:5). Those who follow these deceivers will be drawn to another Jesus, another gospel. The blindness will be sweeping, catching up multitudes, including those who were once on fire for the Lord.

Why is God going to stop the Restrainer? Because, Paul says, "They...believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness" (2 Thessalonians 2:12). Right now we're seeing the Holy Spirit's restraints being lifted a little more each day.

--- This brings me to the heart of my message: the heart-cry of the man or woman who is in Christ. ---

In Revelation, Jesus announces, "Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book" (Revelation 22:7). Five verses later Christ says, "Behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be" (22:12).

Here is the cry of all who look expectantly for Jesus' return: "The Spirit and the bride say, Come" (22:17). This refers to the bride of Christ, made up of a worldwide body of believers under his Lordship. All these servants are born-again, blood-cleansed believers.

You may ask, "I understand this is the believer's heart-cry. But why would the Spirit also cry to Jesus, 'Come'?" It is because this is the Holy Ghost's last prayer, knowing his work on earth is almost completed. Like Paul or Peter, who were told by God their time was short, the Spirit likewise cries, "Come, Lord Jesus."

So, where do we hear this cry of the Spirit today? It comes through those who are seated with Christ in heavenly places, who live and walk in the Spirit, their bodies the temple of the Holy Ghost. The Spirit cries in and through them, "Hasten, Lord, come."

Let me ask you: when was the last time you prayed, "Lord Jesus, come quickly, come soon"? Personally, I can't remember praying this prayer. The fact is, I never knew I could hasten Christ's coming by allowing the Spirit to pray this prayer through me. Yet Peter gives us proof of this incredible truth: "Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat" (2 Peter 3:12). In Greek, the phrase "hasting...the coming of (that) day" means "to speed up, to urge on." Peter says our expectant prayers are hastening, speeding up, urging the Father to send back his Son quickly.

Only one issue is holding up that glorious event. It is a single unresolved matter: "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (3:9).

The Lord's merciful patience dictates the timing of his return. So, does this mean we shouldn't pray for his coming? Not at all. Christ himself tells us in Mark's gospel, "In those days shall be affliction, such as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither shall be. And except that the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened the days" (Mark 13:19-20). Imagine what might happen if, all over the world, Christ's bride were to wake up and pray in the Spirit, "Jesus, come."

Yet, if I believe the world is racing toward unrestrained chaos, and that Christ is coming soon, then my cry must be aimed at my unprepared family and friends. It would be hypocritical for me to pray for Jesus to come, and yet not intercede for my loved ones to be ready for that day. My prayer must be, "Come, Lord. But first, give my lost family and friends ears to hear. Save them, save the lost."

Paul wrote to his spiritual son, Timothy, "Without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day" (2 Timothy 1:3). Can you say with a pure conscience that you've prayed for your unsaved loved ones with such intensity?

--- Here is the heart of the matter. ---

For a moment, set aside all doctrines about Christ's coming. Consider this heart-cry of the man or woman who loves his appearing: "Then we shall see him face to face. We shall behold him" (see 1 Corinthians 13:12). Jesus' coming shouldn't disturb you. It ought to thrill you. If you truly love someone, you want to be near that person. Can you imagine what it will be like for Jesus to call your name?

Imagine a couple who's newly married, and the husband is called away for an extended period, perhaps on business or in the military. He tells his bride, "I'll be back, but I don't know when. Here's the address where you can reach me."

For the first few years, that bride writes to her husband often, with beautiful love letters. Yet she never says, "Please, come back soon!" Ten years pass, then twenty, and she writes him less and less. Still, she never says, "Come quickly, I beseech you. I need your embrace, I need to see your face. I'm praying for your soon return."

This is a picture of the church today. How can we tell Christ we love him and miss him, yet never pray that he comes back for us? How can we never express to him that he must return soon and take us with him, so we can be in his constant company? How can we not say, "I can't handle this anymore without your being here. I don't want to be away from you"?

In the midst of these times, I hear Jesus saying, "Surely I come quickly" (Revelation 22:20). And I hear the bride of Christ answering, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus" (22:20).

The Crack In The Liberty Bell

Bill Yount

In the Spirit came a vision of the Liberty Bell. My attention was naturally drawn to the crack in the Bell. I felt in my Spirit somewhat grieved to feel how it seemed to signify such a deep fatal crack in the true liberty and freedom of our nation. Could that breach ever be repaired? Why wasn't at least the physical defect of the Bell ever filled in with more metal? Would the Bell's scar be prophetic, representing our nation's fatal epitaph, unchangeable like the Grand Canyon engraved into Arizona. If only that crack was not there. I felt mesmerized by it. For the longest time my eyes could not move nor could my eyelids even blink...

Then suddenly as though in a twinkling of an eye, the brightest light pierced through that dark crack like a dam bursting. My head immediately turned away from the brightness emanating out of that crack. Instantly I had a knowing that this was the very Shekinah Glory of God. Looking away form its brightness, I saw a huge rope that was attached to the Bell. This rope appeared intertwined and braided. It appeared to be made out of the prayers and intercessions of God's people.

I then saw the Hand of the Lord begin to reach down towards this rope to get a hold of it. The Lord then spoke. "This Liberty Bell is going to ring again!" I then remembered the words inscribed on that Bell... "Proclaim liberty throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof." It was now a rhema word from Heaven.

In the Spirit I had a knowing that the Liberty Bell would be heard again spiritually throughout Philadelphia and across this nation. And the sound of Liberty, the Shekinah Glory of God would begin to rise up out of obscurity and be seen even in the gross darkest places of our nation.

Tradition holds that the Bell cracked while it was being rung during a funeral service in memory of a sheriff. Prophetically, it will ring again for the life and the Glory of a King who still lives in our land!

Real Estate Angels

Bill Yount

July 6, 2004
In the Spirit I saw what appeared to be 'real estate' angels serving eviction notices to the enemy that seemed to have temporary ownership of much of the earth. The eviction notice being handed to the enemy was short and sweet... "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." signed, Jesus Christ; Lord of Heaven and Earth! (Past experience - 'Jewish Carpenter'

New vocation - 'Real Estate Business.')

At what seemed like a million eviction notices being sent out over the earth to principalities and powers that were clutching tenaciously onto portions of the earth such as nations, cities, stadiums, huge drug dealer mansions and properties. Jesus spoke to it all with one word to the enemy... "That's Mine! And I'll take those people dwelling inside those properties and lands with it!" I heard an angel choir singing over buildings, houses and properties. "Redeemed, Redeemed, Redeemed by the Blood of the Lamb! The Kingdoms of this earth are becoming the Kingdoms of our God!"

I saw a strong angel setting up a huge real estate sign over the nation of Israel, reading... "Not For Sale - Never! Jewish Carpenter building on site."

Those two words from Jesus' lips, "That's Mine!" seemed to be amplified throughout the earth and were now reverberating inside the ears of the 'prince of the power of the air.' The powers of heaven were being shaken as angels proclaimed. "Earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord!"

Jesus read the fine red print to the enemy at the bottom of the eviction notice. "And those are My buildings, My houses, My cattle on My thousand hills and those are My fences around those cattle that belong to me!.... any questions, Mr. Devil?"

I heard a strong command given to the angels. "Tear those fences down and free My cattle for My Glory!"

It seemed like the season of 'retroactive pay increase' was in for many in the Body of Christ who had sacrificed many things in their walk with the Lord. Mark 10:29,30 was being activated in the Spirit. "And Jesus answered and said, "Verily I say unto you, there is no man or woman who has left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for My sake, and the gospel's, (30.) But he shall receive an hundredfold now in this time; HOUSES, brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and LANDS, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life."

If you have been praying about a house, a building or property, be very specific with the Lord of all the earth... He is now in the 'real estate' business!

The Day After Tomorrow
Bob Neumann

In 48 hours a new movie from Hollywood will begin it's "theatrical run". Almost a year ago I first heard the title and THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT prompted my attention to it's title. The title is "THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW". Now I am talking to you, people of THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT, about the title....not the movie. For right now that is...

As I said, it has been a year since I began to ponder this title. In that year the internet has carried forth thousands of "prophetic words", "dreams", and "visions". Certain common threads are out there for all to see. Judgment is a biggy. This includes earthquakes, nuclear attack, tidal waves, tornadoes, asteroid strikes, and invasion of the west coast by Chinese troops. Please do not limit them to these six events. Any one or more occurring will bring fear and pain enough to those in proximity.

Now there are many who have "shared" these images. Likewise there are those who come against them for many reasons. "Spreading fear" and "panic" is a major tool of the "nay sayers". And they usually follow it by a round of "GOD" is good, loving, merciful, and full of grace. Now that is indeed true, but they never mention that "GOD" is HOLY, RIGHTEOUS, and GREAT AND TERRIBLE. Those two seem to go together well. Ask DAVID....CLAP YOUR HANDS
ALL YEE PEOPLE....

THE MIGHTY KING over all the earth has this penchant of doing things HIS WAY. Which means it is to PLEASE THE FATHER. So you can ask why all these prophetic words, dreams, and visions especially now? I have an answer which many will not like, but that is tough on the mockers and the scorners. Scripture gives us a number of key scriptures that tell us both the HOW and the WHY these "IMAGES" have come forth over the last year....and even longer. It is these scriptures that I have pondered the last year. All who read this posting to the internet will probably be familiar with each of these scriptures. Whether you will have seen them in the context I will place before you may be the greatest challenge for you.

[27] And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the LORD your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed.
[28] And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions:
[29] And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit.
[30] And I will shew wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke.
[31] The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the LORD come.
[32] And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the LORD shall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the LORD hath said, and in the remnant whom the LORD shall call.

This of course is Joel 2. Peter quoted from it in Acts. We all love the image of "I WILL POUR OUT MY SPIRIT ON ALL FLESH". As we should. But after that we are told of "THE GREAT AND TERRIBLE DAY". Which is THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW.

[6] Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not be afraid? shall there be evil in a city, and the LORD hath not done it?
[7] Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.
[8] The lion hath roared, who will not fear? the Lord GOD hath spoken, who can but prophesy?

This of course is Amos 3. Now Joel also spoke of blowing the TRUMPETS. So here we are given the simple point that GOD reveals "HIS SECRET" unto HIS SERVANTS....let me stop there for a short moment, please. There are many who use this scripture and there only focus is "the prophets". Shame on them. SERVANTS comes before prophets. At least in HIS EYES and in HIS WORD. So why so many negate this? The old testament abounds with FALSE PROPHETS. SELAH.

Onward....JOB 33....
[12] Behold, in this thou art not just: I will answer thee, that God is greater than man.
[13] Why dost thou strive against him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters.
[14] For God speaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not.
[15] In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, in slumberings upon the bed;
[16] Then he openeth the ears of men, and sealeth their instruction,
[17] That he may withdraw man from his purpose, and hide pride from man.
[18] He keepeth back his soul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword.
[19] He is chastened also with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain:
[20] So that his life abhorreth bread, and his soul dainty meat.
[21] His flesh is consumed away, that it cannot be seen; and his bones that were not seen stick out.
[22] Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers.

Many have taught that JOB predates all of the rest of scripture. I will not argue because to me JOB is a special book, and JOB 33 is profound...even if it comes from one of JOB'S FRIENDS. Here we are specifically told important facts.... THAT GOD SPEAKS IN DREAMS....NIGHT VISIONS...for the purpose of instruction. But we are told that GOD SPEAKS ONCE...YEA TWICE....yet "man" perceiveth it not. So if THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT speaks and it is sealed, what is missed? THE SECOND MEANING....or PURPOSE? This the reader must decide. Verse 18 is important....

[18] He keepeth back his soul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword.

See the word "AND"? It separates "his soul" and "his life".

[23] But when they persecute you in this city, flee ye into another: for verily I say unto you, Ye shall not have gone over the cities of Israel, till the Son of man be come.
[25] It is enough for the disciple that he be as his master, and the servant as his lord. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more shall they call them of his household?
[26] Fear them not therefore: for there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known.
[27] What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops.
[28] And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.

Now I could have used Matthew 10:28 to link with JOB 33:18, but then we miss the context. Which is simply persecution. Yet we are told not to fear the events to come. We are to FEAR GOD. HE WHO SITS ON THE WHITE THRONE.

So "we" have had dreams and visions. "We" have listened and obeyed THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT, have shared them on this thing called the internet, and face to face with many. Yes I have been told over and over that we "all see" through a "glass darkly". But is that the whole or only issue Paul was dealing with?

[9] For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.
[10] But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.
[11] When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
[12] For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.
[13] And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

To me Paul is saying that there will come a point in time where "that which is perfect is come". Few mention that point, do they?

We who have had dreams and visions, who have interceded, fasted and prayed, have shared what we "were given". But that is all today. The glass darkly I will concede. But what happen when "THAT DAY COMES"? When all that was warned by THE MASTER and the prophets takes place? What happens when the events of our dreams and visions begin to fall like dominoes? Prophetically the only TOMORROW we should be looking toward, shouting warnings of, preparing for IN OBEDIENCE is THE DAY OF THE LORD.

[12] And they told to Mordecai Esther's words.
[13] Then Mordecai commanded to answer Esther, Think not with thyself that thou shalt escape in the king's house, more than all the Jews.
[14] For if thou altogether holdest thy peace at this time, then shall there enlargement and deliverance arise to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?

For such a time as this...

Whether we like it or not, the times were set from the foundation of the WORLD. We look at today and worry and fret because of our misfortunes, our persecutions.

Yet were we not told...Matthew 6
[33] But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.
[34] Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

We have enough "evil" today to deal with...tomorrow will come. But in all this we forget that truly there is a DAY AFTER TOMORROW...........

Revelation 19 But is all this sufficient to get us beyond the fears and evils of today to see beyond the events we are warned of? I regret to say most can not get beyond them. Maybe that is why so much of the WORD is "dark" in it's images. Maybe that is why so many "fear" judgment. Too many have been taught that judgment is wrath. But then again we have false teachers as well as false prophets...and false shepherds.... and false brethren.

All this I have pondered because of a simple movie title... THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW. but sufficient unto the day.... Selah Bob Neumann

It's interesting when you see manifest in the natural what THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT has shown you in the VALLEY of VISION. For weeks the commercials for the movie THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW have been shown and even HBO has put out a 30 minute promo on the making of this film. So someone is sure trying to "sell it". But that is the purpose of mercantilism, isn't it? To make money from your efforts? Of course! But sometimes people forget little things like that. Instead I could wager that there are people out there pondering what great spiritual significance might lie behind this film at this point in history. And I know I would win whatever bet would be wagered.

Some may wonder why I might think this. Simply put, I remember the past. I remember how so many saw great revelations when the TITANIC sank. Likewise there was a big send off on THE MATRIX because of the names used by the characters. Did GOD use these movies to "speak to" individuals? Why not. Just because I got nothing from THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT on these movies means nothing. I have had my own share of "events" raised by THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT in the least likely of movies.

As of today, this movie has not yet opened to the public, so I have no idea whether this is a "good" movie or not. But let me explain how I "define" the term GOOD as in reference to a movie. First is it "entertaining"? Solid story, professional acting with intelligent dialogue, and a plausible plot. I also like a catchy tune and special effects. Now there are those who will place the term GOOD in this aspect as religious, or even worse, HOLY. In that aspect GOOD has a caveat. JESUS HIMSELF SAID....

Matthew 19
[16] And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?
[17] And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.

So taking HIS WORDS to heart I want to share with you 4 IMAGES that THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT brought most strongly to my awareness when viewing the trailers and previews to this movie. Three are very visual, and one was audio. Again let me point out that this is what THE MOST HIGH has given to me to specifically share with all of HIS who may run into this post on the INTERNET. The fact that all 4 of these images also point to the "STATE OF THE CHURCH" as it really is today may be why I am writing this. How HE is SPINNING these multilayered IMAGES within my spirit man in itself intrigues me........ so let me start........

The first image is of a man at a meeting. A conference. And there is a map of the UNITED STATES. The man takes a marker and slashes a line on the map. The idea is that everyone NORTH of that line must move SOUTH or they will die. Simple MESSAGE! If this was some wild-eyed ELIYAHOO type they could have all picked up stones. Instead he is a scientist. So maybe stones will still work. But there are gainsayers all over, even here. Personally this image parallels a vision I had maybe 5 years ago when I lived in MIAMI, Florida. Heavy snow on the ground in AUGUST. It was published on the internet.

The second image was a satellite shot of a massive storm cell with a 50 mile wide VORTEX. The whole storm covered all of the UNITED STATES and CANADA. This also points to that SNOW VISION I mentioned above. But here THE MOST HOLY SPIRIT hit me between the eyes with..."YOUR LAND WILL BE COVERED BY MY JUSTICE." When I made note of this I was very aware of the TERM "JUSTICE" was used and not "JUDGMENT". When in prayer over this I was led to one specific chapter in scripture. Deuteronomy 28. More on this later.

The third image was the most intense to me. A TSUNAMI///TIDAL WAVE hits NEW YORK CITY....a wall of WATER six stories high crushes everything in it's path. Again the Hollywood images parallel too many visions I and others have had. To see in THE NATURAL what one has WITNESSED in the SPIRIT is intensely sobering. Granted this movie is not real. It is SPECIAL EFFECTS. Yet to walk in THE VALLEY OF VISION is not lessened at all by what man attempts.

A case in point was an "effort" by NBC....the National Broadcasting Company.......that aired in early May called "10.5". It was a dramatization of the anticipated "BIG ONE" which scientist have warned of and people have had dreams and visions of for years and years. Artistically....it was a BAD movie. Slow, dull, and amateurish. Add to that the science was way-off. But who cares. I have looked for several weeks at prophetic sites to see if anyone commented on it. So far I have not. Now everyone "knows" that someday the WEST COAST will be hit by a whopper of a geological event. Only when, where, and how bad are questions still relevant. When the prophets paraphrase the geologists I am not going to jump and shout on those issues.

But what I will JUMP AND SHOUT about was the fourth IMAGE...the ONE I HEARD. Is it in the MOVIE....I am not sure....but I SURE HEARD IT in my spirit. "SAVE AS MANY AS YOU CAN".

Now is this WORD for me....Bob Neumann....or is it for the people out there with EARS TO HEAR and EYES TO SEE.

This point I have pondered over a week now. I was getting no answers. Until I turned on the TV and found myself on TCM....TURNER CLASSIC MOVIES....as in TED TURNER of CNN, etc. They were having a marathon....of JOHN WAYNE MOVIES....in fact I give you.......FORT APACHE....SHE WORE A YELLOW RIBBON.... RIO GRANDE. All are JOHN FORD WESTERN.....UNITED STATES CAVALRY....based on stories by JAMES WARNER BELLAH. Mr. Bellah's stories were based on many actual events and published by THE SATURDAY EVENING POST...of NORMAN ROCKWELL fame.

Throughout these movies you will here BUGLE CALLS. REVILE, RUFFLES AND FLOURISHES, OFFICER'S CALL, and even TAPS. And in my spirit I hear JOEL calling to blow THE TRUMPET ON ZION....SOUND THE ALARM....ON HIS HOLY MOUNTAIN.

1 Corinthians 14
[7] And even things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?
[8] For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?
[9] So likewise ye, except ye utter by the tongue words easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye shall speak into the air.

In my SPIRIT I am hearing a very distinct sound. A week ago I had a "TUNE" going through my head. Catchy and clear...without words. JUST MELODY AND CADENCE. The next day I kept hearing HAVA NAGILA. A joyful old tune of ABRAHAM'S SEED. It took awhile for THE LORD to show me what that first tune was...and from where it came from. The tune was played by a "hornpipe" and was danced to by sailors in a movie called HMS DEFIANT. At least that was the original name when released in England. The key to the story was the abuse of authority. Abuse of the people that that authority was placed over. like I said, all these images also speak to the church in North America. Which take me to Deuteronomy 28.

[1] If you fully obey the LORD your God and carefully follow all his commands I give you today, the LORD your God will set you high above all the nations on earth.
[2] All these blessings will come upon you and accompany you if you obey the LORD your God:
[3] You will be blessed in the city and blessed in the country.

Stop right there. Something about "FOLLOW ALL HIS COMMANDS".....now the hard part....all there are 14 verse of BLESSING.... the CURSING covers verses 15-68. 40 more....40....anyone figure it out?

[15] However, if you do not obey the LORD your God and do not carefully follow all his commands and decrees I am giving you today, all these curses will come upon you and overtake you:
[16] You will be cursed in the city and cursed in the country.
[17] Your basket and your kneading trough will be cursed.
[18] The fruit of your womb will be cursed, and the crops of your land, and the calves of your herds and the lambs of your flocks.
[19] You will be cursed when you come in and cursed when you go out.
[20] The LORD will send on you curses, confusion and rebuke in everything you put your hand to, until you are destroyed and come to sudden ruin because of the evil you have done in forsaking him.
[21] The LORD will plague you with diseases until he has destroyed you from the land you are entering to possess....

Try and read the rest without breaking out in a sweat. I can't. Now all of this and the previous post I send out not because of some movie. But from a WALK through the VALLEY OF VISION I took last Saturday Morning. I will share that next. But unless the scriptures of these two postings prompt or stir something within you, I wonder if a VISION will.

The Quest You Have Been On And The Journey You Have Been Treading Out Is About To Take A New Turn!
Yes! Many of those members of the family you have known and have walked with, prayed with and served with, have returned to former places of safety and familiar territory.

But You...You My Beloved Have Chosen To Stay.
You have bound yourselves to Me...for life. Just as Ruth said to Naomi, "Don't ask me to leave you and turn back. I will go wherever you go and live wherever you live. Your people will be my people, and your God will be my God.
Ruth 1:16

BECAUSE YOU HAVE REMAINED FAITHFUL, even in the face of many who are bitter and feel abandoned by me...

Don't call me Naomi," she told them. "Instead, call me Mara,(bitter water) for the Almighty has made life very bitter for me.
I went away full, but the LORD has brought me home empty. Why should you call me Naomi when the LORD has caused me to suffer and the Almighty has sent such tragedy?" Ruth 1:19-21

I AM DRAWING YOU, yes leading you into a place where you will not only glean what others have dropped in hasty past harvests, but I will instruct My servants of the hour, my angelic hosts to leave in the fields of your labor, choice grain. Enough for you to see the pathway to My dream for you. I will provide you with cool spiritual drink to quench your dry and aching throat.

"Boaz said, Listen, my daughter. Stay right here with us when you gather grain; don't go to any other fields. Stay right behind the women working in my field. See which part of the field they are harvesting, and then follow them. I have warned the young men not to bother you. And when you are thirsty, help yourself to the water they have drawn from the well ."Ruth 2:8-9

Oh Yes! I Have Seen You! I Have Watched You And Your Excruciating Labor To Survive!

Then Boaz asked his foreman, "Who is that girl over there?"
Ruth 2:5

But Things Are About To Change For You.
When you as My determined and ever persistent faithful one pursue Me like you have been, all of those who mock, or misunderstand your pursuit of Me will be put to total silence.

No one can now call you, unwanted, unlovely, dirty, abandoned, shameful, impulsive! No One! Your private deeds have begun to publicly speak for themselves. You have honored Me and you have proved yourself faithful.
Under My Cloak You Are Well Protected And My Cloak Is A Place Of Covering, Safety, Provision, And....Promotion.

Boaz Said, “May the LORD, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to take refuge, reward you fully."
"I hope I continue to please you, sir," Ruth replied. "You have comforted me by speaking so kindly to me, even though I am not as worthy as your workers." Ruth 2:12-13

You Have Chosen To Come To Me In My Resting Place, My Secret Place.
I rest there, next to the thousands of seeds of harvest gathered in and ready to be turned into bread for those who are hungry.

After Boaz had finished his meal and was in good spirits, he lay down beside the heap of grain and went to sleep.
Ruth 3:7

You Did Not Come To Me Dirty from the labors of life and the heated weariness of this present day, but you have washed yourself, you came perfumed and sweet and clean. You Made Yourself Ready.

Now do as I tell you--take a bath and put on perfume and dress in your nicest clothes. Ruth 3:3
It's Just A Little While Now.
Just A Few More Steps In Your Journey.

You are broken yes, but stronger,
You feel small and insignificant, but cherished.
You are settled and focused upon the goal.

Step In! Step In! Step In!
The Doors Are About To Be Revealed.

Doors to pass through that no man can shut. Doors that open up into My heavenly Kingdom strategy. It may well feel as if in your process of growth towards bravery and boldness that you are now at that "midnight hour." When the day ends and begins again.

I Will Throw Over You My "Divine Cloaking" Device.
Under it no one can see you. For You are redeemed and covered under My love.
Beloved! I Will Be The Kinsman Redeemer. I Will Cloak You In My Divine Royal Acceptance...For You Are Indeed A Bride Prepared For Me.

"Around midnight, Boaz suddenly woke up and turned over. He was surprised to find a woman lying at his feet!
"Who are you?" he demanded.
"I am your servant Ruth," she replied. "Spread the corner of your covering over me, for you are my family redeemer."
"The LORD bless you, my daughter!" Boaz exclaimed. "You are showing more family loyalty now than ever by not running after a younger man, whether rich or poor. Now don't worry about a thing, my daughter. I will do what is necessary, for everyone in town knows you are an honorable woman (Bride).
Ruth 3:8-11

The Day I Chopped Down My Family Tree
June Sanders

The Day I Chopped Down My Family Tree
And loosed myself from the sap.
I Upset Tradition. I Became Free.
I Literally Bridged the Gap.
The chasm of years of differing views
Were merged by my right to choose:
The Mind, the Soul, the Blood of the Lamb.
The Presence of the Great "I AM."
Years of defeat, my old mind-set;
I escaped as I Chose to Forget.
Past deeds that had damaged, marred my Soul,
Delaying my God Given Goal.
Forgiveness Will Bridge The Past With The New.
Making all our Dreams Come True.
When We Take An Axe To The Root Of Our Past -
Our Vision Is Made New.

"The Yokes of oppression and Bands of your neck are being lifted.
No longer shall My Anointed Ones be robbed, deprived or sifted.

Your days of living in the midst of strife I now will rearrange.
I Am Arising from within you in Stupendous Waves of Change:

To devastate unrepentant enemies who have plundered you.
I Reinstate your State of Grace. Renewing and Seeing you through.

From Pure Lips your Praise has ascended and accomplished a sure end.
Bondage Has Now Become Favor. Much more than you comprehend.

Not one inch shall be relinquished of Ground Taken and Occupied.
Enlarge your Tents. Prepare to Reign. Let My Glory in you Reside.

You have Decreed Willingness to Change and Dear Ones Changed You Will Be.
In the Twinkling of an Eye you shall find yourself.....SUDDENLY FREE."

The Day Has Already Passed

Susan Cummings

The Day has already passed
And I am bringing My Plan forth
My Own have laid down their plans
And have come to know My Heart

The separation has been laid out
And the line will not be moved
My Trumpet has sounded the final call
To enter into My Chambers and rest

The Union of hearts is now begun
As I rise up greater within My Own
Never are we to be separated again
By the world, the flesh, or the idols of men

The Mocking and scorning has been given place
Amongst those who refused My Call
Fear and trembling will be the norm
Amongst the righteous before My Throne

I have risen up in the midst of My House
And many mock those who prostrate before Me
The Fear of the Lord will lay all bare
Showing the Light of My Truth once again

Many think they know My Plans
That they wield My Hand, and plan My Stance
When did they inquire of Me and cry to Me
Pleading for souls that have no way out?

The Sword of My Word is unsheathed
And goes to judge all that is not True
Great searching will come from the East to the West
As the fullness of My Wrath burns in My Camp

Never assume that My eyes do not see
For I know what lies in the bosom of men
Nothing but My Blood will atone
As the death angel passes over the land

The Trumpet was sounded
The Scales were many times weighed
The Hourglass turned till there was no more delay
Only the silence now cries out for release

For who among men knew the span of the Grace
Allotted to men to seek My Face?
Not many responded or cared to inquire
Why I now remove the hedge from the Fire

Rivers of Tears, Rivers of Fire
Flowing from the Throne to My House
Reaping each their precious treasure
Collecting to the final measure

Garments of sackcloth worn in My Presence
Covers the servants who pray for the races
From such comes forth the birth of the harvest
Cries for deliverance and salvation

Casting their crowns before My Throne
Willingly giving all to see My Love flow
For the sound of the Trumpet again will now blow
Accelerating the pace of the reapers

My Own will stand hand in hand
Joined together in Love’s Covenant Bands
Mercy extended in Rapid Progression
As the Fiery Stream consummates the Ages

The Day has already passed
Few have noticed the quickening blasts
Deaf ears and hardened hearts
Steals the inheritance and the vision

Never has it ever been My Plan
For men to walk away from My Loving Hand
To walk alone in the cool of the day
Without My Voice and My Embrace

I have birthed forth a people
In this last dark hour
Who have called Me their Own
And who know My Redeeming Grace

In the Furnace of Affliction
They stayed till the breech was mended
Now to rise up and stand in My Presence
Praying with the Final Hour Petition

Judge not the earthen vessels
But look into your own
For no man will be left standing
Who has not first fallen upon My Stone

The Day has already passed
And the Night will now rule for an hour
All things have begun to unroll from the scroll
For the final dance with men's souls

Rivers of Fire, Rivers of Tears
Flowing both ways till all is re-laid
Who among men will wear the mantle
Laying down their lives for the battle?

The Divine Disturber
Wade Taylor

Aug 5, 2004

> "Deep calls to deep at the noise of Your waterspouts: all Your waves and Your billows are gone over me." Psalm 42:7.

The Lord created within each of us a "deep" that is capable of responding to an eternal desire that is within the Creator. If we will become quiet and listen, we will hear this "Deep" that ever calls to the "deep" that is within us, seeking a satisfaction that can come in no other way.

Patiently, the Lord ever seeks to draw closer to Himself those whose hearts are toward Him, that they might commune with Him in personal intimate fellowship, and walk with Him in the outworking of His purposes.

As we respond, not only will we be blessed and fulfilled, but every aspect of our spiritual life and calling will be enhanced by these times of personal communion with the Lord.

A particularly important result of our spending quality time with the Lord is that He not only will take a singular interest in us, but He will convict us when we begin to stray, that we might draw yet closer to Him.

"All Your waves and Your billows are gone over me." Psalm 42:7b.

It is of utmost importance for us to understand that this "convicting presence" always leads toward "life," in order to bring us into a more intimate closeness to the Lord. In contrast, condemnation is from the enemy and will always lead us away from the Lord, toward death.

There have been times when I felt this convicting disturbance and misread it. Finally, I became aware of what was happening and turned to the Lord and there He was, "The Divine Disturber," waiting for my response.

When David recognized the source of the convicting presence that he was experiencing and turned to the Lord, the Lord met him in a profound way.

"For day and night Your hand was heavy upon me ... I acknowledged my sin to You, and my iniquity have I not hidden. I said, I will confess my transgressions to the Lord; and You forgave the iniquity of my sin." Psalm 32:4a, 5.

"You are my hiding place; You shall preserve me from trouble; You shall compass me about with songs of deliverance. I will instruct you and teach you in the way which thou shall go: I will guide you with My eye." Psalm 32;7-8.

The ultimate goal of this convicting work of the Lord is to turn our hearts singularly toward Him. Thus, the "result" of the chastening of the "Divine Disturber" is the blessing of "Divine Favor" obviously resting upon our lives. This speaks of the Lord's singular attention toward us, as though we were the only person in the universe.

"But you, when you pray, enter into your closet, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father which is in secret; and your Father which sees in secret shall reward you openly." Matthew 6:6.

This "open reward" is the result of His chastening hand upon us, which is intended to turn us toward the "door" that leads into the place of His intimate presence.

His "approbation" (divine favor) is available to each one of us, if we will turn aside to spend quality time with Him in His presence. In the passage above, the word "closet" is carefully chosen, for we all have closets in our homes that are always full. This means that an effort is required to make room, so we may be alone with the Lord.

When a young man "falls in love," the object of his love becomes singular. All other women take on a lesser role in his interest. He has a "single eye" toward one young lady. This level of relationship can be further cultivated. Notice that the Lord has committed Himself to respond to the expression of our love toward Him.

"I love them that love Me; and those that seek Me early shall find Me ... that I may cause those that love Me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures." Proverbs 8:17, 21.

"For whom the Lord loves He chastens, and scourges every son whom He receives." Hebrews 12:6.

On the human level, our ability to love is limited and fickle. But no matter how many reasons we may have as to why the Lord might not be interested in us, if we will consistently express to the Lord our love for Him, He will respond and take the initiative in bringing about changes within us.

"That I may cause those that love Me to inherit substance." Proverbs 8:21.

There are no exceptions to this experience of His approbation resting upon our lives; it simply requires of us a repentant heart and the continuing expression of our love for Him, in deed as well as in word.

Although these roles of God as a "disturber," and then as One Who can be cultivated as a "personal friend" may seem to be opposites, they are very closely related.

Chapter six of Isaiah records the experience of Isaiah when he singularly turned his heart toward the Lord. This account reveals the progression that will bring us into this special relationship with the Lord. As Isaiah turned his interest away from the throne of a human king, and lifted his eyes to the eternal Throne of the King of all kings, his life and ministry were transformed.

For Isaiah to experience this higher place, he had to be led into a time of darkness (in the year that King Uzziah died) in order to be released from all that he had relied upon.

We all depend on many things, which must be either dealt with or removed by the Lord. Yet the Lord does not harshly deal with us. Rather, He corrects or chastens us only to the extent that is necessary to lift our attention from the earthly to the heavenly.

"Does the plowman plow all day to sow? Does he open and break the clods of his ground? When he has made plain the face thereof, does he not cast abroad the fitches, and scatter the cumin, and cast in the principal wheat and the appointed barley and the rye in their place?" Isaiah 28:24-25.

The plowman only does that which is necessary to prepare the soil to receive the seed, so the harvest might be abundant. So also, the Lord's interest is in the quality of our relationship to Him. Therefore, His chastening is limited to this purpose, and His corrective action only continues until the desired response is obtained.

There are those whom the Lord would like to chasten, but He is unable to do so because they are unwilling to unconditionally place themselves in His hand, in order to allow His correction to be fully accomplished.

During the time when I was a first year student in Bible School, I became so discouraged that I decided to leave school. I felt that the Lord had little interest in me, and that He had something special for everyone but me.

There was a group of married students who met once a week for a time of fellowship and prayer, and I came for what I felt was the last time. They were excited, sharing all that the Lord was doing in their lives. I sat there feeling sorry for myself, consoling myself with the fact that I was quitting the next day. Then I noticed an aquarium and began to observe the fish contentedly moving about within their environment. As I continued to watch, an intense presence of the Lord settled upon me, and suddenly I felt as if I were one of these fish, profoundly enveloped within the presence of the Lord.

As I sat there, immersed in His presence, it felt as if His approbation, or favor, was singularly upon me. I had placed myself in the corner of the room withdrawn from the others, so I could better feel sorry for myself. But now I was experiencing an unusual presence of the Lord, and it seemed that no one else was aware of this.

Instead of being preoccupied with quitting, I was now judging them for their lack of spiritual sensitivity, and the fact that they were not meeting the Lord as I was. Suddenly, one of these students left the table and handed me a book that was opened to a particular page.

It related a vision of three people standing before the Lord. He came to the first and made a big fuss over this person. He nodded at the second, and walked by the third. A bystander said, "I understand this. The Lord is very interested in the first person, slightly interested in the second, and not at all interested in the third."

To this the Lord replied, "You have it backwards. The first is weak and needs much attention. The second needs only to be reminded of My love from time to time, but the third is a trusted servant who knows Me, and whom I can implicitly trust."

At once, I felt His chastening presence, and I realized that I was the one who was weak, needing all the attention I was receiving, and the others were as the third. I had made a wrong judgment. I deeply repented and recommitted myself to finish school.

There are different situations and circumstances, which the Lord uses to disturb and provoke us that our self-centeredness, and our self-righteous attitudes might be dealt with.

Our part is to give "The Divine Disturber" permission to do so, and then to cooperate with Him, as He does. Those things that are buried within us cannot be dealt with, until they are first exposed.

Uzziah had been a good King and showed favor to Isaiah, but the Lord was seeking to bring Isaiah to a higher Throne. Many of us are satisfied with the good, when the Lord would have us seek the best. Therefore, the Lord will "cause" a situation, as He did with Isaiah "in the year that King Uzziah died," to call our attention to the fact that we have a need.

For those who are fully committed to the Lord, there are no accidents. Our lives are in His hand and He is actively at work in our behalf. Thus, above the Throne were Seraphim, each having six wings. These three sets of wings speak of "divine activity" in our behalf.

With the first set of wings (The Word and the Spirit), they covered their head (unconditional submission to His headship); with the second set, they covered their feet (walk where He would have us walk). Jesus is the Head and we, members of His body. To rightly function in this relationship, our head must be covered that His Head might be in control. Our feet must be covered so we can walk only as He directs.

Now we are ready to function in the heavenly realm. With the third set of wings, we are to "fly" at His command (lifted into the realms of the Spirit). Thus, in Isaiah 40:31, we are to "mount up with wings as eagles." This speaks of divine activity in every aspect of our being.

"And one cried to another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts: the whole earth is full of His glory." Isaiah 6:3.

The Lord not only receives our worship - He works through our worship.

"And the posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke." Isaiah 6:4.

This "smoke" is His revealed glory, His approbation resting singularly upon us. The smoke is also like a mirror, in the reflection of which we see ourselves. It is only in His presence that we are able to see ourselves as we are, and become capable of a deep inner repentance.

"Then said I, Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts." Isaiah 6:5.

Although Isaiah had been ministering for some time, now in the reflection of the glory of the heavenly Throne, he saw the deeper level of his need and repented.

Sin is an action, a coming short; but iniquity is deeper. It is the "principle" that underlies the action. In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus went beyond the "act" to the "intent" behind the act. Our sin can be forgiven, but it takes an intervention with "live coals from the altar" to deal with the principle behind the sin.

"I indeed baptize you with water to repentance: but He that comes after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire: Whose fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly purge His floor, and gather His wheat into the garner; but He will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire." Matthew 3:11-12.

In this present time, the Lord is moving upon those whose sin, along with the underlying iniquity, has been dealt with, that He might have those whom He can fully trust for His end-time purposes.

"Then flew one of the seraphims to me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar: And he laid it upon my mouth, and said, Lo, this has touched your lips; and your iniquity is taken away and your sin purged." Isaiah 6:6-7.

The Lord will yet have a people from whom He has "burned" the very root of iniquity. The "Divine Disturber" is about to move in a visitation of "fire" in which all dross will be burned away and a people refined to the extent that the image of Jesus will be seen in the reflection of the "gold" they have become (not possess).

The Lord is beginning to get our attention. He is a "Disturber" who is seeking something higher. Pontius Pilot, looking upon Jesus said, "I find no fault in Him." So also in our day, when we are judged, may that same report again be spoken of us.

The favor of the King is not something to be despised, for who is greater than the King of Kings? You are to follow me on the path that I have set before you. This is not a path like other people's paths, because I myself have selected and created this path for you.

You are to relax and rest in me. Am I not your beloved and the apple of your eye? Have I not called you to be mine, set apart from the world, both from the humdrum and the chaos? There will never be peace on earth until I return, for the Prince of Peace has been rejected by mankind on almost every side. [Isa. 9:6-7]

Those in authority may use my Name, but they do not obey me or follow my commands. Nor do they inquire of me, except to look good in front of men. None of this is your problem. It is MY problem and I will deal with it in MY timing and on MY terms.

Individuals who are in positions of authority have received that authority from me. Therefore they are supposed to be my representatives in the earth. Unfortunately, very few are. Instead they follow the commands of a kingdom I am going to bring down and dispose of.

Earthly might, power, brutal authority and the worship of mammon will not be allowed in my kingdom, for the might and power of unsanctified man is a stench in my nostrils.

The wisdom that flows from above will rule in MY kingdom. Its fruit is very different from that of those who are not redeemed and are not seriously seeking my face.

James 3:17 But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then full of peace, and is gentle, obedient, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by the peacemakers.

Gal. 5:22-23 But the fruits of the Spirit are love, joy, peace, patience, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, self-control; there is no law against these.

There is a day coming when every person is going to have to answer for their thoughts and deeds. Right now many make their secret plans and have their "dirty little intrigues". It has never entered into their minds that they are responsible for the plans they concoct and for the schemes in which they are involved.

Even though my Word states quite explicitly what pleases me and what does not, man goes on his merry way oblivious to my wooing and oblivious to the many warnings which are everywhere to be found. In the news, in nature…my warnings are everywhere. Yet the world continues to sleepwalk, mesmerized by all of the flash and glitz. The contrived news and entertainment, the false and the perverse, these are embraced, while the Truth is despised and hobbled at every turn.

You, Oh earth, have pushed open and walked through a door. I warned you about this door.* No one was watching or thinking. Instead you went through it like sleep walkers, willingly (like sheep), unaware of what was even occurring.

YOU HAVE ENTERED A NEW ERA - A NEW DAY.
IT IS THE DAY OF THE LORD.*

I AM going to bring down the high and the lofty. I AM going to bring to naught and ruin grandiose plans that were made in total rebellion to me.

I will NOT be dictated to. I do NOT pander to sin or seek men’s approval, as men and women seek the approval of others. I will NOT bow down to man’s schemes, which are tainted with the smoke of hell. Instead I will have MY way.

It will not go as man is expecting. It will not go as the vast majority of my church is expecting. They are soundly asleep, like the five virgins, even though I solemnly warned my followers to stay awake and alert. [Matt. 25:1-13]

Who is awake? Who is alert? Who is standing guard duty, if that is what they have been called to do? Most are not at their position or duty stations, hence they can not give the alarm even though it is greatly needed. While the world sleeps I watch and wait. A few wait with me, although they do not know yet what they are even watching for. All they know is to be alert, for the times are uncertain and something is “in the air.” So be it.

The sabers of war are rattling. Plans are being made. Schemes have been devised and many will rise up for the part they are to play in the great End Times drama.

The actors are assembled on the stage and the curtain has risen, but who is even aware that this has occurred? You are seeing the beginning scenes of the last act. It is not pretty and this is just the beginning.

Man does not have time for his Creator and no desire to bow to anything, but his own wanton desires. Therefore, there will be consequences. Many will drop in the desert and many will drop on the seashore. Many will capsize in boats. Many will perish from a multitude of causes.

You would not have me, so I AM coming to establish MY reign. I will not ask your permission or your directions. Most will not be ready when I come, for they loved the world too much and would not let go, no matter what.

The Most High God

This is a reference to a prophetic word I received on 9-25-2004, The eve of Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish calendar. The word was “WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE”.*

On this date a suicide bomber killed 22 and wounded over 69 others, many critically, in a US Army mess tent in Mosul, Iraq.*

The Bible specifically warns in many places of “The Day of the Lord”. These are the Bible verses where this great and terrible day is specifically mentioned by name. Isa. 2;12; Isa. 13:6; Joel 1:15; Zeph. 1:7; Isa. 13:9; Joel 2:1; Zech. 14:1; Isa. 34:8; Jer. 46:10; Ezek. 13:5; Ezek. 30:3; Joel 3:14; Obad. 15; Amos 5:18; Zeph. 1:8; Zeph. 1:18; Zeph. 2:2,3; Mal. 4:5, I Cor. 5:5; 2 Cor. 1:14; I Thess. 5:2; 2 Pet. 3:10

The Door For 2004

Theresa Dokes

I anticipate a great year of miracles, breakthroughs, and joyous rejoicing. For there have been many who have wept silently in their prayer closet and smiled in the sanctuary and in the presence of the brethren as they diligently upheld the light, but the Father says that He has kept record of those, by the script of His angels, who served even with a sick heart behind deferred hope.

I will bring the light back to weary hearts and forsaken dreams. I Am faithful at best and I will not leave My chosen ones to fail. They will rise up and take the land as I have given it to them. They will do many wonders, greater than to be expected.

However, it is my expectation, that they will EXPECT MORE IN 2004...And it shall no longer "BE" as it was in 2003. I expect that they will use the KEY of David and open doors that no one can shut and shut doors that no man can open......trusting that I AM with them and How shall death conquer what I have spoken life to? What ministry shall be demolished where the Spirit of the Lord is welcomed and given liberty to move as I desire? This is the year that you will be more than conquers through Christ Jesus!!!!! Believe that you receive and SURELY YE SHALL BE ESTABLISHED IN MY NAME!!!!

The Doors Are Open: An Apostolic Calling

I AM calling forth those who are willing to forsake all in the way of comfort, pack their bags, and go where I would have them to go. Yes, I AM calling you forth to speak the oracles of God and to prophesy even to kings. Are you willing to pay the price to have My anointing flow through you freely? For I have taken you through the purging by the fire of My love in preparation so that I could pour out My glory in waves upon you. Yes, the healing power of My glory. And you will lay hands on the sick and watch them recover.

So many have obeyed My word with no signs following and never gave up that My word is true. And now is the time and the hour that I will use you and mightily, My people. Yes, this is the time and the hour that I will pour out My power and through you. So step up to the bat, and be yielded and willing, and you will see what I will do. Do not be concerned that you have never done these things before. What if it doesn't work? Well, what if it does? Don't be concerned with the outcome, just do it.

Don't be just a hearer of My word, but a doer of it. Watch and pray that you will be counted worthy of these things that you may lay hands on the sick, set the captives free, raise the dead. I need a clean vessel to move through. So watch your heart attitudes and your motives, and be willing to step aside and let Me take over. And yes, you are to be a nameless and faceless generation, a bride with boots on, one that will only promote My Son and His name. Proclaim the victory for this is the time. Lift up the King of Glory! Rest assured that He can handle any situation of hindrance that the enemy will try to bring your way. Just step out. All things will work out for good when you put forth My kingdom and righteousness.

So count the cost this day to see if you are willing to forsake all to follow the King in wherever He takes you. Count the cost to see if you will put Christ first above your agenda and even reputation. Are you willing to look foolish to have My glory flow through you? Do you call yourself prophetic people? Then examine the lives of the true prophets of old and the price they paid to be used. Even King David as he danced through the streets with all his might. Even Stephen dying at the hands of the mob seeing My glory and knowing he was a good and faithful servant. Forgive them for they know not what they are doing. Are you willing to even die to have My glory.

For these are the last days, and I promised you greater works, but it comes with the great price of forsaking all for the Kingdom. Yes, a great price indeed, but I guarantee you that these days you will be blessed beyond measure for I will prosper you enough to take care of others. I will move through you in glory, and give you your heart's desire to see Me more intimately. Yes, your quiet times will intensify with the power of revelation and discernment. And you will have My wisdom manifest in all areas of your life. You will know the snares of the fowler, and you will avoid them. You will know My thoughts for you have the mind of Christ with no hindrances. And, yes, you will move with My heart of compassion and travail. In your quiet times I will roar through you for My people Israel and for those I gave My life for, and you will see the multitudes set free. For this is the day of the latter rain outpouring. Yes, the third day of My glory, and I AM calling you. So be ready!

The door is open and you have escaped from the snare of the fowler. You are free, dear one, to soar like an eagle. Higher and higher your faith climbs, up, up and away. I have assigned angels to help you learn to soar and stay there and also keep you stable. You will learn to ride the wind of My Spirit. A great effectual door has been opened to you. Rejoice.

Ps 124:4-8 NKJV
The stream would have gone over our soul; Then the swollen waters would have gone over our soul." Blessed be the LORD, Who has not given us as prey to their teeth. Our soul has escaped as a bird from the snare of the fowlers; The snare is broken, and we have escaped. Our help is in the name of the LORD, Who made heaven and earth.

This Is The Way, Walk Ye In It

[Close the Door to The Past]

TONGUE IN CHEEK PARABLES
Sometimes, the Lord speaks to us in strange ways. This was one of those experiences. Wayne and I were walking in the mall and he asked me if I remembered some quote about two men who were on the beach at night. One looked down and saw sand, the other looked up and saw stars. I didn't know any quote as such, so I answered, "No I don't, but I guess it would be good to have a balance of both, as well as to look straight ahead and not backwards."

At the moment I said that, a little girl in the distance looked behind her while she was walking and thus walked straight into a rack. This was so timely, Wayne and I just stared at each other with big eyes. We both knew the Lord must be saying something. I silently asked Him what He was saying, then I got lost in my thoughts as I was applying looking down and looking up. I thought about writing a new section in the 101 Ways God Speaks book on seeking His guidance by balancing His supernatural with our natural. I was thinking that if you only look down at the natural life, you'll miss the Lord's supernatural touch, and if you only look up, you'll STUMBLE being so heavenly minded you will be no earthly good. Then just as I thought that, the man walking toward me stumbled over his sandal! Talk about "walking" parables!

QUICKENED MAGNETIC SIGN: Sorrow looks back. Worry looks around. Faith looks up.

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: KEEP YOUR FOCUS
The enemy wants to distract you from moving on, - moving forward into your inheritance. His ploy is to get you to look backward into the past and believe things will always be the same. He wants you to look at the old wounds and the old scars and remember.

I have placed you in a tight place, where you have no choice but to move forward and press into Me. Remember Lot’s wife, for this is a time when I am saying, "Don’t look back." Do not wish for yesterday, do not bear the misery of painful memories, do not even consider what used to be. When you look back, it crystallizes your mind and creates mind-sets or strongholds of old ways and set patterns. Dear one, your past is not before you, it is behind you.

I AM doing a new thing. For I know the plans I have for you and that is to give you a future and a hope. I will rebuild your life and do a new thing in a new way. As you feel the heat of tribulations pressing you, use it to run to Me, for I will catch you and surely I will keep you. Hold onto My Words and wait for Me. As you work through tough ground, I accomplish My purposes. You have nothing to fear.

You see yourself with such limits. I see only your potential. I am re-defining who you are in Me. You have My favor, My precious one. Now align with My Word, for I want to establish and confirm you. I will change your focus from life as it was, to anticipation with life in Me. I will move your perspectives from pessimism to optimism. I will balance your supernatural gifting with My practical wisdom and bring you into My healthy vessel. This is the way, walk in Me.

"But Lot's wife looked back as she was following along behind him, and she became a pillar of salt." (Gen 19:26)

"Do not remember the former things, Nor consider the things of old. Behold, I will do a new thing, Now it shall spring forth; Shall you not know it? I will even make a road in the wilderness And rivers in the desert." (Isaiah 43:18-19 NKJ)

Weak And Groaning? Try Confession
Sandy Warner

Apr 5, 2004
Is your soul groaning and your energy waning? Try confessing your sins. Embracing compromise always causes spiritual blindness. Blind ones no longer abhor evil, nor turn away from it, nor weep over it. All men are blind in their own wisdom, therefore always acknowledge Me in this and I shall direct your ways.

As you fear your holy God, and depart from evil, this shall be health to your flesh and strength for your bones. Confess and turn from your compromise and hear My generous forgiveness with loving mercy. It is true, My good report makes your bones healthy. My pleasant Words are sweet to your soul and health to your bones.

Ps 32:3-6 NLT
When I refused to confess my sin, I was weak and miserable, and I groaned all day long. Day and night your hand of discipline was heavy on me. My strength evaporated like water in the summer heat. Finally, I confessed all my sins to you and stopped trying to hide them. I said to myself, "I will confess my rebellion to the LORD." And you forgave me! All my guilt is gone. Therefore, let all the godly confess their rebellion to you while there is time, that they may not drown in the floodwaters of judgment.

Water Finds The Lowest Spot
Sandy Warner

Apr 8, 2004
[Open the Door to Humility]

REVELATION: One day I was thinking about the fact that moving water flows downhill, and the course of its flow depends on where the lowest spots are located. The movement of water connects the lowest places just like a line of flowing current. This was really quickened to me as an important parable since the scriptures speak about the river of God.

Rev 22:1-2 NKJV
And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding from the throne of God and of the Lamb. In the middle of its street, and on either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bore twelve fruits, each tree yielding its fruit every month. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

Ps 46:4-5 NKJV
There is a river whose streams shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacle of the Most High. God is in the midst of her, she shall not be moved;

To me, this means that if you want to experience the river of God, you must lay low.

LAY LOW IN MINISTRY
As I was pondering the above, the Holy Spirit brought back to me the many times I have heard Him say, "Lay low." There are many applications to this. One of the applications is to lay low in ministry and let Him do the establishing, His way and His time:

+ Lay low and let God establish your reputation. Do not build a name for yourself. Let God bring your promotion as He sees fit.

+ Lay low and be willing to become a transparent role model; one who knows pain and suffering and is vulnerable; willing to use it for God’s glory.

+ Lay low and do not lift your own hand to make divine connections. Instead let God bring them to you. Don’t push yourself to the front in order to be in fellowship with leaders. Contrariwise, if because of your circumstances it takes more humility to approach leadership, then do so if He is knocking on your heart.

+ Lay low and wait upon His timing to share Words to the corporate body. Let it unfold as a natural set of events.

+ Lay low and silently trust Him for provision and look to Him as your Source.

+ Lay low in accepting weakness, so that He will become your strength.

+ Lay low in loving servanthood and your heart will not deceive you with greatness.

LAY LOW IN REPENTANCE

[The following is quoted from the Quickened Word Newsletter, "The Spiritual Storm" - 2/18/02]:

LAY LOW
For many months now, I have been hearing the Lord say, "Lay low." As a Word by itself, it could be interpreted many ways. But after such a long time of waiting upon Him and hearing and seeing this Word come to pass in many ways, I understand that to lay low is to lay on our faces before Him in humility and repentance. (Isa 57:15)

Recently, prior to the storm, I had an unusual experience. I heard the Lord speak to me Jill Austin's name. As soon as I heard her name I had a picture vision of myself literally diving to the floor and laying prostrate before the Lord on my face. It was like I could not get there quick enough and it was almost like an urgent and desperate plunge to the floor. If you can picture what it would be like to stand in front of a bed and not fall flat onto it, but put your hands out and dive onto it… this was the urgent dive I took onto the floor. Now this picture vision startled me and I did not have the foggiest idea what it could possibly mean. I asked Him to send me understanding.

A few days later, in an invitation to one of their meetings where Jill would be ministering, Todd Bentley sent an article written by Jill. In the article, she shared the following vision.

(Todd's website: http://www.freshfire.ca) (Jill's website: http://www.masterpotter.com)

JILL'S VISION {used with permission} "A few years ago I was ministering in the nation of New Zealand and I was given an open-eyed vision that startled me, yet it has left a life-long impression upon my life. I saw an enormous fiery angel full of the glory of the Lord walking up and down the nation. He was brandishing a mighty sword that was beheading those who were standing tall in their own pride, egotism, and self glory. It was an attitude of their heart that the Lord was dealing with through this angel.

Those who were bowed low on their faces in a posture of utter humility were spared, knighted, and promoted. They were the ones God was raising up into a new place of leadership because of their meekness and humility of heart. The Lord was making a profound point about the importance of posturing ourselves in humility.

God requires and honors humility! James 4:10 (NKJV) says, "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord and He will lift you up." If you want your life to have significance, then position yourself at the feet of Jesus…." {End of Jill's vision and quote}

PROPHETIC GESTURE - BOW LOW
One time I was sitting in a meeting and feeling the Lord's Presence very strongly. Bobby Conner started to share that he saw an angel with a sword in his hand. Just as he started to express what the angel was going to do, I felt the Holy Spirit whoosh past me and I instantly cried out and bowed at my waist, putting my head between my knees. This was an involuntary movement, inspired by the Holy Spirit. I had no idea why I did this. The very next moment, Bobby described the whoosh of the angel's sword that was sent to cut off heads. I was overcome by His Presence and I continued bowing with my head between my knees. Bob Jones then said that the only way to escape the sword was to bow low.

QUOTE MAHESH CHAVDA
Mahesh's Website: http://www.watchofthelord.com/

"…God resists the proud and gives grace to the humble. I feel that the Holy Spirit is going to fall upon the humble people. In a massive way. The next revival is going to come upon those who will humble themselves. Those who are stiffnecked with pride and think they have everything, will be missing the anointing that is coming upon the humble and broken people. Don't be surprised if God takes you through certain experiences and breaks you. As He breaks you, then He can minister His grace…"

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER - LAY LOW IN MY RIVER
The Presence of My Spirit comes upon those who are lowly in heart. They seek Me without an agenda. They have confessed and left their sins behind. They continue to walk in the fear of their Lord, lest they be cut off and left in the dark.

Watch the flow of My river and see that it touches the lowly and downcast. Those who walk in pride, who judge others, and worse yet who judge the river of God, will miss My refreshing touch. Those who scorn the lowly as they leap into My river, I too will scorn. Confess your sins and prepare your heart to experience My river. Remember My river flows and moves, be willing to travel to get to the river then don't hold yourself back from its flow. Jump in, dear one, jump in.

Acts 3:19 NKJV
Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord…

Ps 36:7-10 NKJV
How precious is Your lovingkindness, O God! Therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of Your wings. They are abundantly satisfied with the fullness of Your house, and You give them drink from the river of Your pleasures. For with You is the fountain of life; In Your light we see light. Oh, continue Your lovingkindness to those who know You, and Your righteousness to the upright in heart.

The Day Of The Eagle

Bill Burns

We are about to enter the fifth year of the Third Day Church. This will occur on September 16, 2004, at the Feast of Trumpets. Five is the number of God's grace (empowerment), and we are about to witness a changing of the guard within the prophetic community.

Many of those who had prophetic gifting are now under the control of a spirit of divination. This has happened because they got into self-promotion. They wanted to be known as prophets, and they sought after a following. These are about to be replaced with a contingency of young eagles.

These young eagles have been in the nest and have been raised up by those eagles who remained true to the Lord and His calling. We are now in a season of release for the young eagles. They have been in training now for five years and have waited patiently for the appointed season in which they are to spread their wings and take flight. These young eagles have the fire of the Lord upon them, and they are ready for the battle that is at hand.

I had a vision of the release of the young eagles on August 5, 1999, just before the birth of the Third Day Church. This vision is for the present season:

"The Eagle Cries"
August 5, 1999: Today, I have heard the cry of the eagle, not a cry in a high and lofty place. No, but the cry of One Lone Eagle over the face of the waters. Again, the Golden One cries out as he passes over the waters. Lower he comes now, and as the cry penetrates my spirit I hear, "Come out of her My people."

Again, now this the third time, the glorious Golden One swoops down over the waters, lower still--so much so that the tips of the wing feathers touch the water, each time the wings come down. Again, he cries out, the shrill cry of the Anointed One, and I hear, "Come now My chosen ones, for now is the time." And, as I watch this Glorious One, I see golden oil flowing from his head down to the wings, and each time his wings touch the water the golden oil flows upon the waters. As I watch, I see Him over the waters and now these twelve times he touches the water, and his oil flows forth.

Upon the waters now twelve pools of oil remain as the Glorious One flies upward into a cloud and disappears. As I watch this pure white cloud, it begins to grow darker, and I hear the voice of the Almighty as thunders come forth, "These are the times of great trouble upon the earth, but fear not, My people, for I have stirred the waters."

My vision returns to the waters over which the Golden One flew, and again I hear the roar of thunder. Now I see the lightning strike the water and the twelve pools of oil explode in flames of fire. Out of the flames I see the eagles rise, now twelve in all. Again, the voice of thunder comes, "These are My chosen ones upon whom the golden oil has been poured. Watch now the results." As I watched the twelve, they came in a perfect formation (side by side), and they too cried out, "Come out of her My people." And they too flew upon the face of the waters, and each one touched twelve times, and the golden oil flowed down and the thunder roared and the lightning brought forth the fire and the twelve each begot twelve and there were one hundred, forty-four.

This process was repeated, and the hundred and forty-four begot thousands. And then I watched the hundred and forty-four and the thousands as they mounted up together on wings of eagles, and they flew towards heaven to the Golden One who now rested on clouds of glory. The brilliance of the sun was upon Him, and He was transformed as His golden feathers were changed to a brilliant white.

As the hundred, forty-four and thousands joined Him, they too were changed into the image of the Holy One with feathers of white, likened to that of a dove.

Again the thunder comes and the voice of the Master echoes through my spirit, "These are My chosen ones, those who have answered the call of the Golden One. Who are they you ask? They are My divine government of these last days. They are the righteous ones of the church age. They have been given what you call apostolic authority. They shall shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father, and they shall lead My people into the final victory.

You have heard what the Spirit has spoken; now watch! As I turned my eyes toward heaven, this is what I saw: The Glorious One with the hundred, forty-four and the thousands mounted up on the wings of eagles, and they flew into the heavenlies to wage war against spiritual hosts of wickedness in heavenly places. I can hear the cries of thousands of eagles in the heavenlies as they storm the gates of darkness. The battle is ferocious, but it belongs to the Glorious One and His own.

Some are wounded, but they are not weary, and they do not faint. The sky begins to clear, the victory has been won, the gates of darkness have not prevailed. The sky above is now filled with white feathers, those torn loose in the battle, and the voice of the Spirit speaks, "These (white feathers) represent the righteous acts of the saints, those who have fought the good fight, those who have followed the Lamb wherever He has led them."

Again, I hear the voice over many waters like the voice of loud thunder, "Can you hear the song of the redeemed? Can you hear the song of victory? Can you see them now as they mount up on wings of glory? Can you see them upon the Mount called Zion? These are those who came out of Babylon. These are those who are not defiled with the woman called the Great Harlot. These are those who stand before the throne of God."

Once again, I behold the white feathers coming down, and as they descend, a soft wind seems to bring them together, and shape them. The unseen hand of the Master now holds this garment before me, a beautiful garment, white and clean. He whispers ever so gently, "Behold the wedding garment." And the sound of His voice and the breath of His words and the love of His heart touched the beautiful garment. The feathers of white were blended together and became what looked like fine linen.

From above the garment, from Zion's mount, I hear this one last cry, "For this fine linen is the righteous acts of the saints, blessed are those who are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb. And the Spirit and the Bride say come! And let him who hears say come! And let him who thirsts come. And whoever desires, let him take of the water of life freely." Amen.

We are in a battle for the soul(s) of America. The Prophet Joel foresaw these last days. Joel 3: 9 ¶ Proclaim this among the nations: "Prepare for war! Wake up the mighty men, Let all the men of war draw near, Let them come up. 10 Beat your plowshares into swords And your pruning hooks into spears; Let the weak say, 'I am strong.'" 11 Assemble and come, all you nations, And gather together all around. Cause Your mighty ones to go down there, O LORD. 12 "Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; For there I will sit to judge all the surrounding nations. 13 Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe. Come, go down; For the winepress is full, The vats overflow—For their wickedness is great." 14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision! For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

This is a word that the Lord spoke through me on July 10, 2004: You have entered into the season of the eagle, for I am raising up eagles (prophets) in this season. I will give them wings with which to rise up in the Spirit, and I will give them vision for the season that is before them. It is necessary that My people again have the vision of an eagle. I give vision to My Church and purpose to My people. Now, in this season, I am bringing forth the eagles who will begin to have vision, which will cause them to rise up from the earth and fly over the waters (multitudes) and cause the fire of My Spirit to break out wherever I send them. This is the purpose and the season that I have chosen to demonstrate the power of the eagle, says the Lord.

Today the Lord told me to re-establish the vision and to call to the young eagles who are resting on the Rock (Christ) in the hidden places. And so, I call to you, young eagles, and I say to you, "Spread your wings for the wind of God comes to lift you up into the heavenlies. It is time to leave the nest and enter into the service of the Lord. The battle is at hand, so let the fire and wind of the glorious One empower you and move you into His purposes. Arise!"

The Door Of The Threshold Of The Final Hour

Susan Cummings

On Saturday, Dec.4th, 2004, I began to have a series of short mini visions. These were repeated several times during a conversation with a fellow minister on the phone, but each time, it came just as strong and real. This is the vision:

As we were talking, I began to hear the wind blowing. I could hear it blow all around and it was a wind that reminded you of a cold winters wind. I began to see a dimly lit area, where there was a door opened. The wind was blowing from behind the door. It was not easily discernable at first, as the only thing that gave its location away was the sound of the wind blowing.

The wind was like it was blowing after being pent up for a long time. The door was dimly lit, and it seemed that not many had come this way for a long time, or that many failed to use this door as it was not favorable to look upon, or desirable to enter through. The lighting was dim, and it was foreboding to draw near to the door. I could feel the wind blowing and hear it’s rushing as it moved in the area behind the door. I was hesitant to draw near and to see what was there in the wind swept room.

I related this vision to my fellow minister on the phone, and he felt that it was the Judgment Seat of Christ that had opened, and that the Righteous Judge was behind the door. It brought a sense of anticipation and holy fear to us as we talked about it.

Since that time, I have pondered this vision, and it’s repeated coming to me. The Lord has spoken to me about this door, and this is what He has said……..

“Daughter, I am opening the ancient gates that have been long closed to My People. There are many gates and each has awaited it’s opening and it’s entrance into the affairs of men. I have long held back many things, as I have spoken to you before, and in my word. There are many avenues yet to learn of through my word, and men think that they have long ago figured out my word and have it mastered and all planned out. But it will be seen, that very little has actually been given them to understand.”

“This door is the beginning of the end, and the end of the beginning. It is the Threshold of the Final Hour. It is the Way through which all men will walk and will come to their final destinies. I have always given men a choice, and I have always given them opportunity to walk in My Ways and in the Light of My Word. Each will make their choice, and will walk into the final hour with their fate sealed by their own words.”

“This door has been opened and will remain till the end, as the culmination has begun, as I have repeatedly told you it has. But men do not believe, nor do they care. For they only want their own way and not Mine. This door is dimly lit because it is the least desired of all doors. It is the door that opens up to the Judgment Seat of My Son. I told you that My Son would judge all things, and into His Hands have I placed that authority. It is time for all men to choose, to judge themselves, and to seek My Son.”

“The Threshold of the Final Hour is the final door that will open up all of the final events and judgments, and what was sealed will now be seen. What I told John and Daniel and others to seal up for the last hour, has now been opened. I have opened the way to all things, and it will come through My Son. There is no other way for men to be saved, except through My Son, yet few embrace My Son. Few embrace My Judgments. Few cry out for Holiness and Truth in their lives. They refuse to enter through My Gates and come before Me, so that I might judge them and cleanse them. Few desire the Truth, and shun My Gates.”

“So, I have opened the way, and it will now be released, and no man will shut it, or hinder Mine from coming to Me. But, know this, now that it has been opened, what was sealed will now rush through the door, and usher in the Final Hour upon the earth. For My Spirit has been brooding, and striving with Men, for generations, and no longer will I hold back. No longer will I brood, and strive over my creation, crying out to them to come to Me, for I now rush forth, and I will work My strange and awesome work in the lands. I will cause all men, women, and children upon the face of the earth to acknowledge that I am the Eternal God. For all will come face to face with Me and will choose their path."

"The Final Hour has come, and the Storm is at the Threshold as I showed you. All is in readiness, and now is opened. Woe unto those who refuse My Son. Woe unto those who go their own ways, and reject My Truth. Woe unto those who go out into utter darkness and who do not love My Light."
"The Way has been there the whole time, but men do not come. Now the Wind of My Spirit is blowing, and is moving in this Final Hour, and it will be just as you saw. It is indeed a dark wind that blows with full force. I am the Righteous Judge. I am blowing across the lands. I am bringing My Justice. I am bringing My Truth. I am bringing My Word to pass, even before all men. It is the Truth that will judge all men. It is the Word that they rejected that will bring them to the end."

"Either My Truth will set men free, Or the Lie will rule over them."

"For both have gone forth, and both will gather men in."

"Men have desired to see the Final Hour and have rejoiced thinking that the Day of the Lord would be a joyful thing, but they have not known the hearts of men, nor of the Hour of Trial that now is opened and is released, and they have not discerned the multitudes that are at the precipice. There is no joy in seeing My Creation given over to the lie, and to death, which was reserved for the devil. There is no rejoicing over the lost of Mine who walked away from Me. My Son gave His Life for each of them, but they reject the Truth, and so go forth to their final portion."

"What men have also failed to understand is the Glory of My Body that is also being released at the same time. I have wrought a great and glorious work in the earth, in the caves, and in the hidden clefts of the earth. I have fashioned a Glorious People, who have embraced My Judgments, and who have gave Me their hearts and lives. I have held them for this Final Hour. I have kept them and gave them My Glory.
They have awaited this Hour and have been content to be with Me."

"It is to these, that you have seen the release of today, as you have also been released, these have now come forth from the door. The Wind that you heard from behind the door, is the wind of the Spirit that blows through them, and that is now coming out from them, and out of the door. Come and see."

I walk up to the door. It is still dimly lit, and it is cold, and I feel afraid to touch it. I am shaking as I draw to the doorpost. I can hear the wind as it blows all around me, and as it rushes from within. I cannot see much, but the dimly lit area in front of me. I cannot enter in.

The Lord says," You could not enter in, because of the fear that you feel. It is right that you feel this, as it is My Holy Fear that you feel. I am the Righteous Judge, and the Fear of the Lord is now given to Mine, to rightly judge the Truth, and to reverence Me with. I want you to see what lies within the door."

I step into the door, and the wind suddenly stops. It is dead silent in the room. It is dark, and it is cold, and it is silent. I fall on my face, and cry out in terror. Lord, do not slay me, for I am wicked and am unclean before you. Grant me your Grace to stand and to behold your face." The Lord says to me, "Stand and receive My Grace."

I stand, and I look at the Lord who is standing before me. He is smiling. He points to His Left, and shows me what is around us. I look, and I see multitudes of people. They are standing in the darkness, the dimly lit room, and it is full of the Glory of the Lord. The people are emanating the Glorious Fire of the lord as a million Jewels would in a newly opened cave.

The People are standing together as one Body, and yet are individuals. They all seem to be thinking at the same time, and yet individually. I can sense their thoughts and their hearts. The Fire is burning all through them, and it burns with the Seven Spirits of God. All of the 7 Spirits of God can be seen upon them, through them, and within them. The Lord then says to me, "Why would they not be full of Me? I am full of the Glory of the Father, and the same Glory that I had, I have given to them. You also carry My Glory. All of Mine, will go forth, full of Me. For I am the Glory and the Covering over My People."

"My People will walk with the same knowledge of the Father that I have, as they are His Children. I have given them, all that I am. I told you this in John 17, and it is time for them to go forth, in that same power. For it is the Final Hour. The Hour that I will be Glorified in the earth and in My People.

"What you see are the Burning Jewels that I will now fully release into the Flaming River from My Throne."
I told you that Daniel 7 was opening before the earth. It is time. For I have now stood, and I am making My Judgments known and on behalf of My Own. I am releasing My Justice and My Judgments in the earth and in My House. Both will be seen."

I look back at the flaming people who stand before the Lord, and who emanate His Glory. I look down at myself, and see the same fire burning. The Glorious Fire of the Lord flares up all around me, and then it rises into a great blaze. We worship as the Glory of the Lord overshadows us and covers us.

Be Faithful With What I Have Given You
Susan Cummings

Be faithful with what I have given you. For you have been given the seed of My Word. That which I have placed within you will live. For it is placed within you from Me, and as you allow Me to, I breathe upon it, and it becomes a living seed. It is your Faith IN Me, that activates My Word, the seed, and it then begins to take root, grow, multiply, and then spring forth.

It is your faithfulness that brings it forth, for each step that you take forwards, looking unto Me, causes it to break forth more and more. The time of explosion is at hand. The time of breaking forth has come. The time of release is now upon you. My Word is a Living Word, and it is Me that lives within you, and I have told you that I AM coming forth out of you. I have chosen you as My Vessel, through which I will live, and through which I will be released into the earth. You are My Expression, My Heart, My Voice and Hands.

Each of you will release Me, and will see Me, as you trust in Me. It is time for the Truth to be seen in demonstration again. It is time for the Living Word to be seen in My House. I am not a dead God. I am not a silent God. I am not an impersonal God. I am the One True God, who has always been, and will always be. I AM. The earth is Mine, and the fullness thereof.

Do not despair or be afraid of the days ahead of you. I have already told you of this day. I have already gave you My Word. I have already been with you from beginning till the end. I bring forth all things according to My Commands. Take no thought for your lives, for if they are truly given unto Me, then you will have no fear or distress, but your security will lie totally In Me.

I will teach you what you need to know. I will guide you along the way. I will feed you in your hour of trial and hunger and in your times of satisfaction. I will clothe your nakedness and in your abundance. I will ever be with you. Take nothing for granted but be ever vigilant to walk in My Ways. Give to those who have need and care for those who fear, and bring all of the outcasts unto Me and I will care for them. It is time for them to enter into My Chambers and sit with Me.

I have given to you to know the season and the hour. I have shown you the narrow way. I have brought you to My Throne. Remain faithful with what you have been given. For I am now releasing the golden seeds. The seeds that have remained for this hour. The golden seeds of My Word, reserved for this time. The revelation will now be released to the faithful. Great is the reward for those who treasure My Word more than everything else. For the precious seeds will be scattered and watered and spring forth unto the harvest, in this hour of travail.

Darkness has tried to choke the Word and to steal the life of the seed, but I say unto you, that I have hidden the child, and it has been kept unto this hour, and will now come forth endued with My Power. For the decrees have gone forth, the gates are in readiness and the breaking forth will come. The delusion has set in and many sleep and not many perceive the famine, but the ground is ripe and the Word will reap forth after it's kind.

Do not look down, and upon your earthly flaws. I have not called you according to your greatness, or your abilities, or according to your gifting or personality. I have chosen you according to My Will. I made you. I know you. I chose you. Walk in the knowledge of Me. Trust in Me. Remain faithful to Me. I have prepared the seedbed of your heart to carry My Word. It is I, that have watered the seeds, and have decreed that they live in this hour. It is I, that will bring them forth at this time, and it is I that will change you, so that you can release them and see it bear fruit for Me.

Cease from your labors. Cease from your fears. Cease from your struggles to change, and allow Me to come forth. It is I, that change you from within, and then I flow outward and bring the transformation. It is I, that bring you peace and freedom. It is I, that am God. Stand In Me. See what I will now do and bring forth from within thee. Be faithful with the little that is set before thee, and see how I will multiply it back unto thee, in this hour of great liberty.

The Door Of The Ark
Sandy Warner

Aug 2, 2004
After years of building a spiritual ark and waiting upon Me through the flood waters, I AM coming once again to remind you of your promises. This ark carried you safely through a long hard storm. You have come to rest, as the flood waters recede around you. And yes, you have sent out your prayer requests wondering if it is safe to come out yet.

Continue to wait upon Me for the sign of My dove. When My Spirit brings you the olive branch, which is a token of My peace, know that you may walk through the open door and out into the world. You learned to rest in the ark and trust Me to carry you. Now learn to go forth in that same rest. When you are able to walk in peace, you shall walk your way through your door of new beginnings. How shall you know the door? It is the door of love. Love will find a way.

Song 8:7 NLT
Many waters cannot quench love; neither can rivers drown it. If a man tried to buy love with everything he owned, his offer would be utterly despised."

Faithful Parents
Sandy Warner

Aug 4, 2004
My dearest nurturing ones, you have built a stairway for your children to ascend higher than you were able to climb yourself. Your own plans and desires have become sacrifices laid at My feet, that you might bring those you love into their places. How beautiful is your sweet smelling aroma, your very life poured out! As you stand before the place to which your children have risen, I say to you, "Come!" The door is open and it is My pleasure to bring you into your own place. You not only built the stairway for your progeny, but you have also built the stairway to your own dreams. Yes you climbed and climbed believing Me all the way. Trust Me that I will bring you through this door of destiny and you shall not be left behind. Your sacrifices shall be known throughout eternity. Thank you, My faithful parents.

Hab 3:17-19 NKJV
Though the fig tree may not blossom, nor fruit be on the vines; Though the labor of the olive may fail, and the fields yield no food; Though the flock may be cut off from the fold, and there be no herd in the stalls -- Yet I will rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation. The LORD God is my strength; He will make my feet like deer's feet, and He will make me walk on my high hills.

Rise From Your Rest
Sandy Warner

Aug 6, 2004
Rise from your rest dear one, and go through the door. It is time to harvest your basket and bring the children with you. They shall sup at your table and keep My Word even as you have kept them. Multiplied over and over again, these My children of My Word shall follow you through destiny's door.

Deut 1:6-7 NLT
"When we were at Mount Sinai, the LORD our God said to us, `You have stayed at this mountain long enough. It is time to break camp and move on.

Deut 2:2-3 NLT
Then at last the LORD said to me, You have been wandering around in this hill country long enough; turn northward.

Shiny Treasures in Small Packages
Sandy Warner

Jul 23, 2004
My Beloved one, I love to plant My special love gifts just to warm your heart. I will never grow tired of circling My Words to you. I rejoice in reaffirming your calling, My never ending love for you and My gratefulness that you love My Word so dearly.

All over the earth I have My sent ones, each a precious treasure planted exactly on the spot, exactly perfect for their mission. And each one of these "hidden in plain view" treasures have My Word tucked within them. As humble ones draw near to receive My Word, these glorious ones shall pour out like pennies from heaven, one little Word at a time. With each morsel of quickened Words and deeds, they pour My heart upon a world full of goods, but poor in humble pennies. Soon the whole world shall draw near for just one penny sent from Me. Sent ones, how wealthy you are!

Gen 41:38 KJV And Pharaoh said unto his servants, Can we find such a one as this is, a man in whom the Spirit of God is?

The Day Of The Lord

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

The day of the Lord draweth nigh. Let us draw closer to God. We are the fore-runners of his coming and the generation of his seed and so we have to prepare for his coming and finish his work on the surface of the earth. The glorious church is appearing but the Lord is saying we must still make amends so that we would be perfect. I would love to share some prophecies and some of the requirements with you. Enjoy the message.

Olive Trees

We are olive trees before the Lord. The olive tree signifies worship. These are the days of worship when they that worship God must worship him in Spirit and in Truth. Lets press into the Lords fullness with all of our hearts. Lets be soaked in his mercy. Lets be like Elijah and Moses. Lets talk to him face to face and mouth to mouth

Maturity

There is a call to maturity in the camp of zion. Zion must arise. We must wake up to our call. We must go for the harvest. We must reap for the Lord gathering the fruit into the garner. We must be matured in Christ showing love to our neighbours and refusing every other standard but the standard of Christ. So that we may grow up in him in all things not being tossed to and fro by every wind of doctrine, sleight of men and cunning craftiness.

Discernment

These are the days of discernment. God is releasing his discernment so that we may see and know the difference between good and evil. There is a separation in the army. God is separating his sheep from the flock removing the original from the mixture.

Its the 3rd day and the Spirit of the Lord is speaking. Lets hear what he is saying

Holiness

The Lord is coming soon for a church without wrinkle, blemish and stain therefore his church needs to be holy. We got to thirst for it. If we do this we shall be filled for it is written - Blessed are they that thirst and hunger for righteousness for they shall be filled.

Prophecy 1

Now you’ve known me intimately. Now you’ve seen me. You’ve seen me at the cross. But you only know little of me. Come to my understanding. Listen to my voice. Let those that comprehend God sing for joy. Let them bring forth treasures out of their hearts.

And the church replies - I will be still before you. I'll comprehend your depths. I'll love and not be ashamed for you've called me. You've ordained me. Therefore I will go and bring forth precious seeds into the harvest barns. I will gather till I am tired. Now I'll do the work of an evangelist.

Prophecy 2

People shall weep at my glory. They will weep at my manifest presence. As they behold the Son of God whom they murdered.
They pierced me, they took my robe away from me. I was stark naked. I bled and died. I was ashamed but I bore my shame.
I took away the pains and the grief of your heart at the cross. Don't be bitter towards any fellow. Learn to love for I bore your pains. I took your sorrows away. I did bare them.
Take my cross and learn of me. I am beauty. You'll learn well of me.
At the cross, I showed you love. When I bore your sins for you. I paid the price as I bled to die for you. I took the pain. I bled and died.
Look to me with a fervent heart. I will be there when you call. You'll call on my name and I will answer you. You'll pray and I will hear for I am wanting to know you. I'll be there to help you out of your difficulties. Don't be troubled. Be prudent. For I'll come in a time that you expect not. Therefore wash your robe. Make it clean lest I come and find you wanting.

The Father's Heart

The Father is seeking labourers in his vineyard. He is seeking men that will value the kingdom of God like the merchant who sold everything he had just to buy a pearl.
God is looking for prayer warriors who will be still in his presence and listen for his will
He is looking for men who will bear burdens in the kingdom and transfer the seed for others to follow.
He is looking for ark bearers and cup bearers who will persistently and consistently enter his rest.
Do not cry just shout unto the Lord. Look, Behold his face. Be still in his vineyard and let his aura rub on you. Behold his face and let him anoint you afresh.
Let his oil fill your cup and let it drip from your head to every part of your life.

A section of the body cries...

O Lord the church is waiting for you. Move once again. Fill the altars with salvation and let brethren come and worship at your feet with holiness. Deliver us from strange lips. For strange deceit has taken over us. False doctrines has entered into the church of Christ.
Help us O God for unto thee we cry.

...and the Lord replies

Once again I will visit my church. I will plow and I will make room for abundance of souls to be saved at the altar. I will come in and take them captive that call upon my name in vain. I will discipline them for I have not sent them. Yet they ran. They will tell lies in my name but they shall not prosper for I have said a thing and it shall come to pass.

To that which I have said take heed that you may comprehend. In the last days you shall consider.

Word to the continents and nations

By Bayo Omoyiola, jr.
scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Africa
A hour of change from the Lord. A season of refreshing is coming. Its her hour of Harvest.
Rejoice Africa for thy land shall be fruitful.

Asia
Breeze of revival is blowing across the continent.

Iraq and Iran
Iraq and Iran are going to rejoice for out of them will come forth victory.
They shall weep no more. For out of their fruitfulness will I bring delight unto all nations. They shall be called after my name. I will raise up ministers of the gospel who will spread the gospel through them.

Canada
Arise, Shine for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon you - Is. 60:1

Thus saith the Lord - Canada will bear my glory. They will bear my name.
They will bear my torch for I will give them of the light of the nations and they shall bear my torch

The Dangers Of Throwing Rocks
Kathie Walters

I was taking a few days off with my eldest daughter, Faith, and two of her children in Chattanooga, Tennessee - it's nice to take a break sometimes - while my husband David took my other grandson, Zion, to Bermuda where he is doing a week long camp.

SOMETIMES, GOD INTERRUPTS YOU

As I was standing in the line at the IMAX theater, suddenly my right shoulder felt as if it went completely out of joint. Understand, it didn't really come out of joint, it just felt like that for a little while...long enough for God to get my attention. I started praying in the Spirit. "Whaaaat?" I asked the Lord, but then we went into watch a short movie about bugs.

When the movie finished we went to a nearby restaurant and the shoulder thing came back strong. It almost felt dislocated. I started praying again and the sky suddenly became very black. At the same time I had a vivid vision. If you don't have this kind of Seer-type anointing, don't worry about it, as it can be very inconvenient. The Holy Spirit doesn't seem to worry about the fact that you are in the middle of a good restaurant and eating your extremely nice dinner. By the way of explanation, the shoulder represents authority. The government is on the shoulders. The right shoulder represents senior leadership.

ROCK THROWERS

As I received this vision, the fear of the Lord came on me and the anger of the Lord was stirred within me. I saw in the Spirit, a man in a white shirt, a senior leader or Pastor. He had his back to a wall and was crouched over. There were some other men and a few women who were throwing some pretty large rocks at him. With his back to the wall, and obviously outnumbered, he didn't stand much of a chance of standing up for himself. It seemed to me that he had failed in some areas, maybe even morally. But this anger I felt was not directed toward this man, but rather at those who were throwing the stones and rocks.

GRACE

I thought about the word I had recently received about Niagara Falls and the move of God that is coming called "GREAT GRACE," and the revelation of the powerful, life-changing grace of God. (See this word entitled "God Is Coming Like The Niagara Falls!" on THE ELIJAH LIST at http://www.elijahlist.com/words/display_word.html?ID=2245.)

Just to remind ourselves of a few things, it was prophesied of Jesus that He will judge not by the seeing of the eye, nor the hearing of the ear, but He will judge by righteous judgment (see Isaiah11:3-4).

JUDGE OR NOT

Jesus warned several times about judging.

Matthew 7:1,2 & 3:

1) Judge not, that ye be not judged.

2) For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.

3) And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?

Is it our place then to judge one another? Or is it OK just to put up with anything?

Neither is correct; our position is IN THE SPIRIT and listening to the spirit and getting the mind of the Lord. The enemy or the spirit of religion would like us to get into the realm of judgment. If we do that, then we place ourselves over one another, forgetting that we are all ONLY kept by the grace of God, and His grace is poured out onto a humble heart.
"God resists the proud and gives grace to the humble" (1 Peter 5:5).

WHAT IS REAL HUMILITY?

People get confused about humility. Is a humble person someone who walks around bemoaning the fact that they have nothing?

Before I was filled with the Spirit, I belonged to a very, supposedly, spiritual group in London. In our prayer meetings, the person who could confess the longest about his poverty and need and tell how much of a worthless, wormlike sinner he was, was considered the most spiritual. I was never the star of these shows as I could never remember the right spiritual sounding words, and worms didn't do a whole lot for me.

We didn't have much of a revelation of what Jesus had accomplished for us on the cross of course, and that was really sad.

LEARNING HOW TO DELIVER A JUDGMENT-TYPE WORD

So let me explain to you about judging. If you have judged another brother or sister, church, ministry, or fellowship, you need to repent and release them from your judgment. You are kept ONLY by the grace of God.

A long time ago, before we moved our ministry to America, David and I were traveling in the Eastern part of the United States; in the Atlanta area we were due to minister among a number of house groups. We stayed in the home of an Elder there and on Saturday evening this man told us, "I am going to take you to meet another Elder whom you have not met before. As you will be speaking at his house church tomorrow morning, I will take you to his home now and introduce you."

Well, we went over to this man's house - myself, David, and a young lady, Sue, who was traveling with us. In answer to our knock, a nice looking man answered the door. As I shook his hand I was shocked to see a spirit of lust in his eyes. There are some things that are so blatant you don't really need much "discernment."

We went on into the living room. There were about ten young men and women there, standing around, talking and fellowshipping. Much to my surprise, a friend and Papa-in-the-Lord, Arthur Burt, was sitting right there in the living room, chatting away to a lady next to him. Arthur had been in the ministry a long, long time. I sat still, amazed at the blatant lust I had seen in this other leader. I sat staring at Arthur. "If Arthur is such a man of God, can't he see this spirit? Why doesn't he DO something?" My thoughts were all over the place. I was totally thrown. Sue was across the room staring at me much the same way I was staring at Arthur. She was thinking the same thing of David and I, as I was thinking of Arthur. "Why don't they DO something?"

After a while, Arthur put down the glass of orange juice he was drinking and gave out a very loud tongue (in the Spirit.) Then he proceeded to give the interpretation. It went something like this: "You have until tomorrow night about this time to uncover or be discovered by the Spirit of God."

Then Arthur picked up his glass of juice and continued his conversation with the lady next to him. The room was VERY quiet for a few minutes. You have to remember, this message came out of the blue in the midst of "chat."

"I COULDN'T USE YOU, BECAUSE YOU ALREADY JUDGED THE MAN IN YOUR HEART"

A little dazed by it all, we went back to the home where we were staying. I went immediately into the bedroom. "OK, Lord what happened with this situation?"

God spoke to me right away: "I couldn't use you, Kathie, because you already judged the man in your heart."

Then I saw how that was true; when I SAW WITH MY EYES that spirit of lust, I had judged him by immediately thinking someone should DO something, without asking the Lord about it. He gives grace and grace and then more grace, but we want to jump right in and straighten everyone out, don't we?

I realized that Arthur had been around a long time - I am sure he saw that lust spirit just as we had, but you see, he didn't know it UNTIL GOD TOLD HIM. He made no judgment in his heart like I did, and so when the anointing came upon him he just obeyed the Spirit and the Word of the Lord came out and did its own work. Arthur was detached from it and he was not personally involved in that way, although the man in question was an old friend. So you see, you can see but not know. You can hear but not perceive the truth. Only God can knows the heart; only God knows the thoughts and intents of the heart. The Word, by the Spirit, is able to divide the soul and spirit and thoughts and intents of the heart (Hebrews 4:12). We had a great meeting the next morning, and that evening, the elder in whose house we had the meeting, took off with another lady from the group and never did come back! The word that Arthur gave did its own work. It brought things to the light.

I want to tell you about one other situation.

WHEN GOD LIFTS HIS GRACE

Years ago, when we lived in Orlando, we had Arthur Burt minister in our church. After the service we brought Arthur and another young English guy, Jeremy, back to our house for some supper. During the conversation Jeremy interrupted and asked Arthur, "Oh by the way, do you know brother Stan Brown? " (Not his real name.)

"Yes, as a matter of fact, I do," replied Arthur, and he continued his conversation with someone else.

Jeremy was excited! "When this man was in the UK, he had tent meetings and that's where I got saved," Jeremy said. "Do you know where he is?"

"Well, yes I do," Arthur said, and turned away to resume his conversation. I thought Arthur was behaving a little weird.

"But Arthur, where is he (Stan)? I would love to contact him," Jeremy said, now a little impatient.

"If you must know, brother, he is in jail." Arthur again began to talk to someone else.

By this time, poor Jeremy was losing it. "What do mean 'in jail'? Why is he in jail?" A bewildered Jeremy was in shock.

"Well, if you must know, he is in jail for child pornography." Arthur looked at Jeremy now.

Jeremy couldn't understand it at all and was speechless. "How could that happen?," Jeremy asked. "Brother Stan was so anointed! He led me to the Lord, and there were so many people saved and healed in his meetings."

"Brother," Arthur turned to Jeremy, "When a man gets into pride, God lifts His grace and then he falls into the first hole that he comes to."

Well, we all got a revelation that night, but I have seen it happen again and again. "God resists the proud and gives His grace to humble." This evangelist got into pride in his ministry and God lifted His grace. He fell into the first hole he came to. "God resists the proud."

GREAT GRACE

The move of God is coming - it is GREAT GRACE - and we must have a revelation of the grace of God and understand that we cannot play God and judge one another. The promise is that if you make judgments, THEY WILL COME BACK TO YOU and stop you from receiving God's grace in your own life. We don't know the heart of another except God reveal it. I know many people in the ministry, and a lot of them have been in the ministry for a long time. I don't know anyone who has not said some dumb things, done some dumb things from time to time. If we judge by what we see and hear, guess what? You would write everyone off. You would be the only one in church on Sunday. Let go of your judgments now, don't hang on to them, they are hindering what God has for you. Release the people you have judged, then God's grace will fall stronger over your life.

Jesus once said a strange thing in Matthew 21: "If you fall on the rock you will be broken, but if the rock falls on you it will crush you."

The Lord showed me this rock once, and in a vision I saw myself fall on the rock and I had my arms around the rock and was weeping. "I don't understand about this rock," I said to the Lord.

"This is My grace, if you cast yourself on it you will be safe, but if you don't, the power of it will crush you."

GIVE GRACE - FOR YOU HAVE RECEIVED IT

Don't resist the grace of God; extend it and do not withhold it. For He freely gave it to you and He gives and gives and gives again.

The vision I saw tonight of the man with his back to the wall...it was real...those rocks were real, it was a real situation. The Lord's righteous anger was stirred up against the rock throwers. Be careful, my friend, of your judgments.

Does this sound like a hard word? It is not like me, I know, but God wants you in the flow of the move of God that is getting nearer every day. If you are moving in His grace, it will be wonderful; if not, it will be a judgment to you.

The goodness of God leads to repentance. What the man who fails does (like the man in the vision had failed) is between him and God; I will stay in the Spirit and pray. If God uses me that's great; if He uses someone else to help that man, that's OK, too.

Total Destruction Of West Coast Of Canada
Joshua Taylor

Seven Open Visions-

Feb. 1988, Bangs, Texas - as seen by Joshua Taylor - First recorded from Memory, Sept. 15th, 1993, Jasper, Arkansas.

Prelude: Before sharing these visions, I feel led of the Lord to relate certain background information relevant to the comprehension and understanding of what shortly is to befall not only America, but Canada as well.

Up to this point in my spiritual walk, I had not experienced any open visions whatsoever, although the Holy Spirit had revealed various inner visions and other supernatural experiences needed for spiritual growth. Ever since my initial conversion in a conservative Christian Church in Regina, Saskatchewan in May of 1975, looking back, God surely had His hand upon my life. For the first six years, I listened and intensively studied the foundational teachings of the Word.

From 1981 until 1987, the Lord led me on various missionary journeys across my own country. During this second set of six years, God set me free from previous traditional bondage's, and set my feet on higher ground through a greater revelation of His Word. Above all, through my nomadic lifestyle, the Lord taught me to be sensitive to the leading of the Holy Spirit.

It was toward the end of this second phase, in 1985, while attending a spirit-filled summer camp in Rock Lake, Manitoba that the Angel of the Lord first appeared to me. Unknowingly, God was preparing my soul to enter into the final stage of preparation. It was Gabriel who also appeared twice in these seven open visions. Up until this time, I knew in my spirit that the Lord had a call upon my life to serve Him. It was not until Christmas of 1988, that God revealed through the five-fold ministry, that I was not only called, but a chosen vessel as well. Chosen by His mercy! It was during this third set of six years, from 1988 until the spring of this year of 1993, that the Lord stripped me of all things allowing Satan to prove me that I might learn to be faithful. During this time in the wilderness, the Spirit of the Lord led me to seven springs of 'living waters' where I received various aspects of the deeper things of God. All seven of these 'Trumpet' ministries were formerly birthed out of the 1948 revival. After 18 years of preparation and testing, the Spirit of God anointed my feet to go forth to preach and to minister His word and power of deliverance. In my spirit, I know that these seven open visions will shortly come to pass. And when they do, America will be shaken as the great and terrible 'Day of the Lord' is ushered in! Although many details of my testimony have been purposely left out, I pray that what God has allowed me to reveal will set a foundation in which to better comprehend these seven open visions. May God receive all the glory and honor. Let each one lift Jesus higher, that the light of Christ will shine forth in newness of life. As of this moment, I had not previously recorded these visions given over five and one half years ago. A few details may be lost, but in the intensity in which I received this visitation of the Spirit of God will forever remain.

Update to Feb. 1988 After having resided for a season in Texas within a spirit-filled community, I was in the process of saying my farewells prior to departing back up into my own country, when the 'Spirit of the Lord' fell on me as it did Ezekiel. The home of the elderly sister whom I had the privilege to help build, was still a shell on the inside with sheets for walls. Early that morning in Feb. of 1988, I awoke at approximately ten minutes to six to use the restroom. My mind was yet half asleep as I felt my way back to bed in the pre-dawn darkness. There was no indication that God was about to move to open up the windows of heaven, to pour out seven open visions lasting for 45 minutes. These visions would not only affect my life in times to come, but would affect all of North America! It was precisely six a.m. as I lay back down on the davenport. To me, this was just another morning. Nothing unusual. As my body touched the bed, I instantly became slain as the Spirit of God came in like a wave with such force, that it caused my body to roll over on its right side! Unable to speak, or to move or even to think, with my eyes wide open, the Lord took my soul into a future time and place. God had not just opened a door that I might witness with the eyes of the Spirit of things to come, but He also quickened all my natural as well as spiritual senses of perception. I lived and breathed and felt all that was in and around me. Seven times the Spirit of the Lord came in like a mighty wave, causing my body to rollover from one side and then to the other. Each time one vision ended, another began. For a full year after having these seven open visions, I had to learn to live with what God had revealed in order to retain my own sanity and frame of mind.

VISION # 1 - In the vision, I had returned to Texas to fellowship with the brethren I had previously become acquainted with. For no apparent reason, God cut my visit short and opened up a door to return back to my own country. It was imperative to leave immediately! The next morning I remember boarding the ferry in Port Angeles just outside of Seattle for Victoria, British Columbia. I remember being very solemn as if I already knew beforehand what was to take place on this particular mission. The passage itself seemed to be in the cool of the year where a light jacket had to be worn. There was no indication of snow being on the ground or in the air. In my spirit it seemed to be about five a.m. The sun had not yet come up above the horizon. As to what season it was, it could have been early spring or late fall.

VISION # 2 - As the Spirit of the Lord came in for a second time, the force of it pushed me yet into another vision. Turning over on my left side, I could see myself leaving the ferry terminal. There was quickness in my walk. After what seemed to be five minutes or so, I remember entering the front doors of a newspaper office in the downtown part of the city. To the right of the counter in front of me, the wall clock showed the time to be twenty-five minutes past eight in the morning. The office staff seemed to be half asleep as if they just returned after having the weekend off. Two or three of the staff still had cups of coffee in their hands. Standing to the left side of the front counter, with my back to the street entrance, I remember being dressed in black with a large staff in my right hand. In the spirit, I could perceive them mocking me, as God had me to speak forth a warning to evacuate the west side of Vancouver Island. An earthquake measuring approximately 7.4 would hit twenty miles west of Victoria, causing a six foot tidal wave to come inland. I said that God's mercy would be in it, and that minimal damage would occur if the news media would warn the public to take the necessary precautions. The Lord had me to make it very clear that this particular earthquake, was a final warning in that the next quake would destroy all life along the west coast of North America! Later that afternoon, I found myself back in the same office. Standing there in silence, I simply waited for the hand of God to move. It was a few minutes before two-thirty when I glanced up at the wall clock. Suddenly everything became quiet and deathly still! Even the birds stopped singing, sensing what was about to happen. Within moments, the silence was broken when every phone in the office began to ring off the hook. A six foot tidal wave had been sighted heading eastward towards the city resulting from a 7.4 earthquake twenty miles out in the Pacific. It was not until recently that I realized that severe damage must have occurred knocking out transportation on the west side of the island.

VISION # 3 - Again the vision ended as suddenly as it began. Panic had already begun to sweep over the island as people prepared to evacuate their homes for the safety of the mainland. The roads leading to the east side of the island were rapidly being jammed with traffic. It was somewhere during this time, that I met a fellow believer in the Lord who helped me get to the Nanaimo ferry terminal. Hundreds were in the process of leaving for the mainland heading for Vancouver. I remember telling this brother to transfer all his financial assets 'off the island,' in and around the Hope area.. Otherwise he would lose everything to destruction. This man was extremely wealthy, and believed the word of the Lord. In the Spirit, I was lifted high above the Nanaimo terminal, and could see two and three lines of traffic had already backed up for what looked to be two or three miles in length. Extra ferries had to be called in to handle the enormous increase in both vehicle and foot traffic.

VISION # 4 - For the fourth time, the Spirit of the Lord came in like a wave and forced my body onto the opposite side. The scene of the vision changed, and I was once again back in my body. This time I found myself on the top rear deck of a ferry preparing to leave port. As I stood with many others on the rear of the passenger deck, I could see the boarding ramp, 'the walk ramp,' being raised up for departure. It was at this very moment that I instinctively turned to the south side of the ferry. The water in the harbor began to boil with much activity, as a huge forty-five to fifty-foot dinosaur suddenly stood up out of the water!!! The front claws of this huge prehistoric creature was no more that ten feet off the rear of the deck. His gigantic head was as big as a medium-sized car, with teeth that looked to be nearly two feet in length. I was close enough to feel the heat of its breath as it looked down at the people on the rear of the deck. Many on board the back part of the vessel were killed by massive heart attacks due to the fear of the creature that apparently was pushed up from the quake. Everyone except for myself was stunned and severely in shock at what was taking place. Walking up to this flesh eater, I began to communicate with it. Almost able to touch its claws, I told him that he had done a good job, and to turn around and to go back into the water. This giant could have easily damaged the ferry. Its great size was almost beyond belief!

VISION # 5 - For the fifth time the scene of the vision changed, and I found myself at the Horseshoe Bay terminal. The ferry was just pulling into port. It was apparent that news had already reached the mainland as there was much activity in and around the area. As the ferry backed up into the docking zone, I could see that many major news networks had jammed around the pre-boarding gates. ABC, NBC, CTC, all the big ones. For some strange reason, they were looking to me for answers. As I began to say something, the Spirit of the lord took me over. Still dressed in black and with a staff in my right hand, a major prophetic warning went out of my mouth for all people to evacuate the West Coast. Those who refused to heed this warning would not be spared. This was God's mercy not only to His own, but to all who would listen to His voice. This destruction that was foretold, was God's judgment upon the evil and unrighteousness not only in the Vancouver area, but south to Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Mexico, and on down to the southern tip of Argentina. God was angry, and was about to shake all the west coast beginning in Alaska. It was at this point in the vision, that the arc-angel Gabriel suddenly appeared on my right-hand side, and asked me: "Where can my people go?" In answer to His question, I pointed up North to a remote area outside the Prince George area. In the vision, I handed the Angel of the Lord a long white tube that held the blueprints for survival. At the time of the visions, the Holy Spirit had just begun to reveal these plans for the survival of God's people. It was not until the spring of 1993, that the first phase of these survival plans were completed.

VISION # 6 - For the sixth time, the scene of the vision changed, and I found myself lifted up in the Spirit on the west side of Hope. From this vantage point high above the earth, I could see many cars, trucks, trailers, etc., loaded down with all that they could carry, heading for the northern part of the province. It looked as if 10,000 vehicles or 10, 000 people had heeded this warning to flee the Vancouver area, that they might escape the judgment of God. In the Spirit, it felt as if seven to ten days had elapsed since the warning had been carried by the major news networks. At this point in the vision, I found myself back in by body, standing on the west side of Hope near the highway heading towards Vancouver. For the second time during these visions, the Angel of the Lord appeared on my right hand. Still dressed in black, Gabriel commanded me to take my staff, and to speak forth a major destructive earthquake out in the Pacific. As I did, and as my staff hit the ground, this awesome earthquake immediately took place. Although I did not see the earthquake, I did see the catastrophic tidal wave that stood up out of the water and began making its way towards the mainland. In the Spirit, I knew it was to be a quarter mile high. It washed over the mountains on Vancouver Island as if they were not even there. Within minutes, I watched as this gigantic wave of destruction hit Vancouver and the lower mainland. I saw the faces of three million men, women, and children perish with nowhere to run!!! There were no survivors within 40 miles of the coast. Burnaby, Port Moody, and the other surrounding districts of the lower mainland along with the city of Vancouver no longer existed. Even 90 miles inland, as I stood alongside the highway, water from the tidal wave forced its way up the Fraser River and touched my feet!!

VISION # 7 - For the last time the scene of the vision changed, as the wave of the Spirit of God forced me on my opposite side. God allowed me to feel what it was like if Canada was a living person. It was as if a leg or and arm had been cut off, leaving that person severely crippled. God had brought Canada to her knees in a matter of moments. No longer was she whole!! Judgment had come swiftly, and without mercy for those who disobeyed Hs warning to flee to safety. In my spirit I knew that much of the Alaskan and Californian coast had also been destroyed. Shortly thereafter, word had got out about me speaking this judgment against the west coast. In the vision, I was being blamed for all the destruction and forced to flee my own country. The brother whom I had told to transfer his assets inland, flew me across the border in his private jet. In the Spirit, I could feel the persecution and the hatred towards God's people. The denominational church was in shock as the so-called rapture teaching had not happened to save His people from the wrath of God!! Persecution began to rise up within the cities, forcing many of God's people into the country for survival. In my spirit, I felt as if the 'Great and Terrible Day of the Lord' had finally come upon the would, and the church people who called themselves born-again believers were caught in a snare!!! As fast as the visitation came upon me, it left. Looking at the clock on the sill of the window, it was approximately 6:45 a.m.

END OF VISION!!!

The Testimony Joshua David 'Emmanuel' (1974-2004) With winter setting in, I found myself back in Brooks, Alberta, in Lou of missing a court date in the Hat. While scouting for work in the local bar, the Lord led me to a man that night that He used to plant the seed of God in my heart. As court was remanded to Edmonton for the first week of January, I ended up staying at the single men's hostel, where a fellow believer introduced me to the teachings of Moses' David. Staying for a season, the Lord led me East to Fredericton, N.B., the beginning of spring in 1975. Here, I entered into a time of intensive personal study and deprogramming from the Children of God movement. By semester's end, the doors opened up to return back to family in Regina, where a friend of my father's, an elder in the Church of Christ, baptized me by immersion. At the time, I had been studying the scriptures concerning this. Taking this elder's advice, I attended bible camps both in Edward's Lake and Prince George that summer, to rendezvous back in the Fraser Canyon. For the next seven years, the Lord settled me in North Bend, discipled under Dave and Mattle Foreman. Through these two precious jewels, the Lord gave me my foundational teaching concerning the coming of the Lord and the end times. After being laid off from the local mill in the spring of 1980, I ventured back to Regina to where skateboarding became my passion. Inspired by Terry Fox at the time, I left the shores of Jericho Beach the following summer to raise awareness for the mentally challenged. Ending in St. John's, Nfld., the spring of 1983, where I attended a Church of Christ that was spirit filled and into Keith Green. The wisdom of God was leading me out of my conservative upbringing. Leaving Newfoundland that summer to return west, I settled in with a Christian family that I had previously gotten to know in 1975. Inspired by an open vision to outfit a bike with signs against abortion, the Spirit of the Lord led me supernaturally on a second missionary journey, ending in Thunder Bay by Christmas of that year. It was here that the Lord introduced me to a group of believers who lived in community as did the early Church, who were part of the Sam Fife movement. Wintering in Winnipeg, it was my intention to resume the journey the following summer. However, this was not to be. Just as I was preparing to leave, I met a elder brother in the Lord whom God had raised from the dead that very morning. Teaming us up, the Holy Spirit led us to hijack a believer who had fallen prey into the hands of the craft. He was about to be sacrificed as this young man wanted out. As the noose was tightening, we left Winnipeg according to the visions the Lord gave to Noel. An all points was already in progress by the time we reached Portage, and it wasn't until we arrived in Prince George that the craft closed in using the local police force. The group of believers that I had gotten to know there feared any reprisal that might arise, and did not want us around. The Lord closed the door, and Noel took us to a farm that he had been to before in southern Alberta. While recovering from our spiritual wounds, the Lord appeared to me one night upon just entering the house in the cloud of glory. Settling upon my head, the Spirit of the Most High revealed three personal events that are just now coming to fruition. From that time forth, I had been given a gift to be able to discern the Lord's Body. With winter settling in, the Lord gave me my second open vision, this time to build a cross and to take a stand for Him. Inspired by Arthur Blessed, I left Lethbridge a few weeks into the New Year of 86, walking with the cross to Expo with the faith that God had given me. Arriving in Nelson, B.C., I met another believer whom stood before the Lord in death from a drug overdose. Art opened up his home to stay for a season, as this was the Lord's perfect will for both of us at the time. It was at this critical juncture, that another brother in the faith, brought over several prophesy tapes of David Terrel that would have a future impact on our lives in the years to come. This was also a time that the Holy Spirit was training me concerning the teachings of Maitraiya and his kingdom of Darkness. How Art ever had that book of Crème's in his library is still a mystery to the both of us! Shortly after leaving Nelson to venture west as winter was coming to an end, I was verbally assaulted by one of the craft affiliated with the high priest back in the Peg. God's grace was sufficient, and the Lord led me intuitively, safely to arrive at the Gates of Expo that summer. It was at the East Gate, that I came into contact with a small group of believers who followed David Terrel. Staying for a season, I headed back east to visit my family to rest up, and to seek the Lord's will. Still undecided, I left for Winnipeg to do a short walk with the cross. It was here that the Lord brought a handful of us together to spend one month in an upper room experience. Having all things in common, the Lord blessed our time together, and revealed to us visions concerning the future of Israel and the Middle East. We saw Tel Aviv hit by either a biological or chemical warhead, and in self-defense, Israel retaliated and destroyed Damascus. The U.S.A. was in a losing war and NATO had to be called in. A vision was also given of Bro. Terrel standing on the steps outside of a prison, waiting to be transferred. This was God's way of putting a hook in my mouth. Shortly after we all were arrested for propagating the gospel and the end times, the group disbanded. Being at a crossroads, in my spirit, I felt the leading of the Lord to visit this Sam Fife who lived in community outside of Thunder Bay. Within a short time after arriving, the Marshal's took me in, and asked me if I would help them drive a moving truck down to Missouri. Having raised their family in the community, they were returning back to their roots. Accepting the challenge, I stayed until my commitment was completed, and left for Texas in the spring of 87 where the Prophet of God, David Terrel was about to be released. For the next seven years, the Lord placed me under the mantel of this prophetic ministry. It was while in Bangs, that the Lord unveiled to me seven open visions concerning the evacuation and the destruction of Vancouver Island and the entire West Coast of North America and Canada in Feb. of 1988! And it was here, latter that summer, that the Lord put Art and I together to walk across Texas with the cross depicting the seriousness of the times. A few years prior to this, the Lord had me to sit under the teachings of George Warnock in Cranbrook, and it was at the house meeting here, that I received my first work by C. L. Moore who was an elderly prophet at the time.

The winter of 1991 found me in Calgary where I met an individual who was about to take his own life. Putting us together, the Lord blessed us with a recycling business. It was at this time that I finally put the tract together concerning the destruction of the West Coast after having written them out five years after the fact. After our business came to an end, I returned south to attend camp meeting in Bangs, and spent the summer with the Marshals' in Missouri. It was at this juncture, that the Lord called forth a certain handmaiden to stand in the gap, and to birth a man child, making it clear that the time would come, that all things would be made plain, and the we would be ruling and reigning with Him. Returning back to Canada, I hooked up with James, my former business partner in Regina, and we picked up Art on the way, and headed out to Vancouver the winter of 1993. Unknown to me, the next seven years would become my wilderness experience and the dark night of my soul. Tired of jumping through government hoops, I started a contracting business again with James, to have it fall to the ground. Loosing the place where I was living, I pulled up stakes and moved to the Island the fall of 2002. Staying with my girlfriend, I helped her landlady dig out a basement, and by the following summer found full time work refinishing houses. -End of Testimony-

"Rise up, young people! For the Lord shall use this younger generation to carry His glorious gospel to the ends of the earth before the final end comes!"

Personal Update

At this juncture in my spiritual walk, the Lord is in the process of bringing me out of the wilderness experience to raise me up to work for Him. At time's I feel that I have failed God's call on my life as it has been such a struggle just to survive. In my spirit, I perceive that there is less than a handful of years remaining before we enter into an age of earth changes that will affect all on the coastal areas of the world. Especially here on the West Coast of North America. It is time for all whom call upon the name of Jesus to get serious and to turn our attentions fully to the Lord. There is no time to waste! "Last evening, as I was falling asleep, I had a dream of woman holding a picture frame that was covered with a red material. Like a display case. In the center was the imprint of a sword, and that it was being brought in to be cleaned. Then I saw the sword in my right hand, leading me upwards and onwards to land in a castle type of area. I knew that this place was a place of the Lord's royally, and part of what I saw made my spirit sick. The dream changed to inside the castle structure, and I saw another woman with shock on her face. She said that I had been restored and have been raised up to cleanse the abomination out of this high place."

It may well be that it is time for the House of the Lord to be judged in righteous judgment!

This morning, as I came out from the restroom, the Lord spoke to my heart to put a tract together concerning a walk with the cross across Vancouver Island. In my spirit, what the Lord revealed concerning the destruction of the West Coast must go forth, or else the blood of the wicked will be on my hands! This judgment cannot be averted, although it can be lessened in its severity if enough people repent and prepare, as did Noah. You intercessors out there, I would covet your prayers as I prepare to go forth on this walk with the cross to bring forth a message of repentance in this hour. As in various journeys in the past, I have always given a space of time for the Lord to bring forth a conformation or a word not to leave. This time, I feel led by the Holy Spirit to put this forth to His people, that this becomes a body ministry. If this journey be of the Lord, the timing of it is even more important. This mission cannot be done without the support of God's prayer warriors and intercessors to combat the forces of darkness. You can reach me at my e mail address:

"Concerning the Wrath of God upon the West Coast, no year was given, although certain 'signs' were encoded within the visions themselves.'

Seasonal Indicators
As I boarded ferry in Port Angeles to go to Victoria, I intuitively knew it "to be 5:00 A.M."
As the ferry was pulling into port in Vancouver, the sun was setting upon the city in and around 9 o'clock. This would indicate that we were "shortly before the longest day of the year," and that there was "but a short space of time to leave the lower mainland!"
The water in Port Angeles was cold enough to have ice crystals upon it wherein a fall type jacket or sweater had to be worn. Although the rising of the sun indicated late spring or early summer, the mornings were abnormally cold, while daytime temperatures were quite mild. These two indicators would suggest a "climate change' wherein extreme temperature differences between night and day.

A third seasonal indicator while speaking for the warning in the newspaper office in Victoria, was that the "birds were singing and the trees were full of fresh leaves."

Economic Indicators
It was apparent that "those who had money or the rich and middle class," were not spending! Money was tight and nobody was selling their homes hoping that conditions would improve. The nation was in a time of recession about "to be thrown into a global depression!"
In the visions, I was carrying cash, in particular US currency. "Cash was still king!"
Just as the evacuation of Vancouver Island was under way, while still in Victoria, I suggested by the Word of the Lord for a particular Believer who was extremely wealthy, "to immediately transfer his assets to the mainland." This would indicate, that "banks were still operational" and had not closed their doors pending a national and global depression.
Upon entering into Canada, "the National Identification Card had not yet been forced upon the citizenship of this country."
Canada was "severely crippled economically" by the destruction, bringing the nation into a state of "emergency and economic collapse!" "World-wide depression had come upon North America!"

Prophetic Indicators
As the visions ended, it was strongly evident in my spirit, that "the Great and notable Day or the Lord" was "fully ushered in!"
After the tidal wave hit and destroyed the West Coast, in particular Vancouver and Vancouver Island, word was out that I was "to blame for the destruction" and God had to make a way for my escape.
Within 24 hours of the destruction upon the West Coast, "I knew that a decree was given against all true believers, and that great persecution had begun."
This above declaration, I knew was made by the so-called "Antichrist" fore spoken in the Book of Revelations.
"While in the Spirit" high above Departure Bay in Naniamo, I looked upon the hearts of the people, and if there was a "revival," there was no longer any trace of one.
With the ushering in of "the Kingdom of God", also came the ushering in of the "Kingdom of Darkness" as foretold in Mathew 24!
"The 10, 000 fleeing into the wilderness", fully prepared in advance to start anew, strongly infers that "a remnant was spared and went into a place prepared by the Lord" according to Rev. 12.
This "Great exodus of Souls," could not have happened if there was not "sufficient warning for them to get ready."
The "beast rising out of the ocean" indicated that the "Beast of Revelations was about to rise up out of the sea of humanity!"
Because God did not remove the Christian out of this great judgment, "the Christians themselves were greatly perplexed, and knew that they had been caught in a snare!"
Immediately after the destruction of the West Coast of North America, "great persecution arose against the true Believers in Jesus Christ!
From all the above indicators, "we were yet in the time of the four horsemen!" where the Day of God's wrath is being ushered! The time of the Antichrist is at the same time "being ushered in at this time," just prior to the Man of Sin revealing himself "in name and number!" If so, "we are only years away from the time of great persecution against both believing Jews and Christians world wide!"

Personal indicators
Prior to returning back to my own country, "the Lord commissioned me with a prophetic mantle" by the hands of an older prophet in Texas, to carry out His commission of warning and judgment.
This "man of God, gave me a set of his clothes, and a large staff to speak God's word. He laid his hands upon me, and spoke God's blessings upon my life, and sent me forth in the name of the Lord."
In the visions, I was "walking in an unction of the fullness of the Holy Ghost. All spiritual senses were no longer in part, and the fear of the Lord was strong upon me."
In the visions, "the plans concerning the survival of God's people were fully complete, and handed to the Angel of the Lord!"

Physical indicators
As the first vision begun to unfold, I knew that "a major volcanic eruption was in the process" or "had just happened!" Maybe Mt. Rainer!

In the newspaper office in Victoria, great fear gripped the hearts of the women working there when I appeared in the front office. "It was apparent that I was not a stranger," that the media had been "previously aware" of my personal endeavors "in bringing forth earthquake awareness!"

By the expression on the faces of the office workers, it seemed that an "major earthquake had already occurred on the Island in excess of seven points."

In bringing forth the warning, the word of the Lord indicated that the earthquake would result in "a six foot tidal wave," and that "all vessels on the West Side were to be evacuated!"

The warning quake would "be a mercy quake," before a total destructive quake to follow!

The ferry that I was standing on in the vision, had both a "walk deck" that allowed passengers to cross over to the opposite side without having to go inside of the vessel. This particular ferry was different from the ones now in operation in Naniamo, and may be one of the super-class ferries used between Victoria and the mainland. Where I was standing in the vision, I could see the "bridge of the ship," and the fact that it "backed into Horseshoe Bay," would indicate this particular ferry class. In the Spirit, I knew that the Victoria ferry terminal was no longer operational!

In Conclusion

My personal e-mail is as follows: joshua_light03@hotmail.com.

If the Spirit of God puts it on your heart to open up a web page to help in getting this warning out to prepare and leave the West Coast, when the sign of the beast is given, please contact me.

Anyone that is let to share his or her vision, prophecy or dream concerning the coming preparation, evacuation, and coming wrath upon the West Coast, feel free to forward what the Spirit of God has given you.

I would ask that all intercessors of the Lord, pray that the Lord would hold back the full portion of His wrath, in order for His faithful, and those who believe, to have time to get ready. In Jesus' Name-

The Day of Your Visitation

David Clements

I have been visiting many of you but you are not at home.

Home is where the heart is!

Many are missing the day of your visitation.

Nazareth missed her day. See what happened there.

Look at Shiloh and see what happened there.

Look at Jerusalem and see what is happening there.

Look and you will see.

Have you lost your sight?

Then ask for sight and I will give it to you.

Have you lost your covenant of hearing?

Then ask to hear again and you will hear the sounds of the covenant of Love.

What is it that you are missing?

Stop asking for the stuff of life.

Ask for my presence.

Ask for Me.

Then you will see.

I AM.

Do you want me to visit?

Then listen carefully for my knock on your door.

Look carefully for the light of my presence.

Open to my Love.

Unlock your home, your heart.

Take your focus off of your self and fix your gaze upon me.

Have you not heard that I would not leave you or forsake you, even unto the close of the age?

I AM there where you are, just open unto me.

Go further than my presence enter into me and allow me to enter into you fully.

Father make them one like we ARE.

Soon I will no longer strive with flesh…….

Wake up from you self indulgence Church and know that I AM.

Do not let your unbelief blind you as it did Israel for I visited and they missed their day.

I have come. I AM, and I will come.

Choose your time!

Now is the day!

The Diamond and the Eagle
Sandy Mabee

18 Feb 2004

When I was in worship recently, I saw the heavens open and there appeared a huge diamond - brilliant and amazingly big. We were at the bottom of it where it came to a point. All of a sudden it began to spin - not very fast but it was in constant circular motion from that point on. There, in the background behind it - the Throne of God began to appear and He was sitting upon His Throne. Then the Glory that emanated from His Presence began to shine upon the diamond and the beams of His light would be captured by the prism and then would pass through it and come out of the bottom of the diamond - it would go through the heavens and finally came into the place where we were worshiping.

These beams of glory light would hit individual worshippers having been pre-determined by Him and would completely consume those things in that individual's life that were holding them back from stepping into fullness and maturity. They were so completely consumed that not even the ashes or the dust of the stronghold remained as evidence. And there was a sense of great joy and pleasure on the part of the Father's heart.

And the diamond continued to turn while the Holy Spirit was illuminating passages of Scripture, "May the Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. May the Lord lift up His countenance upon you and give you peace." And I knew that God was actively involved in making His face shine upon us at that very moment. As He lifted up His countenance and let His face shine - once again the diamond picked up the Glory beams and transmitted them into the lives of the worshippers whose hearts were set on seeking Him.

Again I saw great beams and streams of light permeating and penetrating the people and the glory fell in such a way that transformed the people into vessels that were prepared and readied to be used in the next Move of God. As I lay under the power and in the Glory, I began to see the wheel within the wheel that Ezekiel spoke of. In all of its brilliance, it began to move very, very quickly from one place to another and I became aware that God was asking that we too move very quickly with Him in this next move of God - without question or hesitation but flowing as one - like the wheel within the wheel.

Suddenly, as if a fog began to clear up, another vision began to come into view. I saw a form - like a man but having wings and it began to turn at the same speed that the diamond had been turning but it was set very far in the background and was somewhat darkened compared to all the light that I was seeing with the diamond and the Throne and Glory of God - I saw that the form had faces on each side but I could not really make out whose they were. Then, it began to move closer and closer and finally it stopped and I was able to focus and zero in on what I was seeing. It was the face of an eagle and it stood perched over me, looking at me for quite some time, allowing me to examine it as if that was His purpose. First I was a little startled by it's strangeness, then I began to relax as it simple stood there looking at me and didn't seem the least upset by my wonderment and I felt free to examine and take in what I was seeing and began to understand that we are fellow servants created to fulfill the purposes of God and this eagle was there to accomplish a purpose of God. I began to feel very comfortable - happy, blessed and appreciative for what was happening in the Spirit until it finally disappeared. I can't say that I understood what I was seeing - only that I was seeing it.

It's hard to put these things into common words since the experience itself is so far beyond the ordinary. I hope you find this a blessing and of course, if you have any insight or revelations regarding these visions, please share!

Shalom, Sandy Mabee http://www.uptozion.org>www.uptozion.org

This Day We Fight
Francis Frangipane

It is time to throw off oppression and passivity and stand for your nation. I don't think I'm preaching to the choir when I write this, either. We are facing one of the most important and difficult conflicts since WWII, yet too many Christians are passively sitting on the sidelines. You see, there is a passive spirit that has attached itself to the soul of many in the church.

For many, a subtle malaise has increasingly settled, like a blanket, upon their devotional life. Yes, they remained heartsick about escalating terror in the world, but their voice of intercession has quietly diminished. Indeed, they were outraged that judges in the United States and other nations have sought to legalize gay unions, but their outrage has faded into a shrug of the shoulders and a sigh.

During the last two messages (The Bronze Bow and Breaking the Bondage of a Passive Spirit), we discussed using Christ's authority and receiving from the Lord an anointing for spiritual warfare. We considered that David did not just defeat his enemies, he "pursued" them "until they were consumed" (Ps 18:37). As a young man, while others trembled, David was ready and eager to face Goliath. However, once he killed the Philistine, he cut off the giant's head and took it to Jerusalem. David probably held the head of Goliath up before the Jebusites, who still ruled Jerusalem. As God empowered him against the giant, so in time he would drive out the Jebusites as well. David is a powerful example of a man after God's heart, who possessed no tolerance for evil.

But this study about David also provides an example for us of what happens to good people when a passive spirit immobilizes their will. For there was an occasion when David did not pursue his enemies. In fact, he allowed a passive spirit to subdue his will. "Then it happened in the spring, at the time when kings go out to battle, that David sent Joab and his servants with him and all Israel, and they destroyed the sons of Ammon and besieged Rabbah. But David stayed at Jerusalem" (2 Sam 11:1).

David stayed at rest during a time of war. The king accepted a passive spirit into his soul. Soon, we find this great warrior king almost helpless to resist the unfolding spiritual attack.

"Now when evening came David arose from his bed and walked around on the roof of the king's house, and from the roof he saw a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful in appearance" (2 Sam 11:2).

The woman was Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah. From the moment David accepted the influence of that passive spirit, his resistence was weakened; a paralysis of conscience occurred. The scripture says, "when evening came David arose from his bed." Perhaps it was a custom to rest in the afternoon, but it strikes me as inconsistent for David to nap while his men fought. It is possible that this nap was not a response to a bodily need, but an expression of the slumber that gripped his soul. He was in bed until "evening."

This heaviness of soul resting on David was actually part of a larger, synchronized spiritual attack. The other part of that battle was the quiet, inner prompting that moved Bathsheba to bathe in a place where David could see her. Finally, unable to resist, and in defiance of all his noble characteristics, David "sent messengers and took her, and when she came to him, he lay with her" (2 Sam 11:4).

Dear friend, remember, this terrible moral failure was not initiated by David's lust or flagrant rebellion to God; a passive spirit introduced David to his sin. The problem was simply that, in a time when the kings went forth to war, David stayed at home.

In Our World and Times

Beloved, we are in a time of war. The Spirit of God is calling us to fight for our families, cities and nations. Indeed, God's word reveals that "The LORD will go forth like a warrior, He will arouse His zeal like a man of war. He will utter a shout, yes, He will raise a war cry. He will prevail against His enemies" (Isa 42:13).

Is that fight in you? Is there a war cry in your spirit? If you are born again, that cry is within you, even if it's been muted by the lethargy of the passive spirit. You will never succeed as an overcomer without carrying in your spirit the war cry of God. We must embrace the call to prayer, to do spiritual warfare, and we must fight with all the weapons of our warfare for the sake of our children and the future of our nation.

On the one hand, this war is personal. The moment you accept a passive spirit, count on the fact that a temptation appropriate to your weakness is also just around the corner. It may not be Batheseba, it may just be pornography on the Internet, but you will find yourself wrapped up in something that can devastate you and your loved ones. (It's called the World Wide Web and many are they that Satan entangles in sin). It may be a co-worker who suddenly looks attractive; or it might be just giving in to a bitter hardening of your heart.

On the other hand, the battle is also international. Let me spell it out: There is an radical element in Islam that has launched what they call the "Third Great Jihad." (The first jihad came during the life of Mohammed; the second during the Ottoman Empire). Leading this current Jihad is Osama Bin Laden. His goal, together with all radical followers of Wahhabism (a radical branch of Islam), is to drive the West from Islamic nations, replace secular heads of state in Islamic nations with religious leaders; possess the oil wealth of the Middle East, destroy Israel, and obtain nuclear (and other) weapons of mass destruction.

They are willing to die for what they believe and will stop at nothing to obtain fulfillment of their dream. According to US government reports, worldwide there are approximately 20 million Wahhadbi Muslims. Not all are terrorists, but all have been indoctrinated to hate the West, to hate Israel and to be willing to die for their cause. (See http://kyl.senate.gov/legis_center/subdocs/sc062603_alexiev.pdf)

While Islamic terrorists plot to infiltrate and conquer the non-Muslim world around them, there is another conflict being advanced from within society itself: it is a war over the moral standards of each nation. This is very serious and we need to pray and exercise spiritual authority over the regions where God has us.

You say, "I want to pray, but there is an oppression on me." You might be fighting a spirit of heaviness. Isaiah 61:3 says the Lord gives us "the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness" (KJV). The NAS renders this enemy "a spirit of fainting." Whether we call this evil a spirit of heaviness, fainting or passivity, it is what keeps people from exercising their spiritual strengths. Indeed, it often sits on your upper chest, seeking to smother your spiritual energy and initiatives.

This spirit gains access to our lives through a number of means. Disappointment with loved ones will open us to this spirit. Or, it might infiltrate our souls if we repeatedly sin in a particular area. It is also an associate companion to condemnation and fear. Whatever the door through which it enters, you need to repent for any sin and then forcefully and vocally renounce it. This is not a time to pray quietly, but boldly and with your eyes open.

I hear the argument, "I can't pray with my eyes open." That is not true. You have often prayed with your eyes open when you drive. The point is that this passive spirit seeks to trap you inside yourself.

To conquer this enemy we first must submit our hearts to God. Forgive and release all areas of disappointment with people or discouragement with yourself. Renounce living with condemnation and fear. Do all this out loud as well. Since God gives you the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, aggressively recall the many blessings of God in your life. Put on that garment of praise. Pray with me, In Jesus' name, I submit to Jesus Christ, my Redeemer King and I command this spirit of heaviness and passivity to depart from me. I also pray for it to leave my loved ones and any members of my church it has targeted as well.

The Real Battle

The conflict before our generation is no less threatening than Nazism and Soviet Imperialism. Radical Islam is a demonic power that seeks world domination. We cannot lose the war against terrorism or morality. We must not open to fear or unbelief, for we were born to fight and win the battles of our times.

Again the argue arises, "I was taught that life is supposed to only grow more evil until Christ returns." Yes, such a day will come, but we must not assume that it has arrived. In every age God requires we walk as overcomers. The very fact that there are nations today that are experiencing great harvests and breakthroughs reminds us there is still time for our nations.

One of our readers sent us the following excerpt from Aragon, king of Gondor, in The Return of the King. The book's author, JRR Tolkien, an Englishman, denies his work had anything to do with the Great War. Yet, much of his manuscript was written during the height of WWII. The book is a metaphor of all the battle each generation must face to conquer evil.

Hopelessly outnumbered, King Aragon sought to inspire his men against what seemed like sure defeat against the swarming hordes of their hellish enemies. Riding in front of his gathered, but rather lowly army, he shouted,

I see in your eyes the same fear that would break the heart of me.
A day may come when the courage of men fails,
When we forsake our friends, and break all bonds of fellowship.
But it is not this day. This day, we fight!

. . by all you hold dear on this good Earth,
I bid you stand with me, men of the West!

Let us also put aside our fears and the burdens of a passive spirit. Let us take up the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. And let us war on behalf of righteousness. A day may come when the world will succumb to the forces of evil. But it is not this day. This day, we fight!

Breaking The Bondage Of A Passive Spirit
Francis Frangipane

(wwwfrangipane.org)

I want to again discuss our need, as Christians, to exercise spiritual authority. The fact is, if we do not use the authority of Christ daily in our lives, no matter how hard we try, we will always be harassed by the demonic realm. And while prayer and repentance are irreplaceable stages of deliverance, they may simply not be enough if complicating your freedom is a unclean spirit. In truth, you may actually need to face your enemy and, in the context of your repentance, command that spirit to depart from you.

Indeed, we have accepted the idea that God wants us to tolerate oppression instead of conquer it. Fear, self-pity, anger, immoral thoughts or fleshly lusts will not go away by themselves. Your mind must be renewed through repentance and the knowledge of God's word, and if there is demonic activity exploiting your sin nature, that enemy must be confronted in the authority of Jesus' name.

You say, "I don't have a problem with an evil spirit; my battle is with sin." I agree, your frequent failure in a particular area might genuinely be rooted in the carnal attitudes of your old nature. However, if you have repeatedly repented and still cannot find lasting freedom, perhaps the issue is a combination of your sin and the devil's manipulation of that sin. You see, the real power behind your iniquity is often demonic in nature.

Even if you've embraced true repentance and found spiritual freedom, there is a time when the enemy tries to re-enter your life. Recall that Jesus warned, "Now when the unclean spirit goes out of a man, it passes through waterless places, seeking rest, and does not find it. Then it says, 'I will return to my house from which I came' " (Matt 12:43-44a).

Jesus tells us that, even if we have had a genuine deliverance from the hand of God, a time may still come when that "unclean spirit" seeks to return to the "house from which" it came. The "house" it seeks to re-enter is the darkness created by your pre-repentance thought-life, and the way it seeks to access your soul is to masquerade as your thoughts.

Jesus further warns that, when the unclean spirit comes back and finds our souls unguarded, it comes with "seven other spirits more wicked than itself" (Matt 12:45). First, the enemy will infiltrate your mind, seeking to plant a thought or seed an idea in your soul. Then, he will attempt to water that seed with a corresponding temptation. As soon as we discern the ungodliness of this thought, we can turn and take authority over it. However, if we fail to use our authority, if we sit down inside and allow it to grow, the enemy will then approach with a full scale invasion. Jesus says, "the last state of that man becomes worse than the first" (vs 45).

At the first stage of Satan's counterattack, we must use our authority in Christ and capture those initial, invasive thoughts. Do not let them multiply. Do not allow them to dwell in your soul for even a moment. Whether you are fighting fear, lusts, anger or any other sin with its corresponding demonic strongman, you are in a war for your soul and the primary battleground is your mind. To win, in the midst of all you do, you must guard your heart and mind from the enemy. To do this, we must exercise spiritual authority.

Pursue Your Enemies

God has called us to war. He, in fact, has anointed us with the power of His Holy Spirit. Our prayers are arrows in the heart of our King's enemies. Jesus has given us authority over all the power of the enemy (Lk 10:19). Yet, the authority of the Lord is not just for guard duty or defensive maneuvers. The Holy Spirit desires that, as we follow Christ, we take the battle to the enemy as well. In that same Psalm where David sings that he can "bend a bow of bronze," he also says, "I pursued my enemies and overtook them, and I did not turn back until they were consumed" (Ps 18: 37).

Let's make this clear: David was first a worshiper of God. He didn't pursue his enemies without first pursuing God. However, when the Lord led him into war, he thoroughly defeated his foes.

Unfortunately, I know many Christians today do not pursue their enemies. They would rather secure a little temporary relief than obtain an anointing in God that equips them as a warrior. The moment they finally receive a little peace, immediately they begin to beat their swords back into plow shears. They quit.

I will tell you a solemn truth: we either pursue our enemies or our enemies will pursue us. We must develop Christ's attitude toward evil. He came that He "might destroy the works of the devil" (1Jn 3:8).

The Bible says, "hate evil, you who love the Lord" (Ps 97:10). There can be no neutral ground.

Indeed, the Holy Spirit is looking for something in us that, like David, pursues our enemy until he is consumed. We are discussing spiritual authority and possessing an aggressive attitude of heart that causes us to grow into mature Christlikeness. Jesus could live with and forgive human failure, but He never allowed evil spirits to influence His life. He was aggressive toward His spiritual enemies.

Future Victories And Present Attitudes

There is a story in the Old Testament that captures well my concern with the effects of a passive spirit. Elisha the prophet was about to die and Joash, king of Israel, came and, in an unusual show of affection, wept over the man of God. Adding to the intrigue, the king then spoke the very words Elisha uttered to Elijah in the last hours of Elijah's life: "My father, my father, the chariots of Israel and its horsemen!" (2 Ki 13:14).

It is possible that the king sought some special power or gift-anointing from the prophet before he died. Elisha, in fact, accommodates the king, yet he tests him, ordering the king to take a bow and arrows. He then told Joash, "Put your hand on the bow." Elisha then laid his hands on top of the king's hands. He said, "Open the window toward the east," and Joash opened it. Then Elisha said, "Shoot!" And he shot. Elisha then proclaimed: "The LORD'S arrow of victory, even the arrow of victory over Aram; for you will defeat the Arameans at Aphek until you have destroyed them" (2 Ki 13:15-17).

God was going to honor the efforts of Joash. The king had recognized the Lord's anointing on His servant. He had come to receive, by impartation, the prophet's blessing as it pertained to the need in his life. Elisha actually "laid his hands on the king's hands" (vs 16).

Yet, one more test was required. Elisha said, "Take the arrows," and he took them. And he said to the king of Israel, "Strike the ground," and he struck it three times and stopped. So the man of God was angry with him and said, "You should have stuck five or six times, then you would have struck Aram until you would have destroyed it. But now you shall strike Aram only three times" (2 Ki 13:18-19).

Elisha was angered by the passive spirit in King Joash. The prophet knew Joash did not possess the perseverance to pursue his enemies until he fully conquered them. Joash could possibly have been a great king. Yet Elisha's anger burned at the king's passive approach to God's promises: ultimately, many Israelites would die in the future raids of the Arameans because Joash would only defeat them three times.

Elisha's anger actually mirrors the Lord's displeasure toward the laziness of His people today.

You may argue, "God is love. Jesus would never be angry."

I beg to differ. Consider the Lord's word to the church in Laodicea, a church that was overly concerned with its own comfort and passive in its attitude toward spiritual realities. Jesus said, "I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot; I would that you were cold or hot. So because you are lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I will spit you out of My mouth" (Rev 3:15-16).

Jesus would rather we were hot or cold than lukewarm. Does He still love those He rebukes? Of course, but He calls us to change our attitudes. It's not that passivity or laziness are such terrible sins, like murder or adultery. It is simply that such attitudes create an psychological prison around a believer that actually holds us hostage to our other sins.

In our world, the spiritual passivity and indifference of God's people is one of the most difficult things for the Lord to accept. Indeed, we are daily threatened by the potential of serious terrorist attacks or the advance of perversion in our cultures, yet so many Christians remain prayerless and inactive. This is in spite of the Lord's promise that if we will come before Him, humbling ourselves in earnest prayer, He will empower us to pursue our enemies and defeat them. But instead of seeking God's face on behalf of the lost, too many of us are immobilized by the grip of a passive spirit.

The Lord is not pleased with our spiritual laziness. Elisha could see that King Joash was a quitter just by the unaggressive way he struck the arrows. I'm not talking about the level of our energy, but the level of fire in our obedience. Today many nations are at a crossroads: demonic initiatives have been successfully advanced that not only decriminalize sodomy, but seek to legitimize the union of homosexuals as another form of marriage. In many states and nations, homosexuals are already allowed to adopt and raise innocent children, and we are too passive to rise against this outrage!

Jesus gave us His authority to "make disciples of all the nations" (Matt 28:19). Our authority is not limited to our prayers against evil; God will help our efforts against wickedness as well. In America we have been asked not only to pray for our nation, but to take action. That action might be as simple (and important) as writing our senators and congressmen (http://www.afa.net/) telling them that we are against gay marriages. Or our actions might be to reach out to someone confused and deceived about their sexuality and seek to bring them healing. But if we pray and do nothing more, we might actually lose the soul of our nation, and I am not only discussing the USA, but many other nations as well. Our defeat might come, not because God's help wasn't available, but because we saw the advance of evil and did nothing.

Beloved, God has given us authority, He has given us the weapons of our warfare to help us, but we need to get up and fight. We need to repent of a passive spirit and stand with Christ's authority in this day of war and battle.

For maximum benefit, pray this prayer out loud: Lord God, I thank You that You have given me authority over all the power of the enemy. Forgive me for allowing my voice to remain silent and my will immobilized by a passive spirit. I realize to be an overcomer I must pursue my enemy until he is consumed. You have given me authority over the plans and works of evil. You have created me to be a minister of Your righteousness. You have filled me with Your Holy Spirit and with fire. This day I confront, renounce, and take authority over, the power of the enemy. I break the bondage of a passive spirit, in Jesus' name.

The Bronze Bow
Francis Frangipane

A number of years ago, during a time of spiritual weariness and uphill battle, the Holy Spirit gave me a unique anointing to wage warfare. This special endowment of grace came through a dream, which began with me lying down in a house, resting. Suddenly, members of our church entered the home and told me that our enemies were returning and I was needed to engage this demonic horde in battle. I remember lamenting, "Why am I always picked to do battle?" Tired and weary, I stepped outside. On top of a distant ridge, sitting on horses, I could see rows of enemy warriors. Someone near handed me a bow and arrows, but my aim wavered and, due to the distance, my arrows all fell short. The depression upon me deepened as I could hear the mockery of the enemy warriors, scorning my attempt to hurt them.

Then, suddenly, the heavens opened and an outstretched arm handed me a shining, gold colored bow. Immediately, as I grasped it, the word of the Lord, as it might have come to David himself, rose within me and I proclaimed, "By my God I can bend a bow of bronze!" (Psalms 18:34 NAS). Instantly, divine energy flooded my arms, while confidence and courage filled my spirit. I was as radiant and strong as my weapon. I nocked an arrow onto the bowstring, aimed and fired toward the enemy. This time my arrows had distance, penetration and accuracy, and the enemy was routed.

That was the dream. But the Holy Spirit was set on confirming His word to me. Early the next morning, Saturday, I drove to the church to do some work. At that time, our mail came to a post office box and we rarely received personal letters at the church building. However, a letter was waiting in the mailbox. It was sent by a visitor who, after attending our evening service the previous week, felt compelled to send a prophetic witness. After a few words of greetings and encouragement, she wrote that the Lord gave her the following Scripture for me:

"For who is God, but the LORD? And who is a rock, except our God, the God who girds me with strength, and makes my way blameless? He makes my feet like hinds' feet, and sets me upon my high places. He trains my hands for battle, so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze" (Ps 18:31-34).

Again, but this time fully awake, I felt the anointing of God's strength pour, like oil, upon my head and down through my body. There were other confirming witnesses as well, such as the preacher who visited our church that night. Quoting Elisha's word to King Joash, he spoke on "the Lord's arrow of victory" (2 Ki 13:17).

It was one of those God weekends that launched a new level of spiritual warfare. From that time on, the Holy Spirit began to reveal the works of the Jezebel spirit and the accuser of the brethren. I could discern many other spirits as well, as the Holy Spirit gave me grace. I don't mean to say that I never failed again. No, I had failings. However, I gained an anointing in revelation discernment. I also found a new confidence in spiritual authority over the demonic realm. But the key was, the Holy Spirit anointed me for battle. He "trained my hands" and gave me supernatural weapons with which to wage war. Beforehand, I could give you a fairly accurate theological explanation to define spiritual warfare; afterward, I had an anointing to wage warfare.

Within the next 24 months I wrote my second book, The Three Battlegrounds, which was a compilation of truths the Lord revealed about warfare and discernment.

He Trains Our Hands

In the above verse from Psalm 18, David reveals stages of spiritual development concerning war. We must fight in the strength of the Lord; we must also allow God to make our way blameless. We must not run ahead of God; rather, as the rear feet of the deer step into the exact place of the front feet, so we must learn to place our feet in the exact steps of the Lord, especially when He sets us "upon...high places." In that context, the Lord trains our hands for battle and gives us supernatural weapons against the enemy.

Indeed, one of the main sources of weariness in the church is that people to not know how to discern and then defeat their enemies. Instead of praying for victory, we settle for temporary relief. We pray that God will make the devil leave us alone, when the Lord is telling us to pursue our enemies and scatter them like dust. I fully believe in prayer and that we should be devoted to prayer, but there are other times when God commands us to turn and, in the name of Jesus Christ, take authority over the devil.

God calls us to be prayer warriors, not prayer worriers. One of the main reasons we began our online school, In Christ's Image Training (ICIT), is to impart this very anointing for warfare to others. Just as the Spirit of God trains, then anoints with power and appropriate spiritual gifts, so ICIT has been raised up, in part, to train the church and empower God's people to stand in the day of battle. Exercising spiritual authority over the enemy (and sickness as well) is part of the arsenal given us by the Almighty. The devil would like to take this world and spin it completely out of orbit, thrusting it into terrible darkness and chaos; we must resist him and use our authority to bind and cancel the demonic advances of the enemy into our world.

The Holy Spirit is our bow and our prayers are God's arrows. But we must pray with vision, courage and confidence, and with equal confidence take authority when the Lord calls us to stand against the enemy. The sad fact is, many Christians have been so conditioned by defeat they are fearful to exercise spiritual authority. They look at people moving in anointed spiritual authority over the devil as though there were something sinful or doctrinally wrong with Christians moving in Christ's authority.

Having confidence is not a sin. Exercising your faith is not presumption. Standing on God's promise when others flee is not foolish.

You might argue, "God hasn't called me to face principalities and powers." Fine, but I'm not talking about challenging world rulers of darkness. How about confronting that little demon of lust that keeps you shamed and condemned? Let's not start attacking the devil himself, just that spirit of fear that keeps whispering unbelieving thoughts into your mind. You see, for God's kingdom to advance, we must not only pray, but move in the authority of the King.

"Your arrows are sharp; the peoples fall under you; your arrows are in the heart of the King's enemies" (Ps 45:5).

God has given us sharp arrows that, under the Spirit's anointing, plunge deep into the heart of the Lord's spiritual enemies. You say, "But I have failed. I've suffered some very serious setbacks." So you lost a round or two. Is the whole fight over? Is that a white flag I see in your hand? Have you conceded?

Another responds, "I don't feel comfortable confronting evil. I just want to hide in God as His worshiper." No one is saying don't hide. No one is urging you to run into the night and throw hatchets at the moon. But if you are being harassed even after you tried to hide in God, maybe the Lord Himself is bumping you out of the next to turn and face your spiritual foes.

Sure the Lord can squish the devil, and can do so in a heartbeat. But perhaps it pleases Him more to "crush Satan under your feet" (Rom. 16:20).

I'm not saying, let's all focus on the devil, but let's focus on the anointing God has given us to stand against the schemes of the wicked one. Let's reintegrate divine authority into our prayer and spiritual warfare, taking up the "full armor of God," which includes the most power weapon in the universe: "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" (Eph. 6). You see, the weapons of our warfare are mighty to the tearing down of Satan's strongholds!

If you are in need of a fresh anointing, let me present two important coming events. First, our In Christ's Image Training online school begins its next term July 2, 2004 (last day to register is June 28). This means there is very little time left for you to sign up for this next term. If you have been considering this, stop procrastinating and get onboard. The foundations we present are unique spiritual realities, each of which the Lord has provided us before we can persevere against the enemy. (Remember: before David picked up his bow of bronze, he secured himself in the Lord. God became his stronghold, his refuge and high tower.) The 44 teaching text messages we present in Level I (plus 39 audio messages) are those principle truths that have enabled me to stand against the demonic storms of life, and even advance and take ground from the enemy. All I can say is the things we present are effective and have come from an anointing from God to help equip His people. At the core of Level I training are four foundational values: pursuit of Christlikeness, humility, prayer and unity.

The second upcoming event is our on-site training which takes place July 8-10 at River of Life in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. This three-day seminar is restricted to our students. If you are a student of In Christ's Image Training, I am compelled to tell you that the Lord is planning to release a significant level of anointing during these days. These will be significant times of training and release, and I urge you to do all that is within your power to attend or at least purchase the audio series afterward.

No one will be refused registration to either event due to lack of funds. This is not about making money, but equipping God's people to stand in the day of battle.

Let's pray: Lord, You have not only called us to war for ourselves and our loved ones, but You have given us weapons that are mighty. Father, for everyone who has become spiritually timid or actually intimidated by the enemy, I bring them before You right now. I ask that You stir them from their fears and anoint them for this day of battle. Grant us all grace, blessed King, to bend a bow of bronze. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Entrance to the Kingdom
Rick Joyner

June 21, 2004

As we covered previously, Psalm 89:14-15 states one of the most basic truths that we must understand about the Lord and His ways if we are going to be His followers:

Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne; Lovingkindness and truth go before You. How blessed are the people who know the joyful sound! O Lord, they walk in the light of Your countenance.

As we proceed toward the end of this age, and the ultimate conflict between the kingdom of darkness and the kingdom of God, these basic truths about God and His ways will be increasingly illuminated, and increasingly attacked by those who serve the evil one. To stand in these times, we must sink our roots deeper and deeper into these fundamental truths, both understanding them more and more, and walking in them more and more.

The first point is that righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne. His throne is His seat of authority. It is the place where the kingdom is established and ruled from. His throne rests on two great pillars, righteousness and justice. Without both of these being woven together in our lives we will be imbalanced, and therefore easily knocked over. If we are going to know Him, and represent Him as He is, we must also have our lives built upon these two great pillars of His authority.

To walk in God's righteousness is to do what is right before Him. The famous "What Would Jesus Do" (WWJD) should be a guiding rule in our lives. We should mature beyond this to WIJD, or "What Is Jesus Doing," which means to walk in the light of His countenance, or His face. The ultimate goal of our lives should be to do all things in His presence, in fellowship with Him. However, this can begin with the pondering of all of our decisions with WWJD. If there is any question about what He would do, we should inquire of Him so that He might teach us His ways.

If we do walk rightly before Him, we will also begin to understand His justice. I have often heard Christians say that they do not want God's justice, but His mercy. In the sense in which they are speaking I would fully agree with this. I pray continually not to receive what I deserve, but what was purchased for me by the cross of Jesus-the mercy, the repentance that leads to redemption, the reconciliation, the restoration, and all of the benefits including now being a son of God.

In the above paragraph I say "the repentance that leads to redemption" because the two are always linked together. This does not mean we must be perfect before we are redeemed, as which of us ever perfectly repented? We usually start by just wanting to repent, and need His help to even do this. Even so, we should be maturing in all things, including repentance. The Scriptures are clear that true redemption is preceded by a true repentance.

God's grace is not just the forgiveness of our sins, but it is the power to overcome the sin as well. Though the redemption is instant, the moment we trust in the cross of Jesus, the repentance, reconciliation, and restoration can take a lot longer, even a lifetime. All of this includes the renewing of our minds so that we think like He thinks-hating sin and loving righteousness. One of the most powerful articulations of this basic truth in the Scripture which was covered previously, but is worthy of repeating again, is II Peter 1:2-11:

Grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord; seeing that His divine power has granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness, through the true knowledge of Him who called us by His own glory and excellence.

For by these He has granted to us His precious and magnificent promises, in order that by them you might become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world by lust.

Now for this very reason also, applying all diligence, in your faith supply moral excellence, and in your moral excellence, knowledge; and in your knowledge, self-control, and in your self-control, perseverance, and in your perseverance, godliness; and in your godliness, brotherly kindness, and in your brotherly kindness, love.

For if these qualities are yours and are increasing, they render you neither useless nor unfruitful in the true knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

For he who lacks these qualities is blind or short-sighted, having forgotten his purification from his former sins.

Therefore, brethren, be all the more diligent to make certain about His calling and choosing you; for as long as you practice these things, you will never stumble; for in this way the entrance into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ will be abundantly supplied to you.

Because His grace includes "His divine power (which) has (past tense) granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness," if we are walking in His grace, His grace will be changing us in the step by step manner that Peter outlines. This is how the entrance to His kingdom is supplied to us.

Walking in His kingdom, and preaching the gospel of His kingdom, is our primary job at the end of the age. If we are doing this, we will represent both His righteousness and His justice accurately.

Now in all of these things we have discussed much more about His righteousness than His justice, for which we are still laying the foundation. Even so, they cannot be separated, as they are both foundations of His throne. And we clearly see that just as the devil has done his best to confuse the matter of holiness and righteousness, he has done the same with God's justice, which we began to address last week. So, we must understand that God cares very deeply when people are treated fairly.

To bring redemption and reconciliation the Lord went far beyond justice to reveal His mercy, and to extend mercy. We too began our life in Him because of His mercy. However, if we do not proceed from embracing His mercy to also embracing His righteousness and justice, we will pervert His mercy and His justice, and go on living in unrighteousness and presumption. Likewise, the Lord has extended His mercy to the world for nearly two thousand years, but it is about to experience His justice.

Again, His grace is not just the forgiveness of our sins, but the power to overcome the sin. We "have been given everything pertaining to life and godliness," which is God-like-ness. In His grace and His mercy, He knows our weaknesses, and gives us time to change. Even so, we must always keep in mind that these are given to change us, not just overlook our shortcomings and leave us in our present state. Such a belief, which theologians have called "cheap grace," is a diabolical perversion of the truth and is meant to lead to further depravity, not the righteousness and justice, the foundation of His throne, and therefore His kingdom.

As we are told in Romans 2:4, "...the kindness of God leads you to repentance..." It is actually His kindness that leads to repentance more than fear of judgment, but if we are really experiencing His kindness it will lead to repentance. Who can experience His great mercy and grace and not be convicted of doing the things that displease Him?

Therefore, to live in His kingdom, and represent it accurately to the world, we must fully embrace both His righteousness and justice, growing in the knowledge of both. This will mean for many, deliverance from some of the Dark Age doctrines concerning His judgment, and for others deliverance of the "cheap grace" others have promoted in an over-reaction to these extremes. These matters are not only worthy of a patient examination, they are essential for us to understand if we are going to have an accurate understanding of the Lord, and what He is doing in our times.

The Nazis And The Antichrist

Rick Joyner

June 28, 2004

Last week we reviewed and looked a little more deeply at how we recognize and enter the kingdom of God. We also looked at how righteousness and justice are the foundation of the Lord's throne (see Psalm 89:14). Therefore, we can expect to find these at the base of everything that God is doing in preparation for the coming of His kingdom. The wise will learn to recognize His righteousness and His justice, and only give themselves to building on the same.

This week we want to begin examining the foundation of the devil's kingdom in more depth. Basically, we can expect the devil's kingdom to be built on the counterpoints of God's kingdom-injustice and unrighteousness. This is true, but to identify his unrighteousness and injustice can be much more difficult, especially in its early stages of development. In fact, in the early stages, Satan's unrighteousness and injustice may seem more righteous and more just than true righteousness and justice. This is especially true if we do not have a sound definition of these based on Scripture rather than fallen human philosophies.

Again, we must keep in mind that the antichrist is not just against Christ so much as it seeks to be a substitute for Christ. Likewise, the devil's realm is not so much the exact opposite of what the Lord is doing as it is a parallel counterfeit. It may only be able to run parallel to God's kingdom for a time before its true nature will begin to show. Just as rat poison is often composed of 98 percent good food, and just 2 percent poison or the rats would not go near it, the same is often true of the devil's most deadly and deceptive schemes.

For this reason, especially in its formative stages, a realm, kingdom, or government that the devil is establishing may look more just and righteous than what the Lord is establishing. This is how Absalom seduced Israel to follow him in place of his father David. He sat in the gate day after day appearing more just, righteous, and sensitive to the people than his father David did. However, as soon as he gained power, his true nature started to come out. The same has inevitably been the case each time. What seemed right and just quickly turns into a profound and perverted evil and injustice as soon as power is gained.

Previous injustices, and the resulting resentment or self-pity, can be one of the biggest open doors for evil to build its authority on. As we covered previously, the devil often begins his deceptive advances by appealing to people's wounding. He will say, "You have not been treated fairly," or "No one understands you." Again, this is why he is called Beelzebub, or "the lord of the flies." Flies swarm to wounds and so does the devil and his minions. However, he does not heal the wounds-he just uses them. Just as flies often represent lies in dreams and visions, the devil swarms to the wounded with his lies in order to spread his deadly disease.

In time the true nature of the evil kingdom cannot help but to become obvious, but that is often too late to stop its intended oppression and destruction. By the time this happens, the veil of deception over people's hearts is usually so thick that they cannot see through it. Those who can see are often so bound by fear that they do not want to acknowledge what they see.

One of the most obvious examples in recent history of how the devil set up his kingdom is found in Germany in the 1930s, which allowed the Nazis to come to power. This is a crucial period of time for us to understand because in many ways it was the dress rehearsal for the way the devil is going to try and take over the entire world to thwart the coming of the Lord's kingdom. One of the great questions of history is: How did the German people, arguably the most brilliant and resourceful people on earth, succumb to such evil?

Most historians seem to agree that the overly harsh conditions imposed on Germany by the Versailles Treaty that ended World War I, which made it impossible for Germany to get back on its feet after the war, was the primary open door for Hitler and the Nazis to gain power there. This also became the main cause of World War II, and even more destruction.

There are other very important questions that arise from what happened in Germany during this period. Yet the lessons we should have learned from them are still not adequately answered, even though countless books have been written, and movies made about this time. Even more remarkably, the great voices of the church have not addressed them, which are called to be light of this world, and therefore have not had answers to the world's ultimate problems.

One of the most shocking facts about the Nazis rise to power is that they used the church as a springboard to achieve that power. It was not the only institution they used, but it is one of the great examples in history of how the devil can take his seat in the temple of God, the church, and make himself out to be God. How did the church fail to recognize the nature of such an evil movement as the Nazis? Why did some church leaders even call Hitler the second coming of Christ, and the Third Reich the beginning of the kingdom of God on earth?

The same patterns of how evil gains control of nations can be seen forming throughout much of the world today, including almost every "Western" nation. Some of the truly great nations seem to be falling the fastest into a repeat of some of the worst past historical mistakes. Just as Germany was one of the most learned and cultured nations on the earth at the time, it was very easily changed into one of the most cruel and diabolical of all time. The same could have happened in any nation, and indeed seems to be beginning again on an even larger scale. Is this the foundation of the devil's ultimate attempt to destroy humanity through the ultimate antichrist government? It is easy to understand why many think that it is.

I have spent a great deal of time in Europe over the last fifteen years, and I am still spending a lot of time trying to understand the trends there. Sometimes it is hard to believe that what I read and hear could actually be true. The old adage stating that "Those who do not remember history are doomed to repeat it," seems to have been especially spoken of Europe. The entire continent is now trudging once again toward a wide conflagration that is likely to be even more devastating than the last World War, and yet there does not seem to be a single public voice sounding the alarm.

By this repetition of history, I am not speaking of destruction coming through Germany again. In fact, I think Germany is likely to be the first nation that awakens to the impending threat of Islam, and is the greatest hope for Europe's deliverance this time. Germans are far wiser because of the Nazi era, but are still controlled and afraid to react to some of what they are perceiving because of their guilt over the Nazi era. Their neighbors in Europe seem more than willing to use this guilt for maximum effect for their own interests.

The other nations of Europe which should have learned so much from World War II, and should have a very different world view, seem even more blind to what is now coming upon them. It is remarkable how that part of the world which has for centuries been subjected repeatedly to the most diabolical forms of tyranny, seem completely unable to see the roots of tyranny beginning to sprout again. Even worse, they get downright belligerent toward anyone who would try to help them see.

Even though we can learn much from the Nazi period in Germany's history, we should not expect what is coming to be wearing Swastikas, or to even gain power again exactly like it did in Germany. The political and control spirits seem to gain entry into, and ultimately sidetrack almost every move of God, looking different in each movement. And, what is coming upon the world will not look exactly like it did in Germany, but there will be enough similarities for the knowledgeable and discerning to recognize if we are awake.

We must also consider how there were some German Christians and German politicians, who discerned the nature of the Nazi movement from the beginning. How did they do this? Even though these were some of the most heroic and noble souls of that period, why were they not successful in exposing the dangers of their times?

Though the Scriptures indicate that such a brutal regime which overtook Germany in the 1930s will at some time take over much of the known world, the Scriptures are also clear that it will not prevail everywhere, and it will not prevail long. There will be whole nations, and even whole regions of the world, that may be spared. How? There will be unprecedented darkness in some places, and unprecedented glory in others. What will make the difference? How can we be prepared for what is to come? These are questions that the wise are asking now.

The Beginning of Judgment
Rick Joyner

Jul 4, 2004

Last week we discussed how the primary way we will escape from the mark of the beast is to take the mark of God by becoming a true bond-servant of Christ. One of the principles of the last days that we have not yet discussed is how the judgment of God will come forth. A fundamental aspect of His judgment is to simply let us reap what we sow. In Galatians 6:7-8, we are warned about this:

Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, this he will also reap. For the one who sows to his own flesh shall from the flesh reap corruption, but the one who sows to the Spirit shall from the Spirit reap eternal life.

The choices we make every day determine most of the future consequences of our lives. If we are sowing to our flesh, we cannot expect to grow in the fruit of the Spirit, or to reap good spiritual benefits. As the apostle wrote, this mentality makes a mockery of God, and is a primary reason why much of the world thinks of His church as nothing but hypocrites. As we also read in I Peter 4:17:

For it is time for judgment to begin with the household of God; and if it begins with us first, what will be the outcome for those who do not obey the gospel of God?

God's judgment will begin with His own household. How could He judge the world for its sin when His own people do the same things? This is why it cannot be forever tolerated. He is patient and He is merciful, far more so than we tend to be, but there are limits to both His patience and His mercy. When those limits are reached, He does allow the consequences of our own sin to come upon us. If that does not cause us to repent, then He goes further, until at the end, we see what happens as we read His explanation of the parable of the sower in Matthew 13:37-43:

"The one who sows the good seed is the Son of Man, and the field is the world; and as for the good seed, these are the sons of the kingdom; and the tares are the sons of the evil one; and the enemy who sowed them is the devil, and the harvest is the end of the age; and the reapers are angels. "Therefore just as the tares are gathered up and burned with fire, so shall it be at the end of the age. "The Son of Man will send forth His angels, and they will gather out of His kingdom all stumbling blocks, and those who commit lawlessness, and will cast them into the furnace of fire; in that place there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. "Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears, let him hear.

There is a separation coming to the church. The pretenders or those who have become lukewarm, or have given themselves over to sin, will be separated from the true. His church at the end will be a pure, spotless, bride of which He is worthy. Along with the harvest that is now taking place, there is also a great falling away taking place. Many of these who are "falling away" may still go to church faithfully, and may even go on missions, but their love is growing colder, and their attachment to the world, its ways, and its sin, is growing.

If this has been happening to us now, it is the time to repent, to turn around, renounce the world and its ways, and give ourselves fully to do the will of the Lord. As stated, every Christian is called to be a bond-servant of Christ, but very few truly are. Most go on living their lives for themselves, and not for Christ.

This is also the product of a terrible perversion of the gospel that we have seen in recent times. It has been very basically changed from "He came to save us from our sin," to a gospel that says He came to save us from our troubles. As psychological studies have shown that the way a person is born in the natural can have an impact on their entire life, this is just as true in the spiritual—the way in which a person comes to the Lord can determine the quality of their entire spiritual life. Those who respond to a gospel that promotes self-centeredness and selfishness will remain that way. Those who come because of the deep conviction of their sin, and their desperate need for deliverance from their sin, which compels them to embrace the cross, will be different.

As stated in Matthew 24:12: "And because lawlessness is increased, most people's love will grow cold." Christians fall into lawlessness because the sin in their life has not been dealt with at the root. When the cross is preached, and people come to the Lord out of the conviction of their sins, and the desperate need for the atonement of the cross, it begins to deal with the self-centeredness that is the fruit of all sin. When someone comes to Jesus out of the desperation to have their sins forgiven by His grace and mercy, they are bonded to Him for their very life, and therefore begin to live for Him.

Also, when people come to Jesus for deliverance from their troubles instead of deliverance from their sin, when troubles come upon them they believe that the gospel does not work, and quickly fall away. Great troubles are going to come upon the world in these times. In Christ we do have the only true deliverance from the troubles of this world, but that does not mean we will not experience any troubles, but rather we overcome them through Christ.

The whole mind-set that many teachings promote, or at least imply, is that Christians should not experience troubles. This has already been the downfall of many, and it will increase as the troubles increase. This is a major root of apostasy, and the great falling away from the faith.

There is no more wonderful life that we could ever have on this earth than the true Christian life; but that life is a life of profound and daily sacrifice. There is simply no life more fulfilling than serving the King, but it is a life of serving nonetheless. This is not about what we want to do, or what we get, but what He wants us to do and how He benefits from our lives. We have been bought with a price and those who have been so redeemed no longer belong to themselves, but to Him.

For some, service to Him will require the ultimate sacrifice—martyrdom. As we get closer to the end of this age, this number will surely increase until it will likely be that a high percentage of all Christians will die for their faith. This has in fact been the case from the beginning. Throughout much of the world today, as soon as one commits their life to the Lord they know they will be killed. I have met Christians from the Middle East where anyone coming to Christ can expect to be killed very quickly. The elders in congregations there have often been Christians less than two years, but it is extraordinary how mature they can become in that time when they know every day may be their last!

Both the falling away and the increasing martyrdom that is coming does not mean the gospel will be losing, but that it will actually be prevailing. Like the cross, God's victories often look like defeats to those who do not have spiritual discernment. Just as the cross was the ultimate victory of the Lord, every time we lay down our lives for His purposes, it is a victory for us. If we have to make the ultimate sacrifice it will be the ultimate honor and victory. However, those who do not lay down their lives daily for Him are not likely to make that ultimate sacrifice when it is required.

Pseudo Christianity will not last long through the fire that is coming. Those who hold to the faith and emerge will be a new breed that are really of the original spiritual stock that beheld and carried the cross. They will be the most fearless people to walk the earth because they will not fear death, having already died to this world. They will also be the richest people on earth, having free access to the spiritual riches of the kingdom, having been proven trustworthy servants. These servants will have graduated to being friends of God, and from friends, to adopted children. They will be the kings in the age to come, but kings whose very nature is to serve their King, and those they are called to rule over. Authority in the kingdom of God is very different from fallen, human authority. Now is the time for us to build our lives on that kingdom, its ways and principles, so that our lives may be a demonstration of it.

We're In Hot Water
Rick Joyner

July 12, 2004

Last week we discussed how the evil kingdoms are built on unrighteousness and injustice, but in the beginning they may appear even more righteous and just than God's kingdom. Without question, God's standards of righteousness and justice are pure, true, and right. They extend to the heavens and to eternity. They are the very definition and standard of these, and always will be. Even so, the devil usually sets the stage for his unrighteousness and injustice by at first seeming to be even more righteous and just than God. That is how he actually brought about the fall of man in the Garden.

In the movie, The Fellowship of the Ring, there was a very insightful discourse between Frodo and Strider, who was later revealed to be Aragon, when they first met. Frodo said of the disguised evil one that he had met, "He seemed fair but felt foul." Then he said of Strider, "You seem foul but feel fair."

Frodo's discernment was of course right. The first was trying to kill him, and Strider was trying to save him. Only the truly discerning will not be taken in this same way by what is to come. It will seem more fair than anything at first, but the discerning will feel the evil behind it.

The Lord Himself often comes across as harsh and far too demanding, but He is the most merciful and just of all. As stated, the evil one will come pandering to our wounds and hurts with great sympathy, but he will have no sympathy when he kills you.

When the serpent tempted the first man and woman saing, "Did God say that?" This could have been phrased, "Is that all that God told you?" He wanted Adam and Eve to think that God was withholding something from them, and that he, the devil, would not withhold anything from them. He basically sowed into their hearts idealism, which is the basis of humanism. This is really the ultimate presumption that man's wisdom and goodness is greater than God's. This is also the basis of the deepest darkness and depravity of soul. As this happens, even the most evil acts can begin to seem just. Let me give you an example from Nazi Germany.

Right behind the opera house in Berlin, Germany, there is a large plaque on the sidewalk that thousands of people must walk over each week, but I have never seen anyone stop to read it. It is a memorial to the first two hundred thousand people killed by the Nazis. These first two hundred thousand people killed were basically as overlooked as their memorial seems to be. They were not Jews, Christians, or political prisoners. In fact, they were Germans. They were called "the useless eaters." They were the aged, the weak, and the ill-those who had been deemed a burden to society. They could not produce any more, but only consumed. So these people were all killed, not by executioners, but by their doctors.

At the time this seemed both wise and just to the German people. By this time they had already been brainwashed by the Nazi spirit of National Socialism. Why should anyone be allowed to live if they could not produce for the people, but only consumed what rightly should be going to the ones who were productive? Does not even the Bible say, "If anyone will not work, neither let him eat" (II Thessalonians 3:10). Why had no one thought of this before?

Of course, what the apostle meant when he wrote the verse quoted above was that if an able bodied man did not work, let him not eat for a while and he would get hungry enough to work. Paul was not implying that if someone refused to work they should be starved to death. However, this is how the rigid and unyielding Nazis interpreted this because to them the meaning of life had nothing to do with worshiping God, but rather producing, for them.

When they killed all of the "useless eaters," they had established that those who were not producing were not worthy to live. It was then easy to take this one step further and begin killing the Jews, who also, according to the propaganda, were not producing for Germany, but rather becoming rich and consuming what the German's produced. Then it was easy to put the intellectuals into the same category. It was then easy to slip political opponents and other undesirables into the group of those who did not deserve to live. By then, the minds of the people believed the Nazis wanted what was best for Germany, and what was best for the Nazis was best for Germany. Soon it was easy to start looking outside of Germany. Certainly, the rest of the world should be producing for the master race....

It was said to be scrawled on a concentration camp wall, "When they came for the old and infirm, I was not one of these, so I said nothing. When they came for the Jews, I was not a Jew, so I said nothing. When they came for the communists, I was not a communist so I said nothing. When they came for the Gypsies, I was not a Gypsy, so I said nothing. When they came for the Catholics I was not a Catholic, so I said nothing. When they came for the Protestants..."

I have always marveled at crabs when they are boiled for eating. They must be cooked alive to be safe. Because the water starts at room temperature, the crabs seldom try to escape even though they are usually cooked in a pan in which they could easily escape. If one tries to escape, the others will reach up and pull it back down. Then the water is gradually heated until they are dead and do not even seem to realize what happened to them. Sometimes that is the same picture I get of people when studying history. That is the way the Germans were taken over. The water began feeling pretty good, and was warmed up so gradually that they were lulled into complacency until it was too late.

How many have noticed the continual meltdown in morality and integrity in the West? Not many.

Things that were too appalling to even mention in good company just a generation ago are now flaunted on the streets, and applauded by the media and politicians. In the name of "freedom" it is like they are saying that they have a right to stay in this water until it boils and with them to pull anyone down into it who tries to escape.

Has anyone noticed that the homosexual community, which is demanding the most tolerance from everyone else, is the most intolerant group of all? The perverted demand the right to teach their perversion to our children as acceptable forms of behavior, filling textbooks that have nothing to do with sex but with this perversion, all in the name of "freedom." Yet they want your child expelled if they even mention God. They demand their freedom of speech so that they will be able to say anything they want about their perversion. They want such things as the paragraph that you are reading declared a "hate crime" so that I can be imprisoned for saying something so politically incorrect.

The Nazis basically said, "If I want your opinion, I'll give it to you." Perverted, idealistic, humanistic "freedom" means that you are free to believe anything as long as it is exactly what they tell you to believe. We are headed there fast. The water is getting hotter by the minute. The end result of the kind of freedom that is now being promoted is the ultimate tyranny, and if we do not get out of this water soon, we are going to wake up dead!

The Eagle And The Serpents
Michael Boldea

October. 15th

This is the message God gave Michael Boldea through a dream while he was in North Carolina. Michael asked for a confirmation of this message and asked God simply to give him the dream again if it was from him. The next night he had the same dream.

America had many chances to repent and individually some people are still repenting and asking the Lord into their heart. We praise God for this. However, since 911 we can see many in America have disregarded the warnings from God and efforts have been made across this land to allow gay marriage, remove references of God from landmarks and buildings, and even the pledge of allegiance. America is on a collision course with judgment and this is why the watchman are blowing the trumpet.

Michael has spent 18 years traveling across America 12 with his grandfather, Dumitru Duduman, warning, sharing from the word of God, and speaking only what God shows him. May God give us all ears to hear this message.

(Hand Of Help Ministries)

The Eagle and the Serpents (The Angel said, "this has been revealed to you, that you may know, the first bite has been, the second is yet to come, and the third will be its destruction.")

Psalm 34:7-8, "The angel of the Lord encamps all around those who fear Him, and delivers them. Oh, taste and see that the Lord is good; Blessed is the man who trusts in Him! Oh, fear the Lord, you His saints! There is no want to those who fear Him."

Upon my return to the United States in late August, I had a very vivid and troubling dream. I shared it with the staff here in Wisconsin, and with a few other brothers, but continued to pray and seek direction from God as to whether or not I should include it in the newsletter.

At the staff's urging, and feeling a release from the Lord, I have included this dream in this issue of the newsletter.

I dreamt I was walking through a sparsely wooded forest, and suddenly my attention was drawn to an eagle flying high above the tree line. It was a beautiful sight to behold as the eagle rode the thermals, flying in slow lazy arks across the blue sky. I began to quicken my pace, and keep up with the eagle's flight, all the while keeping an eye on it, noticing that it was slowly descending toward the earth. I followed it for a long time, its descend not being sudden but very gradual.

Finally I came upon a small clearing, where there were no trees, just some bushes on the edges of the green grass. The eagle landed in the clearing, and began to look around not seeming to notice me.

As I began to wonder what the relevance of this was, a man dressed in white, hands clasped in front of him, appeared beside me, and said, "Be patient, in due time you will see the purpose."

I was silent as I watched the eagle, and was beginning to grow somewhat impatient, when suddenly, it seemed out of nowhere, a brown snake lunged at the eagle, and bit down on its left wing. The snake's strike was very quick and very precise. The eagle reacted without delay, clawing and pecking at the snake cutting deep wounds in its underbelly, trying to defend itself and ward off the serpent. Just as it seemed the eagle was winning the battle, and the serpent was retreating, another serpent appeared, red and black diagonal stripes covering its body, and without hesitation struck out at the eagle's right wing, biting down, and refusing to release. After a momentary tug of war the serpent tore off flesh and feathers, leaving a large wound on the eagle's right wing. The second bite was much worse then the first, and for an instant the eagle was stunned. Then a serpent much larger than the previous two, made up of many colors, slithered toward the eagle, opened its jaws, and lunged, taking the whole of the eagle's head in its mouth before biting down.

The serpents retreated and the man who had been standing beside me, walked to the eagle, knelt down, picked it up, and held it in his cupped hands. The look of grief on his face was beyond any I have seen in my life. Just seeing the look on the man's face broke your heart.

The man continued to look down at the eagle, and with a pained voice said, "The true tragedy, is that at any moment it could have sought the safety of the above, it could have soared toward the heavens and would have found its protection. This has been revealed to you, that you may know, the first bite has been, the second is yet to come, and the third will be its destruction."

I watched for a long time as the man held the eagle in the palms of his hands, the pained expression never leaving his features. I was too stunned to speak, or ask any questions, what I had seen having seemed so real. The feeling followed me into my waking hours as well, and each time I closed my eyes I saw the entire scene play before my eyes throughout the day.

One thing that I feel I need to share with you is that the second bite seemed to come from an unexpected place. Although I have my own opinion concerning this, I choose to keep it to myself, because expounding on personal opinion is a dangerous thing when it comes to things that God reveals.

I was hesitant in sharing this dream, because I know some will perceive it as a reason to fear. It is not a reason to fear, but a reason to be stirred, and emboldened for the kingdom of God. The reality, is that these are the times we are living in, and I for one am thankful to God for his forewarnings, knowing that His children will never be unaware of what the future holds. All I can do is urge you to be watchful, and diligent in your prayers to the Father.

This nation, today, is more in need of prayer on its behalf than at any time in its history. It is the prayers of His children that compels God to relent, and tarry. Stand in the gap, you are precious in the eyes of God, and He hears your heartfelt supplications.

Joel 2:12-14, "Now, therefore, says the Lord, turn to Me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping, and with mourning. So rend your heart, and not your garments; Return to the Lord your God for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness; and He relents from doing harm."

With love in Christ,

Michael Boldea Jr.

The End Is Near

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

The End is indeed very near and every Christian ought to pattern their lives according to God’s order and pattern for our lives. Very soon Christ will return and we would all be gone. The antichrist is just waiting for us to leave after we leave then he comes on stage.

Year of Fullness

2004 has been prophesied to be a year of fullness. This year the five- fold ministries would experience the fullness of God. The fullness of the anointing and the glory of God would be available 'cos God wants to complete his house.
We would have full prophets, full teachers, full apostles etc. Just like Kenneth E. Hagin prophesied it would happen and the glorious church would emerge.

Year of Grace

2005 would be a year of grace. We would experience God’s grace and we experience his rest. The man - child church would experience a total transformation. 2005 is the 6th year of the new millennium and in it the glorious church would assume its perfect state. Man was created and formed on the 6th day. So the perfect bride would see her total and perfect beauty in 2005.

Year of Surprises, sudden occurrences and signs & wonders

In 2006, strange things would occur. Many believe that this would be the year of our rapture. Spirit filled prophets have prophesied that the antichrist would show up this year.
Strange things would happen and men would begin to wonder.
Earthquakes, rumours of war and war would take place before the antichrist returns.

Message to the church.

Get prepared, for I’ll come in a time and in an hour that you do not expect. Therefore guard yourself and be thou alert always lest the enemy puts sleep on the way and you sleep off and the enemy plants tares in your hearts instead of the original wheat.
Get ready for my coming for I’ll appear soon.

The Elephant

Mary Clark

In a vision, I saw a huge, powerful elephant coming out of a thick jungle. Why did you show this to me, Lord?

Something very large and very powerful is about to be unleashed in your midst, beloved. Get ready to entertain it. Get ready to accept this wonder of wonders with open arms.

I am your Beloved. I have many wondrous things in the offing, which you will enjoy to the fullest. Be that is it may, the enemy would like to see you scrambling around in defeat. He wants you to look on My presentations and view them as scary, but they are not scary, beloved. They are BIG and they are powerful, but not scary to My beloved. My beloved knows the God Whom you serve, and you will realize something of great importance when these huge and powerful occurrences come into your midst. You will realize that your all-powerful God has shown His true colors and they are rich and vibrant. You will realize that I have looked on you with the kindest intent to bless you and move you forward into a place of great wonder.

So stand tall and look on the amazing facts that I am about to present to you, knowing that I have made an appeal to My beloved. I have called you to come with Me into a new arena – a new arena of delight, and there is nothing the enemy can do to stop your progress. Know also, beloved, that this is a place of quiet repose, where you will rest in the knowledge of My love, knowing full well that your God has seen fit to move you into a region that can only be called a region of the gladdest tidings.

I am your God. I have something rich and powerful for you, beloved. Get ready to receive. Get ready to walk in a knowledge of your God that will testify of His good will to you, and know, beloved, that the time is ripe for you to step out of the mundane and into the region of delight that I have prepared for those who are called by My name.

I exhort you, beloved, to keep your focus on Me, and bound into this place without even a side-long glance at the enemy, because this is a place of power and strength that will entitle you to a victorious season of splendor and great wonder in the power of the living God – the One Who has chosen to call you His very own.

Landslide

Mary Clark

Landslide - total victory, massive win, complete success

In a vision, I saw a landslide and then heard the Lord say, “Landslide.” Here is what He has to tell us about this landslide.

Expect a landslide, beloved. Expect your most capable God to produce a landslide in your vicinity. You say, “But Lord, I thought a landslide was a BAD thing.” I say these words to you, beloved:

Of course, a landslide can be a bad thing, but in this instance it is a good thing. It is a good thing because it is going to take the props out from under the enemy. The enemy has wanted to keep My beloved from advancing. He has tried one tactic after the other. He is about to be carried off in a landslide. Get ready for this mighty display, and know that it came by the hand of your God.

I am your God. I created you to walk in My goodness. I created you to actually benefit from knowing Me. Many of you have drawn closer to Me. Many of you are eager for Me to present My mighty display. It is surely on its way, beloved, but first I want you to watch for the landslide, and when it comes, know that it comes by My hand and it is going to upset the work of the devil in ways you never dreamed. Just what does this mean for you and your loved ones? I will tell you: It means success in areas of your life in which you were bound. It means seeing the lost saved. It means seeing your children come into a right relationship with Me. And of course, beloved, it means seeing the enemy get “what-for,” and your Beloved rising high into a new area in the eyes of the world. Yes, all of this is coming by way of My landslide.

Consider this coming landslide a victory for your Beloved. Consider it a BIG success, and know, dear child, that when your God brings forth a landslide, it is to raise many up onto the plateau of the living God. It is to see many GROW mightily in My eyes. That is what this landslide is going to bring, beloved – victory for My dear children, victory for My kingdom, and a certain victory in every individual willing heart that will enable that child of Mine to stand fast no matter what calamity strikes. That is what it is all about, beloved: victory, success, and standing in the face of anything that comes your way.

Be a victor. Stand fast in the face of all that comes your way, and know, dear child, that when I send something to earth, it comes for a very good reason, and it produces ALL that I desire – ALL that a heart can contain.

Ribbon And Lush Greenery
Mary Clark

In a vision, I saw sheer, white ribbon with gold edging, curling into some lush greenery. Why did you show this to me, Lord?

I want each of My children to take hold of this lovely ribbon, and follow Me into that place of lushness in Me. I want you to know Me better. This ribbon of truth will lead you deeper into the will of your God. You will gain access into places in My heart that you never knew existed.

In this day, I am doing a mighty work in hearts. I am about to cause a heart explosion that will alter the course of your life. So be prepared, knowing that it is surely on the way, and when it arrives you will know the tenderness and the strength of My heart.

I am calling you to come deeper into that place that is lush. I want you to follow My lead. I want to perform something in your heart along the way. Look forward to this work that I am doing for you, and know that it is being tempered by My loving presence – it is being tempered by My loving caresses. You will barely feel a thing, beloved – you will barely feel a thing as I go about My most interesting and beneficial work in your heart. Follow My lead. Follow hard after My heart, and know the true contentment found therein. Know the splendor of My goodness as it shines forth, offering to you a place of rest you have never before known.

I am eager for each of My children to follow Me into this place of rich lushness. It is a place prepared for you to grow mightily in Me. So get your heart ready to enter in, and know true peace and contentment as you follow along the way that I have prepared for you – a place alive with activity, lovely to the eye, and sweeter than any place you ever dreamed existed. That is where I am taking you, beloved. That is where you are to dwell in Me – a place very much alive with activity and filled with the lushness of My love for you!!!

The Emerging Church

Greg Austin

Sheila and I attended a church yesterday. We have come to know the young pastor and his wife, and feel that God wants us to encourage and help them. While we were worshipping, I became aware of a distinct unease in my spirit. I began to hear a whispered, "This is not where I am." I also noted that Sheila seemed to be uncomfortable. I leaned to her and asked if she were feeling ill. She shook her head in the negative, but as the meeting progressed into the sermon, I realized she was becoming even more uncomfortable.

We took a long drive after church and stopped along the water. From our vantage point we could see the skyline of Seattle's waterfront, the white mass of Mount Baker appearing between sea and cloud, ducks "fishing" in the shallows before us, fishermen on the pier to our right, ship traffic plying the cold waters, and couples strolling along the rocky shoreline. It was there that I thought I heard a whispered “I am here” floating on the wind.

I again asked Sheila about what was wrong during the worship service. She said, "We don't fit." I pressed for more. "Church....like that....isn't it anymore. I almost feel guilty saying that, but it just isn't it." She went on, "If I had the financial backing, I'd find an old building, a house and convert it to a coffeehouse, meeting place, library, good music...." she continued describing and then said, "you know, the thing you've been talking about." "Oh," I said, "you mean a Harbor?" (Within the concept I have of Harbor is a "Harbor House:" Literally a house used for the purposes of worship, prayer, study, strategy meeting, communication, relaxation, counseling, resourcing, coffee, and whatever seems to come along and fit.

The Harbor House differs from the Harbor, since the Harbor MUST by definition be either a home where people actually live, or exist where people come together in a next-best-thing-to-home-facility).

The sun began to show its westward progress. Deep purples and oranges spread in reflection over the water. Just as it has since the first moments of time, the sun was going down to bring night to the circle of the day. Or so we think out of habit. In antiquity, generations of fathers taught their children this fallacy because in their limited understanding, reach and vision, it appeared to be so and was accepted and passed on to succeeding generations. Conventional wisdom and understanding were factually wrong, but culturally accepted because “it appeared t be so.”

In reality, the sun does not go down. We now know that. The earth merely turns on its axis, giving the appearance that the sun, not the earth, is moving. But we know the truth. Just as we know the earth isn't flat or even perfectly cylindrical. We don't live any longer by the old conventions that said if one continued far enough in a given direction, he would sail off the earth into the great unknown. So we have no misgivings about boarding an aircraft and flying 10,000 miles to the East or the West. We know we won't break free of earth's surface and spin into space

And so the day is dawning when we no longer live by the conventions of a traditional church that each succeeding generation has accepted and followed, simply because our fathers told us the story that way. There is a New Church, a New Representation of Jesus arising; emerging. Its structure is that of a living Thing and not the skeleton of a corporation or a government or an institution. Its soul is that of a breathing Thing and not the force of motivational thought, corporate synergy or institutional convention. Its heart is that of a Kinsman-Redeemer and not that of catchy slogans, statements of purpose or of constitutional amendment. Its hands are those of common men, women and children, translated and transformed by the power of a living Christ to become literally His hands, reaching, touching, holding, blessing, healing, restoring in the midst of the mainstream of life, and not in an isolated and concealed sanctuary.

The hope of our future isn't in a building made with hands, but it is in these "living stones, [that are] being built up into a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

Sheila and I attended a church yesterday. Near the Seattle skyline, fishing in the waters before us, we heard Him say “I am here.”

The Emerald Rainbow

Doug Fortune

A Covenantal 42nd Generation
(info@DougFortune.org)

“At once I came under the [Holy] Spirit's power, and behold, a throne stood in heaven, with one seated on the throne! And He Who sat there appeared like [the crystalline brightness of] jasper and [the fiery] sardius, and encircling the throne there was a halo that looked like a rainbow of emerald.” (Revelation 4:2-3 Amplified Bible)

To understand the perspective of these verses in Revelation chapter 4, we must back up to Revelation 1:10 as John says, “I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet...” I believe John is making a distinction from His regular ‘earthly’ experience as he declares that he was in the Spirit.

As he was now in the Spirit, John had come into a different realm. It is my belief that at this point John had ascended to the ‘second heaven’. I say this because of his perspective.

The second heaven, ouranos in Greek, is where principalities, powers, rulers of the darkness of this world, the governmental spiritual entities have their power. John’s focus appears to be upon the church in the earth as the Trumpet Voice has been declaring, “But I have a few things against thee...”

Of course, the ‘trumpet’ is symbolic of the prophetic ministry, and often the prophetic ‘trumpet’ is utilized to confront sin. I am by no means a proponent of the ‘sin-conscious’ mentality that religiousity tries to accost us with, however I do believe that the Father generally allows us an accurate view of who we are ‘in Adam’ before He shows us who we are ‘in Christ’.

That is why the Trumpet Voice has been declaring for the last couple chapters in Revelation, “But I have a few things against thee...” I believe this represents the view from the second heaven... and I believe that it is important that we have an understanding of this ‘second heaven view’... we just don’t want to STAY THERE! Unfortunately, much prophetic ministry in the Church has not progressed from the ‘second heaven view’.

I strongly believe that the call today is, “Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be...” (Revelation 4:1) Certainly there has been revelation in this verse that has been applicable throughout the centuries, but I feel a very definite ‘quickening’ of this verse for THIS TIME in history.

And to grasp the perspective, we must understand that this call to come up hither is a call to ‘come up higher’ than the ‘second heaven view’! This is a call to ‘come up higher’ to the third heaven! You see, John has just entered into another realm through this “door standing open in heaven,” his environment has entirely changed and I believe his focus has changed. His focus for the last couple chapters has been upon sin and the church in the earth, now his focus is upon the Throne of God and the Glory of God.

It is important to note that John says, “At once I came under the [Holy] Spirit's power...” The call today is for a people who, laying aside the soulish power of the self-life, have come ‘under the Holy Spirit's power’. It is only as we do this that we receive a clear vision of the Throne of God, and it is only as we come up higher than the ‘second heaven view’ that we can truly grasp the truth of the absolute sovereignty and authority of the Father.

>From the ‘second heaven view’ there appears to be struggle between good and evil that seems to be somewhat equally matched in power. How may sermons have we heard that could be summed up as ‘satan vs. Jesus’? Let’s face it, who wants to turn on the TV and watch a sporting event when one team totally dominates and defeats the other, without any contest?... sounds like a good time for a nap on the couch instead.

Unfortunately, we may bring that same mentality into our understanding of spiritual things. There is NO equally matched contest between Jesus and satan. When Jesus said, “It is finished: and He bowed His head, and gave up the ghost” (John 19:30), if there EVER WAS a contest, it was over at that moment! I, personally, do not believe there ever WAS a contest, as “the works were finished from the foundation of the world” (Hebrews 4:3) because “of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world” (Revelation 13:8).

Until we, like John, have come ‘under the Holy Spirit's power’ we will never have an accurate vision of the Throne of God and His sovereignty. “...and behold, a throne stood in heaven...” When we are truly ‘under the Holy Spirit's power’, all we can see is the Throne; “And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the CALLED according to His PURPOSE... If God be for us, who can be against us?” (Romans 8:28, 31)

Let us turn our attention for a moment to this One who is on the Throne. “And He Who sat there appeared like [the crystalline brightness of] jasper and [the fiery] sardius...” Sardius is a red stone and was the first stone in the first row of the breastplate of Aaron, the high priest (Exodus 28:17).

Jasper was the last of the gems (the third stone in the fourth row) in the high priest's breastplate (Exodus 28:20), probably the green jasper. I believe that it certainly is NO coincidence that OUR High Priest, the One who is the First and the Last, the Beginning and the Ending (Revelation 1:8) has the appearance of the first and last stones of the breastplate.

According to Ephesians 6:14, the breastplate speaks symbolically of righteousness, “Stand therefore... having on the breastplate of righteousness”, and of our High Priest, 2 Corinthians 5:21 states, “For He hath made Him to be sin for us, Who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him.” When we compare those Scriptural truths, the meaning of the colors of the stones takes on great significance.

You see, red speaks symbolically of the shed Blood of Jesus and the fiery wrath of God that was poured out at the Cross as the Father literally “made Him (Jesus) to BE SIN for us.” Just as the red sardius was the FIRST stone, even so the very foundation of the new Covenant is the shed Blood of Jesus, the full judgment of God poured out at the Cross, in order that “we might be made the righteousness of God in Him.”

So many in Christendom today are still living under an ‘Old Covenant mentality’, expecting the judgment of God around every corner. ‘Doomsday prophets’ are a dime-a-dozen, and huge ministry ‘machines’ are built upon the dissemination of bad news!

Unfortunately, if you live on planet earth for any amount of time, something ‘bad’ will probably happen. That is simply the reality of living in a world that is in the process of being subdued as the kingdoms of this world become the Kingdom of the Lord and His Christ.

However, may I declare to you today that God is not ‘mad’?! He’s not sitting around stewing over world conditions, anger boiling just beneath the surface ready to ‘blow’ at any moment like a spiritual Mount Vesuvius. He is not in need of any ‘anger management’ instruction... although perhaps there are some Christians who could use some ‘anger management’.

You see, the full weight of the judgment of God for sin was summed up and given full expression in the Christ-event (the crucifixion, death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ). The world has BEEN judged for sin, declared guilty, and the full judgment poured out upon the only Begotten Son.

“We did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted... and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us ALL.” (Isaiah 53:6) It is upon this basis of the finished work of Jesus Christ on the Cross that you and I can stand before the Father in RIGHTEOUSNESS, clothed with the breastplate of righteousness!

Jasper (probably the green jasper), an opaque variety of chalcedony (quartz), was the third stone in the fourth row in the high priest's breastplate (Exodus 28:20), the twelfth stone.

Green is symbolic of new life, resurrection life, fresh green oil (fresh anointing). Three is the number of resurrection life, of divine completeness. Four is the number of the earth and the creation (four corners of the earth), and the number of end times, as the fourth watch is the last watch. Twelve is the number of apostolic order that brings forth maturity (Ephesians 4:12-13).

I believe the jasper is symbolic of an end-time many-membered new creation man (Ephesians 2:15), walking in the maturity and divine completeness of resurrection Life! Jesus Christ was the prototype of this ‘people’, and He came to bring MANY SONS into manifesting His glory!

Can you see the picture?... Jesus Christ appears as the jasper AND the sardius. Even though He embodied the fullness of the Spirit, the divine completeness of resurrection Life (jasper), by His shed Blood He took the fiery wrath of God that was poured out at the Cross (sardius)!

It is in the light of THIS understanding that we then can see the significance of the emerald rainbow; “...and encircling the throne there was a halo that looked like a rainbow of emerald.” (Revelation 4:3 Amplified Bible)

Before we examine the significance of the color of the emerald, we must first look at this rainbow. “Like the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud on the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the Lord.” (Ezekiel 1:26-28 Amplified Bible)

We know that the rainbow speaks of covenant (Genesis 9:13), and according to the passage in Ezekiel we just read, it speaks of the “likeness of the glory of the Lord.”

Likeness and glory speak of the character or nature of Christ. And according to Hebrews 10:16-17, the New Covenant IS the Father imparting the character or nature of Christ INTO US; “This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put My laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them; And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.”

Given this understanding, I believe that the rainbow we read of in Revelation 4:3 speaks of a covenantal people, made in the likeness of the glory of the Lord, with the character and nature of Christ shining forth!

Keep in mind also that this rainbow is “encircling the throne.” Most of us think of a rainbow as an arch or semicircle, however in reality they are a full circle. We usually don't see the full circle because the horizon of the Earth is in the way.

However, from the high vantage point of a mountain top or an airplane, a complete circle of rainbow light can sometimes be seen. I believe that the Father is raising up a covenantal people whose ‘earth’ of the carnal earthen vessel is not ‘in the way’, thus allowing others to see the fullness of Christ.

Jesus often utilized word pictures (parables) to enhance the understanding of what He was teaching, and therefore I love the mental picture the following illustration paints for us.

In order to have a rainbow you need light and rain, and in order to have rain you need a cloud. I believe we can see this ‘cloud’ in the book of Hebrews as it states, “Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses...” (Hebrews 12:1)

I believe it is through this ‘cloud’ that we will see the RAIN of God upon those who are ‘dry and thirsty’ to bring forth a harvest of reproducing Christ in people and establish the REIGN of God on the earth! “...He shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.” (Hosea 6:3)

You see, when the ‘cloud’ (that’s US in Christ!) begins to pour out ‘rain’ in the Light of Christ, the world will see the most glorious ‘rainbow’ they’ve ever seen!

“I do set My bow (rainbow) IN THE CLOUD, and it shall be for a token of a COVENANT between Me and the earth. And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow (rainbow) shall be SEEN IN THE CLOUD.” (Genesis 9:13-14, my input in parenthesis)

Listen my friend, the Father has set His ‘rainbow’, His covenant, IN the ‘cloud’, IN US... and may I declare to you that He is bringing His ‘cloud’ (that’s US in Christ!) to bear upon the ‘earth’ of the carnal earthen vessel... and the ‘rainbow’, His covenant, shall be SEEN IN THE CLOUD!

Isaiah expresses it this way, “Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen UPON THEE... the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be SEEN UPON THEE.” (Isaiah 60:1-2)

Keep in mind that as we look at this prophetic picture of ourselves in the emerald rainbow, we must remember that the emphasis is ultimately on Him and His Throne! “Behold, He cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see Him...” (Revelation 1:7) Yes, it’s ALL about Him and “EVERY EYE shall see Him...”

You see, the light of the rainbow is reflected to the eye at an angle of 42 degrees to the original ray of sunlight. Because the 42 degree angle is measured from each individual observer's eye, no two people see exactly the same rainbow.

Every person is at the center of his or her own particular rainbow. Remember, the Father has set His rainbow IN THE CLOUD... perhaps YOU are the particular ‘rainbow’ that your neighbor or coworker will see Jesus in.

I find it fascinating that the rainbow appears at a 42 degree angle, because the number 42 is very significant in Biblical symbolism. The number 42 is the number of the Christ, the number of His appearing in the ‘cloud’. Let’s look at this further in the book of Matthew.

Matthew 1:1 speaks of “The book of the generation of Jesus Christ...” Normally we think merely of genealogy when we read that verse, however the word translated as generation, ghenesis in Greek, means NATURE.

Obviously, Jesus was not married with natural children, so WHO exactly IS this “generation of Jesus Christ” that carry His NATURE? Well, Hebrews 2:9 & 13 is speaking of Jesus as it says “But we are able to see Jesus... Here am I, (Jesus) I and the children whom God has given Me...” (Amplified Bible- my input in parenthesis)

It is apparent that in the eyes of the Father, Jesus had ‘children’. However, Isaiah 53:8 says of Messiah, “...and who shall declare His generation? For He was cut off out of the land of the living...”; in other words, He won’t have natural children because He dies.

We must then read on to verse 10 of Isaiah 53 as it says, “He SHALL see His SEED, He shall PROLONG His days...” That particular wording, “prolong His days”, is used throughout the book of Deuteronomy to speak of carrying on a genealogy in the land.

So, once again, WHO exactly IS this “generation of Jesus Christ” that carry His NATURE and carry on His genealogy? We can read of this ‘generation’ in Matthew 1:17 when it says “...from the carrying away into Babylon unto CHRIST are fourteen generations...” Get out your calculators (fingers and toes are acceptable also) and let’s count.

Abraham to David are fourteen generations. David to Jechoniah and Babylonian exile are fourteen generations. Here’s where it gets interesting. Start in verse 12 of Matthew chapter 1 and keep in mind that Jechoniah was number fourteen in the last group; Shealtiel is #1, Zerubbabel is #2, Abiud is #3, Eliakim is #4, etc... then Joseph is #12, and Jesus is #13. Yes, you counted correctly. Jesus is #13, and THE CHRIST is #14, the 42nd GENERATION.

Yes, my friend, Jesus is the HEAD, He has preeminence in all things (Colossians 1:18), and we are called the BODY of CHRIST, the 42nd GENERATION. Just as the rainbow appears at a 42 degree angle, the 42nd GENERATION is a covenantal people that carry His NATURE and carry on His genealogy!

Indeed, “He SHALL see His SEED, He shall PROLONG His days!” This 42nd GENERATION is the New Creation Man spoken of in Ephesians 2:15, “...that He from the two might create IN HIMSELF one New Man - one new quality of humanity out of the two.” (Amplified Bible).

How appropriate that this ‘rainbow’, the 42nd GENERATION, we read of in Revelation chapter 4 is a rainbow of EMERALD; “...and encircling the throne there was a halo that looked like a rainbow of emerald.” (Revelation 4:3 Amplified Bible) The emerald is a deep green variety of beryl, a very translucent (see-through) stone, in comparison to the jasper which was an opaque stone. Once again, the color green is symbolic of new life, RESURRECTION LIFE, fresh green oil (fresh anointing).

There is no RED in this ‘rainbow’, it is only manifesting the GREEN of RESURRECTION LIFE! That is because Jesus, by His shed RED Blood, took the RED fiery wrath of God that was poured out at the Cross, in order that the 42nd GENERATION would manifest only the GREEN of RESURRECTION LIFE!

The emerald is a very translucent stone, in other words you can see through it. This covenantal people is a transparent, translucent people... you can see through them to see the Throne of God in the MIDST of them! Remember also that this ‘rainbow’, this 42nd GENERATION is “encircling the throne.” They live from a higher dimension where ‘earth’ of the carnal earthen vessel is not ‘in the way’, thus allowing others to see the fullness of the One who is seated on the Throne.

My friend, it is time to heed the call to ‘come up higher’ than the ‘second heaven view’! It is time to ‘come up higher’ to the third heaven! It is time to enter into another realm through this “door standing open in heaven.” It is time to change our focus from sin and the church in the earth, and focus upon the Throne of God and the Glory of God. It is time we begin “Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done...” (Isaiah 46:10)

“And it shall come to pass, when I bring a CLOUD over the earth, that the BOW shall be SEEN IN THE CLOUD.” (Genesis 9:13-14) Father, we stand in agreement that You are bringing Your CLOUD of witnesses, Your CLOUD of glory, to overshadow the EARTH of the carnal earthen vessel! And we stand in agreement that the RAINBOW, Your RESURRECTION LIFE, be openly SEEN and visible IN THE CLOUD, Your covenantal people!

The End of Days

Todd Gross

> "And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man comes."
> (Matthew 25:10-13)

Date in time: June 27, 2002

I was awakened last night at 1:39 a.m. The time was significant, because one, three and nine are all representations of the Lord God and it confirmed to me that it was Him who woke me up. I was having an open vision of the days to come. I am not one to preach condemnation nor gloom and doom, but this vision was startling in its reality and content.

I saw the end of days and the times we are currently living in.

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away." (II Timothy 3:1-5)

We are seeing the unveiling of these times as corporate America is showing it's true nature in this last past decade, which was in actuality a fulfillment of the scripture above. Scandal after scandal on greed and covetousness is emerging and will only serve to continue to undermine markets. Satan and his minions are and have been plotting and scheming for millenniums for this last great collapse. The undermining of the integrity of the capital markets will cause an utter failure in investor confidence, which in turn, just as at the start of the past century with the technological boom of the industrial age associated with the Automobile and the resulting "roaring twenties" followed by the Great Depression, so shall we see the repeat of this cycle of boom and bust. Internet and technology (which is in actuality not real, but 'intellectual capital') and the boom and resulting bust, are going to lead us into a similar cycle of Recession and Depression. Depression is Satan's realm. We see the signs of the times in Pakistan, India, Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Palestine and Israel. We KNOW these are prophesied and coming to pass.

I saw extreme acts of violence, as the economy slips and slides. Hope will be lost as those who have trusted in riches and the god of this world - mammon and therefore Satan - realize that he has left them at the altar of the world. Their hope is gone and they become violent, excessively so. I was watching individuals in tractor-trailer trucks, berserk, running down others in rage. Police stood by as they could do no thing to assist, nor did they have any unction to stop the violence, knowing that they could not. I saw people crying out the Lord, but He did not answer, as His Presence had left and the door was shut. I saw ministers in the pulpit, paralyzed and deaf, as their denying of His Power and their lifestyles condemned them as the Lord's judgment fell upon them. I saw Satan's attack upon these so-called ministers with a rage and hatred we have only seen Hollywood replicate because he hates them even though they have done his work because some have come to Christ in spite of their lack of integrity, purity and holiness.

Hear O ministers of the Lord! You SHALL be judged with a higher standard!

I saw men and women fainting from fear as Satan unleashed his full attack with a fury not before seen. I wept as they cried out to God, but the ark's door had closed. They knocked, but the door had been tightly sealed. I saw people I knew that would go to Heaven and those who will not. I cried for an hour as my wife and I prayed.

Hear, see and know...these are the days of grace still, but the clock is ticking. Tell someone. Let them know - let judgment begin with the House of the Lord. Repent; be converted that times of refreshing would come in the Presence of the Lord.

Let us in humility plead with others to accept Christ. Let us share, care and love one another, for the enemy is about to roar and devour as never before.

Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ. Be blessed in the Lord Jesus today.

The Eagles Nest

Deborah Gliebe

I saw this morning, in a vision, a large eagle s nest. It reminded me of the large eagles we had seen in Colorado flying up to the high place of their nest. I then heard the voice of God say, Tell my eagles to come back up to the eagles nest.

INTERPRETATION

The Lord revealed to me that He was about to release STRATEGY, DIRECTION and a FRESH VISION to the Eagles of the nations!

The prophetic voices must hear, with clarity, as never before. Just like tectonic plates shifting in the Earth crust, God is about to move the junctions of the Heavenly realms and it will shake in the physical as well as the spiritual. There will be monumental moves in the Heavenlies even as many nations will, over night, be announcing governmental changes.

PRECEDING VISION

In another vision, in April of this year, I saw a bride standing and the hand of God came down, over the bride s head and neck violently shaking, almost snapping, her neck up and down. I heard God say, I am about to shake violently my bride! I am about to reveal and expose inequities and buried woundedness in my bride, including family issues and relationships, to bring healing, deliverance and restored wholeness in preparation for the coming movement of the Glory during this emerging new season of signs, wonders and miracles.

PRAYER WARRIORS ARISE

It is imperative to intercede for national leaders, as well as spiritual eagles and heads of churches, so they will clearly hear what the Spirit is about to instruct.

WORD OF WISDOM

Set aside time and fly back up to the eagles nest to seek the face of God and heard the fresh instructions of the Holy Spirit. Any plans not birthed out of the heart of God, by the breath of His Spirit, will produce little fruit, if any, in this hour. Do not over book or extend yourselves at this time. Beware of distractions, harassments and mini-brush fires that constantly need your time and attention. Eagles do poorly on the ground!

FIREGATE PRAYER OVER THE EAGLES

Lord Jesus, we pray for all the Eagles that receive this email. That the anointing of the Holy Spirit will break forth over each one, now! May the power of God bare witness to you and prompt you to extend your wings, catch the currents of spiritual wind and take flight to the eagles nest. Remember, you will have far greater vision and intimacy in the high places of the Eagles Nest.

Father, return your weary army to a place of restored vigor, vision and instructions out of your heavens gates. Give them discernment of the traps of the enemy, let the blood of Jesus cover them, and their homes and put courage in the eyes of your eagles as they begin to take flight into the high place.

The Eyes Of The Blind Shall See

Joanna Silberman

Taffyfleas2@comcast.net
ISAIAH 35...”then the eyes of the blind shall see....”
October 13, 2004

There is a message for the body of saints that must go out in these troubling times. Many have become complacent in their trusting the Lord, Y’shuah, for their strength during hardships. They are not reading the Word of God and asking the Holy Spirit to enable them to gleam from this Living Waters ...they are not growing in their walks. Many are hiding within the walls of their homes only communicating on phones and computers...missing the most important gift we have besides our Savior...the gift of sharing themselves with others. Fear has encrypted them like within “white washed” tombs of false safety, tricking them into “feeling” hidden and safe from the world.

There are others who, knowing that the Word is watered down and lacking, settle into a church of comfort, rather than seeking His face of truth and fully being fed. Their “pastors” are knowingly not being honest, fearing that honesty will scare their numbers and subsequently their income away! I didn’t know that being called into ministry by the Holy Spirit was a way to make money! I like what Paul had to say in Philippians 4:13...”I know how to be abased and live humbly in straitened circumstances, and I know also how to enjoy plenty and live in abundance. I have learned in any and all circumstances the secret of facing every situation ....14..”I HAVE STRENGTH FOR ALL THINGS IN CHRIST WHO EMPOWERS ME”!

The prophet Isaiah is steadfast to encourage us throughout all times to “be strong and do not fear”! We are told that our God comes in like a vengeance to protect his anointed children. We are forever covered under the shadows of His wings....and therefore nothing of the enemy can come close to our homes, hearts and families! Just think of this for a moment...the creator of the universe has promised to always and forever take care of us in all situations. We are told in Scriptures that to doubt the Word of God is to sin...like saying HE is not capable of carrying out HIS Word in our life. James said...1:6-7...”Only it must be in faith that he asks with no wavering (no hesitation, no doubting)...For truly, let not such a person imagine that he will receive anything (he asks for) from the Lord.” It is through FAITH that we have the spiritual power to call things into the natural. And then in Hebrews 11:1...”Now FAITH is the substance (assurance, confirmation the title deed) of the things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen”! To overcome fear we must have faith in the ONE who is able. It is through faith that we will no longer be blinded, we will once again run with life overflowing, our tongues will loosen to preach the Living Word with boldness, and the Living Water will forever quench our thirst to get closer to our Savior and Lord! But only if we decide to shed the cloak of fear and have faith in the One, True Living God, Y’shuah Hamashiah...Jesus the Christ!

The thread of not fearing but trusting is commonplace throughout Isaiah’s writings. In chapter 54:14...”you shall be far from oppression, for you shall not fear; And from terror, for it shall not come near you.” But in verse 17 we are promised something so grand that it will take your breath away in wonderment! “ NO weapon formed against you shall prosper, and EVERY tongue which rises against you in judgment you shall condemn. For this is the heritage of the Lord, and their righteousness is from ME!” If we have faith and trust the Lord ,then the apostle John’s words, inspired through the anointing of the Holy Spirit rings with truth.....1John 4:4...”HE who is in you is greater than he who in the world”!

Today we take up the mantel of faith and trust in the One who will always be there with open arms. Have faith and run into these arms when life takes a turn and you are challenged! Let His blood wash away fear and allow the peace that goes beyond all human understanding to prevail in you life. Ask the Holy Spirit to live in your heart and lead you into the righteousness of Christ the Messiah! You are born-again and the old man has died…and you are now a new creation enabled to live in the shadow of the Living God!!

In His Love,
Joanna Silberman

The End of The Protestant Reformation

Ron McGatlin

The end of the protestant reformation is in sight. We owe much to the courageous men and women who have given their lives to the furtherance of the "great reformation". Now a new revolution is replacing the old protestant revolution that began midway of the second millennium AD and continues into this first century of the third millennium.

During the later centuries of the protestant reformation the church has been receiving layer after layer of restoration of the power and reality of God. The magnificent manifestations of the power of God in the first century church and in the Celtic church in the centuries before the reformation were lost and did not returned to the church in the early centuries of reformation.

The new revolution now coming forth is not a return to the pre reformation religion and not even a return to the first century church but does have some restored characteristics of the early church. Some of the supernatural miracles and spiritual manifestations of the first century church as well as the Celtic church of the pre reformation period are being restored. The mostly lukewarm powerless church that developed after the protestant reformation has in the past century received significant restoration of the gifts of God in portions of the church.

In the historical periods of supernatural miracles and spiritual power there was a common ingredient present that was not present in the lukewarm church. In a word it is intensity. In the new revolution, spiritual intensity is returning to people of God across the world.

The wooing of the intense passionate love of God is compelling the people of God. The manifest presence of God is a consuming fire destroying all of the other gods that the lukewarm church mingled into their lives. There is becoming a ONE GOD revolution. A move that places God far above all else in life; even life itself cannot compete with the awesome fire of the love and redemptive judgment of God.

Lukewarm has become as deplorable to many of His people as it is to Jesus. Worship, praise and prayer are all intensifying as the reality of the passionate love of God presence is destroying lukewarm living.

More Christians are being killed and severely persecuted than ever before. Serving God in many places across the world has become a very serious endeavor that requires a total commitment. The darkness is greatly intensifying and the light of God is shining more brightly than ever. Lukewarm has no place in intense times.

There is a revolution of intensely loving God with all our strength and mind and loving others with intensity that produces action. This revolution is changing the church and touching the world. The light of the manifest presence of the glory of God is coming upon a people who have nothing left to live for but His desires. This intense passion is the ingredient that was missing and holding back the supernatural miracles and spiritual power. The new church will look much different as this revolution of intimate passionate love produces pure hearted, holy men and women of God that will live in the world as the Body of Christ in reality.

There is an uprising among the young people of God and another uprising among the young people of darkness. The light will overcome the darkness as the people of God do not love their lives to the death and living a pure powerful testimony of the Christ in them - the Body of Christ in the world. Now is the time to ARISE!.

Arise, shine; For your light has come! And the glory of the LORD is risen upon you.

For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, And deep darkness the people; But the LORD will arise over you, And His glory will be seen upon you.

The Gentiles shall come to your light, And kings to the brightness of your rising.

"Lift up your eyes all around, and see: They all gather together, they come to you; Your sons shall come from afar, And your daughters shall be nursed at your side.

Then you shall see and become radiant, And your heart shall swell with joy; Because the abundance of the sea shall be turned to you, The wealth of the Gentiles shall come to you. Isa 60:1-5:

Arise in His Love,

Father's Love Changing World
Ron McGatlin

What could not be done by the strength of man using force or intellectual and philosophical persuasion is being done by a most powerful force through a most unsuspected avenue. What couldn't be done through religious rules, and hierarchical organizations - through fascism, communism, intellectualism nor any other ideology, philosophy or religious order is being done by the power of passionate love. The manifest presence of Father God is bathing worshipers in overwhelming life changing love.

Some groups call it soaking in the presence of God but name is not the important thing. The truly important thing is that the Holy Spirit brings forth the manifest presence in a group of people. Some of us older folks have experienced awesome times of what we called prayer and meditation alone in our special place and that was great. But the awesome presence that can come forth in a corporate group who, in unity, ask the Holy Spirit to come is greater than our closet experiences.

Generally even unexperienced groups are overcome as the manifest presence of God shows up. The thing of having to say or do something is not much of a part of what goes on and may even distract from what is God is doing. On the floor or reclining in a chair just being completely attentive to the inner workings of God and communing with Him is awesome. God speaks to many in powerful prophetic visions that becoming life altering.

Experiencing the awesome love of Father filling our heart and submerging our soul is almost more than we feel our mind and body can tolerate. Brokenness and complete repentance over anything in our life that does not give Him joy is unavoidable. Hearts are changed, painful emotional wounds healed - bodies healed and love flows through us like never before.

Real holiness develops as pure hearts are formed through soaking in Father's love over time. Love flowing through a pure heart leads to changed lives. Lives of serving through love in every area of life will change the world.

The "Passion of Christ" movie is touching the world with the powerful reality of the love of God. The love of a Father who spared not His only Son but allowed the crucifixion to redeem the world is restoring an intimate love relationship with His people. The passion of God's love is manifesting upon the earth in the hearts and lives of those who are coming to Him with their whole heart.

This is not a time to debate doctrine nor to defend our traditions. This current move of God is not worthy of our wasting it with other matters. The urgency of the times and the presence of God call for us to lay down our lives that He may live and reign in and through our mortal bodies. The manifest love of God is changing our world.

The Undercurrent Move of God
Ron McGatlin

Just as there are rivers of current in the natural oceans there are undercurrents of spiritual movement in the vast ocean of churches and ministries. The surface of the ocean is the highly visible part of the churches and ministries. The surface rarely experiences times of placid waters and is most often covered with gentle waves of activities as the breeze interacts with the surface.

Occasionally the surface is greatly excited as strong winds create much dynamic activity. But even during the strongest winds there is an unbelievable calm below the surface. In the depths it is as if there was no turbulence. The turbulent scene of the visible surface is unheard in the depths.

Beneath the surface of praise and worship music in gatherings - below the dynamic ministry activities there is an awesome place of peace in God. In that place of peace the mighty works of God are effortless to us. It seems we are not in the reality of the things happening in the natural realm. We have truly come apart into a realm of peace beyond all understanding, as we observe ourselves move and speak effortlessly in the power and control of another. Miracles seem very natural to those who enter into the depth of the supernatural.

In this placid depth, movement does not readily appear to exist. But in reality there are powerful streams of current that are steadily moving without the noise and turbulence of the surface. In the natural world the climate and all areas of life that are affected by climate are changed by the movement of ocean currents.

So it is also in the spiritual. The unseen deep currents of God are flowing and bringing great change that is affecting the land and will bring significant change to all life. The world will not continue as it has been but must be reformed by the massive deep currents of God moving upon the earth.

Much of the surface may seem to some to be foolish or unnecessary frivolous activity as the Spirit wind blows upon the youth of the land. What may seem like silly manifestations are only the surface of the deep currents of God moving the world from a place of men's rule to the reality of the kingdom of God on earth.

The deep currents of God are moving us from religion based on the tree of knowledge to the tree of supernatural life by the Spirit - holy life in union with others and communion with God.

The world is being redeemed and through much tribulation we must enter the kingdom of God. The deeper currents are not always flowing through big name ministers. Often they are flowing deeper under the surface through relatively unknown men, women and young people who have given their all to carry the deeper current of the love of God to the nations of the world.

They go into the poor places of the world often to thrown away people - they pray weeping for sick children - they give and do all they can pouring out the love God has poured into them. In their passion God works miracles to feed the hungry - heal the sick and bring encouragement to the downtrodden.

Wherever these no name undercurrent people go the love of God brings healing into the hearts of people and the poor become rich with peace and joy. The hopeless become filled with the purpose of God and become powerful witnesses of the miracle working love and power of God that raises the dead.

These humble ministers don't need a title nor position. They are just ordinary folk who through much tribulation and brokenness have entered into the deep currents of God. Consumed by His love they become fountains of the liquid fire of God's love pouring out to the nations.

Look for the love - pursue love - it never fails.

Lots of love,
Ron McGatlin

The Earth Was Having A Sonogram
Jana Alcorn

Leader, Creation groans, awaiting the manifestation of His manifest Presence in your life.

The impact of this month, November and December will be felt throughout eternity! Prioritize your life to maximize the Glory of God! He is faithful and He never changes. This is the season to align and to adjust for the harvest of the earth is ripe!

Even tho I usually do not share on this level, I feel that I must relate a dream I had this week.

This morning (Monday morning, October 11, 2004) I dreamed of a pregnancy. But it was a very strange and unusual pregnancy. This dream disturbed me because what was being birthed was so huge that it was disturbing to my natural mind.

This pregnancy was so extremely huge. In my dream, I tossed and turned disturbedly as I tried to figure out what this was and what it meant. It was huge; too big for a human to birth. It was like a human pregnancy, yet so very big. Seemingly too huge to be a human pregnancy. So in my dream, and even in the natural, I kept tossing and turning, being troubled and praying over and over. I was in earnest prayer as to what kind of pregnancy this could possibly be.

It was so gigantic, so mega, that it seemed that a human could not contain and give birth to something so large. As I continued to toss and turn, to pray, and to be troubled, I looked and saw the most remarkable sight and then I understood.

THE EARTH WAS HAVING A SONOGRAM!!!!! The whole earth was pregnant!!!

I woke up praying and God had Romans 8:22,23 in my mind and in my mouth.

Romans 8

22We know that the whole creation has been groaning as in the pains of childbirth right up to the present time. 23Not only so, but we ourselves, who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, groan inwardly as we wait eagerly for our adoption as sons, the redemption of our bodies.

Leader, I believe that the interpretation of this dream strongly suggests that this is the definite season for the "birthing" of all the prophetic words of God for our generation in the whole earth.

Let's take a look at the three groans of Romans chapter eight.

1. Creation Groans

All around us we observe a pregnant creation. The difficult times of pain throughout the world are simply birth pangs. But it's not only around us; it's within us. The Spirit of God is arousing us within. We're also feeling the birth pangs. Romans 8:22 The Message Bible

For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now. Romans 8:22 KJV

2. The Spirit Groans

So too the [Holy] Spirit comes to our aid and bears us up in our weakness; for we do not know what prayer to offer nor how to offer it worthily as we ought, but the Spirit Himself goes to meet our supplication and pleads in our behalf with unspeakable yearnings and groanings too deep for utterance. Romans 8:26 AMP

3. We Groan

And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body. Romans 8:23 KJV

The Earth Was Reaped

Revelation 14:14-16

Lord, I heard You say
That the night would pass away
When Your Spirit
Moved upon our heart and soul.
Lord, I heard You say
Men would rise up from their graves
When by Your Spirit
Broken bones were made whole.

Lord, lead us far from all condemnation
Help us walk united to the call
Let there arise a bold proclamation
As saints declare they live for You alone.
Help us see Your hand, God of creation
As You gather Your children, one and all
Within the secret chambers of Your salvation
As they sing of Your love that touched their soul.

Lord, I heard You say
We are gathered through grace
With faith yielding fruit
Unto the Kingdom of the Lord.
Lord, I heard You say
That You know each child by name
And the eyes of the King
Watch over the righteous, forevermore.

Lord, thank You for Your mercy unending
And that Your purpose for men is built on love
Thank you for Your Spirit who keeps extending
The message that faith conquers all.
Lord, thank you for shelter from the storms
Where peace is found resting in Your arms
For each and every day, as You clearly proclaim
You are the Lord who reigns supreme forevermore.

> "And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a gold crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle. And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle, and reap: for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe. And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped."
> Revelation 14:14-16

> "The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field: but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way. But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also. So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in > thy field? From whence then hath it tares? He said unto them, an enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? But he said, nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn." Matthew 13:24-30

> "He [Jesus] answered and said unto them, because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given." Matthew 13:11

"It is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven." While Jesus Christ walked the earth, He spoke in parables of the great mysteries that would be revealed to a man who partook of God's heavenly Spirit. Jesus Christ spoke of the mysteries of the kingdom of God, which those who had partaken of God's Spirit would one day be able to comprehend. He knew that when a man's heart and mind had been redeemed from earthly focus, by the Spirit, that he would be able to ascend beyond the realm of unbelief, where fear, doubt and accusation spoke against the perfect goodness, love, and longsuffering of the Lord. So in parables, Jesus Christ spoke to men about the relationship that would be established between man and God, through the Holy Spirit, which will reveal the mysteries of God's eternal kingdom.

Man, who partakes of God's Spirit of holiness, will be taken from glory to glory, wonder to wonder, joy to joy, as the Spirit reveals to his heart and mind God's purpose for the man, which is found within God's kingdom of righteousness. And the parables, which Jesus used to illustrate man's position within the kingdom of God, will be used, through the teaching of the Holy Spirit, to help man understand how God has personally been interacting with the man. As the mysteries of God's kingdom purposes are revealed, so that a man's heart and mind is able to grasp the depths of God's great love toward him, his soul will rise up rejoicing, eternally thankful for the day when he first believed in the Son of God, Jesus Christ.

In God's kingdom of righteousness, the glory of heaven, God's Spirit, releases truths into the man's life, so that the man is able to live at peace with God and his fellow man. As the Spirit of truth speaks to the man's heart and mind of God's great love toward the man, he will realize that in Jesus Christ is a safe habitation, where he will find rest for his soul. When the man stands upon the rock, who is Jesus Christ, and finds strength is in trusting in the goodness of God, the lies of the evil one will be stripped of its power to deceive.

To be led of the Spirit is to walk in God's kingdom without end, knowing of the mercy, longsuffering, and love of God. To walk in God's kingdom, which has come down from heaven through the Holy Spirit, will reveal to a man's heart and mind that many of the parables Jesus spoke were to help man understand that only in God would they find safety from thoughts and desires that cause man to live contrary to God's good purpose for man. To walk led of the Spirit is to be led by God, into a position where man is able to trust in God's love and appreciate God's desire to prosper the soul of the man.

As a man is led of the Spirit, according to the purposes of God, the scripture stating, "He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defense; I shall not be moved. In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Psalm 62:6-7), will clearly reveal to the heart and mind of the man, that safety is found only in trusting in the Lord most High.

Only in God will man find a pure and perfect love, which is able to bring hope and purpose into his life. Only in God is found a love so perfect that it will transform a man's heart and mind, so that darkness, where the evil one holds reign, loses all power over the man's life. To come to the understanding that, to trust in God is to find refuge from the lies and deceit that deny or distort God's purposes toward the man, will build up a man's spiritual strength, so that he is able to turn away from the voices that would distract him from following after God.

When a man comes to the realization that God is his safe refuge from the voices of doubt and accusation, he will clearly begin to understand that to look to other gods, or idols, for purpose, will leave him standing outside of God's protection, exposed to the terror that exists within the night. When a man has found that in God is shelter from thoughts of condemnation, accusation, unforgiveness, and anger, he will realize the destructive behavior of turning toward idols, and other gods. He will begin to understand that trusting in idols or other gods can be compared to a man who leaves a solid and secure path, so that he can take a chance in walking over a deep pit of quicksand. But he will find that, with nothing to hold onto, he may become afraid, struggle and drown.

God's heavenly Spirit, when established upon the throne of a man's heart and mind, will speak God's words of truth, so that the man is set free from the lies and deceit that deny the goodness of God. To be set free, from doubting God's love and good purpose toward the man, will help the man mature in his relationship with God. A mature child of God will understand that to run to Jesus is to turn away from all thoughts and accusations that deny God's love and concern for him. A mature child of God will know that God cares for him, and that His desire toward him is for good and not for evil.

A man who has matured in his relationship with God, so that he realizes that God has been his refuge from the destructive voices that cry out of the night, will find that he can personally relate to the words: "For thou hast been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy." (Psalm 61:3). The man, who has matured in his relationship with God, will understand that God has been more than a teacher and guide, but that His great love toward him has been the shelter that provided safety from the assault of the voices that would try to rob him of his position in Christ.

Men, who have matured in their relationship with God, can be compared to a ripe field of wheat, which has been harvested and placed within the Masters secure storehouse. Because the good seed, which is the Word that was bound upon their hearts, had brought forth fruit worthy of the Master, the Master called for the harvester's sickle to reap the wheat, so that the crop could be gathered together and taken into the storehouse, where it will be used for the Masters good purposes. In the storehouse, the wheat is safe from the ravaging birds that seek to steal the good fruit. In the storehouse, the Master faithfully watches over His harvest.

There is a time when the good seed is sown within a man's life, and there is a time when the Master declares it is time to reap that which has been sown. Not to destroy the man, but so that the man can further mature in the ways of God. The Word is the good seed, which is planted within a man's life, able to bear fruit worthy of the Kingdom. Without the man's knowledge, the seed has grown up within his life, so that the Word brings comfort, the knowledge of God's love gives hope. And as the fruit grows up, a day may arrive when the Lord will look upon the man's heart and declare that it is time for harvest. So God puts in the sickle, so that the man is cut off from all earthly dependence.

The sickle is put in so that the man's reliance upon earthly situations to bring hope is severed. But at the same time that God puts in the sickle, severing man's dependence upon earthly situations to find hope, the man is taken into the Master's storehouse, (storehouse – inner room, secret chambers, closets) where his heart and mind will experience, in great measure, the power of the living God. As a man resides within the Master's storehouse, God's words, which once brought comfort to the man, will become a reality of existence that creates a firm foundation under the man's feet, so that he is able to walk led of the Spirit and not the flesh.

Others will reap the benefit of the man's stay in the storehouse, so that God is given all the praise and glory. The man who is brought into the Master's storehouse, held within God's secret chambers, where His love is revealed to the man in great measure, will find that the inner chambers of his heart is now more conformed to the perfect will of the Father. This man has been made ready to be used of the Master to help others grow and mature in the ways of God. The sickle is used of God to severe the man's dependence upon the earth to obtain salvation, so that he is led of the Spirit, with the knowledge that God alone is his place of refuge, his rock that lifts them high above the floods of sorrow, depression, violence and destruction.

> "He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man; the field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one; the enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels." Matthew 13:37-39

> "In that he saith, a new covenant, he hath made the first old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old is ready to vanish away." Hebrews 8:13

When Jesus explained the parable of the sower to His listeners, He was preparing them for that which was soon to come. The day had arrived when relationship with the Father, which was revealed to man through the old covenant, was to "vanish away," so that man's relationship with the Father would be dependent solely upon faith in God's Son, Jesus Christ. The world, which had been under the government established according to the old covenant, was to "vanish away" as the government of God was placed upon the shoulders of Jesus Christ.

Through the mouths of many prophets, God had prophesied that the old was to give way to the new. But men could not fully comprehend God's message until the day when the heavens were rent, and God's heavenly Spirit was poured out upon the earth. Even as Jesus explained the parable of the "sower" to his listeners, they would not fully comprehend His message, until the day when the Holy Spirit was released from the throneroom in heaven. It was as men partook of God's heavenly nature, that the words Jesus spoke would no longer be a mystery to them, but a revelation of God's purpose for mankind.

The day of man's redemption had arrived. Jesus Christ, the promised Messiah, the Son of God, was to lead captivity captive to the goodness of God. God had looked down from His throneroom in heaven, upon the earth of His creation, and declared the day and hour had arrived, the earth was ripe for harvest. God called forth His Son of righteousness to wield the sickle and reap the earth. Jesus Christ alone is worthy to redeem man from the world governed by God, according to the old covenant, so that man lives holy in God's sight according to the purposes of new covenant relationship experienced through the Holy Spirit.

It was the sickle of God's righteousness held in the hands of Jesus Christ, around 2,000 years ago, that was used to first redeem man from the world governed by God, according to the old covenant. And it is the sickle of God's righteousness held in the hands of Jesus Christ today, who redeems man from the earth. It is through faith in Jesus Christ that man is established upon better promises, where relationship with God is experienced through the Holy Spirit. It is walking filled with the Holy Spirit, so that man personally experiences the power of God's everlasting kingdom of righteousness, that will severe a man's dependency of looking to the earth, vain idols, or rituals established according to the old covenant.

> "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation." 2 Corinthians 5:17-19

When the day appointed of God had arrived for the earth to be reaped, those who loved His holy name would be gathered together as wheat, and taken into God's storehouse, through the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit would severe any dependency they had of looking to the earth for purpose or truth. All focus would now be upon God, through the leading of the Spirit. The Holy Spirit would severe any doubts or fears that God would cast them far from His presence, because He no longer dwelt only on high, in the temple set in heaven, but upon their hearts and minds. And because He had established

His everlasting kingdom, the heavenly nature, God’s glorious Spirit, within their lives, they could declare to others that their “body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God” (1 Cor. 6:19).

The Spirit of God drew these men and women close to the Father’s heart, so that they were perfectly trained in the ways of God. What they had experienced, while held in the secret chambers of the Lord’s presence, would be used of God, to lead others into the Father’s everlasting kingdom. These men and women could declare that God had made all things new. Their new relationship with God, through the Holy Spirit, would change the way they perceived the world, and the way they interacted with their fellow man. Their new relationship with God would forever keep them on the paths of righteousness, where their feet never would depart from the secure path, led of the Spirit.

These precious saints of the Lord, who had been redeemed of earthly focus and dependency, would speak the words the Lord had given them, so that others would turn toward the Lord, and sincerely call upon His holy name. Though a great harvest was reaped when the blood of Jesus purged the heavens, so that the glory of God was poured out in great measure upon the earth, there are still a great many men standing in the valley of decision. There are multitudes of people, waiting for the laborers to go forth who speak of the power and authority of God.

God’s laborers, who have resided in the inner chambers as God held them close to His heart, need to go forth and speak God’s words of life, so that men are released from faltering between two decisions. Today, there are many who need to hear from those whose lives are living testimonies, which demonstrate the power of God’s love, so that others will sincerely proclaim, “What must I do to be saved?” Today, there are many who need the presence of God’s power in their lives, so that the Spirit can severe all unbelief, all that would hold them in bondage to earthly lusts and to dependency on things that do not reflect the glory and purposes of God. Today the harvest is ripe, may the laborers go forth.

> “The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest.” Matthew 9:37-38

The Fields Are White With Harvest -- Now!

Patricia King

Aug 5, 2004
"Do not say, 'There are yet four months, and then comes the harvest?' Behold I say to you, lift up your eyes and look on the fields for they are white with harvest." John 4:35

I saw a vision of fields and fields of all different kinds of crops -- wheat, barley, alfalfa, beets, carrots and corn. Every field was ready to be harvested. The Lord is saying, "LIFT UP YOUR EYES AND LOOK." As you go about your day, look for those that are needing encouragement. Look for opportunities to share Christ's love. Look for the Holy Spirit's leading. If you will look, you will see the harvest and you will see that it is ripe. Divine appointments are awaiting you each day. The Spirit of the Lord God is upon you BECAUSE you have been anointed to preach the gospel to the poor and the afflicted.

New releases of creativity

The Lord is going to be birthing new creative ways to reach the lost. When these ideas are acted upon they will produce fruit. An enormous release of laborers into the harvest fields is about to be launched. Many of these laborers will go in non-conventional and non-traditional ways. The workplaces, marketplaces, educational institutes and medical facilities will be visited by believers who are led and empowered by the Holy Spirit.

Miracles will become common

Believers will be praying for the lost to be healed, delivered and set free as a normal part of their day. The Lord will honor their faith and miracles will take place. Many healings will manifest instantaneously amongst the unsaved, then they will be led to Christ as a result. Healing miracles in particular are on the increase. Many of God's children will be in awe of what He will do through them. Significant miracles will take place in very natural settings and many of them won't even seem to be that spectacular -- they will just feel "normal".

Increased presence of the Lord's Harvesters in Psychic Fairs

There will be an increased presence of gospel workers who set up booths that minister the "true prophetic" in the midst of the false. Christians will be interpreting dreams and speaking to the unsaved about their destiny potential in these fairs. Christians will be also sponsoring "spiritual healing" booths as they reach out to minister to the afflicted under the unction of the Holy Spirit.

Although there will be an increase of Christians at these fairs there will also be an increased resistance from the demonic realm. The organizers of such fairs will attempt to shut down the opportunities for the Christians. We will need to be as wise as serpents and as harmless as doves.

Musicians and artists will be powerfully used in the harvest

Musicians, artists, poets, dancers, performing artists and writers are going to be powerfully used in this season. They will be able to get into places where others cannot. The Lord is going to lead them into some dark places (immoral, idolatrous, violent) to manifest His presence. They will receive favor and many of them will be raised up in the public eye in order to be a voice for the Lord.

Miracles in the inner city

The Lord is calling many to the inner city. He will show His power through those who will go to pray for the afflicted and the downtrodden. Many drug addicts and prostitutes will be coming to the Lord. Inner city ministry is going to take on a new face and the Lord will raise up models for this. A new weight of apostolic anointing will visit inner city ministries. Miracles of deliverance and healing will be commonplace.

Increased anointing on media

The Lord is building a new wine-skin for Christian Television. Many believers will be called to produce programs for television, web, and radio. These programs will be used to capture the attention of the lost and to draw their souls to truth. God is raising up a media army who will confront those things that violate Kingdom values. His values will be established. A whole new look is coming to Christian television. Media will become one of the most powerful tools for the harvest.

The Fall Feast of the Lord
Edith Farmer

Sep 16, 2004
A Personal word by Edith Farmer:

It is a great pleasure for me to share about the Feast of the Lord ... which I have been observing for about 10 years. It all began as I earnestly craved to know the heart of God more intimately and intricately with a fiery and extravagant passion to walk more fully in all His ways. Holy Spirit began unveiling and teaching me some hidden secrets found within HIS festivals! Leading me through awesome divine adventures, through revelation of scriptures, prophetic words, visions and dreams to discover that God has a divine calendar with appointed days, weeks, months, years and seasons for me personally as the Bride of Messiah, for Israel, the church and the nations. In the honoring God's word to observe His appointed days, I have enjoyed the divine pleasure of walking and living in divine partnership with my Eternal Bride-Groom Lover in a richer, deeper and fuller daily covenant relationship! Doing what He's doing, walking where He's walking, going where He's going!! He is sovereignly ordering my life, my times, my every step, every circumstance in my life in every season according to His calendar. It has been an amazing and incredible divine dance to flow with My Beloved!!!

You can read in Scripture where God commanded His people to observe the festivals and how Yahshua kept all of the festivals while He walked on earth. Father, Son, Holy Spirit, all of heaven, the angels, and the saints gone on are all keeping all of the festivals now heaven. There are great celebrations going on around the throne!! If I'm in divine partnership with God and I'm the Bride of Yahshua and one with them and they are keeping them, then I will join with them in every way on all appointed days and in every season to bring His kingdom on earth as it is heaven!! And if I'm not in partnership with what they're doing, then I am simply out of step, out of sync to some degree with His appointed days and seasons. When I realized that and began to flow with God's divine river of timing, I began to walk more accurately in tune with the heartbeat of God — Discerning more clearly the signs of the times and the approaching King of Glory!!!

There has been such awesome revelation to me personally that has changed the course of my life in such powerful and wonderful ways that I can't help but encourage you to join in this divine partnership with Abba and all of heaven and participate with God's appointed days!! It is true freedom!!!! I am not doing this to be religious at all; I can't stand any form of religion because it is an enemy of relationship!!! To me this is true covenant relationship and partnership !! It's extreme pleasure and a pure delight! This is a new level of fulfilling God's word to worship Him in Spirit and Truth!! The more I intimately I hear and obey, the more I know Him and the deeper and more extravagantly I can abandon myself to worship with all that is within me ... from eternal realms to eternal realms!! From glory to glory!!

WORTHY, WORTHY, WORTHY IS THE LAME UPON THE THRONE TO RECEIVE ALL GLORY, HONOR, POWER, DOMINION, AND PRAISE FOREVER AND EVER!!

Following are some highlights of the Feasts, but I encourage you to get a book on the feasts which will give you more depth of understanding. It is so rich you will want to know more than I can possibly give you here.

I recommend The Seven Festivals of The Messiah by Edward Chumney.

HIS FEAST/ FESTIVALS
In Hebrew, the word for feast is mo'ed, which means "an appointment, a fixed time or season, a cycle or year, an assembly, an appointed time, a set time or an exact time!

The feasts are found in Leviticus 23. They were given to us by God to help us learn and understand God's plan of redemption for the world and the coming of the Messiah! Leviticus 23:2 says, "The feasts of the Lord, which you shall proclaim to be holy convocations, these are my feasts." Convocation in Hebrew is " a rehearsal." The feasts are to be yearly rehearsals, to be kept for perpetual generations, to be for all generations!!!

The Apostle Paul wrote in Colossians 2:17 that the feasts are a shadow of things to come to teach us about the Messiah, who is the fulfillment of the greater plan that God revealed and foreshadowed in the seven festivals. God gives the natural to explain the spiritual. In Deut. 16:16, God instructed the people to come to Jerusalem three times a year to observe the feasts — for Passover, Shavuot, and Sukkot.

The first four feasts teach about the significant events in the first coming of Messiah: 1. Passover/Pesach, 2. Unleavened Bread, 3. First Fruits and 4. Pentecost/Shavuot.

The last three feasts give insight about the events concerning the second coming of Messiah: 1. Feast of Trumphants/Yom Teruah (or called Rosh HaShanah -- this year is Sept.16 & 17 and begins at sundown on the 15th), 2. Day of Atonement/Yom Kippur (this year is Sept 25th and begins on the 24th at sundown), 3. Feast of Tabernacles/Sukkot (this year is Sept.30 thru Oct. 5th and begins on the 29th at sundown). Then Shmini Atzeret on the 7th and Simchat Torah on the 8th.

Note: On the Hebrew calendar, the day begins at sundown and ends on sundown the next day. Sundown to sundown. Also, the Feast days start the day before at sundown on the calendar date.

The fall festival season begins with a 40 day period called Teshuvah, which means " to repent or to return." It begins on the sixth Hebrew calender of Elul, which began on August 17th at sundown. The shofar is blown to warn the people to repent and return to God every day except on Sabbath and the day before Rosh HaShana. The 40 days conclude on the tenth day of the seventh month, Tishrei, which is Yom Kippur, the day of Atonement. The ten days from Rosh HaShana are called the High Holy Days and the Days of Awe!! Five days after Yom Kippur is Sukkot/Feast of Tabernacles.

Following are some names for Rosh HaShana, Yom Kippur, and Sukkot. Each will indicate a specific meaning and purpose of that day yet to be fulfilled and shows the importance of knowing its meanings and compels us to be the children of the day, not of the night. This means we should be awake, alert, tuned in, watching and praying, enlightened to God's timing, purposes and plans and partnering with Him in these days!!

Yom Teruah / Feast of Trumpets / Rosh HaShana — Names and meanings:

Teshuvah = repentance

Rosh HaShana = the beginning of the New Year, Head of the Year, begins the Hebrew civil new year, birthday of the world. "Shana Tovah" means Happy New Year!

Yom Teruah = the day of the "awakening blast," to awake the day of sounding the shofar blast. The shofar is blown as a wake up call to repent and turn.

Psalm 98:6, 89:15,
Zechariah 9:9
Zephaniah 3:14,
Jeremiah31:7
Isaiah 58:1
Joel 2:1

Ephesians5:14 commands us to "Awake sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will give light on you!"

1 Thessalonians 4:16 teaches us about the resurrection of the dead. When Yahshua blows the trumphant, it will be on Rosh HaShana. The Word says we don't know the day or the hour, since our calendar may be off and we don't know the exact day of Rosh HaShana or when He'll blow the trumphant. We will at least know the right season; the Feast of Trumphets is a type and shadow of that DAY!! In keeping this feast, we know that we will be alert, repenting, watching and praying!

Yom HaDin = the day of Judgement

HaMelech = the Coronation of the Messiah

Yom HaZikkaron = the Day of Remembrance or memorial; God remembers us and we remember God

The time of Jacob's trouble/ the birthpangs of the Messiah

Note: With all the hurricanes, is the earth in travail with the breaking of the waters? The last time we had to evacuate with Hurriane Floyd was during the ten days of Awe. It was a sign in the earth, foreshadowing what will happen before Yahshua returns. It was a type of the birthpangs of Messiah, to warn and give a wake-up call to repent.

The opening of the Gates = When the Lord first taught me about the Feast of Trumpets, He gave me a vision (before I knew it was Rosh Hashana) of this massive gate in the heavens over me that was opened and I saw multitudes of people going through this gate. I found out the next day that is was Rosh Hashana.

Psalm 26:2 tells us, "Open the gates that the righteous nation may enter, the nation that keeps faith."

Kiddushin/the wedding ceremony = The wedding of the Messiah to His Bride!! The Bride and Groom are Betrothed to each other!

The resurrection of the dead =1 Corinthians 15:52 says that the resurrection of the dead will be at the last trump.

The last trump = resurrection of the dead

Yom Hakeseh/the hidden day = means to hide, conceal, cover, on Rosh HaShana, two days are celebrated because it is not known which day is the right day, is a type and shadow of the Day of Yahshua's return (which no one knows but the Father)

Yom Kippur / Day of Atonement — Names and Meanings:

Leviticus 16:30-31 & Leviticus 23:27-28, 31-32

"For it is on this day that atonement shall be made for you to cleanse you: and you shall be clean from all your sins before the Lord. It is to be a sabbath of solemn rest for you, that you may humble your souls, it is a permanent statute."

"On exactly the tenth day of this seventh month is the day of atonement, for it is a day of atonement, to make atonement on your behalf before the Lord you God, You shall do no work at all. It is to be a perpetual statue throughout your generations in all your dwelling places. It is to be a sabbath of complete rest to you, and you shall humble your souls; on the ninth of the month at eveningm from evening until eventing you shall keep your sabbath."

Yom Kippur / The Day of Atonement = means the day of covering, canceling, pardon, reconciling; type and shadow of when YahShua the Great High Priest made atonement for us by sprinkling His blood on the mercy seat – not only covering our sin, but taking our sin away!!

The blood is a token of the New Covenant; it gives eternal life, brings redemption, makes atonement, justifies us before God, give us forgiveness, provides reconciliation, provides cleansing, and makes us overcomers.

Leviticus16:30-31 / Leviticus 23:27-28, 31-32

Face to Face = Before I knew anything about Yom Kippur, the Lord woke me up early one morning from a deep sleep and gave me a vision of Yahshua and I face to face and mouth to mouth. I knew He was saying something specific through the dream for that day. Later that day, I found out it was Yom Kippur and one of the terms for Yom Kipper is face to face. The Day of Atonement was the only day of the year when the High Priest went behind the veil into the Holy of Holies to make atonement for the peoples sin and was face to face with the mercy seat of God.

He then gave me this scripture in Malachi2:7: "For the lips of a priest ought to preserve knowledge, and from HIS MOUTH, men should seek instruction because he is the messenger of the Lord Almighty."

The Day / or The Great Day = It's the last day of the 10 days of repentance and the most solemn day of the Jewish calendar.

The Fast = The day is spent fasting and praying. (See Leviticus16:29 and 23:27.)

The Great Shofar = There are three trumpets blown with great significant meaning: The first trump is blown on Shavuot. The Last Trump is blown on Rosh HaShana. The Great Trump is blown on Yom Kippur. (See Isaiah 27:13 and Matthew 24:31.)

When the Great trump sounds on Yom Kippur, it is also the day that points to when Yahshua will come back to earth and set His foot on the Mount of Olives. (See Zechariah 14:4)

God divinely placed Yom Kippur, which is called "The season of our Joy," before the Feast of Tabernacles/Sukkot. The children of Israel and all believers in Messiah could only rejoice once they were redeemed and their sins forgiven.

SUKKOT: THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES

Leviticus 23:34 - "On the fifteenth of this seventh month is the Feast of Booths for seven days to the Lord."

Deut. 16:13 - "You shall celebrate the Feast of Booths seven days after you have gathered in from your threshing floor and your wine vat."

Sukkot, translated as Tabernacles or festival of Booths, is celebrated for seven days. It is a quick transition from the high holy days of repentance and judgement to a holiday of rejoicing and celebration!!

The people are commanded to build a hut, or a sukkah, and to live in it during the festival. It is to remind them of when they left Egypt and lived in the wilderness in temporary houses called sukkah's on their way to the promised land.

The sukkah (a mishkan = a dwelling place, tent, or booth) is to remind us that we are but strangers and pilgrims on the earth and that this is a temporary dwelling place. The sukkah was a type of covering for the Israelites; the cloud by day and the fire by night was seen as a chupah, a wedding canopy.

Exodus 25:8 - "Let them make Me a sanctuary that I may dwell among them." To establish the relationship between God and Israel, God instructed the people to build the mishkan/sukkah so He could dwell with His people.

Yahshua,became flesh and dwelt among us! (See John 1:14) 2 Corinthians 51:5 tells us that our earthly bodies are tabernacles. The tabernacle of David was a dwelling place.

Yahshua entered the temple on the Feast of Sukkot/tabernacles. (See John 7:2, 27-29) Yahshua was the true tabernacle of God. (See Hebrews9:11)

Names of Sukkot:

The Season of Our Joy = On no other festival were the people commanded to be joyful. As a result, Sukkot became known as the season of our joy! It was a time of great joy after the season of repentance and redemption of Yom Kippur. You knew that your sins were forgiven and you were walking with God, knowing Him and being obedient to His word.

Sukkot prophetically is the festival that teaches and points to the Messianic Kingdom, the Millennium and the joy of that kingdom yet to be fullfilled. In observing it year to year, it is a prophetic proclamation of the imminent fulfilment, walking out by faith, of the promised kingdom on earth as it is in heaven!

Luke 2:10 - "And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy."

The Festival of Ingathering = Sukkot is the fall harvest festival and marks the time of the harvest, the final ingathering of produce before winter. This is the time when the produce of the field, orchard, and vineyard is gathered in. The granaries, threshing floors, and wine and olive presses are full to capacity.

This represents the end of the age when God will gather the Jew and Gentiles from the nations.

Revelation14: 14,15 - "I looked, and there before me was a white cloud and seated on the cloud was One like a son of man with a crown of gold on His head and a sharp sickle in His hand. Then another angel came out of the temple and called in a loud voice to Him who was sitting on the cloud, take your sickle and reap, because the time to reap has come, for the harvest of the earth is ripe. So He who was seated on the cloud swung His sickle over the earth, and the earth was harvested.

The Feast of the Nations = Sukkot will be celebrated by all the nations on the earth during the Messianinc age, the Millennium. (See Zechariah 14: 16-19)

The Festival of Dedication = King Solomon dedicated the temple during Sukkot/tabernacles. 1Kings 3 tells us that this is why the festival is also called the Feast of Dedication.

The Festival of Lights = The scriptures seems to indicate that Yahshua was born during the festival of Sukkot, on the 15th of Tishrei 15, which is the 1st day of Sukkot. That is the 30th of September this year.

Yahshua was born in a sukkah on Sukkot/Tabernacles not in a manger on Christmas!!

Luke 2:12 says that Yahshua was laid in a manger and the word manger is the Greek word phatn'e. It is the same word translated as "stall" in Luke 13:15. Phatn'e is a place for hitching cattle. The Hebrew word for stall is marbek (see Amos 6:4 and Malaachi 4:2). In Gen. 33:17, it is written that Jacob journeyed to Sukkoth and made booths ... and booth means sukkah.

During the Feast of Sukkot, God required that all male Jews come to Jerusalem (see Deuteronomy16:16). That is why the city was overcrowded with people and would explain why Mary and Joseph couldn't find lodging in or around Jerusalem.

When Yahshua spoke again to the people, He said, I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will never walk in darkness but will have the light of life." (See John 8:12) "I have come into the world as a light, so that no one who believes in me should stay in darkness." (John 12:46)

There is more to indicate His birth on Sukkot, but is rather lengthy.

SEASONAL RAINS
One of the great truths of the Feast of Sukkot/Tabernacles has to do with the seasonal rains in Israel. Joel 2:23 tells us that the former and latter rain would come in the first month. Hosea 6:3 tells us that the coming of the Messiah will be as the former and latter rain on the earth.

God promised Israel that upon their obedience to the covenant He made with them at Mount Sinai (see Exodus 34:10 and Deuteronomy5:2) that He would give them the rains in their due season.. No rain was a sign of judgment and the curse of God on the land as well as on people.

The rain is a type of the Holy Spirit being poured out upon flesh.Yahshua is the rain that came down from heaven as well as the living water. He is the fountain of living water spoken of in John.4:4-6.

Rain also speaks of revival, restoration, and returning to God — as in repentance during Rosh HaShana.

The fullness of this feast will be experienced at the coming of the Messiah when He will rule and reign on the earth during the Messianic age, the Millennium. This time will be a time of joy and celebration in the Messiah and will be Israel's glory!!

The Gathering South Africa

<laurenlok@telkomsa.net>

In 1998 the Lord began to impress upon my heart that I was to begin to call Gatherings in South Africa as His desire was that His people would come before Him without agenda or speakers and wait upon Him. He said that many nations had their atrocities but He desired to heal them all on a biblical basis. He said that he had often revealed His strategies to his leaders but because they wanted to do it their own way, rather than at His instruction and timing, the enemy was able to abort His strategy of redemption and restoration, every time.

In November 2003 the Lord told us that he wanted us to have "The Gathering to the Fathers heart" - this time he wanted teaching and we invited Dennis Wiedrick, who ministers worldwide on the Father Heart of God, to come to South Africa and instruct us on the nature of true spiritual fathering. The conference was held in 3 cities: Durban, Johannesburg and Cape Town.

Report on the Gathering

>From the outset in the meetings it became clear that the Lord desired to build on the understanding of the true nature of the Father and our response as sons according to Malachi 4:5,6. We saw that the same word was not released in each city but rather, from city to city, the Lord added to His word and clearly had prepared His people at each venue for that which He was releasing. It was significant that the meetings began in Durban and the venue chosen by our hosts was the Jewish Club. We were humbled by the confirmation that the Lord gave to us of the importance of the turning of the hearts to the Fathers which this venue confirmed in that we belong to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

The scriptures that guided the meetings were Psalm 24, Matthew 6:14,15 and Matthew 18:21-35.

The Lord revealed that everything belongs to Him but if His people would not forgive from the heart and unlock the prisons of unforgiveness that fathers and mothers have for sons and daughters and sons and daughters for fathers and mothers, both in the natural and in the spiritual, there would be no release from the orphan spirit that grips the nation and continent and finds its evidence in the overwhelming increase in the numbers of physical orphans through AIDS, famine and war which this nation and many others on the continent of Africa are experiencing.

The Lord revealed that we need to contend to be transformed into His image by the power of the shed blood of His Son rather than settle down and live side by side with the sin marred image of God, which cost Jesus His Life. (the day after this message was released the Lord confirmed through the secular newspaper a headline which read - "Trading Faces" - The Star Saturday 22nd November) The Lord also spoke of the great release spiritual fathers bring to the destiny's and callings of spiritual sons who's hearts are to honor and walk WITH their spiritual fathers.

The Lord revealed that the opposite spirit to the Fathers heart is one of control and manipulation which brings all things to serve its own purpose which was defined as the Pharaoh spirit. This "Pharaoh Leadership" produces slaves rather than sons and brings a conformity to its own "calling" controlling with the whip and emasculating its sons so as to keep them from following the Lord into Kingdom destiny. This Spirit produces a spiritual slumber on the hearts of Gods people while appealing to the intellect and bringing an intellectual response to its own purpose and destiny while keeping the "giant of the corporate heart" of the body of Christ - asleep. We stood in the gap and cried out for mercy for the leaders who have been seduced by this spirits lies and instead turned our hearts toward the next generation repenting for seeking to keep them within the grasp of this same spirit that generations have been enslaved by. We purposed to both arise personally and call forth the spiritual fathers and mothers so that the next generation would be kept safe and move with a far greater anointing and power than we ourselves had known to establish the Kingdom of God, by His power and through His strategy.

The Lord also revealed that the time has come when callings and anointing would not be enough to release His Divine Authority to walk in such a to time as this. He revealed that to rule and reign with Him meant that we should drink the cup that He drank which was handed to Him by His Father. Matthew 20:22 "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I am about to drink and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" Paul declared; " Oh that I may know Him and the power of His resurrection and the fellowship of His sufferings being conformed to His death" Phil 3:10. Many have taken the cup of suffering that the Lord offers as the only way to ruling and reigning with Him but after tasting of its bitterness have turned away and chosen to walk out their callings in presumptuousness and their own ability and strength. The Lord is calling forth a generation of those who will, like Jacob, wrestle with their own natures in the power of the cross and humble themselves to seek His face and be conformed to His Image in Spirit and in Truth.

The Lord revealed that when we bring accusations as orphans, and cry out "abuse" against the ways of the Father, the enemy has a legal right to separate the orphans from the Father Whose love alone is able to heal and restore. All those charges against the ways of the Father.."unfair..You don't listen...You don't do...You don't care...Your love does not work for me...You don't answer my prayer...you abandoned us during the apartheid years...etc., separate the orphans from a Loving Father by the legal enforcer of the law, the enemy, until the orphans withdraw the charges and the Father is permitted access to His children again to bring them into the Spirit of Sonship. We must withdraw all charges against the Father, both personally and nationally in order to break the enemy's chains with which he keeps Gods people bound to the orphan spirit. We stood in the gap in deep repentance both personally and nationally withdrawing all charges against The Father. (The following morning the Lord again confirmed His word in the front page headline in the Star and the Argus - "My Daddy" - Tuesday November 25th)

During one of the meetings in Cape Town the Lord released a significant key for the nation which we believe we must hold before Him in prayer as we seek the timing of its public release. Please pray with us for grace to serve His purposes within His timing.

Once again, with deep humility we honor the Lord and say" ... this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes.." Matt 21:42b

We would like to close this report with a word that the Lord gave two weeks before meetings began. He spoke to Lauren and asked the question "Lauren, what time is it?" Two days later He spoke the following scripture, Romans 11:5 and 6 (Amp) - "So too at the present time there is a remnant (a small believing minority), selected (chosen) by grace - by God's unmerited favor and graciousness. But if it is by grace - His unmerited favor and graciousness - it is no longer conditioned on works or anything that men have done...otherwise, grace would no longer be grace - it would be meaningless."

Dear friends as we enter into a new year we need to be sure that which we are so busy with is not conditioned on the works of man. For now is the time for the remnant of grace to arise. Otherwise, according to this word, which we believe is a word that the Lord has given to His church at this time, we could find that all that holds our attention and occupies our time is meaningless. There is a generation that will arise..."the generation of Jacob, of those who seek Him who seek Your face" Psalm 24:6

The Fathers Heart (Part II)

Lauren Lok

Justify your forgiveness

During the afternoon session the Lord indicated to me that he wanted me to minister on Justification to follow forgiveness.

I ministered that the years of apartheid were 40 which is a significant biblical number. Demonstrating with Noah, the judgment and new beginning, Moses - protection and stripping of self dependence, Israel - provision, lessons in His character, a different spirit on a new generation, Jesus -temptation to stand against the enemy of His Father in a complete trust and affirmation of purpose and destiny in full assurance of His Fathers unquestionable love and goodness.

With Moses and Israel the Lord, within an unjust rule, kept a people unto Himself for to His own purposes. The demonstration of His Kingdom, His nature and His sovereignty were all dependant on His timing and keeping power, possibly in ways that we would not have considered to be "just" but never-the-less in demonstration of His inscrutability and complete Sovereignty and Lordship.

I suggested that it is possible that the Lord has kept for Himself a people in South Africa who can demonstrate His complete power over racism, which plagues the world, through love, forgiveness and Divine rest in the faithfulness of God in the midst of nothing but darkness. I suggested that only the custodians of the land could carry the key to Gods end-time purposes for that nation. "The sons of the soil" could choose to demand rights or they could acknowledge that within the injustice, God had a purpose, and in yielded trust and praise, in spite of the circumstance, nothing would stop His purpose.

Could it be that this purpose was to protect the custodians of the land unto the demonstration of His triumph and sovereign power over darkness in the great battle for the "souls of nations"?

There is an inheritance of power and authority that the Lord desires to release, to bring nations into their destiny which cannot be released whilst those who have been wronged, who are the true "sons of the soil", whom the Lord has ordained to carry end-time destiny and authority, look to any other authority to address. He, many times, brought disaster upon Israel in Canaan because they looked to Egypt, Assyria or others to help them in their times of trouble. Whilst we as the bride of the Lord Jesus Christ, look to others, He will allow us to have what we look for "but will send leanness into our souls" and into the collective soul of our nation.

"I the Lord your God will answer you according to the multitude of your idols." Eze 14:4

"Thus saith the LORD of hosts; I was jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury." Zech 8:2

I expressed the cry of the Lords heart, "Could there arise a righteous generation that would seek His heart, His Kingdom, before their own justice and vindication?"

Could they, as the "sons of the soil" those sinned against, declare in the spirit of the Lord,; "AS the wronged ones, we choose not only to forgive the injustices of apartheid, but to justify, declaring that justice lies in the hands of the Lord and that all things have occurred according to His timing and purposes?"

Gen 50:20; "You intended to harm me, but God intended it for good to accomplish what is now being done, the saving of many lives."

Dennis Wiedrick came to the front and with the Fathers heart asked if the scales of injustice could be balanced if justice was not meted out. All replied that it could not.

He then asked that if there was debt of sin owed the Father, could we meet it?

We all agreed that we could not. He said that if we all agreed that the scales of indebtedness could only be balanced by the debt being paid, had that debt been paid?

We all agreed that it had and that we could not pay it.

He asked how those scales had then been balanced? We all responded, "through the blood of Jesus" He agreed that was correct.

He then asked us if there was a family debt against the Father, we agreed there was.

He asked if that debt had been paid, we said it had. "How?" he asked.

"By the blood of Jesus!" we answered,

He then went on to ask if our city had a debt. We said it had.

"Has it been paid?" he cried.

"Yes!" we replied.

"How?"

"Through the blood!"

He then asked was there a debt owed by the sin of apartheid. We agreed there was.

He asked; "Has it been paid?"

We said it had.

He asked; "How?

We responded; "Through the blood of Jesus!"

I then came forward and asked the predominantly black leaders (we had been hosted in a black church) if they would respond as there was a response that the whole of Heaven was waiting for. The black leaders (about 12 with their wives) went into a little huddle and spoke for a little while before coming forward and the pastor who had hosted The Gathering spoke.

He said that they were surprised that the Lord would bring this message to them through a white South African woman, but that they knew my heart and that they agreed that this was the truth. They then said that they would like to pray and sing in Xhosa, their native language, but before doing so had taken the decision that, in Cape Town the seat of the South African Parliament, they chose not only to forgive the sin of Apartheid but to justify it, declaring that the blood of Jesus was payment enough - choosing to let go of all seeking of compensation from man and rather to say to the Lord that they would, as the "sons of the soil", seek to receive His inheritance for His Kingdom purposes, so that the nation would arise into His preordained End Time destiny... for His glory's sake. They then began to pray and then sing in Xhosa.

A funeral for the past

During this time Dennis had a vision. The Lord showed him a coffin (casket) lying at the feet of these leaders. He watched them pick it up onto their shoulders and walk out through the midst of the place where we were and take it to a graveyard. As they were about to place it into an open grave, Dennis asked the Lord what was inside the coffin. The Lord told him to take a look. He said inside he saw "The shattered dreams of Apartheid, the broken lives of Apartheid, the destroyed destinies of Apartheid, the broken families, the destroyed hopes.." He then saw them place the coffin into the open grave and turn and walk away. As they did so he heard the voice of the Lord say;

"The debt of Apartheid has been paid... It is finished!"

As Dennis said this a white man from the back of the church approached and said that when the black leaders had come to the front, the Lord had told him to sing a song in Xhosa that he knew. He said it was a funeral lament and that the Lord said he was to sing it aloud. He responded that he was not at a funeral and that he did not want to offend the black brethren. The Lord asked Him again to sing it. He said that he finally did, but quietly under his breath, all the while they sang and prayed in their language and Dennis was having the vision. We wept and embraced one another. Suddenly Dennis spoke to me and said; "Lauren! What time is it?" He repeated His question... I did not understand. Then he pointed to the wall clock. It was five o'clock in the afternoon. Five is the number of grace.

The question that the Lord had asked me at the beginning of the preparation for this gathering had been "Lauren what time is it?" and then He answered from Romans 11:5, 6: "So at this present time there is a remnant (a small believing minority) selected (chosen) by grace, (by Gods unmerited graciousness and favor). But if it is by grace, it is no longer conditioned on works or anything men have done. Otherwise grace would no longer be grace (it would be meaningless.)"

The Flaming Heart of the Fire Bride
Michal Ann Goll

The fire bride is a bride who is on fire. What does fire do? It consumes. What does it consume? It consumes dross, chaff, and all things that will not stand the test. In the end, nothing of the flesh is left, and only God, our consuming fire is left. He is all that is seen, He is all that exists. The bride has become united, one with Him.

Is being on fire comfortable? Does it cause pain? Does a person readily submit themselves to the flames? The fire begins with love, and it works in us a calling, a wooing to come higher, closer to Him, to His ways. It's almost like the insects at night that are drawn to the light. They are drawn by a force beyond themselves, their own understanding, and this force brings about their own death.

What is "The Fire Bride"?

The fire bride is one who is aflame with God, in turmoil with her own shortcomings, her sins, her faults. Perhaps in her past she has played with fire, strange fire, the fire of idolatry. Surely she has struggled with different fires, fires of the soul, and fires of the flesh. How could God choose her, and forever set His seal engraved on her heart? Failings, disappointments, anger, jealousies try to interrupt the flow of love between them. If the bride could only understand - He knows and sees all this. All He wants is her love. His love is big enough to cover all her weaknesses, her needs, her ailments. He has already made full payment, full provision.

She sees, she begins to understand His ways, His love, and as the flame begins to burn more intensely within her, she runs to Him and cries out, "Help me, oh my God!" As she runs, the flow of the air feeds the fire, making it grow. The faster she runs, the intensity of the fire grows, causing the dross and chaff to be more quickly consumed. She is being burned alive!

The Heart Aflame

And then, a transformation begins to happen. She cries out, "More fire! More fire!" She is beginning to see Him like never before. Her heart cannot be turned ever again to the old enticements of her past. The intense heat of the fire has tried her heart. It is becoming transformed into gold, precious gold, a kind of enduring gold that will never be consumed by any other kind of fire. It is pure. It is holy. It is complete in Him. It is Him.

Her life, now, is completely lost in Him. Her heart is now not hers, but His. Her will is His. She is His totally and completely, forever.

He Has Rescued Us from Ourselves

There is a hunger arising in us today. We want to run to Him. We want to experience His fire, but we are afraid to run into His flaming arms. We are afraid of the pain, the process of getting there. There are things in our hearts that we want to hang onto. Will He ask this of me? Can I keep this? And as we ask these questions, we realize we have hidden treasures that should not be. We struggle with condemnation because we know we should not consider these things as treasures. We know we should want Him, want Him alone, and we don't, so we come to the conclusion that surely we don't "qualify". Hopelessness tries to take us on a downward spiral, but, something happens. In the midst of our struggle, our discouragement, a Man is standing in front of us. He is pure light, pure cleanness, pure sight. As He looks on us, He captures us with His heart, so tender, so huge with love. Our eyes are drawn away from our faults, and now, all we can see are His eyes, with His heart communing with us, through them. Ah, He has rescued us from ourselves. We begin walking toward Him. Walking becomes too slow...He is so wonderful! We begin running, the match is lit, and we become aflame with passion for Him. We become the Fire Bride!

Many Blessings!

Quote - "As a face is reflected in water, so the heart reflects the person."
~Proverbs 27:19

Prayer –

Dear Papa! How we need you! We need to see Jesus like never before. We're asking You to come, and capture our hearts, capture our eyes. Enfold us in the deep pools of Your love! Take us into that place of transformation, where we see ourselves truly, as we are, but then also see ourselves, aflame with passion for You. Burn off the dirty robes of condemnation, sin, fear, and rejection, and clothe us with Your light of illumination! We are running to You in desperation! Light the fire in our hearts that will never succumb to any lesser flame!
In Jesus' Name – Amen

Applications –
This is where the rubber meets the road for each one of us! I encourage you to re-read this word. But I want you to stop when you come to the part that reads, "Will He ask this of me? Can I keep this?" Some of us will immediately know there is work to be done here, because that question has already been at work.
Compromise has been trying to gain entrance, and perhaps already has. This is where we need the help of the Father. To think there could be something that we would "try to make a deal" with God to keep is a stench! Ouch! That is the truth, and we all know it deep down inside. But, here is where the love of God enters. We need to bring these "deals" before God, and ask Him for His help. We need to repent, and ask Him to reveal to us more of His loveliness. The more of Him we drink in, our appetite for the "deals" will diminish, and we will come to hate anything that would stand between us and having Him fully and completely.

Don't give in to condemnation here. Let Him capture you! He is eager and longs for this to happen. It is so simple...just begin walking toward Him. Once you begin, you will not be able to hold yourself back - He is so wonderful! You will run, and you will be ablaze with a heavenly fire!

If you have been helped today through this word, consider printing out 5 copies to give to people who maybe don't have e-mail capacity, perhaps to some of our elderly brothers and sisters in Christ.

Be blessed and encouraged this day!

The Fires of Tribulation

Dorothea Montague

Feb 17, 2004
The Fires of Tribulation My beloved people, you are being tested in the fires of tribulation in the midst of a troubled world. You are being tested by family problems, by rebellious children, by financial problems, by unemployment, by sickness and by other problems. I would say unto you, My children..... Fear not for I am with you; Be not dismayed for I am your God. I will strengthen you, yes, I will help you, I will uphold you with My righteous right hand. (Isa. 41:10) Indeed, My precious people, I am with you constantly, in the good times and in the bad times, guiding you onto My path, blessing you and ministering to you. In the midst of your trials you have sought Me with all your hearts, you have turned away from worldly things, you have entered your prayer closets and spent much time with Me in prayer, you have come to know a yearning for My Word and have spent much time in study, you have learned to trust in Me with all your hearts, you are recognizing that..... ...you are a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things have become new. (2 Cor. 5:17)

Now, My people, you are entering into a time of new beginnings in your walk with Me. You are feeling an urgency to enter into the ministries I have chosen for you. I have given you many talents and gifts and I shall bring each of them into being as you minister. My beloved people, I would say unto you.....you are living in the last days of time and there is much to be accomplished ere I come for My own. I need each of you and for long I have been preparing you to serve Me in these troubled times. I shall accelerate your special gifts and you shall go forth with My power and anointing to touch the lives of those in need. Of utmost importance is the need for salvation in the hearts of the multitudes. You shall speak forth the words I shall give you to all whom you meet and many will come unto Me. Countless numbers are suffering with disease and infirmity in their bodies and you shall go forth with My healing anointing upon you to pray for the sick and you shall see them recover. You shall see great miracles of healing take place when you pray...blind eyes opened, deaf ears unstopped, restoring their hearing, cancerous growths falling off people, limbs being replaced eliminating the need for operations and many other ailments healed. I shall guide you to the hurting and brokenhearted people around you and you shall speak My words of comfort to them and see their minds restored to peace and joy. He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds. (Psa. 147:3)

My people, I would say unto you today, you are standing on the verge of a mighty move of God, such as you have never dreamed possible. I am pouring out My Spirit on all flesh worldwide, in unbelievable power and through the prayers of My people you shall see....the destiny of whole nations changed, much poverty will be eliminated, some wars will cease and people will dwell in peace, cures will be found for many pestilences which are rampant around the world and people will be set free, food will be made available for the starving and needs the world over will be met. The war on terrorism will see victory and weapons of warfare shall be destroyed and more people will live in safety. O, My people, believe in the truth of My Word and receive all My great and precious promises.... And all things, whatever you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive. (Matt. 21:22)

Rejoice in Your Youth
Dorothea Montague

montagud@telus.net

I speak today to My precious young people around the world, especially to the youth who have committed their lives unto Me and accepted Me as their Lord and Savior.

I would say unto you, hearken to My Words found in the Scriptures....

Rejoice, O young man, in your youth, and let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth. Walk in the ways of your heart, and in the sight of your eyes. But know that for all these God will bring you into judgment. (Ecc. 12:l)

Remember now your Creator in the days of your youth, before the difficult days come and the years draw near when you say "I have no pleasure in them." (Ecc. 12:1)

I have raised you up, My young men and My young women for just such a day as this, a time when strength, endurance, wisdom, power and anointing are needed for ministry in these days. These are days of great turbulence throughout the world and I need the boldness of the young to speak forth to the multitudes. Each of you has been aware of My presence with you, anointing you, teaching you and preparing you for the work I have in store for you.

Some of you I shall send forth into all the world to preach and to teach and to speak forth the words which I shall give you.

Then said I:
"Ah, Lord God!
Behold, I cannot speak, for I am a youth."
But the Lord said to me:
Do not say, "I am a youth,"
For you shall go to all to whom I send you, and whatever I command you, you shall speak. Do not be afraid of their faces, for I am with you to deliver you, says the Lord. (Jer. 1:6-8)

My beloved young people, I say unto you, "Indeed you shall go forth even as I have commanded you, with the knowledge that I go with you and great blessings shall evolve as you minister."

Thus the Lord put forth His hand and touched my mouth, and the Lord said to me, "Behold, I have put My words in your mouth. See, I have this day set you over the nations and over the kingdoms, to root out and to pull down, to destroy and to throw down, to build and to plant." (Jer. 1:9,10)

My young people, even as I prepared Jeremiah for his ministry so I desire to prepare each of you to go forth and touch people everywhere and to draw them to Me. You may be saying, "But how can I do this for I am unlearned?." My precious children, I say unto you, everything you need to know is contained in the words of Scripture. Search diligently for My words of truth and guidance...

These things command and teach...
Let no one despise your youth, but be an example to the believers in word, in conduct, in love, in spirit, in faith, in unity till I come, give attention to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine. Do not neglect the gift that is in you, which was given to you by prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery. Meditate on these things, give yourself entirely to them, that your progress shall be evident to all. (1 Tim. 4:11-15)

And now to youth worldwide, I would say: I have chosen you from the beginning of time to be My hand extended to all people everywhere as you go forth in these last days. Have no fear for I shall endue you with all that you shall need to go forth and minister with power. My words shall flow forth from your mouths, to stand before multitudes and preach...to teach in great seminars and conferences ...to bring forth powerful words of prophecy in your churches or elsewhere, to bless and comfort many. You shall operate in the Gifts I have chosen for you ...to heal the sick, to set people free and I shall give you great faith and you shall immediately know the needs of all whom you meet.

This new year is a new day dawning for young people and as you minister for Me you shall operate in the miraculous and see great wonders take place. You shall receive many mantles from those in long term ministries who know it is time to step down. I am asking you to fearlessly be what I want you to be, do what I want you to do, go where I want you to go and I shall sustain you in all things. As part of your instruction I would say unto you...

Flee also youthful lusts; but pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace with those who call on the Lord out of a pure heart. But avoid foolish and ignorant disputes, knowing that they generate strife. (2 Tim. 2:22,23)

Go forth, My precious ones, seeking My will for you and trusting in Me with all your hearts and leaning not on your own understanding.

Tithing Finances in the Kingdom

Cindye Coates

www.apostles-today.net
"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have neglected the weightier matters of the law; justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone." -- Matthew 23:23

The Dream - When God needs our undivided attention, He will often send us a strong message in the form of a dream or vision. God has never spoken to me so clearly as He did recently in a dream that will forever change the way I think about the tithe.

In a dream, I was a medical doctor sitting beside a pregnant woman lying on an examination table. The woman had just consummated her marriage minutes prior to the examination. She was fully clothed with the exception of an exposed abdomen. I had an ultra sound device placed on her abdomen as we both observed the monitor. We watched the sperm (containing 23 chromosomes) fertilize the egg (which also contained 23 chromosomes). We both witnessed the conception of her child. She joyfully exclaimed. "There is my baby boy!" "There is my Matthew," she added. I woke.

Then I awoke to process the dream, realizing the obvious interpretation was Matthew 23:23. Here, Jesus is speaking to leaders:

"How terrible it will be for you teachers of religious law and you Pharisees. Hypocrites! For you are careful to tithe even the tiniest part of your income, but you ignore the important things of the law--justice, mercy, and faith. You should tithe, yes, but you should not leave undone the more important things." -- Matthew 23:23 (New Living Translation)

The phase," You should tithe, yes." jumped off the page at me. I'm not sure I ever realized that Jesus commended the Pharisees for anything. Jesus actually recognized their tithing as something that they were doing right and encouraged them to continue tithing! Obviously they were lacking in justice, mercy & faith. However, Jesus was quite pleased with their tithing.

Dream Interpretation - As I read Matthew 23:23, my mind kept going back to the dream. I kept hearing the woman say, "That's my Matthew!" "This baby was a Man Child", I thought. Matthew means 'God's gift.' Soon, I began to see the message before my mind's eye like seeing a Polaroid picture develop.

This dream was about the conception of the Man Child "Matthew" God's Gift. Conception is what occurs in our mind when we conceive ideas and concepts, which are alive and able to reproduce a godly seed. God's Gift to the world is the Man Child concept. This cannot occur apart from justice, mercy, faith, and TITHING! Tithing is Giving 101. Tithing is basic.

Jesus is speaking to us today. He is the same yesterday, today and forever! I really believe we are coming up to a whole new level in understanding the awesome power of tithing. The kingdom of God is clearly the domain of King Jesus. He is the Word made flesh. As He is, so are we in this world.

"Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever." -- Hebrew 13:8

"The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us." -- John 1:14

"As He is, so also are we in this world." -- 1 John 4:17

We have never "preached" tithing in our church. We have, however, modeled tithing and giving as a lifestyle before those in our congregation and community. We have given great testimonies of the blessings of being in covenant with God. We have never pressured people to give under compulsion. We believe that God loves a cheerful giver. We have encouraged people to imitate our loving Father God (The Ultimate Giver) as dear children. The apple doesn't fall far from the tree.
Lately we have found that few people understand the meaning of being in covenant with God. Covenant is most important to God. Anything that God considers important is worth taking the time to learn what it means!

Covenant -- Definition: A contract or agreement between 2 parties.

In the Old Testament, the Hebrew word for covenant is berith. Berith is derived from the root, which means "to cut." In modern English we would refer to a covenant as " cutting a deal." The Biblical references refer to the dividing of animals into two parts and the contracting parties passing through them making a covenant. (See Genesis 15 and Jeremiah 34: 18,19)

The Corresponding Word in the New Testament Greek is diatheke. The King James Version of the Bible rendered the Greek word diatheke as "testament" when it ought to be the same as the Hebrew word berith, which means "covenant." Why is this important? A testament and a covenant are two entirely different words with different meanings. The New Testament is really THE NEW COVENANT, or a covenant involving 2 parties; God and man.

A covenant by definition is a mutual agreement of two or more persons/parties. Simply put, a covenant is a MUTUAL AGREEMENT! Being in covenant with God means we are in agreement with Him since He is the initiator of the covenant. He is not in our covenant, we are in His! In other words we are in agreement with God's stipulations of the contract He laid out in order that He could share His great treasures with us.

His covenant or contract is binding! We are bound to Him and His blessings as we walk out our agreement with Him! God makes certain promises and requires certain behavior from us in return.

Now, if Jesus said not to exclude justice, mercy & faith while tithing, this clearly means that God is in a binding contract to include His justice, His mercy, and His faith on our behalf. Involving God in the financial aspects of our life is a wonderful opportunity to move into a supernatural realm as it concerns our money and wealth!

Money is a sensitive subject. Most people, no matter how wealthy they are, feel constrained by the lack of it. In this situation, it is often difficult to assess how much of our scarce funds we should give for the work of the church. Fortunately, the Scriptures do give us guidelines to help us honor God in our contributions.

The most common pattern of giving associated with the Bible is the tithe, which literally means a tenth. The tithe is frequently held up as God's standard for giving, often by citing passages such as Malachi 3:10 -- "Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. Test me in this, says the LORD Almighty, and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that you will not have room enough for it."

Many have said in years past. " The Old Testament is the blue print of the New Testament." However, it is the other way around. We must rightfully divide the Word of God's everlasting covenant in light of redemption. Malachi alone will not make sense until we understand that it was written to the priesthood. Jesus, Himself is not only a priest, He is the High Priest! Jesus tithed.

Giving Beyond Tithing -- The Old Testament says quite a bit about tithing. However, the New Testament takes tithing to a whole new level. Tithing is where we start learning to be generous and faithful just as our Heavenly Father is generous and faithful!

The New Testament is also known as The New Covenant, which is a better covenant. Jesus, who is God the Son, gave the ultimate gift to redeem us. He set the pattern for giving by giving his life. What a privilege it is to have the distinct honor to support this message in the form of tithes and giving.

In recent years giving to Christian ministries has decreased. According to the Barna Research only 6% of born again Christians tithe and far less give on a regular basis. (source -- http://www.barna.org/cgi-bin/PageCategory.asp?CategoryID=36):

The proportion of households that tithe their income to their church - that is, give at least ten percent of their income to that ministry - has dropped by 62% in the past year, from 8% in 2001 to just 3% of adults during 2002 (2003)
In 2002, 6% of born again adults tithed. This represents an 8 percentage point decline from 2001, (14% of born again adults tithed) and a 6 point decline from 2000, (12% of all born again adults). (2003)
Nearly 9% of the evangelicals tithed in 2002 - roughly three times the national average. (2003)

While Christians are debating if tithing is "under the law" or not and or if we should tithe before or after taxes, Muslims and Mormons faithfully tithe and support their leaders, the poor, and missions. Islam is the fastest growing religion in the world largely due to the sacrificial giving to advance their beliefs. Mormons are the fastest growing cult in America; again due to the large percentage of tithing members.

"Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that shall he also reap." -- Galatians 6:7

New Covenant Giving -- New Covenant giving begins where the Old Covenant left off. If we have a new and better covenant, we should give more generously than those who walked with God under the Old Covenant. How ridiculous it would be to think we are exempt from generosity because of God's grace. That would actually nullify the covenant since a covenant is two sided. It takes two parties to form a covenant. Jesus obviously fulfilled His obligations. The ball is in our court now. He desires to take pleasure in our prosperity as we favor His righteous cause, establishing His covenant in the earth.

"Let them shout for joy and be glad, Who favor my righteous cause; And let them say continually, 'Let the LORD be magnified, Who has pleasure in the prosperity of His servant.'" -- Psalm 35:27

Christians are not under any legal obligation to contribute to the needs of the Church. Rather, we are compelled by the love of Christ to give freely, as He freely gave Himself for us. On this basis, we are encouraged to give generously and willingly, in proportion to the blessings that we have received.

Our giving is in response to the needs of the Church. Those who minister the Word should be freed from the need for secular employment. In true Christian love, we are called to help those in need, both through gifts and other acts of kindness. Christian giving is an act of worship. We give because we have received more than we could possibly ever repay.

"The elders who direct the affairs of the church well are worthy of double honor, especially those whose work is preaching and teaching. For the Scripture says, 'Do not muzzle the ox while it is treading out the grain', and 'The worker deserves his wages.'" -- 1 Tim. 5:17,18

23's in Scripture
I found a common thread while studying Matthew 23:23. The number 23 repeatedly occurs where the scripture is talking about prosperity, abundance, plenty or wealth. The prosperity might be representing the wealth and prosperity acquired through diligent work or it might be the prosperity of divine grace: a free gift. More specifically the number twenty-three is often associated in scripture with life, prosperous life, abundant life, and fruitful life.

Psalm 23 -- The most famous of all the psalms is probably the best example of the significance of the number 23: "The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want. He makes me to lie down in green pastures: he leads me beside the still waters. He restores my soul: he leads me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou prepares a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anoints my head with oil; my cup runs over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever."

This psalm starts out with prosperity. Those who look to the Lord, who welcome Him as their shepherd will never want for anything. Verse four is the only one to mention death and then only in the context that the person who God shepherds need not fear death.

Joseph & 23 Verses -- Both Genesis chapters 39 and 40 contain exactly 23 verses. They are the first chapters in the Bible to do so. Genesis 39 is the story of Joseph's captivity in the land of Egypt. He rises in the service of Potiphar until the master's wife lies and has Him thrown in the dungeon. The last few verses then relate that he became the "ruler" of the dungeon, second only to the appointed keeper.

Thus the final few verses deal with prosperity, albeit under otherwise adverse conditions: "But the LORD was with Joseph, and showed him mercy, and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison. And the keeper of the prison committed to Joseph's hand all the prisoners that were in the prison; and whatsoever they did there, he was the doer of it. The keeper of the prison looked not to any thing that was under his hand; because the LORD was with him, and that which he did, the LORD made it to prosper." -- Genesis 39:21-23

In Conclusion, it is God's plan to prosper and grant health to us as our soul prospers. To those struggling with the fear of poverty and even the past abuses in the area of finances, I suggest a simple prayer of surrender. It is a prayer that will cause a maturity to awaken deep within refreshing the weary in heart: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, And renew a steadfast spirit within me." -- Psalm 51:10

Traveling Feather Light
Sandy Warner

Apr 12, 2004
Let all the excess baggage go and learn to travel light. You will find that you will do nicely as you learn to lean on Me and on less elsewhere. Give your requests to Me and I will see to all your needs. Even as a feather floats lightly and is not burdened down with care, so shall you float as you trust in Me.

Ps 55:22 AMP
Cast your burden on the Lord [releasing the weight of it] and He will sustain you; He will never allow the [consistently] righteous to be moved (made to slip, fall, or fail).

1 Peter 5:7 AMP
Casting the whole of your care [all your anxieties, all your worries, all your concerns, once and for all] on Him, for He cares for you affectionately and cares about you watchfully.

A Matter Of Discovery
Sandy Warner

[Practical Teaching About Revelation]

Apr 17, 2004
NOTE: When the Lord speaks to us, it is always in part. Once we swallow what little He has said, He builds upon it with another part. I apply this in a practical way by using the computer search features to find common words He had already spoken. For instance, at the time of writing this post, this first entry is what I heard:

HEARD [2/01/04]: I will go with you. It's a matter of discovery. Go gifted one. Soar.

SEARCHING FOR COMMON WORDS
When pondering the above phrase the word "discovery" was quickened to me. I typed in the word discover and the rest of these entries are excerpts of some of the things I had already heard about the concept. As you will see, each entry has a little more light shed on the quickened word "discovery." By the end, we have a fuller picture of exactly what we are discovering.

HEARD: Delivered.

ANOINTED HANDS: I opened to the scripture:

Luke 10:18-19 NKJV
And He said to them, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. Behold, I give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you.

Then I turned to 2 Words to Ponder with the titles: Ruling Authority and Fruit of Deliverance.

HEARD: Say now ruling hands. He brought me forth into a large place. Gifted. You have yet to discover how truly gifted you are. Personality. Rainbow. Instinct.

WORD TO PONDER: INCREASE A STEP AT A TIME
I AM constantly delivering you from a strong enemy, when you use the gifts I give. As you grow and grow in your gifts and authority, I will bring you into larger and larger territory. You have yet to discover how truly gifted you are. I have planted a great wealth of My anointing within you, and in the days to come you shall recognize it as "instinctive intuition" which is actually My Holy Spirit within.

"They demonstrate that God's law is written within them, for their own consciences either accuse them or tell them they are doing what is right." (Rom 2:15 NLT)

HEARD: It was a long war. Stand. Overcomer. Did you let it slide? Not at all. Resist. There's a change coming. Valiant ones. Kept My watch. Beauty for ashes. Equipped. Things will never be the same. I AM with you says the Lord. A new alignment. Broader, expanded territory. Front lines. Defeated. Move into your place. Be free.

I kept you. Strong, unyielding and resistant. A long war effort and then some. Neighbors "Intimidation and Bullying" towering over you. I took them. It's true says the Lord. Defeated. Penalty. I drew a line. A line that says halt. And now you have room to expand.

Test the waters. Sweet medicine. There's healing. Loose them. Dead ones on the cross. Yielded to Me. It's a sacrifice says the Lord. Willing ones. Erase your sins. Forgotten. I only see glory. My Love for you. Kept. Do you understand? You will. Let Me carry you to the finish line. Well done, My servant. Thank you. Let's see what we can do for her. She's Mine. She will shine. My glory in her midst. I laugh with joy. As she discovers.

VISION: I saw myself spreading my hands and then looking at my palms.

HEARD: I AM with you says the Lord. New beginning. Effectively immediately. Now begin. Rejoice. Such joy.

VISION: I saw my Beloved. He slipped in beside me and we did a little twirly dance together.
WORD TO PONDER: DELIVERED MY VALIANT ONES
My valiant ones, keeping My watch, you have been through a very, very long war lasting many years. You faced strong, unyielding forces. They towered over you in strength, intimidation and bullying. And yet you stood and did not give an inch of territory. Through it all, you yielded to Me, and became My sacrifice for whatever purpose I chose. Thank you, faithful friends.

The towering giants who were too strong for you, I have spoken against them and drawn a line. I said, "Halt, you can not pass My divine restraint." And now I AM removing them from your midst, so that you will have a broad and free territory in which to expand. These giants are like hewn trees in a forest, cut and stripped for a pathway out of the battle. I AM removing them with My mighty hand.

I know you are tired from such a long battle, but remember loved ones, expanded borders beckon. Yes, they are bought and won with a price. But oh what joys await you as you test the waters for yourself! Stretch forth your hands to heal. Shine with My glory. Dance and twirl with joy, for I AM delivering My valiant ones.

"I will love You, O LORD, my strength. The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer; My God, my strength, in whom I will trust; My shield and the horn of my salvation, my stronghold. I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised; So shall I be saved from my enemies." (Ps 18:1-3 NKJV)

HEARD: It's a matter of discovery. Justice going to bat for you. Hold My hand, precious, we are going somewhere. Move you up a notch.

FINAL NOTE: As you can see by my search using the word "discover" there was quite a revelation of where we have been, where we are, and where we are going. This post is a relevant Word for us today, because I started with the most recent Word the Lord gave to me, then I circled around the concept to add further detail, then bringing it back to the last Word given in chronological order. In example, where we are at right now, is the God of Justice is going to bat for us! Praise Him!

If this concept of connecting words is new to you, it might take a stretch of faith to accept that all these specific entries with the word "discover" were meant by the Lord to join together. I have been keeping daily records for 20 years and have thousands of examples of Him joining common Words to pinpoint exactly where we are. He has thoroughly planted this as a foundation in my life in how He speaks. His Words and ways are very intricate, weaving in even the tiniest details. His works are a movement of His Spirit and not a skill of the mind or brain, however He gives us signposts to help us stay on track and confirm our journey along the way. These signposts are little common denominator words that continue to build revelation into an ever increasing and expanding circle.

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: REVEALED AS YOU GO

Yes, your Lord God of Justice has gone to bat for you, dear ones! You have suffered so much at the hands of the giants. As you have yielded to your own personal crosses and died to self, this has touched all of heaven. A great expanse of territory has been bought and won with great price. You shall go forth conquering that which stands in your way. Go forth, My faithful ones. You will not go alone, no, - not ever. I will go with you. My light shall shine before you as you move forward. I hope you will enjoy your trip, for it will be a road of discovery. Wonderful healing is awaiting you in your new land.

Deut 29:29-30:1 KJV
The secret things belong unto the LORD our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Heb 11:8 NLT
It was by faith that Abraham obeyed when God called him to leave home and go to another land that God would give him as his inheritance. He went without knowing where he was going.

You Will Not Be Left Behind
Sandy Warner

Apr 14, 2004

Dear ones, I hear your deepest concerns as you watch others soar in their faith and operate in their gifts. You wonder what is wrong with you and if you will ever obtain what has freely been offered to all. At times you are desperate. Then you feel left out and wonder why you even try. The enemy is trying to undermine your faith and hoping that you will give up. However the opposite is true. His attempts only make you stronger.

I want you to understand this issue from My point of view. I AM building a permanent temple with living stones. Each stone is perfectly hewn for its place. Beloved, all the carving is done before the setting. Laying all issues aside except for this, I want you to hear Me very clearly. There is only one place for you.

No one can fit in that place except you. It is a place designed and prepared. Now why do you think I would leave you behind? You are vital to the placement for all those around you, and vital to those stones who will later be built upon the foundation I have laid in your life. I will not leave you behind. Do you understand?

John 14:18 NLT
No, I will not abandon you as orphans--I will come to you.

1 Peter 2:5 NLT
And now God is building you, as living stones, into his spiritual temple.

Comfort Through My Creation

Apr 16, 2004
I gave you the sun that you would know the brilliance of My glory. I spread My clouds that you would know My covering and creative design in your life. I placed never ending waves in the ocean that you would know My everlasting faithfulness. I gave you the sunrise and sunset that everyday you would know I am the same yesterday, today and forever. I gave you My creation that You would know that I AM your Creator and I do all things well. You, My love are My crowning touch.

James 1:17-18 NLT
Whatever is good and perfect comes to us from God above, who created all heaven's lights. Unlike them, he never changes or casts shifting shadows. In his goodness he chose to make us his own children by giving us his true word. And we, out of all creation, became his choice possession.

The Fullness
Sandy Warner

Jan 21, 2004
I AM opening a porthole, and from this beginning shall issue forth mysteries held since before the world began. Those who know Me in My fullness, shall experience the fullness of the Godhead bodily, even as Jesus did. These shall know Me even as I know them. My wife, we will be one in body as well as in spirit. You may be content to think of Me by your side, but I say, I shall be IN you bodily as well as spiritually and you in Me. Such a "one" has never been. My great treasure in earthen vessels. The ungodly shall quake and shake when I reveal the mystery of our union, on earth as it is in heaven.

"That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." (John 17:21 KJV)

"For in Him dwells all the fullness of the Godhead bodily; and you are complete in Him, who is the head of all principality and power." (Colossians 2:9-10 NKJV)

"…that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height -- to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God." Bubble Protection
Sandy Warner

DREAM: I was moving back and forth through time, inside a large clear bubble. I was telling someone that we were moving back and forth in time, one time was during the war, and the other was life the way it was like after the war. Then I realized I could choose whether to walk back and forth in time, towards the war or away from it. The bubble wasn't carrying me, rather I was choosing with my will to walk back to the war. I could feel the pressure or resistance even through the bubble. The resistance was very strong and felt like walking through water, only more pressure. I had to walk very slow.

As I was pondering the dream later that day, I heard the Lord tell me that back in the war I was a soldier but now He would make me a doctor. I understood my role would change to help the wounded.

SANDY RHEMA
HEARD SONG: Like a bridge over troubled waters, I will lay me down.

HEARD: Bubble forth. Turn you around. I want to see Your face.

Hos 2:15 NLT
I will return her vineyards to her and transform the Valley of Trouble into a gateway of hope. She will give herself to me there, as she did long ago when she was young, when I freed her from her captivity in Egypt.

SANDY RHEMA
I said, "I love You Lord." Then I felt myself inside a bubble. I felt so safe inside a bubble that I imagined the Lord coming to me and wrapping His big arms around this bubble and giving me a big squeeze. Then He said, "Wife!" He squeezed the bubble really tight and He gave me a big kiss. It popped the bubble and He put His arms around me, and then we were inside a bubble together. This was something that I was just thinking about and if I had placed a label on it, I would have called it my imagination and not a vision or anything inspired.

HEARD: Wife, bubble. Joy. It happened exactly as you said. Surrounded. Really did, literally happen. In your darkest hour. I meet you face to face.

VISION: I saw my wedding ring on my right thumb. [Lord why is my ring on My thumb?] HEARD: Because I chose you.

CONCLUSION
{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

Word To Ponder:
Bubbled Over Troubled Waters

Lay your head upon Me, dear one, as you seek your rest and refuge. Turn not to the world, nor to the right or left, but solidly and continually turn to Me. I AM the bridge that will bring you safely over troubled waters. I will carry you safely across even when you feel like you can no longer walk. As you lay your head upon My breast, I will refresh you in the night seasons and bring you lasting meat that will sustain you on your journey. So let the waters boil and toil under your feet, but let My living waters bubble forth within your spirit as you lift your face towards Me.

In the darkest hour, I am coming to embrace you with a face to face encounter of My love. I will place My arms around you and it will be like a warm bubble of protection. Although you will be able to see and hear great darkness on the outside of our bubble, you will know the depths of My love and our joy together as we look upon the world together. I have chosen you to be My bride; called, chosen and faithful. You are Mine.

"Blessed (happy, fortunate, to be envied) are those who dwell in Your house and Your presence; they will be singing Your praises all the day long. Selah [pause, and calmly think of that]! Blessed (happy, fortunate, to be envied) is the man whose strength is in You, in whose heart are the highways to Zion. Passing through the Valley of Weeping (Baca), they make it a place of springs; the early rain also fills [the pools] with blessings. They go from strength to strength [increasing in victorious power]; each of them appears before God in Zion." (Ps 84:4-7 AMP)

"When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, LORD, will I seek." (Ps 27:8 KJV)

Go In My Name
Sandy Warner

Jan 23, 2004

Heaven's liberty bell is ringing, My love. Watch the ball swing like a giant pendulum. As it strikes the wall, the resounding freedom rings that I AM setting you free. I declare liberty to the captive. I set you free to free others!

You have waited and waited and much has been accomplished through your faithful service of waiting. Stretch forth your foot even now and press against the confirmations I AM sending your way. Let these be My signs to you that will anchor and cushion your faith and bring you the momentum to move on. Dearest love, I AM commissioning you. It is your birthright to be My light, My candle. Even as I liberate you, set the captive free. GO in My Name!

"The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon Me, because the LORD has anointed Me to preach good tidings to the poor; He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound; To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD, and the day of vengeance of our God; To comfort all who mourn, 3 To console those who mourn in Zion, to give them beauty for ashes, The oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; That they may be called trees of righteousness, The planting of the LORD, that He may be glorified." The Parable Of The Butterfly
Sandy Warner

Jan 22, 2004Years ago I heard the Lord tell me I was going to go through a process of change, similar to that of a butterfly. At that time, He quickened a children's book to my ears. Upon reading it the processes of a butterfly's growth were quickened to me.

The Lord is bringing all His people through these changes, so it behooves us to understand the metamorphosis of the butterfly and compare the spiritual parables of how they match our lives. The butterfly begins as a small egg. It grows into a little caterpillar who does nothing but eat, growing bigger and Bigger and BIGGER. Then it spins a cocoon away from the view of the world, and slowly is transformed. Suddenly it emerges with wings to fly.

The life cycle of the butterfly is called metamorphosis, which means change or transformation. I am thinking about the Monarch (king) butterfly, in particular, but all butterflies go through 4 separate stages in their life cycle: the egg, caterpillar, pupa (chrysalis), and the butterfly. The next few postings will search out these stages as to their spiritual parables. It is my prayer that we will be given greater understanding of where we are in our growth in the Lord through these postings, and thus be better equipped to face the day with increasing faith and inner strength.

METAMORPHOSIS IN SCRIPTURE
The Greek word metamorphose {3339} is used 4 times in the NT.

Matthew 17:2 KJV
And was transfigured {3339} before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light.

Mark 9:2 KJV
And after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themselves: and he was transfigured {3339} before them.

Romans 12:2 KJV
And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed {3339} by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

2 Corinthians 3:18 KJV
But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed {3339} into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.

METAMORPHOSIS DEFINITIONS

The following number 3339 is taken from the Strong's Exhaustive Concordance Greek Dictionary. #3339 is from another word 3445 which is from 3444, and etc.

NT:3339
metamorphoo (met-am-or-fo'-o); from NT:3326 and NT:3445; to transform (literally or figuratively, "metamorphose"): KJV - change, transfigure, transform.

NT:3445
morphoo (mor-fo'-o); from the same as NT:3444; to fashion (figuratively): KJV - form.

NT:3444
morphe (mor-fay'); perhaps from the base of NT:3313 (through the idea of adjustment of parts); shape; figuratively, nature: KJV - form.

SANDY RHEMA

HEARD: The mind-sets of My people are being transformed. Metamorphosis. Hidden. Transformed. The gospel at the pace of walking. I AM with you. Transformed. I AM training you.

HEARD: Holiness is what You want from me. Take my mind and transform it. Take my will and form it to Yours. How long will it take? As long as you need. At last you're here. Humble beginnings.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God." (Rom 12:1-2 NKJV)

GRANDMA ANNA RHEMA

HEARD: Some receiving now. Forerunners. One by one to Zion. Changed. Mind transformed. Not body, that comes later.

CONCLUSION

{Words to Ponder are summaries of His quickened Words}

WORD TO PONDER: CHANGING YOU

Just like the birthing of a butterfly, I AM changing you. I AM bringing you into alignment with My mind, the mind of Christ. Your mind, will and attitude will be transformed into the beauty of one who is meek, gentle and humble. I shall thoroughly prepare you to be among the living blossoms of glory and spread nectar to the world around you. You shall emerge with the full wings of faith and be a source of vivid, yet delicate beauty, displaying My glory and love.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God." (Rom 12:1-2 NKJV)

Don’t Settle For Less
Sandy Warner

Jan 19, 2004

Through exposure to others who have walked the path before you, I AM stretching your faith to break away from old mind-sets. Opportunities are coming to move you to another level.

If you listen to the voice of holiness, you will give more time to your relationship with Me and less time to carnal pleasures. If you listen to My voice calling you away from fellowship with the world, your faith will stretch to receive the callings and opportunities coming to you this hour. Do not miss this hour of visitation, for if you receive such, it shall become a foundation for even more yet to come. If you spend your time in the world, your faith will break down and this will cause you to settle for less. Leave your comfort zone and move forward towards Me, says your Maker. I shall be your Comfort.

"Now the LORD had said to Abram "Get out of your country, from your family and from your father's house, to a land that I will show you. " (Genesis 12:1 NKJV)

The Ferocious Love of God

Victoria Boyson

Web: www.boyson.org

Many years ago I endured a time of persecution by Christians in the church where my husband and I served in ministry at that time. I believe these dear people truly loved me, but were turned against me by one person's accusations and lies about me. So, believing the lies of another Christian in the church, they persecuted me. Their hatred for me was heated and their curses vile.

Because of all the gossip and slander that ensued, I came under depression. I felt emotionally numb and cut off from God. I knew in my mind that Jesus loved me, but I could not feel His love for me. Being so passionately hated by my brothers and sisters in Christ caused me to hate myself.

ENLIGHTENING DREAM

During this time of heavy oppression, I cried out to Jesus to show me His love for me. That night I had a dream:

I was in a beautiful garden with many different flowers and trees. The sun was bright and beautiful; it was a glorious place to be. But also in the garden were three demons. They talked amongst themselves until they saw me, then suddenly they attacked me.

They were all over me. One lunged at my legs, another at my chest and the third jumped on my back and was trying to choke me to death with his arm around my neck. I was startled awake by the intensity of the dream, but even as I woke, the dream continued like a movie in my mind.

The Lion Came After Me!

I saw the three demon spirits attacking me and could feel on my physical body the effects of their attack. I screamed out a rebuke in the name of Jesus. As I did two of the demons flew off of me, but the demon that was choking me remained.

I was terrified, yet I saw in the distance running towards me at a tremendous rate of speed an enormous lion. By earthly standards this lion was abnormally large. He was the height of a horse, but was much broader and his head was massive. As he bounded towards me his mane flew out from his face as his paws struck the ground. He was incredibly beautiful and was indeed an awesome sight. He ran so fast that the hair on his body appeared to make waves like a wheat field blown by the wind as he leapt and bounded towards me.

The sight of the lion was more terrifying to me than that of the demons. He ran towards me with such invariant ferocity that I was frightened. He was enraged, and his fury was terrifying.

The fierceness in his eyes sent a shiver up my spine... His eyes were very large and beautiful, but fierce. He heaved and grunted as he galloped towards me, much like a warrior in the heat of battle.

The fierceness in his eyes sent a shiver up my spine. I began to brace myself against his inevitable strike, but then I caught a glimpse of his eyes and saw that they were not focused on me. I was not the target of his rage, but his focus was on the demon that was on my back. All of his anger was aimed at the demon who was clutching my neck, whose grasp I could physically feel, though not see, around my neck.

As he approached in full gallop, I felt the ground shake as he landed again and again. In one final burst of energy he leapt high in the air, opened his mouth wide and lunged towards me. In an instant his mouth completely engulfed the demon creature, and then, as quickly as the lion had appeared, he was gone.

The dream was over, and I sat up in bed completely awake. I was sweaty and out of breath. I cried out to God, "What was that?" He spoke with the same fierceness as the Lion and said, "I love you ferociously!"

Your Enemies Shudder At The Sight Of Jesus!

I knew that I had seen the ferociousness of God. He was indeed, terrifying, but I had nothing to fear from Him because that terror was directed at my enemies, and His love enveloped me. My Jesus didn't just love me, but the driving passion He felt towards me was terrifying to my enemies.

Jesus loves you ferociously too, and your enemies shutter at the sight of Him! In Revelation 5:5, Jesus is described as the Lion of the tribe of Judah. Yes, He is the gentle Lamb of God who surrendered Himself for slaughter for your sake, but He is also every bit the Lion of God, and His enemies tremble at His approach. He is driven by an all consuming passion for His bride. You are that bride!

I believe that in the days ahead we will see much more of the ferocity of the Lion of God, but His wrath will be directed at our enemies. It is His love for us that forces Him to manifest His anger, and this same love moves Him to devour our enemies.

Dear God, I ask You to pour out Your ferocious love on all who read this testimony and set the captives free.

Love in Jesus,
Victoria

The Fall Of Jezebel

Pam Clark

I was at a conference a few weeks ago where a lady gave a prophetic word and part of that word was the exhortation that Jezebel has been quiet - but that she was not dead but just "asleep" and that she would rise again.

It does seem that we have had a reprieve of sorts from "the Jezebel focus." But when you realize that this spirit hates the prophetic and intercession, you can figure that the enemy wants to raise her up again if he can.

Jesus said that the spirit of "Elijah is to come" in the last days and we know that spirit was representative in His time through John the Baptist, who had a ministry of declaring righteousness and repentance and the soon coming of the Lord.

Elijah was a powerful man of prayer, even though he was of "like passions as us" or in other words, just as human as we are! But his prayers moved the hands of God in powerful and manifest ways.

So it only goes to prove that as the end of this age comes to a close before the great coming of the Lord that we will see many preachers of righteousness and prophetic signs and wonders and miracles. The enemy will seek to counter this in lying words, signs and wonders and miracles. We must know the character of God.

Jezebel was a queen of Israel who was inspired by Satan and who rejected the Lord and His ministry, prophets and people. She would use the name of the Lord to manipulate things in such a way to gain her advantage, but when someone else used His Name, she ignored it and did not consider it.

Because Naboth, a resident there, had a vineyard that was attractive to King Ahab but was the inheritance of his fathers, he refused to sell it or trade it for something else because it had special value to him beyond any price that King Ahab could give him for it. He valued his Spiritual heritage and so unlike Esau who sold his birthright for a meal, he refused to sell it just for it to be used for a vegetable garden.

Ahab was moody and began to sulk for this land and when his wife Jezebel asked him what was wrong, he complained to her about this. She said "No problem!" and went to work to destroy not only the reputation, but even the life of a Godly man, just so Ahab could enjoy having a vegetable garden near the palace.

Of course the Spirit of the Lord was grieved by this unrighteousness. But God does not always act immediately in justice like we would like Him to at times because (1) oftentimes we are the ones who need to do something in our God given authority to take dominion and subdue the earth by His Spirit as we were commanded in Genesis, and (2) God will wait for the full manifestation of the evil before He will supernaturally do something about it Himself, waiting for the sin to challenge Him to His Face. This will give man a measure of space in which he can repent.

Because Ahab and Jezebel were the rulers over Israel and could use the Name of the Lord of Israel who had a track record, they felt they could not be defeated. Every now and then Ahab would repent a little bit when confronted, but later he would change his mind to selfish ambitions again. We don't have a record of where Jezebel repented at all and it was Ahab's choice to marry her as the queen.

But the reality is that God held Ahab accountable for it because he was the king. He knew that his wife's works were against the Lord's ways and he allowed it to be so, and even enjoyed profiting from her actions. In essence, he was rejecting his own relationship with the Lord over this.

The Bible says in I Kings 21:25 "But there was no one like Ahab who sold himself to do wickedness in the sight of the Lord, because Jezebel his wife stirred him up."

God is long suffering with many because He wants everyone to be saved. He sent His beloved Son to die for that very purpose, to express His love for them. He also sent His prophet Elijah to this situation to confront Ahab but ultimately Ahab rejected the Lord.

When people love the Lord, it's hard for them to "understand" those who do not. Light and darkness do not comprehend each other. John 1:5 says: "And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not."

Not only can darkness not understand the light (except through His grace), the word "comprehend" means: to take eagerly, i.e. seize, possess, apprehend, attain, come upon, comprehend, find, obtain, perceive, (over-) take. [ref: Strongs] So, darkness cannot extinguish or take over the light! What is in Christ will last!

Because it is the will of God for all to be saved, and Elijah loved the Lord and had His Heart, I believe Elijah was devastated when the awesome acts of God were displayed for Ahab and Jezebel and she still refused to come to the Lord.

It ~seemed~ her power was stronger when what was really going on was that she chose like Judas to have hardness and betray innocent blood and chose murder and betrayal over that which is right and good. Her words sent Elijah running but she ultimately came to her death.

Elijah, as a man, lost heart, but the Lord is faithful and He encouraged Elijah and gave him a supernatural food and a blessing way of escape from this present evil world when He caught Him up in the whirlwind to Heaven, after he had mantled and established a successor to the ministry according to God's will.

Through others, God dealt with Ahab and Jezebel. The Lord allowed the hedge of protection to fall because of his sins, and Ahab succumbed to lying spirits that led to his death in battle, thinking he was invincible. Jezebel was later cast off a balcony to her death and the dogs licked her blood as they had Naboth's, just as Elijah had prophesied.

Just as Jesus taught us that John had "the spirit of Elijah" so we also know that people can carry "the spirit of Jezebel" or "the spirit of Ahab" or "the spirit of David," etc. But the choice is ours. People can choose what spirit they want to live in or with by their own decisions. It is our choice.

Jezebel was an evil woman who despised the ways of the Lord. I have encountered this spirit, as have many of you, because this spirit hates the prophetic ministry and hates true intercession.

This spirit will manipulate, slander, murder, intimidate, mock and destroy those who choose the humility and petitioning of the Lord for His mercies and power. This spirit will conspire and set others against each other and come against the Lord's work for the sake of promoting their own causes. This spirit will engage the "new age" false life which is only a counterfeit of the real. (Now some people are ignorant, but some are not.)

There are no lengths (because there is no conviction) that this spirit will not go to to destroy the Lord's anointed. It can be very sneaky and will use flattery and smooth words, as Jezebel did. It will appear right when it's very wrong. It's not about her make up, unless the make up helped her cause for the trap.

Sometimes the anti-Christ spirit is so powerful in its position that all you can do is humble yourself and agree with the Lord and wait for Him to act in His vengeance. You may suffer or even die as Naboth did but the Lord does not forget. Since the Lord is the Resurrection and the Life, He can restore to a better life.

But He gives us all free will. There are people in intercessory ministry leadership who have taught us how to use Scriptures to pray in God's will. If we do not know that Foundation of Love, we can even use Scriptures to pray amiss if they are not properly balanced with the center cornerstone of the Love of Christ.

Through some teaching and prayers of others, I learned to declare my agreement that the spirit of Jezebel was cast down in my life and I saw changes accordingly. But when I heard this word that she would revive, I was petrified because that evil spirit almost killed me and most certainly shattered my heart, with a disbelief at the lengths it would go to come against good people and outright lie to have its way.

All I could do was run to the Lord for safety and cry out until He either equipped me or helped me to deal with it. Since things seemed to be going better in many ways and many things were restored even better in some respects, I had been feeling a rest, but I then ran to the Lord when I heard this word about that revival.

I asked the Lord what to do as I did not want to relive ANY of that evil again and He spoke to me to agree with Him for His will against "the spirit of Ahab." Ahab was destroyed because he gave license to evil and rejected the word of the Lord for repentance for right standing with the Lord. God offered His Love to them, with miracles, but both Ahab and Jezebel rejected it.

You can have false friends. Sometimes it's very sad to find out that those you love and trust really are working behind your back against you. We don't want to live a life of paranoia, but sadly, we all can be fooled that way. Jesus Himself is our testimony that it can and will happen, but we need to continue in our faith of believing in His Victory, even to the death, because He is the Resurrection of Life!

Athaliah was of royal lineage and when her son, a king died, she worked to murder all the rightful heirs to the throne so she could have that power. Like Absolom who came against his father David from anger, she tried to usurp the throne.

2 Kings 11:1 "When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs." But Joash, an infant who was heir, escaped with his nurse and they hid. (v.3) "So he was hidden with her in the house of the Lord for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Later the troops gathered and deployed and Athaliah was dethroned. We must be careful to be in agreement with the Lord's Spirit because some positions can seem real and not really be legitimate. The devil is a master con artist. Some people will con their authority and friendship but really be about personal gain and advantage with the Godly ones as the expense for it.

But I learned to declare that "the spirit of Athaliah is dethroned, and Jezebel is cast down" when dealing with some false friends and very evil circumstances. When I feared the "awakening" of Jezebel to wreak havoc, I went to the Lord who said pray in agreement with Him against "the spirit of Ahab," for that is what gives Jezebel the authority she uses to legislate evil decrees. When I did, I felt a great peace come over me.

Jezebel was not dealt with until Ahab was. She was under his covering by the choice of both of them. When Ahab was destroyed, Jezebel soon followed in the dealings of God and the land saw peace from its former terrors. Thank God for His mercies!

So I have learned to pray and declare according to God's word that "the spirit of Athaliah is dethroned, the spirit of Jezebel is cast down, and that the spirit of Ahab is destroyed by the sword (the word) of the Lord." I know I cannot come against these strong spirits in my own strength and sometimes it is very hard to find Godly agreement. But I can hide myself in His tower (His Word).

God wants ALL to come to His saving grace and find mercy and help in our times of need, but some just flat out refuse to and He will give space for them. But through our God we can do valiantly and win!

Once these spirits are dealt with by our agreement with God's Spirit, then seekers can petition God and have His rule and reign of righteousness and loving kindnesses and justice and blessings. He wants His Spirit in us in the earth. We must learn to stand in the will of the Lord through His Word.

The Fire Of My Love In You
Yolanda Ballard

Mar 18, 2004
My child, I have called you before the foundation of the earth, and I love you with a never-ending love. There is never anything you can do to separate yourself from My love for it is unconditional and it is lasting enduring any hardship, dismay, agitation or the like for I do not look upon these things. My love overcomes all things and it is in you, My child.

Yes, My love is in you and perfect love casts out all fear. Open yourself fully and completely to My love and receive not the torment that comes from the evil one. My love is pure and holy, and is full of goodness and graciousness and joy, and it is everlasting. Come into the deepest most depths of My love for I want to take you in deeply.

I want to transform you with the fire of My love and purge by the trials you have faced all dross, all that is not of Me. My child, I AM cleaning you up, and I AM baptizing you with brokenness with My fire, and you will not come out the same. Yes, I AM transforming you into My image by you not turning to the arm of the flesh and enduring the suffering of the crucifixion of your flesh.

You must quit striving to make it on your own, and yield completely to My will, which is to let go of all independence, and trust totally in My faithfulness to take you through. Unless the alabaster box is broken open, the sweet fragrance of My presence and the aroma of My love cannot come through. Yes, I want to engulf you with My love where it becomes a way of life to you, where no type of offense will ever take place in your life from man or beast, that is which is from the devourer, that is of the demonic realm.

No situation or circumstance created from the evil one will pull you down, because you are an overcomer, and I lift you up as one that carries the banner of My love, and one that carries the sword of My Spirit and shield of faith, one who uses your lance effectively consistently praying for all saints that I put on your heart. Above all you are covered with the helmet of salvation, the breastplate of My righteousness, prepared to minister My gospel, and loins girded and strengthened in truth and integrity.

Yes, you are an overcomer, and I lead you into battle. I AM your rear guard and I cover you completely round about as with a cloud, I AM your shield and your glory. I AM your captain. You will not go wrong with Me as your head leading you in the way you should go. And yes, I AM leading you and taking you through the fire, and I promised it would not burn you or your loved ones. Your family is covered with the precious and efficacious blood of the Lamb.

My Son Jesus Christ died to give you the abundant life of peace, joy, fulfillment, and happiness, full of prosperity, health, and every good thing, but promised with much tribulation, but I carry you through it. And I AM doing a good work in you. So rest and know that I love you and that you and your loved ones are in the palm of My hand for you are Mine, and I've called you and blessed you. With My name you will bring Me glory, says your God. And My love is lasting and enduring forevermore.

A Call To Intimacy And Holiness
Yolanda Ballard

Mar 19, 2004
Open up the door and let the King of Glory come in. All the futile attempts to please Him in the flesh be demolished, to be torn down completely. All the wastelands be cleared and built up to be fresh with the newness of the wine and manna, the Gift of Life which is in the Son. Jesus is His name. Yes, the Giver of Life is He.

All who are weary and are heavy laden come unto Him. For He will lift you up and take you into His glory, His eternal haven of rest. My most precious servants, come unto Me and rest and listen for I have much I would have to share with you. But you must come unto Me, and be quiet and still, and listen. Quit striving and running around, but settle down, be at peace, for I want to bless you with the touch of My hand alone. Yes, individually come unto Me and sup for I have much to bless you with, like nuggets of gold I want to pour out upon you.

You are My children, My precious servants, and I long to meet with you in the beauty of holiness, in true holiness and fellowship and commitment to My perfect will. Yes, My call is to holiness, a life of separation from the world and its ways, and intimacy, true communion with Me. Quit striving to make it on your own to build My church. Aren't I the Master Builder, the Chief Cornerstone? Didn't I say that all men would be drawn unto Me if you lift Me up? And how are you doing it being engulfed in busyness and striving after the wind, doing things in vain outside of My will?

Seek My face when I can be found. Not on the basis of your timetable, but by Mine. Early....put Me first on your list of priorities to meet with Me. Gather with the saints with the purpose of seeking My face, My presence, and My touch....to minister unto Me alone, and I will do the rest...... to pour out the latter rain as I promised; to prepare My people as the end time army I proclaimed; to do greater works through them, because I go to the Father. Yes, the call is to seek My face....to lay all upon the altar.....to proclaim the victory of the shed blood of the Lamb.....to pull down strongholds over the land and any evil vain thing.

For this is the year of jubilee, and I AM coming soon, says your God, coming for My bride for the Lamb is ready. The marriage supper of the Lamb is prepared. The table is set and the chairs are ready to be filled. Come unto Me, My holy ones, My called out ones, My remnant. Prepare your hearts for the time is at hand for the ultimate rapture of My love.

Deep calleth unto deep at the sound of thy waterspouts. Listen to the rushing of the waters ready to sweep you away unto the ecstasy of My love. Come unto Me, My good and faithful servants. Come unto Me.

The Forge

Bill Burns

Last Friday during a time of worship the Lord spoke these words to me, "Be watchful and strengthen the things which remain, which are ready to die, and hold fast what you have until I come." I then asked the Lord what things, and He said, "I have baptized My people in the fire. Do not let My fire go out." When these words were spoken I saw a vision of a blacksmith standing by a forge. The blacksmith was pumping the bellows, and the coals in the forge burned red hot.

As I was watching the blacksmith I thought of what the prophet Isaiah said.

Isaiah 54:16 "Behold, I have created the blacksmith Who blows the coals in the fire, Who brings forth an instrument for his work; And I have created the spoiler to destroy.

As I meditated on this scripture I could see that we are the blacksmiths that God has created. The forge would represent our hearts, and the bellows would be the Holy Spirit. So, when we stir up the Holy Spirit, then He blows (wind of the Spirit) upon our hearts and keeps God's fire burning within our hearts.

In 1 Kings 8:58 Solomon prayed that God would "incline our hearts to himself." The apostle Paul exhorts Timothy to "stir up the gift of God, which is in you." The Greek word that Paul uses for stir means "to kindle up." To kindle up -- as in blowing on the coals to restart a fire that is about to go out!

In Revelation 3:18 the Lord counsels us to purchase gold (heart faith) refined in the fire. If we will stir up the Holy Spirit who is in us and believe the prophetic word (on the baptism of fire) that Jesus spoke to us, then our hearts will be set ablaze like the two disciples on the Road to Emmaus experienced.

Luke 24: 30-32 Now it came to pass, as He sat at the table with them, that He took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them. Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight. And they said to one another, "Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?"

If our hearts (love for God) are set on fire, then we will bring forth instruments (weapons) to use against the destroyer (Satan). God's promise to His servants is recorded in:

Isaiah 54:17 No weapon formed against you shall prosper, And every tongue which rises against you in judgment You shall condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the LORD, And their righteousness is from Me," Says the LORD.

If we have had our faith purged and tempered in the fire of God, we will be equipped with spiritual weapons.

2 Corinthians 10:4 For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds.

This is God's promise to the blacksmiths (artisans or craftsmen) -- NO weapon formed against you will prosper or be effective. And you will be able to break every curse spoken against you because you will have heart faith. Heart faith (not head faith) comes because you have stirred up the Holy Spirit who is in you. When the fire of God is burning within, you will have God's power (weapons) to defeat the enemy.

This is why the Lord said, "Hold fast what you have." This summer will be a time of intense spiritual warfare. We must not become complacent, nor should we become distracted with the issues of life. This summer will be either a time of great victory or tremendous setbacks for the saints of God. Isaiah prophesied that our heritage is one of victory. That is, if we blow on the coals in our fire. You might ask how does one stir up the breath of God to blow on the coals of our heart. Here is your answer:

Ezekiel 37:9 Also He said to me, Prophesy to the breath, prophesy, son of man, and say to the breath, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe on these slain, that they may live."

You Will See A Major Breakthrough
Marsha Burns

I believe the Lord showed me clearly that we, His Church, will see some major breakthrough and victory by the end of June this year. Things that have been troubling for quite some time will come to a conclusion. This has been about a 4-year battle for many, yet for some this battle has been 8 years (two 4's), and the strength of the opposition has intensified in the last 2 years. But, that battle is about to come to resolution. And, the Lord says, I want My people to be free, but you must do your part to overcome the works of the flesh before you contend with the enemy. You are entering a season of war, and the results will bring victory and greater freedom than you have experienced for a long time. Do your part by rising up in the Spirit and overcoming the works of the flesh and the devil, and refuse the temptation to engineer the outcome of your circumstances according to your own desires. Trust Me to do this work supernaturally. Do not be afraid, for I am with you.

June 18, 2004: Beloved, measure everything that comes your way by the truth of My Word. The enemy is doing his best to get you off course by causing you to be led by your emotions instead of being moved by the Spirit. The results could be disastrous if you do not take every precaution to protect yourself from this attack. Put on the whole armor and walk in truth, righteousness peace, and faith. Be on guard and persevere through this time of difficulty and you will be victorious.
Ephesians 6:11-18 Put on the whole armor of God that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places. Therefore, take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all to stand. Stand, therefore, having girded your waist with trust, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for al the saints.

Lord Of The Breakthrough
Bill Burns

I remind you that I am the Lord of the breakthrough. I say to specifically in these three months of June, July and August, you have the potential and possibility of coming to a great personal victory. I have already spoken to you that it will either be a turning point or a vanishing point. Some of you need a reference point for turning, and I say, is it not your faith? Is it not faith in Me? Am I not the author of your faith and the finisher of your faith? Am I not the Lord of Glory who always leads you in triumph? If you are to achieve that personal victory, you must turn to a position of faith. You must turn and cut off the defilement of the past and face the future. Face it in My face, for in My face you shall see My eyes that burn like fire, which produces the glory of resurrection power. I am bringing you to live in such a place, the power of resurrection life even in these days, says the Lord.

You are a final and glorious generation, a holy priesthood, and My work is being done in you. All that I require is your submission to that work and your faith that the good work I have begun in you will be accomplished, says the Lord. This is a time to gird up the loins of your strength. Lift up the hands that hang down with infirmity. Strengthen your legs and knees and feet in the walk of faith that is before you. Learn to call upon the Lord in your time of need. Come with ears to hear and eyes to see, for I shall surely show you the way in this dark hour of the earth. Out of the gross darkness comes the greatest light, for I am the Light of the earth; I am the light of My Church; I am the light of the Temple. I will come and show you the way. If you will follow the path and believe in Me, then you shall see My glory. If you will believe, you will see the glory of this day, says the Lord.

The Fullness of Times

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

The fullness of times are indeed come unto us. Unbelievable things are happening. Both good and bad and they are happening at unbelievable speed. We should therefore position ourselves as the Lord’s army lest we should fall short of the Lord’s plan for the moment. At this times there would be:

A release of the fullness of Satan’s wiles

The devil’s wiles are on the increase and we must be watchful. He is coming in through deception, lies, sexual immorality, lust, religion etc and his sons are increasing. We must therefore take heed lest we fall. It is increasing and very soon it would come to its fullness. We should be watchful.

A release of the fullness of God’s Spirit

Revival, sanctification, salvation, release of divine wisdom and knowledge is on the increase. God’s sons are manifesting. We should note and take hold of the season to develop ourselves and the part of the body to which we are connected to. Let’s release them. Let’s build up the body . Perfection is being released. Let us make Zion, the perfection of beauty.

The marriage of the antichrist

In the last days the man of sin would be manifested -2 Thes.2. and he would get married to the world. His mark and name is 666. Whosoever receives the mark has received him and has gotten married to him. It would take place on the earth. Christians are called to draw closer to God. The devil is just waiting for the church’s rapture before he brings his son on stage.

The marriage of Christ

Everything is being set for the wedding of the church to her Lord. We are being prepared for we shall bear his name. Let us therefore give ourselves to the Holy Ghost to do the work of purification he wants to do for the groom is indeed coming for a bride without blemish, wrinkle and stain. Let us be perfect and stay perfect for our LORD.

Prophecy

I am coming soon and every eye shall behold me and see me even as I am. Therefore prepare for that day is at hand. I am raising a people of purity who will match my power. They will be a people of glory who will carry my name. Come to me with a fervent heart and I will make you perfect. Be zealous therefore and draw near.

The Fast of Tammuz

Cathy Pribila

Jul 6, 2004
Today, July 6th, the Jewish nation observes the Fast of Tammuz. This is a solemn day of fasting and mourning marking great tragedies which have befallen the Jewish people. On this same day, throughout history, many devastating calamities have occurred. This day, which is the 17th of Tammuz on the Jewish calendar, also begins a 3 week period of lament and remembrance, which culminates on the 9th of Av, another terribly calamitous day in the history of the Jewish people.

On this date, Moses broke the tablets at Mount Sinai — in response to the sin of the Golden Calf.

On this date, in the First Temple Era, the daily offerings in the First Temple were stopped, due to the fact that, during the siege of Jerusalem, the Kohanim could no longer obtain sheep.

On this date, one year after the sacrifices were stopped, the walls of Jerusalem were finally breached after many months of siege by Nebuchadnezzar and his Babylonian forces.

On this date, Jerusalem's walls were breached, this time by Titus and the Roman forces, prior to the destruction of the Second Temple in 70 CE.

On this date, prior to the Great Revolt, the Roman general Apostamos burned a Torah scroll, an act which was duplicated by Hitler's forces during the Holocaust

On this date, an idolatrous image was placed in the Sanctuary of the Holy Temple by King Menashe - a brazen act of blasphemy and desecration

Three weeks from today, on the 9th of Av, the following events have occurred throughout history:

The spies returned, and gave a bad report of the Promised Land. The sin of the spies caused Hashem to decree that the Children of Israel who left Egypt would not be permitted to enter the land of Israel

The first Temple was destroyed after Jerusalem was breached by Nebuchadnezzar

The second Temple was destroyed by the Roman forces

The entire Jewish population of York, England was massacred on the 9th of Av in 1190

King Edward signed the order banishing all Jews from England on the Ninth of Av in 1290

In 1492, King Ferdinand of Spain issued a decree expelling Jews from Spain, setting Tisha B'Av as the final date by which not a single Jew would be allowed to walk on Spanish soil.

World War I – which began the downward slide to the Holocaust – began on the eve of Tisha B'av.

On the eve of Tisha B'Av in 1942, the mass deportation of Jews began, when the first railroad car left from the Warsaw Ghetto, en route to Treblinka.

As you can see, this 3 week period, which begins today, and lasts until the 27th of July, has been a time of heartbreak and anguish for the Jewish people throughout the centuries. It is a time of travail for the people of God. The fast of Tammuz is mentioned once in the Bible, in Zechariah 8:19, where the verse cites "the fast of fourth month....". This verse, however, speaks of how this fast will become "joy, gladness and cheerful feasts for the house of Judah…". This is very interesting, because though much suffering has occurred during this time period, it seems that one day this very same time period will be an occasion of joy and happiness! Most of the calamities that befell the Jewish people were judgments from the hand of the Lord for their idolatrous ways. We know that judgment must still fall on the nations in the end times, but the end result of these judgments will be a time when our "fasting" and mourning will be turned into gladness and joy, as we live together in the millennial kingdom, where we will be able to worship our King Yeshua in person!

It is significant for us today, I believe, that Ezekiel, a young man and an anointed prophet of the Lord, brought forth his prophesies about the end of days after he was taken into Babylonian captivity by Nebuchadnezzar during THIS VERY SAME TIME PERIOD so long ago. Ezekiel was called by God to rouse and revive the Jews in exile; to comfort them and assure them that God still had a plan and a purpose for the nation of Israel. He also had much to say about events that will occur in our day, or in the near future……events set to happen in the end times.

Perhaps some of these events will occur during this 3 week period that starts in July. Some end-time prophesies DO mirror incidents that have occurred during this particular interval of time, such as the antichrist desecrating the Temple with his image, just as King Menashe desecrated the Temple with an idol. MAYBE the restored end-time animal sacrifices spoken of in Daniel will once again be stopped during this 3 week period, possibly even on the 17th of Tammuz again!

We should be watchful and spiritually alert during this time. We should spend as much time as possible in intensive intercession for the Jewish people especially, and for the body of Christ generally. We must learn, and teach others, to be aware of this unique frame of time. It is a perilous time, spiritually, and we need to prepare our weapons, and be ready to boldly engage the enemy.

However, our beloved Father is always faithful to bring forth His purposes. Though the ending of the sacrifices was heartbreaking to the Jews, their Abba provided for them, and for all mankind a final and complete sacrifice...His own son, Yeshua, whose death FOREVER negated the need for a sacrifice. The Temples were destroyed as judgment for Israel's idolatry. Yet God, in a breathtaking example of His tender mercy, made sure that we no longer NEED a temple...if we accept His sacrifice for our sins, Yeshua, His presence will dwell WITHIN us! We must explain this to the Jewish people...that in the aftermath of judgment, God provides His best. In the aftermath of the Holocaust, God provided the Promised Land once again; in the aftermath of coming judgments, God will provide a new Temple, we will all worship together there in Jerusalem, and as Zechariah says, our fast days will become FEAST days, days of joyful celebration! Our mourning will be turned into dancing! In the aftermath of coming judgments, ALL ISRAEL will be saved!! Then, the word of the Lord will proceed from Zion, and Israel will at last fulfill her chosen destiny!

So as we enter into this intensive time between today and July 27th, let's heighten our awareness, and hone our warfare skills, knowing that, on some future day, the physical presence of the Lord of Hosts will once again hover over Mount Zion in a smoking cloud by day, and in a shining flame of fire by night (Is. 4:5). In the aftermath of coming judgments, we will once again SEE the physical presence of the Lord of Hosts, and the Shekinah Glory will cover Jerusalem like a hupah as we feast at the marriage supper of the Lamb!!

The Fear Of The Lord
Ron Wood

Jun 23, 2004
"Blessed are all who fear the Lord, who walk in his ways. You will eat the fruit of your labor; blessings and prosperity will be yours." (Ps. 128:1-2 NIV) Some blessings come by faith. Other blessings come our way because of God's mercy. But the greatest blessings of all are reserved for those who walk in the fear of the Lord. "He will be the sure foundation for your times, a rich store of salvation and wisdom and knowledge; the fear of the LORD is the key to this treasure." (Isa 33:6 NIV)

A revival of the fear of the Lord is returning to the church. In both the Old and New Testaments, the return of the fear of the Lord to God's people preceded unprecedented outbreaks of God's glory. Miracles follow the fear of the Lord.

When God reveals Himself, that disclosure is often more intense than casual Christians can handle. Our sin-prone flesh isn't equipped to live in light that bright! A revelation of God's holiness produces a realization of our sinfulness. We see our need of additional grace from God's throne. Humility is generated in us. Then, God's mercy transforms us and God's love embraces us.

When God discloses Himself, we get more than we expect. He shows Himself as both Savior and Lord. "Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God"

(Rom. 11:22). He is both the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world and the Lion of the Tribe of Judah. He is both the merciful and faithful High Priest and the soon-coming King Who will shake the nations. God reveals Himself as He actually is, not as we want Him to be. He is a sovereign ruler, not a cosmic Santa Claus. He is the Judge of all the earth, not an absentee landlord who never inspects His property. Indeed, He owns planet earth and His tenants are going to give an account for their behavior. Even now, the judgments of God are being released upon the earth.

The fear of the Lord has often come to God's people in times of crisis. Any Christian, church, or nation that lacks the fear of the Lord is deficient and will soon decline. We need God to give us the gift of holy fear so we can be fully formed as obedient children (See 1 Peter 1:13-17).

Apart from the fear of God, we will not pass the test of being true to His Word. Without reverence, we will not be able to take the land or withstand our enemies. The fear of the Lord is the final stage of maturity in Christ.

The fear of the Lord is an antidote to lawlessness and rebellion. King Saul is a biblical example of a man who did not fear God. His arrogance and presumptuousness disqualified him and he failed in his opportunity. David, on the other hand, so feared God that he wouldn't lift up a hand against God's anointed servant even when Saul was persecuting him. David passed the test of integrity of character and humility of heart because he knew the fear of the Lord.

The fear of God will preserve us from evil. The reverential awe of our holy God will cause us to make right decisions when pressure to sin or temptation to retreat comes against us. In the Bible, these times of testing were highlighted with renewed respect for God.

When God lets us see His glory, holy fear is the good result. An example in the Old Testament occurred when Joshua encountered the Lord after Israel crossed the Jordan River (Joshua 5). A New Testament example was when the early church was purified by the shocking, sudden deaths of two members (Acts 5). Fear of God, or the absence of it, can determine our destiny.

Prophets know the fear of God. They sense God's glory more quickly than other people. They tremble at His Word. Isaiah had an encounter with God that affected his life forever. He saw a vision of God seated on His throne with angels crying out, "Holy, holy, holy!"

A few years ago, as I was waiting to preach before my Sunday service, I began to see in my spirit this throne-room scene which is described in Isaiah 6. I was provoked to worship more intensely and began to say aloud, "God, You're so holy!" As I said this, I heard God clearly speak to me and say, "Yes, and I'm humble, too."

Instantly, repentance was given to me. Convicted by the light of His grace and glory, I began to cry out, "God, I'm not like You!" The contrast between my sinfulness and His holiness, my pride and His meekness, was more than I could bear. God had disclosed Himself to me. It changed my perception of Him.

God is holy. That means He is set apart. He is "other-than", not like this present world nor like our fallen human nature. God is not contaminated with sin or impurity. His thoughts and ways are high above ours. He dwells in a lofty place, but also with those who are meek and tremble at His Word. His holiness is accompanied by humility, therefore His power is never arbitrary or capricious. He is gentle in His love for His people, even while His holiness upholds His justice.

I wondered how God could be humble. This was such a new thought. Could it be true? Immediately I thought of Moses, the meekest man on earth. God said concerning Moses that He revealed Himself to ordinary prophets through dreams and visions. But not so with Moses. This humble man had face-to-face encounters with God. That's how much God values humility. I remembered the New Testament Scripture that said God resists the proud but gives grace to the humble (James 4:6). Humility attracts grace. Pride is incompatible with God. I thought of Jesus, who said, "Take my yoke upon you, for I am meek and lowly of heart." Yes, God is holy and He is also humble. This revelation of God's nature caused me to fear Him in a fresh way.

How will the fear of God affect our lives? The first thing it will do is to cause us to turn away from sin. "The fear of the Lord is to hate evil" (Prov. 8:13). I know God is perfectly just and that He will cause me to reap what I sow, therefore, I fear Him. The holy fear of God is not the same thing as being afraid. I am not scared of God, but I fear Him. I am sustained by His unchanging love, but I am not casual about encountering His holy presence. The fear of God is clean. It is healthy for us. It is not a condemning, controlling, paralyzing fear.

The primary way the fear of God is shown in our lives is not with emotions, like being scared, but with obedience to His Word. In this way, the fear of God sanctifies us. Therefore, two forces drive us to obey God. Both are appropriate. They are fear of God, and love for God.

Jesus said, "If you love Me, keep My commandments" (John 14:15). We treat God's Word the same as we treat God. Either we respect it or we despise it. To ignore God's Word is to have no fear of the Lord.

The fear of the Lord is not a feeling, but a decision that leads to submission to God. The Scripture says, "Submit to one another out of reverence for Christ" (Eph. 5:21 NIV). The fear of God results in us respecting and receiving one another. This is a mark of Christian humility. It is a characteristic of living in community, of being in God's family.

In addition, all those called to leadership are to "be submissive to those who are older... clothe yourselves with humility toward one another..." (1 Peter 5:5 NIV). Humility has a profound affect on our lives. It connects us in righteous relationships. It causes us to submit to the spiritual authority of those the Lord has set over us in the church. Real humility honors God's authority.

After crossing the Jordan, Joshua encountered the Lord (Josh. 5:13). The Captain of the Lord of Hosts had showed up on the battle field with a drawn sword. Joshua bowed low and removed his shoes. He offered the salute of submission, awaiting the orders of his commander-in-chief. Because of Joshua's reverence, he was given a strategy to take the fortified city of Jericho. That strategy involved respecting holy things, God's offerings (Joshua 6:19). Joshua had the fear of the Lord.

The fear of the Lord gave the early church a respect for God's offerings as well. Revival was the result. A couple in the church lied about their offering (Acts 5). Peter said it was lying to the Holy Spirit. They died for their sin. Great fear came on the whole church.

The next thing that happened? An awesome wave of healing power broke out. Many people were saved and added to the church. Peter's shadow became an instrument for healing the sick in the streets (Acts 5:15). Miracles happened. God's glory is always manifested when His people worship Him in reverence and walk in the holy fear of God.

The Futility of Worshipping the Dragon

Arlette Pollard

Revelation 13:4

A master of deception
Steers a ship with sails raised high
Declaring safe passage
For those who join his journey's ride.
Over the seas they will go
None doubt a captain so bold.

Many are the travelers
Who have stood on board
The forbidden ship
Seeking the new horizons sworn
Yet have never seen the sun, rise or set.
Over the seas they have gone
From the safe harbor of home.

Up from the sea
The winds will roar.
Setting sails in motion
For the captain's course.
Deeper into darkness they'll head
Over the sea of dread.

The night is far spent
Will travelers repent
From trusting a captain
Whose heart of deception
Speaks words that abhor
The message of the risen Lord.

Or shall they bow down
Unadorned of a crown
To worship the serpent
Whose words of diversion
Obscures the light of the Son
From rising upon, a child's heart.

> "And they worshiped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshiped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? Who is able to make war with him?" Revelation 13:4
> "Son of man, set thy face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against all Egypt: speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord God; behold, I am against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midst of his rivers, which hath said, my river is mine own, and I have made it for myself." Ezekiel 29:2-3

Man, who has been redeemed, rescued by the hand of God from out of the turbulent seas of unbelief and disillusion, understands the perils of the deep. He understands the feelings of desperation that can be brought about by his own thoughts and emotions. Emotions, which were like a heavy weight upon his soul, dragged him deeper into the sea, deeper into the darkness of despondency. But man, who has been rescued from the murky seas of his own destructive emotions by the hand of God, knows what it is like to breathe the clean air in the land of the living. Man, who has been rescued and released from out of the depths of his own self-focused, life depleting emotions, understands well the difference between drowning in a sea of murky, polluted waters and partaking of the clean, pure waters that flow from God’s holy temple. The hand of God is mighty in reaching down and pulling a soul from the deep darkened seas that drown man in despair and disappointment.

To stand with God, as a devoted subject who bows in honor of God’s holy name, will help a man to gain true counsel with which to guide his heart’s journey. To stand with God, in submission to His authority, shall cause a man to stand in a position where love, holiness and hope are able to influence his thoughts and desires. He will observe life from a vantage point that was unknown while struggling in the sea of despair. To look upon life through Jesus Christ’s eyes of love, mercy and compassion, is to be able to soar to the highest heights, and look down upon the turbulent sea of his emotions, which once overcame him, and watch as they begin to fade from view. Emotions, which once were able to overcome man, dragging man down into great depths of despair, are transformed when touched by the healing hand of the One true God of mercy and compassion, and will lose power to control and influence a man’s life.

As God takes hold of a man’s hand and teaches him the way of holiness, he will realize that the path God has chosen for him, will lead him high atop God’s holy mountain. Upon God’s holy mountain, man will gain greater wisdom to understand what was accomplished through God’s Son, Jesus Christ. Wisdom will help man realize that love for God is what will set in order their spiritual house, their earthly temples that house the Holy Spirit. Those who have been welcomed into God’s eternal Kingdom of light, through their love for God, will continue to mature in the ways of God. Those under the governmental authority of Jesus Christ, who walk in the kingdom of light, will continue to mature in the ways of peace and mercy.

A man, whose heart and mind is governed by the Holy presence of the Lord, cannot submit to counterfeit gods who would try to establish authority upon his life. Because God sits as King upon the throne of a man’s heart, all others gods will be exposed as the counterfeits they truly are. God is holy, and all who He inhabits, will be conformed into His image. All that come under His authority will express and represent His nature. When God sits as Lord upon the throne of a man’s heart, He will send forth His healing waters to restore thoughts and emotions that had been polluted by the waters where the serpent freely swam. As God sits upon the throne of a man’s heart, His healing waters will restore and refresh a man’s soul so that God’s love will flow from the man, toward others. The love that flows from the throne of a man’s heart will be shared with those who are still floundering in the seas that the serpent rises from.

A man whose heart is truly given to the Lord, who has been lifted up by God, and who stands with God upon His holy mountain, will look upon life through eyes of compassion and mercy. He will appreciate that where once there was sorrow and sighing, instead, joy and gladness have sprung up. Where once ravenous beasts unmercifully attacked and brought suffering into his life, he now walks in peace. Because God has reached down and lifted him from the turbulent seas, and placed him upon His holy mountain, his eyes are continuously fixed upon the Lord. When the Lord has established his holy habitation within a child’s life, He will be faithful to come in vengeance and overpower any thought or emotion contrary to His holy nature. The Lord, Savior, Protector, is faithful to save man from the clutches of all beastly thoughts and emotions. God will be faithful to save those drowning in the sea of despair, who call on His holy name.

Man, who realizes it is not possible to climb God’s holy mountain in his own strength, but only in the strength of the Lord, will proclaim: once I was lame, but now I can leap as a hart. Man, who understands that God, has made it possible for man to stand from a vantage point of seeing the world through His eyes of mercy and compassion, will proclaim: once I was blind, but now I see. Man, who stands in the holy presence of the Lord, will feel his bound tongue loosen so that he can sing of God’s love, which flows in abundance from his heart.

A man caught in the sea of despair, which led him to believe that this was the natural reality of life, will give all thanks and glory to God, as God lifts him up and establishes him on holy ground. A man, who has been awakened to realize that life holds more than what those held in captivity to darkness have shared with him, will forever remember and appreciate walking in God’s kingdom of light and life. The putrefied waters, where the serpent swam unhindered, will be turned into a dried wilderness as the breath of God breaths upon them. When man realizes that God, in His mercy, has breathed upon the mighty sea that once enveloped him, he will live in thankfulness to God. Man is then able to breathe the clean air of peace and freedom. Man will bow down in sincere submission to the Lord on high for His mercy in dealing in kindness toward them.

After God has breathed upon the sea, and it has become a wilderness, the dragon, who had the ability to torment the heart and mind of a man, will lie dead among the reeds and rushes. The serpent has become a defeated foe because of God's goodness. When the dragon has been dealt a mighty deathblow by the breath of God, then man will realize that he is now walking in an unknown wilderness. Spiritually, he will walk through life on a path that he has never known before. But man does not need to fear this wilderness because as he continues on with the Lord, from out of the wilderness, springs of fresh water, holy waters, will flow and replenish the heart and mind of the man. The living waters will nourish and bring forth good fruit within the man's life, so that the man will live at peace with God and others. A highway of holiness appears so that man can walk at peace with the Lord, in newness of life.

The Word proclaims:

> "For God is my King of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth. Thou didst divide the sea by thy strength: thou dist break the heads of the dragons in the waters. Thou didst break the heads of leviathan in pieces, and gavest him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderness. Thou didst cleave the fountain and the flood: thou driedst up mighty rivers. The day is thine, the night also is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sun. Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter" Psalm 74:12-17

Through God's holy Word, God proclaims that He sits and reigns as King over all His creation. It is God who is able to bring forth salvation from the "midst of the earth". It is God who brings forth righteousness, and it is God who destroys evil. It is God who will provide fountains to nourish, and it is God who will dry up the mighty rivers so that wickedness is turned aside. But, men whose hearts and minds worship the words spoken by the great dragon, Satan, forgo the words of God, and claim authority over what God has created.

> "Son of man, set thy face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and against all Egypt: speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord God; behold, I am against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midst of his rivers, which hath said, my river is mine own, and I have made it for myself." Ezekiel 29:2-3

The dragon, Satan, who bears the image of unbelief, darkness, eternal separation from God, and hell, walks in self-focused pride proclaiming authority over the works that God has created. Man, who would follow after the nature of the dragon - "Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do" - will experience, like the dragon, no sense of grief or remorse in proclaiming "my river is mine own, and I have made it for myself." Yet, the Father proclaims that He is to receive the glory due His holy name. God proclaims that He alone is worthy to be honored as King over the works of His creation. Man, who would hear God's voice, will realize the wretchedness that lies in proclaiming possession and glory over what belongs to God alone.

God speaks forth through His holy Word, that He is the One who has created the dragon, and He is the one who can destroy him. Because the dragon's strength and power lies beyond the realm of man's power and strength, it is God who must deal a deathblow to the serpent. Man, apart from God, does not posses an arsenal powerful enough to take down the dragon. There is no weapon formed by the hands of natural man that can shatter the dragon's heart of stone. There is only one who is able to destroy the dragon, and that is God. It is the Son who will rise up in glory, truth, and perfect love, and slay the dragon. Through the power of God's Holy Word, the serpent, who has caused man much sorrow and suffering, will be destroyed. It is God's Word, God's sword of righteousness that is able to pierce the darkness so that God's light and glory may shine in power within a man's life. All praise and glory to the Lord of all creation.

"There is none good but one, that is, God." God alone is good, and deserves the glory. It is God who will reveal the depth of this understanding to man. Satan would deny or distort this truth. The serpent will never encourage man to believe that God alone is good, and that God's desire is to accomplish His good purpose within a man's life. The serpent will encourage man to seek his own way through life, without being in submission to the Lord of creation. The dragon would deny the power of the Holy Spirit, who was sent to comfort those who dwell upon the earth. The serpent will be quick to call out to a man, who expresses a desire to understand his relationship with God, that he understands the ways of God, and that he will share with the man the full counsel of God's nature. But to listen to the dragon, is to listen to the voice of death and destruction.

> "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son; in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." Colossians 1:13-14

It is God who will deliver man from out of darkness of unbelief and wickedness and into the light of His truth, mercy, love and holiness. It is God who sent to the earth His beloved Son, making it possible for man to receive redemption from his sins, through the blood that Jesus shed upon the cross. It is God who has made available His Holy Spirit so that He could come into a man's life and establish his governmental authority upon a man's heart. It is God who will reveal His kingdom of righteousness, so that man will be set free from believing that anything of worth exists within the kingdom of darkness. It is God's Son who is "the author and finisher of our faith." It is God's Son who is able to complete the good work that He has begun within a man's life.

But the dragon, whose heart of stone is repulsed by any expression of holy love between man and God, does not desire man to be set free from his captivity in his realm of darkness. If man is to seek after God, then the murderer, the dragon will be sure to speak out words that would cause the "good seed" to fall by the way side. Without the seed falling upon the good soil, the serpent knows the fowls will have a better chance at devouring, and discounting anything of worth that man may have partaken of. The dragon, whose nature reflects the misery of hell, desires only the destruction of man's relationship with God. He has no desire for any man to be set free to follow God up His holy mountain, where man will be able to look through God's eyes of love, mercy, compassion and longsuffering.

The dragon, whose murderous heart would desire to kill and destroy any relationship man would have with God, will continue to speak words that will draw man away from God. Satan, whose personality is founded on pride, desires man to look upon him, and not upon God. His nature, which was on display in the garden, continues to be in evidence today. The serpent's desire is that no man climb God's holy mountain, because then man would stand in a position of being able to see life from God's vantage point of love and mercy. He does not want man to stand with God, able to discern light from darkness. The dragon does not desire that a child should be lifted from out of the turbulent, putrefied seas of discouragement, unrepentance, and confusion, by the hand of God. The dragon does not want to die. He does not want to lose power and control over a man's life.

The dragon will continue to call out to man in hope of distracting man from pursuing their relationship with God. He will find those who are willing to listen. He will find those who will walk in agreement with the words that he will speak. Those, who listen to the deceptive words of the serpent, will not realize that it is the dragon they are listening to, because the serpent will use pride to blind them to true understanding. To those who were seeking to understand relationship with God, the serpent will disguise himself as an angel of light, so that man will not understand it is the devil who is speaking. Man will not understand that it is the dragon whom they are walking in agreement with, who they are reverencing and giving honor and glory unto.

The "god of this world", Satan, is able to deceive a man's heart, so that man does not understand the wretchedness of what they are doing. Satan knows what was accomplished through Jesus Christ, and the power that was released upon the earth. He understands that restitution was made for man's sins, through the perfect work of Jesus Christ. And that restitution is not of works, less any man should boast, walk in pride, as Satan walks in pride.

Satan understands the life changing power that will fill a man's life, through receiving God's Holy Spirit. How the Spirit is equipped to search out destructive thoughts and memories hidden in the deep recesses of a man's heart. Satan knows the Holy Spirit will reveal destructive memories and behaviors, and apply God's mighty sword, severing all that would hold a child captive to carnality, selfishness, disappointment, discouragement, and darkness. He understands that God will then apply His anointed balm, and heal their heart and mind, so that man is able to walk in peace with God and others. Satan knows that for man to develop a relationship with God, through the Spirit, will reveal the liar and murderer that he really is.

But Satan continues to walk with strength upon the earth, as he entices men, through deception, to help him in his quest to keep man in bondage to his own desires. Satan entices man to help him keep other men bound within the sea of despair. Because, in the sea of despair, Satan still has control and power. In that sea, Satan is able to rise up displaying great authority, as he relishes the adoration and worship of others. His pride knows no boundaries. Yet, the words Satan speaks will never bring man to a place where they will find a safe harbor, rest for their souls. To listen to the serpent will draw man away from the true message that God desires to reveal to them. To listen to the lies of the serpent will lead man away from the comforting arms of the Father.

Man, who struggles in the sea of despair, will find it natural to give all worship unto the dragon, and to those who speak his message of deception. To a drowning man, any passing ship seems to be a place of refuge. But to listen to the deceiver's message, and get on board his ship, by living in agreement with the deceptive words spoken by the dragon, will lead man away from what God desires for man. To worship the serpent and to believe in the words he speaks, will cause man to continue in their search for purpose, for freedom from out of their suffering and disappointments.

But God is a mighty God; there is no weapon the dragon can form against Him, which God cannot overcome and destroy. God is still able to reach out to a child who calls upon His holy name, and to lift them from out of the sea where confusion and every evil thing has brought suffering into a man's life. Though the serpent "troubledst the waters with thy feet, and fouledst their rivers", God is still able to spread out His net and lift the serpent from out of the sea. God is still able to break the bonds of captivity that Satan's words have held over a man's thoughts and emotions. God is able to slay the dragon, and cast his carcass to the earth, so that he can no longer bring suffering into a man's life.

Though many men still struggle in the sea of despair, God will raise up his humble servants and use them to help Him lift up the net that He has created to capture the dragon. God will use His faithful servants to set others free from the captivity of the serpent's words of deception and bondage. The hunter will become the hunted. The dragon, the deceiver, the destroyer who would mock the living God, who would cast accusation and doubt upon God's purpose for mankind, will become the one who is cast to the open field. All the fowls of heaven will descend and remain upon him. In the open field, the serpent will be exposed as the murderer and liar he is. When God sets a man free from Satan's realm of power and influence, death and hell will tremble as another child sings the praises of God's great love.

> "Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an instrument for his work; and I have created the waster to destroy. No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against thee in judgment thou shalt condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the Lord, and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord." Isaiah 54:16-17

The Genuine Article

I am the Genuine Article. I am the Authentic One. I am the Holy One you may look to in all of your trials and troubles, beloved. Your security lies in Me. Know this: I have made a way for you to enter into an exciting hour with Me. I have made a way for you to come into a new understanding of Who I am, and when you do, dear child, your heart will be thrilled.

I am the exponent of true happiness. I am the key factor in your life that offers many, many dividends – many, many blessings and much hope. Bear this in mind when the enemy tries to tell you differently. Yes! Bear this truth in mind. I am the God of the whole universe. There is no one above Me. There is no one like Me. There is no one who can witness to My goodness unless he takes the proposed gift of life that I offer. True life comes with coming into an intimate relationship with Me. True life is found in knowing Me – the Holy One. So bear these truths in mind. Keep them at the forefront of your mind, beloved – the forefront, because the enemy would like to thwart your progress. He would like to disable you. But I came that you might walk in My ways, know My truth, and advance into that place of great wonder where you will bear My likeness. Then you, too, beloved, will be known as a vessel of the Holy One. You will be known as a perpetrator of what is good and holy. You will stand fast in My truth and see My majesty firsthand. The enemy will not know how to handle you. His hands will be tied, because you, beloved, will bear My strength, My knowledge, My purity. You will have him where he belongs – tied up in a knot – a knot of his own doing.

Let Me tell you, dear heart, I have much awaiting those who follow after My heart with eagerness. I have much waiting for YOU! So look forward to the Genuine Article making an appearance in your life, and know that when I show Myself in this manner, that I have opened the coffers of heaven to pour forth those longed-for blessings – more than your heart can contain – more than your mind can conceive.

I am proud to call you My own. I am eager for that day to make its appearance. I am eager to see you stand straight and tall in the ways of your God. So know that each manifestation of My Spirit that is presented in your life is of My doing, and it is all a part of My flawless plan – My plan to draw you close, reveal My heart, and have you kick the devil soundly in his prideful ways.

He is about to know firsthand just what I have called My beloved to portray for Me. He is about to see the calamity of his life take on a new dimension, and when he does he will struggle and struggle and struggle, but you, Beloved, will have the upper hand – you will have him by the throat, and he will no longer be able to utter his lies in your ears. He will no longer be able to perform his antics. For what I am about to do is show him what the Genuine Article is all about, and when he sees all that I am about to do, he will be lifeless – lifeless in the face of My pure and holy triumph – lifeless in the face of the Holy One Who is the true Conqueror – the Hero of the World.

Yes. All of these words and more befit My title, beloved – all of these words and much more reveal My true identity. So get ready to see Me manifest Myself as the Genuine Article, and know, beloved, that the time of the Conquering Hero has arrived, and He is taking His place on the throne of your heart in a way that you never dreamed possible – you never realized could be.

This is a promise that I am making to those who have surrendered to Me. This is a promise that can only be looked on for what it is – the genuine article from the One Who IS the Genuine Article. The Genuine Article of Love at its finest is calling to you. The Genuine Article that will portray My goodness, shining forth from your heart for all to see and know that you have truly been touched by the One Who is Holy and True – the One Who expresses Himself well – Who shows His light without a flicker – the One Who has taken the reigns from the evil one's hands, shutting his mouth forever. Yes! Silencing him forever – forever – never able to speak his words of lies again – never able to utter words of dishonor again to My beloved. This is what I have done for you, beloved. This is what the One with the title of LOVE has done on your behalf. Now, wouldn't you say that I am the Genuine Article – the Genuine Article of ALL time, beloved – the Genuine Article of ALL time???

The Sojourner
Mary Clark

Sojourn – to live somewhere temporarily, as on a visit; stay for a while … a brief or temporary stay; visit

You are My sojourner, beloved. You are taking a journey on earth, but you are soon to journey into My land – My land of wonder and great excitement.

I want to tell you some things about where you are about to enter tonight, dear child. I want you to know just where it is that you are headed. You are headed into a place where your God will be your number ONE – 24-7. You are to know My love down deep in a dramatically new way. You are to realize a power and strength that you have yet to feel. I am eager for you to arrive to this place, dear one. So eager, but in the meantime, I want you to rest in My love for you, knowing that I am moving you forward at My own pace, and you will arrive to this place of wonder in Me – this place of power and strength for which you long.

In the meantime, I would have you, My beloved, looking to Me to enable you to move forward. I would have you seeking My heart, telling Me words of surrender all of the way. I would have you eagerly anticipating My work in You, looking to each coming hour to bring you the great wonder in your heart for which you long.

You are My sojourner. You have entered into a state of resting in Me. Be confident, beloved, that I am at work. I am moving you forward, according to My will, to that new place in Me. You will arrive when the time is right, but in the meantime, beloved child, I want you to rest – rest in the knowledge of My love for you, and in the knowledge that I am moving you forward into that place of wonder for which your heart longs at My very own rate of speed, and that is a fact, beloved. That is a fact directly from My lips to your heart. Heed My example by waiting on instructions from your Father. Heed My example by trusting. Heed My example by taking those steps, as directed, into all that the living God has in store, as He tells you to move. You will know My direction posthaste, because the time is approaching. You will certainly know the time posthaste – rest in that fact, dear one. Rest in that wondrous fact!!!

The Green Bull
Glywn Mcinnes

My dream was that I was in a large room, lined with what looked like steel-sheeting,- painted black.

At one end of the room was a doorway, with sliding door- halves that were shut. I approached the door and slid the halves apart, opening a gap about 10 inches wide.

Through the gap I could see a bull and it had brassy-coloured horns;- the head was a blackish-green colour and its body was a dark emerald tone at the shoulders, becoming a brighter green towards the tail.

Widening the gap between the two door halves, I then reached through and grabbed the bull's horns, (one in each hand)- and led the animal through the doorway into the room.

Leaving it to stand in the centre of the room, I walked around it and closed the doors.-- the dream faded, - and I cannot say whether I was still in the room with the beast.....

Hours later, after much thought, and prompting from a letter sent by a friend, - the words, "take the bull by the horns", awoke me to the possibility that the Lord was wanting to urge more of the body of Christ to act, in standing against the enemy and his strategies!

Psalm 110:3a nkj ;- " Your people shall be volunteers in the day of Your power;".
Daniel 11:32b nkj ;-- "--- but the people who know their God shall be strong, and carry out great exploits." (rsv;- " shall stand firm and take action.")

" TAKE THE BULL BY THE HORNS! "

" Yes My people, you who say that you know Me!

You who say that My power resides in you!

You who know it to be true,- for you have experienced it in action in your own lives and have seen it in the lives of others.

You who have said, " Use me Lord! ", and have waited impatiently for this hour to come!

I, the Living God, do say to you now by My Spirit, " Take the bull by the horns, and take action;- do exploits!
Do not hesitate! -- Do not continue to wait for the conditions to be right in your own understanding ; but move into battle positions and take a stand against the enemy's sly and cunning ways;- NOW!

" Stand publicly, against all that he has built while the world has slumbered! "

" Speak to the edifices that he has built to mark out his 'territory',-- those palaces of false-hope and artificial-wonder that draw many in deception, to unwittingly worship him and give him the fruit of their lips! "

" Show your love to those who follow the evil deception in blindness, by reaching into the flames and pulling out the hapless victims of his deceit! "

" Stand against the flood of filth and degradation, that those in high places under the thrall of the enemy, produce from their deluded minds and present as new and freedom-giving laws and rules,- that actually mock and decry My Word, - the Word that I have established forever in Heaven!

" Through these workings of their minds, they spill innocent blood; whereas I have not commanded, or sanctioned it;- it had never entered My mind to do so! They call 'good' as evil, and 'evil' as good. They go backwards in their thinking!"

Stand, and speak MY Words into the situations of concern that lie before you! Make a sound of protest; a mighty sound towards the evil! And as you make the sound, know this, that your God will add His voice to the sound, and those in high places will hear and know that the Almighty has ruled against them and their erroneous ways! "

"So I reiterate! Become aggressive! Do the exploits that you know to be necessary! I AM WITH YOU! That is all you need! Take the bull by the horns! Take action now My people!

The Shofars Have Been Blown

"And He will destroy on this mountain the surface of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over ALL NATIONS "!

I would like to share with you an account of an amazing 'happening' that occurred today -10th July 2004-;- in the mid-afternoon-;- on one of the small volcanic-hills that make up the landscape of the City of Auckland - New Zealand.

I and some members of my family were invited to Auckland for an event to celebrate my mother's 88th birthday. A few days before, there came from my daughter, an idea that after the event we should go up this volcanic cone, so that my granddaughter, (eight years), and I could blow the shofar over the city, so today,- after a very pleasant interlude in party mode,- we did just that!

On the top of this mountain, named One Tree Hill, is a memorial, complete with a towering obelisk, and an enclosure of rock walls encircling it ;- and it was here that we blew. When we arrived up there, a few people were around,- several tourists of different nationalities - not a great crowd. A perfectly clear day, with a light breeze. An uninterupted vista of the whole city, both harbours , and the various islands in the Gulf .

We started blowing,- moving around the obelisk,- to blow in different directions, and the wind carried the sound well. A few more people arrived, and became interested in what we were doing. No negativity was displayed .

Jillian and I climbed over the low wall to the area where the tree that the hill is named for, used to be growing, (but has since been removed)- and stood where it had been, blowing towards the North, with our backs to the obelisk, and the wind. We blew for about five minutes and, as that seemed to complete the job, turned ready to go back to the enclosure;- and what I saw held me in the one spot for a time!

What was seen, were about one hundred and fifty people, lined up at the wall,- not moving, watching us! People from Asia; India; Italy; Pacific Islands; Holland and other places! Children, adults, teenagers, - all standing quietly and peacefully! Even the wind softened a little!

Then the spell was broken by a child's cry, and the people resumed their sight-seeing;- a large group of them climbed over the wall and stood on the place were we had been, several taking photos;- others came close and questioned us about the shofars;- a 'pleasant atmosphere pervaded the area; --- but where did these people come from ? My family had watched them come trooping up the steps to the enclosure, but had not noticed a tour bus or similar transport;- we finally decided that they had walked up the last grade, due to the impracticality of parking a large vehicle at the site. In answer to my questioning about the sudden appearance of so many people, my daughter replied to it that, " This is what 'blowing the shofar' is for, isn't it ? Calling people to gather to the 'sound' "-- And that got me thinking!

After arriving home, I've seen a connection with the above verse 7, of Isaiah 25, with what happened today,-- and my prayer to the Lord is that, those people who were there , - my family included;- will be impacted by that whole scenario,-- the 'sounding of the shofar;- the symbolic trumpeting of the 'Voice of the Lord' at that place;- and over the spiritual- atmosphere , wherever the wind took it;- and the large company of people that came to that place today!

I further believe, that the rest of those verses, 8-12, can be spoken, and taken as relevant to the times we are in at present,- and with faith, seen as the 'HERALDING' in of great and mighty moves of our God in the nation of New Zealand!

" BEHOLD, THIS IS OUR GOD; WE HAVE WAITED FOR HIM, AND HE WILL SAVE US. THIS IS THE LORD; WE HAVE WAITED FOR HIM; WE WILL BE GLAD AND REJOICE IN HIS SALVATION.-- FOR ON THIS MOUNTAIN, THE HAND OF THE LORD WILL REST,---- " v9 & 10a.

May ALL glory be to Him who rides the heavens, He is our God;- our AWESOME GOD!!

Blessed be the Name of the Lord! Amen.

The Giant Called Clergy

David Will Slay The Giant Called "Clergy"! Jan 25, 2004

VISION: Today I was waiting on the Lord and pondering on things as the Lord by His Spirit gave me a vision of David and Goliath. David ran toward the giant and did not balk or waiver in his determination. David had heard the voice of the Lord and the inner witness of the Spirit. David ran to the brook and bent down and took up five smooth stones. David got up and put a stone in the sling and ran toward the giant. He stopped, stood his ground and the sling spun in the air, and then he made a declaration to the giant, "In the authority of the Most High, I release the people of Lord from your grip! You shall not rule of the Lord's people!" The stone flew in the air and hit the giant in the forehead and the giant fell over dead. Then David took the sword and severed the giants head. The vision ended: I asked the Lord what this was about:

1. David: David represents the PRIESTHOOD OF BELIEVERS. David does not wear the armour of the king, because the king (Saul) and his armour are not what is needed. David has the anointing and equipping of the Lord.

The church is going to rise up as the sons of David, in the same Spirit that was upon David. There will be a new boldness to defy the giant, and this particular giant is "Clergy". The old armour, the old ways of doing things are not going to cut it anymore.

2. Goliath: Represents the system of control, domination, and manipulation, through the man made systems of government and administration. The system is the thing that has created the distinctions of "clergy" and "laity". The Lord is going to slay this giant, which will release freedom to the ENTIRE BODY OF CHRIST.

3. There will be no more fear and intimidation and torment from the man made religious system and structures which currently are a stronghold over the church.

4. The 5 smooth stones - The five stones are the five fold ministries which will explode in and through the ENTIRE priesthood of believers, and it is these manifestations of Christ in ALL believers that will slay the giant.

5. The brook: The brook is the River of God, in which for a long season, the five fold ministries have been prepared by the currents of God's Spirit. They have been smoothed, and the rough edges are off. They are ready to be released and used.

6. The release as in the sling, is a release through David's faith and obedience to the Lord, and not to men (King Saul). David faced the giant in the power and strength of God. The priesthood of believers will do likewise in this hour.

7. The release of courage and boldness: The priesthood of believers will be as David and will RUN TOWARD the giant face him face to face. The giant (clergy) is going to increasingly be faced with boldness from those in the Body who will declare No more!" to the spiritual abuse and no more to the pagan church system that has held back the church.

8. Severing the head. Through the Sword of the Spirit and the bold declaration of faith, the giant will not only be slain by the five fold, but his head, his rule, his patterns of thinking, his control, manipulation, and ways of intimidation, are going to be totally CUT OFF! Severed! There is but One Head, and His name is Jesus!

Then the Lord gave this word to me. BIBLE: Acts 20: 26 Let me say plainly that I have been faithful. No one's damnation can be blamed on me, 27 for I didn't shrink from declaring all that God wants for you. 28 "And now beware! Be sure that you feed and shepherd God's flock - his church, purchased with his blood - over whom the Holy Spirit has appointed you as elders. 29 I know full well that false teachers, like vicious wolves, will come in among you after I leave, not sparing the flock. 30 Even some of you will distort the truth in order to draw a following. 31 Watch out! Remember the three years I was with you - my constant watch and care over you night and day, and my many tears for you. 32 "And now I entrust you to God and the word of his grace - his message that is able to build you up and give you an inheritance with all those he has set apart for himself. 33 "I have never coveted anyone's money or fine clothing. 34 You know that these hands of mine have worked to pay my own way, and I have even supplied the needs of those who were with me. 35 And I have been a constant example of how you can help the poor by working hard. You should remember the words of the Lord Jesus: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

Breaking The Stronghold Of Control

"Beloved, I have called you to that place of rest. I have called you to the calm of My waters of refreshing. I have brought you to the place of feeding and nurture. That place is only found in Me. You will not find it within a fold and with a particular shepherd. I am the Great Shepherd, and the sheep of My pasture, hear My voice. Hearken unto My voice at this hour. "Precious ones, there are many who gather you unto themselves. There are many whose only agenda is to fleece My sheep. There are many in positions of power and influence who simply are placed there by other men. Beloved ones, you are My sheep, hear My voice and hearken unto Me and the not the voice of the hireling. The hireling will not give his life for you, but will run when the wolf packs gather near My flock. They will hop the fence and run. For they are hirelings and that is what hirelings do. "I am the Good Shepherd, and I will care for you Myself. I have given My life for you, and I have laid down and sacrificed all for the sake of the sheep within My fold. Other men will fail. Other men will do what they know, and what they desire. I will do the will of My Father, and gather My sheep near the waters and the good pastures I will leave the 99 in the place of safety, and I will traverse through all obstacles and hindrances to find you and to bring you home. I will draw you close with the softness of My voice, and you will hear My voice and you shall find safety in Me.

The Curse Of The Hireling

"Precious ones be not dismayed for it is the nature of the hireling to be what he is. He will run in times of trouble and he will be self centred and self seeking. I will in this day, pasture My own flock. I will lead My sheep to My waters, and I will bring them to My pasture. I will use My rod and My staff and I will rescue My sheep and guide My sheep. I will do it! Not any man! I will guide and I will rescue My sheep. No longer will you be cursed by the hireling.

No King Over My People

"Just as there will be no hireling over My people in this day, there shall be no king over My precious people. In this hour the cry of the people has been heard in the court of heaven. In the very throne room of the Father, the cry of the people, My sheep, has been heard. "The children of Israel at the time of Samuel cried out to be like the nations, and desired above all else a king to rule over them. My very own people rejected Me, and turned to the rule of man. I warned My people then, and told them how they would be in bondage to the ones who would rule over them. I warned them that the kings who would rule over them would take their sons for their armies, to harvest their fields and make weapons of war. I warned them that the kings would take their daughters too, as perfumers, cooks and bakers. I warned them that the kings would take the best of their fields, vineyards and olive groves. I warned them that the kings would take one tenth of their seed and of their vineyards for their officers and men. The kings would take the best of their man servants, the best young men, the best donkeys. The kings would take a tenth of their flocks and require them to become servants of the kings. I warned My beloved people Israel, that they would cry out in that day for what the king they had chosen, instead of My rule, to rule over them, and what the king will require of them. I warned them that I would not listen to their cry, for they had rejected Me, and taken a king unto themselves.

The Rule Of Kings Over The Lord's Congregation Is Over!
"For centuries there was a cry for a king over the various fellowships within the church. They all cried to be like other fellowships and to have their "king" rule over them. They all wanted to be same in status and rank, and all wanted to fit in and be part of something special. To be like other orgnanized religions. Just as the Israelites did, many in the church called for a "king" to rule over them, and in doing so they rejected the leading and empowering leadership of the Spirit through the manifestation of the Son through the ENTIRE priesthood of believers. "In this day beloved ones, many within the church have chosen a king to rule over them. Many call them pastors and elders, and many have forsaken My rule over My Bride and over My Body. There are many such pastors who rule with the only methods and understanding they know. They have been afflicted with a foreign mindset and understanding. They have been cursed and afflicted for the last 1700 years with the rule of men and demons. "The government over My church has been the government methods and understanding of men, and not My government. People are crying out for the restoration, the full restoration of what was established through the Son when the Son purchased and redeemed a holy people in the Father's Kingdom. People have been crying out as in the days of Moses, crying out for the Deliverer to set them free from the bondage and oppression of Egypt.

The Church System Has Its Roots In Egypt And Babylon And Rome
"The cry of the heart of the people of God in the nations is for deliverance from the oppression of man made government in the church. Just as in the days of Israel, when the people desired a king, today the people of God desire the Lord to be their King and to restore His rule over His church. The desire the shackles of control and manipulation and self seeking agendas of leaders to be broken and that the Great Shepherd take possession of His flock! "Beloved the system that has been over My people is the system of man derived from the Egyptians, Babylonians and Romans. The ways and the means of rule in the nations, is the not the means of rule of God and God's household. Governance in the Kingdom is not about men ruling over other men as men do in your marketplace or military. My beloved Bride is not to be ruled by those who would rule as corporate and military men.

Divine Overthrow Of Man Made Structures Will Come
"The hour has come, and the Father has heard the cry of the oppressed and they shall be delivered. There will be those who will be elders, the older and more mature brothers and sisters who will love and serve the brethren. These beloved elders will not seek a following after themselves, but will be a company of brothers and sisters, a sweet communion gathered around the Son They will not oppress or manipulate and they will lay down their lives for their brothers and sisters rather than tolerate the domination of oppressive leaders and leadership models.

People Will Be Set Free From Slave & Master Mindset In The Church
"There will be an overthrow of the slave and master mindset that has caused many to cry out for their "king" to rule over them. The mindset of people who want to be told what to do and how to do it and who to pay homage to is now, in this hour beloved being broken. No more shall you be ruled by those who demand things from you in My Name! I will hold them to account. You are in My fold and you are My sheep. You hear My voice for yourselves. You need no man to tell you what you hear or how you express My life flowing within you. You are My Body, and I will manifest My glory through My people.

The Sin Of The Label "Clergy/Laity"

"I am breaking of the labels that men have attached to My people of 1700 years! I am breaking in the power of My Spirit, the yoke of oppression and bondage called "clergy/laity"! I have one holy and royal priesthood, one holy nation, and all who are blood bought by the Son are joint heirs with the Son not only to the benefits of salvation, but to the full express of body life and communion of the saints. "There is only ONE head in the church and the Son is reclaiming His place and His authority over His body, the church. The will be no more "mini heads" or "mini kingdoms"! The rule of man of My people has come to an end! I am calling My people out from the bondage and affliction of Egypt and the rule and methods of human institutions. This sin of labeling and distinguishing My people and creating classes of people within the church is an offence to Me. It is a stench to My nostrils. It was fabricated in the hearts of men when they refused to be led by My Spirit. The only thing they knew how to do was to reflect the rule of the society in which they were in and incorporate it into the governance of the church. These human forms of government and administration were rooted in the paganism of Egypt, Babylon and Rome. When My Spirit was pushed aside by the will of man, man substituted My rule for their own forms and activities. They did these things and blessed them in My Name. They robbed Me of My rule and they robbed My Spirit of His activities in all the saints. They robbed My people of the sweet community in the Spirit, and robbed them of their source of power and life. "Even when revival and reformation has come, man has continually sought to channel the flow of My Spirit through what they already know, and have not waited upon Me to reveal to them what they ought to do. Renewal comes, and it gets channeled through a human funnel, to control the fall out and do "damage control". Man does not like what he perceives to be a mess or an out of control situation. Man cannot handle it when My Spirit takes over. Man always wants to touch the anointing and defile what I am doing. Man needs to get out of the way, and let My Spirit be sovereign. Man needs to surrender and let the flow simply flow. "Even in the promise of the restoration of the apostolic and the prophetic, the measure has been miniscule and the influence limited. Man seeks to make it fit what he knows and will not adjust to the reality that what he knows may need to be removed. Man tries to make what I reveal fit, just like a child attempts to fit a square peg in a round hole! It is one thing to hear what I speak, and quite another to ask of Me the understanding, and ask of Me to accomplish this and to give the blueprint, MY blueprint for its implementation. "I will institute My government, and it shall be upon My shoulders, not man's.

The Divine Institution An Rule Of God Being Restored In The Church

"At this hour beloved, many, many changes are coming. You have heard the cautions" of men. They are in fear and they know the hour has now come to be accountable for the bondage over My people. They will be held to account for relying on the methods of men, rather than upon My rule and My Spirit. I will restore the church. I will restore relational, redemptive, community, where all are one in Me. All will be at My table. All will be full participants in every gathering, in every nation. There is only one class within My Kingdom. There are no human made distinctions of rank or status. I will rule My church, and it will be a rule of love and affection, and I will restore and set in place that which will reveal My heart and passion for the wholeness of My people.

Do Not Confuse My Grace Gifts With The Right To Rule

"Precious ones, do not confuse the gifts I have given to you as the gifts of the Son (five fold) as the divine right to rule over My people. All those who possess the Son, possess a measure of these five grace gifts. All who are indwelt by My Spirit have a deposit and measure of these actions of My Spirit. My Spirit imparts at salvation the deposit, and sovereignly administers these according to My will over time in the lives of all believers. At various times the manifestations of these gifts will increase As the will of each person submits to My will, the increase of the gift will manifest and will let the Son manifest His presence in each situation. These expressions of grace are not titles or offices, but are the activities and functions of My Spirit in the lives of ALL who are within the priesthood of believers. Gifts are apportioned by My Spirit and are to be used from within the community of saints, to build up and strengthen the church and firmly establish the saints in Me.

Do Not Confuse My Grace Gifts As Status Symbols
"Precious ones do not confuse ANY person's gift as status or My acceptance of another. I look at the heart and the character of a person. Whether a person is within the Kingdom of not, they all possess gifts that can be applied to wherever they are. There are many who are not yet in the Kingdom who have a pastoring nurturing heart and care for other people. You will find many of these people within the health care field, caring for people and giving of themselves to others. These same people have the gift of nurturing and loving that you call "pastor". These gifts can be used for Me in the Kingdom and in the world. Do not look upon them as status. "I care about character. These gifts are not self gratifying flashy gifts to be used to lord yourselves over others within the body. Do not confuse the gifts as a sign of divine approval. Gifts simply reveal the heart of the giver, and not the one who receives it. The person's character and the resulting fruit in the use of the gifts will reveal much. Look and see, and be watchful.

Do Not Confuse My Grace Gifts As Acceptance And Worth
"Do not confuse My gifts as approval or acceptance. I give Myself to you and I do not withhold My hands from you. I give My grace and all that I have to you. This is not as a sign of acceptance, but of My love. I give to you out of love. I have accepted you and you are Mine. All that I give is the overflow of My love for you. Do not attach worth to the gifts. But I attach worth to you, to your heart and to your life. I find worth in you and the relationship we have. It matters not what you do for Me. What matters is you and your heart. I love you passionately. I embrace you and fill you with My life and My love. Embrace Me and embrace the overflow I have for you.

The Great Divide

Matthew 24:30-44
Matthew 25:1-46

Proverbs 1:7-The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge, but fools despise wisdom and discipline.

Goats or Sheep?
The left or the right?
In or Out?
Forgive or Unforgiveness?
Yes or No?
Believer or Unbeliever?
Past or Present?
God or Man?
Bound or Free?
Hot or Cold?
Anxiety or Peace?
Glad or Mad?
Unity or Division?
Lift up or tear down?
His Way or your way?
Temporal or Eternal?
Now or Now?

It is time to come out of the valley of indecision.(Joel 3:14)

Today, God is saying Choose this day in whom you will serve!!
(Joshua 24:15)

The Lord has revealed the Great Divide.

It is a narrow way, a difficult way, but the only way is the Right way, the way in which His blessings will overflow you through obedience to His word and His way. His love will love through you, His strength will hold you, His staff will guide you, His Holy Spirit will show you, His rod will disciple you, He will help you as you travel on the journey HIS WAY. Do not think it strange as the Lord begins the separation of many things, people and places from your path. He is aligning, directing, positioning you for greatness and destiny for His purposes. He may be separating you for rest, refreshing, repositioning, reconciliation, restoration or resuscitation. He is bringing forth this separation to bring you closer to HIM.

There are a people who have decided to be right with God. A people choosing to deny themselves so that HE might live in you and through you. A people who want to be standing on the right side with the Lord. Ones who are truly the sheep in the green pastures of our Shepherd. Psalm 23. The desire to stay in step where the staff and rod are ever so present. We must stay to the right and in the right so that we are not left. Working out our salvation day by day according to His will and in His strength. Letting HIS love work through us and in us. We must make choices this day answering only "According to HIS will," praying "according to HIS will" and accomplishing HIS will with HIS life being evident through our lives.

The Lord has revealed a great measuring line and a great divide.

Where are you? Where are you going? Where will you be?

Today we are clearly seeing how God is moving amongst His people. The "church" as we know it is being changed and transformed before our very eyes. We have come out of a day where it has just been something we do to say we did. This day God is raising up a people as He raises up His standard. There is a remnant that is being separated unto Him alone. A people such as Zadok the Levite in whom God was pleased as Zadok ministered unto the Lord; as in Abraham whom God called Friend and as Enoch who walked with God. God is calling you forth to walk with Him; the cost is high but the reward is HIM. He is calling us to come up higher and only then will He declare and show us these things that will come. There is a place in Him that is reserved for those who will choose to live true and holy unto Him by His grace and in His strength and show His love unto all men. Let us choose this day to be one with Him on the right side. For to be truly called a Christian is to be Christ like. One can be a believer and another a Christian. It is an honor this day to lift up a banner and represent Jesus Christ that the world would look upon us and say that is a Christian ...one who was Christ like, one whom the Lord Jesus Christ has revealed HIMSELF through a transparent vessel of honor. One who gave for another. One who is lifting up and not tearing down.
One in whom our Lord would say,
"Well done, thy good and faithful servant."

The Great Divide ....Let us be ready for our Lord that we would be placed on the Right side and be called faithful overcomer in whom He is well pleased.

I want to personally encourage you to be a blessing to GOD by being a faithful tither to your local church and cheerful giver in all areas to those who feed your Spirit. Pray for your pastors and those who have given their lives for God to breathe into your life with His word. God has given each a gift to be used in His Kingdom for His glory. Please remember fellowship amongst believers is vital to our walk with the Lord. It keeps you encouraged, spiritually fed, accountable and will help you in your walk with the Lord. Remember pride always comes before a fall and humbleness and humility can keep you balanced. I pray increase to your spirit today and pray God will give you all the desires of your heart as you walk in obedience to His will with your life. Go and Bear fruit and more fruit. Forerunners and Prayer Warriors, it is time to get back into place and not let anything move you. Do not be discouraged, God is listening and receiving every petition made unto Him. Trust Him. God is God. Look up, keep fighting in the name of the Lord.

The Gift Of Discernment

How to Understand the TRUE Gift of Discernment -- and How to Train Your Senses For It"
November 19, 2004

TRAINING YOUR SENSES: THE GIFT OF DISCERNMENT

As an American Baptist pastor, I was accustomed to being around hurting people. They wept in my office. They poured out stories of confusion, abandonment, and betrayal. As a pastor I longed to help, but often I could only refer them to therapists for counseling. Sometimes they got better. Sometimes, they didn't.

In the late 1980s the Lord began to re-shape our ministry. His call on our work and lives was to minister deliverance. But in the process, God dismantled our expectations, revived and renewed our understanding of spiritual gifts, and generally remodeled our theology and vision of the Body of Christ. As if the Lord had hit a heavenly switch, as we prayed for people, spiritual gifts lit up all over.

A group of earnest intercessors and prayer warriors came together. People reported strange, out-of-the-box experiences. Their theology was shaken in the presence of words of knowledge, visions, and prophetic words. The gift of discernment exploded, although we really had no understanding of the gift.

During ministry sessions, I asked team members to write down impressions, words, or visual images they received. Perhaps the Holy Spirit would confirm by giving the same revelation to more than one person.

All this time, I didn't feel, hear, or see a thing, spiritually. Nothing. Then I began to feel a peculiar pressure on my head during some prayer sessions. I approached a trusted friend who often saw physical manifestations of angels and demons. I told her I was feeling this pressure and asked what she saw.

She replied that she was seeing some demons. With that information, a slow process began by which the prayer team members and I grasped what was happening in us and our ministry.

Team members reported unusual, unexpected, physical sensations like nausea, shaking, pressure, pain, or tingling. Not everyone had such experiences and, among those who did, the reports were as varied as the people reporting them. I stumbled upon the realization that when prophetic team members said, "There's a demon here," I experienced physical pressure on a particular place on my head.

A GIFT BY ANY OTHER NAME

Most Christians have been taught that the gift of discernment allows believers to examine natural or spiritual actions, events, doctrines, or practices to determine whether they are good or evil. Most Christians have also been taught that discernment is the God-given ability to determine whether a spirit is godly or demonic.

Although these understandings are Biblically accurate, failure to address the means by which discernment occurs has left many believers to rely on an intellectual process of analysis and application of scriptural truths and principles. Within this understanding, discernment becomes skilled decision-making or the ability to weigh evidence and deduce answers.

In 1 Corinthians 12:7-10 discernment is listed not as a human ability, but a spiritual gift:

"Now to each one the manifestation of the spirit is given for the common good. To one is given...the message of wisdom...knowledge...to another faith...to another gifts of healing...miraculous powers...prophecy, to another distinguishing between spirits..." (NIV)

The New King James renders this phrase "discerning of spirits." Elsewhere it is translated "discernment of spirits" (NRSV), and "distinguishing all spirits" (NASB). In the New Living Bible this text is paraphrased as "the ability to know whether it is really the Spirit of God or another spirit that is speaking."

I sought understanding of this spiritual gift. I received a call from Dr. Tom Hawkins, a scholar and Dallas Theological Seminary Ph.D. graduate involved in ministry to severely abused people. The Lord was about to explain to me a new understanding of His word.

THROUGH PRACTICE, THEY HAVE THEIR SENSES TRAINED TO DISCERN GOOD AND EVIL

Tom Hawkins told me that he had received a Word of Knowledge. He gave me the passage, Hebrews 5:11-14. He told me that he believed this was a chief passage for what was happening to me.

I opened the Word and read these words:

"We have much to say about this, but it is hard to explain because you are slow to learn. In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's Word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with teaching about righteousness. But solid food is for the mature who, because of practice, have their senses trained to discern good and evil." (NIV, Author's emphasis)

The final words, "solid food is for the mature who, because of practice, have their senses trained to discern good and evil," shone like a floodlight. For more than a year I and the prayer teams had struggled with questions about physical sensations we had experienced. Why did one member's hands get numb when he prayed? Why did another feel pain in her chest? They'd experienced smells like rotting garbage, high-pitched shrieking sounds, heat, cold, physical discomfort, and even laughter. They'd asked the Lord more than once, What does this mean? They were on the verge of finding some answers.

The book of Hebrews says mature believers are ready for solid food of "teaching about righteousness." Verse 14 then describes one route to maturity, saying, "the mature, who because of practice, have their senses trained to discern good and evil."

Discernment is not child's play. It is a mark of the mature Christian. According to 1 Corinthians 12:10, discernment is a spiritual gift. But as the writer of Hebrews clearly teaches, this gift must be developed by constant practice. Only then will discernment become a sharpened weapon of spiritual warfare. Only then will God's people become acquainted with "teaching about righteousness" in this area of discipleship and training in godliness.

This made sense to me and the prayer teams. After all, teachers review notes and practice presentations. Everyone in every field gains maturity through practice. Why should we assume spiritual development is different?

DISCERNMENT THROUGH THE FIVE PHYSICAL SENSES

I addressed the prayer teams, "In the spiritual areas of life, we immediately assume if we can't do a spiritual activity correctly the first time, what we're doing must not be of God. Hebrews 5:14 says practice is necessary. We're to practice the use of our senses." The goal of this practice is to train our five physical senses to distinguish between good and evil.

Evangelicals commonly teach discernment as an intellectual process of analysis and application of Biblical principles leading to logical conclusions. The writer of Hebrews, it seems, flies directly in the face of that understanding. Discernment is described as a sensory rather than an intellectual process. How can this be?

Although some translations, including the NIV, render Hebrews 5:14 as train themselves, the Greek is most accurately translated as train (or exercise) their senses. The text refers specifically to the five physical senses of touch, hearing, smell, sight, and taste.

The writer of Hebrews is saying discernment operates through the physical senses. Discernment is tested with the mind by rightly applying Scripture. This insight completed the jigsaw puzzle of understanding for the prayer teams and me.

I catalogued their experiences, "Team members have had physical reactions to the presence of demons, angels, witchcraft, spiritual powers and authorities...They've smelled sulfur and rotting garbage...I have heard the Lord speak my name. I have worked with people who have heard the Lord speak audibly, angels sing, demons talk and laugh, and the sound of horses' hooves thundering by."

IS SENSORY DISCERNMENT SCRIPTURAL?

Throughout history, many of God's people have experienced both godly and demonic presence with their senses. Even a cursory reading of Scripture reveals a consistent pattern.

God's voice was heard by Adam and Eve in the garden (Genesis 3:8), by Abraham (Genesis 12:1), Moses (Exodus 19:19), Joshua (Joshua 1:1), and Samuel (I Samuel 3:4). After Jesus was baptized by His cousin John, how many people heard the voice of God say, "This is my son in whom I am well pleased"? This event was of such importance it was recorded in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

When Jesus commanded demons to identify themselves in Mark 5:9, they said, "My name is Legion, for we are many." The text indicates the demons said. Therefore, it is logical to assume Jesus heard.

God's people see into the spirit world. God appeared to Moses in the physically real, though symbolic form, of a burning bush (Exodus 3:2). God used an angel to appear and speak to Abraham (Genesis 18:1-2). He showed himself to Joshua as an angel with a drawn sword (Joshua 5:13).

Scripture also records evil manifesting in physical, "seen" forms. In Exodus 7:12, wooden staffs were transformed into snakes both by God's power and Pharaoh's magicians' occult magic. God's power was good, and the magic of Pharaoh's servants was evil, but the results of both were visible in the natural world.

Both good and evil appear in visions. The prophet Isaiah saw the Lord in a vision rather than with his natural eyes. He described in detail, "I saw the Lord seated on a throne...the train of His robe filled the temple. Above Him were seraphs, each with six wings. With two wings they covered their faces..." (Isaiah 6:1-2).

As recorded in Revelation 13, John saw Satan (or a manifestation of the enemy's evil) in a vision. He described "the beast" in vivid detail.

TASTE

The following passages record experiences of taste from Biblical records. Ezekiel, and John the writer of the book of Revelation, each received a vision in which they were given a scroll to eat. Ezekiel wrote, "So I ate it, and it tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth" (Ezek. 3:1-3). John received a scroll from an angel. He wrote, "It tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth, but when I had eaten it, my stomach turned sour" (Rev. 10:8-10).

SMELL

The Bible rarely refers to spiritual presences or realities being perceived through smell. Paul writes of the "aroma of Christ," the "smell of death," and the "fragrance of life" (2 Corinthians 2:15-16). Are these poetic metaphors or is Paul referring to actual smells with which mature--and discerning--believers were and should still be familiar? In addition, Chapters 5 and 8 of Revelation describe bowls of incense. The smell and visible smoke of incense appear to be a physical manifestation of the prayers of the saints.

TOUCH

Both good and evil are revealed by touch in Scripture. Peter saw, heard, and felt an angel. Acts 12:7 records that an angel, bathed in light, appeared to Peter. The angel "struck Peter on the side" to wake him and said, "Quick. Get up."

In I Kings 19:7, the prophet Elijah fled from Queen Jezebel. Hungry and despairing, he lay in the desert and prayed for death. An angel of God prepared food and touched Elijah to wake him from his exhausted sleep.

In Mark 9:20, evil manifested physically. A young boy was possessed by what Jesus named a "deaf and mute spirit." The moment the demon saw Jesus, it "threw the boy into a convulsion." This passage should be carefully noted. Western reasoning would lead to the logical conclusion that this boy suffered from a biochemical/neurological imbalance resulting in epilepsy. However, Jesus operated in discernment as well as human logic. Although elsewhere He recognized physical illness, here He named and took authority over demonic spirits.

The teaching of Hebrews 5:14, coupled with confirming Scriptures, established the foundation I and the prayer teams used to share, examine, and test their sensory experiences. Hebrews 5:14 became alive in our ministry. The "solid food" of discernment did produce fruit of greater maturity as the prayer teams grew in confidence, authority, and trust in the power of God's living word. As they began to understand and use discernment, this gift emerged as an important weapon in the battle for deliverance, healing, and spiritual freedom.

The Greatest Love

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Feb. 14th, 2004

It is good for man to celebrate love. And it is good to commemorate the love you have for one another. Most especially, it is good to remember the love I have for you. Many get lonely and feel depressed around such holidays because they are all alone in this world. But you are NEVER alone with ME in your heart and Spirit.

The love that is celebrated is only a measure of the love that can be had.
The greatest love of all is ME. For I so loved the world that I gave My only Begotten Son to die for all of you! If I as Your Sovereign and merciful God, Who am the embodiment of true LOVE, can give this much up for you, then surely I can change the hardest hearts and the most insolent rebels of this world by that very same love!

I am bringing the FIRE of My love to burn in your hearts in a way you have never experienced and in a measure you have never experienced. So open up the gates of your hearts and let the Son shine in! I am going to rivet you with My glory and you will be catapulted into a new era with ME. I have seen the plans of the wicked and I have seen the plans of those who wish align themselves with the antichrist. That is why judgment must come!
Time is escalating and there is no stopping the wicked without judgment!

Isa 26:9 NKJV With my soul I have desired You in the night, Yes, by my spirit within me I will seek You early; For when Your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.

Ps 119:52-53 NKJV
52 I remembered Your judgments of old, O LORD, And have comforted myself. 53 Indignation has taken hold of me because of the wicked, who forsake Your law.

As more judgment comes, you will need MY LOVE to motivate you. You will need My love and comfort to overcome, MY love to fulfill the call on your lives to bring in the HARVEST of all time! YOU will need MY love to endure the times and what your heart will see. Great power will also bring great opposition from the opposite powers. So cling to ME My beloveds. I am bringing you the GRACE you need to do just that. KNOW that I am with you, and will be to the end of all time. I will never leave you or forsake you.

Do NOT play with tormenting thoughts and temptations to your mind. Bring every thought captive! Rebuke the enemy and speak MY WORD to fight off the depression and discouragement he tries to bring. REMIND him of his end. Remind him of the truth! Do not allow him any inroad.

If you want mercy in these times, then you must also GIVE IT! Don’t think that if you are calloused and hard to others that you will obtain mercy when your time comes to need it! Open up your hearts to the poor sisters and brothers around you! OPEN YOUR EYES to see those who haven’t what you have! I will pour into your hearts all the love you need if you but ask! Ask and it shall be given to you! Lay aside all your doubts and unbelief in My mercy and power to overcome all obstacles! I am Jehovah Sabaoth…the LORD OF HOSTS and NOTHING is impossible for Me! Only BELIEVE and you will move mountains with your worship, prayers and proclamations!

James 2:13 NKJV
13 For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

Ravaged by Love

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Feb 10th, 2004 4:44 am

I looked at the clock and it was 4:44. Something You want to say Lord?
And He said, “ ravaged by love”.

Love is not envious. Love does not boast. Love is not puffed up. Love never fails. I AM the GOD of LOVE. My love never fails. I AM NOT ENVIOUS.
I AM NOT BOASTFUL. I AM NOT PROUD. I NEVER FAIL IN MY LOVE FOR YOU!

I am coming to set some things straight. Behold I will make the crooked paths straight I said. I am JEALOUS over you, My beloveds. There is nothing that is too difficult for ME to handle. I am overwhelmed with love for My Bride and I will not allow her to be ravaged by wolves. I am ravaged with LOVE FOR YOU! I will no longer allow the contempt and hatred, jealousy and cruelty of harsh taskmasters to prevail. There are wolves in sheep's clothing a plenty. But I will bring the needed change. I am a GOD close at hand, and not afar off. I have seen the hardship of the daughter of My people in bondage. And I am not aloof to her needs. I am desirous to be one with My bride. I am envious of all the things that have captivated her heart that are not of Me. I am luring her back into My arms so I can hold her and teach her all My ways…and fill her with MORE OF MYSELF.

Ezek 34:1-6 NIV
The word of the LORD came to me: 2 "Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who only take care of themselves! Should not shepherds take care of the flock? 3 You eat the curds, clothe yourselves with the wool and slaughter the choice animals, but you do not take care of the flock.
4 You have not strengthened the weak or healed the sick or bound up the injured. You have not brought back the strays or searched for the lost. You have ruled them harshly and brutally.
5 So they were scattered because there was no shepherd, and when they were scattered they became food for all the wild animals. 6 My sheep wandered over all the mountains and on every high hill. They were scattered over the whole earth, and no one searched or looked for them.

Ezek 34:7-13 AMP
7 Therefore, you [spiritual] shepherds, hear the word of the Lord:
8 As I live, says the Lord God, surely because My sheep became a prey, and My sheep became food for every beast of the field because there was no shepherd--neither did My shepherds search for My sheep, but the shepherds fed themselves and fed not My sheep--
9 Therefore, O you [spiritual] shepherds, hear the word of the Lord:
10 Thus says the Lord God: Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will require My sheep at their hand and cause them to cease feeding the sheep, neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more. I will rescue My sheep from their mouths, that they may not be food for them.
11 For thus says the Lord God: Behold, I, I Myself, will search for My sheep and will seek them out.
12 As a shepherd seeks out his sheep in the day that he is among his flock that are scattered, so will I seek out My sheep; and I will rescue them out of all places where they have been scattered in the day of clouds and thick darkness.
13 And I will bring them out from the peoples and gather them from the countries and will bring them to their own land; and I will feed them upon the mountains of Israel, by the watercourses, and in all the inhabited places of the country

Ezek 34:14-28 AMP
14 I will feed them with good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be; there shall they lie down in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel.
15 I will feed My sheep and I will cause them to lie down, says the Lord God.

16 I will seek that which was lost and bring back that which has strayed, and I will bandage the hurt and the crippled and will strengthen the weak and the sick, but I will destroy the fat and the strong [who have become hardhearted and perverse]; I will feed them with judgment and punishment. [Luke 19:10.]
17 And as for you, O My flock, thus says the Lord God: Behold, I judge between sheep and sheep, between the rams and the great he-goats [the malicious and the tyrants of the pasture].
18 Is it too little for you that you feed on the best pasture, but you must tread down with your feet the rest of your pasture? And to have drunk of the waters clarified by subsiding, but you must foul the rest of the water with your feet?
19 And My flock, must they feed on what your feet have trodden and drink what your feet have fouled?
20 Therefore thus says the Lord God to them: Behold, I, I Myself, will judge between fat sheep and impoverished sheep, or fat goats and lean goats.
21 Because you push with side and with shoulder and thrust with your horns all those that have become weak and diseased, till you have scattered them abroad,
22 Therefore will I rescue My flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and I will judge between sheep and sheep.
23 And I will raise up over them one Shepherd and He shall feed them, even My Servant David; He shall feed them and He shall be their Shepherd. [Ezek 37:24; John 10:14-18.]
24 And I the Lord will be their God and My Servant David a Prince among them; I the Lord have spoken it.
25 And I will confirm with them a covenant of peace and will cause the evil beasts to cease out of the land, and [My people] shall dwell safely in the wilderness, desert, or pastureland and sleep [confidently] in the woods. [Ps 127:2 b; Isa 11:6-9; John 14:27; 16:33.]
26 And I will make them and the places round about My hill a blessing, and I will cause the showers to come down in their season; there shall be showers of blessing [of good insured by God's favor].
27 And the tree of the field shall yield its fruit and the earth shall yield its increase; and [My people] shall be secure in their land, and they shall be confident and know (understand and realize) that I am the Lord, when I have broken the bars of their yoke and have delivered them out of the hand of those who made slaves of them.
28 And they shall no more be a prey to the nations, nor shall the beasts of the earth devour them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afraid [in the day of the Messiah's reign]. [Isa 60:21; 61:3.]

The Good Shepherd, leaves the 99 to search for the one who is lost. But My shepherds have gone astray and are no longer concerned about the sheep to really know them. They are more concerned with selfish ambition and making money. It is necessary to make money to help give to others. But the money and numbers have become an obsession. I never called you to count. I never called you to only care for the numbers. They are PEOPLE, made in the image and likeness of God! They are human and have needs just as you do as leaders. My heart is broken for the contempt and selfishness I see in the caring for the sheep.

How will they know My love, except that I TEACH THEM? For the teachers and men and women caring for them, do not exemplify My love!!! You need to teach by EXAMPLE. Do you care for them as you care for yourself? Remember that I said, LOVE ONE ANOTHER, as I HAVE LOVED YOU. And to treat others, as you want to be treated. Do you do that to your congregations, or those of you who believe, to your neighbors? When you go to have fun, or to eat out, do you ever think of those who can’t? Do you only think of your own life? Or have you answered the call to LOSE your life and find it in ME? So many are still clinging to their own lives, there is little love found in association with others. Insecurity runs high even in My church, and it should not be so. You are to be known for your love for ONE ANOTHER. When you learn THAT, there will be revival! Revival will come in the ONE ANOTHERS .

1 Tim 6:3-5 AMP
But if anyone teaches otherwise and does not assent to the sound and wholesome messages of our Lord Jesus Christ (the Messiah) and the teaching which is in agreement with godliness (piety toward God), 4 He is puffed up with pride and stupefied with conceit, [although he is] woefully ignorant. He has a morbid fondness for controversy and disputes and strife about words, which result in (produce) envy and jealousy, quarrels and dissension, abuse and insults and slander, and base suspicions, 5 And protracted wrangling and wearing discussion and perpetual friction among men who are corrupted in mind and bereft of the truth, who imagine that godliness or righteousness is a source of profit [a moneymaking business, a means of livelihood]. From such withdraw.

The early church shared all that they had with one another, so that everyone was well taken care of. THAT is what I want for the church in this age as well. To learn to care enough for one another, that you don't just discard the needs of others to fulfill your own lustful desires. For where envy and SELF-SEEKING exist, EVERY OTHER EVIL THING ABIDES!

Are you ravaged with love for ME and My people as much as I am for you?
Haven't I shown you My grace, My mercy, My love? Now will you GO and show it to others, that they may see the real ME?

The Lord Rides Upon Majestic Hills and Mountains

Ps 24:3-9 NKJV
3 Who may ascend into the hill of the LORD? Or who may stand in His holy place? 4 He who has clean hands and a pure heart, Who has not lifted up his soul to an idol, nor sworn deceitfully. 5 He shall receive blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation. 6 This is Jacob, the generation of those who seek Him, Who seek Your face. Selah
7 Lift up your heads, O you gates! And be lifted up, you everlasting doors!
And the King of glory shall come in. 8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, The LORD mighty in battle.
9 Lift up your heads, O you gates! Lift up, you everlasting doors

Oh you who say, I have no idols in my heart! Even you have made yourselves an idol in much of your life. Whenever you put YOU first above My opinion, and my will, are you not making yourself an idol? Who is it that gave you your wisdom? Who is it that gave you favor? Who is it that gave you your family? Who is it that gave you your education? Who is it that gave you your talent to achieve? Who is it that gave you your finances? Do you think YOU earned it on your own? If I remove My favor, what do you think would happen? KNOW YOU NOT WHO I AM? Know you not that I AM the ALMIGHTY ONE OF ISRAEL. THERE is NONE LIKE ME? Who are you oh man, that you think you can create in the image of Me?

You have built your nest high on the mountains of the earth. But who created those mountains? Who created the beasts of the earth, and the trees of the fields? I wish that it were not so among those who are called by My name. But even in My house are many who are thinking somehow, that their success is due to My approval, when it is due to their efforts and My love has not opposed them, for I was hoping for repentance and humility to come forth in process, but instead there is alignment with leviathan and greed. I would that it were not so in My house, but there has been wolves that have crept into My pastures and devoured the sheep. There have been spirits come in unawares because My people lack discernment.

Why do they lack discernment you may ask? Because they lack healing and because holiness is a rare commodity in today's church. You cannot live for your flesh and have discernment. You cannot strive, and be filled with envy and selfish ambition and pride, and expect to have discernment. Those who give in to pride are given over to delusion and deception to the enemy. And his forces continue to grow and multiply. So that now there is a great chasm

between what is true and what is false.

Song 3:6-7 NKJV Who is this coming out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, with all the merchant's fragrant powders? 7 Behold, it is Solomon's couch, with sixty valiant men around it, of the valiant of Israel.
[Solomon here a type of the Bridegroom Jesus]

Who is this, that is coming to cleanse His house? It is Jesus, the King of Kings and the Lord of LORDS. He is coming to His house. And HE will take charge of His flock and restore good shepherds to the flock. Some will be healed and delivered. Others will be promoted to take charge of the sheep. But He will return to set in order what is not in order. All the fighting about the form will stop. Persecution is coming. I have ordained many changes that have come and will come. STOP using your swords to bludgeon those who meet together who don't have degrees and the honor of MEN! Stop using your swords against the Sauls in the Land! Forgive and you will be forgiven! I WILL WIELD MY SWORD against the SAULS and I will bring
MY order to MY house!

Song 8:5 NKJV Who is this coming up from the wilderness, leaning upon her beloved? I awakened you under the apple tree. There your mother brought you forth; There she who bore you brought you forth.

The Bride is to lean on ME. The bride is being prepared and I am soaking you in scented oils and perfumes. Come and bathe in My presence to receive these healing oils! For I am longing to prepare you that you may not lack any good thing in the days to come which are growing darker. LEAN ON ME My beloveds! Depend on ME for all you say and do. Ask Me for the grace to do this and I will give it to you. I am longing to CONSUME you with My love.

Isa 63:1-6 NKJV
The LORD in Judgment and Salvation
Who is this who comes from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah, This One who is glorious in His apparel, traveling in the greatness of His strength? — "I who speak in righteousness, mighty to save." 2 Why is Your apparel red, and Your garments like one who treads in the winepress? 3 "I have trodden the winepress alone, and from the peoples no one was with Me. For I have trodden them in My anger, and trampled them in My fury; Their blood is sprinkled upon My garments, and I have stained all My robes. 4 For the day of vengeance is in My heart, and the year of My redeemed has come. 5 I looked, but there was no one to help, And I wondered that there was no one to uphold; Therefore My own arm brought salvation for Me; and My own fury, it sustained Me. 6 I have trodden down the peoples in My anger, Made them drunk in My fury, and brought down their strength to the earth."

[At this scripture I began to weep and sob deeply…the Spirit of intercession came upon me]

The day of the Lord is near My beloveds! Weep My priests between the porch and the altar. Weep for the lost of the earth. Weep for those who are misguided within My church. Weep now, and the weeping will be less later. Weep you women. Wail for the shepherds! Wail for the sons of men, for I am coming and My sword is on My side and none will escape it!

Jer 46:7-10 NKJV "Who is this coming up like a flood, whose waters move like the rivers? 8 Egypt rises up like a flood, and its waters move like the rivers; and he says, 'I will go up and cover the earth, I will destroy the city and its inhabitants.' 9 Come up, O horses, and rage, O chariots! And let the mighty men come forth: The Ethiopians and the Libyans who handle the shield, and the Lydians who handle and bend the bow. 10 For this is the day of the Lord GOD of hosts, A day of vengeance, that He may avenge Himself on His adversaries. The sword shall devour; It shall be satiated and made drunk with their blood; For the Lord GOD of hosts has a sacrifice in the north country by the River Euphrates.

Do you see the signs? Do you hear the tumult of the nations? Do you see the plans of the wicked? Be

NOT AFRAID! For WHO IS MIGHTIER?
THE LION WHO DEVOURS OR THE LION OF JUDAH? Call for the mighty men! Wake up the sleeping servants! Call them to praise! Call them to worship Me! Call them to prayer and fasting! Awaken those who sleep! Speak My Word to them! Confront the spirit of APATHY, COMPLACENCY AND SOMNOLENCE ON THE LAND! Weep for the many who are suffering in the earth. I WILL ARISE TO RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION and I WILL ANSWER THE HEAVENS AS YOU LIFT YOUR VOICES IN PRAYER AND WORSHIP.

Ezek 38:8-9 NKJV After many days you will be visited. In the latter years you will come into the land of those brought back from the sword and gathered from many people on the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate; they were brought out of the nations, and now all of them dwell safely. 9 You will ascend, coming like a storm, covering the land like a cloud, you and all your troops and many peoples with you."

I AM THE GUARDIAN OF ISRAEL AND NOTHING WILL KEEP ME FROM PERFORMING MY WORD! Call the widows to prayer! Call the children to join you in prayer and worship! Do not think they are too young to pray! Do not think they are too young to war. Their innocence is a great weapon! And many of them will give wisdom to YOU!!!!! PRAY AS FAMILIES! What is this, that you don’t pray together, yet you call yourselves Christians?
If there is no unity in your family…How can you be support for one another?
Worship together! PRAY together…One can set a thousand to flight…TWO can set ten thousand to flight! The lack of prayer in my church is an abomination to ME. How can you have an effect on the lost if you don’t even pray for them. Your authority will only follow your range of prayer. If you only pray for the church going, how will you have authority for the lost?

Obad 3-4 NKJV
3 The pride of your heart has deceived you, You who dwell in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; You who say in your heart, 'Who will bring me down to the ground?' 4 Though you ascend as high as the eagle, and though you set your nest among the stars, from there I will bring you down," says the LORD.

Do you think that because you have degrees and titles, that I will honor you for your achievements? What I honor is a contrite heart! I lift up the HUMBLE! So humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord as it says, and I will lift you up. But if you fail to ask for My humility, how will you stand in My presence when I come? Do you think I delight in your pride? Do you think I delight in judgment? The grief of My heart is overflowing. My heart is broken for those who are so alone, and there is no one to ease their suffering and pain! I see the pain of every child who is alone and hungry every day, day in and day out. There is nothing beyond my sight!!! I cannot close My eyes to it! I hear their groaning. I hear their cries. I hear the plight of the homeless teenager who is full of self destruction and self loathing! I see the pain of the one who has never been loved! I feel all their pain and hear all their thoughts and cries all the time!

How can I stay sitting without doing something to bring JUSTICE to the earth? I have given much grace, and I will give even MORE that My bride will be transformed to feel their pain too! That My Bride will be transformed to hear their cries and to execute My justice! I will not allow My turtledoves to be turned over to the wild beasts of the earth any longer without consequence! KNOW that My justice is invading the earth! Cry out for your loved ones! Cry out for the prodigals! Cry out for the weary and poor in spirit! I AM LISTENING. The Lord God of Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps! I will bring all you need if you will but cry out and worship ME!
I am the Ultimate AUTHORITY WHO RULES and REIGNS and lays the mountains waste and exalts every valley!

Isa 33:20-22,24 NKJV
20 Look upon Zion, the city of our appointed feasts; Your eyes will see Jerusalem, a quiet home, A tabernacle that will not be taken down; Not one of its stakes will ever be removed, Nor will any of its cords be broken. 21 But there the majestic LORD will be for us A place of broad rivers and streams, In which no galley with oars will sail, Nor majestic ships pass by 22 (For the LORD is our Judge, The LORD is our Lawgiver, The LORD is our King; He will save us);…….24 And the inhabitant will not say, "I am sick";

The people who dwell in it will be forgiven their iniquity.

Ezek 17:22-24 NKJV Israel Exalted at Last (cf. Ezek 31:1-9)
Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will take also one of the highest branches of the high cedar and set it out. I will crop off from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one, and will plant it on a high and prominent mountain. 23 On the mountain height of Israel I will plant it; and it will bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a majestic cedar. Under it will dwell birds of every sort; in the shadow of its branches they will dwell. 24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I, the LORD, have brought down the high tree and exalted the low tree, dried up the green tree and made the dry tree flourish; I, the LORD, have spoken and have done it."

Come To The Light
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Feb 9th, 2004

Come to the Light, Come as you are,
You can be the friend of God,
Humble yourself, here in your heart
He will meet you where you are!
I'm standing here to testify, of all You've done for me!
[I heard these words of a song by Kevin Prosch]
In one of the refrains he sings…"Clap Your hands oh GOD!
Clap Your hands oh God!"

The Lord spoke:
I'm clapping My hands! I'm clapping my hands over you! I am putting an end to some of the warfare. There is a new warfare coming. But for this time,
I am making a way for those who are called to rise up in this hour and take the land to go forth. I am pouring out fresh wine and oil and I will make a way in the wilderness for those who have been in a desert time. I will give you fresh waters to drink from and you will be REFRESHED and RENEWED in your love for Me, and your love for what I am calling you to do.

The enemy has been busy causing discouragement and despair, and boxing in those whom he knows I will use in this hour. He has tried and tested, but now I will allow you to come forward and take a sheet of paper out of My hand. Written on this paper are your orders. And as you take them into your hands and HEARTS, there will come a commensurate anointing for what I am calling you to do. I am pouring MY LOVE and power into you so that you can do all things I put before you.

Now you know the enemy also tries to put things in your mind to do, so you will remain so busy as to not have fellowship with ME. But I will show you what is ME, and what is distraction if you but ask ME. Some of what he tries to set before you will sound good. But it will not yield FRUIT. It will be in opposite direction to My will. So you need to really hear MY heart.
He is busy trying to keep bound up My seers and prophets but know that I am going to do such a change in My own, that he will be made a spectacle before you. If you are doing what I will for you…sometimes there will be opposition, but now I will overcome the opposition so that nothing can stop the flow of abundant LIFE from MY throne to those who are hurting and lost.

GRACE, GRACE, GRACE will come to you, and you will find favor in all you put your hands to when it is the route I've chosen! Do not think you can put My stamp of approval on things YOU plan. I am ADONAI. I am your Master and Lord, and only I know what is ahead of you. I know what is best for you. I am standing beside you, and have not, and will not go anywhere. I promised to NEVER leave you or forsake you!

Changes are coming. CHANGES ARE COMING! LOOK for them! Anticipate them! Surprises and suddenlies will overtake you! Nothing will ever seem the same again. You will see with NEW EYES, things your heart has longed to see. But without the right heart, I cannot let you SEE. For when you have a wrong heart, it skews what you see. You do not see it clearly, but it can be misinterpreted through a cloudy lens. I am closing the door on some things you have done and opening doors in new things I have promised for you to do. BE ready for changes. Get ready to be apprehended in a most delightful way! I know how to delight My children, even as you like to delight yours.

When you feel like you don't know something, ASK. For I have all the answers you need. If you don't understand, I am the Spirit of understanding and wisdom. I will be pouring out MORE anointing from the 7-fold Spirit that will shock and amaze many! UNBELIEF will be dealt a death blow!
Speak the Word of LIFE and it will become LIFE! Honor ME, and I will honor you! Do not give in to cowardice and intimidation of this world, for
I am longing to demonstrate MY LOVE to a lost and DYING world! Be the salt of the earth!

REMEMBER every day, My LOVE for you my sons and daughters. DWELL in thoughts of that love. Meditate on My love! Do not give in to any deceit about Me cutting off My love from you. My LOVE NEVER FAILS!

The Great Miracle

Carla Rickard

May 6 2004
I tell you what you have been given is a droplet of Who I AM. You are in part. I AM WHOLE. I AM HOLY. I AM all you will ever need. I AM your POWER. I AM more than enough. I AM the author and finisher of your faith. I AM the Alpha and Omega. I am the Bright and Morning Star. I AM all things to those who believe I AM.

Exalt Me above your circumstance. That is changeable BUT I CHANGE NOT! Exalt me above your thoughts, My thoughts are greater than yours and My ways are Higher!

The time is now to let go of your preconceptions of Who you have created me to be so that you could gain a small understanding. I AM bigger than all you can think. I AM bigger than all you could hope. If I truly desired to destroy you it would have been done already. If I truly desired to forbid you to come, I would never have brought reconciliation by way of the cross. Toss these lies of your enemy out!

You are more than conquerors. I AM for you not against you! Do you still not see? Are you so busy with your doctrines that you forget THE TEACHER? I said call no man Father for you have a father in heaven. I also said call no man master. But you take some of what I say and not all of it and then make grand claims to have sound doctrine.

If you are In Me and I AM in you, then you will be led into all Truth. Overcome the lies with Worship. Speak forth My Word. I AM the Word. I change not!
I tell you for those who have come to know me, there is great release coming to you. Do not stand in the way of what I am prepared to do in this hour. The greatest of the miracles is about to take place. I AM about to answer your prayers and change YOU! I have set it in stone. I AM changing YOU! You will be prepared. You will not miss it. You will not fail. I know your weaknesses in your flesh. I know what you can and cannot do. But I have heard your cries for help. I have seen the depression of oppression, which causes you to believe you may never make it. But I tell you YES YOU WILL.

I have called you first to myself, then to others. Remember when you are spending all your time with me, the false ones cannot trick you. Stay close and get ready. I’m going to perform a miracle in your heart!

The Glory of God - It's Coming

Deb Okereke

"The GLORY OF GOD! It's coming. It's coming soon. Be prepared, be ready lest it sweep you away. I will fill this land with My awesome glory. I will fulfill that which was spoken by the prophets of old, I will fulfill that which is spoken through My prophets today. I will cover the earth with My glory as the water covers the sea. Blazing glory!! You will never be the same once you have truly tasted of My glory. Waves of My glory are going forth, touching first one place and then another. Note though because MY glory will cover, it doesn't have to leave one place to go to another, it can rest there and still continue on. Like a candle being used to light another candle does not lose any of its light, any of its flame but it doubles the light that is emitted. My glory will be released until the whole earth is covered. Can you not hear the waves of My glory lapping in the distance? Listen with the ears of your spirit.

This is MORE than the RIVER! This is MORE than MY ANOINTING!! I am seeking places, and hearts, I am seeking HOSTS where My glory can dwell, where My glory can rest, where it can remain. Where I find hospitality. Will you prepare a place for My glory to be deposited? I call unto you now to seek My Face, to long with unbridled passion for My Presence, to FOCUS solely on Me. The gifts from My Hand are yours My children, I withhold nothing from those who walk uprightly. But seek My Face! Seek to abide in My glory and those things shall be yours, but as byproducts and not as your objectives. Oh My Children, there will come a new ease to Kingdom work when My glory comes, you will not need even to pray for healing, for deliverance, for salvation. In the midst of the cloud of My glory these things will instantly come to pass. My glory will be unmistakable, you won't have to question whether that was the glory of the Lord. All will know, all will recognize. It will silence the scoffers and the doubters. It will be irrefutable.

And it is COMING! It is even now rising upon you. As the darkness grows darker even now My glory is rising upon you. (Isa 60) Never the same! Never the same! The world will never be the same once it has seen My glory. You will be humbled, it is a weighty thing My glory, you will fall on your faces in reverence, in holy fear. In the light of My glory you will see the hidden sin in your hearts, you will want to run from the brightness, from the relentless light upon your heart, but I say to you, DO NOT run from Me, run to Me. Throw yourselves upon the mercy seat and repent NOW. I would use you for the furtherance of My Kingdom, I will pull My glory out of you. I would that you would come face to face with your impurities and the filthy rags of your own righteousness and plead for and receive My forgiveness. The waves of My glory are being released. Feel them flow over you and through you.

The Gospel Of The Kingdom Of God

Bill Bremer

(A brief introduction)

Introduction – God and His people
Messiah Jesus - the kingdom on earth
The Holy Spirit helps us see and be born into God's kingdom
The Holy Spirit brings the kingdom to earth
The kingdom coming to earth

Introduction – God and His people

John the Baptist and Messiah Jesus first proclaimed the gospel of the kingdom to the Jews. The Scriptures they quoted were from what we call the Old Testament, revealing God as the creator, the Sovereign God above all gods, King above all kings, the God of deliverance from evil and the God of restoration.

These Scriptures tell of creation, Adam and Eve walking and talking with God in perfect harmonious relationship and how this relationship was shattered at the fall instigated by Satan. They reveal God's plan for restoration beginning when He told the snake He would give Eve a Descendent, meaning Messiah Jesus. "He will crush your head, and you will bruise His heal" (Gen3:15). They tell of Noah and Moses and Job. They show how God brought forth Israel as the nation of promise through Abraham and Isaac! and Jacob. God promised His people Israel the Promised Land (Gen 13:14-17; 26:1-3; 28:10-15) and a Descendant through whom the whole world would be blessed (Gen 12:3; 18:18; 22:18; 26:4; 28:14).

The Law and the prophets reveal the Law given to Moses at Mount Sinai. They recount God's promises given to His prophets revealing the Messiah He would send as Deliverer from the bondages of the devil, the world and our flesh. They reveal the Messiah of the kingdom would suffer and die as the perfect sacrifice for sin, transgressions and iniquity. They reveal God would pour out His Spirit on all flesh. They reveal the King of kings and Lord of lords who will overcome and conquer all barriers to perfect harmony with God and will rule over His people on the restored earth forever and ever.

Messiah Jesus - the kingdom on earth

John the Baptist prepared the people for the Messiah's coming by proclaiming, "'Repent – the kingdom of heaven is near.' He was the one of whom the prophet Isaiah said: Someone will be calling in the wilderness, 'Prepare the way for the Lord; make the paths straight for Him'" (Mt 3:2-3).
"I baptize you with water for a change of heart /repentance. But the One who is coming after me is mightier than I. I'm not good enough to carry away His shoes. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. He has the winnowing shovel in His hand and will clean up His threshing floor. His wheat He'll gather into His barn, but the chaff He'll burn in a fire that can't be put out" (Mt 3:11-12).

God our Father sent His Son, Jesus the Messiah, to this earth. Just as He prompted the prophets of old to prophesy, the promised Savior /Deliverer, who is Messiah the Lord, was born in David's town (Lu 2:11). During His three years of public ministry on this earth, Messiah Jesus proclaimed the gospel of the kingdom with authority and power and established the kingdom on earth.

"Then He went around everywhere in Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the good news of the Kingdom, and healing every kind of disease and sickness among the people" (Mt 4:23).

Messiah Jesus boldly proclaimed, "'The Spirit of the Lord is on Me because – He anointed Me to tell the poor the good news. He sent Me to announce to prisoners, 'You are free,' to the blind, 'You will see again,' to free those who are broken down, to announce a season when the Lord welcomes people'" (Lu 4:18-19 / Is 58:6; 61:1-2).

At a mountain Jesus taught His disciples and a crowd the relational character of the kingdom. He began with what we call the Beatitudes:

“Blessed are those who are poor in spirit – they have the kingdom of heaven.
“Blessed are those who mourn –
they will be comforted.
“Blessed are those who are gentle -
they will own the land.
“Blessed are those who hunger and thirst to be righteous – they will be satisfied.
“Blessed are those who are merciful –
they will find mercy.
“Blessed are those whose hearts are pure –
they will see God.
“Blessed are those who make peace –
they will be called God’s sons.
“Blessed are those who are persecuted for doing right – they have the kingdom of heaven.
“Blessed are you when people insult you, persecute you, lie and tell only evil about you on account of Me. Rejoice and be glad because you have a great reward in heaven. That’s how they persecuted the prophets who were before you” (Mt 5:3-12).

Years ago, I heard Jill Jackson aptly describe the root of the barriers to fellowship with God and one another as the Me Attitudes. Messiah Jesus wants us to have the Beatitudes of the kingdom, but we've got a lot of Me Attitudes of the church. In spite of this, we are doing much of what God has destined us to do.

When we follow Jesus as His disciples, our attitudes and actions reflect relational integrity with Messiah Jesus and one another. Beginning with the Beatitudes, Messiah Jesus taught these heart attitudes for His disciples in the kingdom of God:

Your calling - salt and light
The righteousness of the kingdom
Don’t murder
Don’t lust
Don’t swear
Love your enemies
Don’t blow your own horn
Pray –Our Father, Your kingdom come
Fast in secret
Store up treasures in heaven
Don’t worry – seek first the kingdom
Criticize yourself
Don’t throw your pearls before swine
Ask, seek, knock
Practice the Golden Rule
Go through the Narrow Gate
Beware of false prophets
Build on the Rock (Matthew 5 to 7)

After seeing Messiah Jesus preach the kingdom with authority, the Jews, including His disciples, thought He would then establish an earthly kingdom. They had preconceived ideas. He had instructed His disciples, “’Go to the lost sheep of Israel. As you go, preach, ‘The kingdom of heaven is here.’ Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse lepers, drive out devils. Give these things as you received them – without pay’” (Mt 10:6-8).

When John the Baptist was in prison, soon to be beheaded, he sent his disciples to ask Jesus if He was the promised Messiah. “’Go,’ Jesus answered them, ‘tell John what you hear and see: The blind see, the lame walk, lepers are made clean, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the poor hear the good news /gospel, and happy is anyone who doesn’t turn against Me“ (Mt 11:4-5).

Messiah Jesus really hit a raw nerve in the Pharisees when He demonstrated His power over the devil by casting out a demon.

“At that time some people brought to Jesus a man who had a devil and was blind and couldn’t talk. Jesus healed him so that he could talk and see.

"'The people were all amazed. 'Could this be the Son of David?' they asked. When the Pharisees heard about it, they said, 'He can drive out the devils only with the help of Beelzubul, who rules over the devils.'"
"'Knowing what they were thinking, Jesus said to them, 'If one part of any kingdom fight another, it loses its people. And if one part of any town or home fights another, it will not stand. If the devil drives out the devil, he's fighting against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? Now if Beelzebul helps Me drive out the devils, who helps your sons drive them out? That's why they'll be your judges. But if God's Spirit helps Me drive out the devils, then God's kingdom! has come to you. How can anyone go into a strong man's house and take away his goods without first tying the strong man up? After that he'll rob his house.'"
"Anyone who's not with Me is against Me, and anyone who doesn't help Me gather scatters" (Mt 12:22-30 emphasis added).

All of this uproar should catch our attention. Here, Jesus was plainly establishing His kingdom. Some of today's scholars get real picky about the meaning of the Greek words indicating the kingdom has come, is in your midst, near you, or come upon you. The following Word Paul prays settles it. This is how God our Father transferred us into the kingdom of the Son He loves.

"He rescued us from the tyranny of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of the Son He loves, who paid the ransom to forgive our sins and set us free. He is the image of the invisible God, born before and above everything created, since in Him was created everything you can see and cannot see in heaven and on earth – thrones, lords, rulers, or powers – everything was created by Him and for Him. He was before everything, and He holds everything together. He is the Head of the church, which is His body. He is the Beginning, the first among the dead to become alive that He may be first in everything. God decided to have His whole being live in Him and by Him to reconcile to Himself everything on earth and in heaven in a peace made by the blood on His cross" (Col 1:13-20 emphasis added).

When they asked Him about His second coming, He told His own disciples to proclaim this gospel of the kingdom:

"You will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you don't get alarmed. It must happen, but that's not the end yet. Nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there will be famines and earthquakes in different places. But all these are only the first pains.
"Then they will hand you over to those who will make you suffer, and they will kill you, and all nations will hate you on account of My name. Then many will fall away and betray one another and hate one another. May false prophets will arise and lead many people astray. And because there will be more and more wickedness, the love of most people will turn cold. But endure to the end, and you will be saved.
"This good news of the Kingdom must be preached all over the world so that all nations hear the truth, and then the end will come" (Mt 24:6-14).
The big battle between darkness and light produces casualties. Following Jesus will bring persecution. We are to preach this good news of the kingdom. If we have discovered the kingdom is like a treasure hidden in a field, like a pearl of great price (Mt 13:44 – 45), we will preach it.

Continuing in the gospel of Matthew, we see Messiah Jesus demonstrating His authority by healing, casting out demons and forgiving sins. Then, He taught the parables of the kingdom. He concluded His teaching by revealing Himself as the Son of man, come to judge the world. In this revelation, He shows us how we are to love Him, how He will reward us and how he will judge the cursed ones.

"'When the Son of man comes in His glory and all the angels with Him, then He will sit on His throne of glory. And all nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them from one another, as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats, and He will have the sheep stand at His right but the goats at His left.
"'Then the King will say to those at His right, 'Come, you whom My Father blessed, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the time the world was made. I was hungry, and you gave Me something to eat; I was thirsty, and you gave Me a drink; I was a stranger, and you took Me into your homes; naked, and you gave Me something to wear; sick, and you looked after Me; in prison, and you visited Me.'

“’Then the righteous will ask Him, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You a drink? When did we see You a stranger and take you into our homes, or naked and give You something to wear? When did we see You sick or in prison and visit You?’
“’And the King will answer them, ‘Let Me assure you, anything you did for one of My brothers here, however humble, you did for Me.’
“’Then He will say to those at His left, ’Go away from Me, you cursed ones, into the everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels. I was hungry, and you gave Me nothing to eat; thirsty, and you didn’t give Me a drink; a stranger, and you didn’t take Me into you homes; naked, and you didn’t give Me anything to wear; sick and in prison, and you didn’t look after Me.’
“’Then they, too, will ask, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison and didn’t help You?’
“’Then He will answer them, ‘I tell you the truth, anything you didn’t do for one of these, however humble, you didn’t do for Me.’
“Then these will go away to everlasting punishment, but the righteous to everlasting life” (Mt 25:31-46 emphasis added).

Notice, inheriting the kingdom prepared from the time the world was made is equated with everlasting life. “Come, you whom My Father blessed, inherit the kingdom … the righteous to everlasting life.”

When He was before Pilate, just before His crucifixion, Pilate asked Him if He was the King of the Jews. “’My kingdom is not of this world,’ Jesus answered. ‘If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight to keep Me from being handed over to the Jews. But now My kingdom is not of this world” (Jn 18:36).
Just as prophesied, Jesus was crucified, dead for our sins and buried and resurrected (Gen 2:17; Ro 6:23). Only the death of something or someone sinless can atone for sin (Gen 3:21; 4:4:3-5; Is 52:13 - 53:8, 9b, 12b; 59:2). “God decided to have His whole being live in Him and by Him to reconcile to Himself everything on earth and in heaven in a peace made by the blood on His cross” (Col 1:20).

“They came to a place called Golgotha, which means Skull Place. They offered Him a drink of wine, mixed with gall, but when He tasted it, He refused to drink it. They crucified Him. And they divided His clothes among them by throwing lots” (Mt 27:33-35 / Ps 69:21; 22:18).

“But Jesus called out loud again and gave up His spirit. Just then the curtain in the temple was torn in two from top to bottom, the earth was shaken, the rocks were split, the graves were opened, and many bodies of the holy people asleep in death were brought back to life; they came out of the graves and after He had risen went into the holy city, where many saw them” (Mt 27:50-53).
Jesus was resurrected from the dead as foretold by the prophets Lev 23:9-15; Is 53:10-12; Ps 19:9-11 / Acts 2:25-32; 13:35-37).

“’Don’t be afraid,’ the angel said to the women. ‘I know you’re looking for Jesus, who was crucified. He is not here. He has risen as He said. Come, see the place where He was lying. And go quickly, tell His disciples, ‘He has risen from the dead’” (Mt 28:5-7a).

After His resurrection, Jesus reminded His disciples of His commission to them to preach the kingdom and make disciples. He told them, “I am sending you Him whom My Father promised. Wait here in the city till you are armed with power from above.”

“’I have been given all power in heaven and on earth,’ He said. Go and make disciples of all people; Baptize them in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy spirit, and teach them to do everything I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always till the end of the world’” (Mt 28:18-20).
“’While I was still with you,’ He said to them, ‘I told you that everything written about Me in the Law of Moses, the Prophets, and the Psalms must come true.’ Then He opened their minds to understand the Bible. ‘This,’ He told them, ‘is what is written: The promised Savior will suffer, rise from the dead on the third day, and in His name you will preach to all people, beginning at Jerusalem, that they repent of their sins so that they will be forgiven. You will testify of these things.’
“’I am sending you Him whom My Father promised. Wait here in the city till you are armed with power from above.’
“He took them out to a place where Bethany lay ahead of them. Then He raised His hands and blessed them. While He was blessing them, He parted from them and was taken up to heaven” (Lu 24:44-53).

The Holy Spirit helps us see and be born into God's kingdom
This brief introduction of the gospel of the kingdom just begins to scratch the surface. The whole Bible presents God’s plan to bring His people out of darkness into His marvelous light forever and ever (1Pe 2:9). As we saw above from Matthew 25, everlasting life in His kingdom is the blessing of the inheritance He has given us in Messiah Jesus. The vital part of everlasting life is to know and relate with God in perfect harmony. “This is everlasting life - to know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ /the Messiah, whom you sent” (Jn 17:3).
Before we explore the gospel further, we must ask for the revelation of the Holy Spirit to open our eyes and ears. Most of us are familiar with John 3:16. But not many know what Jesus tells us just prior in John 3. Here, Jesus tells us the Holy Spirit helps us see and get into God's kingdom.

"'I tell you the truth,' Jesus answered him, ‘if anyone isn't born from above, he can't see God's kingdom.’ ... 'I tell you the truth' Jesus answered him, 'if anyone isn't born of water and the Spirit, he can't get into God's kingdom. Anything born of the flesh is flesh, but anything born of the Spirit is spirit. Don't be surprised when I tell you, you must all be born from above. The wind blows where it pleases and you hear the sound of it, but you don't know where it's coming from or where it's going. So it is with everyone born of the Spirit'" (Jn 3:3, 5-8 emphasis added).

If we don’t partake of the Holy Spirit, we can’t understand the gospel of the kingdom. "The natural man receives not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Cor 2:14).

With that, here is John 3:16. Jesus looking ahead to His crucifixion proclaimed: "As Moses lifted up the snake in the desert, so the son of Man must be lifted up so that everyone who believes in Him has everlasting life. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son so that whoever believes in Him might not perish but have everlasting life" (Jn 3:14-16).

We can see God’s kingdom. Here’s a glimpse: “You have come to Mount Zion, the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem. Here are tens of thousands of angels, the whole festival gathering and church of God’s firstborn people with their names written in heaven. Here is the Judge and God of all. Here are the spirits of the righteous who have be! en perfected. And here is Jesus, who gave us a new covenant with God, and the sprinkled blood that has better things to tell than Abel.

“Since we have received a kingdom that can’t be shaken, let us thank God and so worship in a way that pleases Him, with fear and awe, because our God is a consuming fire” (Heb 12:22-24, 28-29).

In the parable of the Sower, Jesus shows us what happens with people who don't let the word grow in their hearts and what happens when we understand and let the word of the kingdom take root and grow in our hearts. This parable shows how God’s kingdom is extended to the whole world and the consequences of not receiving the kingdom.

“’A sower went out to sow, ‘He said. ‘As he was sowing, some seed fell along the road, and the birds came and ate it. Some seed fell on rocky ground, where it didn’t have much soil. Because the soil wasn’t deep, the seed came up quickly. When the sun rose, it was scorched, and because it had not taken root, it withered. Some seed fell on thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it. But some seed fell on good ground and produced grain, some w hundred, some sixty, and some thirty times as much as was sown.; You have ears then listen.’”
“’The disciples came to Him, ‘Why are You talking to them in parables?’ they asked Him.
“’You are given the privilege to know the secrets of the kingdom of heaven,’ He answered, ‘but it isn’t given to the others. If you have something, you’ll be given more, and so you’ll get more and more. But if you don’t have what you should have, even what you have will be taken away from you. I talk to them in parables because they see and yet don’t see, and hear and yet don’t hear or understand. In them more and more Isaiah’s prophecy is coming true: You will hear but never understand; you will look but never see. These people have become dull at heart and hard of hearing and have! shut their eyes, so that their eyes will never see, their ears never hear, or their hearts understand, and they will never turn to Me and let Me heal them.

“Blessed are your eyes because they see and your ears because they hear. Let Me assure you, many prophets and righteous people longed to see what you see and didn’t see it, to hear what you hear and didn’t hear it.
"Listen to what the parable of the sower means. When anyone hears the message of the Kingdom but doesn't understand it, the evil one comes and takes away what was sown in his heart. That is what was sown along the road. In another the seed falls on rocky ground. He's one who welcomes the Word with joy as soon as he hears it, but it doesn't take root in him. He believes for a while, but as soon as the Word brings him trouble or persecution, he falls away. In another the seed is sown among thorns. He's one who hears the Word, but the worry of the world and the deceitful pleasure of riches choke the Word, and it can't produce anything. But in another the seed is sown on good ground. He's one who continues to hear and understand the Word and so goes on producing good things, one a hundred, another sixty, and another thirty times as much as was sown" (Mt 13:4-23 / v 14-15 from Is 6: 9-10 emphasis added).

The seed being sown is the gospel of the kingdom, the message our God reigns and we get to live in His kingdom. God has called us into His kingdom and glory (1 Th 2:12). God our Father's plan to deliver us from the tyranny of darkness (Col 1) and restore His people to harmonious fellowship with Himself and one another is well under way (Eph 1 – 3).

Paul told King Agrippa a little about his conversion and the commission Jesus gave him. “I will rescue you from your people and from the non-Jews to whom I’m sending you, to open their eyes and turn them from darkness to light and from the devil’s control to God to have their sins forgiven and get a share /inheritance of what the people enjoy who are made holy by believing in Me’ (Acts 26:17-18). Somehow, somewhere, we who believe have had our eyes opened and received those blessings.

The Holy Spirit brings the kingdom to earth
Messiah Jesus delegated His authority for the proclamation of the kingdom to His 12 disciples. God’s plan for restoration would depend on this small nucleus of His disciples. He knew His disciples would multiply. His disciples hear and understand the Word and so go on producing good things, one a hundred, another sixty, and another thirty times as much as was sown. Disciples multiply because they love, relate with, and report to Messiah Jesus the King and because His Father sends the Holy Spirit to help them.
Messiah Jesus had previously told the 12 He would ask the Father to send the Comforter, the Spirit. The setting was when Philip asked Him to show them the Father.

“’I’ve been with all of you so long,’ Jesus answered him, ‘and you don’t know Me, Philip? If you have seen Me, you have seen the Father. How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’? Don’t you believe I am in the Father and the Father is in Me? What I tell you doesn’t come from Me, but the Father, who lives in Me, is doing His works. Believe Me, I am in the Father, and the Father is in Me. Or else believe Me on account of My works.

“I tell you the truth, if you believe in Me, you’ll do the works I’m doing, and you’ll do greater works than these, because I’m going to the Father, and I will do anything you ask in My name in order that the Son may glorify the Father. If you ask Me for anything in My name, I’ll do it.

“If you love Me, you will do what I order. And I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Comforter to be with you forever. He is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it doesn’t see or know Him. You know Him, because He lives with you and will be in you” (Jn 14:9-17).

A short time later, the Holy Spirit comes. “The day of Pentecost came, and they were all together in one place. Suddenly a sound like a violent blast of wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting. They saw tongues like flames that separated and one rested on each of them. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and started to speak in other languages as the Spirit gave them the ability to speak” (Acts 2:1-4).

Peter reminded the Jews, “’This is what the prophet Joel spoke about: ‘In the last days,’ God says, ‘I will pour out My Spirit on all people. Then your sons and your daughters will speak God’s Word /prophesy, your young men will have visions, and your old men will have dreams. In those days I will pour out My Spirit on My servants, both men and women, and they will speak God's Word /prophesy. I will give you startling wonders in the sky above and marvelous signs on the earth below; blood and fire and a cloud of smoke; the sun will turn dark and the moon to blood before the coming of the Lord's great and splendid day. Then everyone who calls on the Lord's name will be saved.'" (Acts 2:17-21 / Joel 2:28-32).

Through the Holy Spirit, Messiah Jesus teaches us to relate in love through on-the-job-training with one another. As we get to know Him better, His life flows to us and through us with less and less restrictions. As we partake of the divine nature, we grow more and more in the things that make us useful and productive in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. Through this regeneration process, God our Father enables us to love one another in Spirit and in Truth.

According to God's plan, we become increasingly useful and productive as we partake of the divine nature and mature in the character traits that under gird harmonious relationships in His kingdom. In the following Scripture, Peter exhorts us to partake eagerly and to look forward to the inheritance kept for us in heaven. We can encourage one another and grow to know God better, in accord with this Word from Peter.

"SIMON PETER, SERVANT AND APOSTLE OF JESUS CHRIST, to the people who by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ were given a faith as precious as ours: As you know God and our Lord Jesus, may you enjoy more and more of His grace and peace.

"By His glory and might He once gave us very great and precious promises and now has called us. When we got to know Him, His divine power gave us everything for life and godliness to help you escape the corruption that lust brought into the world and to share /partake of the divine nature.
"In view of that, try very hard to add to your faith moral power to moral power knowledge, to knowledge self control,
to self control endurance,
to endurance godliness,
to godliness brotherly kindness to brotherly kindness love.
"If you have these and they grow more and more, they keep you from being useless and unproductive in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But if anyone doesn't have these, he's blind, shortsighted, and has forgotten that his old sins were washed away.
"Be all the more eager, then, fellow Christians /brethren, to make sure you're God's called and chosen ones. If you do this, you will never fail. Then with rich gifts you will be welcomed into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" (2 Peter 1:1-11).

The character traits Peter enumerates keep us from being useless and unproductive in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. These character traits of the kingdom are the stuff of harmonious relationship with God and our brethren. We can develop them because the Holy "Spirit Produces love, joy, peace. He makes us patient, kindly, good, faithful, gentle, and gives us self-control (Gal 5:22-23). The Spirit pours God's love into our hearts (Ro 5:5), gives us a new heart with the ability to know God, fills our hearts with the Spirit of sonship (Ro 8) and opens our eyes to help us understand the good news of His kingdom (2 Cor 3).

Paul succinctly sums up the kingdom mode in Romans 14, so we will follow his description to reveal our personal identity and purpose in the Messiah.
"God's kingdom is not eating and drinking but righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit" (Ro 14:17 emphasis added).

In view of what we have considered, look at the contrast between the kingdom of God and the tyranny of darkness. The devil destroyed harmonious relationships. In the Holy Spirit, in the kingdom, we have harmony – righteousness, peace and joy. This is just a taste of what is to come when Messiah Jesus conquers the last enemy.

The kingdom of God is in the Spirit. God has set us free to serve in the new way of the Spirit. The gospel of the kingdom is beyond human comprehension. It is not a matter of academically reviewing the pertinent scriptures. The Holy Spirit awakens our spirit, gives us a heart to feel, eyes to see and ears to hear and quickens the gospel ! to our spirit. God our Father wants the gospel of the kingdom to dawn on our hearts. By creating us in the Messiah (Eph 2:4-10), God our Father enables us to relate in the new way of the Spirit. Through our Messiah's body at the cross, we died to the religious jot and tittle of the Law. This is part of what God has made us in Messiah Jesus. God set us free to serve Him in the new way of the Spirit. This is part of restoration and salvation from the tyranny of darkness. The Holy Spirit helps each of us discover the glory and freedom of this environment. We should encourage and comfort one another with this good news of God's grace. It is part of the inheritance our Father gives us.

"When you were slaves of sin, you weren't free to serve righteousness as your master. What was your advantage then in doing the things that make you blush now? Why, they end in death. But now that you've been made free from sin and servants of God, your advantage is that you live holy and finally have everlasting life. Sin pays off with death, but G! od gives everlasting life in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

"So you too, my fellow Christians /brethren, have through Christ's body died to the Law to marry Another - Him who rose from the dead so that we will produce good things for God. While we were living in the flesh, the Law stirred the sinful lusts in our organs into action to produce the fruit for Death. But now that we have died to the Law which bound us, we are freed from it, not to serve in the old way under the Law but in the new way of the Spirit" (Ro 6:20- 23; 7:4 - 6 emphasis added).

As part of our identity and inheritance, we new creatures are free to serve in the new way of the Spirit. Since we have through Christ's body died to the Law, the power of our flesh has been broken. Until God our Father made us new creatures, created in Christ Jesus, the Law stirred our flesh to produce the fruit for Death. The Law not only revealed sin; it aroused our sinful passions. The Law said, "Thou shalt not." Our flesh said, "Oh really! I want to taste the pleasure of doing the forbidden." Thus, the Law stirred our flesh and we produced the fruit for Death. We have been freed from the trap of sowing to our flesh and of our flesh reaping destruction (Gal 6:8).

Now that our Father has made our spirit alive unto Himself in union with Messiah Jesus, we can serve in the new way of the Spirit and reap life. We can break out of the darkness of our fleshly mindsets and conformity to the world and follow the Spirit. "The Kingdom of Heaven is breaking forth, and those who are breaking out break out by means of it" (Mt 11:12 Understanding The Difficult Words of Jesus, David Bivin and Roy Blizzard, Jr). (See Micah 2:12-13)

Messiah Jesus leads us by the Spirit. The new way of the Spirit is grace and truth in the kingdom of God. "The Law was given by Moses, but Jesus Christ /the Messiah brought grace and truth" (Jn 1:17). Messiah Jesus knows we need a lot of grace and truth. "He will not crush a bruised reed or put out a smoking wick till He has made justice victorious" (Mt 12:20). Even when we are a wick about to go out or a bruised reed about to break, He helps us grow in grace and truth.

The kingdom of God is righteousness. As Messiah Jesus' disciples, God made us servants of righteousness. In the timelessness of eternity and of the kingdom of God, our old self died with Jesus ! the Messiah when He was crucified. When God raised Him from the dead, He also raised us to new life, in union with Messiah Jesus and seated us with Him in heaven (Eph 2:4-10). Now, the kingdom power of His resurrection works within us. We are to identify, envision, and reckon ourselves as dead to sin and alive unto God, servants of righteousness.

"The Law came to multiply sin, but where there was much sin, God's gift of love /grace was so much greater that, as sin ruled in its deadly way, so His grace is to rule, giving a righteousness by which we live forever through our Lord Jesus Christ.

"What does it mean? Should be go on sinning so that God may love us all the more? Certainly not! We died to sin. How can we live in it any longer?

"Or don't you know that all of us who were baptized into Christ Jesus by our baptism share in His death? Sharing in His death by our baptism, we were buried with Him so, that as the Father's glory raised Christ from the dead we too will live a new life. If we were united with Him to die as He did, then we'll also rise as He did. We know our old self was nailed with Him to the cross to stop our sinful body and keep us from serving sin any longer. When we're dead, we're free from sin. But if we died with Christ, we believe we'll also live with Him because we know that Christ, risen from the dead, will not die again. Death has no hold on Him any more. When He died, He died to sin once, never to die again, and the life He lives He lives for God. So you too, because you are in Christ Jesus, think of /reckon yourselves as dead to sin and living for God.

"Then sin should no longer rule in your dying bodies and make you do what they wish. Don't let sin keep on using your organs as tools for doing wrong. But as people who have come back from the dead and live, give yourselves to God, and let God use your organs as tools for doing what is right. Sin will never rule over you, because you are not under the Law but under God's undeserved love /charis/grace.
"What then? Are we going to sin because we are not under the Law but under God's love? Certainly not! Don't you know if you give yourselves to anyone to obey him as slaves, you are his slaves? Either you are the slaves of sin and will die, or you obey God and become righteous. But thank God! Although you once were slaves of sin, you have heartily obeyed the pattern of teaching to which you were entrusted. Freed from sin, you were made the servants of righteousness. I talk to you in a human way because you are naturally weak. But, just as you once let uncleanness and wickedness use your organs as slaves to do wrong, so now let righteousness use your organs as slaves in order to live holy" (Ro 5:20-6:19 emphasis added).

Water Baptism confirms our baptism with Messiah Jesus in His death. It is a prophetic sign God gives us to confirm our old self died at the cross of Christ and God has made us new creatures, alive unto Himself.

We know Jesus died for our sins and God raised Him from the dead. But, few believers reckon themselves dead to sin and living for God, freed from sin by God's grace. If you haven't identified yourself that way, now you can. It's better than trying to work up enough human strength of character to overcome sin. Our lower nature doesn't have that strength. So, God made us dead to sin and gave us the power to kill what is left of the deeds of our old carnal self so we can let righteousness use our organs as slaves in order to live holy. (Also see: Ro 8:12-13; Col 3:5-10).

Even though we know this is true, we tend to live as though God has yet to make us alive with Christ. If we prayerfully and honestly identify in Christ, we know our fleshly mind is not totally transformed. Each of us has self-talk going on in our mind all of the time. Some of our thoughts are bad. As we grow up in the Messiah, more and more of our thoughts are in accord with God's love! .
"Love is patient. Love is kind. Love isn't jealous. It doesn't brag or get conceited. It isn't indecent. It isn't selfish. It doesn't get angry. It doesn't plan to hurt anyone. It doesn't delight in evil but is happy with the truth. It! bears everything, believes everything, hopes for everything, endures everything" (1 Cor 13:4 - 7).

Yet, we still fall into sin, thereby tyrannizing one another and ourselves, bearing the fruit for Death. Our relationship with God falls short of His love, grace, faithfulness and integrity, as do our one another relationships. That doesn't mean we have lost our salvation or that we are going to hell. It means we have to grow up into Messiah Jesus. Our Father in heaven made us the servants of righteousness. We can relate His kingdom way.

We have a ways to go. The damages of sin are readily apparent in Christianity today. There is much discord in our homes, workplaces, get togethers and amongst church leadership. Sin is destroying Christian relationships and lives (Jas 1:15). Sad statistics show the tyranny of darkness wrecks much havoc among us. Many believers fall into hatred, bitterness, fornication, adultery, divorce, abuse, teen suicide and other desolation.

In the face of this, our fleshly inclination is to beat each other over the head with the Law or shake some sense into those caught in sin. Such reactions are not motivated by God's grace. Still, they rise up in me. When they do, I repent and rely on God's grace to rescue us from sin and restore harmonious relationships.

God doesn't condemn us. He has freed us to serve righteousness in the new way of the Spirit. By His grace, He cleans us up and draws us closer. He shares His life with us, helping us live in His light (1 Jn 1). His kingdom prevails over sin and the power of the devil, and will prevail over death (1 Cor 15).

God loves us; even when we sow to the flesh and of the flesh reap destruction (Gal 6:8). When we hurt from sowing to the flesh, we can't point our finger at God or at others and shift the responsibility for our pain. God has liberated us from the things that enslaved, captivated and tyrannized us. He calls us to face our sin, confess it, ask for forgiveness and do what He has ordained. He made us alive; creating us in Christ Jesus to do good works and walk in them (Eph 2:1–11).. He calls us to sow to the Spirit and of the Spi! rit reap life (Gal 6:8).

The kingdom of God is peace. As Messiah Jesus' disciples, we have peace. A guilty conscience can drive us to religion or legalism and keep us from serving God in the new way of the Spirit. Ever since Adam and Eve sinned, natural man has had a guilty conscience. Just as guilt did them, it can drive us to hide from God or try to get right with Him by our own rationalizations and religious works. To hold His people together and to help them come near; God gave His First Covenant. Priests offered blood sacrifices and other offerings to atone for sins. These pointed to the New Covenant sacrifice Jesus would make. But, they didn't cure the guilt. So, people still did many religious works to try to get right with God.

The blood of the Messiah brought full deliverance and peace (Col 1). His perfect sacrifice purged our sin and cleanses our conscience so that we can do good works. The Cassirer translation makes this wonderfully clear.

"But now Christ has made his appearance, a high priest concerned with blessings already won. The tabernacle of which he made use was the greater and more perfect one, the tabernacle not fashioned by any human hand, that is to say, the one which does not belong to this order of creation at all. Moreover, if he has entered the sanctuary once and for all, securing a deliverance which lasts forever, it was his own blood, not that of goats and calves, which was his means of accomplishing this. And indeed, if the blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled upon those who have suffered defilement hallows them, so as to restore their outward purity, how much more effective will be the blood of Christ, who, by virtue of the eternal spirit which was his, offered himself up to God, as a sacrifice free from all blemish; how much more effective, I say, will be Christ's blood in cleansing our conscience, so that we turn our backs on actions without any life in them and instead give ourselves up! to the service of the living God.

"And so it is that he is likewise the mediator of a new covenant, or let us say, testament, the aim of all this being that, since a death has occurred to bring about deliverance from the sins committed when the first covenant was in force, those called by God might receive the eternal inheritance promised to them. And indeed, when it is a last will or testament which is in question, it is necessary first of all that the death of the testator should be established. For a will is operative only after a death, and it cannot possibly have any force while the testator is still alive. And that is also the reason why, even when the first covenant was inaugurated, this did not take place without the use of blood" (Heb 9:11-18 Cassirer emphasis added).

Now, by the blood of Messiah, we can come boldly to the throne of grace (Heb 4:6), as servants of our Father. Messiah's blood cleanses our sin and our guilty conscience. His blood enables us to receive the eternal inheritance. Now, we can turn from religious works "and instead give ourselves up to the service of the living God." As our Father's heirs, we can do good works and live in them, just as God ordained (Eph 2:1-11).

"Christ has freed us so that we'll be free. Stand firm, then, and don't get caught again under a yoke of slavery" (Gal 5:1). Messiah has freed us so that we'll be free. We should stand firm in Him and let the ! Spirit change us from glory to glory to be like Him (2 Cor 3:18). We're not to be babies anymore. We are free to "believe and know God's Son, reach a mature manhood, and grow to the full height of Christ. Let us tell the truth in love and in every way grow up into Him who is the Head Christ" (Eph 4:13, 15). Let us partake of His Spirit till Messiah is formed in us and we become thoroughly like Him.

The kingdom of God is joy. God our Father created us in Messiah Jesus and gives us the joy of the inheritance. Through the parable of the Vine and the branches, Jesus shows us how to relate in such a way that our joy might be full. He is the Vine. We are the branches. Jesus encourages us to be connected and to allow His life to flow in us and through us. He says:

"If you stay in Me and what I say stays in you, ask for anything you want, and it will be done for you. You glorify My Father when you bear much fruit and so prove to be My disciples. As the Father has loved Me, so I have loved you. Stay in My love. If you obey My commandments, you'll stay in My love, as I have obeyed My Father's commandments and stay in His love. I told you this so My joy will be in you and you will be very happy. This is what I order you to do: love one another as I have loved you. No one has a greater love than he who gives his life for his friends. You're My friends if you do what I order you to do. I don't call you servants any more, because a servant doesn't know what his master is doing. But I've called you friends because I've told you everything I heard from My Father. You didn't choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you to go and bear fruit that doesn't pass away and to have the Father give you anything you ask Him in My name. This is what I order you to do: love one another" (John 15:7-17 emphasis added).

“I told you this so My joy will be in you.” Serving God by loving one another fulfills our deepest longings to be useful and productive in the noble things of eternal importance. Plus, we get to live and walk in the mutually supportive environment of good works that is created as we bear fruit. This makes our joy full. Plus, God will eternally reward us for the fruit we bear (Rev 22:12). Peter the former fisherman melts our hearts as he tells us about the joy that wells up within us (1 Pe 1:8) as we set our minds on the things that are above (Col 1:2).

The foregoing is but a summary of how God has set us into His kingdom that is and is to come. For a more complete picture, a word study on the following kingdom words would be very helpful. With the Internet tools today, you can very quickly view the specific Word for your instruction and edification. I use 2 different sites: www.blueletterbible.org and www.unboundbible.org. Here are a few kingdom words for your consideration: Father, Son, Messiah, Christ, King, throne, son, daughter, children, family, heirs, inheritance, eternal life, call, calling, walk, shalom, peace, citizens, holy people, foundation, Cornerstone, building, temple, home, Spirit, priest.

The kingdom coming to earth

It is the Father’s good pleasure to give us the kingdom (Lu 12:32). God has created us in Messiah Jesus (Eph 2) and destined us to relate in harmony in His kingdom. Right now, we relate by the Spirit In this phase of restoration, the kingdom of God is intangible and in the Spirit, but it works in our hearts and lives. For now, it is as intangible as relationships. Yet, it is more powerful than any other natural or supernatural force. The kingdom that is to come will be tangible heaven on earth (Rev 21).

Currently, God's plan for restoration to oneness, unity, harmony, shows forth through the church, revealing His manysided wisdom to the rulers and authorities in heaven (Eph 1-3). Even angels long to look into this plan of salvation (1 Pe 1:12). This plan will prevail over the forces of the ! kingdom of darkness. God our Father is so wise and powerful, the devil and his forces don't have a chance at winning the battle for restoration.

Most of the apocalyptic prophecies involving conquest and possession of the Promised Land the prophets of Israel foretold are yet to be fulfilled. The Jews were looking for these things at Messiah Jesus’ first coming. Looking at it from the perspective of all God in Messiah Jesus has revealed to us, we can see with 20/20 hindsight how they missed it. The same is true of us. Most of the many versions taught today about the restoration of all things in the apocalyptic events to come will turn out to be wrong. In that vein, let us consider Peter’s address to the men of Israel shortly after Pentecost.

“An now, fellow Jews, I know that like your rulers you didn’t know what you were doing, but in this way God did what He predicted by all the prophets – His Christ /Messiah had to suffer. Repent then, and turn, to have your sins wiped out that a time may come when the Lord refreshes you and sends Jesus, whom He appointed to be your Savior and whom heaven had to receive until the time when everything will be restored, as God said long ago by His holy prophets” (Acts 3:17-21).

“If anyone tells you then, ‘Look, here is Christ /the Messiah!, or, ‘There He is!’ don’t believe it, because false Christs and false prophets will come and do great miracles and wonders to deceive if possible even those whom God has chosen. You see, I’ve told you this before it happens. So when you’re told, ‘There He is in the wilderness,’ don’t go out; or, ‘Here He is in the inner rooms,’ don’t believe it. The Son of Man will come like the lightning that flashes from the east to the west. – Where the dead body is, there the vultures will gather.

"Right after the misery of that time the sun will turn dark, the moon will stop shining, the stars will be falling from the sky, and the powers of heaven will be shaken. Then the sign announcing the Son of Man will appear in the sky, and then all the people on earth will mourn when they see the Son of Man coming on the clouds in the sky with power and great glory. And with a loud trumpet call He will send out His angels, and they will gather His chosen ones from the north, south, east, and west, from one end of the sky to the other" (Mt 24:23-31 cross reference Dt 13:1; Is 13:10; 34:4; Zech 12:10; Dn 7:13; Is 27:13; D! n 30:4; Zch 2:6, 38-39; Gn 7:6-7).

Looking ahead, Paul revealed the present and the future of the kingdom. First, he addressed the question of resurrection. If the Messiah didn't rise from the dead, our faith is pitiful. But, the Messiah did rise and brought resurrection. He must rule as King till He puts all enemies under His feet.

"If Christ is our hope only for this life, we should be pitied more than any other people.

"But now Christ did rise from the dead, the first in the harvest of those who are sleeping in their graves. Since a man brought death, a Man also brought the resurrection of the dead. As in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive. But everyone in his own group: first Christ, then, when He comes, those who belong to Christ.

"Then the end will come when He hands over the kingdom to God the Father after He has put an end to every other government, authority, and power, since He must rule as King till He puts all enemies under His feet. The last enemy He will get rid of is death. You see, He puts everything under His feet. When He says: Everything is put under Him, this clearly doesn't include Him who puts everything under Him. But when everything has been put under Him, then the Son also will put Himself under Him who put everything under the Son so that God will be everything in everything" (1 Cor 15:19-28 emphasis added / Ps 110:1; Ps 8:6).

"I think what we suffer now isn't important when I compare it with the glory to be revealed to us. Nature is waiting on tiptoe to see the unveiling of God's family. Nature must waste away, not because it wants to but because its Master would have it so, but nature hopes it too will be freed from the slavery that destroys it, to share the freedom of God's family in glory. We know that all nature has been groaning with the pains of childbirth until now.

"More than that. Since the Spirit whom we have is our first taste of heaven, we, too, groan inwardly as we look ahead to have our bodies freed and so to be His family. We are saved, hoping for this. But if we hope for something we see, we really don't hope. Why should we hope for what we can see? But if we hope for what we can't see, we wait for it patiently" (Ro 8:18-25).

When Messiah Jesus returns, He will change us by giving us a glorified body (1 Cor 15:51f) and the inheritance (Mt 25), the kingdom, stored up for us. Then, we will know Him as He has known us (1 Cor 13), for He will marry us (Rev 19). Through Messiah Jesus, God will restore the heaven and the earth and make His home among the people on earth (Rev 20-21). By the faith God gives us, we hope for this deep and eternal fellowship in the kingdom that is to come. Let's get a big taste of this marvelous light from the following picture of our future from Revelation 21 & 22.

"Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, because the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. And there was no longer any sea. And I saw the holy city, a new Jerusalem, coming down from God in heaven, dressed as a bride ready to meet her husband. (See Is 52:1; 61:10; 65:17; 66:22)

"'And I heard a loud voice from the throne say: 'Look! God's home is among the people, and He will live with them. They will be His people, and God Himself will be with them. He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death, and there will be no more grief or crying or pain, because the first things have passed away'" (See Ex 37:27; Zch 2:10; Is 7:14; 8:8, 10; 25:8)

"He carried me /John in spirit on a large and high mountain and showed me the holy city of Jerusalem coming down from God in heaven. It has God's glory and brilliance like a very precious s! tone, like jasper that is clear as crystal. It has a large, high wall with twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and on the gates are written the names of the twelve tribes of Israel. There are three gates on the east side, three gates on the north, three gates on the south, and three gates on the west. And the wall of the city has twelve foundation stones, and on them are the twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb. (See Is 52:1; 58:8; 60:1-2, 19; Ez 40:2; 48:31-35; Ex 28:21)

"But I didn't see any temple in it, because the Lord God, the Almighty, and the Lamb are its temple. And the city doesn't need any sun or moon to give it light, because God's glory is its light, and the Lamb is its lamp. The nations w! ill walk by its light, and the kings of the earth will bring their glory into it. Its gates will never be shut any day, because there will be no night there. People will bring the glory and wealth of the nations into it. But nothing unclean will ever come into it, or anyone who does anything abominable or tells lies, only those who are written in the Lamb's book of life. (See Is 4:3; 60:3, 5, 11,19; Zch 14:7; Ps 69:28; 139:16; Ml 3:16; Dn 12:1)

"Then He showed me a river of the water of life, bright as crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb and down the middle of the street of the city. On each side of the river is a tree of life, producing twelve kinds of fruit, for each month its own fruit; and the leaves of the tree are to heal the nations. There will no longer ! be anything that is cursed. (See Ez 47:1, 12; Joel 3:18; Zch 14:8, 11; Gen 2:9; 3:22, 24)

"The throne of God and of the Lamb will be in the city. His servants will worship Him and see Him, and His name will be on their foreheads. There will be no more night, and they will not need any light of a lamp or of the sun, because the Lord God will shine on them, and they will be kings forever. (See Ps 17:15; 42:2; Zch 14:7; Is 60:19; Dn 7:18, 22, 27)

"'You can trust these words,' he told me; they are true. And the Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets, has sent His angel to show His servants what must happen soon. Remember, I am coming soon! Blessed is he who keeps /stores in his heart/ what the prophesy of this book tells him" (Rev 21:1-4; 10-14, 22-27; 22:1-7).

The Corral And The Breaker
Bill Bremer

During His 3 years of ministry on this earth, Jesus preached the kingdom and taught the relational characteristics and heart attitudes of the kingdom. Yet, even with the help of the Holy Spirit, seeing the big picture of the kingdom of God is difficult. Consequently, the church focuses on the King and neglects His kingdom and the cults focus on their kingdom and neglect the King.

It is time for prophets to proclaim, “Repent, the kingdom of God has come and is coming.” You are God’s kingdom people. He has destined you to love, know and see Messiah Jesus as King and to walk in the light of the kingdom as His disciples. It is time for a kingdom awakening.

Here’s the picture. By the Spirit, Messiah Jesus is calling: For the last century, My sheep have been circling in the corral. I have sent more and more of My Spirit to strengthen and liberate My church. And, My people have grown in strength and understanding. But, they are still in the corral. They have received of My Spirit time and time again. But, each time they have possessed it and made it their own. They have made it their own church movement, they have made it their own church revival, they have made it their own church government and they have made it their own church reformation. They have made it their own.

Here I stand at the gate to the corral. I have opened it. I have broken it open. For, I am the Breaker. And now, the gate is wide open. But, few of My sheep see it open and few go through. Now, the rams of My flock begin see Me and turn and go through the gate and My sheep follow. The rams follow me as their Head Shepherd, who is their King. The rams and you who have eyes to see your King follow Me and break out of the corral into My kingdom, for I have set you free. My prophets have spoken! of gates and doors. This is the narrow gate. This is the narrow door. God is calling you through it into His kingdom and glory.

You are alive unto Me. You are being transformed. For, I have liberated My people and you are being changed from glory to glory in My kingdom. The veil over your hearts has been taken away. I have liberated you to see Me as Messiah and King. From now on you will hear of My grace and My glory. For, by My Spirit, I lead you to be changed from glory to glory to be like Me. See Me as your Shepherd King. Walk worthy of your calling into My kingdom and glory.

The Gift Of Tears

Paul Cain

There will be no public reaping without some public weeping. The greatest reapers in this world are the greatest weepers. ~

There is a gift that we need to ask God for in these days. It's the gift of tears. We need to come before the Lord, making ourselves available to Him in a deeper way. The gift of tears is more than a result of the suffering that comes from living in a fallen world. It flows from feeling the pain and the suffering that the Lord Jesus feels for us. He is our High Priest, touched by the feeling of our infirmities. We need to feel what He feels for America. We need to feel what He feels for the Church. We need to feel what He feels about sin and the abominations that are going on in the earth today.

We must have tears if we are going to see revival. If we have no tears it's because our hearts are parched. Lord, give us tears that we may see revival!

David said in Psalm 6, "I'm worn out from groaning all night long." How long has it been since you or I have groaned all night long? He also said, "I flood my bed with weeping and drench my couch with tears. My eyes grow weak with sorrow." Have you considered Jesus Christ as a man of sorrows? He's not known as a man of laughter. He's not known as a man of frivolous flippancy. He is known as a man of sorrows.

In these last days it's imperative that the Church become a partaker both of Christ's heavenly calling and His heavenly ways. Jesus Christ is a man of sorrows. What a privilege to share in the fellowship of Christ's sufferings - even, if necessary, to the point of death.

Our dry eyes reflect our parched hearts. The shedding of tears shows that the heart is engaged. Where are tears today? Ps. 56:8 says, "Thou tellest my wanderings: put thou my tears into thy bottle: are they not in thy book?" Did you know that God is saving up our tears?

I know theologians who are as dry as shucks. They never shed a tear no matter how emotional their text or subject. How can you preach the gospel, the death of Christ and all that happened on the cross without tears? If you look at the Son of God without tears to protect your spiritual eyes you'll go blind. Could this be what has happened to so many theologians? They look into the word but they never cry. They never engage their hearts.

What if all of us were called upon to accept God's gift of tears before He would ever consider giving His gift of revival? Would you apply for the gift? Would you seek for the gift? Would you beg for the gift? If you really want revival, I believe you would.

Until a situation really seems hopeless we won't cry. We won't employ tears unless it's really desperate. Don't you think it's about time we try tears? We may have had a little too much of the opposite in the Church. Let's try tears. Maybe we have too much "know how". Now it's time to have the "know Who', the Man of Sorrows. Let's try tears. I tell you, there will be no public, reaping without some public weeping. The greatest reapers in this world are the greatest weepers.

Ministry in the last days is worth everything. It will cost everything. Are you willing to pay the price in much tears, in much prayer and supplication? I pray a lot, but I don't supplicate enough. If necessary, I need to supplicate until I suffocate! We need prayer and supplication. We need to pray as Jesus prayed, with strong crying and tears.

Where are the tears today? This is what we ought to ask ourselves. Do we really know the heart of God? "Out of the heart flow the issues of life," Prov. 4:23 says. Not out of strategic meetings, planning committees, building committees, missions committees, not out of little weak prayer meetings, but out of intercession and prayer with travail.

I want my soul to be filled with tears, and rivers of living water to flow out of my innermost being, rivers that will water the seed. The seed of prayer produces little unless it is watered with tears, the water that nurtures it and brings forth a harvest.

So ask God for the gift of tears. Expect it - ask for it and expect it. I think the Lord is saying, "I want My Church to go from feasting and playing to fasting and praying. From laughing to mourning and then from weeping to reaping." From weeping to reaping - can you see where it will end? We must go from laughter to mourning. We have gone all out for hilarity. Now the party's over.

Oh, for prophets like Jeremiah, who cried out for his eyes to be a fountain of tears!

Prayer and intercession is our most important work. Let that be locked into your thinking.

Prayer and intercession is the most important work of the Church.

The next move of God will not be characterized by people falling on their backs and laughing, although that can be good. The next move of God will be known for people falling on their faces and weeping, weeping, weeping - all the while God is being magnified as the Church beholds His majesty, beholds His glory and becomes His glory.

The Glory Of The Latter

Daniel Black

Hag 2:9 MSG "'This Temple is going to end up far better than it started out, a glorious beginning but an even more glorious finish: a place in which I will hand out wholeness and holiness.' Decree of GOD-of-the-Angel-Armies."

Hag 2:5-9 Webster "According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt, so my spirit remaineth among you: fear ye not. (6) For thus saith the LORD of hosts; Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land; (7) And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the LORD of hosts. (8) The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts. (9) The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, saith the LORD of hosts."

Holy. Holy. The Lord has made a covenant with this Generation. I have made a Covenant with you O generation of Jacob. Be ready for I am shaking Heavens and I am shaking the world and I am shaking nations and I am shaking individuals. There is nothing that will stand in MY way, says the Lord. This House, My Temple will be great. No longer will you be the ridicule of the nations, no you are My royalty, holy. And what I have empowered you with, what I am sending you out with is this. For I Am a burning Fire, burning with holy love and jealousy for the nations, how I want you. Come to Me. Come to Me.

I see. I see. My children, you want revival, you want renewal, you want change, so go and do it. I have empowered you. The GLORY of the Latter is greater than the former! The GLORY OF THE LATTER HOUSE IS GREATER THAN THE FORMER. Go out. Change the world. I have empowered you. I see you. I see you. I see you. I see you. This is MY decree to the nations. You are shaking them up. You are shaking them up, they might persecute you, but you have shaken them O daughter of Zion. You want revival, I see, well get bold. Get bold. Go out. Nothing gets accomplished if you do not act upon the empowerment I have given you. The same Spirit that rested upon Elijah, Elisha, John the Baptist and Peter is resting on you. Is not Mine the treasures of this world? Don't worry how to do it, just do it. I have told you, and I will teach you. I do and I teach. Go out., The GLORY OF THE LATTER HOUSE IS GREATER THAN THE FORMER. GREATER, GREATER, GREATER, GREATER!!! I Am shaking the nations! I Am shaking the nations. I Am a Consuming Fire. Don't get in My way.

Behold I leave with you MY peace. My peace. Peace and goodwill towards all mankind. I want to show you My glory, ho. Cry out for Me to show My glory, for I desire a people who want Me. My GLORY is the essence of My being! My very ESSENCE is found in My Glory, cry out for it! FOR THE GLORY OF THE LATTER HOUSE WILL BE GREATER THAN THAT OF THE FORMER!
Get My heart.

Then God Remembered Part II

Maria Magruder

1st Samuel 1:5-6 "But to Hannah he would give a double portion, for he loved Hannah, although the Lord had closed her womb. And her rival also provoked her severely, to make her miserable, because the Lord had closed her womb."

As many may think contrary, the closed womb is not a bad thing. Another translation says "the Lord shut her womb." Which is the same as Noah being "shut in the ark" from Part I. And the people who have submitted to the "shutting in" with the Lord are the very people are also receiving a double portion, as Hannah also received a double portion.

Many of you have been in a spiritual state of a "closed womb" or in a "shut in". You haven't seen the harvest or fruit manifest in your life as you have so desired in your heart. You have looked around and have seen the other people that God has blessed their wombs, that God has poured out upon, that God has anointed with many giftings, and you have even at times compared yourself to these people, and thought of yourself as if there is something wrong with you, or that God may of overlooked you and the call that is upon your life and the desires of your heart. The desires in your heart are the desires that God has put there, for His purposes and plans for your life that will impact others. Many of you are in that state of when will these words God has given me come to pass? Where are you Lord? The thought of carrying what is in your spirit for another day has come to the point of "hope deferred" and distressing.

There are many that have been tormented in their minds and spirits concerning the future and their closed womb. You must know that this is a spirit that is trying to discourage you and lie to you concerning your destiny and purpose. Trying to get you to abort the call that He has given you and implanted in you. The only thing the enemy can't snatch from you (if you let him) is the Word implanted in you. Watch out for that, and cast every thought down that comes against the call and the Word that has been spoken to you by rhema and logos.

As Hannah prayed and cried out, so many of you have cried out to God to "not forget you" and to not overlook you, as the burning desire that resides within your heart is almost more than you can bare.

Vs. 11 "O Lord of hosts, if You will indeed look on the affliction of Your maidservant and remember me, and not forget Your maidservant, but will give Your maidservant a male child, then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life, and no razor shall come upon his head."

As you have given the desires of your heart back to Him, as you have laid down your life for Him, God has surely remembered you today!

Vs. 19 "….and the Lord remembered her."

Hallelujah! God has remembered you! He has remembered and recorded every cry of your heart, every prayer of the righteous. He has not forgotten you, but He would tell you that your womb has been closed for purpose and destiny. In other words your birthing has been for an appointed time. Just as the vision is for an appointed time, so is your destiny and purpose. You have conceived in your womb, but yet to deliver.

Vs. 20 "So it came to pass in the process of time that Hannah conceived and bore a son…"

The manifestation of your destiny, call and purpose is always IN THE PROCESS OF TIME, in His perfect will and timing. The closing of your womb was and is a timing thing, and a preparation thing, necessary to bring about the perfect will of God in your birthing as well as your destination in the fullness of God, not the fullness of man.

SAMUEL HAD TO BE BORN AT A SPECIFIC TIME

Not a minute sooner or a minute later. Samuel, born of Hannah, had to be born at a specific time to bring back holiness and righteousness back into the kingdom and the house of God. So is your destiny, calling and purpose. There are specific results and events that God desires to bring about with great abundance and success that can only happen in the timing of your birthing that He has pre-destined since the foundation of the universe, since before you ever entered that womb! Glory!

YOU ARE JUST NOW BEING BORN MY FRIENDS!

Ecc 3:1-2 "To everything there is a season, A time for every purpose under heaven: A time to be born…"

I tell you today by the Spirit of the Lord, that many of you are just now being born. For it is your time. God has remembered you. He has remembered all that you have done in His Word, staying obedient to His call, and His word. You have not seen the manifested results in these areas in your life, because you weren't born yet. You are just now being born. Let me say it again, you are just now being borrrrrrrrrn. You are just now birthing that destiny and call.

I cannot express enough the importance of the timing of your birth. Souls are hanging in the balance of the timing of your birth and birthing. You don't want to be born pre-mature, and you don't want to be born too late! Even Paul said, "…as though I had been born almost too late for this." (1st Cor 15:8 Taylor trans) or another translation says "born out of due time."

For many of you are carrying nations in your womb! No wonder you are so bloated! That is a lot to carry! Just as Rebekah carried two nations in her womb, so many of you are carrying nations. (Gen 25:23) The timing of these births are strategic and critical. Those of you carrying nations will see the birthing in this year of 2004. For the year of 2004 is an open door to the nations. God is using you to bring these forth in travail and prayer. I encourage you to pray these nations through with persistence, and be aware of distractions that would hinder you from this birth.

The Birth Canal

Its been hard for many of you to see the future and what God has for you, even though He has spoken many big and wonderful things to your spirit. It has been difficult to see to the next year, next month, next day…yet your destination is just around the corner! When you are in the birth canal my friends its tight and the sight is limited. (similar to being in that box as in part I) And with the enemy pounding on you about having a closed womb has not helped anything!

Vs. 6 Jerus translation "Her rival would taunt her to annoy her, because Yahweh had made her barren."

Your rival may be taunting you, but you can just remind that ol' devil that you are just now being born into your destiny, call and purpose and when you finally birth that Samuel, that devil is ejected out of your life. After Samuel is born you never hear of that devil bothering Hannah again! Glory!

The name Hannah means "favored" in the Hebrew, or "favor by petition". My friends not only has God remembered you, but you are highly favored by Him. You have stepped into a new level of favor that He has bestowed upon you for this birthing that is in process. Make your petitions known to Him again, make your requests to God without limit, and ask BIG of Him, for those big desires in your heart have been planted there by His spirit, and yet, He needs you to speak out those desires, purposes and call, so they can be birthed in His timing.

Psalms 81:10 (Har trans) "I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: make your requests without limit and I will accede to them all."

For God will accede or "approve" of all your requests without limit! Hallelujah! Your destiny is limitless! Those of you who are in that area of not being able to "see" the end result or that manifestation you are looking for, is the area of "patience and longsuffering". This is what develops are faith and character. This is where we work to not grow weary, while doing good, so we will reap in DUE SEASON, if we do not lose heart. Be assured my friends when the Word speaks and says you can make your requests without limit and He will accede to them all, He will do just that in His due season.

Isaiah 66:19 "Shall I bring to the time of birth and not cause delivery?" Says the Lord. "Shall I who cause delivery shut up the womb?" Says your God.

The time of delivery is upon you for many, and soon for others. Rejoice and be glad for you are just now being born!

Remember: God has remembered you today!

The Greatest Revival Africa Has Ever Had!

Davies Nderema

God is raising up a generation in Africa which will not be LIMITED by Denomination, Church, Country, Regional, Continent, and Economic Barriers. A generation that is not controlled by situations and problems but led by the Spirit of God. This generation is called to fulfill the mandate of becoming the Sons of the Kingdom of God. This Generation will break all the barriers and fulfill their divine purpose in God.

Africa has been regarded as a dark continent. You know when God created heavens and earth that includes Africa. There is only one earth and on this earth there are continents. One day in Johannesburg a friend of mine gave me pamphlet containing prophecies for each continent; when it came to the Continent of Africa my heart was broken because the prophecy was negative, blood shed, problems and I began to pray and asked God if He has anything better for this continent.

In Genesis 1:1-2 it says, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters."

The whole earth was void and formless. The Holy Spirit moved upon the whole earth. God created the whole and He said it is good - all of it. Today we might think only America and Europe is good. But God says, "No, even Africa and Asia".

When Moses sent twelve spies; they all saw giants, the wall of Jericho and a good land flowing with milk and honey. But they were divided; ten of them said we are not able to possess the Land, but Joshua and Caleb said we are well able to possess the land.

What was the difference? The first ten used their own eyes, Joshua and Caleb used the word of God and the Spirit within them, "Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it." Num 13:30.

This generation will follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ, who is the first born among many sons of the Kingdom of God. Jesus fulfilled God's purpose during His earthly ministry before He went to heaven. This generation will fulfill God's purpose here on earth as Jesus did.

"Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. For the Father loveth the Son, and showeth him all things that himself doeth: and he will show him greater works than these that ye may marvel." JOHN 5:19-20

This Generation will do nothing of its own but what it sees the father (God) doing it shall do like wise. Jesus Christ, as the Son of God did nothing of His own but what He saw the Father doing. This Generation will see the Father doing and joining Him, doing what the father is doing. This Generation will hear the Father speaking will speak what He is speaking, it will not have its own message but speak message of the Father.

This is the generation for:

SEEING THE FATHER DOING AND JOINING HIM HEARING THE FATHER AND JOINING HIM

"Peter and John answered and said unto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Peter and John answered for we CANNOT BUT SPEAK THE THINGS WHICH WE HAVE SEEN and HEARD." ACTS 4:18-20

RESTORATION IS COMING!

In Luke 15:11-32 we find the story of the Prodigal Son. I hear in the spirit that many ministers have been living like Prodigal son here in Africa. They have received their calling, gifts, anointing talents from God the Father. Many are operating outside God's presence like the Prodigal son who took his portion and went outside his father's presence. Some have come to the point of misusing and abusing what God has entrusted them with like the prodigal son.

Some are preaching and ministering without SEEING and HEARING THE FATHER. Ministering, preaching, praying, and fasting outside God's presence. But there is a restoration coming to Africa. This generation will minister, operate, preach, pray, fast, teach and go out in the presence of God.

WHY?

It is a generation of seeing what the father is doing and do like wise. It is a generation of hearing what the father is speaking and speak like wise.

Jesus Christ never operated outside the Fathers will. He was totally submitted and yielded to the will of Another. He never ministered outside God's presence. He said "My meat is to do the will of Him who sent me". (see John 4:31-34). Hebrews 3:1,2 says he was: "Faithful to the One who sent Him".

Nothing else will satisfy this generation (not even wealth, riches, money, fame, popularity, big congregations or a large crowd calling their name!). Oh but doing the will of the One who sent them! Yes that will make them run. This generation shall say, "my meat is to do the will of him that sent me and finish His work."

Let me finish by quoting the prayer guide line which Jesus gave his disciples and I believe if Africa can get a REVELATION from this, can be TRANSFORMED BY THE POWER OF GOD.

MATTHEW6:9-15 Our Father Which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, As we forgive our debtors. Lead us not into temptation, But deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever.

SONSHIP: THE GREATEST REVIVAL

Sons of God have to look to God as their Heaven Father.
Sons of God have to hallow the name of the Heavenly Father
Sons of God have to pray for the Father's kingdom to come down in Africa
Sons of God have to pray for Father's will to be done in Africa as it is in heaven.
Sons of God have to look to the Father as their provider.
Sons of God have to know that it is not by mighty nor power but by the Spirit of God therefore needs Father's protection from temptation
Sons of God have to know about true forgiveness and know that they have been forgiven by the Father Sons of God have to worship God in Spirit and Truth not entertainment nor mere singing and dancing.

Then God Remembered

Maria Magruder

Web Site: www.womanofthelasthour.com
Email: mariam@lifelineoutreach.com

Many are called, but few are chosen. The "few" are the ones who "choose" the call. There is a remnant generation from the Church about to emerge from un-known places that have been hidden for many years.

These few are the ones who have been obedient to follow Gods ways, though not what they would expect, nor what they would have chosen for themselves. As a matter of fact these are the very people who are on the edge of their seat awaiting to see exactly "how" God is going to use them, and wondering "when" is that "set time" of God releasing them. For many the waiting has been almost un-bearable, and yet at peace with staying hidden, staying in God's perfect plan and will. They have been "shut in" so to speak, just like Noah was "shut in" to the ark.

Gen 7:16 "…and the Lord shut him in."

When God shut Noah in that ark, He shut him in for approximately a little over a year. That's a long time to be "sea-bound" in a big boat with the same people and a bunch of stinky animals!

The ark in Hebrew means "box"

Many of you have felt "boxed in", you have felt "boxed up" you have been confined to walls in your call. These are not bad walls, these are walls of protection, and preparation. For the ones who would not submit to God's box, as a set apart time to Him are missing what would have been the essence of the call, because its in that box where He can pour into you the mantles, anointing and giftings, and begin to grow you up solid in His word, where nothing will shake you or move you except the Word. It's in the box where God takes you to the next level in Him.

My friends it takes faith and obedience to all God to shut you in to the box, to go into the ark. Common', Noah had to be obedient to build a big huge boat when there was no rain, Noah had to be obedient and move by faith to go into the ark once it was completed, believing and trusting God would do what He said He was going to do. That God is not a liar and nor should His word return to Him void. God will do what He said He was going to do in your life and in your call! Glory!

So we have you and Noah traveling along in this box, the scenery is the same every day, water and more water for as far as the eye can see, a good place to have a chia pet! (just add water!) And you are wandering for months, and some of you years, when Lord? When is the water going to recede? Nothing seems stable in your life, as there has been no where to anchor your ship, your box. In the box is quiet, it's just you and God, with His still small voice. It's been many months now out on that water, and you are desperately searching for the sight of land, and still wondering "when Lord"? And not hearing anything back! After a while not hearing anything back on "when", one may tend to question the call, question if they heard God properly, question what is really ahead for them, and even wonder if God may of forgot them. Could God have placed you in the box and forgotten you???? I've got good news for you my friends!

THEN GOD REMEMBERED!!! Hallelujah!!

Gen 8:1 "Then God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the animals that were with him in the ark. And God made a wind to pass over the earth and the waters subsided."

My friends, then God remembered YOU! God remembered that He has predestined and fore ordained you since before you were in the womb! Glory!

Then God remembered that just as He chose you in Him before the foundation of the world that He will fulfill His word to you.

Then God remembered you were born for such a time as this!

Then God remembered the specific call and plans He had made just for you!

Then God remembered all the mantles, giftings and anointings He has placed upon you and in you!

Then God remembered that He has plans to prosper His servants, and not to harm them.

Then God remembered how faithful you have been in that box, He remembered how obedient you have been to follow His instructions and walk by faith and not by sight.

Then God remembered how instead of you choosing to be offended how you chose to practice mercy, grace and forgiveness towards others.

Then God remembered that you have kept His commandment to love the Lord thy God with all thy heart.

Then God remembered how you sowed everything you had to follow the call of God upon your life, He remember how you have left all behind, how you have left the past behind, pressing towards the mark of the High call of God.

Then God remembered how you have persevered through many trials and tribulations.
Then God remembered His word to save your household,

Then God remembered He has called you to a super abundant life.

Then God remembered that you have been a tither and a giver faithfully unto Him.

Then God remembered you have been a God pleaser and not a man pleaser.

Then God remembered how you have not given up and have continually walked a life full of faith and obedience and He remembered when you failed in areas that you were quick to repent, and move on.

Then God remembered how you said, "Here am I Lord, send me!"

Then God remembered that He called you from darkness to light.

Then God remembered that He called you according to purpose, and divine destiny.

Those who have been in that box, surrounded by the waters and have been faithful and obedient to stay put where God has put them, God is remembering you right now! Glory! The waters are subsiding and He is getting ready to release you from that ark, from that box.

Remembered in Hebrew means "to mark".

For God has marked you this day! He has not forgotten you; on the contrary He has remembered you. You have caught His attention and will not go un-noticed or un-rewarded for those who have diligently sought Him faithfully and the winds of God are about to pass over you as the breath of God comes upon you.

Everyone has their own set-time to come out of that box, but when God says "Go out" its time to "come out".

Gen 8:16 "Go out of the ark (box) you and your wife and your sons and your sons wives with you.

When God releases you, and you come out of that box, you bring every living thing every living creature out with you! You bring out to the world, out to the body of Christ every living gifting God has given you in that box, every living mantle God has given you in that box, every living Word God has given you in that box, and you take those things and you are commanded to be fruitful and multiply, going forth to all the world making disciples unto all nations! Glory!

Gen 8:17 "Bring out with you every living thing of all flesh that is with you…and be fruitful and multiply on the earth."

The last thing you need to do when you come out of that box my friends is give God an offering! God doesn't command it, but I would strongly suggest you follow what Noah did.

Gen 8:20 Then Noah built an altar to the Lord…and offered burnt offering on the alter. And the Lord smelled a soothing aroma. Then the Lord said in His heart, "I will never again curse the ground for mans sake…"

Vs. 22 "While the earth remains, Seedtime and harvest…"

Noah's offering got God's attention…and God declared he would never destroy the land again, and God setup seedtime and harvest time forever! Noah's offering moved God to setup a system where as long as we sow, there will always be a harvest! Hallelujah!

Remember: God has remembered you today!

The Grinch That Stole Christians

Francis Frangipane

Can we have a little family talk? For most of you, this won't apply, but the devil has some of us bound, where we are focused on issues that are not the real issue. What do I mean? A few Christians have been taught that, according to Jeremiah 10:4, God is against the use of Christmas trees. The text reads, "They decorate it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and with hammers so that it will not totter." Superimpose the image of our silver and gold Christmas decorations and we have a "revelation" that God hates Christmas (or at least Christmas trees).

However, if you read the entire chapter, it isn't talking about Christmas, but idols and people who worship them. So, if you are sitting at home reading this and it's prior to December 25th, you can get a Christmas tree. It's okay as long as you don't worship it. In fact, if you're reading this and it's past December 25th, that might even be better -- Christmas trees and decorations are very inexpensive after Christmas.

Been There . . .

Please don't misunderstand me or think that I'm condemning anyone for their faith about this. I'm writing as one who, for ten years, didn't allow my family to celebrate Christmas. I, too, had been taught this interpretation of Jeremiah 10:4. I thought I was suffering persecution for my faith when relatives or friends criticized our colorless, joyless, loveless viewpoint about Christmas. Their criticisms actually hardened my heart and made my "faith stand" more firm.

Avoiding Christmas wasn't easy. We had five children and a foster child. Each December the children had to listen as I explained theologically why the Christmas tree was evil and not celebrating Jesus' birthday was good. Finally, with childlike innocense and purity, my oldest daughter, who was nine at the time, asked why gift giving was evil if we were also honoring Jesus.

Suddenly, my heart melted. I saw how religiously unloving this doctrine had made me. We weren't being persecuted for our faith, but for my stubbornness and lack of love. I deserved to be criticized. So, I asked my family to forgive me and we decided to have our first Christmas.

We were quite poor at the time and couldn't afford a tree. However, there was an evergreen growing in the ditch along the road by our farmhouse that I cut down and dragged into the living room. It was an ugly tree with the kind of needles that fall quickly. But we had love and we celebrated the Incarnation of Jesus as a family.

Saturnalia

Perhaps the worse thing about not celebrating Christmas is the isolation; it cuts us off from a multitude of people whom we could reach during this season. People, in general, are more open to Christ. If I go into a mall for any reason in December, I love listening to songs about Christ's birth. Yes, I know "Frosty the Snowman" and "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer" will probably be playing also. So what? It won't stop me from rejoicing when I hear, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" or "Joy to the World." In my spirit, I agree with the songs.

Sometimes I actually sing along out loud. They are awesome songs. Other times I quietly pray for the Holy Spirit to fall on people as they listen to music that was inspired by people who sought the heart of God. Why be upset with that? Why not praise God? Why be so focused on what's wrong that we fail to celebrate what's right? We can be miserable, complaining, joyless, critical, loveless people sometimes, and then we wonder why God doesn't lead people to us.

Christ's Great Commission commanded us to "Go!" to where people are, not wait until they come to us. Paul said, "To the Jews I became as a Jew, so that I might win Jews; to those who are under the Law, as under the Law though not being myself under the Law, so that I might win those who are under the Law; to those who are without law, as without law, though not being without the law of God but under the law of Christ, so that I might win those who are without law. To the weak I became weak, that I might win the weak; I have become all things to all men, so that I may by all means save some. I do all things for the sake of the gospel, so that I may become a fellow partaker of it" (1 Cor 9:20-23).

You see, the law or principle we follow is the law of love. Jesus said, "But give that which is within as charity, and then all things are clean for you" (Lk 11:41). Love sanctifies and redeems what it touches. Because of love, Paul was able to "become all things to all men." I have no doubt Paul would be at every Christmas gathering he was invited to, using it as an opportunity to win people to Christ.

And before you wonder how deep I was into this anti-Christmas mentality, yes, I knew the history of Saturnalia, and how in the third century the early church combined the celebration of the winter solstice (a pagan holiday time) with the celebration of Jesus' birth. Yet, I also know that the winter solstice happens to be that time of the year when daylight begins to increase, so it is not inappropriate to celebrate Christ's birth at this time.

I also understand that some may teach Jesus was probably born in October or April, depending on which basis of research one relies upon. But what difference does it really make? Hundreds of millions of people believe the Jesus was born on December 25th, and multitudes reflect on the mystery of the Incarnation at some time during this season. So why be uptight about the date, especially when arguing about it alienates you from the very people Christ calls you to love? Why get hung up on when the Incarnation occurred when we can experience the reality of the Incarnation right now and bring Him into people's hearts?

Finally

We, the Frangipane family, celebrate Christmas. We have a tree and ornaments. We are pretty low key about its size. Some years we buy a smaller, living evergreen and then replant it in the yard in the spring. But, we are not focused on peripheral issues; we are focused on Christ and celebrating Him with others during this time.

One more thing: The best way to win people to Christ is to simply enjoy them. Picture Jesus laughing, telling stories, enjoying people as He reached to them. Let's reveal Him, not the Grinch, this holiday season.

Then God Remembered Part II

Maria Magruder

1st Samuel 1:5-6 "But to Hannah he would give a double portion, for he loved Hannah, although the Lord had closed her womb. And her rival also provoked her severely, to make her miserable, because the Lord had closed her womb."

As many may think contrary, the closed womb is not a bad thing. Another translation says "the Lord shut her womb." Which is the same as Noah being "shut in the ark" from Part I. And the people who have submitted to the "shutting in" with the Lord are the very people are also receiving a double portion, as Hannah also received a double portion.

Many of you have been in a spiritual state of a "closed womb" or in a "shut in". You haven't seen the harvest or fruit manifest in your life as you have so desired in your heart. You have looked around and have seen the other people that God has blessed their wombs, that God has poured out upon, that God has anointed with many giftings, and you have even at times compared yourself to these people, and thought of yourself as if there is something wrong with you, or that God may of overlooked you and the call that is upon your life and the desires of your heart. The desires in your heart are the desires that God has put there, for His purposes and plans for your life that will impact others. Many of you are in that state of when will these words God has given me come to pass? Where are you Lord? The thought of carrying what is in your spirit for another day has come to the point of "hope deferred" and distressing.

There are many that have been tormented in their minds and spirits concerning the future and their closed womb. You must know that this is a spirit that is trying to discourage you and lie to you concerning your destiny and purpose. Trying to get you to abort the call that He has given you and implanted in you. The only thing the enemy can't snatch from you (if you let him) is the Word implanted in you. Watch out for that, and cast every thought down that comes against the call and the Word that has been spoken to you by rhema and logos.

As Hannah prayed and cried out, so many of you have cried out to God to "not forget you" and to not overlook you, as the burning desire that resides within your heart is almost more than you can bare.

Vs. 11 "O Lord of hosts, if You will indeed look on the affliction of Your maidservant and remember me, and not forget Your maidservant, but will give Your maidservant a male child, then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life, and no razor shall come upon his head."

As you have given the desires of your heart back to Him, as you have laid down your life for Him, God has surely remembered you today!

Vs. 19 "….and the Lord remembered her."

Hallelujah! God has remembered you! He has remembered and recorded every cry of your heart, every prayer of the righteous. He has not forgotten you, but He would tell you that your womb has been closed for purpose and destiny. In other words your birthing has been for an appointed time. Just as the vision is for an appointed time, so is your destiny and purpose. You have conceived in your womb, but yet to deliver.

Vs. 20 "So it came to pass in the process of time that Hannah conceived and bore a son…"

The manifestation of your destiny, call and purpose is always IN THE PROCESS OF TIME, in His perfect will and timing. The closing of your womb was and is a timing thing, and a preparation thing, necessary to bring about the perfect will of God in your birthing as well as your destination in the fullness of God, not the fullness of man.

SAMUEL HAD TO BE BORN AT A SPECIFIC TIME

Not a minute sooner or a minute later. Samuel, born of Hannah, had to be born at a specific time to bring back holiness and righteousness back into the kingdom and the house of God. So is your destiny, calling and purpose. There are specific results and events that God desires to bring about with great abundance and success that can only happen in the timing of your birthing that He has pre-destined since the foundation of the universe, since before you ever entered that womb! Glory!

YOU ARE JUST NOW BEING BORN MY FRIENDS!

Ecc 3:1-2 "To everything there is a season, A time for every purpose under heaven: A time to be born…"

I tell you today by the Spirit of the Lord, that many of you are just now being born. For it is your time. God has remembered you. He has remembered all that you have done in His Word, staying obedient to His call, and His word. You have not seen the manifested results in these areas in your life, because you weren't born yet. You are just now being born. Let me say it again, you are just now being borrrrrrrrrn. You are just now birthing that destiny and call.

I cannot express enough the importance of the timing of your birth. Souls are hanging in the balance of the timing of your birth and birthing. You don't want to be born pre-mature, and you don't want to be born too late! Even Paul said, "…as though I had been born almost too late for this." (1st Cor 15:8 Taylor trans) or another translation says "born out of due time."

For many of you are carrying nations in your womb! No wonder you are so bloated! That is a lot to carry! Just as Rebekah carried two nations in her womb, so many of you are carrying nations. (Gen 25:23) The timing of these births are strategic and critical. Those of you carrying nations will see the birthing in this year of 2004. For the year of 2004 is an open door to the nations. God is using you to bring these forth in travail and prayer. I encourage you to pray these nations through with persistence, and be aware of distractions that would hinder you from this birth.

The Birth Canal

Its been hard for many of you to see the future and what God has for you, even though He has spoken many big and wonderful things to your spirit. It has been difficult to see to the next year, next month, next day…yet your destination is just around the corner! When you are in the birth canal my friends its tight and the sight is limited. (similar to being in that box as in part I) And with the enemy pounding on you about having a closed womb has not helped anything!

Vs. 6 Jerus translation "Her rival would taunt her to annoy her, because Yahweh had made her barren."

Your rival may be taunting you, but you can just remind that ol' devil that you are just now being born into your destiny, call and purpose and when you finally birth that Samuel, that devil is ejected out of your life. After Samuel is born you never hear of that devil bothering Hannah again! Glory!

The name Hannah means "favored" in the Hebrew, or "favor by petition". My friends not only has God remembered you, but you are highly favored by Him. You have stepped into a new level of favor that He has bestowed upon you for this birthing that is in process. Make your petitions known to Him again, make your requests to God without limit, and ask BIG of Him, for those big desires in your heart have been planted there by His spirit, and yet, He needs you to speak out those desires, purposes and call, so they can be birthed in His timing.

Psalms 81:10 (Har trans) "I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: make your requests without limit and I will accede to them all."

For God will accede or "approve" of all your requests without limit! Hallelujah! Your destiny is limitless! Those of you who are in that area of not being able to "see" the end result or that manifestation you are looking for, is the area of "patience and longsuffering". This is what develops are faith and character. This is where we work to not grow weary, while doing good, so we will reap in DUE SEASON, if we do not lose heart. Be assured my friends when the Word speaks and says you can make your requests without limit and He will accede to them all, He will do just that in His due season.

Isaiah 66:19 "Shall I bring to the time of birth and not cause delivery?" Says the Lord. "Shall I who cause delivery shut up the womb?" Says your God.

The time of delivery is upon you for many, and soon for others. Rejoice and be glad for you are just now being born!

Remember: God has remembered you today!

The Greatest Time In Human History
Terry Suggs

There will be a great harvest of souls and a great release of power to do the work of the Lord.
Gen. 1:14 Man's days shall be 120 years. (120 jubilee years) 120 times 50 = 6000 years.
John 11:3-4
Therefore his sister sent unto Him saying Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick. When Jesus heard that, He said, this sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.
When He had heard therefore that He was sick, He abode two days still in the same place where He was. Lazarus was dead for 4 days.
II peter 3:8
If a thousand years is as a day and a day as a thousand years, then I believe Jesus was showing us a profile of the 4000 years from Adam to Christ that He would come and He would also resurrect all the spiritually dead believers.
There are 2000 years from Adam to Abraham. There are 2000 years from Abraham to Jesus. The total is 4000 years.
When Jesus arrived at the tomb of Lazarus, He commanded the men to roll the stone away. This stone could represent the law of God given to Moses on the tablets of stone.
II Cor. 3:6-7
The end result would not be death but would glorify God.
2000 years from Adam to Abraham, 2000 years from Abraham to Jesus, 2000 years from when Jesus ascended to heaven to now totals 6000 years.
In the book of Genesis, we see that God completed His work in 6 days.
Luke 10:33-35
And when He saw him he had compassion on him, and went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine. And set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn and took care of him.
And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence (representing 2days wages) and gave them to the host, and said unto him, take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee.
The wounded man represents the church or body of Christ. The Holy Ghost and the In keeper are synonymous, two days wages for two days care represents the 2000 years until He returns. The good Samaritan is Jesus. What so ever more you spend implies unlimited support by the Lord, in the Anointing, gifting and finances to edify the body of Christ.
Jude 1:14
Noah had seven days to prepare and get into the Ark before the flood came. Mankind has 7000 years before the Great White throne judgment.

Matt. 17:1
After 6 days Jesus took Peter, James and John his brother up to a high mountain apart and was transfigured before them. His face shone as the Sun and His clothes were white as the light and behold there appeared unto them Moses and Elijah talking with Him.
I believe God is showing us is that the six days represents the 6000 years that transpire before the glorious appearing of Christ.
Hosea 6:2
After 2 days will He revive us in the 3rd day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight.
Genesis 6:3
And the Lord said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh, yet his days shall be one hundred and twenty years.
120 jubilee years or 120 times 50 = 6000 years. The 120th jubilee is the golden jubilee.
II Chron. 3
Solomons temple for the Lord measured 60 cubits by 20 cubits in the main building. The porch was 20 cubits by 20 cubits. When added together the total is 120 cubits. The porch was also 120 cubits high. The porch is the way to go when approaching the Lord's house. The 80 cubits represent the 80 jubilee years or (80 times 50 = 4000 years between Adam and Jesus. The 40 cubits of the porch represents the 2000 years between Jesus's leaving and the end of the church age.

The weight of the nails used in the temple was 50 shekels of gold.
II Chron. 5:12
120 priests sounded trumpets after the temple was finished.
The queen of Sheba was the first to show up when the house of God was finished. Sheba means 7for7 weeks of the great tribulation after the 6000 years end.
She brought 120 talents of gold. The same number of priests and cubits.
In the same year, Solomon received 666 talents of gold. This represents the mark of he antichrist after the 120th jubilee or 6000 years ended.
John 4:1-4
Jesus was seen of the believers 40 days after the resurrection of Himself then He was caught up to the Father's house. The 40 days here represent the 40 jubilee years of the church age, or 40 times 50 = 2000. No one knows the day of the hour that the Lord will catch away the church. But we are very near the time.
Jesus was tempted in the wilderness for 40 days.
In the bible codes using equidistant sequence lettering, found embedded in Exodus 19:16 in the phrase "and it came to pass on the morning of the third day " is encode the words "in the rapture".
Exodus 19:20
The Lord came down to Mount Sinai and called Moses up to the top and Moses went up. Moses represents those who are dead in Christ for the 120 jubilees. Elijah's name is encoded in the same passage. Elijah represents those who are alive when the Lord comes to catch away the church.

Exodus 24:16 & 18
The glory of God covered Mount Sinai 6 days, and the seventh day God called Moses and Moses went up into the midst of the clouds.
The Lord wants us to know what time it is . He has given us clear profiles of this point in time. He is not hiding it.
I don't want to name any times or dates because nobody knows but the Father in Heaven.

It Will Happen When You Say It
Terry Suggs

God revealed Himself to us in Jesus to show us who we are in Him or who we are going to become in Him.
God's word is the same as His action in response to us speaking the word in faith. God has so much faith in His word, that when we use it, what we say will come to pass. It will happen. When we speak the Word of God we execute and exercise God's authority in this earth. The word of God is alive (quick and powerful). The word of God says that God breathed into man the breath of life, His life. All life came from God. The word of God is our spiritual food.
You don't just have a spirit, you are spirit, made after the image and likeness of God. You have an earth suit made of flesh and blood. The real you is spirit.
God was the Word, The Word was God, The Word was made to live in the flesh of Jesus. God used His Word to change things and to save men.
God has given us His Son to live in us.
Genesis 1:26 - Let us make mankind in our image and in our likeness.
Ephesians 4:23-24
Be constantly renewed in the spirit of your mind. Put on the new nature created in God's image.
John 6:63

His words are spirit and they are life. Spiritual things are stronger than the natural things.
Psalm 29
The voice of the Lord is powerful. The voice of the Lord is full of majesty.
John 4
The spiritual things have dominion over the natural things. Jesus spoke to things.
The word of God is everlasting. Heaven and earth shall pass, but the word of God will remain forever.
The word of God is the incorruptible seed.
I John 3:6
The seed of God remains in those born of the incorruptible seed.
II Corinthians 10:4
We use spiritual weapons to win natural battles.
Ephesians 6:17
The sword of the spirit is the word of God.
Proverbs 21:18
Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they who indulge in it shall eat the fruit of it (for death or life)
Matt. 12:37
For by your words you will be justified and acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned and sentenced.
Colossians 3:10
Be constantly renewed and remolded into fuller and more perfect knowledge upon knowledge after the image (the likeness) of Him who created it.
Now you can call those things that be not as though they were.
The words of God that you speak are full of faith and creative power, healing power, deliverance power and miracle working power.
Romans 10:10 Confession is made unto us salvation, healing, deliverance, and deliverance from evil.
Exodus 16:5
On the sixth day they shall prepare to bring in twice as much as they gather daily.
Exodus 17:6, Numbers 20:8
Before Moses saw the glory of God, he struck the rock and water came out. After he saw the glory of God, he was to speak to the rock for the water to come out of the Rock.

We Cannot Operate Without The Holy Spirit
Terry Suggs

This generation is hungry for the living God. The Word of God and the Holy Spirit is the only thing that can quench this hunger of the souls and hearts of men and women. The music needs to have a message, no matter how it sounds. They no longer want music that will stimulate our flesh. There is a divine hunger for God placed into the souls of men.

The word of God says that no man can come to God unless the Spirit draws him or her. The Holy Spirit in us draws people to God. Spirit filled Christians creating music can draw men to Christ through their music.
II Corinthians 1:13
For we write nothing else but simply what you can read and understand (there is no double meaning to what we say), and I hope that you will become thoroughly acquainted (with divine things) and know and understand (them) accurately and well to the end.

It is a reason for pride and exultation to which our conscience testifies that we have conducted ourselves in the world (generally) and especially toward you, with devout and pure motives and godly sincerity, not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God (the unmerited favor and merciful kindness by which God, exerting His Holy influence upon souls, turns them to Christ, and keep, strengthens, and increases them in Christian virtues.

II Corinthians 1:18-20

As surely as God is Trustworthy and Faithful and means what He says, our speech and message to you have not been yes (that could possibly mean) no, For the Son of God, Christ Jesus (the Messiah), Who has been preached among you by us, by myself, Sylvanus, and Timothy was not yes and no, but in Him (always the divine) Yes!

For as many as are the promises of God, they all find their yes (answer) in Him (Christ). For this reason we also utter the Amen (so be it) to God through Him (in His Person and by His agency) to the glory of God.

Music can be a top of the list tool to win the lost when the message is clear.

Hebrews 4:12-13

For the Word that God speaks is alive and full of power (making it active, operative, energizing and effective); it is sharper than any two edged sword, penetrating to the dividing line of the breath of life (soul) and the immortal) spirit, and of joints and marrow (of the deepest parts pf our nature) exposing and sifting and analyzing and judging the very thoughts and purposes of the heart.

And not a creature exists that is concealed from His sight, but all things are open and exposed, naked and defenseless to the eyes of Him with Whom we have to do.

We need to pray fervent and sincere prayers for the lost to be saved. Things are going to become worse and worse. People are going to become worse and worse. There will be natural disasters and earth shaking events coming upon this earth. It is time to pray like never before. The souls of men are the priority now. The Lord is drawing men and women into the kingdom like never before.

Hebrews 5:7

In the days of His flesh (Jesus) offered up definite , special petitions (for that which He not only wanted, but needed) and supplications with strong crying and tears to Him Who was (always) able to save Him (out from death, and He was heard because of His reverence toward God (His Godly fear, His piety, in that He shrank from the horrors of separation from the bright presence of the Father) God hears fervent heartfelt and sincere prayer for the lost to be saved.

Hebrews 7:25-27

Therefore He is able also to save to the uttermost (completely, perfectly, finally, and for all time and eternally) those who come to God through Him, since He is always living to make petitions to God and intercede with Him and intervene for them.

He has no day by day necessity, as (do each of these other) high priests, to offer sacrifice first of all for his own (personal) sins and then for those of the people, because He met all the requirements once for all when He brought Himself (as a sacrifice) which He offerd up.

Hebrews 7:12

For I will be merciful and gracious toward their sins and I will remember their deeds of unrighteousness no more.

Isaiah 55:8

For My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways says the Lord. For as the Heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways and My thoughts than your thoughts.

For as the rain and snow come down from the heavens, and return not there again, but water the earth and make it bring forth and sprout, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, So shall My Word be that goes forth out of My mouth:

It shall not return to Me void (without producing any effect, useless), but it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.

Remember that the gospel is being preached to every man and woman around the world. The message is presented in different ways. The Word will not return empty.

James 5:7-8

So be patient, brethren (as you wait) til the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits expectantly for the precious harvest from the land, (se how) he keeps up his patience (vigil) over it until it receives the early and late rains.

So you also must be patient, establish your hearts (strengthen and confirm them in the final certainty) for the coming of the Lord is very near.

James 5:19-20

My brethren, If anyone among you strays from the Truth and falls into error and another (person) brings him back (to God), Let the (latter) one be sure that whoever turns a sinner from his evil course will save (that one) soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins (procure the pardon of the many sins committed by the convert).

Proverbs 11:30

The fruit of the uncompromisingly righteous is a tree of life, and he who is wise captures human lives (for God, as a fisher of men He gathers and receives them for eternity.

Proverbs 11:25-28

The liberal person shall be enriched, and he who waters shall himself be watered.
The people curse him who holds back grain (when the public needs it) but a blessing (from God and man is upon the head of him who sells it.
He who diligently seeks good seeks God’s favor, but he who searches after evil, it shall come upon him.
He who leans on, trusts in, and is confident in his riches shall fall, but the uncompromisingly righteous shall flourish like a green bough.

Proverbs 10:22, 27, 31-32

The blessing of the Lord-it makes (truly) rich, and He adds no sorrow with it (neither does toiling increase it).
The reverent and worshipful fear of the Lord prolongs one’s days, but the years of the wicked shall be made short.
The mouths of the righteous (those harmonious with God) bring forth skillful and godly wisdom, but the perverse tongue shall be cut down (like a barren and rotten tree).
The lips of the (uncompromisingly) righteous know (and therefore speaks only) what is obstinately willful and contrary.

Proverbs 12:5, 8

The thoughts and purposes of the consistently righteous are honest and reliable, but the counsels and designs of the wicked are treacherous.
A man shall be commended according to his Wisdom (godly Wisdom, which is comprehensive insight into the ways and purposes of God), but he who is of a perverse heart shall be despised.

Proverbs 12:19,22

Truthful lips shall be established forever, but a lying tongue is (credited) but for a moment.
Lying lips are extremely disgusting and hateful to the Lord, but they who deal faithfully are His delight.
The Holy Spirit is the teacher and our guide in everything that we say do and in what we think.
We cannot do anything apart from Him.

Philippians 4:13

I have strength for all things in Christ Who empowers me (I am ready for anything an equal to anything through Him Who infuses inner strength into me; I am self sufficient, in Christ’s sufficiency).

II Corinthians 5:10, 14-15

For we must all appear and be revealed as we are before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive (his pay), according to what he has done in the body, whether good or evil (considering what his purpose and motive have been, and what he has achieved, been busy with and given himself and his attention to accomplishing).
For the love of Christ controls and urges and impels us, because we are of the opinion an conviction that (if) One died for all, then all died;
And He died for all, so that all those who live no longer to and for themselves, but to and for Him Who died and was raised again for their sake.

II Corinthians 6:14
Do not be unequally yoked with unbelievers (do not make mismated alliances with them or come under a different yoke with them, inconsistent with your faith). For what partnership have right living and right standing with God with iniquity an lawlessness? Or how can light have fellowship with darkness?
James 3:8-10
But the human tongue can be tamed by no man, it is restless (undisciplined, irreconcilable) evil, full of deadly poison.
With it we bless the Lord and Father, and with it we curse men who were made in God's likeness!
Out of the same mouth come forth blessing and cursing. These things, my brethren, ought not to be so.
The Lord wants to reach every person who has not accepted Him as their Lord and Savior. He is patiently waiting for the Church to get the Message to those that have not heard it.
This is the heart of God.
Let the message be crystal clear to this generation. God's Word will be fulfilled.

The kind of prayer that Jesus always prayed was for the lost to be saved and kept from harm. He always prayed for us to become one in Him and the Father.
The prayers of Jesus are recorded in the book of John.
John 17:9-12, 15, 18, 21-23, 26
Now at last they know and understand that all You have given Me belongs You (is really and truly Yours).
For the (uttered) words that You gave Me I have given them; and they have received them ; and they have received and accepted them and have come to know positively and in reality (to believe with absolute assurance) that I came forth from Your presence, and they have believed and belong to You.
I Am praying for them. I Am not praying (requesting) for the world, but for those You have given Me, for they belong to You.
All things (that are) Mine are Yours, and all (things that are) Yours belong to Me; I Am glorified in (through) them. (They have done Me honor; in them My glory is achieved) .
And (now) I Am no more in the world, but these are still in the world, and I Am coming to You. Holy Father, keep in Your Name (in the knowledge of Yourself) those whom You have given Me, that they may be one as We are one.
While I was with them, I kept and preserved them in Your Name in the knowledge and worship of You. Those You have given Me I guarded and protected, and not one of them has perished or is lost except the son of perdition (Judas Iscariot-the one who is now doomed to destruction, destined to be lost), that the scripture might be fulfilled.
15)I do not ask that You will take them out of the world, but that You will keep and protect them from the evil one.
Just as You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world.
21-23)That they may be one, (just) as You, Father, are in Me and I in You, that they also may be one in Us, so that the world may believe and be convinced that You have sent Me.
I have given to them the glory and honor which You have given Me, that they may be one (even) as We are one:
I in them and You in Me, in order that they may become one and perfectly united, that the world may know and definitely recognize that You sent Me and that You have loved them (even) as You have loved Me.

26)I have made Your Name known to them and revealed Your character and Your very Self, and I will continue to make (You) known, that the love which You have bestowed upon Me may be in them (felt in their hearts) and that I Myself may be in them.
Jesus said that all things and all power are in Him. We are a single Spirit in Christ.
I Corinthians 12:6, 12, 13-14
And there are distinctive varieties of service and ministration, but it is the same Lord (Who is served).
For jus as the body is a unity and yet has many parts, and all the parts, though many form only one body, so it is with Christ (the Messiah, the Anointed One).

For by means of the personal agency of one Holy Spirit we were all, whether Jews or Greeks, slaves or free, baptized and by baptism united together) into one body, and all made to drink of one Holy Spirit. For the body does not consist of one limb or organ but many.

Philippians 4:13

I have strength for all things in Christ Who empowers me (I am ready for anything an equal to anything through Him Who infuses inner strength into me; I am self sufficient,

Jesus is now operating in perfected faith. He is now living in us. His spirit is leading us into living by perfected faith. His Word does not return void.

When God talked in the beginning, His Words created what we now see. His Words go beyond time and space. His Word was immediately established when He spoke.

II Corinthians 5:10, 14-15

For we must all appear and be revealed as we are before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive (his pay), according to what he has done in the body, whether good or evil (considering what his purpose and motive have been, and what he has achieved, been busy with and given himself and his attention to accomplishing).

For what partnership have right living and right standing with God with iniquity an lawlessness? Or how can light have fellowship with darkness?

I Corinthians 14:40

But all things should be done with regard to decency and propriety and in orderly fashion.

James 3:8-10

But the human tongue can be tamed by no man, it is restless (undisciplined, irreconcilable) evil, full of deadly poison.
With it we bless the Lord and Father, and with it we curse men who were made in God's likeness!

Let the message be crystal clear to this generation. God's Word will be fulfilled.

Acts 2:16-18

And it shall come to pass in the last days, God declares, that I will pour out of My Spirit upon all mankind, and you sons and your daughters shall prophesy (telling forth the divine counsels) and your young men shall see visions (divinely granted appearances), and your old men shall dream (divinely suggested) dreams.

Yes, and on My menservants and also on My maidservants in those days I will pour out of My Spirit, and they shall prophesy (telling forth the divine counsels and predicting future events pertaining especially to God's kingdom).

Prophesying is speaking the divinely inspired Word of God. It is talking like God or God talk. The prophet Joel prophesied or spoke the divinely inspired Word of God.

The Greatest Teaching Ministry
Rick Joyner

My son, observe the commandment of your father, And do not forsake the teaching of your mother; Bind them continually on your heart; Tie them around your neck. When you walk about, they will guide you; When you sleep, they will watch over you; And when you awake, they will talk to you. For the commandment is a lamp, and the teaching is light; And reproofs for discipline are the way of life (Proverbs 6:20-24).

Possibly the most important teaching ministry is also the most overlooked--the teaching ministry of mothers. As the above text from Proverbs states, we should observe the commandment of our fathers and not forsake the teaching of our mothers. Both sources of training and impartation are needed to walk the path of wisdom. Behaviorists assert that our basic character traits are set by the time we are four years old. Because a mother's teaching has its greatest impact on a child during these crucial formative years, her influence normally will have the greatest impact on the course of her children's lives.

Is there any ministry more important than helping our children get off to the best start possible? Could there be a ministry more worthy of honor and support than the ministry of motherhood? If we really want to influence the future of the church and the world, this is where we must begin.

It is a popular cliche that "Behind every great man there is a good woman." Usually we consider this to be the wife, and often it is. But the wife's place is beside her husband, not behind him. In the lives of those who accomplish great things, we will usually find a mother who resolved, with strategy and vision, to give her son or daughter all the tools necessary to accomplish their purpose in life.

Solomon's Tribute to His Mother

King Solomon was the wisest man to ever rule on earth. After writing the book of Proverbs, the only book in the Bible devoted exclusively to wisdom, he concluded that this was "the oracle which his mother taught him" (Proverbs 31:1). The wisest man was taught his wisdom by his mother.

Bathsheba knew her son was destined to be a king. It must have been an awesome responsibility to prepare the future king of the nation. Even so, our children have a higher calling. They are called to rule and reign with Christ as kings and priests of a greater kingdom than Solomon's. Every mother of a Christian child is a true "queen mother" who deserves much more honor than the queen mother of an earthly kingdom. As Solomon acknowledged:

Go forth, O daughters of Zion, and gaze on King Solomon with the crown with which his mother has crowned him on the day of his wedding, and on the day of his gladness of heart (Song of Solomon 3:11).

Solomon was the son of David, the great king of Israel. He was heir to the throne because his father was king, yet he declares that it was his mother who crowned him. This is the honor which has been given to mothers, so weighty an issue that the Lord commanded us: "Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be prolonged in the land which the LORD your God gives you" (Exodus 20:12).

In Ephesians 6:1-3, Paul emphasizes the ongoing application of this commandment under the New Covenant: "Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right. Honor your father and mother (which is the first commandment with a promise), that it may be well with you, and that you may live long on the earth."

During the nearly 30 years that I have been a Christian, I have heard a great deal of honor given to spiritual fathers, but rarely any to spiritual mothers. It seems that we are only complying with half of this commandment. If our days are going to be prolonged, we must give honor not only to fathers but to mothers as well. Could this be why very few moves of God keep moving for more than a few years, and then begin to fall from their initial spiritual vitality?

By obeying the commandment we are rewarded with longevity. Failure to honor our parents can range from indifference and unthankfulness to overt dishonoring and cursing. In just one generation, we have seen a rapid degeneration from indifference to blatant dishonoring. If this direction is not reversed in our country, we will soon be doomed, and the blessing of longevity will certainly be revoked.

The Law beckons us to honor our parents with the hope of a great promise. It then makes clear the severe consequences of disobedience. Exodus 21:15 declares, "And he who strikes his father or his mother shall surely be put to death." Two verses later, the principle is carried even further: "And he who curses his father or his mother shall surely be put to death" (verse 17).

Even though we are no longer under the Law for salvation, the Law nevertheless reflects God's standard of righteousness. It is plain to see that the Lord cares very deeply that we honor our fathers and mothers, as Jesus Himself affirmed in Matthew 15:3-4:

And He answered and said to them, "And why do you yourselves transgress the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition? "For God said, 'Honor your father and mother,' and, 'He who speaks evil of father or mother, let him be put to death.'"

Moses said that whoever curses his father or mother should be put to death, and Jesus interpreted "curses" as "speaking evil." The Lord did not command that people be put to death out of harshness, but in order to remove the deadly spiritual viruses of iniquity from the camp so that others would not be infected.

When He called Abraham in order to reveal the process of redemption, God established the integrity of the family. The unfolding of His purpose from one generation to another was a fundamental vehicle through which the truth of redemption would be revealed. Genesis 18:17-19 states:

And the LORD said, "Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, since Abraham will surely become a great and mighty nation, and in him all the nations of the earth will be blessed?

"For I have chosen him, in order that he may command his children and his household after him to keep the way of the LORD by doing righteousness and justice; in order that the LORD may bring upon Abraham what He has spoken about him."

We see here that Abraham was chosen so that he could command his children to follow the way of the Lord. The father of faith was to "command" his children. This relates to Proverbs 6:20--we are to keep the commandment of our fathers and the teaching of our mothers so that we will stay on the path of life.

Should Women Teach in the Church?

All of this brings up an important and controversial issue: Should women be allowed to teach in the church? First, let's look at the New Testament scriptures that seem to forbid this. The first is I Timothy 2:11-15: Let a woman quietly receive instruction with entire submissiveness. But I do not allow a woman to teach or exercise authority over a man, but to remain quiet. For it was Adam who was first created, and then Eve. And it was not Adam who was deceived, but the woman being quite deceived, fell into transgression. But women shall be preserved through the bearing of children if they continue in faith and love and sanctity with self-restraint.

The second is I Corinthians 14:34-35: Let the women keep silent in the churches; for they are not permitted to speak, but let them subject themselves, just as the Law also says. And if they desire to learn anything, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is improper for a woman to speak in church.

These passages appear so clear and straightforward--how could we possibly doubt a literal application of what the apostle wrote? The main reason why many sincere Bible-believing Christians have challenged the position that women should not teach in the church is that a strict, literal interpretation of these verses contradicts other Scriptures which cannot be overlooked.

A basic principle of biblical interpretation is found in Psalm 119:160: "The sum of Thy word is truth, and every one of Thy righteous ordinances is everlasting." If there is an apparent contradiction in Scripture, there is a reason for it. If we do not understand the reason, we must never base our doctrine on the one or two Scriptures that stand in seeming contradiction to the rest of the Bible; the "sum" of the Word should be our focus. Even so, this does not justify overlooking an individual passage of Scripture. The tension between different passages is meant to drive us to a deeper understanding.

Nowhere in the Old Testament Law does it say that women are "not permitted to speak." For that reason, there is a widely held view among theologians that in I Corinthians 14:34-35 Paul was actually quoting and replying to a letter or report from the Corinthians concerning practices they had adopted. These scholars consider the next verses to be Paul's response to the Corinthian practice of not allowing women to speak:

Was it from you that the word of God first went forth? Or has it come to you only? If anyone thinks he is a prophet or spiritual, let him recognize that the things which I write to you are the Lord's commandment. But if anyone does not recognize this he is not recognized. Therefore, my brethren, desire earnestly to prophesy, and do not forbid to speak in tongues. But let all things be done properly and in an orderly manner (verses 36-40).

While this may explain Paul's statement in Corinthians, it does not explain the verses in I Timothy. I have personally never heard an explanation for this passage that fully satisfied me. However, I do believe there must be an explanation, because it is in contradiction to other Scriptures and violates Paul's own practice. For example, Paul mentioned "Priscilla and Aquila" in Romans 16:3. Paul's mentioning Priscilla before her husband Aquila was a blatant departure from the prevailing custom in which the man was always named first. As such, it could be considered an intentional statement of liberation for women in the church.

In Acts 18:23-28 Luke shares an episode in which "Priscilla and Aquila" took the gifted teacher Apollos aside and "explained to him the way of God more accurately" (verse 26). Certainly this would not have been done if the first-century church had a clear taboo against women teaching men.

Silent Evangelists and Prophetesses?

There are many other ways in which both the Lord and the apostles honored and elevated the status of women in bold departures from the practices of the times. Jesus even chose women to be the first to see and declare His resurrection, the event which formed the foundation for the apostolic mandate. As was promised in Psalm 68:11, "The Lord gives the command; the women who proclaim the good tidings are a great host." In fulfillment of this Scripture, some of history's greatest evangelists have been women.

Another major theological problem with not allowing women to speak in the church is that women are identified as "prophetesses" in both the Old and New Testaments. This list includes Miriam and Deborah in the Old Testament, and Anna and Philip's daughters in the New Testament. We are also told in the books of Joel and Acts that when the Lord pours out His Spirit, our sons and daughters will prophesy (Joel 2:28). Would God give someone the gift of prophecy but not allow them to speak? A further problem which arises if we do not allow women to teach or speak in the church may be the most important of all.

Could there be anything more dishonoring to our mothers than telling them they are not allowed to speak in church? How could it be that those who have been our most influential teachers would be prohibited from speaking in church? These are the ones who not only gave life to us, but nurtured and taught us from the beginning. The Lord thought it was so important for us to honor them that He connected obedience to the Fifth Commandment with one of the greatest promises in the Bible: the promise of a long life.

It takes more bending of Scripture to hold to the doctrine that women should not be allowed to speak in church than it does to accept that they should. Even so, both positions do leave some unanswered biblical questions. I therefore do not believe that either position should be held so dogmatically that we allow it to divide us. And we must be careful to so esteem the Scriptures that we would never attempt to rationalize away a text that we do not agree with.

I am still searching for more understanding on this subject. However, having heard and read a multitude of teachings and examined the issue myself, I must base my doctrine and practice on what I consider to be the weight of the Scriptures. Yet I also intend to remain tolerant of those who disagree. I believe that most of those who take the position that women should not be allowed to speak or teach in church sincerely base their position on a devotion to obey the Lord and His Word. I will always honor those who believe this, even if I disagree with their position.

Spiritual Fathers and Mothers

One of the great problems that we have in the church today is that there are many teachers, but not many fathers. Most of those described as spiritual fathers are actually just old teachers. Often they have served faithfully for many years, but that in itself does not make them a spiritual father.

A father is not necessarily someone who is old, but someone who reproduces. A spiritual father thus is marked by the ability to reproduce his ministry in others. Most men actually become fathers when they are young, not old. Additionally, for a man to become a father, there must be a woman present ! A man becomes a father only when a woman becomes a mother. The reason why there are so few spiritual fathers in the church may well be because the women are not in their place.

We desperately need spiritual fathers, but we have just as much need for spiritual mothers--women whom the Scriptures refer to as "mother[s] in Israel" (Judges 5:7). We need to recognize and honor the women who carry the seed of the Lord through intercession and constant vigilance, and then nurture the young with words of life. Just as mothers are the best teachers of young children, these spiritual mothers will be some of the best teachers of newborn believers.

This is not to negate the place of the men, but God made men and women to be different and divided the labor required to propagate the race. He also divided the labor required for the propagation of the church between men and women, and neither of us are going to fulfill our calling without the other. The Lord does not want the differences blurred out of significance. Rather, we must begin to esteem and honor the uniqueness of each. There is probably not a woman in the world who would not delight in being a woman, if we as men would become who God has called us to be.

As we raise the honor of motherhood, both natural and spiritual, this esteem must include an open door for the teaching role of women to attain the great status it deserves. When this occurs, mothers will stop sacrificing their children on the altars of selfish ambition or giving their devotion to the false deceptions of our consumer-driven culture. Our children don't need more things; they need more of us. To be a mother is one of the most unique, glorious and fulfilling callings that a woman can have. We need to give this noble ministry the attention and resources that it deserves.

Let us also esteem the widows, the women who cannot bear children in the natural, and those who do not feel called to be married. Many of these are likewise called to be a "mother in Israel" as spiritual mothers in the church. The Lord said in Isaiah 54:1-5: "Shout for joy, O barren one, you who have borne no child; break forth into joyful shouting and cry aloud, you who have not travailed; for the sons of the desolate one will be more numerous than the sons of the married woman," says the LORD.

"Enlarge the place of your tent; stretch out the curtains of your dwellings, spare not; Lengthen your cords, and strengthen your pegs. "For you will spread abroad to the right and to the left. And your descendants will possess nations, and they will resettle the desolate cities.

"Fear not, for you will not be put to shame; neither feel humiliated, for you will not be disgraced; but you will forget the shame of your youth, and the reproach of your widowhood you will remember no more. "For your husband is your maker, whose name is the LORD of hosts; and your Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel, who is called the God of all the earth."

Becoming a Light to the World

This has been only a superficial discussion of the role of women. Questions as to the role women should have in leadership and church government are outside the scope of this article. I have only tried to highlight some of the basic principles related to the teaching ministry of women. I have much more on which to base my position than what I have shared here, but I also confess a need to learn much more on this subject than I now know.

My primary goal is to bring this matter to the place of debate that it deserves. I believe we will be limited in our spiritual advancement until women assume their rightful role. This involves half the citizens of the kingdom, half the members of the body of Christ. Until women are allowed to function in the place to which they have been called, the body of Christ will be like a stroke victim who is half paralyzed. The church is called to be the light of the world. That implies that we must have the answers to the world's pressing problems. Paul proclaims that "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (II Corinthians 3:17), yet the church has not only consistently failed to lead the great liberation movements of recent times, we have often been their greatest enemies.

When we fail to lead with sound biblical truth, the enemy will fill the vacuum with every form of perversion. Many leaders in the church have mistaken the nature of those who filled the vacuum as the nature of the whole movement. For example, the primary reason why there are such perversions and extremes in the women's liberation movement is because the church did not take the lead in setting women free from the oppression. This movement should not be led by women, but by godly men who have the heart of God for His children!

We must rise up and preempt the enemy by taking the high ground on the important issues of our times. Even if we are starting late, as much of the church is doing in relation to the liberation of women, it is not too late to seize the high ground of sound biblical truth, take our stand, and push the darkness back. When the world sees the godly women of the church fulfilled to the uttermost because they are free to be who God made them, motherhood and womanhood will be esteemed as the glorious callings that they are.

The Lord wants to display womanhood just as He wants to display His bride, the church. The church is a bride--a term intended to reveal her feminine nature. She will never be able to fulfill that calling without women being in their rightful place.

We also need to understand that the bride is to be like "an army with banners," (Song of Solomon 6:4)--a phrase which reveals a masculine militancy. We will not be an army until men are in their place. These may seem to be contradictory natures, but the male and female aspects of creation were designed to perfectly compliment one another. The way that I become one with my wife is not by making her a man. Unity will only come when men are men, and women are women. Each must be allowed to be all that God created them to be.

There would be no Jezebels if there were no Ahabs. Until we are both free, neither can be free. When the Lord is finished with His church, the world will see in it the perfect glory of both men and women. Men will look at the men in the church and say, "That is what I am called to be." Women will look at the women in the church and say, "That is what I am called to be." The liberation God is bringing in the church will have a profound ripple effect throughout our entire society. Default version: NAS

The coming move of God is going to be a lot different than I ever thought—and I'm sure it will be different than you thought, too. The Lord is going to move in a completely new way, unlike anything we have ever seen before. It is good to look for precedents in Scripture and in church history, but many of the things that God will do in the days ahead are truly unprecedented. In fact, God has set somewhat of a precedent for doing unprecedented things. There never had been a precedent for a burning bush, but He used a burning bush as a powerful sign (see Exodus 3). Moses didn't have any doctrinal or theological foundation to prepare him for his encounter with this burning bush. God simply put His glory on a bush that burned without being consumed, and Moses turned aside to see.

Like the burning bush, the church will again shine with the glory of the Lord. Though the bush was merely an inanimate plant impregnated with God's glory, the church will be a living body that is glorious beyond description. Like the burning bush, we will be a sign that people will turn aside to see.

The holy radiation of God will drive out all kinds of illnesses in these last days, and it will be the number one cure for cancers, AIDS and all kinds of communicable diseases. God will once more do things that are unprecedented. He will do things that are different from anything He has ever done before.

In the day of God's unprecedented acts, we need to be careful about saying, "Well, that's not in the Bible." No one had ever experienced a burning bush prior to Exodus 3. Paul had no Bible verse directing him to go and stay in a certain house, nor did Ananias have a Scripture giving him revelation of the geographic location, street number or name of the man he was going to see. Ananias had no precedent to follow that would show him what had caused Paul's blindness or what God would do if he would go and lay hands on Paul. Although Moses, Paul and Ananias may have lacked scriptural precedents for how God was choosing to move in their lives, they had the witness of the power of the Holy Spirit and they obeyed when God called to them.

I do not know all the details of what God plans to do in coming days, but surely one of the key aspects is found in Isaiah 60:1-3: "Arise, shine; for your light has come, And the glory of the LORD has risen upon you. "For behold, darkness will cover the earth, And deep darkness the peoples; But the LORD will rise upon you, And His glory will appear upon you. "And nations will come to your light, And kings to the brightness of your rising" (Isaiah 60:1-3).

Just as Jesus stood on the Mount of Transfiguration and his three disciples saw Him shine (Matthew 17:1-8), God is going to have a whole company of people who are going to shine. The world will see the light, and all the nations will come. It is going to be the light of "a city set on a hill" that "cannot be hidden" (Matthew 5:14). It is time for the body of Christ to arise and let her light shine forth for the world to see. A New Breed of Leaders

I see a whole new leadership and a whole new move of God for these last days. The Lord is going to speak mightily again, and He is going to cause heaven to touch the earth. It is not enough for the world to hear our teachings, our prophecies, or our expositions of Scripture if the heavens are not stirred to action. Multitudes of men and women might thrill at the words they hear, but it matters little if there is not a chain reaction of kingdom life on the earth.

The world is not so much questioning the reality of life after death, but rather it is watching us to see if we truly have a new kind of life after we receive Christ. Our inability to evangelize the world has been more the result of the world's skepticism about "life after life" than about life after death. Are we really saved? Do we really have new life? When we do, a heavenly chain reaction will follow. Life will beget life after its own kind (see Genesis 1:24).

I believe an awesome, reverential fear and respect is coming back to the leadership of the church. Losing her self-imposed restrictions and her imprisonment to human traditions, the church is going to regain her power and emerge shining brighter than the noonday sun. We are going to be called upon by heads of state and kings of nations. The Lord is going to give heaven to earth so that we can evangelize the world. In the condition we are now in, the church would never be able to fully win the world. But, thank God, she is about to change.

In order for the changes to occur, we, like Ezekiel, must "eat this scroll" that contains the Word of the Lord (Ezekiel 3:1). What does it mean to eat the scroll? It means that we have to digest His message to the point where we become the message. We will never be able to reach the world unless that happens. God gave John the Beloved similar instructions about eating a little book (Revelation 10:8-11) and, like Ezekiel, John was able to prophesy in a way that caused a mighty chain reaction.

When we eat the scroll and get His Word in us so that it becomes a part of us, the world will behold the glory of the Father. The nations will respond to this kind of word—not because God's servants are listed in Who's Who, or because they raise the greatest offerings, or build the greatest buildings. Rather, people will respond because they know that ordinary men cannot speak with such authority unless the power of God is in them.

True Seed Faith

One thing I am sure God will challenge is the idea of "seed money." God makes it very clear in His Word that His people are to be the seed that is planted, not the "almighty dollar." He distinctly shows us that we are to be the seed that is planted, and we are to be fruitful in the earth. Out of love for the Master they serve, God's true disciples are those who forsake everything (Luke 14:26). The teaching that one can grow financially prosperous by giving more to the church is a perversion of truth. We cannot be His disciples until all we have, all we are, and all we ever hope to be has been laid before Him. Only then can He do with us and through us all that He wants to do. "If anyone wishes to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me" (Luke 9:23).

This is what true discipleship is all about—the sacrificial life. The Lord wants the seed to be planted so that it can produce grain, but it must first be bruised and crushed before it can be living bread for the hungry (see John 12:24). Although the "seed money" principle may have filled the coffers of the church, it has left the ministry and the people sterile. There is no birthing. The womb is closed. Yet God is going to change all this. He is going to plant the right seed in the right soil, and life is going to come forth.

In the book of Acts, Peter and John were on their way into the temple when they saw a lame man lying at the gate. Fixing his gaze upon the man, Peter said, "Look at us!...I do not possess silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you: In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene—walk!" (Acts 3:4-6). Then Peter took him by the right hand and lifted him up. Immediately the man's feet and ankle bones received strength, and he began walking and leaping and praising God. This is what the world is waiting to see.

The first thing Peter told the lame man was, "Look at us!" However, the world is not presently looking at the church. In fact, most unbelievers pay no attention to us at all. What is going to impress the world is the power and the character of God in our lives. They will take note when we are able to say, "What I do have I give to you"—and then do mighty miracles in Jesus' name. That kind of authority is going to be restored to the church.

A Heavenly Chain Reaction

There is going to be a release of power evangelism that will meet the needs of mankind. This will cause a chain reaction throughout the world. God is going to have a mighty army that goes into every place on the face of the earth, sharing this glorious gospel. The gospel of the kingdom is not just His Word—it is also His power. It is always associated with healing the sick and doing the works of God. This is the gospel that Jesus proclaimed and demonstrated, and He is about to do it again.

When heaven touches the earth, we won't have to twist any arms to get people saved. Jesus is the Lord of the harvest, and He has given us the opportunity to proclaim His life-changing kingdom. We won't have to strive in our own energy. We won't have to go out and evangelize in the energy of the flesh, knocking on doors in hopes that someone will get saved. As never before, lost people will come to us.

In this spiritual chain reaction of the last days, we are going to know the times, understand what God is saying, and then go do something about it. We will have life to pass on to those who will hear, and they will receive life to pass on to others. When heaven touches earth, the world will know that we serve an awesome, life-giving God. His glory will be seen throughout the whole earth!

Crossing Over
Rick Joyner

August 9, 2004

As we have covered, one of the primary characteristics between those who serve the Lord, and those who serve the devil, will be distinguished by the respect for life. Jesus came to give life, and the devil comes to destroy. As we proceed toward the harvest, the full maturity of all that has been sown in man, the good and the evil, will be witnessed by the power of life and the power of death as never before,. Even so, life is stronger than death, and life will ultimately prevail. However, until the ultimate victory, death will fill the earth as never before. Therefore, those who are growing in their love for life, and growing in the power to impart and save life, must also learn how to cope with death.

I Corinthians 10:1-11 explains that everything Israel went through in the wilderness was a blueprint for us, as verse eleven summarizes: "Now these things happened to them as an example, and they were written for our instruction, upon whom the ends of the ages have come." Understanding this is basic to understanding biblical prophecy. One of the events that is especially timely for us now is the crossing of the Jordan River by Israel.

The church has been wandering in its wilderness for nearly two thousand years and is about to likewise cross over into its Promised Land. The prophetic events associated with Joshua's crossing are about to parallel world events as the church begins to cross its Jordan River. In Joshua 3:3-4 we read:

and they commanded the people, saying, "When you see the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God with the Levitical priests carrying it, then you shall set out from your place and go after it.

However, there shall be between you and it a distance of about 2,000 cubits by measure. Do not come near it, that you may know the way by which you shall go, for you have not passed this way before."

These two thousand cubits represent the years that the Lord Jesus, represented by the ark of the covenant, passed through the Jordan or death, before the rest of His people. Note that it does not say this had to be "exactly" two thousand cubits, but "about" that many. Now it is just "about" two thousand years since Jesus crossed over. Some very basic things are about to start changing for the church, and for the world.

In verse 15, when telling of the priests entering into the Jordan carrying the ark we are told, "... for the Jordan overflows all its banks all the days of harvest..." (Joshua 3:15) In biblical prophecy, the Jordan River often represents death because it empties into the Dead Sea. John the Baptist baptized there, and the disciples of Jesus baptized there as well. Here we see that this river "overflows all its banks all the days of the harvest" as a prophecy of the way death will be overflowing all its previous limits during the harvest that is the end of this age. It will also be this way when the church is crossing over to enter into its Promised Land, which is to walk in all of the promises that have been given to it.

We see in verse 16: "that the waters which were flowing down from above stood and rose up in one heap, a great distance away at Adam, the city that is beside Zarethan..." (Joshua 3:16). It is no accident that this city was called "Adam." When the Lord's people enter into their Jordan, truly laying down their lives for the Lord and His gospel, no longer living for themselves but for Him, then the river of death will be cut off, and death will be rolled back all the way to Adam, the one who released it on the earth in the first place.

In verse 17 we are told, "And the priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the middle of the Jordan while all Israel crossed on dry ground, until all the nation had finished crossing the Jordan" (Joshua 3:17). Just as Moses and Aaron had to pass away before Israel could cross into its Promised Land, there is a leadership change that must take place before the church will be able to enter into to its promises. In this I do not think it represents specific people of a specific generation, but of the type of leadership that the church has had for nearly the last two thousand years.

Moses and Aaron accomplished a great deal for the people of God. They delivered the people from their slavery in Egypt, and they got them through the wilderness right to the door of the Promised Land. These were no small accomplishments. However, it took a different kind of leadership to lead the people over the Jordan, and to possess their land.

A whole new type of leadership is about to arise that is different from the one that is passing. One of the first acts of the new priesthood was to carry the ark across the Jordan, where they "stood firm...in the middle of the Jordan while all Israel crossed on..." There will be a leadership that arises which will stand firm right in the midst of all of the death around it, which will enable all of God's people to cross over.

That they stand firm in the middle of the Jordan also means that they will stand firm on the cross, the death to ourselves, and all that the cross implies to God's people. It is when the priests of God take their stand on this that the waters of death will begin to be rolled back. Death is the path to live in Christ, just as Paul explained in II Corinthians 4:7-12:

But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the surpassing greatness of the power may be of God and not from ourselves; we are afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not despairing; persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed; always carrying about in the body the dying of Jesus, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body. For we who live are constantly being delivered over to death for Jesus' sake, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh. So death works in us, but life in you.

Just as John the Baptist, the last of his order, was the greatest of them in many ways, the last order of leadership that will soon pass will be some of the greatest. However, there are great changes that are about to take place in the leadership of the church, and this will bring about great changes in the church itself. The first one will be that the cross will be the center again, and the coming priesthood will take their stand on it. They will lead the people through their baptism in the Jordan, a true consecration to die to themselves and live for the purposes of the Lord. They will stand on the cross until death is rolled back "all the way to Adam."

The most basic conflict is between life and death, and those who are given the power of life will have gained it by their own death to themselves, as Paul explained in the text above. There are other basic changes coming which we will discuss in some detail in the weeks to come. As the One who has crossed over before us said:

"If anyone wishes to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. "For whoever wishes to save his life shall lose it; but whoever loses his life for My sake shall find it (Matthew 16:24-25).

To Heal And Restore

Todd Rowland

God has been speaking some things to me and He's making it very clear, so I will just write the things I'm hearing. Recently the Lord gave me a vision as I was praying and reading through 2 Peter 1:2-8

(2Grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord, 3as His divine power has given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him who called us by glory and virtue, 4by which have been given to us exceedingly great and precious promises, that through these you may be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. 5 But also for this very reason, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, 6to knowledge self-control, to self-control perseverance, to perseverance godliness, 7to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness love. 8For if these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ).

This is what I saw in my spirit December 17, 2003, as I read the above scripture.

I saw in my spirit a beautiful beach setting, and a little boy sitting on the beach. He had a small bucket and shovel beside him. I noticed he had dug a very deep hole in the sand. The hole was not wide but it was very deep. I then noticed a set of waves out in the ocean approaching the beach. As the first wave hit the beach it was very forceful and rushed very fast up the beach surrounding the little boy, and poured into the hole. My attention then focused on the hole as water and sand began fill up the hole. Wave after wave continued coming in until finally the hole was completely filled with sand until there was no evidence that the hole ever existed.

The vision then ended, and I began to meditate on all this and how it relates to 2 Peter 1:2-8. The Lord then spoke to my spirit "the weight of the ocean contains great power". I then began to see that the ocean represents God. The hole in the sand represents some hurts or wounds that have occurred in our past or childhood. The waves represent a progression of the knowledge and glory of God, which bring healing and restoration to our lives.

I believe that just like the waves brought in sand and filled in the hole, God wants to heal and restore old wounds, which have occurred in our past so completely that there will be no evidence they ever existed. Many people have been hurt in their past, and the devil is still using these things to stunt our growth in the present. It's time to let the past be the past, and receive the forgiveness and restoration of the Lord, and do not allow yesterdays wounds to define our tomorrows.

Verse 4 says that it is God's will that we all become partakers of God's divine nature. This means that all of the characteristics and qualities of God should become ours in increasing measure as we draw closer and closer to Jesus. The devil knows this as well and unfortunately he knows this better than most Christians, and that is exactly why the devil attacks us so intensely. He wants to keep the body of Christ in the dark and unaware of who we are and our unlimited potential in Christ. If he can keep us focused on all the nasty things other people has done to us, and on all the past mistakes and sins, then he knows that we will lose our focus on Christ. The moment we do that we are subject for a fall. I believe it was Pat Coking who recently said that there might be some leaders in the body of Christ who may experience some hard set backs in the coming year. This can happen to anyone, so the best way to guard ourselves against that is to progressively grow closer and closer to the Lord like those waves hitting the beach and like we see in the above scripture.

I am not trying to diminish or make light of anything that people have gone through, but the bible tells us that we're all called to be overcomers, that's part of who we are - its part of our journey. God wants us to know that these hurtful things can become stepping stones to walk closer to Jesus, so HE can turn these old wounds into strong points in our lives to help other people out of similar situations.

I also believe that many people (believer's of course and even non-believers) are becoming spiritually pregnant with God. And just as the virgin Mary conceived in her womb from the Holy Spirit and gave birth to the Word of God the Son of God, many are conceiving something from God and you are about to give birth to those things which God has planted in you. But before that happens we may have to endure more birth pains, and these will not be easy - they will be painful & difficult. So don't follow the path of the world - which always says to follow the path of least resistance; because in God's Kingdom the path of hardship always leads to the greatest reward. So we must learn to rejoice in trials and temptations, we must become more like Jesus - who the bible says learned obedience through the things he suffered. Begin to cooperate with God in all that He is doing, no matter how hard or crazy it may seem, because God wants to release into the body of Christ a greater understanding and revelation of the knowledge and Glory of God. He wants to take us into deeper realms of His Spirit, and inject His Divine Character into us. Which will in turn take us to that place of blessing where we can become partakers, and partners of His diving nature. I pray that the eyes of our heart will become open. We need to see with clarity, now more than ever!

Recently I've been hearing from several people, that this will be a year of freedom. I have to say that I agree with that, I think this will be a year of freedom. I believe the things that the Lord is showing me, is closely related and confirms this. I believe this will be a year that many people in the body of Christ are finally set free from the things that have haunted them for years. I say now; this will be a year of freedom. Many people in the Body of Christ will be set free this year from past wounds and mistakes. Many in the Body of Christ will finally be set free from the hidden sins of pornography, and drug and alcohol abuse. This will be a year that many in the Body of Christ will be at liberty so completely that they will no longer hide these sins, but freely expose them setting others free with their testimony. Many in the body of Christ will be healed so completely there will no longer be any residue from it. This will also be a year of release. Many people in the body of Christ will be released or birthed into the calling, which has been prophesied over them for years. Many will be released to walk out the impossible for they will now be united more completely to the ONE who makes all things possible.

Notice in verse 5, 4 little words. Verse 5 says "Add to your faith". This speaks of work, this speaks of action, and it speaks of our responsibility to God's will. Far to often we will hear a prophetic word, and go home all exited and just wait around for it to happen. This is a major problem in the Church today. People want the blessing of God but they're not willing to travel the road that will take them there. They're not willing to pay the price of prayer and intimacy with our King, which will posture them to receive His precious promises.

If you will notice in vs. 4 it says it is God's will that we become partakers of His divine nature, and in vs.

8 it is God's will that we are fruitful and full of the knowledge God. But how many of us can say that we're really living in this realm of the Spirit. Verse 5 tells us how to get there, we must diligently add to our faith. The Lord showed me that this progression in scripture (add to your faith - virtue - to virtue knowledge etc.) is like waves of the ocean. When these waves come, they bring healing to all our wounds and progressively takes us closer and closer to the Lord, until finally we are standing firmly in His love bearing no scars from our past. But in order to fully participate in His divine nature, we must position ourselves like a surfer in the ocean of God and ride his waves into reality. For those who know anything about surfers, your know that a surfer is passionate about surfing. They get up before sunrise to surf, lunch break their surfing, and just before sunset they're surfing. Let's become this passionate for God, and lose ourselves in HIM.

We must begin to do the things we know to do, and lose ourselves in God. We must begin to corporate with the Lord, and make a firm decision that this is the year we seek the Lord with everything we have. We must make the decision today to seek the face of God more than what He can give. We must seek God just simply to know Him. Because it is in the process of getting to know Him, that all these promises will become reality. But it will take effort on our part. It will not come just because we want it, and it won't even happen just because it's Gods will for us. We must be diligent and unwavering in our faith and pursuit.

I believe that this year can be the beginning of the greatest years of the history of the Church, surpassing even the 1st century believers. I believe we're entering the time prophesied in Isaiah 60, where the world goes darker, and darker, but the true believers, the ones who truly know HIM, will radiate with HIS Glory in ever increasing measure. There is coming a clear distinction between the people of God and the people of the world. Where do you find yourself? We can make the decision to be conformed to the world or transformed into the image of Christ. I pray we all make the right decision.

Stand firm and unrestrained,
Todd Rowland

The High Cost

Howard Pittman

God is now in the process of recruiting an army with which He will shake this old world one more time.

By working through His soldiers, God will produce great miracles that will shake the established hierarchy of the so called organized religion that is in this world today.

These soldiers that God is now recruiting will demonstrate the power of God to a greater extent than did the disciples in the Pentecostal age.

Some will be even greater demonstrations than that of Elijah.

God's recruitment for this army has been going on for some time.

Some of these soldiers have been brought up to a certain level of faith and placed in a "holding" position where they shall remain until He has brought all the new ones up to that level.

Remember, the Bible says that He is the author and finisher of our faith.

It is going to be through the faith of the soldiers that God will demonstrate His great power.

As was stated earlier, for a long time He has been recruiting a few.

Now the recruitment has begun in earnest because God is about to perform the great miracles through His army that He promised us He would do in the Bible.

John the Baptist brought the spirit of Elijah into this world and he did not even know he had it.

He denied it, but Jesus confessed that it was so.

The purpose of that spirit was to make straight the paths of the coming of the Lord.

"I declare unto you that you the soldiers who are being recruited now to join with those who have been recruited in the past, will bring to this world the spirit of Elijah.

Again the purpose is to make straight the paths of the coming of the Lord for He is about to come again!

You that sleep, now is the time to awaken!

You that have been in that "holding" pattern for years, look up!

You're about to be put to work!

To the new recruit, I would say study the Bible diligently and seek the Lord's will in every aspect of your life.

Time is short for your spiritual training, but you will be used in ways you never thought possible if you seek the Lord FIRST in your life.

"You who are to be chosen will be the soldiers of the latter rain as referred to in Scripture.

This recruitment is for the end of the great revival spoken of by the prophet Joel and begun on the day of Pentecost.

The end time of that great revival is the beginning of the latter rain, so you must prepare for the battle with the discipline of a professional soldier.

"Know this also. There shall be a time or process of "culling" those who are not qualified to be a member of this "Gideon's" army.

Just as in Gideon's army in the bible, only a select few will be fit for service in the army of Christian soldiers the Lord will use in the battle of the latter rain."

Another thing that will happen is that the MANTLES OF GREAT MEN AND PROPHETS WILL FALL ON INDIVIDUALS WHO CAN HANDLE THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Expect people to start to operate in and under the power of God like a Jeremiah or an Isaiah.

In the midst of this fresh move, the church is going to have to discern which leaders to follow.

For there will be at least three kinds of leaders, the David's, the Jonathan's and the Saul's.

THE SAUL's leadership which is marred by envy and jealousy, seeking prestige and power and continually FEELING threatened by those along side or under them.

Frequently they'll use all kinds of religious gibberish to pull down the anointed.

Saul had all kinds of ideas on how David should go and fight Goliath, none were God's intended methods.

One thing which has had a negative effect/grieving the Holy Spirit recently has been the dusting off of old wine skins/old methods which never worked in the past and wouldn't work in the present.

Yet many have attempted to resurrect old concepts of church growth methods and have declared them to be fresh.

The army of God needs to smell out that which is truly fresh and that which is truly rotten.

There has been a genuine lacking of creativity in evangelism, relationship building and leadership.

These don't allow others to get close to them, they avoid any real accountability. They are a hidden danger to renewal.

THE JONATHAN'S leadership, a friend of renewal but at the same time attempting to keep one foot in with the Saul's.

Jonathan was killed with King Saul the same day, fighting a battle.

This style of leadership is to keep every one happy, the old guard and still dancing occasional in and around renewal.

While it appears to be safe, don't expect any mighty anointing, nor any great leadership.

One is going to have to check out who's related to whom. Birds of a feather flock together.

While many are attempting to develop strategic partnerships, very often it is just to create image, it's usually an indication of a lack of genuine vision and anointing to impact the enemies kingdom.

A soft or compromising leader is deadly in times of revival, identify them and avoid them.

DAVID'S leadership, examine his life carefully, He was a man not approved of by his brethren.

They even tried to saddle (burden) him with mundane responsibilities, looking after the sheep (1 Sam 18:28). "David your heart is filled with pride".

Don't expect any favours from the old religious guard who will have it's fair share of PROVE YOURSELF to me/us. [When you see it, you'll understand your callings].

As I shared in the past, This move is going to be a storm of the Spirit. The Glory clouds will roll in.

The lightning's of God are going to hit.

"The former and latter rain will be falling at the same time, and the winds and thunders of God will be heard."

We live in the era of the end times, and God has said through many prophets around the world "I am going to change the understanding and expression of Christianity in the earth in this one generation.

History has born record to those men mightily used in the past.

All were men who had "paid the Price", who had spent much time alone in secret with God, and often spent years in the "wilderness" before being anointed with power from on high and sent forth to loose God's people from their chains of bondage and sin.

Suddenly they arrived, as if from nowhere, utterly fearless and with a searing message that pierced straight to the hearts of their hearers.

As A.W. Tozer wrote "God has always had his specialists...who appear at critical moments in history to reprove, rebuke and exhort in the name of God and righteousness....such a man is likely to be drastic, radical, possibly at times violent.

His ministry is geared to the emergencies, and that fact marks them as being different, a man set apart for such a time as this.

The training ground for such men hasn't come because they have hung unto the leadership of others.

Their training ground has been deep in the "Wilderness of brokenness", nothingness and a death to self.

As the historian D'Aubigne wrote, "A great work of God is never accomplished by the natural strength of man.

It is from those dry bones, the darkness and the dust of death, that God is pleased to select as the instruments by means of which he designs to scatter over the earth his light, regeneration and life.

These David's will come forth manifesting a holy recklessness not confusion, They desire to display the Glory to a dying world.

These are men and women motivated by tenderness towards God and mankind.

Their prayers are filled with the heart-piercing pathos of the dying Jesus.

These folk have the burning flame, that interior furnace of throbbing love, one that sighs and weeps and break down under the shivering heat of all-consuming love.

These men and women understand the words of the Holy Ghost "Be ye tender hearted, forgiving one another."

Tenderness must be in the very nature, and forgiveness is but the behaviour of that nature.

Theme For 2004

Sam Buick

The Prophetic Theme For 2004: The Kingdom Will Be Forcefully Advancing & At The Same Time It Will Be Forcefully Attacked

1. Within The Church: Rejoicing And Rejecting

"There is much beloved ones that is now taking place and will increase that will bring much joy and rejoicing to those within the Kingdom. The Church, My Body, will about with much joy in the midst of hostility and persecution. It will marvel many within your societies that this increase in joy will accompany more and more opposition to My Kingdom There will be those within the Church however that will have much difficulty with the increase in hostility and many will reject what is coming simply because they cannot handle the rejection and hostility. Many will wax cold and many will compromise and many will be tempted to discard and walk away from the Wine they have tasted.
"Beloved know that as you embrace Me at this hour, there will be many whom you perceive and know who will reject what My Spirit is doing. They will have counted the cost and find it to not be worthy of their affection and desire. They cannot bear rejection and suffering and cannot bear the brunt of what is now coming. "Do not be overwhelmed with grief, for there are many who easily believed who did not count the cost who will now be challenged to the very heart as to where their affections lie. Know that I have overcome the world and that I have called you to be overcomers. You will overcome as I have overcome and you will taste the reward of faithfulness.

2. Outside The Church: Hope And Hatred

"Beloved, you will see that the very face of church life will change before you. You will see and find that the very essence of community will be transformed. As hostilities increase in the culture, the hatred that lies beneath the surface will raise its head and become more pronounced and more bold in its open hostility. This hatred will shock many of you, for the restraining that you once knew will no longer hold back the hatred. It will become virulent and more will come along and simply lay blame upon the Church for all the ills of society. Many will watch silently from the sidelines to see how many within My Body respond and how they respond to the abuse and hatred.

"Beloved as you return love for the hatred poured out upon you, and as you continue to give away what I have given you, you will see My Spirit draw many into the Kingdom. Many will be making decisions for eternity based upon how your respond in grace under pressure. How you live your lives in the year ahead will have a dramatic impact for the sake of the Kingdom. Close scrutiny and hostility will usher in many into the Kingdom.

3. Kingdoms In Conflict: The Clash Between Heaven And Earth

"Precious ones, know that in the year ahead the warfare will increase and intensify. The Kingdom will become more clear and more pronounced as hostility becomes more common and more volatile and expressive. There will be an awareness of conflict in the heavens and on the earth.

"The spiritual gifts will become more and more visible and more vibrant in expression in contrast the dead religiosity found in many church fellowships. There will be an increase in discernment and in intercession. The Body will become known as the "PRAYING ARMY PREYING ON THE KINGDOM OF DARKNESS".

"The Body will become more militant and bold and very visible in the days ahead. There will come forth a humility with boldness to not back down from the vile work of the enemy as the enemy manipulates and brings forth violence against the Body of Christ in the nations. As the hostility increases, there will be thanksgiving and fervent prayer for boldness and zeal.

"Many religious buildings will empty, and many will be amazed at the love that abounds among those who are reviled and suffer rejection and abuse. Much grace will be poured out. As prayer and intercession increases, the love of God will flow in the streets. Boldness and zeal will mix with compassion and the life of the Son will be given away through signs and wonders and miracles.

"The hour will be great in annals of the history of the Church. The greater the rejection and hostility, the greater the expression of the Kingdom."

The Birthmark
Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelites,

What is it that identifies us as being of the progeny of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob? Surely there must be some birthmark that the scriptures point to, that reveals this biblical God-given relationship between this generation and the lives of the forefathers of 4,000 years ago! The covenants that YHVH made with our natural forbearers is that they would have multitudes of descendents like the sand of the sea, dust of the earth and the stars of heaven, too numerous to number. The prophets reiterated these promises of the multiplicity. How will we ever know how “great the day of Jezreel” (Yah’s sowing, Hos. 1:10), if the descendents are only a handful of Jews, in this generation, who are easily countable? Will there always be a suppressed doubt in the back of bible believers’ minds that YHVH was not true to His word and faithful to the covenant of multiplicity? Or will His Word be regarded simply as containing numerous figures of speech? These questions, although not at the hub of this letter, do raise another: who are to inherit all the blessings and promises that were given to these natural forefathers and to their offspring? The Abrahamic seed, that is Israel (both houses), has an inheritance to claim, and other promises from YHVH that specifically belong to them. But if we have lost our ancestral line, how are we going to claim those promises? What proof do we (Jews or Ephraimites) have that will allow us to possess the inheritance, especially at a time when there are other people groups who are contesting our rights vis-à-vis that inheritance?

The apostle Paul warns us that we are not going to be able to trace our ancestry through a biological tree of the generations, and if we try it will only result in strife and contention: “…nor give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which cause disputes rather than godly edification which is by faith” (1 Tim 1:4). And again, “But avoid foolish disputes, genealogies, contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and useless” (Titus 3:9). Is there any one on this earth who can trace their genealogy back 150 generations? There may be a handful of Jews today who can possibly go back 2,000 years or 50 generations, but still that is no proof. Of course an easy way out of this would be to just blurt, “God knows”, which is true - yet the ones who really need to know are the rightful inheritors themselves.

Let us see if we can find some scriptural ‘identification papers’ that are necessary to stake a claim on the inheritance, or the riches of the promises. The above quote from Timothy already gave us a clue.

What was inherent in the forefathers that marked them and set them apart, and made them special in the eyes of their Covenant Maker? They all seemed to have one thing in common - they believed YHVH, utilizing the ability that was in them called “faith”. However, even though this characteristic was in the life of the father (Abraham), it was not going to be made fully manifest in his offspring until after the redemption. “For I would not, brethren, that you should be ignorant of this mystery, lest you should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel [Judah-Israel], until "the fullness of the Gentiles" [Ephraim-Israel] (Gen 48:19) be come in. And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, there shall come out of Zion the Deliverer [Yeshua], and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob" (Rom. 11:25-26).

YHVH said, "I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob, for, lo, I will command, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, yet shall not the least part ["tz'ror"] fall upon the earth" (Amos 9:9). In other words, they (Israel) will be well mixed into the nations but YHVH will not lose track of any one "segment" or "part" (which is what that Hebrew word means in this context). YHVH was saying, then, that even though Israel will lose its identity and will be scattered in the nations, through divine providence they would somehow continue to remain in groupings of their own kin (as depicted by the popular cliché, "birds of a feather flock together"). Isaiah also prophesied that YHVH would "cause them that come of Jacob to take root" and that, "Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit" (Isa. 27:6).

"And he [Abraham] received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had yet being uncircumcised: that he might be the father of all those who have the faith, though they be not circumcised" (Rom 4:11). We know from biblical history that the ten tribes of the northern kingdom did not keep Torah and consequently were not circumcised. But yet the promises remain to all the seed, "for the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith" (Rom 4:13). Active faith, like that of Abraham's, seems to be the birthmark that we are looking for in order to identify the inheritors of the promises.

"Therefore it is of faith that it might be according to grace, so that the promise might be sure to all the seed [sperm], not only to those who are of the law [the Jews, who have the faith, but in some, as is true of all Israel, it is still hidden], but also to those who are of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all" (Rom. 4:16). "Therefore know that only those who are of faith are sons of Abraham" (Gal 3:7). "And if you are Christ's [in other words, have the anointing of the Spirit of God], then are you [recognized as] Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise" (Gal 3:29). Being anointed with the Spirit does not make you one of his natural offspring, because that interpretation would eliminate and make of non-effect all the prophecies and blessings from the Tanach. The Apostle, in writing to the Galatians, was not contradicting himself, but in fact was staying consistent with what he had written to the believers in Rome. His writings line up with many Old Testament prophecies about the Spirit of God anointing the Abrahamic seed. "Fear not, O Jacob, my servant; and thou, Jeshurun, whom I have chosen. For I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon your offspring: And they shall spring up as among the grass, as willows by the water courses" (Isa. 44:2-4). Here we see that the Spirit that was promised in the new covenant to the two houses of Israel (Judah and Ephraim), is given as an anointing ("Christ") to the believers, through the same faith that was in their forefather Abraham. This anointing is another of the identifying marks, or second witness if you will, to being of the Abrahamic seed.

Scriptures show that faith was always evident to some degree in the progeny (see Hebrews 11), but remained mostly dormant. It was not seen in the multitudes until after the redemption, at which time it came to the fore through the preaching of the Gospel of the Kingdom and Yeshua as Messiah. “But before faith came or appeared, we were kept under the law, shut up unto the faith which should afterwards be revealed [meaning, the unveiling of its hidden presence]” (Gal. 3:23). The full potential of the seed is already inherent within it, but it has to “fall into the ground” and to receive a scent of water, before it can shoot forth. Faith was already in Abraham and his progeny, but it had to wait until YHVH would send His Son with His faith to accomplish redemption for His kinsmen from the Abrahamic family. Only after the faith of Yeshua was made manifest to His brethren, could the faith that was in them become evident so that they could receive the promises, especially of the Spirit.

"Moreover whom he did predestinate [sperm of Abraham], them he also called [Isaac/Jacob], and whom he called, them he also justified [those who have the faith of Abraham]: and whom he justified, them he also glorified [Israel]” (Rom 8:30). "Sing, O you heavens; for YHVH has done it: shout, you lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, you mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for YHVH has redeemed Jacob, and glorified Himself in Israel” (Isa. 44:23).

Our father Abraham “did not stagger at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform” (Rom 4:20-21).

I pray that we, like our forefather, will not stumble nor stagger in unbelief, but be strong in the faith, especially now that we have been “sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest [or down payment] of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession [all Israel], unto the praise of His [YHVH’s Son] glory” (Eph. 1:13-14).

The City

Lance Abernethy

– 5/2/04

As I stood in the plain this morning I saw in the distance what looked like a town. Through the haze of the early morning sun I could just see the outline of its buildings. Then the Lord spoke to me again, and told me to go and visit this town and look at the abandoned buildings, as it was now nearly a ghost town. He said nearly, as there were still remnants of its former population still living there.

Upon arriving I was taken to what was the main street, it was pretty dusty and neglected and there had not been much traffic on it for a long time. Only the occasional tourist, or someone from the town's past taking a drive down memory lane. Then the Lord said to me that it had once been a thriving city, but those that had lived there had become complacent and uncaring about it's place in the earth, and as a result they had unwittingly elected a new Mayor and councillors who had no vision for the city, or for the reasons it was built in the first place. These new "city fathers" knew nothing of the towns history and the sacrifice necessary in getting it established. He said that the people had been concerned yes, and had grumbled to him and to each other but were to afraid of doing anything through fear, and so now they only have memories, and spend their time yearning for the things they had back then. These buildings he said, stand as a testimony in the earth to their fear and lack of faith. Each one has a word from me that now speaks out against those who let it fall into disrepair and neglect. "Come with me. Come with me, and I'll show you what I mean."

We then proceeded down the street to a building that had written on its façade, "Evangelism." Its doors were now bolted and huge heavy padlocks of fear hung on them. It's windows that had once been open all the time were also locked and boarded up. When He took me inside there were tables scattered around the room. Some had fallen over, while others were still upright. The ones that were upright had what looked like unfinished meals, indeed some of the meals had not been touched. He said the meals were originally meant for the lost to eat as they came in. Meals of salvation, healing, deliverance, and abundant life, but he said that the new owners had changed the recipe and they now represented lack of prayer, lack of holiness, lack of love for each other, and had become poison to anyone that ate them. These plates now had meals of modernism, philosophy, and new age thinking on them. They were no longer wholesome and sweet, but were meals of dissention and back biting, and their ultimate contribution was not to life, but to death. In the centre of the room was a water fountain. He said it still is full of the waters of salvation, of love and forgiveness. "It's waters used to flow out the doors and windows of this place, but the tap, that is, the unrelenting cry and concern for the lost that once was part of this place and the people in it has now rusted up, and the result is that no-one comes to this place for water, and if they do, they are given water polluted by the need to build a new city that is not of me. They are given directions to the new city, then shown the way out."

He then took me to a table that had men and women sitting around it. Their mouths were moving, but no words were coming out, their hands were pointing in all directions, but there was nothing to point too. Some of the men had women sitting on their knees with eyes full of lust and decadence. Others were counting money, and they too had eyes full of lust and greed. Still others were weeping and crying over the lost opportunities they had lost in their ministries. I then asked, "why are they still here?"

"They are testimonies to my anger against those who having been called to this work, never leave it's safety and go out into the street, but mouth empty words while partaking in all kinds of self indulgent wickedness within the precincts of it's walls."

As we left the building He showed me all the people walking were outside mocking the building and the sign on the front. He said: "These are not the lost, but the inhabitants of the new city that is not of me. They are my so-called new sons and daughters, but they are not a people with whom I can trust my word. For they have never been in the building you have just left, they have never tasted it's sweet waters of forgiveness and salvation as you have, for they are inheritors of what I gave their fathers, but now seek to build their own city of refuge. One that is full of all that is evil and wanton. They are destitute of feeling and are as brute beasts, robbing and looting all that is holy and just."

As we continued along the street we came to another building that looked like a school, it had Teaching written on its gates and appeared very run down. Upon entering it’s grounds I noticed all the classrooms, some were empty while others were full of people. We then entered a classroom that was full of serious learned people. They had divided up into groups and were studying books, hundreds of books. Every conceivable subject concerning the Christian life was being studied and written about. There were black boards, white boards, tapes recorders playing tapes, video tapes playing videos, men and women standing behind rostrums espousing the latest so-called, and thus far undiscovered truth about the scriptures. Along the walls were signs advertising the latest conference on healing the sick, church growth, missionary seminars and others. Then he said: “This is the infant section now. It used to be that faithful men and women taught the deep things of eternal life and holiness from my word in this place. This was a great field that I watered daily with my word, but now it has become a desert, full of false teachers who are in chains of foolishness and madness.”

Then I remembered that I had not seen a bible anywhere. I watched as the students that had been in the classrooms began to leave, they were hurrying off in all directions with their new insights and truths. Some had folders full of essays that they had written. These essays were marked not according to the truth, but with a mark that ensured the student was not completely discouraged and would return to pay homage to the new idea, the new concept, the new god. The god of the new age, the god of this world, the god that worships learning and broad acceptance of the new philosophy. The god that demands you come back to him again and again in order that you become wiser in the new revelation, the new word, while all the time the “Word made flesh, Jesus,” mourns for the lost.

As we left I heard Him ask me if I was wise, a sage, a teacher, after having been here, for if you think you are, then you too are confused and lost unless you also become simple in your faith. He said, “Know me and I will teach you the simple message of salvation for the lost and the church. This place of teaching was my idea, in order that my children grow into mature adults and become able ministers of my word.

Further down the street we came to a shop which had a sign saying, “Gifts.” As we walked in I noticed that the shop was divided into two sections. In one section were the five ministry gifts displayed, and in the other were the nine gifts of the Holy Spirit. Then I noticed a doorway leading to a room at the back, it had a sign saying, “Success in ministry gifts.” Then he pointed out to me that everything in the shop was free and available to all. When I asked where the shop keepers were, He said that this shop had never had any and that anyone who lived here could come and avail themselves at any time. “But no one comes here very much now. As you can see the dust is gathering on them, along with the instruction manual on their use - My Word.”

Then I heard a cry from beneath the floor and when I look down I saw a vision on the floor of all the people that had dared to continue to use the gifts they had taken from this shop. They were all now standing in a field surrounded by mockers dismissing them as fakes and frauds, and still others had whips of accusation and innuendo which they wielded over the crowd causing them to become more vocal and angry against these people. Then someone who appeared to be a very learned leader of the group accused them of not having the maturity to have these gifts, and of not having paid for them, and of stealing them. He then said that they should cease from using them any more. At that the vision left and I was once again standing in this shop. Now I asked if I could look in the room out the back. We then entered the room. As we entered, the room was filled with a dark cloud or mist. At the other end were men and women standing with their mouths open and this dark mist was coming out of their mouths.

They had offering bags full of money in one hand and in the other were airline tickets and travel brochures which were for sale. Then He said that the mist or cloud of darkness was false words from god, false prophecies, false endorsements of ministries, that were flowing out continually from this room taking the weak and ignorant captive, and causing great disruption and chaos in their lives, and in the church. All around the room people were on phones and emails, and gathered in small huddles whispering words from god to anyone who would listen. Then I noticed a bible on a table, it had finger marks all over each page so that the words were unable to be read. Then He said that this was because in their selfish haste to have something of mine to sell they have actually blotted out my word and now have turned to vain imaginations which bring only death to the hearers. So, He said: “You must leave now, and not enter this room again for there is a great judgment coming on all who partake of its ways.”

Still further along the street I came to a music shop. I at once noticed that I was now alone as I stood outside its door. Then a mocking voice came from within the shop using the words of a song that I had heard before on the radio; “I am music, and I write the songs.” Then an angel appeared before me, who at first I thought was an angel of the Lord, but then He spoke to me, and cursed God for bringing me to the shop, and told me that he was the lord of the music. He then went on and boasted how effective he had been in distorting the truth of the gospel through his music. I then went inside this shop and found a visitor’s book on a table. As I read through it I noticed it was full of the names of both secular and Christian songwriters who had been here. Along the walls were desks with typewriters and computers with people frantically writing songs. Then further towards the back of the shop was a group of people who were inspecting and monitoring each song as it was written. The song’s value was being assessed on it’s non-offensiveness and appeal to the masses, both Christian and secular. It was then graded on its capacity to earn money. When this group saw me standing there they were upset and told me on a note that I should leave. Then and only then, did I realise that they were mute and deaf. And that what they were writing and what they were hearing was in their minds, in their imaginations. Imaginations that were, for the most part influenced by the “Writer of the Music.”

As I left the building a voice from heaven shouted; “The greatest deception ever witnessed came from this shop, for the Lord He is Holy, and is to be praised in holiness and truth. Those who worship this music, it’s writers, it’s singers, and those who through this music scandalise the Holiness of our God through it shall suffer in darkness forever, for they dared to treat the praise and worship of His holy angels and saints, and all the hosts of heaven as something to be merchandised. Away with them says the Lord. Their false and degrading satanic music shall ring in their ears as a tormenting testimony against them forever.” On getting outside the Lord said to me; “Take heed and fear for your life should you ever entertain the thought of entering into the practises of that building.

Then as I stood in the street a spirit appeared before me, it introduced itself as Jezebel, and then proceeded to tell me how it had lived in this city for only a short, in fact a time appointed by the Lord. At this I recoiled from the idea that my Lord would do such a thing however, the Lord spoke to me and told me that he cannot defend a city that blatantly sins and commits all kinds of wickedness before Him in it’s streets and in it’s name. He then went on and told me that this spirit had taken advantage of that situation and that indeed would continue to do so while it remained unchallenged in it’s actions and deception which are currently being manifest through the gullible who adopt it’s evil ways and intentions.

At hearing this I laid prostrate in the dust of the street and while there my sins which I had committed while a citizen of this city passed before me. While there I saw the millions of times I had denied my Lord in front of others either by omission or commission. I saw them before my eyes on that day of judgment accusing me of not saying anything to them about the coming judgment. I saw the faces of the women that I had committed adultery with, both physically and in fantasy, and I feared for my life. I saw all the people that I had lied to deliberately in order to justify, cover up, or promote my self-image. In short the error of my ways was on display before my eyes in the street, in the city. I heard the cries of all that I had offended and let down through my selfish unrelenting need to be right about everything. I saw the faces of those who had, over and over again forgiven me not knowing that I had not repented on the inside. Then the Lord said; “Stand up! There is more I must show you.

Across the street from the music shop was a bank. As we entered I noticed that it was empty of people. There were no bank staff, there were no customers. The vault doors and cash registers were all open and empty. The benches and the shelves were covered in dust but the floor was clean and sparkling. Great cobwebs hung from the ceiling. The Lord said that the floor was clean as a testimony against those who rob my house before it even gets to the treasury. Then I heard a noise, very soft at first, but then getting louder and louder. It sounded like the marching feet of a great army coming towards me. And then when I looked up I saw a crowd of angelic beings dresses in rags and without shoes on their feet. They appeared hungry and very angry.

Behind them was a horde of people that stretched beyond the horizon. There were people of every tongue and nation and tribe, they were wailing with a loud voice of accusation against this city. Then one of the angels stood taller than the rest and spoke; “For the lack of money, our God’s money, these now stand in want, in illness, in starvation, in the cold, in the heat, in pain, without hope, without a message, without the good news, for this city has plundered our Gods treasury. Therefore, understand that your wealth and greed will testify against you on that great and terrible day of the Lord, and you shall go destitute before Him forever. Then the hand of God appeared before me and I felt the terror of the empty hand of God against those who rob Him. As we left the bank I nearly tripped on the body of a dead woman. She appeared to be very old and obviously was very poor. Then the lord told me to open her mouth. As I did a United States one dollar note slipped out on to the pavement, on it was written; “In God we trust.” Then He said; “My own people provoke me with their greed and arrogance. All who see her will remember and repent.

We then came close to the end of the street, to a small hill called “Gallows Hill.” Then he warned me saying; “Do not be arrogant but fear, for upon this hill, in this city have many of my messengers, prophets, healers, teachers of the truth, defenders of the faith been hung on the very words they have delivered in my name. Take heed to what you write.”

Then He said, “You have now seen but a part of the city that I have loved died for and wept over. This city that I have shown you is my Body, the church on earth today. It is like it is because no man lays to heart the death of my Son, for if they did they would rise up and question, challenge and overthrow these workers of iniquity that have destroyed and pulled down it’s testimony in the earth. There are those who have not bowed the knee to the false ideologies that pervade the body. Indeed the streets and lanes are full of the discouraged, the disenfranchised who once worshiped in her, but who now lament the passing of the truth and protection she once offered.”

To all that would truly see the advancement of my word and the saving of the lost the Lord asks; “Why do you continue to abide such arrogance, why do you still lay with this harlot who passes herself off as my voice in the earth. Repent and seek God and He will raise up those who truly love Him to do His work.

The Temple Of My People

– 6/2/04

This morning as I lay in my bed I was woken out of my sleep by a hand slipping under my back and lifting me away from the earth. Around my torso were the five fingers of this hand and each had a ring on it, and on each ring were what appeared to be thousands of minute crystal clear translucent dots. Each dot was moving from side to side and what appeared to be minute drops of water falling from it. Then as I looked closer I could see that these dots were in fact eyes. Then a voice from beneath me spoke and said that these eyes were the eyes of those Israelites who had been blinded in order that God’s great work of grace, in bringing many sons and daughters to Himself from among mankind might be done. The tears, the voice said, was those innocents who had been martyred in order that this work of grace be carried out in the earth.

Then I heard weeping, soft weeping like that of a woman in mourning over the death of a child. The voice then told me that this was the weeping of the grief filled heart of the Israelites now dead weeping for those who having tasted the heavenly gift of the grace of God in Christ, but treated it as a cheap thing, a thing to be handled lightly and almost with levity.

At this I passed out. When I came too I was looking at a great temple. It was suspended in space between twelve great planets. As I approached, carried by this hand, I noticed that it had twelve great pillars that went high into the void. It had a great cedar door with gigantic door handles made from a metal that I did not know. This metal was red hot and gave off a scent not unlike the scent of lavender. There were twelve steps that were very worn and in need of repair. There was a moaning coming from them like that of someone carrying a heavy burden. This moaning never ceased, it just went on like a haunting sound in my ears.

Then the voice spoke and said: “the moaning is the intercessory prayers of those Israelites martyred for their God Jehovah, the king of the whole earth. Their moaning is because of the burden of the Lord that he has put on them for their brethren now held in captivity, who are soon to be released, but not yet.”

As I was carried up the steps the great cedar door began to open. At this I felt a chill down my spine and the skin on my face began to burn. I could hardly breathe as a sense of reverence unlike I have ever felt came over me. The sign that I had not noticed above the door then cried out; “The temple of the house of Israel, and of our God.” As I entered I noticed that the hand that had held me thus far put me on my feet and stood me upright, however, my feet did not touch the floor but were carpeted, as it were in a mist, a white mist, thick and dense. Upon noticing this I also noticed that the floor was white flawless marble with what appeared to be small rivers of blood flowing over it towards the altar and disappearing down a large golden grate in front of the altar. There were also flower petals laying and mingling in the blood. A voice came up form the grate saying; “Vengeance is mine, I will repay.”

Then a voice said that this blood was the blood of the innocents of the house of Israel who had died at the hands of those brute beasts, the enemies of our God and of His people. I then noticed that the blood was coming from thousands of what looked like tombs that stretched all through the temple towards the altar. They too were all suspended on the same mist as I. Each tomb was made of what looked like grey and emerald green granite. Each had a lid that was pure silver laced with all kinds of precious stones. The clamps that held the lid closed were alive. The voice told me that they were angel’s hands. The hands of those angels who the Lord had chosen to guard the tombs until the appointed time. All over the tombs, as well as the floor were flower petals, sweet smelling flower petals of every kind of flower in creation. They were continually falling from the ceiling high above and were the prayers of the righteous line of the house of Israel for the nations of the world who had murdered and put to death the innocents of that house.

I then said, “How can this be?” The voice that now spoke was softer and definite, it said: “A time and half a time, is the answer to your question. But you shall not speak in this place.” At that a hand hit my cheek and my jaws clamped shut so hard that the muscles ached continually. The breathe in my nostrils became very hot, and I thought my head was going explode with the great heat I could feel. Then the voice said; “Talk no more.”

Then as I looked up I noticed that the temple roof was hidden by what appeared to be fog. This fog was interrupted every now and then by a voice that simply cried out; “Holy.” The roof of the temple was supported by twelve large golden pillars which were inlaid with thousands of precious stones and each had the name of a tribe of Israel inscribed at it’s base. There were six pillars down each side of the temple and suspended between them was a flat granite like slab, each slab had one of the Ten Commandments engraved on it in gold. Ascending up each side of the slab were tongues of fire that reached to the roof and on each tongue was written; “Holy is the Lord.”

As I moved towards what appeared to be the altar I noticed that it had spread on it burning coals, thousands of burning coals, a coal for each tomb in the temple. From each coal was coming a fragrant smell not unlike the smell of the fresh morning dew on a field of hay. It was wafting up into a vault high above the alter. The voice then spoke and told me this fragrance was the continual prayers of those in the tombs. He said they were prayers of thanksgiving to the Lord, prayers for the nation of Israel and it’s sons and daughters still living, and prayers of forgiveness for those who had taken their lives and the lives of their families. And then he said an amazing thing. He said; “These whose prayers leave this altar hold nothing against their enemies, but are now passed into the eternal inheritance of forgiveness of our God. They are free from the coming judgement of our God on those who carry out such wickedness on the earth, and they continually worship before Him now as free people. You should hear and understand these words, and accept the forgiveness of your God.

I then looked up and saw hanging above the altar a wheel. This wheel had twelve spokes, each representing the tribes of Israel, and attached to it’s outer rim were five large double bladed swords. Each sword had been engraved with one of the books of Moses. Each was very sharp. The wheel was rotating slowly in a clockwise motion. Then I noticed above the wheel a chain upon which it was suspended. The chain stretched high up into the vault above the altar and was connected in some way to a figure - the figure of a man. I could only see the bottom of his lower torso and legs as the top half was hidden by a great light to powerful to describe, attached to the feet was the chain made of the human figures all holding each other by the feet and hands. Some where likenesses of kings, others of priests, others nobles, and still others were dressed in ordinary clothes, all were weeping and offering intercessory prayers continuously. Then the voice spoke and said; “The chain that you see holding the five books of the Law of our God is made up of the lineage of the royal line of David. It shall be unbroken forever. Observe and understand.” But I didn’t understand at all!!

Then I looked and found that I was standing in front of this altar alone. I had a sense of my own sin and inadequateness in the midst of this place. Then a voice from high in the ceiling spoke and said; “What you have seen in this place is but an outer court in the kingdom of our God. Go now and repeat this scene, guarding your words carefully, for this what you have witnessed is Holy and you stand in peril should you not understand fully the scene you have witnessed. Cease from idle talk, from whispering. Let fear of man not be named amongst you and your people. Speak what you see and hear from me as a true witness of my power. For there is coming on the earth calamity that will test your memory of this day. Go now and warn your brethren to repent from the things that divide them. For I have shown you things concerning my Body that need not be punished.
Speak to my people, all you who love the Lord. Tell of his glorious love and splendour that out shines even this temple. Hold precious His word which is to be the very flesh on your bones, the breathe in your nostrils. Awake you sons of the Most High God. Repent, and I will cause you to fly like the eagle, sing like the birds. Till I bring about my will on the earth. Go now.”

With that I woke and felt a great urgency to write the account down. Please pray for us.

The Dew
Kerry Knorr

"How good and pleasant it is when brothers live in unity! It is like precious oil poured on the head, running down the beard, running down Aaron's beard, down the collar of his robes. It is as if the dew of Hermon were falling on Mount Zion. For there the Lord bestows his blessing, even life forevermore." (Ps.133)NIV

"The Lord says to my Lord: 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.' The Lord will extend your mighty scepter from Zion; rule in the midst of your enemies. Your troops will be willing [volunteers] on your day of battle. Arrayed in holy majesty, from the womb of the dawn you will receive the dew of your youth. The Lord has sworn and will not change his mind: 'You are a priest forever, in the order of Melchizedek.' The Lord is at your right hand; he will crush kings on the day of his wrath. He will judge nations, heaping up the dead and crushing the rulers of the whole earth. He will drink from a brook beside the way; therefore he will lift up his head." (Ps.110)NIV

There is something about the dew. Dew just; kind of 'shows up'. You can't look at the clouds and predict that there will be dew. It's the same way with volunteers or willing warriors on the day of your battle. They are provision from God and not the result of human efforts of persuasion, but come because of their own choice as led by relationship with God. There must be rain before there can be dew. Rain is brash; pounds and splatters, but dew accumulates in appropriate places and amounts that will not 'run off'. Dew seeks out and ministers in a specifically tailored place and provides nourishment there. Dew speaks of a timely word in appropriate quantity. Dew revisits you. Dew walks in the same kind of authority that David did when he wished for a certain well's water. 3 men risked their lives to get it for him; not because of obedience, but because of their love for him. The benefits of moisture from dew are long lasting and permeate deeply. Dew rises from beneath the surface of things. There is promise of support when there appears to none; in this thing God says about dew. There is a rising to the heights of the Mountain of the Lord. There is an activation of youth and youthful enthusiasm in adults. There is immunity from enemies who are right in your midst. There is soft and gentle healing in the place of harsh and ineffective efforts. There is royalty and a holy priesthood in the House of the Lord. This word punctuates unity and carries a context of Jesus' prayer recorded in John 17:20; "that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you." There is a settling, a resting at the right hand of God, standing like all the men of Judah with their wives and children before the Lord and hearing him say: "For the battle is not yours, but God's". (2Chr.20:13-15)

Dew speaks of an incredibly powerful correction to men and mankind's perception of his status as compared to God. It speaks of humbling even the mightiest of rulers. It speaks of provision during trial, a protection during discipline; as depicted by: the provision of manna (Dt.16:13-15), Nebuchadnezzar's being drenched by "the dew of heaven", and the remnant who do not wait for man or linger for mankind (Mic.5:7). Dew speaks strongly of provision from God in a place where there is nothing. It speaks of something completely new and unfamiliar to which we must adjust, much like manna in the desert. It speaks of God's direct speech, and dealing personally with his people as Father of all creation (Dt.32:1-7). It speaks of a remnant which God preserves as his own (Dt.32, Isa.26:16-19, Hos.14:5, Mic.5:7 and Zech.8:12

"That evening quail came and covered the camp, and in the morning there was a layer of dew around the camp. When the dew was gone, thin flakes like frost on the ground appeared on the desert floor. When the Israelites saw it, they said to each other, "What is it?" For they did not know what it was. Moses said to them, "It is the bread the Lord has given you to eat." (Ex.16:13-15)

"Let my teaching fall like rain and my words descend like dew, like showers on new grass, like abundant rain on tender plants." (Dt.32:2)

"You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like cattle and be drenched in the dew of heaven. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes." (Dan.4:25 - see also Dan. 4:15, 23, 25, 33 and 34-37)

"Lord, they came to you in their distress; when you disciplined them, they could barely whisper a prayer. As a woman with child and about to give birth writhes and cries out in her pain, so were we in your presence, O Lord. We were with child, we writhed in pain, but we gave birth to wind. We have not brought salvation to the earth; we have not given birth to people of the world. But your dead will live; their bodies will rise. You who dwell in the dust, wake up and shout for joy. Your dew is like the dew of the morning; the earth will give birth to her dead." (Isa.26:16-19, compare to Eze.37:11)

"I will heal their waywardness and love them freely, for my anger has turned away from them. I will be like the dew to Israel; he will blossom like a lily. Like a cedar of Lebanon he will send down his roots." (Hos.14:4-5)

"The remnant of Jacob will be in the midst of many people like dew from the Lord, like showers on the grass, which do not wait for man or linger for mankind." (Mic.5:7)
"But now I will not deal with the remnant of this people as I did in the past, declares the Lord Almighty. The seed will grow well, the vine will yield it's fruit, the ground will produce it's crops and the heavens will drop their dew. I will give all these things as an inheritance to the remnant of this people. As you have been an object of cursing among the nations, O Judah and Israel, so will I save you, and you will be a blessing. Do not be afraid, but let your hands be strong." (Zech.8:11-13 and more through 23)

Recovery is a key word in this hour, recovery ministered like dew to parched plants. It entails not only recovery from deep spiritual wounding from abuses and tragedy, but also from substance abuse, intoxication from addictive substances and behaviors; intoxication from greed, sex and power. Not only victims can come to this place and receive healing; but also perpetrators can be healed in this place of correction by God who holds his people in the palm of his hands.

This dark speech about dew contains lessons regarding both authority and how the Word of the Lord works.

Children left in charge sometimes get arrogant in their role. The 14 year old determines that since he/she has been left in charge, they can decide that the children can have cookies despite the 5 year old's admonition that the cookies are intended for a specific purpose. What children will get into trouble for eating the cookies? All of them who eat cookies, including the 14 year old who is not immune from discipline. It is an issue of all the children being familiar with their Father's expectations. God is releasing understanding of submission one to another and adding dimensional qualification to leadership roles in perspective with children in his house.

Gossip is 'what people say', usually behind the scenes. Prophecy is what God has to say about the matter. Isn't it really better to repeat prophecy among ourselves? People say: "It's because they're motivated by such and such…". God says: "Behold I will do something new in the earth. Now it shall come forth to birth, will you be aware? I'll make you a way in the wilderness, a river in the desert; but do not remember the former things, do not remember the past." The Word of the Lord is multidimensional. It imparts natural things as well as spiritual and does give understanding to a degree. But it is in a language that articulates mystery as well as facts. It is best understood in layers by a childlike reception that believes while not fully understanding. Words of prophecy are what God has said about the matter, the bona fide thing that should be whispered behind the hand instead of 'what people say'.

'Manna words' are seeds that stimulate. 'Manna words' help you through the moment: "Casey is in trouble", "stop speeding", "the checkbook is on the table", "I want you to go to Nineveh". "Manna words' are for practice and honing our sensitivity to Father's voice. 'Seasonal words' are 'manna words' which give guidance and direction through pieces of your life. They usually include instructions to accomplish a specific task or mission. 'Manna words' are temporary and decay if not consumed in their time. 'Manna words' are direct provision from God while he is disciplining his children and recapturing their affection and attention.

'Universal words' are things that God whispers over the whole earth. His whisper is heard by prophets all over the globe, and this type of word is repeated often, for it is Father's will. 'Universal words' are also viewed as 'eternal words', for they have been, and will continue to be Father's thoughts on the matter from the beginning to the end. 'Universal words' have shaped your destiny since the beginning. They resonate within you and personally activate you. You must respond, because you hear something that you remember Father saying in heaven before you were born. 'Universal words' are the type of 'words' that we need to align ourselves with, because they are our best guidance. While 'manna words' are for practice; 'universal words' are 'for keeps'; they are a permanent thing that is being, and has been done by God.

One of many 'universal words' the Lord is speaking in this time; has to do with moving through a portal, door or gateway into a completely new perspective; one of adopted sons. He's calling forth his 'generation of people' who will honor him as God, and that he calls 'his people'. While schools and tutors do have their place in Father's house; the teachers are servants of royalty, masters of princes who will one day be kings. The objective of tutors in the House of God, is to produce mature kings and priests unto God, each suitably prepared to effectively move and act according to Father's will and instructions; prepared for assignments from the King of kings. There are many rooms in Father's house, a place for each one whom Father calls his own. Jesus is the head of the house, none other.

Another 'universal word' which has been heard around the world, has been: "I will join the old and the young, wisdom with vigor." When God speaks something universally like that, the whole word is true. We will see old giving the young wisdom and the young giving the old supernatural wisdom. We will see youth operating in vigor and the old experiencing supernatural vigor. Out of this 'universal word' has risen continued dialogue from God about an 'Elijah generation', one which is destined to defeat the 'uncommitted one' inside the House of God. In a whole generation of Elijahs, we must remember that for every Elijah is an Obadiah who has stashed 100 faithful ones and an Elisha to succeed him. For every Elijah, there are 7000 who have not bowed the knee to Baal (closely paralleled to sexually deviant behaviors, drug use and self mutilation in society today).

There is something about 'dew' that God is whispering across the earth today, a compassionate correction to mankind and confirmation of his sovereignty.

The End

John Foster

A Most Revealing Revelation

As I was going about my daily business of work, ministry, and fun, the word of the Lord came to me concerning future events and the endtimes. Most of the time the Lord speaks to me it is a specific word concerning me or someone in my family or church. However this word not only gave me some much needed insight into the subject of end times prophesy, it appears to be a very timely word for the every believer who's interested in the subject of end time prophesy. So I will now share it with you: Today, all the signs of the end as laid out in 2 Timothy 3:1-7 are rapidly being established. The presence of the "signs of the times" themselves will not predict when the end itself will come, they only tell you that the correct season for the end is present. Building theories of when the end will come based on the signs themselves or on intellectual interpretation of scripture will always be wrong! The end will only come when the Lord Himself moves to end this present Church Age. No man, no theory, no sign of the end knows the heart of the Father.

With this word the Lord gave me a second word to go-ahead to do things I had desired to do, but had neglected due to the expectation of an immediate or near end of this world. There may be some of you out there who have dreams and desires, but have put them off in expectations of a near end to this world. Ponder and pray about this word, and please do not short-change God and yourself and your family and friends by not doing what God has put in your heart to do! The end may indeed come sooner rather than later, and there may well be world-shaking events in the immediate future, but do not neglect your daily affairs only to later regret it.

The Harlot
Don Franklin

by Don “Avraham” Franklin

My name is Gomer. I stand. Humiliated. One, of a group of women, hoping to be bought. To become the bride of someone that will love and cherish me. My youthful beauty has long vanished, leaving the tired, drawn, weathered woman that stands before the crowd today.

The bidding, loud and furious, echoes all around me. One by one the women around me, the young, beautiful maidens begin to disappear. It becomes clear that I will be the last. The one no one wants. Tears begin to fill my eyes. I have never known such complete despair. I am despised and mocked I can only stare down at my dirty hands. My clothes, torn and filthy, offer little protection against the blazing sun. My once beautiful hair, now matted and dirty hangs loosely around my face, the only cover I have hiding the faces of the men that laugh and scorn me.

I close my eyes and memories of the life I left begins to fill my mind. My heart cries out to return to the one who loved me. The one who cherished me. To return to the life that I threw away. If only I could open my eyes and once more see the face of my beloved Hoshea.

I had been a harlot. A whore. Common and despised. I brought nothing but great shame to my family. Then he came. The gentle, loving, prophet of Yahweh. Hoshea. Against all odds, this man of Yahweh desired me. My father, Diblayim, gave me to Hoshea, to be his bride, grateful, no doubt, for the chance to make an honest woman of me. Hoshea took me as his wife and loved me as I have never been loved before. Hoshea was a gentle man. Loving and gracious. He never mentioned my past. It was as though he had forgotten it. Hoshea loved me, for me.

In time we had a beautiful son. We named him Jezreel, which means “Yahweh sows” in Hebrew. It seemed that I had everything I desired. A loving husband. A beautiful son. A home, food, clothing. Everything I didn’t deserve. Things that were never meant for a women like me.

Again I gave birth. This time to a beautiful daughter. Hoshea was beside himself with pride. His heart seemed to burst with love for his newborn daughter.

Hoshea, desired to dedicate his new child to Father Yahweh. So he took her to the temple to ask blessings from the Father for her and to seek a name for his precious child. As he lifted her before Yahweh, the Father said, "Name her Lo-ruhamah, for I will no longer have compassion on the house of Israel, that I should ever forgive them.”

Hoshea knew. I had been unfaithful to him. The daughter that he so loved was not his. I had taken a lover. My heart sought after the things that my new lover offered. I was drawn to the pleasures that he offered. I wasn’t going to be restrained by anyone. Hoshea was a good and decent man, but I wanted more. I wanted things my way. My greedy heart new no limits. I wanted it all.

Hoshea continued to love me. In spite of my unfaithfulness.

I had barely weaned Lo-ruhamah, when I again conceived and gave birth to a son. This time the Father said, "Name him Lo-ammi, for you are not My people and I am not your Elohim."

Our third child was conceived with yet another lover. How it broke Hoshea’s heart. He had given me everything, asking only for my love in return. His love and compassion only seemed to fuel the rebellion in my heart. How could I be faithful to just one man? Why should I submit myself to him only, when I could have it all?

I began to openly seek after other lovers. My heart of harlotry knew no bounds. As expected, a great wall of division separated Hoshea and myself. He became a distant memory to me. The deeper I sank into my new world, the more I forgot about Hoshea.
His love and compassion for me seemed like a shadow. A veil that now covered my eyes.

Hoshea even sent our children to beg me to return and repent. He threatened to expose me to the world as a harlot. To strip me naked before the world and put me to shame.
But the worldly pleasures of my new life drove the fear of exposure from me. I felt no shame for my sins. I would have no part of repentance. I didn’t need Hoshea anymore. I had my new lovers. The gifts of fine food, clothing, jewelry, and fine wines.

Years past. I sought after my new life with unquenchable lust. I felt that I had found the way to contentment. Pleasures and possessions were the only way to go.

Day by day my youth began to slip away. My hard living began to take a toll on my body. My youthful lovers began to leave me one by one. Without my beauty, I was nothing to them. I soon found myself alone. The riches that I had accumulated vanished. I had been abandoned by all of my friends. Without someone to take care of me I would soon perish. In my culture, the only commodity that a woman has to offer is her body. I tried to find the men that had sworn to always love me, but they all scorned me. I no longer appealed to them.

Hungry and alone, I knew that the only way I was going to survive was to find a husband.
If only I could have my beloved Hoshea back. My life was so much better when I belonged to him. But that was long ago. I had heard that Hoshea had dedicated his life to the ministry. Surely he has forgotten me.

I decided to offer myself on the auction. Gentlemen with thirty pieces of silver come to buy wives at the auction. Gentlemen, seeking a bride to love and cherish.

Here I stand. Alone and miserable. All of the other women have been bought. I can see them smiling. Talking with their new husbands. Hope and joy on their faces. The pure, simple pleasure of being desired by someone. Belonging to someone.

I have given up hope. The day is growing long. The sun has made my dirty, leathery skin even more repulsive. Hope has left me. I realize that I am alone and doomed.

Then, the auctioneer points in my direction, “You, come. You have been purchased.” I strain to see the buyer among the crowds of people. I finally see a man approaching the auctioneer with his money in his hand. He pays the price for me and then turns his gaze towards me. My heart nearly stops beating. There standing before me is my beloved Hoshea. His eyes filled with tenderness, he gently takes my hand and leads me away from the awful site of the auction.

“Come home with me”, he whispers. “I forgive all that you have done. Return with me and be my beloved. I have missed you.”

The heart of a harlot beats in each of us. Every one of us has turned our backs on our bridegroom and sought after the things of this world. We have played the harlot, worshipping other gods. Bowing ourselves to pagan traditions, we have forsaken the commandments, the Torah of our King.

We have given ourselves over to lying spirits that have convinced us that Yahweh has abandoned His own Word. That Yahshua the Messiah came to separate us from the Torah and to start a new religion called Christianity. (Instead of True Worshippers Yochanan 4:19-24)

We have sought to do things our way. We have made ourselves out to be little gods. We tell the Father on what day we will worship Him. We tell Him what Feasts and traditions we will keep in His name. (Like this Pagan one called Valentines Day)

We have become that lonely broken harlot. Alone and naked before the world. The elaborate schemes that have been set in place by the adversary have blinded us to the truth of the Word of Yahweh. We have become mighty in our own eyes, yet we are blind.

Wake up! Remember the Name of Yahweh! Remember the life that we had with our first love. Repent and return to Him. He is waiting to forgive and bless us. We must turn away from the things of this world and give our hearts to Yahweh. We must embrace His Torah, as a drowning person clings to a life preserver. Forget the lies that have been taught and remember our loving Father, Yahweh, that led his children out of captivity. That gave His only son, Yahshua, that all men may be reconciled to him and become children of the King. Hebrew Israelites. The chosen children of Yahweh. Wake up you dreamers! Hear the voice of Yahweh calling you home.

Return now before it's too late...

The Heart
Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

I trust that you had a good week in pursuit of the indwelling Kingdom and presence of the Most High. This week's theme is along the same lines as the past couple of letters: What did our Heavenly Father accomplish through the death and burial of His Son?

The prophet Ezekiel went right to the heart of the matter and spoke about Israel receiving a new heart.

"I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you; I will take the heart of stone out of your flesh and give you a heart of flesh" (Eze. 36:26).

As we can see from the beginning of man's cooperation with another spiritual kingdom, his heart - the most holy place within him - was contaminated by the nature of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. "And YHVH saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually" (Gen 6:5). Obviously even after the flood man's heart had not changed. Jeremiah points out that "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it? (Jer. 17:9)

Yeshua picked up on this and defined the condition in precise terms: "What comes out of a man, that defiles a man. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. All these evil things come from within and defile a man" (Mark 7:20-23).

The Hebrew word for heart is "lev" and it simply means a central place, like the heart of the city. If we look at our being as a tabernacle, it would be the innermost place called the Holy of Holies. But since it has been corrupted, it would be the "unholy of the unholies". We can see from the scriptures above that evil thoughts or imagination come out of this place and defile the whole person. It is apparent that in the beginning YHVH did not create man with such a heart condition. It only came in when the man and his wife received, or were married to, a spiritual presence that presented itself via the tree of knowledge of good and evil. The serpent gave Eve in marriage to another, the word in Hebrew being "hey-see" (Gen. 3:13, usually translated "beguiled").

However, when they ate of the fruit or seed of this tree they were impregnated with its nature and this spiritual influence took over the innermost place, so much so that it could now communicate to the mind of the soul its intentions, and thus the mind became defiled too. Satan's powerful desires (lusts) captured the will of man and brought it into submission to his wishes. Man's emotional function then responded in a way it was never meant to, causing it to deteriorate. Unfortunately the physical body followed suit and became diseased. Sin reigned unto death in every part of the human being.

As a result, the heart hardened and became like stone. It could no longer be a womb to regenerate life. This is why the Sovereign One had to remove it and give us a new heart; one that He could inhabit and impregnate with His Spirit life and nature. This means that a new genetic code (the Torah) could be written on its walls. The thoughts and imagination would no longer be evil, but would reflect the mind of Messiah as the spiritual nature that now occupied the heart would bring forth thoughts after its kind, of "love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control".

When did YHVH take out of us the heart of stone and replace it with a heart of flesh? Remember, all were in Messiah at His death and He tasted death for all mankind, therefore all are dead (refer 2 Cor. 5:14-16). Yeshua did not remain on the tree of sacrifice, but was taken down and put into the grave. Scripture tells us that once we recognize by faith and accept the Father's loving plan through His Son's death, we are reckoned dead and must be buried with Him. The Word does not tell us that all men were buried, but it does tell us that, "we died to sin" (and therefore can no longer live in that world). "Therefore we were buried with Him through baptism into death, that just as Messiah was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom 6:2-4). It only stands to reason that before one is buried it would be good to make sure that one is 'good-n-dead'.

Before Yeshua came out of the grave the stone was rolled away. This rolling away of the stone may very well represent the heart of stone being rolled out of the way, so that the new creation man (that we are in Him and in His resurrection) might now be the life force that sends its thoughts and desires to an awaiting redeemed soul. The soul, having been contaminated by the spirit of this world, must be cleansed and purged of any remains of the power of sin.

"Therefore, having these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of YHVH" (2 Cor 7:1)…casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of YHVH, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Messiah" (2 Cor 10:5).

The soul must cooperate through repentance, and yield itself in obedience to its new husband, Yeshua. Paul, in his letter to the Corinthian believers, concluded with this passionate plea: "For I am jealous for you with godly jealousy as I have betrothed you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Messiah" (2 Cor. 11:2).

"Again I will build you, and you shall be rebuilt, oh virgin of Israel! You shall again be adorned with your tambourines, and shall go forth in the dances of those who rejoice… "Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, and the young men and the old, together; for I will turn their mourning to joy, will comfort them, and make them rejoice rather than sorrow… " Set up signposts, make landmarks; set your heart toward the highway, the way in which you went. Turn back, oh virgin of Israel, turn back to these your cities. How long will you gad about, oh you backsliding daughter? For YHVH has created a new thing in the earth" (Jer 31:4; 13; 21-22).

Could that new thing be your "heart"?

The Kingdom Of God

Robert I Holmes

I was watching a BBC documentary on how the human being is constructed. The narrator was talking about the expansion of scientific research. Stellar physics exploring the curvature of time; quantum mechanics exploring the microcosm. Macro and micro, both trying to understand the way things are. Stephen Hawking expressed a similar notion in "A Brief History of Time".

The Kingdom of God is "already" and "not yet"; not fully, but really. It is macro and micro, both at once. Michael Sullivant has said, "The Kingdom of God was concealed in the Old Testament, revealed in the New, delegated in the church age, consummated in the age to come". Well put.

It is not easily, nor well understood. Those first souls to hear about it struggled. The risen Christ returned to His church and "for forty days he spoke to them about things pertaining to the Kingdom of God" (Acts 1:3). Yet after all that (and how much was said?), they still asked "Lord will you at this time restore the Kingdom to Israel?" Duh!

Envisage a series of circles in a row, overlapping a little at the edge. The first is your spirit, the next is your soul, then your body, your home/ family, your church/ synagogue, your community/ town, your society/ region, your culture/ nation, your world/ international and finally all of creation. Scripture speaks to the influence of the Kingdom at all these levels.

1. Your spirit, your heart

The Kingdom must be received inwardly to be received at all. The Kingdom comes by words, by proclamation but then it enters in like seed to soil and bears fruit (Matt. 13:20). It is received inwardly through repentance and belief springs up in the heart (Mark 1:14,15). The devil tries at this level to pluck up the seed, and spoil it through business and unrest.

2. Your body and soul

When a demon is cast out of a person, the Kingdom of God has come to them (Matt. 12:28). The physical needs of a person are then met, because they seek first the Kingdom of God (Matt. 6:33). This is the Kingdom working its way from the inside out. The devil tries at this level to oppress and inhabit a person through their sinful behaviour.

3. The home and family

A house divided against itself cannot stand, the Kingdom in a home brings unity and expels darkness (Mk 3:24). The Kingdom of heaven belongs to children, and those who trust with childlike faith (Matt. 19:14). The devil at this level tries to divide a family and home against itself. He brings children into rebellion, and causes parents to abandon, or kill their children.

4. The synagogue, the church

Every scribe brings out of his treasure things old and new concerning the Kingdom (Matt. 13:52). It is found in the established ways, and the new paths, the old shadows the new and leads to it. The church is also the expression of the Kingdom which brings shade and rest to the community (Mark 4:30). The devil at this level tries to get us to swap the traditions of men (religion) for the word of God.

5. Community and business

The Kingdom is present everywhere in our community, in every Christian person there. And like leaven hid in three measures, it makes the whole batch rise (Luke 13:20,21). David knew this, and for that reason appointed men to be in charge of "the businesses of the Kingdom" (1 Chr. 26:30). The devil at this level tries to bring compromise, temptation and strife to a community.

6. Society and the region

The Kingdom is present in society, the wheat and the tares growing together until the time of the harvest (Matt. 13:24-30). God affects the entire society, casting the dragnet wide and bringing in all manner of fish. But eventually they will be sorted out, one from another (Matt. 13:47). The devil at this level tries to bring premature sorting, judgementalism through pride, tribalism leading to war and anarchy.

7. Culture and the nation

Entire nations can accept or reject the Kingdom, as Israel did in the time of Christ (Matt. 21:43). This Kingdom and its king are taking over every other kingdom, one by one (Rev. 11:15). The devil at this level tries to affect leaders of the nations, rallying them against the Lord and his anointed. He tries to engender a spirit of lawlessness and move through legislature to bring national sin and openness to death.

8. The world and all creation

God wants His Kingdom to come, and His will to be done on the entire earth, as it is being done in the entire heaven (Matt. 6:10). Daniel saw this end time take over and said the Kingdom shall break into pieces and consume all other kingdoms on earth. All creation is waiting for the revealing of the sons of the Kingdom. The devil at this level is trying to increase the level of judgment the world will suffer through its disobedience to the King.

Ours is to seek the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness. Ours is to receive it into our heart, express it in our home, advance it through our business in our community, proclaim it to our culture, underwrite our legislature with its principles and manifest it to all creation!

The Spirit of Sonship
Robert Holmes

When I got saved, I responded to the story of Jesus Christ. The fact that God came as a man, as a servant, shared my sufferings and faced my struggles. This God-man, who laid down his life by choice. I was taken by the fact that he was also a son. John Alley has said, "God as revealed to us in the life of Christ is a Father-Son God, a God revealed in relationship, with submission and authority acting simultaneously". Jesus is our primary model for sonship.

Hebrews says of Him, "Jesus Christ was faithful to the One who appointed Him" (Heb. 3:1). All true ministers are appointed by the One. It is our job to remain faithful to Him. The passage goes on to call Him, "Christ as a Son over his own house". His authority was derived from his sonship - and this placed him over the house. All true ministers gain their authority from sonship, which places us over the house He decides to trust us with. The Son did only what the Father was doing, and said only what the Father was saying (John 5:19). He did not speak on His own initiative (John 14:10) and did not authorise His own ministry. All true ministers are the same, they are modelling their life, ministry and daily effort on what they are sensing the Lord saying.

It is at this point that some of the readers, having said amen, will disagree. Those who say, "Submission to God is enough" and "He is my head, I am His son" might then refuse to bow the knee to any human authority, or any human father (natural or spiritual).

Christ showed us the way. Heaven alone was not enough, even for the Lord. Jesus was obedient also to his earthly parents (Luke 2:51). He grew in wisdom and stature before God and man. Both realms must be addressed in our lives - submission to God, and to men. Jesus then submitted himself to John's baptism "to fulfil all righteousness" (Matt. 3:14,15). Sonship translates into three realms: to our Father in heaven, to our earthly parents, and to those over us in ministry.

Obedience and submission are learned in the natural, before authority is exercised in the spiritual. We must obey earthly authority (Rom. 13:1). Children must obey their earthly parents (Eph. 6:1). Employees must obey their masters (Eph. 6:5-9). But in the church we are implored to "recognize those who labour among you and are over you in the Lord and admonish you" (1 Thess. 5:12).

True, these leaders must not lord it over us. They must not be tyrants, like the Gentiles. They must be among us, equal to us and labour with all servant-hearted humility. But regardless of their conduct, there are supposed to be people over us in the ministry.

Paul's example

Paul fathered the church in Corinth (1 Cor. 4:15). He rejoiced over his son Timothy, a true son of the faith (1 Tim. 1:18) and admonished Titus his son to use the authority Paul had given him, in Crete, over the church (Titus 1:5). Paul taught his disciples: "Imitate me as I imitate Christ" (1 Cor. 14:16). Jesus said that anyone who received his apostles, received Him. If they blessed the apostles, they blessed Jesus (Matt. 10:40). He has now appointed his earthly representatives.

Paul told the church about those who have devoted themselves to the ministry, "submit yourselves to such, and to everyone who works and labours with us" (1 Cor. 16:16). It is critical to our prosperity, our health and functionality to learn sonship. Not only to God in heaven, but also in our families, and in church.

Consider the quality

Not all sons are good sons. Not all sons become good fathers either. The prodigal has his struggles, wanting his money, his down payment before time. The older son had his issues too - labouring for reward and not for love. Both of them had to learn maturity through hardship and estrangement from their father.

Samuel was put into the care of a poor father, whose rebellious sons gave Samuel a bad example. Though Samuel maintained his personal relationship with God. His own sons turned out the same way as Eli's sons. Perhaps Samuel's feelings of being orphaned in his youth were not properly dealt with.

David of course, had to struggle with a destructive and abusive spiritual father. But nevertheless he managed to maintain his purity of heart and blessed Saul to the end of his life. One is left to wonder though, what kind of father David made, with two sons in rebellion: a murderer and an adulterer among his offspring.

Pursue the father

I think perhaps the best example of good sonship is displayed by Elisha. Willing to lay down his own path and profession, willing to serve many years in the most abased positions, yielded to his masters every request. Even when Elijah was trying to put him off, asking him to stay behind, Elisha pressed in. He refused to be put aside. When the father finally asked, "What do you want from me". Elisha said, "Give me a double portion of your spirit". Yes, his inheritance, his reward. At the end he was not crying, "my mantle, my ministry!" He was calling, "My father, my father". Do you have anyone you can call on for your inheritance?

My lesson

My first job out of school was in the hospitality industry, as a bell hop - in concierge. We learned all sorts of practical skills and industry lessons such as customer service, quality control and selling techniques. But one catch phrase that was drummed into us was this: "If you cannot serve the customer, then serve someone who can". You have two choices, serve, or serve. This went all the way to the top - demonstrated by our Chief Executive, who was seen waiting tables during the rush, greeting VIP guests at the door, checking them in late evenings and even collecting rubbish from the driveway. All this on a six figure salary!

I know a man, Michael Kongala, who epitomises the spirit of sonship. Michael is so good at serving, so good at submitting and yielding to the wisdom of elders that he has been put first. When I met Michael he had eight churches and eight orphans. In just five years he has grown to oversee one hundred and eighty five churches and two hundred orphans.

In those first few years the elders in this region recognised a faithful son, in whom there was no guile. Each of them had eight to ten churches. Over time, they came to yield their churches to him, until he oversaw about sixty five. When he served them as overseer, they all doubled. The elders gave him apostolic authority over their work, and each one prospered. But it was set in motion by Michael - submitted as a son first.

The Encounter

I was down with oppression when my king visited me. He sent for me and called me from the house of Potiphar. He called me by name and said - Are you there? but for doubt I asked saying - Lord could you be the one that called me? Then he answered and said - I am he, what are you doing there? I have opened rivers of living waters for you that you may know my name. Come out of your hiding place and let us talk about talks that will determine your future. Come let us reason together though your sins be as scarlet or as red as crimson I will make it as white as snow and white as wool.

I was as one oppressed, one battered, without comeliness and without shape then came he and took me out of the miry clay where there was no water. He enlarged my steps as he put me upon a rock where there was a fountain of living waters gushing forth. I remember him saying clearly - the victory belongs to God. Listen to my voice. I will make a way where there seems to be no way. I will make rivers in the desert and make ways in the wilderness. Let your heart follow me and your mind will obey. I have said this day have I begotten thee, thou art made a priest after the order of Melchizedek forever and that I will give thee the sure mercies and I have said unto you to give you the promise of the land flowing with milk and honey. Dont let it enter into your head, rather put it to heart to love me and obey me; keep my commandments and you will live then you shall ask and it shall be given thee; You shall seek and you shall find; You shall knock and it shall be opened unto you. Let your mind be settled and know that I am he that searcheth thee; I know the thoughts that pass through your mind, everyone of them. Love me today and you shall find rest for your soul.

Then said I to myself - surely on this day have I seen the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living and of his mercies have I received grace for grace.

A Call To Holiness

Be ye holy as I am Holy -saith the Lord. I will come in a time you do not expect therefore wash your garments lest you walk be caught unawares. blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garment lest he walk naked and they see his shame. I will come as a thief in the night therefore seek my face and my face would be found by you when you seek me with all your heart. For I would be found by people who thirst and hunger for me. Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness for they shall be filled. I want to fill you up but you have to be holy as I am holy. You got to thirst for it. In your patience possess ye your souls. I know your name. I know all of you who seek me each day daily watching at my gates for i am your GOD. Ask me of things to come concerning my sons and concerning the works of my hands command ye me. I will give you the treasures of darkness and the hidden riches of secret places that you may know that I the Lord that calls you by name am your God.

Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your father which art in heaven. Oh you got to be holy as I am holy because without it you cant see me; blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God; their age shall be clearer than the noon day. They shall shine forth. They shall be as the morning and they shall be secure because there is hope; yea they dig about themselves and they shall take their rest in safety Arise! Shine! for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon you.

The Light of my Purity is come! yea, the glory of my holiness is here! If you would partake of it for I am sealing my servants who would be heirs of salvation. I am making my jewels. I am gathering my army for I am coming soon. they that repent shall be restored and shall not be cut off. dare take of my fruits and eat. O taste and see that the Lord is good. I will be gracious to him that seek me and he that cometh to me shall in no wise be cast out.

I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth I have not spoken. I said not unto the seed of Jacob - seek me in vain. I the Lord speak righteousness. I declare things that are right.

Assemble yourselves and come, draw near together, ye that are escaped of the nations for thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it. He hath established it . He created it not in vain. He formed it to be inhabited. I am the Lord and there is none else.

Be Ready!

...' be like men who are waiting for their master to return home from the marriage feast, so that when he returns from the wedding and comes and knock they may open to him immediately`...Luke 12:31-37

Ye are therefore pilgrims of hope that wait for your Lord. Be ye therefore servants and not masters. for masters look for gain but servants look for a reward.

Keep your loins girded and your lamps burning - Luke 12:35

And this know that if the goodman of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not suffered his house to be broken, you must also be ready for the son of man is coming at an hour and a moment when you do not anticipate it - Luke 12: 39 - 40

Be ye therefore rekindled in your faith and bear forth light for tomorrow no man can tell.

Be fervent in prayer, always ready to obey his commandments and seek refuge in the saints gathering. Always love your neighbours even though they don't deserve your respect. Love those around you and give freely. Freely you have received. Freely give. Distribute the needs of your fellow labourers in your vineyard. Be ye helpers of their faith. Not wanting anything from them in return. Encourage them in the Lord and you will repaid

The Song Of Life

Let the heavens be glad and let the earth rejoice and let men say among the nations - the Lord reigneth. Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof. Let the fields rejoice and all that is therein. Then shall the trees of the wood sing out at the presence of the Lord because he cometh to judge the earth - 1 Chron.11:31-33

Prophetic Word

In these days saith the Lord the whole creation will begin to sing the song of life. They will begin to move in order. They will begin to move in my spirit for i will pour out my spirit upon them and they will begin to sing with one accord.

The sea will hear and roar and the earth & the heavens will declare the Lord`s righteousness. Day unto day will utter speech and night unto night will shew knowledge ; and as the rhythm continues all the earth and the heavens will form coalition. the roar of it shall reach unto heaven and the angels will join them. The sons of men will dance unto me in myriads and this shall be the song they shall sing- the Lord reigneth let the earth tremble. He reigneth let the earth tremble. The trees will clap their hands and the doves shall be heard singing. All the birds of the air shall move together and this shall be the order of the day-unity when I shall bring my bride unto me from all the nations of the earth. All the sons of God shall shout for joy and there shall be joy in heaven and gladness on the earth.

The Next Generation

Carla Rickard

April 17 2004

I have already begun to raise up my Next Generation of Prophets, Teachers, Apostles, Pastors, and Ministers of All My Ways. Because this generation has been busy sleeping when they are not arguing amongst themselves who is right and who is who in Me, they have missed these young saplings being raised up in their very midst. They are already dreaming dreams, seeing visions, prophesying My Word.

One whole generation has fallen asleep. They have been complacent. They have not considered the children's spiritual well being but I have awakened their children. The children are slow to return but are returning. They are returning THROUGH THEIR OWN children.

This generation, the one that is now passing, is being raised up again in the Next Generation. The children's children will see My Move in a great way. They will be willing and ready to receive all I have to give through them.

I hear the grumblings of why not you. I offered this to you. You did not hunger for it. You did not thirst for it. You wanted your ways over My Ways. But I will not forsake you for I will bring it to pass through your children. They will lead you back into the fullness of my fold. They will show you My Truth. They will keep it simple. For they will be the ones that understand the simplicity of My Love.

You have complicated right and wrong. They have understanding of it

You have hardened yourselves under my corrective hand instead of repent so that I may heal your brokeness. But the childrens' children will not harden themselves because they will know my ways from a young age and will not depart from them. My Spirit has drawn them and they are responding! They will not wander nor harden their hearts. They will lead you into the promised land. My hand is still for you, join them! Do not discount them. I have called them to be ministers of Peace. My Peace not as the world gives peace.

Theomatics

Del Washburn

[Editor's Note: The topic of Bible Numerics has come up several times recently in discussions with some of our readers. I usually refer people to the Theomatics Web Site for further information. This article is excerpted from that site by permission. Bill Somers]

What is Theomatics?

THEOMATICS is a major discovery that was made during the year 1975, in Portland, Oregon (USA). Almost twenty-five years and literally thousands upon thousands of hours of comprehensive research, have since been invested.

Most all of this research has been done in private. It has received minimal publicity and exposure in the media ~ as compared to the recent "Bible Code" discoveries everybody is talking about.

Presently, there are two types of Bible codes. One is the ELS evidence (Equi-distant Letter Sequences), also known as "Torah Codes."

The other kind of code is "theomatics." The foundational basis for theomatics has been known for thousands of years, ever since the time before Christ. It is commonly referred to by the term gematria. It was in 1975 that this original code in the Bible ~ known for thousands of years but never deciphered ~ began to reveal itself in a major way.

Mathematically and scientifically, theomatics is a much more provable phenomenon. If both the secular and Christian worlds had any true comprehension of this discovery or its implications, it would change forever the entire scope of science and religion for the remainder of this earth's history.

In theomatics, people can learn how God has written His entire Word mathematically, because existing inside the Bible there is a mathematical design. This design is the watermark that reveals God's divine authorship. No other work of literature ever written, apparently, contains anything that closely resembles theomatics. It is totally unique to the 66 books of the Bible.

No existing word could be found to accurately describe this phenomenon in the Bible, so a new word was coined ~ theomatics. It is actually the composite of two words. The Greek word for God is Theo, and when combined with the suffix for the word mathe*matics*, the result is "theomatics." It means "the numbers or mathematics of God."

In 1978, Del Washburn co-authored a book with Jerry Lucas (of basketball and memory fame) entitled Theomatics: God's Best Kept Secret Revealed. The book sold almost 90,000 copies in hardback and trade editions (and is no longer in print). It was promoted heavily on the PTL television network, 700 CLUB, and TV across Canada. In 1994, Theomatics II (663 pages) was published. Just this year, the latest book ~ The Original Code in the Bible ~ was released.

Although mankind's knowledge of these recent discoveries may be as new as the word theomatics, its existence is as old and ancient as the Bible itself.

The Old and New testaments as we know them were originally given to us in Hebrew and Greek. In theomatics we discover how historically, "God" assigned each letter and in turn each word of the Bible with a number or theomatic value. Everything in the Bible was composed and written mathematically. (The next category on the home page ~ The Numerical Structure of the Bible ~ will explain more fully how Theomatics works.)

The implications of all this is staggering! It means that God the Creator, sometime in eternity past, orchestrated and planned every event mentioned in the Bible ~ right down to the most minute detail. Every single person that was to be born, what their names were going to be, and the precise time of their birth... the time and manner that everything was to happen... and what every word in the Bible would ultimately be.

Each and every word had to be spelled precisely so it would come out to its exact and pre-determined numerical value, and then be placed into the text in a precise location. All of this took place without mankind having any direct knowledge that behind earth's stage, Someone was pulling all the strings and manipulating the entire drama.

Even though the magnitude of this discovery is just starting to unveil itself, over the centuries thousands of people ~ Jews and Christians alike ~ have speculated, believed and taught that some sort of hidden and supernatural phenomenon existed underneath the original Hebrew and Greek text of the Bible ~ based upon the numerical values of the original Bible languages. They believed that a cipher, or key, that would unlock a deeper symbolic and spiritual meaning behind the literal words of the text, was placed there by a supernatural act of God, unbeknown to the men who actually penned the text.

Contemporary Bible scholars, and most all modern evangelical scholars, have either lampooned this idea or completely ignored the subject. As a general whole, modern Biblical scholarship does not even recognize the possibility that such a phenomenon as theomatics could even exist. This subject lies completely outside the realm of conventional knowledge.

Now what makes theomatics unique, is the fact that its existence can be scientifically proven in the laboratory, according to the highest standards of the scientific method. What that means is that individual people can perform unbiased and objective tests mathematically ~ by computer ~ that will prove convincingly that theomatics is valid, and that God did indeed place this supernatural phenomenon into the text. In other words, the numbers are not random but contain certain quantitative regularities. And there exists no natural cause or alternative explanation for this phenomenon. Only a divine Power and Mind could have placed it there.

> NOTE: It should be pointed out that it is impossible to scientifically prove the existence of God (God cannot be placed in a test tube and analyzed in the laboratory, obviously). The existence of God must be accepted by faith alone. The best that theomatics can tell us is that the mind of man could not have orchestrated and written the Bible. That being true, the only possible conclusion is that "God" must indeed exist. What other possibility is there?

Nothing before ~ ever in history ~ related to God or theology ~ has been able to make the claims that theomatics makes. But theomatics can back those claims up with hard core scientific evidence.

Apologetics (or the defense of the Scriptures) is a major subject of importance. Many things such as archaeological discoveries and fulfilled Old Testament prophecies, offer "proof" of the Bible's veracity. Yet nothing ever before in history can apparently offer proof at the intellectual level of certainty, that theomatics provides.

But not only does theomatics give us confirmation of the Bible's validity from an apologetic standpoint. The mathematical patterns in the text will also reveal the fact that God never intended ~ in the eternal sense ~ that His Word be understood only by the rules of grammar and the facts of history (the common grammatical-historical method that all schools of theology strictly follow). The words of the Bible and their literal meanings are only the outer shell.

What this numbering system that God has placed does, is bring forth the deeper meanings of scripture. In other words, God placed within the text of His Word a code or "hidden revelatory process" that will ultimately reveal the symbolism that exists in Genesis, Daniel, Revelation ~ and for that matter, the entire Bible.

Once all of this is understood more fully, we will for once and for ever arrive at determining what God's original intended meaning was. Theomatics takes nothing away from the literal words, but establishes the fact that God has protected His truth with symbolism, parables, and allegories. Theomatics completely destroys the popular fundamentalist/evangelical premise of trying to interpret everything in the Bible ONLY historically and ONLY literally.

There is a Divine and supernatural aspect to the Bible that has never been seen or understood before now. What this discovery will clearly bring forth, is the fact that there is a heavenly picture and meaning behind the earthly events and stories that are mentioned.

God

has a much bigger picture in mind than what people have ever imagined.

The Numerical Structure

THEOMATICS is an extremely complex, profound, and intellectual subject. Yet the basic fundamentals of how it operates, are quite simple and easy to understand. In the recent books, Theomatics II and The Original Code in the Bible, we give a lengthy explanation and definition. Here we shall give the Net cruiser an extremely abridged version that will explain only the basics ~ without elaboration.

The Theomatic Number Codes

In our language, we have two basic ways of expressing ideas. If you look at a typewriter or computer keyboard, what do you see? Letters (the alphabet) and numbers. Just about everything we communicate in our language structure as human beings is with words and numbers.

The numbers we use (1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,0) are called Arabic numerals. To us living today, we take the use of these symbols for granted. But here is an interesting fact. For centuries, mankind did not have any numbers or numerical digits in his language structure. Instead, early civilizations used the letters of their alphabets to express numbers. You have undoubtedly heard of Roman Numerals (I, V, X, L, C, D, M). This is the same basic concept.

Hebrew and Greek

This same idea or principle is especially true for the languages of the Bible ~ the Old Testament was written in ancient Hebrew and the New Testament in Greek. Take a look below and you will see both the Hebrew and Greek alphabets, along with the respective number values for each letter in those alphabets.

The Greek number code as it is shown above, can be found in most editions of Webster's Dictionary. It has been in use since early times. The Hebrew number code was in use many centuries before Christ. If you were to look into a present-day Hebrew Bible, you would find the chapter and verse numbers given with the letters of the Hebrew alphabet.

The important fact to realize is that this standard has been in effect for thousands of years. Yet what theomatics is going to show us, is that God in His sovereignty, pre-arranged all this ~ long before the world was even created ~ and then "secretly" composed the entire Bible to operate on this numbering system.

Again, the fact that God did this can be proven in a scientific laboratory beyond any reasonable doubt.

Every Word has a Numeric Value

Now not only does each letter in the Hebrew and Greek alphabets have a standard and fixed number or numeric value attached to it, but this same principle can be applied to words as well. To illustrate, here are two words in Greek ~ the word for Jesus (pronounced ee-ay-sooce), and the word for world (pronounced kosmos). By following the chart for the Greek number code and adding the numbers for all the letters in these words, we obtain the following totals.

JESUS (Ιησους)			WORLD (κοσμος)
Ι	=	10	κ	=	20
η	=	8	ο	=	70
σ	=	200	σ	=	200
ο	=	70	μ	=	40
υ	=	400	ο	=	70
ς	=	200	ς	=	200
TOTAL	=	888	TOTAL	=	600

But this formula is possible not only for the words Jesus and World. It also applies to every single Hebrew and Greek word in the Bible, which has its own distinctive number, or theomatic, value.

Phrases Also Add Up

Not only words, but also complete thoughts and sentences have number values. To illustrate, let's take the very first verse of the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Note: Hebrew is read from right to left ~ just the opposite of English.)

As you can see, the number that is the theomatic value for each word is directly above it. What we can do now is add all these numbers together (296 + 407 + 395 + 401 + 86 + 203 + 913) for a total of 2701. Thus, the theomatic value of the first verse of the Bible is 2701. So each and every word of the Bible has a theomatic value, and also each and every sentence or complete thought as well.

Putting it All Together

In order to perform the adequate research, massive databases have been created. The Hebrew Old Testament and Greek New Testament exist in printed interlineation (like the above example of Genesis 1:1). But most importantly, all this data has been programmed into a massive computer database along with complete research software. It would take too much time to discuss all of this here (See Theomatics II (appendix A), and Theomatics and the Scientific Method).

Theomatics: On What Basis?

A number of people have asked the following question: On what is all of this based? Beyond the historical fact that the ancients used letters to represent numerals, where do you get the proof that God had anything to do with the assignment of number values to the Hebrew and Greek alphabets ~ and then to the individual words of the Bible text? Where is the verse in the Bible that tells us there exists any such phenomenon as theomatics?

In Theomatics II and The Original Code in the Bible, these questions are discussed and analyzed extensively. Two things are worth mentioning here. The entire numerical system can be found in some of the earliest Greek manuscripts for the New Testament. In the papyrus documents, the many numbers mentioned in the text are actually given with these numerical values. For example, the well known number 666 from the book of Revelation (13:18), appears as the following Greek letters.

ξ = 60
ς' = 6

TOTAL = 666

But not only that, the most convincing proof is the fact that the numbers specifically mentioned in the text, match up with the actual mathematical patterns that exist with the numerical values.

The Bible mentions hundreds of different numbers. Adam lived 930 years. Abraham had 318 servants. There were 12 tribes of Israel. Daniel's vision of the 70 weeks. Jesus healed a man who had been lame for 38 years. A woman is bound by Satan for 18 years. There were 276 souls saved on the apostle Paul's shipwreck. The number 7 is mentioned "54 times" in Revelation. The Lamb stands on Mt. Zion with 144 thousands. And so on.

Every number mentioned openly in the Bible is a key number for theomatics. It is as though God says, "here is the number to use!" In other words, the numbers that appear in the text are all intertwined with the numerical values for the words themselves. In fact, that is how theomatics was discovered.

In Chapter 3 of Theomatics II, it discusses the passage from John 21:11, where the disciples went fishing, and they caught 153 fishes. This bizarre passage has taxed the minds of many a Bible student. But theomatically, everything to do with fishes and fishing in the entire Bible is based on the number 153. Just a few examples. The following words and phrases have numerical values divisible by the number 153.

FISHES = 153 x 8
THE NET = 153 x 8
MULTITUDE OF FISHES = 153 x 8 x 2
FISHERS OF MEN = 153 x 14

> NOTE: Theomatics is not the very first time in history where the concept of the numerical values has been applied to Hebrew and Greek words in the Bible. (For example, the ancient practice of gematria and Jews with their Kabala).
> However, theomatics is: (1) the first time in history where the principles according to which this structure operates have been discovered and made explicable, and (2) the fact that God did this can be proven in a scientific manner that is both repeatable and predictable. Nothing before in history has ever operated on the collective principles demonstrated in theomatics. But the basis is historical.

Hebrew and Greek Grammar

The entire word structure of the Bible, was designed by God in a unique way so that theomatics could work. In other words, God specifically structured the grammar of the Hebrew and Greek languages so that all of the number patterns could fit and flow together. An amazing degree of thought went into it. Theomatics will answer many puzzling questions as to the why's of these two languages and their grammatical structure.

Multiples and Clusters

Without elaborating, there are a number of other principles that theomatics operates by. One is called multiples, and the other is clustering.

Everything in theomatics operates on the principle of multiples and multiple structures ~ based upon prime numbers and various factor combinations. This concept can become very complicated and involved. There are many aspects to multiples.

Clustering is the concept where numbers cluster around these large multiples. The theomatic hits fall within the range of one or two numbers surrounding the large multiple factors. There is an entire chapter in The Original Code in the Bible, which explains how clustering scientifically proves the entire existence of theomatics.

We have worked with the mathematics and statistics department of a major university, and the odds of the clustering occurring by chance is impossible. The evidence is positively overwhelming from a scientific perspective.

Theomatics and the Scientific Method

The multiple factors and the clustering is so consistent in theomatic words and phrases, that it boggles the mind. The major fact is that it happens so regularly, as to defy any mathematical odds. In other words, if theomatics was not true, if either man or God did not place this phenomenon into the text, then the numerical values for words and phrases would only produce "random" results. But the theomatic results are clearly not random.

And neither are the patterns a natural occurrence of the language structure itself ~ they only occur within related theological meanings. Computerized testing ~ comparing theomatic results vs. random results, will overwhelmingly prove that fact. Even the most cautious and astute of mathematical scientists, will be completely blown away when presented with the data. Those individuals who are skeptical will be completely befuddled and have no explanation for the results (see next page Scientific Proof of the Discovery).

Conclusion

This discussion has been very brief. There are three books (that consist of about 1200 pages total) that thoroughly explain all this. Also, on the home page, there are four examples of the theomatics phenomenon.

Theomatics and Eschatology

No aspect of theomatics research over the years, has elicited more interest and more questions, than the subject of eschatology. People want to know what this code in the Bible reveals about Bible prophecy and end time events. When is Jesus going to return to planet earth? What is going to happen after He gets here?

Much of what is being promoted today, in books and on television, is little more than fiction and fantasy. The discoveries that have been made in theomatics paint a whole different picture relative to this subject of Bible prophecy. Students of Bible prophecy have built incredible superstructures, most of them based upon false and untrue premises. They have presumed that certain things in the Bible should be taken "literally." But God may have something vastly different in mind relative to the books of Daniel and Revelation.

In both Theomatics II and The Original CODE in the BIBLE, all of this is discussed extensively. Without elaborating, theomatics does not substantiate what is commonly known of as "pre-millennial dispensationalism." In fact, theomatics totally blows to pieces 90% of everything being taught today about so called, "end time events."

NOTE: Premillennial dispensationalism is the dominant position among American evangelicals ~ all those who teach that Israel returning to Palestine in 1948 is the fulfillment of Bible prophecy. Dispensationalism teaches that God has two distinct bodies of people, Israel and the Church. There is a different plan and eternal destiny for each of these two peoples. The church's hope is eternal bliss in heaven. They will be taken out of this world and raptured to heaven before the "great tribulation." Israel's hope is an earthly kingdom. At the end of the "great tribulation," Christ will return in the clouds, and set up His kingdom upon earth that will last for 1000 years. The temple will be rebuilt in Jerusalem, animals will again be sacrificed on the altars, and all of the Old Testament prophecies will be fulfilled literally. However, the Jewish people living in Israel today, will not become "Christians" until after they see Jesus landing on the mount of Olives. At that time they will all fall down and accept Him as their Messiah.

Just about everything being taught today in the Christian media about Bible prophecy, is based entirely on the above. Books by Hal Lindsey, such as The Late Great Planet Earth, have championed this view point, as virtually all ministries on radio and television that deal with the end times.

What prophecy scholars have failed to recognize, is that God uses numbers symbolically in the Bible (especially in the Book of Revelation). People are trying to take things literally that perhaps God never intended. There is a deeper symbolical and spiritual meaning present. Many of these "prophetic" passages of Scripture do relate to this earth and its times and events. But they do so in a different context of meaning, than what just about everybody is looking for in the Bible. God may have a completely different picture in mind, something vastly greater and infinitely more precious than what just about everybody is trying to figure out.

Understanding theomatics will clear up many of the difficulties and much of the confusion that exists today among Christians.

Example #1

At the drop of a hat, literally hundreds of examples of the theomatics phenomenon could be shown on this Web site. We will look at just four. This will introduce you to the subject in general. The most impressive pattern is Example #2, which follows this one. You will not want to miss looking at that example.

As our web page, The Numerical Structure explains, the entire Bible was put together supernaturally by God ~ to operate on a numerical system or code. What we are finding and seeing right now with theomatics, are bits and pieces of that code coming to the surface.

Theomatics is positively enormous! The theological implications are staggering. It will take a concerted effort, determination, and enthusiasm, for a person to grasp the full meaning of what we are seeing here. It is impossible to calculate both the importance and significance of this subject ~ as it relates to man's understanding of God and the Bible. Only the Creator Himself knows how far He will allow man to look into, and subsequently run with this thing.

Both the numerical structure along with the theological concepts, are very sophisticated. The Original CODE in the BIBLE and Theomatics II go into great depth to explain various and important aspects of the structure. Here the presentation will be simple and straightforward, without too much elaboration. We are just beginning to see the far reaching implications of all this. The entire system operates on mathematical laws, rules and principles that are totally heavenly in nature. They defy human logic at every turn. Yet the evidence is clearly visible and verifiable, and mathematically irrefutable.

The following is one of the first examples that we discovered. We show it here on the Web, simply because people enjoy it and can easily relate to it. Statistically speaking, it is by no means the most impressive. There are many thousands of patterns like the following, some of them far more statistically significant.

The best way to illustrate this subject, the most effective approach to begin with, is by showing the reader how the same numbers constantly appear ~ over and over again ~ when various key words and phrases are examined.

> LAYOUT NOTE: In the following, you will notice that the Hebrew and Greek words and phrases from the Bible, have been interpolated with English letters. There are Hebrew and Greek fonts available on the Internet, but they would require you first to download them before you could see actual Hebrew and Greek characters. If you wish to have these examples with the original Hebrew and Greek, we can fax or mail copies to you. Cost is $2.50 per example faxed, and $4.00 by mail. Please email us for this request. Also, the straight Nestle Text (26th edition) is the default text used for the New Testament. If a Nestle variant is used or the Majority Text, it is indicated by (vn) or (mt). The Hebrew text is the Michigan text. Clustering is indicated as (') or (").

The Birth of Jesus and the Number 111

Over the years a large amount of scientific research has been done on every single reference related to the conception and birth of Jesus. There are approximately sixty references in the New Testament, and a handful from the Old Testament, that refer, in one form or another, to the conception, the birth, the babe in the manger, the child Jesus, etc. Virtually all of these references are saturated with multiples of 111. For sake of illustration, we are going to show only a limited number here. The mathematical odds of the following pattern being in the Bible by chance, are millions to one. It should be pointed out that the layout here is not in a scientific format, but the examples have been arranged so as to present an interesting flow to the reading.

As it was shown on a previous page, the name for Jesus in Greek has a numerical value of 888. If you cut 888 in half, it comes out to 444. If you cut 444 in half, the number is 222. And half of 222 is the number 111. This number 111 is very predominant in reference to Jesus. But it is by no means the only key number to do with Christ ~ there are many numbers that relate to all the names and attributes of Jesus and God. But the number 111, in some instances, is absolutely pervasive, especially in those references that speak concerning His conception and birth.

Let us begin with Matthew’s account. Here is the very first reference. The entire passage as quoted has a value of 111 x 66.

> "And Jacob begat Joseph the Husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ."
> > JESUS ... 111 x 8
> > Mt 1:16 Ihsouv
> > CHRIST ... 111 x 12
> > Xriston"

Now the second reference occurs in verse 18 of this chapter where the following phrase occurs.

> "Now the birth of Jesus Christ thus was: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found to be pregnant by the Holy Spirit."

THE BIRTH OF JESUS CHRIST THUS WAS ... 111 x 49
Mat 1:18 tou Ihsouv Xristou genesiv outwv hn

> "... before they came together, she was found in womb having by the Spirit Holy."

SHE WAS FOUND IN WOMB BY ... 111 x 11
eureje en gastri ek

> (Note: The word "having" is not necessarily essential to the thought. Usually, the patterns are always present with words in juxtaposition or side by side. This here is a rare exception.)

Now let us look at verse 20. Here are the words of the angel that appeared to Joseph in a dream.

> "But as he considered this, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a > dream, saying, ‘Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for the one, her begotten of the spirit, is holy."

HER BEGOTTEN OF THE SPIRIT, IS HOLY ... 111 x 28
Mt 1:20 auth gennhjen ek pneumatov estin agiou'
HER BEGOTTEN ... 111 x 8 (888)
auth gennhjen'

> (Note for Greek Scholars: The little Greek word åí, can at times be translated simply as "one" instead of "in." See Romans 12:5 in Greek, and discussion of many forms used, by A.T. Robertson, Pgs. 282 and 584-589).

Now comes verse 21. It contains many multiples of 111. Here is just one of them.

> "And she will bear a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins."

AND SHE WILL BEAR A SON ... 111 x 11
Mat 1:21 tecetai de uion'

Two verses later, in verse 23, comes what has to be the most famous statement regarding the birth of our Lord.

BEHOLD, A VIRGIN SHALL CONCEIVE AND BEAR A SON ... 111 x 27
Mat 1:23 Idou h parjenov en gastri ecei kai tecetai uion'

Two verses later, after the birth of Jesus took place, these words appeared. The passage as quoted directly below is 111 x 34. Here is a shorter phrase (without the word Jesus) which points directly at Jesus and the number 888.

"She bore a son and called His name Jesus."
SHE BORE A SON AND CALLED HIS NAME ... 111 x 24 (888 x 3)
Mat 1:25 eteken uion kai ekalesen onoma autou
JESUS 888 (111 x 8)
Ihsouv

Before we turn and examine the account in Luke, here is one reference from the Hebrew Old Testament that is probably one of the most famous passages in all of scripture.

> "Therefore the Lord Himself shall give unto you a sign: The virgin shall be with child, and will bear a son."

The Hebrew words "to you a sign, the virgin shall be with child" have a value of 888, same as Jesus.

TO YOU A SIGN, THE VIRGIN SHALL BE WITH CHILD 888 (111 x 8)
Is 7:14 ' hrh hmlih hnh Tva Mk

Here are the most distinct words possible from the Hebrew word "and will bear a son." What is interesting to note is that the Greek words from Matthew 1:21, "And she will bear a son" has a value of 111, but in Hebrew just the one word "she will bear" has a value of 111.

SHE WILL BEAR ... 111 x 4
Tdly

Here is the first reference in Luke. This entire phrase as quoted is 888 x 8.

> "The power of the most high will overshadow you, and for that reason the holy offspring will be called the Son of God."

THE HOLY OFFSPRING WILL BE CALLED ... 111 x 20
|Luk 1:35 to gennwmenon agioin klhjhsetai"

An Important Comment

It should be pointed out here that throughout the phrases there are a many other numerical patterns also present, as well as the 111 pattern. All of these are working together. However, from a scientific perspective, what is significant is the fact that there usually is always one very short segment of phrase that produces at least one multiple of 111. This number appears far more often than what the laws of mathematical chance will allow. In otherwords, if theomatics was not true, we would not see this number 111 happening over and over ~ the multiples of 111 would only occur within the framework of chance expectation. But in theomatics, they occur with staggering consistency, but only on references to do specifially with the birth of Jesus (see page Scientific Proof of the Discovery).

Now here we are going to see something interesting ~ how theomatics may throw light on certain things. The next time it talks about a baby in Luke, is found in the story of Mary going to the house of Elizabeth.

> "And in those days Mary arose and went with haste into the hill country, to a city of Judah, and she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. And when > Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, leaped the babe in the womb of her; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit."

LEAPED THE BABE ... 111 x 16 (888 x 2)

Lk 1:41 eskitrhsen brefov'

THE BABE IN THE WOMB ... 111 x 13

to brefov en koilia

The way the verse reads, it seems to indicate that the babe this verse was speaking of is John the Baptist (see verse 44). However, both women were pregnant at the same time. The babe that leaped could have been Jesus (notice the 888). Since John the Baptist was the forerunner of Christ, his birth may be signified by the number 111 as well. The important thing to notice here is that the number 111 is consistent through every passage to do with birth ~ just like clockwork.

In the verse that follows, Elizabeth then speaks to Mary.

> "And she called out with a loud voice, ‘Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb."

THE FRUIT OF THY WOMB ... 111 x 14

Lk 1:42 o karpov koiliav sou"

Here is the rest of what Elizabeth says. In this verse the unborn baby Jesus is called "the Lord."

> "And why is this granted to me, that the mother of the Lord of me should come to me?"

THE LORD ... 111 x 9

Lk 1:43 kuriou'

Now we jump to chapter 2 where it again talks about the birth of Jesus. In the nativity story, Joseph travels from Galilee to Bethlehem, with Mary.

> "And while they were there, were fulfilled the days for her to bear."

The words "were fulfilled the days for her to bear," actually read in Greek as "were fulfilled the days to bear her."

THE DAYS TO BEAR ... 111 x 5

Lk 2:6 hmerai tekein'

The next verse states that Mary bore her firstborn son.

SHE BORE THE SON THE FIRSTBORN ... 111 x 25

Lk 2:7 eteken uion prwtotokon

Right now I am going to quickly skip to the book of Hebrews, which is a perfect parallel to the above verse in Luke.

> "And again, when He brings the firstborn into the world, He says, ‘Let all the angels of God worship Him."

THE FIRSTBORN INTO THE WORLD ... 111 x 29

Heb 1:6 ton prwtotokon eiv oikoumenhn'

The account in Luke continues with a discussion of the angels appearing to the shepherds.

> "And this shall be to you a sign. Ye will find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

The words "Ye will find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger," has a value of ... 111 x 41. Here is the most distinct portion. The following English phrase consists of only two Greek words.

THE BABE WRAPPED IN SWADDLING CLOTHES ... 111 x 21

Lk 2:12 brefov esparganwmenon'

And here now is verse 16. Here is what happened.

> "When the angels went away from them into heaven into heaven, the shepherds said to one another. Let us go unto Bethelem and see this thing having happened which the Lord made known to us. And they came with haste and found both Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in the manger."

AND THE BABE LYING IN THE MANGER ... 111 x 22

Lk 2:16 kai to brefov keimenon en fathn

Now look at the following feature. After all the above comes this.

> "And when they saw it they made known the saying which had been told them concerning this child."

THIS CHILD ... 111 x 26

Lk 2:17 tou paidiou toutou'

The next reference to the child is down in verse 21. Notice the multiple of 888. The text states that He was circumcised on the eighth day. There is a whole structure in theomatics to do with circumcision ~ all based on a pattern of eights.

> "And when were completed eight days to circumcise him."

EIGHT DAYS TO CIRCUMCISE HIM ... 111 x 32 (888 x 4)
Lk 2:21 hmerai oktw tou peritemein auton"

And the text states that after He was circumcised on the eighth day, His name was called Jesus, which also, of course, has a value of 888.

> "And when were completed eight days to circumcise him, His name was called Jesus, the name called by the angel before he was conceived in the womb."

The above is literally saturated with multiples of 111. Here is the shortest phrase.

JESUS, THE NAME CALLED BY THE ANGEL ... 111 x 22
Ihsouv to klhjen upo aggelou
THE NAME CALLED BY THE ANGEL ... 111 x 14
To klhjen upo aggelou

The above verse says that His name was called Jesus "before he was conceived in the womb." Look at just the following.

BEFORE HE WAS CONCEIVED IN THE WOMB ... 111 x 23 pro sullhmfjhnai auton en koilia
HE WAS CONCEIVED ... 111 x 19
sullhmfjhnai auton"

And of course as we saw earlier from Matthew, in relation to Jesus being conceived in the womb, the words "the fruit of thy womb" was also 111, and so were the words "the babe in the womb."

Now let us jump to a reference in Luke chapter 11. In this passage we read how Jesus was casting out demons, and a woman from the crowd of bystanders cried out the following words.

> "And it came to pass as He spake these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, 'Blessed is the womb that bare thee and the paps which thou hast sucked."

BLESSED IS THE WOMB THAT BARE THEE ... 111 x 13
Lk 11:27 makaria h koilia h bastasasa se"
BARE THEE ... 111 x 10
bastasasa se'

> We must understand right here, that the mathematical probability of these huge multiples of 111, occurring within these short explicit phrases, is naturally impossible. There is no way that this could happen by chance ~ unless somebody with intelligence, pre-arranged all this. We are witnessing here what may be the single most significant discovery in the history of mankind. Yet very few people will see or comprehend the significance of what we are witnessing.

Now right after the above verse that we looked at in Luke, the next words appear.

> "And when were completed their days of cleansing according to the law of Moses, they took Him to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord."

TO PRESENT HIM TO THE LORD ... 111 x 30
Lk 2:22 parasthsai tw kuriw'

Now here in this passage comes the next reference to Jesus, where He is explicitly called "the Christ of the Lord."

> "Now there was a man in Jerusalem named Simeon ... And it had been revealed to Him by the Holy Spirit that He should not see death before He should see the Christ of the Lord."

THE CHRIST OF THE LORD ... 111 x 21
Luk 2:26 Xriston kuriou'
THE CHRIST ... 111 x 12
Xriston"

Simeon then took the baby Jesus in his arms, and said the following. Here Jesus is called "thy salvation."

> "For mine eyes have seen thy salvation which thou didst prepare before the face of all peoples."

THY SALVATION WHICH THOU DIDST PREPARE ... 111 x 28

Lk 2:31 swthrion sou o htoimasav

But Simeon continued to prophecy over the baby Jesus. The following ten words are only 5 words in Greek.

> "And Simeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is set for the fall and rising again of many in Israel."

THIS CHILD IS SET FOR THE FALL AND RISING AGAIN ... 111 x 35

Lk 2:34 outov keitai eiv ptwsin kai anastasin

In light of all that we have seen thus far, the next result is almost unbelievable. No result could be more direct and impressive than the following.

> "And he came by the spirit into the temple, as the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the law."

THE CHILD JESUS ... 111 x 12

Lk 2:27 to paidion Ihsoun'

Right now I am going to quickly skip to the book of Acts. Compare the next example with the above.

> "And signs and wonders are performed through the name of the holy child of thee Jesus."

NAME OF THE HOLY CHILD JESUS ... 111 x 28

Ac 4:30 onomatov tou agiou paidov Ihsou

In this account of Luke chapter 2, which continues on through many verses, there are a whole host of short explicit phrases, all in reference to the child Jesus, that are multiples of 111. I am going to skip over all of these and move on to the last verse in this story, which is verse 40.

> "And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom."

THE CHILD GREW AND BECAME STRONG ... 111 x 19

Lk 2:40 paidion hucanen kai ekrataiouto"

Now we are going to return to Matthew's Gospel, this time to the second chapter.

> "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, saying, where is the one born king of the Jews."

IS THE ONE BORN KING OF JEWS ... 111 x 46

Mt 2:2 estin o texjeiv basileuv twn Ioudaiwn'

> "For we saw His star in the East, and have come to worship Him."

HIS STAR ... 111 x 16 (888 x 2)

autou astera"

The account goes on concerning wicked king Herod. He gathered together all the chief priests and scribes to inquire of them where the Christ was to be born.

> "They told him, 'In Bethlehem of Judea; for so it is written by the prophet: 'And thou, O Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, are by no means the least among the rulers of Judah; for out of thee shall come a governor, that shall rule my people Israel."

OUT OF THEE SHALL COME A GOVERNOR ... 111 x 24 (888 x 3)

Mt 2:6 ek sou eceleusetai hgoumenov"

Herod then sent the wise men away with strict instructions.

> "And he sent them to Bethlehem, saying, 'Go and search diligently for the child."

SEARCH DILIGENTLY FOR THE CHILD ... 111 x 32 (888 x 4)

Mt 2:8 akribwv peri tou peidiou"

> "And behold the star, which they saw in the East, went before them until it came and stood over where the child was."

IT CAME AND STOOD OVER WHERE THE CHILD WAS ... 111 x 28

Mt 2:9 eljwn estajh epanw ou hn to paidion"

The account continues with the wise men offering their gifts to the child.

> "And coming into the house they saw the child with Mary His mother."

SAW THE CHILD ... 111 x 11

(mt) Mt 2:11 euron to paidion'

Now at this point in the story Joseph has a dream.

> "Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, 'Rise, take thou the child and his mother, and flee to Egypt."

TAKE THOU THE CHILD ... 111 x 4

Mat 2:13 paralabe paidion'

A number of years after Joseph and Mary and Jesus had fled into Egypt, the angel again appeared to Joseph.

> "But when Herod died, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, 'Rise, take thou the child and his mother, and go to the land of Israel, for have died those who seek the life of the child."

THE LIFE OF THE CHILD ... 111 x 21

Mat 2:20 fuxhn paidiou"

In the book of Galatians, there appears a very well known passage to the birth of Jesus.

> "And when the fulness of time had come, God sent forth his son, becoming of a woman, becoming under the law."

SENT FORTH HIS SON BECOMING OF A WOMAN ... 111 x 43

(mt) Gal 4:4 ecapesteilen ton uion autou gennwmenon ek gunaikov'

We shall conclude this presentation with three features from the book of Revelation that are absolutely mind-boggling. Three specific references to the child Jesus, short explicit phrases, all multiples of 111. This will put the icing on the cake.

Revelation 12 is the chapter that talks about the woman who gave birth to the man child, who is obviously Jesus. Let us look at those specific passages.

The following will show the logic of how this 111 pattern is embedded in the various thought segments of each passage.

> "A great sign was seen in heaven, a woman clothed with the sun… She was pregnant and she cried out being distressed to give birth. "

BEING DISTRESSED ... 111 x 4

Rev 12:2 basanizomenh

> "And the dragon stood before the woman about to bear, that whenever she bears the child of her, he might devour it."

THAT WHENEVER SHE BEARS THE CHILD OF HER ... 111 x 20

Rev 12:4 ina otan tekh teknon authv'

SHE BEARS ... 111 x 3

tekh

THE CHILD OF HER ... 111 x 16 (888 x 2)

to teknon authv"

> "And she brought forth the man child, who is to rule all nations with a rod of Iron."

THE MAN CHILD ... 111 x 8 (888)

Rev 12:5 uion arsen"

Both the expression "the child of her" and "the man child" are multiples of 888~the same as Jesus.

Finally, the last reference to Jesus appears down in verse 13. Here the multiple is of 7, the number of perfection.

> "And when the dragon saw that he was cast to earth, he pursued the woman who bore the male."

THE MALE ... 111 x 7

Rev 12:13 ton arsena'

Now for our last example, we will turn to the book of Genesis. The male child that the woman gave birth to, is the fulfilment of a prophecy given in the book of Genesis. Here is what Jehovah said to the serpent in the garden of Eden.

> "And the LORD God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life: And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and between her seed; he will crush thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel" (Gen. 3:14, 15).

The following four words in Hebrew are continuous without any punctuation or break in thought. The thought here is complete. "…and between thy seed and between her seed he will crush thy head." The numerical value here is the same as "the male" in Revelation.

AND BETWEEN HER SEED HE WILL CRUSH ... 111 x 7

Rev 12:13 ' Kpvwy avh hirz Nybv

The Rock

I am the Lord thy God, I am the rock of your salvation, whosoever believeth in Me will not perish but have everlasting life.

Though the mountains are moved out of their place, though the seas roar, your feet are upon The Rock; YOU SHALL NOT BE MOVED! I am a most gracious God to My faithful ones.

The unrighteous and unclean will no longer come near you. I will cause you to be the head and not the tail, above and not beneath. Those that have caused you much pain of soul, those who have unjustly judged you will be no more, as I raise you up in My glory. They will be ashamed, they will realize that they have not truly known Me, the Lord their God and not walked in My ways!

Deuteronomy 28:13 And the LORD shall make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath; if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do them:

Isaiah 52:1 Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the uncircumcised and the unclean.

The just will do justly and the unrighteous will do even more unrighteously, LIGHT AND DARK, TRUTH AND ERROR WILL BE PLAINLY SEEN! Thus says the Lord thy God.

I Will Allow No More Mixture
Dee Hoetmer

I send you forth with My light and glory. Do not say in your heart that this word is the same old story you have heard before, and seem to be waiting and waiting for these things to come to pass. I am aligning all things according to My purposes.

There are shakings going on in the lives of even those closest to you. I AM PULLING DOWN ALL WALLS OF SELF-PROTECTION, pulling the rug out from beneath them. THIS IS SO THAT THEIR FALSE FOUNDATIONS WILL BE EXPOSED AS FALSE FOUNDATIONS.

Eze 13:14 So will I BREAK DOWN THE WALL that ye have daubed with untempered morter, and bring it down to the ground, SO THAT THE FOUNDATION THEREOF SHALL BE DISCOVERED, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof: and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

My WILL, will be fulfilled; I WILL have a Bride without spot or blemish. Those I love I chasten, those I adore I break in pieces so that the oil of My anointing may flow out of them. The hotter the fire of refining, the purer the oil.

I cannot have vessels tainted with the world going out in the end times. I WILL have a holy people who bear My name, My glory.

Who can ascend My holy hill; those with clean hands and an upright heart before Me. For too long there has been mixture in My Body, perversion mingled with My Holy Spirit, a proud and haughty, unteachable spirit going forth in My name. This is to come to an end, I declare it!

Psa 24:3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place? Psa 24:4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

No longer will My holy name be profaned in the world and in My sanctuary. NO MORE MIXTURE WILL I ALLOW. LET THEM NO LONGER CALL THAT WHICH IS UNCLEAN, CLEAN FOR THEIR OWN PURPOSES.

Isa 48:10 Behold, I have refined thee, but not with silver; I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction. Isa 48:11 For mine own sake, even for mine own sake, will I do it: FOR HOW SHOULD MY NAME BE POLLUTED? and I will not give my glory unto another.

CRY OUT TO ME TO UNSTOP YOUR EARS, TO OPEN YOUR EYES OF WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN WALKING IN, CRY OUT TO ME FOR MY PURE, UNADULTERATED TRUTH AND THE TRUTH WILL SET YOU FREE.

I will then, and only then cause you to ride the high hills, to walk in blessing, peace and prosperity, lacking in no good thing. Thus saith the Lord.

Jud 3:7 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgat the LORD their God, and served Baalim and the groves.

Psa 73:27 For, lo, they that are far from thee shall perish: thou hast destroyed all them that go a whoring from thee.

Hos 5:4 They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for the spirit of whoredoms is in the midst of them, and they have not known the LORD.

Gal 3:3 ARE YE SO FOOLISH? HAVING BEGUN IN THE SPIRIT, ARE YE NOW MADE PERFECT BY THE FLESH?

2Ch 24:19 YET HE SENT PROPHETS TO THEM, TO BRING THEM AGAIN UNTO THE LORD; AND THEY TESTIFIED AGAINST THEM: BUT THEY WOULD NOT GIVE EAR.

2Ch 24:20 And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, which stood above the people, and said unto them, Thus saith God, WHY TRANSGRESS YE THE COMMANDMENTS OF THE LORD, THAT YE CANNOT PROSPER? because ye have forsaken the LORD, he hath also forsaken you.

Psalms 68:6 God setteth the solitary in families: he bringeth out those which are bound with chains: BUT THE REBELLIOUS DWELL IN A DRY LAND. (DRY LAND – LACK OF ANOINTING).

The Evils of Our Days

Terry Suggs

During what was called the dark ages of mid-evil times, the people that lived during these days did all kinds of evil deeds. They had turned away from God. This was an era of darkness. Any time we turn away from God, we are going backwards. When we don't include God in what ever we do, it will always fail.

Even the law enforcers and police and the judges were evil. All kinds of evil and sinful deeds were rampant.

Now we have entered the gross darkness of the end times.

II Timothy 3:9

But understand this, that in the last days will come (set in), perilous times of great stress and trouble (hard to deal with and hard to bear). A time of terror will come upon the earth.

For people will be lovers of self and utterly self-centered, lovers of money and aroused by an inordinate (greedy) desire for wealth, proud and arrogant and contemptuous boasters,

They will be abusive (blasphemous, scoffing), disobedient to parents, ungrateful, unholy and profane.

They will be without natural (human) affection (callous an inhuman), relentless (admitting of no truce or appeasement); (they will be) slanderers (false accusers, troublemakers), intemperate and loose in morals and conduct, uncontrolled and fierce, haters of good.

They will be treacherous betrayers, rash, and inflated with self conceit. (They will be) lovers of sensual pleasures and vain amusements more than and rather than lovers of God.

For although they hold a form of piety (true religion), they deny and reject and are strangers to the power of it (their conduct belies the genuineness of their profession. Avoid all such people (turn away from them).

For among them are those who worm their way into homes and captivate silly women and weak-natured and spiritually dwarfed women, loaded down with (the burden of their) sins (and easily) swayed and led away by various evil desires and seductive impulses.

These weak women will listen to anybody who will teach them; they are forever inquiring and getting information, but are never able to arrive at a recognition and knowledge of the Truth.

Now just as Jannes and Jambres were hostile to and resisted Moses, so these men also are hostile to and oppose the Truth. They have depraved and distorted minds, and are rejected as far as the Faith is concerned.

But they will not get very far, for their rash folly will become obvious to everybody, as was that of those (magicians mentioned).

Hebrews 13:5-9

Let your character or moral disposition be free from love of money including greed, avarice, lust, and craving for earthly possessions) and be satisfied with your present (circumstances and with what you have); for He (God) Himself has said, I will not, I will Not, I will not in any way fail you nor give you up nor leave you without support. I will not, I will not, I will not in any degree leave you helpless nor forsake nor let you down relax My hold on you! Assuredly not!

So we take comfort and are encouraged and confidently and boldly say, The Lord is my Helper; I will not be seized with alarm (I will not fear or dread or be terrified). What can man do to me?

Remember you leaders and superiors in authority (for it was they) who brought to you the word of God. Observe attentively and consider their manner of living (the outcome of their well-spent lives) and imitate their faith (their conviction that God exists and is the Creator and Ruler of all things, the Provider and Bestower of eternal Salvation through Christ, and their leaning of the entire human personality on God in absolute trust and confidence in His power, wisdom, and goodness.

Jesus Christ (The Messiah) is (always) the same, yesterday, today, (yes) and forever (to the ages).

Do not be carried about by different and varied and alien teachings; for it is good for the heart to be established and ennobled and strengthened by means of grace (God's favor and spiritual blessing) and not (to be devoted to) foods (rules of diet and ritualistic meals), which bring no spiritual benefit or profit to those who observe them.

I Peter 1:13-16
So brace up your minds; be sober (circumspect, morally alert); set your hope wholly and unchangeably on the grace (divine favor) that is coming to you when Jesus Christ (the Messiah) is revealed.
Live as children of obedience (to God); do not conform yourselves to the evil desires (that governed you) in your former ignorance (when you did not know the requirements of the Gospel).
But as the One Who called you is holy, you yourselves also be holy in all your conduct and manner of living.
For it is written, You shall be holy, for I Am Holy.

John 13:34-35
I give you a new commandment: that you should love one another, just as I have loved you, so you too should love one another.
By this shall all men know that you are My disciples, if you love one another (if you keep on showing love among yourselves).

The Evils of Our Day are:
1 denominationalism (division of the body of Christ)
2 hypocrisy (being a Christian only on Sunday for 1 hour)
3 greed
4 lust
5 false religions
6 false doctrines
7 putting Christianity in the category of mere religion (Christianity is not religion)
8 selling the gospel for personal gain
9 making merchandise of men’s souls
10 ignoring the needy starving and suffering of our world
11 gaining fame and wealth by making vulgar and filthy movies
12 trying to bring God down to the level of a man
13 giving up something we like for a few days called lent to prove how much we love God
14 abortions (murdering defenseless babies)
15 speaking evil of and falsely accusing people of God
16 imprisoning innocent people through lying and deception
17 prayerlessness
18 trying to remove God’s Word from public places
19 trying to stop prayer in schools
20 committing adultery
21 committing fornication
22 idolatry
23 child abuse
24 forgetting the needs of the elderly
25 racism
26 double standards
27 drug abuse
28 alcohol abuse (drunkenness)
29 blatant disregard for the laws of God
30 Hate
31 coldness (not caring about anyone else)
32 thinking we are more important than others
33 Unthankfulness
34 Unforgiveness
35 preferring certain ethnic group over another
36 injustice in the court rooms and law enforcement
37 corruption in business
38 extreme violence
39 being prejudiced against someone not of your color

40 Homosexuality (God destroyed whole cities because of this sin).
41 No provision for the homeless
42 slavery
43 lack of parenting of children the biblical way
44 deception in Christian leadership
45 lying
46 manipulation
47 a departure from God's Word
48 demonically inspired movies, music, magazines, books
49 genocide
50 ethnic cleansing
51 terrorism
52 theft
53 ethnic profiling
54 having a form of godliness, but denying the power of true Christianity.
55 corruption
56 no family unity
57 murder
There is not one sin on this list that could have kept Jesus from going to the cross.
There is not a sin on this list that was not covered by the cross of Christ.
Jesus has paid in full the debts of our sins.
Here is an analogy that helps see what God did:
Once there was a King of great wealth and great authority. He had a son that shared in the ruler-ship position.
A sinful outcast came along and murdered the King's Son. The king did not get angry.
He found the murderer and forgave him. He then told the murderer that he could have his son's position and he gave the out cast murderer all the sons possessions.
This is a bit like what God did by sending Jesus to die for us.

Hebrews 12:7-17
You must submit to and endure correction for discipline; God is dealing with you as with sons. For what son is there whom his Father does not (thus) train an correct and discipline?
Now if you are exempt from correction and left without discipline in which all of God's children share, then you are illegitimate offspring and not true sons at all.
Moreover, we have had earthly fathers who disciplined us and we yielded (to them) an respected (them for training us). Shall we not much more cheerfully submit to the Father of spirits and so truly live?
For our earthly fathers disciplined us for only a short period of time and chastised us as seemed proper and good to them; but He disciplined us for our certain good, that we may become sharers in His own holiness.
For the time being no discipline brings joy, but seems grievous and painful; but afterwards it yields a peaceable fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it (a harvest of fruit which consists in righteousness- in conformity to God's will in purpose, thought, action, resulting in right living and right standing with God.

Christianity transcends religion.
It is not just performing rituals, ceremonies, programs, and going through religious motions.
It does not fit into the box labeled religion.
In Christianity God, our creator and maker of all things, dwells in the believer, and the same spirit life inside of Him is in us.
Whatever is true of Jesus is now true of us.

In Ephesians 2:1,5,6,10
It states that we are quickened (made alive through and in Christ, in union with Him)
We are raised with and in Christ.

We are seated with and in Christ
We are His workmanship.

Ephesians 3:6
We are fellow heirs with Christ.

We don't quite know the full magnitude of the position that we are in and of our salvation's full benefits.

When we get to the place that the Lord has prepared in Heaven for us. No one will be heard saying "look what I did" in boasting about their accomplishments.
Jesus did it all.
Our salvation is void of human effort. It is by grace through faith in the finished work of the Lord Jesus.

What He (Jesus) Inherited, We Inherited

Terry Suggs

I Corinthians 3:22-23
All things are yours. And you are Christ's and Christ is God's.

His (Jesus) inheritance is our inheritance. Whatever is true of Jesus is true of us. What did Jesus inherit?

John 14:2-3,12,16
In My Father's House there are many dwelling places (homes). If it were not so, I would have told you; for I Am going away to prepare a place for you, And when (if) I go and make ready a place for you, I will come back again and will take you to Myself, that where I Am you may be also.
I assure you most solemnly I tell you, if anyone steadfastly believes in Me, he will himself be able to do the things that I do; and he will do even greater things than these, because I go to the Father.
And I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Comforter (Counselor, Helper, Intercessor, Advocate, Strengthener, and standby), that He may remain with you forever.

Ephesians 2:4-6
But God- so rich is He in His mercy, Because of and in order to satisfy the great and wonderful and intense love with which He loved us.
Even when we were dead (slain) by our own shortcomings and trespasses, he made us alive together in fellowship and in union with Christ; (He gave us the very life of Christ Himself, the same new life with which He quickened Him, for it is by grace (His favor and mercy which you did not deserve) that you are saved (delivered from judgment and made partakers of Christ's Salvation).
And He raised us up together with Him and made us sit down together (giving us joint seating with Him) in the heavenly sphere (by virtue or our being) in Christ Jesus (the Messiah, the Anointed One).

Galatians 3:26-27,29
For in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God through faith.
For as many of you as were baptized into Christ (into a spiritual union and communion with Christ, the Anointed One, the Messiah) have put on (clothed yourselves with) Christ.
And if you belong to Christ (are in Him Who is Abraham's Seed), then you are Abraham's offspring and (spiritual) heirs according to promise.

Galatians 4:1,4-7
Now what I mean is that as long as the inheritor (heir) is a child and under age, he does not differ from a slave, although he is the master of all the estate;

But when the proper time had fully come , God sent His Son, born of a woman, subject to (the regulations of) the Law, to purchase freedom of (to redeem, to ransom, to atone for) those who were subject to the Law, that we might be adopted and have sonship conferred upon us 9and be recognized as God’s sons).
And because you really are His sons, God has sent the (Holy Spirit of His Son into our hearts, crying, Abba (Father)! Father!
Therefore you are no longer a slave (bond servant) but a son; and if a son, then it follows that you are an heir by the aid of God, through Christ.

Mathew 5:3,5,10,14
Blessed (happy, to be envied, and spiritually prosperous – with life-joy and satisfaction in God’s favor and salvation, regardless of their outward conditions) are the poor in spirit (the humble, who rate themselves insignificant), for theirs is the kingdom of heaven!
Blessed and happy and enviably fortunate and spiritually prosperous (in the state in which the born again child of God enjoys and finds satisfaction in God’s favor and salvation, regardless of his outward conditions) are those who are persecuted for righteousness sake (for being and doing right) for theirs is the kingdom of heaven!
You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden.

Mathew 25:33-34
And He will cause the sheep to stand at His right hand, but the goats at His left.
Then the King will say to those at His right hand, come, you blessed of My Father (you favored of God and appointed to eternal salvation), inherit (receive as your own) the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

Ephesians 1:11-14
In Him we also were made (God’s) heritage (portion) and we obtained an inheritance; for we had been foreordained (chosen and appointed beforehand) in accordance with His purpose, Who works out everything in agreement with the counsel and design of His own will.
So that we who first hoped in Christ (Who first put our confidence in Him have been destined and appointed to) live for the praise of His glory!
In Him you also who have heard the Word of Truth, the glad tidings (Gospel) of your salvation, and have believed in adhered to and relied on Him, were stamped with the seal of the long promised Holy Spirit.

That Spirit is the guarantee of our inheritance (the firstfruits, the pledge an foretaste, the down payment on our heritage), in anticipation of its full redemption and our acquiring (complete) possession of it-to the praise of His glory.

Ephesians 2:18-19
For it is through Him that we both (whether far off or near) now have an introduction (access) by one Holy Spirit to the Father so that we are able to approach Him.
Therefore you are no longer outsiders (exiles, migrants, and aliens, excluded from the rights of citizens), but you now share citizenship with the saints (God’s own people, consecrated and set apart for Himself); and you belong to God’s own household.
In Him and in fellowship with one another you yourselves also are being built up into this structure with the rest, to form a fixed abode (dwelling place) of God in (by, through) the Spirit.

Ephesians 3:3-6
And that the mystery (secret) was made known to me and I was allowed to comprehend it by direct revelation, as I already briefly wrote you.
When you read this you can understand my insight into the mystery of Christ.
This mystery (secret) was never disclosed to human beings in past generations as it has now been revealed to His holy apostles (consecrated messengers) and prophets by the (Holy Ghost).
It is this: that the Gentiles are now to be fellow heirs with the Jews, members of the same body and joint partakers (sharing) in the same divine promisre in Christ through (their acceptance of) the glad tidings (the Godspel).

In Whom, because of our faith in Him, we dare to have the boldness (courage and confidence) of free access (an unreserved approach to God with freedom and without fear).
May He grant you out of the rich treasury of His glory to be strengthened and reinforced with mighty power in the inner man by the Holy Spirit Himself indwelling your innermost being and personality

That you may really come to know (practically, through experience for yourselves the love of Christ, which far surpasses mere knowledge without experience; that you may be filled through all your being unto all the fullness of God and may have the richest measure of the divine Presence, and become a body wholly filled and flooded with God Himself!

John 10:27-30
The sheep that are My own hear and are listening to my voice; and I know them, and they follow Me.
And I give them eternal life, and they shall never lose it or perish throughout the ages. To all eternity they shall never by any means be destroyed. And no one is able to snatch them out of My hand.
My Father, Who has given them to Me, is greater and mightier than all else; and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand.
I and the Father are One.

John 14:27
Peace I leave with you; My own peace I now give and bequeath to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid. (Stop allowing yourselves to be agitated and disturbed; and do not permit yourselves to be fearful and intimidated and cowardly and unsettled).
No matter what happens around us we have the Lord's Peace on the inside of us. Receive it.

Colossians 1:11-14
We pray that you may be invigorated and strengthened with all power according to the might of His glory, to exercise every kind of endurance and patience perseverance and forbearance with joy,
Giving thanks to the Father, Who has qualified and made us fit to share the portion which is the inheritance of the saints God's Holy People in the Light.
The Father has delivered and drawn us to Himself out of the control and the dominion of darkness and has transferred us into the kingdom of the Son of His love, In Whom we have our redemption through His blood, which means, the forgiveness of our sins.

John 14:12-14
I assure you, most solemnly I tell you, if anyone steadfastly believes in Me, he will himself be able to do the things that I do; and he will do even greater things than these, because I go to the Father.
And I will do (I Myself will grant) whatever you ask in My Name (as presenting all that I Am), so that the Father may be glorified and extolled in through the Son.
Yes I will grant (I Myself will do for you whatever you shall ask in My Name (as presenting all that I Am).

Luke 10:19
Behold! I have given you authority an power to trample upon serpents and scorpions, and (physical and mental strength and ability) over all the power that the enemy (possesses); and nothing shall in any way harm you.

Luke 10:16
He who hears and heeds you hears and heeds Me; and he who slights and rejects you slights and rejects Me; and he who slights and rejects Me slights and rejects Him Who sent Me.

Acts 1:8
But you shall receive power (ability, efficiency, and might) when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you shall be My witnesses in Jerusalem and all Judea and Samaria and to the ends (the very bounds) of the earth.

I Corinthians 4:20
For the kingdom of God consists of and is based on not talk but power (moral power and excellence of soul).

Psalm 16:5,11
The Lord is my chosen and assigned portion, my cup; you hold and maintain my lot.
You will show me the path of life; in Your presence is fullness of joy, at Your right hand there are pleasures forevermore.

Ezekiel 44:28
This (their ministry to Me) shall be to them as an inheritance, for I Am their inheritance.

I Corinthians 15:27-28
For He (The Father) has put all things in subjection under His (Christ's)feet. But when it says , All things are put in subjection (under Him), it is evident that He (Himself) is excepted Who does the subjecting of all things to Him. However, when everything is subjected to Him, then the Son Himself will also subject to (the Father) Who put all things under Him, so that God may be all in all (be everything to everyone, supreme, the indwelling and controlling factor of life).

II Corinthians 6:16
What agreement (can there be between) a temple of God and idols? For we are the temple of the living God; even as God said, I will dwell in and with and among them, and I will be their God, and they shall be My people.

Hebrews 9:15
(Christ, the Messiah) is therefore the Negotiator and Mediator of an entirely new agreement (testament, covenant), so that those who are called and offered it may receive the fulfillment of the promised everlasting inheritance-since a death has taken place which rescues an delivers and redeems them from the transgressions committed under the old first agreement.

Hebrews 10:10-17,23
And in accordance with this will (of God) we have been made holy (consecrated and sanctified) through the offering made once for all of the body of Jesus Christ (the Anointed One).
Furthermore, every (human) priest stands (at his altar of service) ministering daily, offering the same sacrifices over and over again, which never are able to strip (from every side of us) the sins (that envelop us) and take them away-
Whereas this One (Christ), after He had offered a single sacrifice for our sins that shall avail for all time, sat down at the right hand of God.
For by a single offering he has forever completely cleansed and perfected those who are consecrated and made holy.
And also the Holy Spirit adds His testimony to us (in confirmation of this). For having said,
This is the agreement (testament, covenant) that I will set up and conclude with them after those days, says the Lord: I will imprint My laws upon their hearts, and I will inscribe them on their minds (on their inmost thoughts and understanding),
He then goes on to say, and their sins and their lawbreaking I will remember no more.
So let us seize and hold fast and retain without wavering the hope we cherish and confess and our acknowledgement of it, for He Who promised is reliable (sure) and faithful to His Word.

Psalm 37:28-29
For the Lord delights in justice and forsakes not His saints; they are preserved forever, but the offspring of the wicked (in time) shall be cut off.

Then the consistently righteous shall inherit the land and dwell upon it forever.

Psalm 82:6
I said, You are gods (since you judge on My behalf, as My representatives; indeed all of you are children of the Most High.
Adam did not have a natural father. God was his father.

Romans 8:9-11,14-17,32
But you are not living the life of the flesh, you are living the life of the Spirit, if the Holy Spirit of God (really dwells within you (directs and controls you). But if anyone does not possess the Holy Spirit of Christ, he is none of His (he does not belong to Christ, is not truly a child a child of god.
But if Christ lives in you , then although you natural body is dead by reason of sin and guilt, the spirit is alive because of the righteousness (that He imputes to you).
And if the Spirit of Him Who raised up Jesus from the dead dwells in you, then He Who raised up Christ Jesus from the dead will also restore to life you mortal (short-lived, perishable) bodies through His Spirit Who dwells in you.
For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God.
For the Spirit which you have now received is not a spirit of slavery to put you once more in bondage to fear, but you have received the Spirit of adoption (the Spirit producing sonship) in (the bliss of) which we cry, Abba Father! Father!
The Spirit Himself (thus testifies together with our own spirit assuring us that we are children of God.
And if we are his children, then we are (His) heirs also; heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ (sharing His inheritance with Him); only we must share His suffering if we are to share His glory.
He Who did not withhold or spare (even) His Own Son but gave Him up for us all, will He not freely and graciously give us all other things?

I Corinthians 15:51-53
Take notice! I tell you a mystery (a secret truth, an event decreed by the hidden purpose or counsel of God). We shall not all fall asleep (in death), but we shall all be changed (transformed).
In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the sound of the last trumpet call. For a trumpet will sound, and the dead (in Christ) will be raised imperishable (free and immune from decay) must put on immortality (freedom from death).

Hebrews 3:14
For we have become fellows with Christ (the Messiah) and share in all He has for us, if only we hold our first newborn confidence and original assured expectation (in virtue of which we are believers) firm and unshaken to the end.

I Peter 1:4
By means of these He has bestowed on us His precious and exceedingly great promises, so that through them you may escape (by flight) from the moral decay (rottenness and corruption) that is in the world because of covetousness (lust and greed), and become sharers (partakers) of the divine nature.

Philippians 1:11
May you abound in and be filled with the fruits of righteousness (of right standing with God and right doing) which come through Jesus Christ (the Anointed One), to the honor and praise of God (that His glory may be both manifested and recognized).

Proverbs 3:24-26
When you lie down, you shall not be afraid; yes, you shall lie down, and your sleep shall be sweet.
Be not afraid of sudden terror and panic, nor of the stormy blast or the storm
And ruin of the wicked when it comes for you will be guiltless,
For the Lord shall be your confidence, firm and strong, and shall keep your foot from being caught (in a trap or some hidden danger.

Proverbs 23:7
As a man thinks in his heart, so is he.

Mark 16:17-19
And these attesting signs will accompany those who believe: in My name they will drive out demons; they will speak in new languages;
They will pick up serpents; and even if they drink anything deadly, it will not hurt them; they will lay hands on the sick, and they will get well.
So then the Lord Jesus, after He had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven and He sat down at the right hand of God.

I Corinthians 2:13
And we are setting these truths forth in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Holy Spirit , combining and interpreting spiritual truths with spiritual language to those who possess the Holy Spirit.

I Corinthians 2:9-10
But on the contrary, as the Scripture says, What eye has not seen and ear has not heard and has not entered into the heart of man, all that god has prepared (made and keeps ready) for those who love Him (who hold Him in affectionate reverence, promptly obeying Him an gratefully recognizing the benefits He has bestowed.
Yet to us God has unveiled and revealed them by and through His Spirit, for the Holy Spirit searches diligently, exploring and examining everything even sounding the profound and bottomless things of God (the divine counsels and things hidden and beyond man’s scrutiny).

Ephesians 5:5
For be sure of this: that no person practicing sexual vice or impurity in thought or in life, or one who is covetous (who has lustful desire for the property of others and is greedy for gain for he in effect is an idolater has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God.

Luke 12:15
And He said to them, Guard yourselves and keep free from all covetousness (the immoderate desire for wealth, the greedy longing to have more); for a man’s life does not consist in and is not derived from possessing over-flowing abundance or that which is over and above his needs.

Acts 20:32-35
And now brethren, I commit you to God (I deposit you in His charge, entrusting you to His protection and care). And I commend you to the Word of His grace (to the commands and counsels and promises of His unmerited favor). It is able to build you up and to give you (your rightful) inheritance among all God’s set-apart ones (those consecrated, purified, and transformed of soul).
I coveted no man’s silver or gold or costly garments.
You yourselves know personally that these hands ministered to my own needs and those of the persons who were with me.

I Corinthians 6:9-11
Do you not know that the unrighteous and the wrongdoers will not inherit or have any share in the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived (misled): neither the impure and immoral, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor those who participate in homosexuality, nor cheats (swindlers and thieves), nor greedy graspers, nor drunkards, nor foulmouthed revilers and slanderers, nor extortioners and robbers will inherit or have any share in the kingdom of God.

Acts 26:16-18
But arise and stand upon your feet; for I have appeared to you for this purpose, that I might appoint you to serve as (My) minister and to bear witness both to what you have seen of Me and to that in which I will appear to you.

Choosing you out for Myself and delivering you from among the Gentiles to Whom I am sending you, To open their eyes that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, so that they may thus receive forgiveness and release from their sins and a place and portion among those who are consecrated and purified by faith in Me.

The Hour Glass and the Scales

Susan Cummings

The Lord is standing in front of me. He is wearing a blue robe, with a white sash and belt. I have never seen Him wear a blue robe before with the white sash and robe, but I feel it is significant to the vision. He is standing and He is holding a scale in His right hand, and an hour glass in His left hand.

The scale is tipped with a heavy weight in the one balance, and the other balance has a lighter weight in it.

The Hourglass is empty on top. All of the sand is run to the bottom.

The Lord is standing there holding these two instruments in front of me. He is watching me to see if I comprehend what he is showing me. I wait, as I know that I do not trust my own judgment on anything. He smiles, and comes closer.

He says, “it is good that you do not rely upon your own judgments. Many of My People judge too quickly without waiting upon Me for understanding. They run ahead of Me, and decide to do things ahead of My timing, and often make great mistakes in the process. Never think that you know what I am doing, by just what you see and hear. Always inquire of Me first, before making any decisions, and before releasing what you think you understand.”

“If more of My Prophets did this, there would not be so much fear amongst My Own, or deception. Many of My People are fearful over what they see and hear, and they do not come to Me for confirmation or for understanding. They run to one another first. Then they wonder why they can’t hear My Voice. I won’t be a secondary opinion anymore. I won’t be second place. I will not hear those who cry out to Me, if they continually run to others for their wisdom and direction, without coming to Me first. Am I not their God? Can I not give them understanding of the things to come? Why do they not inquire of their God?”

“What you see in My one Hand is the Scales of My Justice. They are tipped and ready to be poured out. The lighter side of the scale is the prayers of the saints. The heavier side of the scales is the sins in My House. There has not been a full repentance or turning back to Me. My Remnant is praying, but where are the rest? Where are My other children? Running after their gods….. now it is too late. I cried out for prayer. I cried out for repentance. I cried out to My Own for them to fully turn to Me, and to serve Me alone.”

“The Scales of My Justice have been measured and have been weighed, and the cup is full. No more, will I cry out. I have reached out to a perverse and wicked generation who has wandered in the wilderness, and they do not want to come forth, but to remain in their state, so they shall. I will not strive with men. I will have My House full, and it is indeed so, for I have filled it with the outcasts and the lame and the weak and the servants. They are now My Possessions.”

“The Sand Hourglass in My other hand is the time is up. No more time. My Justice is now meted. It will now be reaped. I have delayed until there is no more delay, and it does come as a storm over the land. For the fury of My Father is great upon the wicked and the rebellious. Make no mistake, the wicked are those who know the truth, yet, don’t obey it, but shun it to go their own way. They are those who know the truth, but refuse to yield to it or be changed by it. The rebellious are those who say they love Me, but go and do their own thing, and think it’s okay and permissible because others do it and think they have time to change and get in at the last second. There is no playing with My Grace. Either you are fully Mine or you are not. Either you fully trust Me and live for Me, or you don’t.”

“I am judging all of My House. I am passing over each person in My House and all will be laid bare. Everything in your life not given over to Me, will be burned up in My Judgment. Many will suffer great loss. But I will have a pure Bride. I will have a clean House. I will not live in anything not pure and holy. There is no more delay or waiting. I am now pouring out My Justice.”

“Many think that I am judging the world at this time. I am judging My House. The world will mock, and scorn, and ridicule my judgments as I release them, and as My People suffer, but when I am finished with My House then, I will turn my wrath upon the world. My judgments are for My Own. My wrath is for the world.”

“My Remnant need not fear, for I have already judged them if they have embraced My Fires. I have given them their portion, and they did not refuse Me. My Healing Hand is upon them, and I will indeed raise them up in this hour of Judgments. For they will be My Voice and My Hands in the earth as I pass by. I will have a witness in the earth of My Grace and My Justice.”

“Rend your garments inhabitants of the land, while you can, for I am now passing over the land.”

The Hungry Get Desperate
Tommy Tenney

Jun 6, 2004
The Hungry Get Desperate,
The Satisfied Become Apathetic

God is looking for really hungry people. He hopes to find them in the church, but if necessary He will bypass an entire temple filled with dainty casual nibblers just to find a few really hungry people on the street, in a bar, or on the wrong side of town. Really hungry people tend to be really desperate people (The God Catchers, p. 102).

I've heard it said that many Americans are starving in the land of plenty-not because of the scarcity of food, because we have plenty, but because of their choices of food. Unfortunately this statement applies to the church as well. As stated in The God Catchers:

Our problem is our diet. We like to stuff ourselves on spiritual junk food and feast on dainty bless-me treats. That is the kind of spiritual "food" that has all the form and outward appearance of godliness, but is a standing denial of its power. When the real meat and bread of His presence is placed in front of us, we turn away from His table of intimacy to look for another "quick and easy" flesh-blessing snack at the shallow-food bar. The unpleasant truth is that God is under no obligation to feed casual nibblers at His Communion table.

Do you view hunger to be your friend or your enemy? Hunger nearly always feels uncomfortable and even painful, but what role does it play in your physical and spiritual well-being?

People who aren't hungry can easily walk past a banquet table offering the finest and most expensive foods, delicacies, and refreshments available to man. Hungry people, on the other hand, may feel stomach pains at the mere sight of a picture portraying the potential of food! Satisfied Christians can attend a meeting where God manifests His presence and works miracles only to return to their homes unmoved and unimpressed with "the departure from the usual" in that service. Hungry God Chasers grow restless at the mere mention of a possible visitation by God, and the spend many of their waking hours anticipating the moment He manifests His presence once again.

Do you find it easy to attend worship services and leave without sensing God's presence? Does the mere mention of His possible visitation trigger spiritual hunger pains in your heart? Are you chronic and incurable God Chaser?

People who aren't really hungry, especially those who enter His presence fresh from the bless-me church smorgasbord, tend to sample a little here and snack a little there with extended pinkies in mock discernment. They appear to be looking for "just the right feeling" or "just the right song" to get in the mood for communion with God. … In the natural, true hunger can turn an honest man into a dishonest man, and it can transform a non-violent man into a violent maniac. True hunger will make you do things you never, ever think you would do (in the natural and in the spiritual realm).

Do you casually nibble and search for favorite portions of each worship service, or do you enter every gathering feeling the desperation and urgency of a hungry soul, wondering, "Maybe this is the day He will visit us again…"?

More Erroneous Assumptions, Presumptions and Misaligned Paradigms

Our problem is our diet. We like to stuff ourselves on spiritual junk food and feast on dainty bless-me treats. That is the kind of spiritual "food" that has all the form and outward appearance of godliness, but is a standing denial of its power. When the real meat and bread of His presence is placed in front of us, we turn away from His table of intimacy to look for another "quick and easy" flesh-blessing snack at the shallow-food bar. The unpleasant truth is that God is under no obligation to feed casual nibblers at His Communion table.

"Casual nibbling" is the trademark of someone who isn't hungry for some reason or another. We assume that God's grace obligates Him to feed everyone at His table. He does lay food on the table for all who would eat, but He does not prepare smorgasbord fare loaded with sweet but worthless delicacies for every finicky eater. Please mark "True" or "False" after each of the statements below concerning this passage from The God Catchers:

1. Casual nibblers tend to be drawn to the sweet "bless-me" treats, the personal benefits and emotional thrills of flirtation with Divinity. True or False

2. Casual nibbling allows us to lightly taste God's fare without making any commitment to complete the course and accept its obligations. True or False

3. Casual nibblers who have filled up with dainty bless-me treats instead of life-changing "bread of His presence" will have no strength to stand in times of trial and adversity. True or False

4. If the Scriptures are right, then the "real meat and bread of His presence" from His table of intimacy produces joy and strength in those who draw near (see Psalm 16:11 and Nehemiah 8:10b). True or False

Scripture Reading: Luke 6:20-22, where Jesus spoke directly to His disciples about the blessings in store for those suffering from heart hunger and spiritual thirst in the desolate and dangerous land of man's religion.

20 Then He lifted up His eyes toward His disciples, and said: "Blessed are you poor, For yours is the kingdom of God. 21 Blessed are you who hunger now, For you shall be filled. Blessed are you who weep now, For you shall laugh. 22 Blessed are you when men hate you, And when they exclude you, And revile you, and cast out your name as evil, For the Son of Man's sake.

Prayer Lord Jesus, my soul aches at the mere mention of Your name. My heart leaps with every rumor of Your coming, and each possibility You will manifest Your presence. I'm not satisfied with mere spiritual dainties-I'm ravenously hungry for You in Your fullness. I'm desperate to feast on the bread of Your presence and quench my thirst with the wine of Your Spirit.

Thick-Headed Or Thick-Skinned

Tim Meredith Jacob Ray

May 29, 2004

"Don't let today's refreshing become tomorrow's tradition!"

It was nine some years ago when the Lord first spoke those words to my spirit. I was at the height of my own personal Renewal experience. Life was exciting in those days, though terribly difficult, and my zeal for the Lord was at an all time high. It much resembled this famous quote from Charles Dickens in his novel The Tale of Two Cities.

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going direct to heaven . . ."

Charles Dickens also said, "Minds, like bodies, will often fall into a pimpled, ill-conditioned state from mere excess of comfort." Thank God He's not allowing that to happen to us!

I can still see myself back then, getting crazy at some charismaniac blow out, hopped up on caffeine and the Holy Ghost, grooving on every manifestation the good Lord was willing to throw my way. But what He said stopped me in my tracks. "Don't let today's refreshing become tomorrow's tradition." The realization that this season of refreshing wouldn't last forever sobered me out of my Holy Spirit stupor (give me another drink . . . thank you Scott Underwood).

Then the Lord asked an unsettling question.

"When this new wineskin becomes old, will you be willing to let Me give you yet another wineskin? Will you allow me to stretch you and shape you and make you ready for what's coming next?" Somehow I knew that what was coming next wouldn't be the standard charismatic party.

You see something is coming next. Something big. I don't know if it's next week, next month, next year, or the year 2929. But I know something big is coming and the Lord is in the process of outfitting us with a new wineskin. Ouch!

My good friend Jacob Ray recently shared a vision (for this experience see below) he had of the new wineskin. The Lord spoke to me through the picture Jake shared and said, "I expect my people to be `thick-skinned'". I would like to share some thoughts with you on why this is important and hopefully encourage you in whatever situation the Lord has you placed.

Yes, there is new outpouring on its way. And those of us who want to participate in it will experience a lot of criticism from several camps. This is one reason we must be "thick-skinned." Many will think we are simply "thick-headed."

One more thing . . . I don't profess to know what the next outpouring will specifically look like. But I do feel the Lord has revealed some of its characteristics.

1. The next great outpouring will not be like anything this generation has experienced before. Though accompanied by signs & wonders, miracles & healing, there will be aspects of this move that many will find offensive. Even more offensive than what we called Renewal. We must be thick-skinned.
2. The next great outpouring will offend the Religious. That probably goes without saying, because every great outpouring in history offended the religious. Those with religious spirits will attack us without mercy. We must be thick-skinned.
3. The next great outpouring will offend the World system. Yes, many will come to the Lord because of it, but the system will rebel. Expect persecution from the government, in the workplace, and from the media. We must be thick-skinned.
4. The next great outpouring will offend the practitioners of "old-time renewal." This too is consistent with Kingdom history. Those who are unwilling to leave the past move of God will resist the next move. They will not realize their manna has become moldy and full of worms. Some of our biggest attacks will come from this camp. We must be thick-skinned.

Most will think we are just "thick-headed." When we put on the helmet of salvation we'll be considered thick-headed. When we take on the mind of Christ we'll be considered thick-headed. When we set our face like flint we'll be considered thick-headed.

Have you recently been offended? Are you struggling to forgive? Is the Lord challenging the man-pleasing spirit that still resides within you? Does it seem that no matter how hard you try, no one seems to understand your intention? Have you recently been betrayed? Does life seem unfair? Has the Lord placed you in an uncomfortable position, a place you've never been before?

Hang on. You're just being fitted with your new wineskin. And boy is that skin thick! The good news is that the training ground is usually more difficult then the actual event.

Remember this . . . one common characteristic that will be shared by all of us who participate in the next great move of God is the unwillingness to quit. Press on! Push through! Never quit!

Shaking, Stretching And The Renewed Wineskin.
Jacob Ray

windwords7@yahoo.com

This is the word as I submitted to the leadership of our local body. I left it unchanged so as to preserve the way it came to me. Though I won't say that everything in this word applies to the larger body of Christ (specifically the date portion of this word), I humbly submit this to you all, being convinced that much of what is contained in here is for many more than our local body only.

"I received this word Saturday night and shared it with Don Pike after the service in Albany. Please check the date and time with him if you want to. Considering all the emphasis on "shaking" that came forth Sunday morning I feel that I should submit this to you for your consideration.

I heard the lord clearly say that there was going to be 3 months of shaking, stretching, and pounding mixed with oil and water in order to attempt to prepare the wineskin of our body for His new wine. He said it would be hard but that it was necessary. In order to take an old wineskin and prepare it to receive new wine there is a process that must be done that includes oil and water being saturated into the skin and then you pound (which produces shaking) and stretch the skin into a pliable condition that is once again ready to receive new wine and not see it lost by a bursting (let's not even go there!! :-0).

I felt like I was to look at my phone for the date and do the math. 3 months from Saturday is July 17th.

I also felt that the Lord is going to do Supernaturally to our "wineskin" what is not possible in the natural and that is to add "new leather" to the existing skin in order to produce some changes that He has in mind. He did not elaborate much but I do believe that this speaks more directly to the Leadership team and I am expecting some "additions" as the Lord sees fit.

At first I was a little disheartened when I saw how much "shaking" was coming, but the Lord assured me that even though this will be hard (working leather is a very demanding, physical endeavor in the natural) that it's goal was of great benefit to us if we will yield to the full measure of what He is doing, not stopping short. I believe in your leadership my friend and I do not believe that you will let us stop short.

The up side to the shaking/stretching is of course the water and the oil!!! We get to be saturated in it WHILE the pounding/shaking and stretching is taking place. Yahoo!!!

Come saturate and permeate our lives Lord and go to work!! Make us ready to receive that what you have laid in reserve for us. Let us walk the path of Love, Forgiveness and Rest resulting in beholding the Glory of the Lord with unveiled sight in ever increasing clarity, thereby transforming us into your very image revealing the son's of God on the earth. All of creation is waiting for YOU in me!! So be it Lord Jesus!!"

The Highway is Here

Michele Perry

I was in worship one evening recently and as the praise and worship team began to sing, "Freedom, Freedom..." I had a strong revelation from the Lord.
I saw the ancient way of intimacy with the Lord being raised up in this day. There is a shaking occurring to bring a placing and establishing of His ways in our land again. There is a shifting and an aligning in this day... the foundations are being aligned with God's design. I saw the highway of holiness from Isa 35 being laid out like the portable roads the army uses for their equipment transport. It was literally being snapped into place to prepare the way of the greatest outpouring of God's Spirit our land has ever known. But it would not be without contest. The highway is here, beloved. The highway is here.

This highway of holiness will bring a restoration of God's ways to this nation leading to a release of freedom at the deepest levels. It will bring with it an outpouring of signs and wonders and healings--the blind will see, the deaf hear, spiritual and natural eyes and ears will be opened in this day. It will be for those who choose to walk in this way to see these things.

The word way in Isa 35:8 is the Hebrew word "derek". This word has many applications, one of which is courting and intimacy. The highway of holiness, separation unto the Lord is the highway of intimacy with Him. Those that despise wisdom, are quarrelsome and licentious shall not walk on this way. Indeed they cannot because it is the way of intimacy with the Lord. Only the redeemed of the Lord, the ransomed of Him, those who have been redeemed from death, bondage and exile shall walk in this way. The word used to redeem is the word that pictures the Kinsman-Redeemer come to exact vengeance on the enemy and buy back every bit of land that was stolen in our nation.

Church-- God is calling us back to intimacy with Him. He is calling us to restore the boundaries the enemy has torn down or moved back to His Word and His ways. He is calling is to walk with Him deeper and closer that we ever have. It is on this highway of holiness, this interstate of intimacy, this journey with Jesus we will see His glory revealed anew in this land. The highway is here.

Take Heed Lest He Fall

Yolanda Ballard

(A Message of Restoration)
(LionOfJudah1920@wmconnect.com)

Move into the realm of the unexpected cautiously for one needs to know both My ways and the ways of the enemy to discern if what is about to happen is truly what you need to be a part of. For the enemy also moves in the realm of signs and wonders and also by an anointing, but it is a false anointing. So don't go by what you see or feel, but walk by the surely and trust of My written word, by the scriptures and by prophetic messages you know to be true.

For these are the end times, and the enemy is going about like a roaring lion seeking who he may devour. But those who keep themselves hidden in the secret place he cannot see, much less touch with his devices. So I AM calling you close to know My word and to know My ways and to draw close and listen intently to what I have to say for I AM preparing a people who will do great things in My name. Yes, they will go out and rescue the captives from the clutch of the enemy. They will heal those who had been ensnared by deception and restore them to spiritual health. They will open blind eyes so they can see truth once again. They will even loose the tongue of the dumb, of those who could not speak in My name because of fear. I will even deliver those of confusion so they will have a sound mind. Yes, they will have the mind of Christ.

For these are the called out ones who the enemy had carried away captive, because those who had been shepherds over them did not pay the price to keep them safe. They did not teach others to walk in love but to follow after signs and wonders and anointings. Yes, they were taught to follow after every wind of doctrine and not to pay the price to know My word. And now I will cause these unfaithful shepherds to repent of their complacency for if they truly delighted themselves in My word, there would be good fruit in the congregation of the saints. Yes, this is the day of the great awakening. I will use eye salve so that they can see the error of their ways and repent and come back stronger than ever. For their mistakes will make them more aware of the devices of the enemy. They were too confident in their spiritual stand, too trusting in man, and not aware enough of the enemy's plan to trip them up.

Draw close to Me and seek My face daily. Cry out for deeper revelation of My will and for holy boldness to stand for the message of the Cross which has become an unpopular message, but it is one of life and grace. Do not separate yourself from a message that will produce truth in others. What I say to you this day is to take heed to not become too confident in your walk for that is when you become careless and become independent and then you will fall.

1 Cor 10:12 - Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall.

I will deliver you from the snare of the fowler. I will sustain you and restore you to health. I will set you free from all complacency and deception. Be open and willing, and I will give you the fruit of the land in plenty. I will give you your heart's deepest desire to know Me more intimately for I will restore you to your first love when meeting with the saints was truly a place of refuge from the storm. But when you got your eyes off of Me and on to man, you became disappointed and discouraged. You lost desire for My presence, because you went your own way. If you return unto Me, I will restore your zeal and your fire for Me.

Trust Me and see what I will do for I will bless your step of faith in obedience. I AM calling you back to Me. Be one with Me and with My people. Set yourself free from the critical heart and the legalistic attitude. Walk only in My grace and truth, and let Me be the Head of the body. I started a good work, and I AM faithful to complete it. Return unto Me. Press into My intimate presence, and you will have breakthrough, and surely the plans of the enemy will be defeated!

The Holy Spirit's Call On Memorial Day

Marie-France McDowell-Smith

May 31, 2004
LAY ASIDE WHAT DIVIDES YOU OR IT WILL CONQUER YOU!

Please set aside your religions, your genealogies, and politics-- listen to the higher call. Below this note, you will find a message from President George W. Bush, sent out from River of Revival Ministries, at inJesus.com. Thank you to Richard and Jeannette Elliott.

GOD PLACES LEADERS AND TAKES THEM OUT OF POSITION

President Geo. W. Bush is the man that God has placed in the highest office in the land of America-- the United States of America. The Bible tells us that we are to pray for our leaders in authority.

'EXCUSES, EXCUSES' or IS THERE MORE TO IT?

How rational is it when people say, "Well, I don't like Bush, what he does", and on and on ad nauseum. "I WILL NOT PRAY FOR BUSH." and "America is proud, disgusting, greedy--selling the souls of man, crushing and destroying weaker nations, murderers of babies, homosexual lifestyle, stinking of SIN, GROTESQUE SIN, so I will not pray for her!" How bizarre is that line of thinking? Where is common sense in this? Dear one, "If" you had been praying perhaps this wouldn't have happened, ALL of our GROSS SIN! Do we no longer understand the definition of COURAGE, BRAVERY, VALOR, or DUTY? Are these foreign words in America's vocabulary? How the mighty have fallen. Such a rebellious people, O YHVH, our God, forgive us!!!

REFUSAL TO PRAY IS DISOBEDIENCE

Beyond common sense [which is God given], refusal to pray as the Holy Spirit of God directs is disobedience!!! As though one would invite one's enemies into your home, giving access and entry and saying, 'Go for it, you come right into our house, steal anything you want, kill our kids, destroy our entire family, commit horrors, all with our assistance and welcome." SUICIDAL behavior!

WHY NOT PRAY?

Could one liken the behavior above to the Body of Messiah? "Ridiculous," you shout! Yet as followers of Yeshua (Jesus) we do it each day as we fill our lives with things other than God. We do not go to GOD in prayer. WHY? Perhaps as warned in the Bible, distractions and worldly cares have buried our first Love; maybe unbelief in God's Word; or even worse--ignorance of who our God is and HIS loving and faithful character, what HE requires of those who are called by HIS name, rewards that lie ahead in our future, magnificent and glorious.

As bratty children at a playground's merry-go-round, we ride this spinning thing called life. When we do not get our way with God, as charmingly spoiled miniature royals, we simply dismiss the Holy Spirit speaking to us and go our jolly way. We jump off the ride. Rather preferring to sit it out and harass, complain, wear out others actively involved in accomplishing the Lord's tasks at hand. We appear as overindulged kids in a candy store, ignoring God's practical instructions and eating all we desire...only to end up sick, hurting, rotted teeth causing enormous pain, rolls of fat hanging off our bodies slowing us down in the race. Could this explain the miserably thirsty and hungry creatures sitting in churches with horrid personalities searching for their next sugar high, gossip their tool. How many are the containers barely maintaining the form, while no life exists within? Just as 'dead as a door nail,' no Life. Choose today: "MY (God's) way or the highway," as we say in Texas. Terrifyingly, this glamorous, glitzy, glaring highway slides and slithers, hissing all the way to hell. Who is God in your life? Little time to decide, "Move it on out, rawhide!"

WE WHINE; THEY DIE!

In Messiah's Body are battalions of babies who continue to feed on the milk and cannot, NO, they WILL NOT EAT MEAT even when quite capable. Do we as professing followers of Yeshua (Jesus) eat up God-fearing servants, anointed of the Most High God--both men and women. Do we lure, 'feed 'em steroids to beef them up', hog tie and roast them, spitting out their carcasses depriving even the birds of the air? Do we devour as a beast the Lord's anointed ones sent from Heaven above? Do we cast the good shepherds aside as trash upon a dung heap as we finish them off with one last poison dart...not to even speak of our behaviors toward their precious wives and children, turned away from lack of any semblance of love, enslaved and conscripted for their entire lives. No thought of wrong by those who seek to be served. O, God, for these acts of murder in Your Body, FORGIVE!

So, too, our military families who must subsist on WELFARE, government hand-outs, inhumane struggles while expected to daily live in peril of life...Lord help us. We want to whine and complain and do not surrender nor give God sacrifice in prayer. We do not come humbly on bended knee before our Almighty God!

LAZINESS, FAULT FINDING INSTEAD OF FIXING (Repairing)

Nor do we want our righteous, 'lily white hands' to become defiled by working in a political system not perfect; YET FAR SUPERIOR TO SHARIA LAW!!! Ask anyone, anyplace where Sharia is instituted and enforced ... ENFORCED!!! Obey their demonic god or die by the sword, condemned by judges without mercy, their sentence -- "Stone them to death" or decree hand down to the offender --"Behead them, chop their heads, sever it from their bodies." These phrases no longer grisly story-book lore, but reality for the times in which we now live. All-powerful-one, forgive, defend and preserve us--O, God, help us!

WHAT WILL IT TAKE?

Some say, "Well, honey, we just don't feel led to pray!" My question to you is:

"So, what will it take for you to feel led?

Do you need to see enemies on America's soil rise up, your daughters and sons raped.

Do you need to hear their screams as they are repeatedly and mercilessly tortured?

Or for you adrenalin junkies --- Witness more beheadings?

All of our laws and seasons changed to Sharia Law (Islam)!!!

Massive amounts of blood spilled here on American soil?

Nuclear winter?

Tell me, "What"?

YESHUA LEFT US WEAPONS OF WAR TO FIGHT NOT TO POLISH!

Yeshua weeps! HE WEEPS! He watches as we have time for everything except PRAYER AND INTERCESSION---talking with him, asking of the Father through the Holy Spirit! He left us power and authority in HIS name to come against the powers and principalities of the air, deep darkness as evidenced in this world. Yeshua (Jesus) defeated the ENCROACHING EVIL filling the whole earth, as a black hole, devastating destruction beyond our comprehension. HE OVERCAME THE WORLD; WE ARE TO OVERCOME in and by the power of the Holy Spirit, the Word of God and our testimonies. The testimony of HIS BLOOD! We shall share in HIS Glory to the degree in which we die and suffer in our service for HIS Kingdom's sake.

IT IS WAR! WHERE ARE YOUR WEAPONS?

Yeshua (Jesus) tells us to be Light and Salt. HE left us not as orphans. WE need appropriate, take hold of, understand and use all the spiritual tools, weapons, strategies in HIS CORNUCOPIA OF GIFTS for us--The Bible, the Torah (HIS instruction), HIS playbook if you will, PRAYER, the Holy spirit, each other (we are gifts one to another from the Father of Lights), and so much more. All waiting for us to receive and utilize for HIS Kingdom! For HIS glory! For HIS name's sake! These gifts for our provision, protection and PEACE!

FREEDOMS HIGH PRICE; as some say 'THIS AIN'T NO TRIAL RUN!'

For Americans and Israelis, countries of democracy whose clarion call is FREEDOM---our path is littered with FREEDOM'S HIGH PRICE. The costly price paid daily by our young men and women, our children and our elderly, daughters and sons who are RIGHT NOW DYING, SHEDDING BLOOD, BODY PARTS BLOWN TO SMITHEREENS and even stolen by a barbaric people. Worse yet, some tortured by maniacs, even beheaded for all to see! O, YHVH [God} rescue now, forgive now, save now, we cry out to you. True and Living God, YHVH, Holy One of Isra'el, forgive us our multitude of SINS, forgive us and SAVE; HIS NAME IS WONDERFUL!!!

STOP AND THINK UPON SACRIFICES MADE TO KEEP FREEDOM

Memorial Day is set aside to honor and think upon sacrifices to protect and defend...those who are our countries heroes! --our military, our law enforcement officers, our first responders who save lives. Regardless of whether our wars, both foreign and domestic, are right or just in your view, they happened, are happening and will continue to occur until the Prince of Peace returns to rule and reign! Leaders are accountable before God! Would we not, at the very least, pray and lift them before the Lord that they might SEE, HEAR, and OBEY God and lead us by God's WISDOM!

SHOULD BRAVERY NOT BE HONORED?

The men and women who have given 'life and limb' to keep us FREE, SHOULD they not be BE HONORED on this day? The ones who are ALIVE, SURVIVORS of the horror of war SHOULD THEY NOT BE HONORED, ESTEEMED, AND COMFORTED with the Love of the Father from above? Just say "Thank you." These 'two tiny words' could deliver, set free and bring great healing.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?

Has America been castrated? Neutralized? Is our culture so fat in body, mind and spirit; so drug-induced that ignorance nearly reigns supreme? Are we being led to slaughter? Are we any longer able to THINK? God, forgive us our SINS and save! We cry out to you, for only You can SAVE us!

PRAY FOR LEADERS, MILITARY and LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS AMERICA

Let us PRAY FOR OUR LEADERS and show support and honor toward the men and women who have served and are now serving!!! Drawn by purpose, brave men and women, who hear their country's call, who listen and obey, train and disciple their bodies and minds to work as a team under led by the authority of leadership. All this by their conscious choice as free-will volunteers who confront and defeat EVIL!

HE'S ALIVE! HE OBEYED!

Yeshua (Jesus) defeated the enemy of our souls. It was accomplished as HE obeyed the Father, died, shed HIS BLOOD, and AROSE! HE's Alive! HE LIVES! HE is our GREATEST HERO, Yeshua haMashiach (Jesus the Messiah). HE not only prayed for HIS friends, HE voluntarily gave HIS LIFE AND SHED HIS BLOOD for HIS friends and HIS ENEMIES alike! No greater love, no greater love than to lay down one's life for one's friends. Do we remember this? 'FRIENDS and ENEMIES', he prayed, died and shed HIS precious, royal blood, that ALL who call upon HIS name might be saved! The name of Yeshua (Jesus), God's only Son, the Lord of lords and King of kings SAVES! Halleluyah!!!

GOD's GOVERNMENT--HE WILL WIPE AWAY ALL TEARS!

SOON, our King, Yeshua haMashiach, returns to rule and reign forever as God sets up HIS government! The TRUE one world government, not the false we see coming together as puzzle pieces, devised by governments and men, satanically inspired and controlled! When the King of king, Yeshua (Jesus) rules, there will be No more wars, no more death, no more tears! HE WILL WIPE AWAY ALL TEARS!!! Sorrow will flee, just tuck tail and run! HE will wipe away tears of those who have been in wars, who have experienced horrors that some of us cannot possibly imagine and that many are unable to forget. HE WILL WIPE AWAY the tears of mothers, wives, sisters who still REMEMBER their loved ones lost. HE WILL WIPE AWAY the tears of the children who have never seen or known their dads or moms who were/are being killed upon war's battlefields. HE WILL WIPE AWAY the tears from those whose bodies and minds have been mangled in the wreckage of war. Let us not forget our P.O.W.'s. May we continue to pray for them until every one is accounted for, WE LEFT THEM BEHIND! GOD FORGIVE US! GOD FORGIVE US! GOD FORGIVE US! God IS WIPING THOSE TEARS AWAY RIGHT NOW!!! BE ASSURED, those who were followers of Yeshua (Jesus) who died are alive and well in heaven! And one day SOON, God is going to have the BIGGEST FAMILY REUNION WE HAVE EVER SEEN! We are going to celebrate ... Halleluyah!!!

PRIVILEGE AND RESPONSIBILITY

With great privilege comes great responsibility, greater duty ... our first and foremost allegiance to God, Yeshua (Jesus) and Ruach (the Holy Spirit). As followers of Messiah Jesus, we are directed to pray for our leaders, and certainly for our own countries and families. Today, the Holy spirit of YHVH calls for the repentance of our SINS, sanctification, common sense to be restored to minds now awakened, obedience to the Word, the infilling of the Holy Spirit, and the suffering and sacrifice of prayer from broken hearts. Praise and true worhship on their heels!!! Our need does not move God's heart to intervene for us, only our faith. Will you come, will you bend your knee to El Gibor (Mighty God) and pray? The fields are white and ready for harvest... Where are the laborers? They are so few! Fewer still are those who have completely yielded hearts submitted without question to HIS command. Ruach (the Holy Spirit of God) calls. Listen, listen, do you hear the Wind? Do you hear HIS love whispering to YOU upon the Wind?

Prayer for Peace, Memorial Day, 2004 By the President of the United States of America A Proclamation

For more than two centuries, Americans have been called to defend the founding ideals of our democracy. On Memorial Day, a grateful Nation remembers the proud patriots who made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of liberty's blessings.

From the opening battles of the American Revolution through the turmoil of the Civil War, to World War I, World War II, Korea, and Vietnam, to the Persian Gulf and today's operations in the war on terror in Afghanistan, Iraq, and around the world, the members of our military have built a tradition of honorable and faithful service. As we observe Memorial Day, we remember the more than one million Americans who have died to preserve our freedom, the more than 140,000 citizens who were prisoners of war, and all those who were declared missing in action. We also honor our veterans for their dedication to America and their sacrifice.

This year, we honor many heroes by observing the 60th anniversary of D-Day on the beaches of Normandy, and by dedicating the National World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C. In a radio address on June 6, 1944, President Franklin Roosevelt described these service members as the "pride of our Nation," who struggled to preserve our civilization. The fallen from that fateful day and that war will always be remembered. They hold a cherished place in the history of the United States and in the memories of the people they liberated.

Today, all who wear the uniform of the United States are serving at a crucial hour in history, and each has answered a great call to serve our Nation on the front lines of freedom. As we continue to fight terrorism and promote peace and freedom-, let us pray for the safety and strength of our troops, for God's blessing on them and their families, and for those who have lost loved ones.

On this Memorial Day, we honor all of our fallen soldiers, their commitment to our country, and their legacy of patriotism and sacrifice. By giving their lives in the cause of freedom, these heroes have protected and inspired all Americans.

In respect for their devotion to America, the Congress, by a joint resolution approved on May 11, 1950, as amended (64 Stat. 158), has requested the President to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe each Memorial Day as a day of prayer for permanent peace and designating a period on that day when the people of the United States might unite in prayer. The Congress, by Public Law 106-579, has also designated the minute beginning at 3:00 p.m. local time on that day as a time for all Americans to observe the National Moment of Remembrance.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE W. BUSH, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Memorial Day, May 31, 2004, as a day of prayer for permanent peace, and I designate the hour beginning in each locality at 11:00 a.m. of that day as a time to unite in prayer. I also ask all Americans to observe the National Moment of Remembrance beginning at 3:00 p.m. local time on Memorial Day. I urge the press, radio, television, and all other media to participate in these observances.

I also request the Governors of the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the appropriate officials of all units of government, to direct that the flag be flown at half-staff until noon on this Memorial Day on all buildings, grounds, and naval vessels throughout the United States, and in all areas under its jurisdiction and control. I also request the people of the United States to display the flag at half-staff from their homes for the customary forenoon period.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year of our Lord two thousand four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and twenty-eighth.

GEORGE W. BUSH

River of Revival Ministries: [Prayer for Peace, Memorial Day, 2004 By the President of the United States of America A Proclamation]

The Holy Spirit’s Touch

Gary Carroll

I am everywhere -- both near and far, in heaven and on earth. …
Jeremiah 23:23-24 (CEV)

An understanding of holiness plays an important role in receiving the Holy Spirit’s touch. Before we can find the Holy Spirit, we must learn to embrace the holiness of His person. Holding dear this characteristic of His nature will determine our approach to Him and whether we find Him or not. We must become sensitive to the holiness of the person we seek.

We must also recognize our lack of holiness and the sinful nature we are born with. Recognizing this about ourselves is equally important. Recognizing our insufficiency tells us what we must do to permit the Holy Spirit to visit us in the special way we desire.

Finding the Holy Spirit’s touch is dependent on our attitude and our approach to Him. We must become still and quiet to find the Holy Spirit’s touch. Our mind must become still and quiet. Our mind must have a focus only of waiting for Him. All our thoughts must be quieted. It is a time to be as silent and still as we can be. We must be quietly focused on Him coming to us. As we begin looking for Him to touch us, it is appropriate to extend our hands toward Him and then keep them still. As we begin looking for Him, it is appropriate to express to Him how welcome He is to be with us and then invite Him to be with us. After this time, we begin our wait for Him. We are still and quiet. We are suppressing our sinful nature with stillness and quietness. We are not allowing it to have power over us. We are placing the nature of the Holy Spirit above our own. We are approaching Him on His terms, based on His holiness. We are making it possible for our Holy God to approach us as we temporarily invalidate our sinful nature. This is where we make it possible for the Holy Spirit to visit us – as we nullify our flesh. As we over-rule our sinful nature, we remove the hindrance of our flesh to a Holy God who desires to come to us. We make it possible for our Holy God to visit us personally.

In the beginning, it can be difficult to keep our mind still and quiet. But practice makes perfect, and the more we exercise this while waiting for the Holy Spirit, the easier it becomes. The time required for us to wait for His touch also shortens as we exercise our approach to God. What once required thirty minutes of waiting may now take only five minutes to find Him. And before we realize it, our approach to God becomes a lifestyle. Our time of waiting for the Holy Spirit becomes a focus of life that holds great value -- because it is successful. We truly find God in our approach to Him and find that we cannot live any other way.

The Holy Spirit is always willing to touch us. The touch of the Holy Spirit is a literal touch that will be felt. There cannot be a more wonderful feeling than experiencing His personal touch. I mostly feel His touch on the outside of my right thumb while in prayer waiting for Him.

And of the rest of the oil that is in his hand shall the priest put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the blood of the trespass offering: Leviticus 14:17

The trespass offering of the Old Testament was a holy offering to God that was exercised in the cleansing of leprosy. A male lamb was slain by the priest and offered to God for a trespass offering. The priest would then apply the lamb's blood upon the leper to be cleansed. The blood was applied to the tip of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and to the big toe of the right foot. After this, the priest applied oil on top of the blood previously applied to the leper. The priest then made atonement for the leper to be cleansed before the Lord.

Bible commentaries portray leprosy as symbolic of sin. We can recognize the Holy Spirit's contribution in the cleansing of sin as we see the symbolism in this cleansing.

> The lamb was slain first and the blood of the lamb was applied to the leper -- The lamb's blood is symbolic of the blood of Jesus, the Lamb of God. This is the blood Jesus shed on the cross. This is the blood of the New Covenant.
> Applying the oil on top of the blood followed -- Oil is symbolic of the Holy Spirit. This is The Holy Spirit's touch.
> The priest then made atonement for the leper. The result was a cleansing from leprosy. The priest is symbolic of Jesus, our high priest. He restores our inner man from the effects of sin. He restores our soul. He restores our union with Him.

As Christians, the New Covenant blood of Jesus has been applied to each of our lives. Now we need His Oil. We need the Holy Spirit's touch. We need His restoration from the effects of a sinful world. We receive His restoration when He touches us. His touch brings mighty strength and restoration to our inner man. The imparting of His Spirit is experienced and enjoyed. Spiritual waves and rivers flow into us when He touches us. His touch contains contentment, peace, strength and love. Fears leave. The worries of life leave. Our flesh is subdued. It cannot be in control. Any problem now seems insignificant. Our faith in God takes a giant step forward when He touches us. His touch is a very natural expression of His love and His concern for us.

To Him That Overcomes

Chip Brogden

> "And they overcame [the dragon] by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their Testimony, and they loved not their own lives unto the death" (Revelation 12:11).

Whenever I speak or write on the subject of the Overcomers I always preface my remarks by saying that overcoming is the normal Christian life. God has not created an elite group of super-spiritual people within the Church who have some special "anointing" or power. I am well aware that some people teach and believe that the Overcomers are a special class of people that will rise up and exercise great authority over the earthly kingdoms of this world - even over their spiritually immature brothers and sisters. We reject that on the basis that every believer, whether they know it or not, is already complete and is already blessed with every spiritual blessing in Christ (Colossians 2:10; Ephesians 1:3).

I pray God will open our eyes to see that God's purpose for the Overcomers is not to establish an earthly kingdom, but to enlarge and increase a spiritual kingdom that is not seen outwardly, but is hidden within each believer (Luke 17:20,21). This is no earthly kingdom, for it is "not of this world" (John 18:36). When Jesus perceived that the people were going to take Him by force and make Him an earthly king, He left them and went up into a mountain, alone (John 6:15). When Peter drew his sword, Jesus told him to put it away. From these examples it should be obvious that overcoming is a heavenly reality, not an earthly achievement or accomplishment.

OVERCOMING IS THE NORMAL CHRISTIAN LIFE

God's purpose is for Christ to fill all things, beginning with each disciple, and then with the Church as the synthesis of all disciples. Only then will He be able to restore the nations of this world and the whole of Creation. We spend too much time trying to change things outwardly for others before we have truly appreciated what God has done inwardly for us. Every child of God should be a living demonstration of how God will sum up everything beneath the Headship of Christ. The world, the principalities and powers, and creation itself should be able to see in the Church a foreshadowing of what life will be like when Christ is "All in All" (see Ephesians 3:8-11).

Of course, we know that what we have today is an aberration from God's purpose. Even though He has put "all things in subjection under [Christ]", it remains that "we do not yet see all things put under Him" (cf. Hebrews 2:8). That is, looking around outwardly at the Church, the world, and the creation, we do not see the preeminence of Christ. We hardly see it when we examine our own lives. Is Jesus really Lord? Is God truly sovereign? Indeed. He is working "all things after the counsel of His own Will" (Ephesians 1:11b). Obviously this is a progressive thing. He does not suddenly take over the universe, no more than He suddenly takes over each disciple. Children of God are not born fully grown, and Jesus is not building His Church in one day. Instead, He works slowly, almost imperceptibly, increasing and enlarging, gently leading, gradually revealing Himself in a thousand small ways.

So who is an Overcomer? If the Overcomers are not earthly conquerors or crusaders, what are they? Overcomers are simply Christians who live the normal Christian life. That is, the normal Christian life, as God intends, is a life that overcomes. It is not a life that is defeated. So what is the "normal" Christian life? It is a life which demonstrates the preeminence of Jesus Christ over all things.

How do we measure victory or defeat? What characterizes one Christian as an Overcomer, and another Christian as defeated? In Revelation 12:11 we see exactly what an Overcomer is - someone who defeats the dragon. Obviously the dragon symbolizes the devil. We see three arenas of conflict in which Overcomers are made. There is the blood of the Lamb, the word of their Testimony, and "loving not" their lives.

In our article, "THREE ENEMIES" we identified these three areas of conflict as sin, self, and satan.

We do not wish to repeat ourselves again here, except to say that the blood of the Lamb overcomes sin, the word of their Testimony overcomes satan, and "loving not" their lives overcomes self. Whatever rises up to challenge us comes from one of these three enemies. They do not present themselves in any particular order, but they come continually. Of these three, I used to believe satan was the most formidable. I now understand that the most formidable enemy is not satan at all, but self, for satan's only strength is self's belief in satan's lie. I know people who are occupied with fighting satan day and night but they have never died to self, so all their fighting is for nothing. Their enemy is within.

Do you believe that Jesus is more powerful than sin? Do you believe that Jesus is more powerful than satan? Do you believe that Jesus is more powerful than self? Certainly Jesus is Lord over all these things. We know He lived a sinless life. We know He went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed by the devil - indeed, He was revealed in order to destroy the devil and his works (Hebrews 2:14; I John 3:8). We know that He did nothing for self, but always did His Father's will. So we can clearly see Christ has the preeminence over sin, self, and satan. Yet there are "realities" in this present universe which seem to suggest that Jesus is NOT Lord over sin, self, and satan. Now this brings us to the heart of what it means to be an Overcomer. The one that overcomes is the one that continually defeats the dragon by DEMONSTRATING the preeminence of Christ over sin, self, and satan. You see, this has nothing to do with electing Christians into the highest places of earthly government. That is a comparatively easy task. Here we are speaking of a spiritual conflict of cosmic proportions.

IS JESUS REALLY LORD?

Allow me to illustrate this conflict. What if I were to tell you that Jesus is not really Lord? What if I wrote an article which suggested that the Blood could not cleanse us from sin? Or what if I preached a message and proclaimed that satan is actually stronger than Jesus? Or suppose I sent you a letter in which I confided that the Cross has no power? Would you be upset? Hopefully you would label me as a heretic and would reject me and this teaching forever. You would categorically deny such a teaching in the strongest possible terms, and I would never teach such things anyway.

Yet the way most of us live our lives teaches the universe that Jesus is not really Lord. We do not have to actually SAY with our mouths, "Satan is more powerful than Jesus; sin is more powerful than the Blood; self is more powerful than the Cross." We say it with our lives - every time we willfully sin, every time we give satan an advantage over us, and every time we put self before Christ. Confessing or proclaiming the Truth means nothing by itself. When we do not DEMONSTRATE the Truth we claim with our mouths then we are actually teaching the opposite thing with our actions.

We are full of these contradictions. Let me take a very common and seemingly innocent example such as worry. Most of us, from time to time or nearly all of the time, worry about something - our health, our finances, our loved ones, and so on. Yet the Scriptures say take no thought for your lives and be anxious for nothing. Why is worry a sin? I know we consider it "only human", but worry really implies a lack of trust in God. It is believing a lie. Identify the lie and you can quickly discover the Truth. What is the lie? That God is somehow less than sufficient, that perhaps He will not come through for us. So you see, the enemy gets us to believe a lie, and then gets us to think that we are just being "human". So then we accept something less than the normal Christian life - overcoming - and think that is just the way it is. Remember: satan has no power apart from our belief in his lie.

Overcomers are learning to bridge the gap between what they SAY they believe and how they really LIVE. Now we are not criticizing or judging people for having anxious thoughts, for we have our share of them. We have not overcome in this area. We simply say this is one thing to be overcome, one of many lies which oppose the Truth. The one that overcomes is constantly challenging the lie of the enemy and demonstrating the preeminence of Christ over all things. When every lie is destroyed then the dragon is defeated, for it cannot control what it cannot deceive. Most of what we see and hear is an illusion. It is not the Truth, but a lie, a distortion. Our eyes and our ears cannot be trusted. We must have heavenly vision and heavenly hearing.

For the moment, however, we are confronted with a great disparity, a wide gulf, between things as God intends for them to be and things as they appear to be. We could go down a whole list of items. God says He will meet our needs, but we look and we see that our needs are not met. God says He is the life of our body, but we cannot seem to shake off illness. God says He has destroyed the works of the devil in Christ, but we see the devil working as usual, seemingly unperturbed. And on and on it goes.

What does this mean? Well, it can only mean one of two things, so we have two options. The first option is to give up and just believe that God does not mean what He says. That is the most common response. The second option is to believe what God says regardless of whether we see it or not. We call this "faith". Faith is not a power we exert in order to change our circumstances, it is an assurance we possess inwardly whether our circumstances are changed or not. The ability to change my circumstances does not make me an overcomer, but to live independently of my circumstances makes me an overcomer. It is living according to "those things that be not as though they were" (Romans 4:17b). If they already "are" outwardly, then we do not need faith, do we (cf. Romans 8:24)?

In other words, if I have no provision, I still believe God is Infinite Supply. If I have poor health, I still believe God is the life of my body. If I am attacked by the devil (even if I am BEATEN by the devil), I still believe the devil is defeated. Yesterday I was thoroughly defeated, but today I say that Christ is Victory. This either makes me a crazy person or a disciple living the normal Christian life. How long will it take before what we believe inwardly is seen outwardly? We do not know. But a LIE is a LIE, whether it is told to us once or whether it is told to us a thousand times. It does not become more true with the passage of time. Here is the problem. We resist a lie the first few times we hear it (e.g., "God will not meet your needs"). But if things do not change we eventually accept the lie as truth (e.g., "Things are no better now than ten days ago, so perhaps God really has forsaken us"). How easy it is for us to believe in a lie - but it is as much a lie the first time we hear it as it is the hundredth time. So why would we ever listen to it later if we did not listen to it earlier? We MUST know the Truth. For the one that overcomes, what is seen OUTWARDLY neither helps nor hinders the TRUTH that has been seen INWARDLY. This is how the Truth makes us free (John 8:32).

GOD'S SOLUTION FOR A DEFEATED CHURCH

Now all of that leads us to this. The Lord says He will have a Church that is without spot, wrinkle, or blemish. A perfect Church. When was the last time you saw the Church, as a whole, anywhere close to this? There are many good brothers and sisters who can articulate what the Church is SUPPOSED to be. We can learn a great deal from them. Then there are many good brothers and sisters who can articulate what is WRONG with the Church, how it falls short of God's purpose. This is not difficult to do, and more and more, people are becoming specialized in this. But very few can take us from what the Church IS (outwardly speaking) and bring us into what God INTENDS for it to be. How do we span the gulf? How do we get from where we are to where God wants us to be? This is seldom talked about, and it seems to be a mystery. But the Book of Revelation is a book that reveals mysteries, and there we find the answer.

There is a principle of God's dealings that we need to recognize, and the whole Book of Revelation itself bears witness to this principle. It is this: whenever the Church is in decline, or is defeated, or is compromised, God has only one remedy, and that is, to bring a fresh revelation, a fresh unveiling, of Jesus Christ (Revelation 1:1a). He is constantly re-centering us on His Son, because only ONE THING is needed (Luke 10:42).

The ones who overcome are the ones who see Jesus afresh, who keep the Heavenly vision in front of them at all times. The surest way to be defeated is to get your eyes off the ONE THING and get them onto the "many things". The Spirit of Antichrist does not require you to bow down to satan, it only hopes to cloud your vision of Christ. The problem with the Church today is that we lack this seeing of Christ. We have lost sight of Him, and in His place we have programs, church services, end-times predictions and interpretations, plus and a million-and-one other things that all add up to "zero" without Christ. Even worse, we think those things ARE Him.

In the Book of Revelation we see that Jesus walks IN THE MIDST of the candlesticks. This is important. So many people carry on the business of the Church as if Jesus left the whole thing to them to run while He simply stands on the sidelines, nodding His approval every so often. In fact, Jesus is not on the other side of the universe, but He walks in the midst of the candlesticks, building His Church, and to every one of us He says, "I KNOW your works!"

"I was on the Isle of Patmos... because of the Testimony of Jesus" (Revelation 1:9b). "They overcame the dragon by... the word of the Testimony" (Revelation 12:11ff). "The dragon... went to make war with the remnant... which keep the commandments of God, and have the Testimony of Jesus" (Revelation 12:17). "The Testimony of Jesus is the inspiration of all prophecy" (Revelation 19:10). We should see how this entire conflict evolves around THE TESTIMONY OF JESUS. It is the focal point between Heaven and Earth, Light and Darkness, Christ and Antichrist. But what is the Testimony of Jesus? It is the demonstration (not merely the proclamation) of the Truth concerning Jesus in all His fullness, in all His preeminence. It is showing forth the centrality of Christ in each disciple, in the Church, and ultimately, in all Creation. Overcomers SEE this in advance of its fulfillment, and they align themselves with this tremendous energy of God that is bringing ALL THINGS into subjection to Christ. They see this as a present Truth and not a future hope, and THAT is why they are Overcomers.

When we SEE an ever-increasing Christ Who is destined to fill all things then we will be delivered from smallness and narrow-mindedness. We do not overcome a thing by focusing our attention and directing our energies against that THING. "Things" will keep us busy from morning until night, and from night until morning. May God deliver us from "things" and show us His Son! We must learn to keep the focus of our heart on the Lord Jesus Christ, Who MUST increase. Then there is no room for "things" anymore. They are simply swallowed up in Victory.

Over six years ago I asked the Lord to teach me about spiritual warfare. God did not respond by teaching me about spiritual warfare, and praise the Lord that He did not. Instead, He simply revealed Jesus Christ to me. This revelation was, and is, sufficient. Seeing Him seated in the heavenly places, and me seated with Him (Ephesians 2:6), was enough to make me an Overcomer. Then I saw that who I am or what I know or what I can do means nothing, but Who He is and what He knows and what He can do is everything. The focus shifted off of "me" - my needs, my problems, my ministry, my spiritual warfare - and onto Christ, where it belonged.

Up until that time I did not know what it was to see the dragon defeated. When I read how the Overcomers would defeat the dragon, I thought how wonderful it would be in the future when that would be possible. But when the Lord revealed Himself to me I saw that He is not the God of "future-tense", but EMMANUEL, God with us, in past, present, and future. I suppose anyone can overcome after they have visited heaven, seen the angels, talked to Jesus face-to-face, and been clothed with their spiritual body. But Overcomers have glimpsed something of heaven already and are bringing it into this earth TODAY. "As in heaven, so in earth" is an everyday thing. Do we really understand the implications?

Many people write to me and ask how to deal with this thing or that, how to get the victory here or there. May I say that it does not matter what your need is, or what your problem is, the Answer is the same. Victory is a Man, not an experience. If you must fail a hundred, a thousand, or a million times in order to learn that lesson then it is worth it. It does not matter whether you understand it, agree with it, believe it, or see it yet. Indeed, everything else seems to say the opposite. But you will see, just as I have seen, that Victory, Grace, Strength, Peace, Love, Light, and Life are not "things", they are Christ, and having the Man, you have everything the Man is.

SEVEN LETTERS TO SEVEN CHURCHES

"Write the things which you have seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter... The seven candlesticks... are the seven churches" (Revelation 1:19,20b).

Now that we have identified the role and the characteristics of the Overcomers, it would be inspirational for us to examine the several promises made "to him that overcomes". To do so, we turn to the second and third chapters of the Book of Revelation.

We are familiar with the seven churches of Asia: Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea. These seven churches are a representative number, to be sure. First, they symbolize seven types of believers found within the Church at any given time. Second, they represent seven distinct ages of church history. Third, and most obvious, they represent seven actual assemblies that were in existence during the time John wrote his letter.

There were not seven distinct letters, each sealed in an envelope, and delivered to each church privately. We know (cf. Revelation 1:11) that the book was one letter which was written and sent to each church openly, along with the rest of the vision. As a result, a believer in Ephesus knew what the Lord was saying to Philadelphia, and a believer in Laodicea knew what was happening in Smyrna, and so forth. The point being that each assembly was incomplete without the other. They may have been distinct, but they did not stand alone. In each we see a piece of the puzzle, but we do not see the entire picture until we put all of them together.

To each church He says, "I know your works." Good, bad, or lukewarm, seven times He says, "I know your works." He walks in the midst, observing. And seven times He says, "To him that overcomes." The Lord still calls forth overcomers, and the promises (and warnings) are as applicable to us today as they were to them in their day. As we look at each promise, I pray the Lord will stir us up and draw us out.

THE TREE OF LIFE

"To him that overcomes will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God" (Revelation 2:7b).

I have called these "promises", but a better word might be "evidences". We tend to see a promise as a future thing, something we have to wait for. I like evidences better, because if something is evident in my life then it is the demonstration of something which is mine already. The Lord says when we live as overcomers our lives will be characterized by certain evidences. By these we know who the Overcomers are, and we know if we are indeed living the normal Christian life - which is a life of overcoming.

The first evidence is that the Overcomers eat of the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God. Immediately we go back to the Book of Genesis and see that Adam was originally driven out of the paradise of God, Eden, and no longer had access to the tree of life. The tree of life was blocked by angels and a flaming sword (Genesis 3:24). Because Adam ate from the tree of knowledge, he was prohibited from eating from the tree of life.

We should see that Christ does more than restore what Adam lost. He goes beyond Adam, offering the Overcomers fruit from the tree of life, fruit Adam knows nothing about. Obviously this is symbolic language, but what does it mean? The tree of life represents the Cross, for from that Tree the Lord yielded up His Life for us all. Those who overcome have learned that fruitfulness and life come from death to Self, and that is what the Cross means. The Cross is a tree of life to those who embrace it.

Like Adam, we can choose to eat from either tree, but we cannot eat from both. Adam sinned when he fell into the flesh and yielded to his Self-life. He rejected the tree of life in favor of something that was "good... pleasant... and desirable" (Genesis 3:6ff). The Cross does not look like a tree of life at all. It is neither good, nor pleasant, nor desirable. It looks like death. Perhaps this is why Adam did not eat from it first. But God's End is not death, regardless of appearances: God's End is life out of death, which is resurrection. To eat of the fruit of the tree of life is to glory in the Cross of Jesus Christ and find life out of death. It is becoming popular to preach and teach about the Cross these days, but how many are eating of its fruit? Can we really see the Cross as the TREE OF LIFE, and are we eating of its fruit? We will know a true disciple of the Lord, not by words, but by fruit (Matthew 7:20), and the Cross is the tree of life from which this fruit comes.

THE CROWN OF LIFE

"Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life... he that overcomes will not be hurt by the second death" (Revelation 2:10b,11b).

The next attribute of the overcomer is Resurrection Life. Those who possess Resurrection Life cannot be hurt by the second death. What exactly IS Resurrection Life? It is life which has passed through death. Since it has already passed through death once, it cannot die again. When Death is defeated, there are no more enemies. And the only way to defeat Death is to die (cf. I Corinthians 15:26; Hebrews 2:14,15).

Practically speaking, Resurrection Life can be seen in our actions and in our words. When some people open their mouths you sense death. Their presence contributes nothing living. Instead, you have a hollow, empty feeling when you are around them. The words may be correct, but there is no life in what they are saying. It is as though you are handling a dead thing. There is no Spirit and Life.

On the other hand, there are brothers and sisters who are naturally very excited, bold, gifted, talented and persuasive. They seem very much "alive", but this is not Resurrection Life either. How so? They have not passed through death yet, and you cannot be resurrected until you have died. They do not have the imprint of the Cross on what they are doing. They have never been broken. They may be naturally gifted at whatever they are doing for the Lord, but they have not yet died. Outwardly speaking they may appear to be doing some good, but the issue is not good versus bad, but life versus death.

Paul says that he "dies daily" that the "life of the Lord may be manifest" (I Corinthians 15:31; II Corinthians 4:11). Thus, the Crown of Life comes to those who lose their life daily in order to gain His Life daily. Overcomers cannot be hurt by death because they have already died - not once, but thousands of times: taking up the Cross daily, denying Self, and following the Lord. Thus, the highest call is not to lay down our physical life as a martyr, but to lay down our Self life as a disciple. We can lay down our physical life in an instant, but to take up the Cross daily is the truest test, and much more difficult. It requires us to be "faithful unto death". This is the secret of the Overcomers.

THE HIDDEN MANNA

"To him that overcomes will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knows except the one that receives it" (Revelation 2:17b).

Here are two more evidences of an overcomer: the hidden manna and a white stone with a secret name. Before we get into a description of these two items we should first note that the manna is HIDDEN and the name is SECRET. The Lord is doing a work, but that work is, for the most part, hidden and secret. If we are always looking for something out in the open and in plain view then we will miss the deeper workings of God below the surface.

So what is the hidden manna? The manna was the bread which fell from heaven and fed Israel in the wilderness. You will recall that the Lord instructed them to put some of the manna into a golden pot and store it in the Ark as a permanent testimony (cf. Exodus 16:33; Hebrews 9:4). Centuries later, Jesus says, "I am the living bread which comes down from heaven... your fathers ate manna in the wilderness and died... but whoever eats of this Bread lives forever" (John 6:51a, 58b). Jesus is the Hidden Christ, bringing forth the Hidden Wisdom, represented as the Hidden Manna, and preserved forever within the Ark of the Testimony. When we speak, are we just bringing a message or a "word", or are we bringing the Lord Jesus Himself? The Overcomers eat of the Hidden Manna and touch Christ directly. The difference between the Person of Christ and a teaching "about" Christ is the difference between the Hidden Manna and the ordinary manna which soon turns to worms.

What does the white stone represent? In ancient times the judge would hand down his verdict by giving the defendant either a white stone (acquittal) or a black stone (condemnation). The white stone meant "life", and the black stone meant "death". The white stone meant "not guilty", and the black stone meant "guilty". Praise God that there is no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus (Romans 8:1). Now, anyone can quote that, but not everyone can fully appreciate it. Religion still condemns us and burdens us with a difficult yoke and a heavy burden. But the Lord says, "Not guilty! The Son has made you free, so you are free indeed!" This is the inheritance of all the saints, but it is actually demonstrated in the Overcomers.

Along with this white stone, Overcomers are given a new name that no one else can know. Our Good Shepherd calls each of us by name and leads us Himself (John 10:3). The Lord is fond of changing our name, not only to mark a new beginning, but to more accurately express what He sees us becoming. Abram becomes Abraham, Jacob becomes Israel, Simon becomes Peter, Saul becomes Paul. Each of us are near and dear to His heart, unique to His Purpose. So He gives each of us a white stone with a new name. But this new name is His secret - no one else can know it but you and Him. This speaks of intimacy. The Overcomers keep some things between them and the Lord. They do not tell of all they know. They keep back a portion that is not meant for anyone to know but Him. And so they dwell in the Secret Place of the Most High, treasuring in their heart the things they see and hear.

POWER OVER THE NATIONS

"To him that overcomes, and keeps My works to the end, to him will I give power over the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers: even as I received of My Father. And I will give him the morning star" (Revelation 3:26-28).

Remember we are discussing evidences of overcoming: not merely future promises, but present realities found in "the one overcoming" (literal Greek). We may overcome today. We need not wait for a future event. Of course, in some sense there will be a literal fulfillment of these promises some time in the future. But if we are not seeing them fulfilled in us NOW, at least to some degree, then we are not overcoming. Overcomers are overcoming TODAY, so if we are not overcoming then we are missing out on the present reality as well as the future promise.

These verses are rich, but I would like to especially focus on one thing: "To him will I give power over the nations." The language of this passage is identical to Psalm 2. The Father has said that the Son will rule the nations, and now the Son says the Overcomers will rule with Him. What a glorious thing to rule with Christ! But this certainly sounds like a future promise. How could we claim to have power over the nations today?

The secret is found in Matthew 6:10. Jesus says our daily prayers are to include, "Your Kingdom come, Your Will be done: as in Heaven, so in Earth." This is a revolutionary act. It is praying for the establishment of a Kingdom and a Will in which Christ has the preeminence as All in All. In this Kingdom there is no room for any earthly government, ruler, or king. In this Will there is no room for any human agenda. We know Jesus is Lord, yet we do not see all things submitted to Him (Hebrews 2:8b). So what do we do in the meantime? Overcomers do not just passively wait for Jesus to come back. They pray for His Kingdom to be established and for His Will to be performed. In this way they exercise power over the nations by preparing the way of the Lord. How? By raising up valleys, bringing down mountains, making the crooked things straight, and making the rough ways smooth (Luke 3:5,6). So this prayer is destructive in a natural sense, but constructive in a spiritual sense, for as the nations are decreased, Christ is increased (cf. John 3:30).

Just as Jeremiah was set over nations and kingdoms "to root out, and to pull down, and to destroy, and to throw down, to build, and to plant" (Jeremiah 1:10), so we have received this authority also. We do not serve in a governmental capacity, but in a spiritual capacity, praying for the Kingdom and Will of God to come forth. Such prayer is very weighty and universal. It is beyond the earth, and so it moves the earth. In addition to authority over the nations, we are given "the morning star". Christ is the Morning Star (Revelation 22:16b), the Heavenly Man, Who is higher than the nations and kingdoms of this world. The Morning Star gives Overcomers the heavenly authority which is beyond the influence of the earthly realm in which they must live.

WHITE RAIMENT

"He that overcomes, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before His angels" (Revelation 3:5).

Another evidence of our overcoming is being clothed in white. Again, this may have a literal fulfillment in the future, but we need to see how it applies to us as present-day Overcomers. How does one become clothed in white raiment?

The Scriptures say that "fine linen, clean and white" represents "the righteousness of the saints" who have made themselves ready for the marriage supper of the Lamb (cf. Revelation 19:7,8). So we know that white represents righteousness. Now let us ask: how do the saints become righteous? What is righteousness? Is it the sum total of my good works? Is it performing many good deeds? Is it church attendance, Bible reading, praying, and witnessing? According to man's thinking these things may equal up to righteousness, but not according to God's Wisdom. Our own righteousness is as "filthy rags" (Isaiah 64:6). So in the Kingdom of God we do not have a "thing" called righteousness that we can attain to. Instead, righteousness is a Person!

"But of [God] are you in Christ Jesus, Who of God is made unto us Wisdom, Righteousness, Sanctification, and Redemption" (I Corinthians 1:30). This verse does not say wisdom, righteousness, sanctification, and redemption are special things we must strive for in order to attain. It does not say they are gifts God gives to the faithful. Instead, it says God has placed us in union with Christ and made the Lord Jesus to be our Wisdom. He has made the Lord Jesus to be our Righteousness. He has made the Lord Jesus to be our Sanctification. He has made the Lord Jesus to be our Redemption.

So if white represents righteousness, we have the answer to our question of how we can be clothed in white. Paul says, "Put ye on the Lord Jesus, and make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof" (Romans 13:14). This is one of my favorite passages. How do we live righteously? Not by trying to do it in my own strength, but by putting on Christ; by clothing myself with the Lord my Righteousness. Since He is my Righteousness, I simply clothe myself with Him. When we have put on the Lord Jesus then there is no room for the flesh. Our capacity to enjoy sin is decreased until we quite naturally find ourselves living as holy people. This is the only way to overcome sin; thus, the Overcomers are clothed in white, and they have access to the heavenly places. This is why their names are in the Book of Life, and why they may stand before the Father and His angels and be acknowledged as sons and daughters of the Most High God.

A PILLAR IN THE TEMPLE

"Him that overcomes will I make a pillar in the temple of My God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of My God, and the name of the city of My God, which is new Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from My God: and I will write upon him My new Name" (Revelation 3:12).

Overcomers are pillars in the temple of God. Like Anna, they do not depart from the temple, but they minister to the Lord day and night (Luke 2:37). Here is what makes someone an Overcomer. It is not a question of how many times can we "attend" something, but whether or not we are abiding at all times. Pillars are an integral part of the structure; if they were to suddenly "go out", the building would collapse.

Too many people serve God according to their calendar. When the calendar says it is Sunday morning, or Wednesday night, or Easter, or Christmas, then they flip the switch and become "spiritual". They might attend a church service or meeting and sing a few songs in hopes of "coming into the presence" of the Lord. When this is over with they flip the switch and go back to their normal lives. The pattern repeats itself each week. This is one reason why churches must use "worship leaders" in an effort to induce people to do something on Sunday because it is totally foreign to them every other day of the week. They come in, and they go out.

What are we saying? That God's highest is not for us to come in and to go out, but to be a pillar. A pillar does not come in on Sunday morning and leave on Sunday night, but is always in the temple. And of course, we do not mean a physical building. Overcomers are pillars in the temple of God, and that is a heavenly matter. However you wish to interpret this, one thing is clear: they have learned how to minister to the Lord continually, regardless of time or place. It is Spirit and Truth worship the Father seeks, and they give Him what He is looking for. There is no holy day or sacred hour or special devotion. They do not have to "come into" the presence of the Lord because they LIVE IN the presence of the Lord continually. And so they overcome the earthly by abiding in the heavenly.

They belong to the Lord, hence, they bear the name of God, the name of the city of God, and the new name of the Lord Jesus. This, in contrast to those who bear the mark of the beast. To bear the Name is to have the Testimony. When the Name is written upon us then we bear the Testimony within ourselves. It is not so many words that are uttered, but a life that is lived as a pillar in the temple of God, no more to go out.

SEATED WITH HIM IN HIS THRONE

"To him that overcomes will I grant to sit with Me in My throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with My Father in His throne" (Revelation 3:21).

Remember that the one writing this vision, John, once approached Jesus with his brother James and asked if they could each sit on thrones next to the Lord in His Kingdom - one on His right hand, and one on His left. The Lord did not deny their request, but said that they did not understand what they were asking for. He then asked them if they were willing to drink of the cup that He must drink, and be baptized with the baptism that He must be baptized with (cf. Mark 10:35-40).

In Revelation we see that God's thought is not to place one or two special saints on His right hand and on His left hand. Then those positions would be limited to two, and just like the first disciples, we would all be competing against one another for that special place. Instead, the Lord says that the ones who overcome will sit WITH HIM in HIS throne. There is room enough in the Throne for the Father, Jesus Christ, and for every saint that overcomes. Hallelujah! Obviously this is symbolic language - or is it?

Paul tells the Ephesians that God "has raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus" (Ephesians 2:6). This will not happen after we have died, but has already occurred. How did we arrive at the highest place in the universe, far above all principality and power and might and dominion and name (Ephesians 1:21)? It all begins with "I am crucified with Christ" (Galatians 2:20a). For if I was crucified with Christ, then I died with Christ. And if I died with Christ, then I was buried with Christ. And if I was buried with Christ, then I was made alive with Christ. And if I was made alive with Christ, then I ascended with Christ. And if I ascended with Christ, then I am seated together with Him in the heavenly places. It is not about me, it is all about Him! Our union with Christ is the way we overcome. There is nothing in me, personally, that overcomes: the secret is "not I, but Christ" (Galatians 2:20ff).

This is why the Lord says to take up your cross daily, and follow Him. The Throne is only for those who can drink of His cup and be baptized with His baptism - that is, be crucified, dead, and resurrected. We only see the cross, so we think this is terrible. But the Lord sees that the cross leads to death, and death leads to resurrection, and resurrection leads to ascension, and ascension leads to being seated with Him in His throne. It is impossible for us to take up the cross and not be resurrected. I am almost afraid to make it so plain lest we fail to appreciate its mystery, but it is all there in the Scriptures. We cannot ascend until we have first descended. Can we embrace the cross, and love the hands that nail us to it, and hold nothing against the One Who put us there? Can we commit our spirit into His hands and give up the ghost of Self, when we see the joy that is set before us?

Just as certainly as the Vine was crucified, dead, buried, resurrected, ascended and seated, so the Branches were crucified, dead, buried, resurrected, ascended and seated. The whole issue is: will we abide in the Vine and share in the overcoming, or not? Overcoming is bound up with abiding. The Lord says, "Live in me, and I will live in you" (John 15:4a). Now the Lord says that overcomers will sit WITH Him in His throne. How is that possible? Because we are IN Him, and He is IN us, so "he that is joined to the Lord is one spirit with Him" (I Corinthians 6:17) and "the two shall become one" (Ephesians 5:31, 32ff).

AN ALL-INCLUSIVE INHERITANCE

"He that overcomes shall inherit all things; and I will be His God, and he shall be my son" (Revelation 21:7).

What is our idea of overcoming? Is it going forth as a conqueror, forcing the world into submission like a medieval crusader? Not at all. According to God's purpose, Overcomers will inherit all things, not overthrow all things. It is the meek (not the mighty) who inherit the earth (Matthew 5:5). It is the Lord Who gains the victory, and gives it to us. We do nothing of ourselves. It is He Who gives us our inheritance. We cannot do anything to obtain an inheritance. It is simply granted to us in the Will. If we are indeed sons and daughters of the Most High God then the inheritance is ours; and if so, then our life on Earth is not our real life, but a preparation for another Life. That is why those who are faithful with a few things HERE will be made rulers over many things THERE (cf. Matthew 25:21).

We know that God's eternal purpose is "that in the dispensation of the fullness of times He might gather together in one ALL THINGS IN CHRIST, both which are in heaven, and which are on earth; even in Him" (Ephesians 1:10). We see the fulfillment of this in Revelation 21. We see a new Heaven and a new Earth. We see the Bride of Christ, the New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven in order to establish a place on Earth where the Lord may dwell with men. Interpret this however you like, but one thing is clear: the Lord's eternal purpose will be done. ALL THINGS IN CHRIST is not just a piece of poetry Paul employs to sound impressive: it is the aim, purpose, goal, and object of everything God has done, is doing, and will do. And the Overcomers are central to seeing this purpose fulfilled.

Here is what I want us to see: God's purpose is not accomplished in one grand stroke, but comes to pass in degrees: in each disciple first, and then in the Church, and finally in Creation. The reconciliation of Heaven and Earth, God and mankind, is foreshadowed in the Overcomers. In them we see Heaven coming down into Earth every day. We see a Remnant that lives, works, and walks in the Earth while maintaining a Heavenly communion, a Heavenly citizenship, a Heavenly calling, a Heavenly testimony, a Heavenly LIFE. As ambassadors for Christ they represent something foreign to the Earth, but maintain something for Heaven on the land in which they dwell. They already maintain a tabernacle for the Lord within themselves, so they "have no need of a temple" (Revelation 21:22). We see the New Jerusalem in them already, for the glory of God and of the Lamb is their Light (Revelation 21:23). They see His face already, and they serve Him continually.

The cry of the Overcomers is "Father in Heaven! May Your Name be hallowed, may your Kingdom come, may Your Will be done: as in Heaven, so in Earth!" (Matthew 6:9,10). This cry is the very essence of how and why they overcome. While Heaven and Earth are estranged from one another the Will and the Kingdom of God is not fully established. In Revelation we see the End of all things, for then God "will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the full-knowledge [epignosis] of the Truth [Christ]" (I Timothy 2:4); and, "they shall all know Me, from the least of them, to the greatest of them, says the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more" (Jeremiah 31:34b). Blessed are they who know Him now, and do call those things that be not as though they were.

A PRAYER FOR THE REMNANT

"And the dragon was angry with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the Testimony of Jesus" (Revelation 12:17).

Ah Lord God! Religion has kept us from seeing who we really are, and Who You really are. Religion has kept us comfortable, weak, and stupid. We have played "church" for so long. Reveal Your Son to us anew; give us an open Heaven, that we may ascend!

I pray that You will raise up Overcomers: those who will have the Revelation of Christ, and will bear the Testimony of Jesus; who will demonstrate the preeminence of Your Son over sin, self, and satan; who will defeat the dragon by the blood of the Lamb, the word of their Testimony, and by loving not their lives unto the death.

And now, Lord, I have committed this to Your Body. Supply, secure, and strengthen Your Remnant. Deliver us from evil. Deliver us from the natural, the carnal, the fleshly, the earthly, the temporal, the seen-and-felt universe. Even as you have already given us the Kingdom of Your Dear Son, now establish us in His Kingdom. Establish us in the heavenly, the eternal, the invisible. Open our eyes to see that we are seated with You in the heavenly places, far above every assault of the enemy, overcoming as You overcame.

Your Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, Your throne endures forever, and Your scepter is a scepter of righteousness! I thank you for decreasing us and increasing Christ. Now, "thanks be to God, which gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (I Corinthians 15:57). Grace be with all who love our Lord Jesus in sincerity. Amen. www.watchman.net

Two Is A Crowd

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Many a times we love to be in a company but there are times we love to be alone. These are times of total isolation and complete separation. This is when we have to look up to God, separating our selves and looking unto our maker. We have to understand that in the place of isolation two is a crowd. Pls read the following I pray it blesses you.

The Eagle

Have you ever seen an eagle before? You probably saw it alone without a second eagle by it’s side. The reason for this is because eagles love to dominate, they love to be secluded. My brother, my sister God is calling us to be like eagles. He is calling us to a solo run. A one on one encounter with him. As he met with Moses on the mountain top. He wants to meet with us. He wants to feed us with the manna from heaven. God wants to love us. But we must be separate. He says - be ye separate. We’ve got to soar on wings as eagles as our strength gets renewed each day we wait on him. We would rise and dominate the situations of our lives

Priest

As the high goes into the holy of holies alone. We got to press into his court alone but boldly unlike the high priest who did it with fear and trembling. The bible says in Heb.4:16 that we should come boldly. He wants to talk to us. He wants us to intercede on behalf of his people. Let us stand in the gap.

Messengers

As special messengers sent like the angels, we have to be separate. Moses stood there alone. We got to stay with God alone and watch to see what he would say and what we would reply him. Let us look unto God the maker and the finisher of our faith. He wants to build us up and show us a better tomorrow. He says - call unto me and I will show thee great and mighty things that you know not. Selah

There Is A Path Which No Fowl Knoweth

Clo DiPilato

There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen: The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it. Job 28: 7,8

Dearest Friends in Jesus,
In recent weeks, I have found myself much pondering these word from the book of Job:
7 There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen:
8 The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it. Job 28: 7,8
As I'm sure may be the case with many readers of the Word, whenever pondering anything from the book of Job, we go back to see who was the "inspired" vessel speaking forth the text under consideration. Was it Job? Was it one of his "comforters"? It's too soon in the course of this unfolding for the appearance of another voice, the voice of Elihu, who comes later into this scenario with a different spirit and tone from that of the comforters. (This reminds me of how Jesus amazed the people of His day because He spoke not as the scribes and Pharisees, but as one having authority.)
Something within my heart leaped within me, as I realized Job uttered these words to three men who were trying to help him make sense out of his life by expecting that they could talk him into an understanding of all that had befallen him through protracted diatribes relating to their own personal knowledge of God and His workings.
There is probably not much at all wrong with what the "comforters" had to say, and in some cases, I think they've gotten a 'bad rap.' They were given Job "logos" when he really was much in need of "rhema". They had an "overall" knowledge of God, and some definite wisdom, but Job needed "thus saith the Lord" to get him through. When there is no true "rhema word" coming forth, I guess the logos is better than nothing because maybe we can pray some life into it, and see it converted to a rhema word of the Lord. We have to work with what's on hand. But Lord Jesus, help us NOT to settle. Help us to press into that place where the word coming forth from our lips is truly LIFE to the hearers, and health to all those who find it!! (Ref. Prov. 4:22)
I know there are times when in the spirit of human sympathy and from the wells of the milk of human kindness, I've searched within my own soul to find something profound to say to an individual who is enduring some affliction, something that will lift up their spirits, something that will cause a light to go on that will be as an inspiration from the Almighty that will help them to get their bearings in God, and go on another day, and even more than just one day. As one who is used of the Lord prophetically, I know when I'm speaking from that lower level of struggling to find a little bit of comfort to give a hurting soul, and when there is something coming forth with unction and with power out of the place of having gone personally into the depths of God to mine something as precious as pure gold, a true rhema word of the Lord, tried in a fire heated 7 times, and truly HIS word, a PURE word!!
And may I also say here, I ask the Lord for forgiveness when I've presented something as if it's coming from Him when it's just coming from my own tender feelings for a person. Things like that have absolutely no power, and no creativity, and actually probably do more harm than good, even when just trying to be comforting and helpful.
All this leads me to wonder what impacted Job to speak of a :
a path which no fowl knoweth a path which the vulture's eye hath not seen a path the lion's whelps have not trodden a path the fierce lion hath not passed by

And friends, the more I meditate on the subject, the more convinced I am that one of the very reasons the Lord allowed Job to suffer the affliction he did was because he wanted Job to seek out this pathway, this particular place of living "far above principalities, powers, might, dominion, rulers of darkness, demons, devils, serpents, scorpions, all familiar, foreign and fallen spirits and all wickedness and every name that is named". He wanted Job to have a little foretaste and a true "revelation knowledge" of what it means to be seated in heavenly places with Christ Jesus."

I often wonder if Job was ever permitted to see in the spirit the thing that actually transpired in the courts of heaven to expedite all that had come against him. The scripture is very clear that God was the one who pointed Job out to satan, and not the other way around. Once satan was made aware of this sterling saint, he went at him with all the artillery he had in his possession. Had not God brought Job's name up, though, satan may have never noticed. My friend, if the devil is opposing you, it's because God is proud enough of you to brag about you!! "Hast thou considered my servant Job?" Job 1:8.

But what was God's purpose in causing the devil to consider Job? Some have suggested it's because even though Job was righteous, he was also very proud, and needed to be taken down a peg or two. Others have suggested it was because God wanted to bless him even better than what he was blessed. From a mother's point of view, I am crazy in love with my children!!! NO new set of children, no matter how talented, beautiful, gifted, spiritual, etc........could ever replace the ones the Lord has already given to me!! Perhaps that worked to be a consolation for Job, but I firmly will tell the Lord "No thank you!"

This is a book full of mystery, and it's far too deep to grant any sweeping conclusion to cover it all, but after reading the scripture which is the basis for this article, I feel I want to throw in my little piece of the puzzle to help understand the book called the "book of Job".

Beloved, I truly believe that God wanted Job to come up to a higher place in Him where the enemy had no access. He wanted His people to know, via the sufferings and afflictions of Job that there is an escape UPWARD into God away from all trouble and sorrow and affliction and adversity!! The Psalmist called it "The Secret Place of the Most High God". The prophet Isaiah referred to it as the "holy mountain". In that place nothing can hurt nor destroy.

You see, there are realms in the heavenlies where satan still has access, but he does NOT have access to all of heaven's territory!! He got exiled forever from that highest heaven called *the most holy place, and he is no longer even so much as a memory there! To have to be reminded of the devil would make heaven less than a perfect place. No, I'm convinced in the most holy realms of heaven there is not even so much as an "amoeba's on fleas" worth of remembrance of that usurper!! (*Remember Moses had to go up into the mount to see the TRUE tabernacle which God built and NOT man ....so that he could build according to pattern.)

When the devil got banished out from the most holy place of our Heavenly Father which is the home and abode of true worship, in so far as THAT realm is concerned, he is and forever will always be a goner. He still can parade and huff and puff as the accuser of the brethren in some levels of the throne, but there is a place where he simply has NO access. When we can ascend into the holy hill of the Lord with clean hands and pure hearts, we are swaddled in that place of protection where we are so filled up with Jesus, and our thoughts of Him, and our affections toward Him, and our intentions toward Him---pure worship coming from our hearts---whether a lofty and holy thought that pleases the heart of the Father because it exalts the Lord Jesus Christ (one of God's very favorite things), or a love song sung to Him out of the deepest adoration within our souls, or a glad and joyous refrain of praise and thanksgiving----beloved, in THAT place, who is giving a second thought to the devil??

He is very much OUT of sight, and out of mind!! When my meditation of Jesus is SWEET and coming up as a sweet-savour unto the throne , my meditation of the devil is actually simply GONE!!

No, the fowl does NOT know that path!! Imagine that! One would think a flying bird would have a great advantage to be able to "know" just about anything going on as long as he can "fly around" and "pick up information" about the object of his interest. That devil that wants to discover what the word of the Lord is to your life so that he can snatch it from your heart and your mind like a filthy and vile bird lurking around your brain doesn't begin to understand the true "way in the Spirit", the true and holiest pathways close into the heart of God. When you get inside that pathway, and inside that place, he doesn't begin to know what you are doing and what you are all about.

The devil does not possess the attributes of God. He is a lesser being, and even though he was created in beauty and brightness according to the book of Ezekiel (Ref Ezek. 28), God took His servant Job through an awfully hard dealing and trial to let him know that there is yet intelligence beyond what the enemy of our soul knows, and how to get onto that path that the fowl does NOT know. Why?? Because he doesn't begin to know how to have "clean hands and a pure heart". Ref. Psalm 15, Psalm 24.

The vulture's eye hath not see the path!! What a powerful statement! An eagle is a vulture. Consider the "eye of the eagle". A dove has a "single eye", and is portrayed in Solomon's Song to convey the heart of singular and purposed affection toward only one.

But when one consider's the phrase, "the eagle's eye" it intimates the idea of very keen and all-encompassing eye sight. No other creature under God's heaven has been given greater vision ability than that of the eagle. And yet, there is a path that the "vultures eye" hasn't seen!

The Creator always reserves something yet for Himself, and there's a place where no diabolical onslaught of satan that wants to circle around about you to expose you to other vultures who want to feed on DEATH can ever discern. Beloved, do you know those who have a spirit of enjoying "feeding on death"??

The sadder the news, the better they like it. They run outside the house everytime they hear the fire engine. They stop at every automobile accident, and it's NOT to "render assistance". All bad news, any bad news is "music to their ears". It's the spirit of the vulture that likes to feed on death and negative things. When they get around you, it's not too long until you're feeling poor, sick, destitute and helpless and like the sorriest soul on the face of the earth because sickness, death, disease, famine and poverty just seems to multiply in their presence. That is a spirit, and they need deliverance. It's the spirit of the vulture. Always searching out what's wrong, what genders unto death, and never unto life. Well, there is a path that the vulture's eye has NOT seen, and where you are protected from that onslaught of the enemy to increase DEATH and to curb LIFE. It's the pathway into His presence, into the Secret Place of the Most High, into the Holy Mountain of God.

The lion's whelps have not trodden that path!! That word "whelp" is very telling. It means the young of a carnivorous animal. It's the off-spring of the beast that feeds on flesh and more flesh. All creatures bring forth after their own kind. Where as the vulture feeds on death, the young whelps are being taught and it's in their nature to tread the pathways of the wilderness seeking out a prey that they can sink their fangs deeply into the flesh and then tear it from limb to limb in order to facilitate an appetite that slightly satiates their own hunger until the next "hunt" while rendering the victim maimed and usually dead.

In the wilderness experience of your soul, you've always got to be careful to be aware of the beasts of prey. They seek to devour you from within and without. They could be hiding behind any bush or tree, or around any bend in the road.

But I believe these "lion's whelps" are like the "little foxes" that spoil the vine. They eat away at your devotional time, fill up on your faith, and devour your testimony if you'll let them. If a fox is as a carnivorous animal, then how would it "spoil the vine" which is NOT "flesh" but rather the food of the "herbivore". It's by "treading down the path". But there is a path as you get closer into the heart of God that the lion's whelp have NOT trodden!! Your devotional time is IN ABUNDANCE, your faith-level is on FULL, and your testimony is a WITNESS, and not a WASH-OUT!!

When poor Job was suffering such affliction, what a struggle it must have been to find time in prayer and in the word. He probably felt far too sick to even hold his Bible. And what a struggle he must have been having with his faith, even though he purposed NOT to sin with his mouth, nor charge God foolishly. And then, what a beating his testimony was taking. It truly looked like his God was failing Him. Until Job ascended UP into the heart of God where GOD vindicated him so beautifully, and let everyone know just what a powerful testimony he had with the Father!! God declared that it was JOB who was speaking things that were right!! (Job 42:7) But, oh what the man of God had to go through in order to get this understanding to pass onto the people of God!! There IS a path where the lion's whelp have not trodden!!

The fierce lion hath not passed by that path!! Beloved, we know that the Bible calls the devil a "roaring lion" seeking whom he may devour.

He's the father of those diabolical, demonic whelps mentioned in the preceding paragraphs. He's a liar, and the father of lies, and he comes with the purpose to rob, to kill and to destroy. That is his sole purpose and agenda: to rob, to kill and to destroy. As he traverses the earth knowing that his time is short, he's seeking whom he may devour.

1 Peter 5:8 ¶Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:

Notice that the devil is "walking" which intimates there is an act of patience on his part. He is taking his time, and waiting to strike. As long as you are on any territory that he can possibly access, he just might get to you and eat you alive!! We need to be always aware, and always alert of his devices. We need to be serious and sober and always considering that we could possibly be a target for his ravenous appetite.

And yet, Job found out that there is a path where the FIERCE LION has NOT "passed by". He has not discovered it!! It's hidden from him! It's the Secret Place of the Most High, the pathway into His Presence, the Holy Mountain of God!! When you get into that place, on THAT path you're SAFE from the devil simply because he does NOT know where you are!!

There was a man of God, Job, who suffered loss of loved ones , loss of property, loss of physical health, loss of situation in life all because God wanted to teach him that there is a HIGHER order of life, living in a place where the enemy of our souls simply has NO access!!

Dearest friend, when I read the words " 7 There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen:

8 The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it, it exploded into my spirit with all life and power because I knew I was reading the word of the Lord from a man of God who had paid a price to get something from God so that this little nugget of truth could be poured into my being!!

When Job said these words, it wasn't just some ethereal and dreamy declaration about "I've got a home in gloryland, somewhere way out there beyond the blue!" Job had to find that place in God for his very inner survival, and he found it!!

Nothing in the flesh may have changed at all, but I believe the spirit of life in Christ Jesus took over to help him to make it through. That's how he survived his trial! Also, pressing into that higher and holier realm, I believe he increased in his capacity to understand spiritual things in a way that would never been realized prior to his affliction. What a defying of the devil and all he had purposed in his heart against Job when Job simply uttered those powerful words,

For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth:
26 And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God:
27 Whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another; though my reins be consumed within me. Job 19:25-27.

What a death blow to satan's kingdom that when Job might have been cursing God instead he was prophesying about a glorious day in the end times when Jesus will again stand upon this earth, and that Job himself will be in the company of saints who return to help him set up his kingdom and it will be IN HIS FLESH that he would see and behold it!!

I think it was around the time of that declaration that Job must have really been getting something AWESOME from God that was more powerful than anything the enemy was doing against him!!! He was learning to live life in the Spirit in the place of the "secret place of the most high God."

Beloved, when we think of a "path" we think of something like a lovely little wooded trail that is inclined to take us to a destination by a beautiful route. It's not the superhighway between two points. It's the route where we want to "stop and smell the flowers" along the way. You may want to get "over the river and through the woods" to grandma's house as quickly as you can on your snowmobile rather than on the "horse driven sleigh". The point I want to make to you:

the pathway is a lifestyle that we are to enjoy of being in His Presence in increasing measures of proximity to our Lord Jesus Christ, and with every turn that's "winding always upward" we know we are ever drawing closer to Him, and yet at the same time there are lessons learned to extend our hands to those who are coming up the trail behind us.
Job found that pathway. Trouble and affliction pressed him toward it. I believe that pathway has not to do so much with perfection on the natural plain, as it has to do with learning to live our lives IN THE SPIRIT far more so as UNTO HIM than unto the futility of the lower level of always trying to fix and perfect things on the earth realm, and according to the dictates of what will make flesh comfortable.
There is only ONE place in all of the created universe where the enemy does not have access, and it's right up close to the throne room, to the heart of God, the secret place of the most high God, the holy mountain of God, the holiest place of all. In that place He is all, and He truly become our all and all, and IS all and IN all!!
And as an Old Testament saint whose life is to be a prophetic testimony unto us of how to make it in the time of trial, I believe the word of the Lord to us through Job is that it's not having people talk us through our problems, pray us through our problems, or even prophesy us through our problems (even though ALL of that can be a GREAT comfort) that may always be the answer !!
Rather, as experienced by Job, I'm convinced God's purpose in trial and affliction is that we might find that same pathway, that secret place, that holy mountain and work our lives out on that level of spiritual existence. I believe Job had the honor of being "seated together in heavenly places" with Christ Jesus.
Come and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord!!
Always in the Love of Jesus,

This Is A Season Of My Mercy

Miqua Miles

This is the season of My Mercy. In this time of Mercy I AM calling forth My angels to tend to your needs, even as you reach out to others to tend to their needs.

I will plant Myself in you and show Myself as true and Merciful . In this meandering of mercy you will be My true vineyard even as you show mercy. You are my vineyard that will never lack fruit.

I have placed the squeeze on the outer structure of that which appears to be your vision so that you can see if there is really juice in there. I AM the vine and you are the branches. I AM the Lord. In this season of Mercy I will show Myself merciful on your behalf.

In the season to grow I will cause to grow, and in the season to ripen I will cause to ripen, in the season to manifest I will be manifested as a most loving and gracious Lord, because I love you dearly. Will you receive this gift? Your Lord.

Isa 9:2-4 The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light; they who dwell in the land of the shadow of death, on them the light has shined. You have multiplied the nation. You have not increased the joy. They rejoice before You according to the joy in harvest, and as men rejoice when they divide the spoil. For You have broken the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his taskmaster, as in the day of Midian.

There Is A Wind Blowing

Ron Kussmaul

There is a wind blowing and there is spiritual knowing and the time is at hand for God to stalk through the land and He shall purge His body. He shall cleanse His temple and He shall cause a mighty fire to come in the heart of His people.

Know that the wind that blows across you tonight is only a foreshadowing of a mighty wind that is to come. Open your hearts.

The things you've been waiting for will open up to you. For the Word of the Lord has come to me and you must release the things of the mental realm, that which is natural and led by the senses, the touch, the taste, the natural physical realm. It is not in the hearing, but it is in the Spirit. It's in the receiving and the Lord is opening the door for each of you tonight.

It's a good door and some of you have knocked upon many, but refused to quit and, because of that, you shall have the door that God opens. For He is opening a door tonight. It will take several months for the door to be revealed to you from across the earth, but it will be revealed to you.

There are many things that God is saying tonight, but He wants you to know that He loves you and that around the world He has people just like you: People who are pressing in, people who have a hunger for Him, people who're thirsty and hungry for more of God and He wants you to know He's the answer. He's the answer. He's the answer.

This is your time. It's time now to reap like never before and the harvest and the increase and the abundance that you've looked for will begin to come in great waves and the earth will not understand why certain countries blossom and prosper and certain others wither and die. But iniquity, iniquity is being called to account and God will call it to account.

Righteousness, righteousness will be seen across the earth and the righteous shall reap great rewards and the unrighteous shall be in fear, because of the fear of what they see upon the earth and the inability to walk by the Spirit of God. But understand Me, press in; you're almost there. Press in, push. Just a little more of Me and just a little less of you will swing the door wide.

I desire that with all my heart. Understand Me. The time is now. You'll begin to see things change. Remember this night, because you were there ahead of time and you will see things that look fearful in the natural, but a supernatural peace will flood your being and, in the midst, when everybody is running around, you'll be steady and rock solid.

I have brought you to this point. Do not pull back. Trust Me, trust Me, trust Me, my children. Trust Me. The things of God are so simple, but I demand obedience. I demand holiness. Shun the wrong and do the right.

Begin to flow in the supernatural from this night. Begin to expect things to turn on your behalf. I speak to you now so you are more prepared.

The time is at hand and I am again going to move through the land and I shall touch every realm. I shall touch into the intellectual realm, those who not understand me or know me. I will touch into the economic world. I will travel the nations at the very presidential levels and you will see a strange thing happen, things that you never, ever thought would happen, will happen. Never, ever and they shall happen (snap) like that, because I deem it to be so. I change men's hearts in a second. I can make the worst man kind in a nano-second and I understand atomic better than the scientists do.

Everything is in the cleft of My hand and tonight you have become different people.

The Institutional Church

Mary Koons

(Note – This article is the basis for a number of articles to follow. The first of these, "Show vs. Substance" follows this one)

….This is the saddest commentary on the current status of the "institutional church" for in its present form, humility is lost to stage presence, genuine Holy Spirit inspired revelation is lost to form and ritual and rhetoric has replaced the divine spark that ignited such a fire in the First Century that even the mighty Roman Empire couldn't extinguish it….

in[sti[tu[tion

n.

1 an instituting or being instituted; establishment
2 an established law, custom, practice, system, etc.
3 a) an organization, society, or corporation, having a public character, as a school, church, bank, hospital, etc. b) the building housing such an organization
4 a person or thing long established in a place

The Institutional Church

I have been contemplating a lot here lately "the institutional church," i.e., the "church" as it now exists. It is interesting to note that the definition for "institutional" (as above) begins with 1 – an instituting or being instituted; establishment…. The definition for institute is: establish, launch, initiate, start, open – in other words, a BEGINNING. If you return to the definition for institutional number 2 states – "established law, custom, practice, system, etc.," - in other words – something that has been around long enough to be "in place… operational, - i.e., established." Number 3 states an organization, and a church is listed as one that would fit that definition for "institutional." Perhaps this all seems a matter of semantics, but it's not. Several days ago I was – again – mediating on the "institutional church," and as I was doing so I began to hear and see the following story:

There once was a man who thought he knew more and how to do things better than anyone else. One day he went to the bakery and began to tell the baker – who had been baking bread all of his life – what he was doing wrong. He told him that he was not using enough salt, among other ingredients, and that his bread was suffering because of it. The baker listened politely for awhile but when he realized that the man was not going to buy any bread – but only criticize him and what he was doing and had always done - he turned his back on the man and returned to his ovens. The man soon realized that the baker was not paying him any attention and so he left.

As he was walking he noticed that his right foot was beginning to pain him. He stopped, sat down and took off his shoe and noticed that the arch support in it was slightly "off-kilter." He put his shoe back on, got up and went to the cobbler's to have it repaired. He walked in, took his shoe off and explained to the cobbler what he had found. The cobbler took his shoe and began to remove the back sole to reach the arch support from the bottom – rather than the top. The man became upset because he was sure this was the wrong way to approach the problem. Shouldn't the cobbler be taking the arch out from the "top" of the shoe instead of the bottom? How was he expecting to fix the problem going about it the way he was? The cobbler listened quietly for a few moments and then replaced the sole he had already partially removed and handed the man's shoe back to him and said, "If you know so much about it, then fix it yourself." He turned away and resumed working on another shoe. The man left in a huff, sure that he had been right about how to fix the shoe and that the cobbler did not know what he was doing.

Eventually the man arrived at a large wharf. He was hungry from his long walk, and regretted that he had not bought any of the baker's bread, and his foot was throbbing because he had not allowed the cobbler to repair his shoe. He sat down to rest and then noticed that there were many people around and a lot of activity going on. Then he noticed a boat had arrived and that everyone had become excited because a very large net, so full of fish that it looked like it would break, was being moved from the boat by a long metal arm to fall into a large holding tank. But for some reason the operating arm released and opened the net too soon and instead of the fish landing in the large holding tank they fell out onto the wharf. One-third of them was lost immediately as they fell back into the water. Since others were in danger of doing the same all the people – including the man – grabbed large pails, quickly filled them with water and began to grab as many fish as they could and put them in their pails. It took several minutes to save them all because there were so many. Finally though every last fish had been thrown into someone's pail and then the people looked up towards where the boat had been - sure that they would see smiles of appreciation for their efforts from the captain and his crew for saving most of their catch. Instead, they were shocked to see that as they had labored to "save the fish," the boat, crew and its Captain had sailed away and were nowhere to be seen. They were left holding their pails – stuffed with fish – with no idea what to do next.

It took me several days after this to identify what I believe this story means and I will readily admit that there are probably aspects to it that still elude me. The man – who thought he knew more and how to do things better than anyone else – represents the "institutional church." The baker represents those – pastors, teachers, etc., - who are suppose to "feed the brethren." It is interesting to note that the man tells the baker that his ingredients are "off," that more salt is needed.

You are the salt of the earth, but if salt has lost its taste – its strength, its quality – how can its saltness be restored? It is not good for anything any longer but to be thrown out and trodden under foot by men. Matthew 5:13

I interpret this to mean that the "institutional church," knows and understands that the food that is being produced – even though it may look good – is substandard; however, those producing it (in this story the baker) are unwilling to change the way they have always done things, and so the food continues to be produced in the same old manner and eaten as is, because nothing else is available.

The "cobbler" represents those who spread the gospel, pastors and evangelists – and also represents ALL of us – because we are all called to witness.

And how can men [be expected to] preach unless they are sent? As it is written, How beautiful are the feet of those who bring glad tidings! – How welcome is the coming of those who preach, the good new of His good things! Romans 10:15

Go then and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. Matthew 28:19

And He said to them, Go into all the world and preach and publish openly the good news (the Gospel) to every creature (of the whole human race). Mark 16:15

We have openly been "commissioned" by Jesus Himself to "go and make disciples… to go and preach and publish openly the good news…." The man – the "institutional church" has a problem with his "arch support…" and walking (proclaiming) has become a problem. He goes to someone who is an expert in "shoes," and then proceeds to tell him how to fix the problem. I do not know for certain, although I suspect it's true – that a real expert in shoe repair probably would repair an arch support by removing the bottom of the shoe which would then allow him to remove the entire arch for either repair or replacement. This method would also ensure that the upper part of shoe would not be damaged by the repair. In other words – the repair would come from the bottom – up; not the other way around. The foundational part of the institutional church requires repair from the bottom – up; not the other way around, but the "institutional church" keeps insisting that the problem can be repaired by other means.

The man (who again, represents the institutional church) eventually reaches the wharf where he realizes 1) he is hungry and 2) tired and limping from his inadequate footwear and then suddenly, we have all those fish that end up landing on the wharf – instead of in the holding tank. After seeking the Lord I realized that while the people were more than willing to help, instead of picking up the fish and transferring them to the large holding tank, every one of them placed them tightly together in pails. The "pails" here represents "denominations." There were many pails – and there are many denominations. They concluded they had done a "good job," ONLY to look up from all their work and find that the boat, crew and Captain had departed and they were all at a loss as to what to do next. And so it is today - - with the "institutional church.." The Captain has departed and most continue to gather up their "fish" oblivious. When they finally do realize that He has left, what will they do? When the rubber meets the road – where will they stand? When persecutions and trials arise, where will they turn?

The story ended there but upon further reflection I realized that the story is – as in the definition of "institutional"- established. Many have left the traditional – or institutional church because their needs are not being met. Christianity IS for the masses, but true individual Christian growth and learning is not… and the institutional church in its current form and format can not or will not provide for those who are unwilling to be satisfied with "pap" but prefer the "meat" and the solid foundational teaching that should be the stone placed atop the Cornerstone. The early church shared what they learned and heard. Each individual member was a vital link and no one took or had precedence over another. This is probably the saddest commentary on the current status of the "institutional church," for in its present form humility is lost to stage presence, genuine Holy Spirit inspired revelation is lost to form and ritual and rhetoric has replaced the divine spark that ignited such a fire in the First Century that even the mighty Roman Empire couldn't extinguish it.

We are, however, told by the Lord Himself that at some point -

But new wine must be put in fresh wineskins; and no one after drinking old wine immediately desires new wine, for he says, The old is good or better. Luke 5:38-39

Neither is new wine put in old wineskins, for if it is, the skins burst and are torn in pieces, and the wine is spilled and the skins ruined; but new wine is put into fresh wineskins, and so both are preserved. Matthew 9:17

"New Wine MUST be put in fresh wineskins…" Some will understand this to mean – as I believe I have been shown – that something new – something better than the older, established forms that have allowed us to be comfortable and not challenged – IS on the horizon. These verses from Luke show us that not all will want those "new wineskins…" a "fresh approach," because they prefer the old and the verse from Matthew tells us that both – the old and the new – are preserved "if" the new wine is put into FRESH wineskins.

I believe, and I don't imagine I'm alone, that we are in the "end times…" Can any deny that a FRESH approach is needed to reach the lost before time runs out? Don't forget, in the story I was given – one-third of the fish were lost immediately~! I believe the verses from Luke and Matthew strongly indicate that such an approach WILL happen and that it will not be the "denominational/institutional church" that are much more concerned about their "own little pails" that will bring about the greatest revival the world has ever seen. Not since the First and Second centuries have we seen a vital, vibrant ALIVE church that speaks His Truth - moves in His Power – and calls forth repentance, forgiveness and salvation in His Resurrection Power; but it's coming! A promise has been given to us that "new wine" a FRESH APPROACH will happen and I believe it is on the horizon. Those "established" institutional churches will still be allowed to exist, but it is debatable whether or not they will know if the real Captain of the ship is still there or has departed.

I wish I could tell you what this "Fresh Approach" is – but I don't know for certain… oh, I have had some strong indications that this will be the Manifestation of the Sons of Glory, but it is also possible that before that event, a "new wine" will be poured forth from heaven and that many will be allowed to partake of this divine drink.

A popular saying is, "What would Jesus do?" If you think about that in conjunction with this "new wine" – i.e., "Fresh Approach" for His Body I think you will begin to understand that the wine will not be a "church" as such, but HIS TRUE BODY OF BELIEVERS that He, Himself has united – with Himself as Head and Chief Cornerstone. That these believers are those who He, Himself has chosen to bring forth this "fresh approach," and how it is to be accomplished. The "institutional church" cannot address the problem(s) it faces, the King of Kings CAN and WILL… He, alone is sovereign and He alone is due all honor and glory – not men, and not institutions. When we begin to become fully cognizant of THAT – we get the first inkling of how powerful this "fresh approach" really is, because "man and the glory of man" are totally left out of the equation, and what is left is HIM….. and HE IS MORE THAN ENOUGH~!

Dear Heavenly Father,

Father, I ask that you anoint this prayer – that you anoint everything contained herein…. Father, I ask that your wisdom, your mercy, your love manifest itself in this article. That Father, YOU speak to those people you want to reach – that YOUR TRUTH be spoken here! Father, may you reach out and speak to hearts, open ears that have been closed. Father may those who have seen through veiled eyes now have the veil removed so that they may see and understand what you are wanting them to know.

Father, we thank you for sending your precious Son… we thank you that HE was obedient so that you see us through the veil of His precious sinless blood. Father – may we too learn such obedience, may we too be obedient no matter what it costs us – even if you call on us too to be obedient, even unto death. JESUS, we give YOU all the praise, honor and glory for YOU ALONE are worthy – having lived as one of us – yet, without sin. Thank you Lord that you became sin for ME, for US, so that we could be saved and be as ONE – even as you and the Father are ONE…. Father, forgive us – heal us – help us to understand, to learn, to gain understanding… teach us Father for we cry out to you for the revealed knowledge that comes from your precious Holy Spirit. Lord may you come to us now and speak to our hearts and bring us YOUR TRUTH….

In Jesus Name,
Amen

Show Vs. Substance

The Dream

A few nights ago I had a dream that I want to share with those of you who – like me – are crying out to God for greater understanding.

The dream began with me riding in a car. I was not driving, and I never saw the driver, although I knew that someone else was operating the vehicle. Ahead of my vehicle were a number of other cars and trucks and we were all in the process of crossing a bridge which spanned a river below us. At the end of the bridge the main road curved gently to the left, and a small paved country road led off to the right. This country road was snow covered and looked icy, although the main road we were currently traveling had neither. I had an excellent view from the passenger side of the vehicle I was in of the country road and noticed that a drab green truck, shaped like a postal truck but which had no insignia or signs on it of any kind – had shot off the main road and began to slip and slide up the country lane. I was immediately concerned that the driver of this vehicle was going to go off the road. I then noticed that this road went rather steeply straight uphill and then made a sharp “U” turn, going straight back down the hill, until finally it stopped as a “dead-end” in the river below. The truck slid dangerously first left, then right, back and forth, but somehow always managed to keep going upward until finally, the truck reached the top of the “U.” Now, I was really concerned about the driver because I knew that the way down would be extremely slick and it was highly unlikely that the driver would escape injury. I began to pray for the driver’s safety. As I did so – a man was thrown out of the truck and rolled about half way down the hill. As soon as I saw this man – I knew that he was a “Postman…” The postman’s vehicle, however, was not as lucky as he had been for it careened all the way down the steep slope, ending up in the river where it quickly sank. That was the end of the dream.

The following morning I told my husband the dream and we prayed. This is the interpretation:

The bridge represents “transition…” Those individuals who God has chosen to “go forward” at this time are in this transition phase. I was not the driver of the vehicle, because the Lord was in control, as He should be. The small, drab green vehicle represents the “old ministry methods” that we are all so familiar with. Remember there were no indications on this vehicle of just WHAT or WHO it represented. This particular ministry (which I feel is actually a composite for many current ministries) was careening dangerously, back and forth, slipping, sliding, but always with the “goal” of reaching the top of the hill, the “top of the heap,” so to speak. These individuals and ministries, however, appear to remain oblivious to the danger(s) involved in reaching what they would consider the “apex” of their careers/ministry. For as soon as they reach the top of the hill, this “apex,” their ministries – which are bound up in the doctrines of men” end up crashing below. In the dream I had, this is represented by my knowing that the individual thrown from the vehicle was a “Postman..” Postmen deliver letters, and letters are written by men. This individual was lucky, and perhaps by the grace of God he will be allowed to repent and move forward at a later date, for he was thrown “out” of the vehicle and although he rolled for awhile, he did not end up being injured or killed. His vehicle landed in the river where it sank.

For we know Him Who said, Vengeance is Mine – retribution and the meting out of full justice rest with Me; I will repay – I will exact the compensation, says the Lord. And again, the Lord will judge and determine and solve and settle the cause and the cases of His people.

It is a fearful (formidable and terrible) thing to incur the divine penalties and be cast into the hands of the living God! Hebrews 10:30-31

Children of God, please read those verses carefully, thoughtfully and prayerfully~!
It is not HIS desire that ANY should perish, but the day and the hour demands that we give up “playing church,” and begin to genuinely seek the Lord about what HE has called us to. What our purpose is in His Body… we need to SETTLE IT in our hearts, minds and above ALL – in our spirits. His Spirit bears witness with our spirit that we ARE a child of God, and His Spirit will also bear witness with our spirit as to “the purpose” He has brought us here for. We can no longer “play at being Christians!” Even the unsaved know and understand that this planet is on a very dangerous course although they have no idea how it will all end. WE DO!   We have a God who knows the “end from the beginning,” and we are bluntly told to be aware of the times in which we live. We can no longer choose the “show” above the “substance…” HE must always be first and foremost in our hearts and minds and His purposes must always take precedence over any situation, even if it costs us everything.

Several years ago I had many people tell me that I was a "great woman of faith.." I felt they spoke the truth – and they did, but what I did not realize at the time was the "faith" I had was "faith" in myself – in my gifts, my talents, my abilities. It has only been recently after having the Lord shaking "my faith" to its very foundations that I have realized that He has rebuilt it, but THIS TIME – my faith is in HIM, in HIS GIFTS… HIS TALENTS… HIS ABILITIES, and not my own. I am nothing without HIM, and I can accomplish nothing for His Kingdom unless HE is at the center of it all… First and foremost we must recognize and acknowledge that what we can accomplish on our own, will – like that dangerous "U" in the country road – eventually take us careening downhill to a sure and certain crash.

I'm a tough case… It took the Lord a lot of years to fully convince me that when He tells me HE IS FAITHFUL – HE IS. I no longer even question whether or not I'll have a roof over my head, food on the table, or a place to sleep because over and over again HE has provided it all, even to the point of literally having food appear just because I "thought" something sounded good for that particular day… I didn't ask Him for it, didn't pray about it, yet, it still just "appeared…" GOD IS GOOD – sooooo good that we have a hard time understanding HOW GOOD and HOW FAITHFUL HE IS!

I grieve though for those individuals and ministries who continue up the "hill" careening dangerously, not seeming to see or care that what they perceive as their goals, may not be the Lord's goal at all, and may in fact, be a recipe for disaster. Those ministries who have continued to preach and teach the doctrines of men, who maintain control of their flock by keeping them ignorant of God's desire for ALL to know and understand Him, who have fleeced His sheep for their own ambitions and personal gain, will find themselves "thrown out" of their vehicles (ministries) and their ministries gone in an instant. The "Y" in the road that I saw in the dream – the main road to the left, or the small country lane to the right that leads only to disaster, lies up ahead for many and I fear that many will – as the Postman did – take the wrong fork, oblivious to the disaster that awaits them.

I know many individuals – my husband among them – who exude mercy and love.
This wonderful man lives mercy and forgiveness (he just doesn't talk it) but recently the Lord cautioned Him that from now on, his mercy MUST be tempered with the knowledge he has accumulated through a lifetime of learning. Matthew 5:7 reads:

Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy.

Therefore, I believe that there are situations and individuals, and yes, even ministries, where mercy must be given in light of revelation knowledge from the Holy Spirit, and even from the knowledge we have learned in our Christian walk. The Lord continually reminds me to "examine the fruit(s)…" PLURAL… FRUIT-S. We are not perfected yet and we will make mistakes, however, it is the consistency of the fruits that we must examine. Look at a ministry's track-record… are they intent on building more buildings, or saving more souls for the Kingdom? I can assure you that God is keeping watch over where their focus really is. Want to know how I can be so sure of that?

Not everyone who says to Me, Lord, Lord, will enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father Who is in heaven. Many will say to Me on that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, and driven out demons in Your name, and done many mighty works in Your name? And then I will say to them openly, I never knew you; depart from Me, you who act wickedly – disregarding My commands. Matthew 7:21-23

It's interesting to note that "he who does the will of My Father" – i.e., obedience is specifically mentioned in verse 21. Please note also that in verse 22 as these individuals speak in an attempt to justify themselves and their ministries, they never mention salvation or teaching! What IS mentioned is the "show," NOT the "substance." A few more verses down we read:

When Jesus had finished these sayings [the Sermon on the Mount], the crowds were astonished and overwhelmed with bewildered wonder at His teaching. Matthew 7:26

In other words, the verses from Chapter 7 were ALSO given at the Sermon on the Mount, where a few chapters earlier the Lord spoke of the "merciful." God is long-suffering, but time is drawing short and the "church" as it exists today has not fulfilled the mandate it was given over two thousand years ago. Many believers have been called out of the "institutional church," and many more struggle over whether or not to leave because they know – from Holy Spirit revelation - this is NOT the way God wants it to be. WHATEVER you know the Lord is showing and telling you to DO – DO IT… eternity depends on it. Jesus was obedient even to death on a cross, we can be no less obedient.

I leave you with this somber warning from the Book of Revelation, in light of current world developments:

And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and [I saw] the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received [his] mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years. Revelation 20:4

May God speak to your hearts today and stir up within you those things that He would have you do in this day and hour for HIS KINGDOM – and not your own.

In His Love,
Mary Koons

The Intoxication Of The Gospel

Billy Humphrey

The Scripture is full of examples of Godly people who entered into the promises of God. When you consider the entire volume of human history there are a relatively small number of individuals who are mentioned in the Bible. In light of this it is important that we consider those who are mentioned and highlighted in Scripture. We should take special notice of the individuals to whom the Lord draws special attention. Mary of Bethany, the sister of Lazarus and Martha is one of these unusual figures. As I began to meditate upon the truths regarding the story of her devotion I literally sensed the presence of God begin to awaken my heart in a brand new way. I pray that as you read your heart would begin to soar with Him. The story of Mary of Bethany is recorded in 3 of the 4 gospel accounts; Matthew 26, John 12 and Mark 14. For our purposes we will primarily consider the passage from Mark.

Mar 14:3-9 And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head. 4 But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, "Why was this fragrant oil wasted? 5 "For it might have been sold for more than three hundred denarii and given to the poor." And they criticized her sharply. 6 But Jesus said, "Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me. 7 "For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish you may do them good; but Me you do not have always. 8 "She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial. 9 "Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her."

The Spikenard

The Bible tells us that the oil was spikenard. Spikenard literally means unadulterated, unmixed and genuine nard. The fact that she poured pure perfume upon Jesus speaks of the purity and beauty of devotion that was flowing from her heart to His. John 12:3 declares that the aroma of the fragrance “filled the whole house.” When worship and devotion is offered as Mary offered, with purity and beauty, it will literally affect and change the atmosphere in the place it is offered. This is the substance of true worship.

Costly Devotion

The value of the ointment was approximately 300 denarii’s which literally means three hundred day’s wages. This is equivalent to a year’s salary. If you consider how much this amount would equate to in modern terms in America today it would be approximately $25,000. This is an extreme cost for one act of worship.

The Mary of Bethany style of radical devotion is costly, yet the cost is unnoticed by the worshipper when it is offered from a heart that has been anesthetized in the experience of His love. There is literally a complete intoxication that is experienced when we intimately encountering Jesus. The depth of knowing Him has a completely mesmerizing effect upon the human heart. When you truly come to know Him as Mary did, your heart is captured and captivated in an absolute sense. You become fully overwhelmed with the God-Man, Jesus. In this experience of consuming love nothing is a sacrifice. NOTHING is considered a sacrifice. You simply desire to give to Him. The motivation to give is not in order to earn something from Him. The motivation is desire; because you have received so much from Him, you must give back to this Beautiful Man. You become so thoroughly whelmed, as Mary was, that you want to spend anything and everything you can upon Him.

She poured her worship upon Him in an answer to the utter fascination of her heart. Her absolute enrapturement brought her to a place where she must give a radical expression of worship to her king and bridegroom. It was never a matter of cost; it was a matter of a heart that was completely melted in passionate love toward the One who is Love itself.

Extravagance draws Criticism

Her extravagance caused the “well instructed” to criticize. They even called it a waste. Matthew 26:8 states that the disciples were indignant with her act of love. It was not the Pharisees that had a problem with her lavishness; it was those who were actually closest to the Lord. The lesson to be learned here is that no matter our position in our relationship to Jesus, it is possible for our hearts to grow cold and accustomed to Him. If this happens we will find ourselves criticizing, just as the disciples did, those who have a fresh touch and experience in the love of God.

Intoxication of the Gospel

The most unique feature of the story is that Jesus stated that her endeavor of worship and devotion is to be proclaimed throughout the whole world, “wherever this gospel is preached.” The thought that the Gospel is to be preached with the telling of the story of Mary of Bethany at first glance doesn’t seem to make sense. It is rare that you hear the story of Mary’s costly and sacrificial worship in the presentation of the Gospel. I, for one, as of this writing, cannot remember a time when I have given a gospel presentation and offered an invitation for people to receive Jesus while including the story of Mary of Bethany. As I was meditating on this scripture I began to see the value of her story as it relates to capturing a heart that does not know the Lord Jesus.

Mary is the example of what it means to live passionately. It could easily be argued that exciting and passionate living is the desire of the masses. Yet, everyday, people live lives searching and seeking to find the next excitement to make their heart race not knowing that the superior pleasures of life are not found in natural things but in spiritual. There are many pleasures to be experienced in this life. However, every delight that is based in earthly, natural experience is inferior to the enjoyment that is available in deeply encountering and authentically knowing the Lord Jesus.

The hidden revelation of Mary of Bethany that is to be commemorated at each sharing of the gospel is not simply that her devotion was costly. It is not solely that her worship was extravagant. Neither is it that her heart was untainted and pure in her love for Jesus. While all of these are true, I believe that the principle revelation of her elaborate expression of desire for the Lord is found in her motivation. What was the motivation of this abandoned act of love and worship? Her extravagant devotion was a testimony to the reality of the intensity of the captivating power of the love of Jesus. The hidden truth that Mary experienced first hand is that Jesus’ love is fully and completely intoxicating. When you truly come to know Him in intimacy it enthralls your entire being. You will be so thoroughly overwhelmed by Him that your heart will swell with ecstasy and satisfaction. You will encounter that for which you were created; the experience of the superior pleasure of creation, knowing Him. It was this reality that triggered the lavish encounter of adoration from this abandoned young woman.

When the gospel message is preached in context to this reality it will not only instruct sinners that without Jesus they are lost but it will also offer them a reality of pleasure that far exceeds any of the, so called, pleasures of sin.

The Full Gospel

Therefore, the full preaching of the gospel includes several facets. I am not proposing that these are the only facets or that this is an exhaustive list; however I believe that these truths need to be considered.

First, Paul declared that a full presentation of the Gospel includes a witness with signs and wonders in the power of the Spirit of God.

Romans 15:18-19 For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ has not accomplished through me, in word and deed, to make the Gentiles obedient; 19 in mighty signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God, so that from Jerusalem and round about to Illyricum I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.

Next, the gospel must also offer a revelation of complete loss and destruction without the holy sacrifice of the blood of Jesus.

2Th 1:8-9 … in flaming fire taking vengeance on those who do not know God, and on those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9 These shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of His power,

Thirdly, it must also offer the necessity of repentance in order to receive the promised free gift of sanctification.

Mat 9:13 "But go and learn what this means: 'I desire mercy and not sacrifice.' For I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."

Finally, as Jesus stated, Mary of Bethany's act of complete fascination is to be mentioned in the entire world whenever the gospel is preached. (Mark 14:9, Mat 26:13) The preaching of the gospel, therefore, must be offered with the reality of the intoxicating, exhilarating capability that intimacy with Jesus has upon the human heart.

Fulfilling the Song

Song of Songs 1:12 declares, "While the king is at his table, My spikenard sends forth its fragrance." Consider this; Mary of Bethany was a Jew, extremely familiar with the teachings of the Old Testament. It is very likely that as she came to the recognition of Jesus as the Messiah this verse in Song of Songs came alive to her spirit. In a moment of unrestrained affection she realized that she could actually live this scripture with the true King. What went unnoticed to everyone else became the defining moment of her life; the King was in her midst and she had the opportunity to offer to Him extravagantly, this reality compelled her. While Jesus the King was reclined at the table with His friends, she, having a revelation of the intimacy of being His Bride, literally fulfilled this scripture. It is stunning to consider that this young lady from Bethany through one act of sacrificial love is commemorated for all time in partnership with the story of God's ultimate sacrifice, the giving of His Son for mankind.

While Mary of Bethany lived the experience in the flesh it is not something that is unavailable for us. The very heart of intoxication in the love of God that Mary possessed is freely available to anyone who desires to know this burning Man, Jesus. I want to encourage you to run headlong into the knowledge of God. As you come to new places in the knowledge of Him, your heart will begin to swell with love. Soon you will find yourself captured and captivated by this Beautiful Savior. The power of the love of God upon the human heart is nothing short of mesmerizing, captivating, fascinating… intoxicating. It is available to you now. Delve deeply into the reality of His love and you will find yourself completely overwhelmed with desire for Him, this is the intoxication of the Gospel.

The Imperative Of Joy

The Imperative Of Joy

Deu 28:47&48 Because thou servedst not the LORD thy God with joyfulness, and with gladness of heart, for the abundance of all things; Therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies which the LORD shall send against thee, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things: and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee.

1Ch 16:27 Glory and honor are in His presence; strength and gladness are in His place

Psa 16:11 Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore.

Psa 100:2 Serve the LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing.

Isa 51:11 Therefore the redeemed of the LORD shall return, and come with singing unto Zion; and everlasting joy shall be upon their head: they shall obtain gladness and joy; and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

Zec 8:19 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and cheerful feasts; therefore love the truth and peace.

Gladness, joy-- imcha'h
BDB Definition:
1) joy, mirth, gladness
1a) mirth, gladness, joy, gaiety, pleasure
1b) joy (of God)
1c) glad result, happy issue

After a long season of dryness and despair a wave of joy swept through the Church in the early 1990's. The 80's had been a decade of public humiliation for many in the Body of Christ as scandals revealed the depth of depravity within the leadership of several high profile media ministries. For hundreds of thousands of God's people the refreshing presence of the Lord brought back the joy or our salvation and renewed a right spirit within us. After a period of mourning our joy and been restored miraculously by a sovereign act of God through a mighty move of the Holy Spirit. We were caught up in a love affair with Jesus and it was fun!

This move of the Spirit came after an extended period of prophetic revelation about a fresh move of God that was coming. It came after years of emphasis on prayer for revival in the our nation (USA) and the world. And perhaps most significantly it came in an unexpected way. Even though it came after this long period of anticipation, because of the unusual aspects of this move (laughter being one of the chief concerns) many in the Body of Christ rejected or dismissed it as just another charismatic fad without understanding the depths to which many were being changed. The key element of this move was the restoration of the reality of the presence of Jesus; the effect was an outbreak of joy.

But why bring this up now in a "post-revival" climate? Well,excuuuuuse me, but God still wants a happy people! Throughout the history of Israel one of the chief complaints God brought against the people was their seemingly unending murmuring and complaining. In Malachi, the last prophetic word brought in the Old Testament period, the issue was still that the people of God were saying that there was "no profit in serving God."

John 15:11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

Jesus came to restore the joy that abides in the Father's presence: The atmosphere of heaven, the sound of rejoicing.... i.e., laughter, singing, celebration. This morning God woke me up with a flood of revelation saying He wants His joy back in His Church and it was no fad, it is His command that we be filled with joy. Repentance swept over me as I realized the degree to which I have allowed my joy to be robbed and snuffed out by the cares of this world and the ambivalence of the Church as a whole. "God forgive us. Have mercy on us and restore the joy of thy salvation. Once again renew a right spirit within us."

Vile Removal
Larry Taylor

26 Apr 2004

"Therefore thus saith the LORD, If thou return, then will I bring thee again, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou shalt be as my mouth: let them return unto thee; but return not thou unto them. And I will make thee unto this people a fenced brazen wall: and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not prevail against thee: for I am with thee to save thee and to deliver thee, saith the LORD." Jer 15:19-20

There is a prophetic call going out from the Lord for His people to return to a purity that will release authority of the highest level. "if you remove the vile...you will be as my mouth"

But who can measure up? What we see all around us is the exaltation of self, manipulation and impure motives ..."and that's just in the Church! Our society is filled with corruption and our Churches are filled with puff. Yet God is still saying "if you." God desires to remove our thoughts, our words and our agendas from the flow of His revelation

True worthiness in the Kingdom is never dependent on our ability to keep the law, but on our willingness to hear and believe His Word and in obedience carry out His instructions.

God is issuing a call to deal with transgression through genuine repentance (change of heart and behavior) and to remove the offensive common every day stuff that has replaced His Word as the ultimate motivator and direction for our lives.

The promise that accompanies this call is that those who respond will become spokesman for His Kingdom and protected from all attacks that come from those who are challenged by the lifestyle of the pure and the Words of the Father.

I have noticed that there is an increase recently in what I call spontaneous salvations happening in meetings. Sunday I was leading a men's Bible study and 5 men interrupted the meeting to confess they were backslidden and that they wanted to return. Hallelujah! They were restored! God is at work .

The Importance Of My Love

Musa Opiyo

elyonpower@yahoo.com

February 7, 2004

Many of My people are devoid of My love. This is because many of you have believed a lie about yourself; whether condemning yourself for a past mistake or failure or whether through rejection of someone either close to you or someone you do not know very well. This has led many of you to believe that you will be accepted by your works. Is there any need to earn the love of God? Did I send My own son on the cross for nothing? Was it not that I loved the world so much so that I sent him to die in your place that the rightful relationship between God and man would be restored?

Man have accepted failure as part of their life. Some of you may have failed Me at one point and thought that you could be of no use. Am I not the Lord your Creator. Did I not form you out of the clay? Did I not call you by name? Do you think that I never knew that you would fall? Yet I sent My son and put him under the same pressure of being tested in the crucible. He is your High Priest who can identify with what you are going through. I have not called you to quit. In My Kingdom there are no failures.

Many more of you have closed the door of your hearts to My love because of some rejection your encountered. Have you not read that I will never leave you nor forsake you? Rejoice, for you are indeed sharing in My sufferings, for I too was despised and rejected by men. When was the last time you were hated by those you were genuinely trying to help? Yet I gave My life and took upon Myself your suffering, your rejection and endured at the cross. I have said to those who overcome, I will give them the right to eat the fruit from the tree of life.

You are not forsaken. Though man ma reject you, not so with Me, for I Am Love. Watch as I raise you up as a tree planted by My waters that will not dry nor wither when the drought comes. To you, many have not understood the work that I have been doing in you. Some have shunned you because of the anointing and the presence of My son living within you. Do not be surprised, for you live in a generation where very few who claim to know Me actually do. Do not give in to discouragement from the enemy. For when you do, you are agreeing with all the lies pouring from his deceitful mouth. He is a liar and the father of it.

I see many of My anointed servants who have become so preoccupied with ministry that they soon forget why they are serving. Many have become accustomed to the 'agenda of the world system' creeping in that it soon becomes a rat race instead of My servants working together to further My kingdom. To My servants I say, if you are not being led by Me, then expect frustration. If you are building and working according to your own agenda and mindset, then expect that work to crumble. Unless My love abides in you, you will not be empowered with My vision. My gospel is clear and is built on love, My love for the church and for the lost, your love for one another and your love unto Me.

Come unto Me and let My love impact everything you do such that you will go out in great power and authority. To My leaders I say that I have accepted you as you are. Feed My sheep even according to the love shed abroad in your hearts. You cannot give what you don't have. Accept My love for you and you will look through My eyes and not the eyes of the world. I am coming with compassion to ignite My love within My people. Prepare your hearts, for it is coming, says the Lord.

This Is The Time And Season

Musa Opiyo

Behold today I quicken your faith for My healing gifts to flow. For in this year I am releasing my healing upon my people. Receive faith enough to say to your infirmity that by the stripes on Jesus' back, I am healed. This is the year for my miracles to flow. This is the year that I am releasing compassion on my saints to carry out my will upon the earth. This is not a time to move backward, not into old ways or old mindsets, but indeed a time for your mind to be renewed by My word as you let it saturate and sink in to your Spirit. Go through the open door that I show you, for I am with you says the Lord, and I shall instruct you and teach on the path that you shall go.

Great things are in store for those that love Me and do My will. As it is written, Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, nor has it entered into the heart of man the things that God has in store for those that love him. And indeed you are that people. Indeed I have called you out of darkness into My marvelous light. Truly you will not have witnessed before what I am about to pour on your midst. Get ready and prepare yourselves in the closet by seeking My face, and I will make My will known. This is a time for your faith to arise higher than the natural vision. For you cannot judge by what you see. You cannot place your trust on the natural senses but truly on the One True God, the Lord Almighty. Exercise faith in My word, faith spoken through My prophets and servants, faith that is focused and that knows that the Word of the Lord shall not return void. Yes this is that season, this is that time, says the Lord.

It is a time for many of My people to reach out and touch the hem of My garment as the woman with the issue of blood. Many of you will have faithfully have to push through the obstacles of men, mans opinions and motions and even the judgments of brethren to take hold of that which I have made available to you. Do not lose heart. For I have heard many of your cries and I say that this is indeed the favourable time.

This is a time that I caution My people and My servants to be careful and take heed when they think they stand, lest they fall. You are to be built on My foundation. For all that can be shaken will be shaken. The enemy is coming with a full force of his army to sway My people, but when he rises like a flood, I raise the standard against him. Stay in Me and stay in My word, for it is your solid foundation.

This Is The Year Of The Open Door
Bill Burns

Apr 12, 2004
I call you to remembrance today that this is the year of the open door. What does that mean to you? I have opened a door in the heavenlies and have sent forth invitations to those who have ears to hear and eyes to see and a desire to come through the door. What is it that I will give you when you pass through this open door? I will give you resurrection life and an understanding of the life you live in Me and the power that comes with that life. I will give you understanding of My authority and power. I will give you understanding of your own life and purpose. I will give you the mysteries of the kingdom that are to be fulfilled at the end of the age. I have looked for those who are willing to be My servants. I have watched for those who desire to be My prophets. My eyes run to and fro over the whole earth looking for those who have a heart and a desire to serve Me, not according to their plans, but according to My will, says the Lord.

I also remind you that you are living in a time of birthing those things that I have spoken to you. The promise, which has been hidden, will come forth. Did you hear Me? It is a time of birthing. You must press in and push to bring forth that which I have revealed and spoken. Do not lose heart; do not give in to the lies of the enemy; do not be weakened in your resolve. There is a time from the conception of that which was spoken until the birthing. This is that time to receive the promise. Come through the open door and live in the abundance of My resurrection life. You are called to live in Me and I in you. I shall perform My will and purpose through you in this earth in this season, says the Lord.

Listen, prophets of the Most High, I have raised you up to bring a word in due season. I have anointed you as My special messengers to speak on My behalf. Yet, the enemy has sent out a special task force to cause you to doubt your gifting, and he has sent out an accusing spirit against you to bring discouragement so that your prophetic voice is silenced. Refuse to allow this questioning to shut you down and render you ineffective, and do not take criticism and judgment as personal rejection. This is a test, which you can pass quite easily if you will continue to walk in the Spirit and stir up the gift that is in you. Discouragement will kill your anointing faster than anything. Be encouraged in the purposes for which I have chosen you.

I, the Lord, am beginning to expose corruption and device, for I am separating the precious from the vile. The fires of purification are even now burning in order to bring forth a righteous people. Now is the time to repent and make adjustments and be done with all deception and depravity. I am calling forth My Bride clothed in the white linen of purity and righteousness. There is no middle ground. You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons. The choices that you make at this time will have deep and profound consequences. Be wise.

Isaiah 59:1-5 Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; nor His ear heavy that it cannot hear. But your iniquities have separated you from God, and your sins have hidden His face from you so that He will not hear. For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies; your tongue has muttered perversity. No one calls for justice, nor does any plead for truth, they trust in empty words and speak lies; they conceive evil and bring forth iniquity. They hatch vipers' eggs and weave the spider's web; he who eats of their eggs dies, and from that which is crushed a viper breaks out.

It is necessary that you maintain objectivity in making decisions at this time. Your tendency is to overreact and allow your emotions to get out of control because you are too close to the situations that you are now required to evaluate. Pull back and stabilize before you change direction or turn back. The fact is that you need to continue to move ahead, but you need to reassess your goals and purposes. This shaking will result in greater clarity and will simplify that which has become complex. Even this will work to your eternal advantage and strengthen your position if you will yield to the work of My Spirit in this test.

Marsha Burns

The enemy has sent a deluge of lies against My people, says the Lord. Measure everything that comes into your spirit against what you know to be truth by the Word. You will know lies from truth because a lie will bring confusion and fear; truth will produce life and peace. If you are unsure, step away from the issue and ask for clarity. Do nothing without confirmation and the witness of My Holy Spirit to your spirit. Be sensitive, and be on guard watching for this attack, for it shall surely come, but there is no need to fear. I will give you the discernment to know truth.

Marsha Burns

Distractions have kept you running in circles instead of making good, solid progress. This has been the plan of the enemy to keep you from being effective in what I have chosen and gifted you to do. Now is the time to re-evaluate your motives and purposes, putting away all doubt. Set your will to achieve all that I have given you the grace to accomplish. Take authority over hindering assignments that have been sent against you by the enemy. Speak to the mountain that has obstructed your view and command it to be removed. Prophesy to your dead bones, and watch new life spring forth.

Marsha Burns: Beloved, you are in the season of Unleavened Bread when you must search your own house in the light of My word for sin. Be done with all that is unrighteous, and refuse to be seduced into justifying an ungodly position in your own heart. I am purging the leaven of pretense and hypocrisy and that of religious exercise without the power of a living relationship with your Creator. I am cleaning My house to make it a holy habitation, a place where I can dwell among My people. Yield to this cleansing and purging, My people, both individually and corporately, for it will yield the peaceable fruit of righteousness. Matthew 23:25-28 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and self-indulgence. Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also. Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness. Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness."

You are reaping the first fruits of the seeds that were being planted in October of last year. Remember, Beloved, that I spoke to you then to be particularly aware of the ground of your own heart and to make sure the seeds sown would bring forth the harvest you desired. Now is a time when you can evaluate once again the process of sowing and reaping. If you will evaluate your harvest, what you are reaping now, it will bring great wisdom, for you are once again entering a sowing cycle that will produce the next harvest. Be diligent to break up the fallow ground of your heart and plant good things. Be aware also that the enemy will come in times of darkness and plant tares if you do not set a watch and stand guard.

Marsha Burns

Quiet your soul, and come into the secret place of My presence, says the Lord. Rise up in the spirit realm and listen to My still small voice. Be aware that those things that have disturbed you and worried you are those things that you have not yielded to Me and trusted Me with. They are things that you still want to have control over, yet there is really nothing you can do about them. Come into rest and face squarely the issues of your heart in which I have brought conviction. Yet, if you do not heed My gentle correction; if you do not come to correction in the secret place, I will bring correction through those close to you. Do not dismiss a rebuke no matter how slight; if you dismiss these opportunities the darkness will deepen. Take time now to deal with all that is in your heart.

Marsha Burns
Apr 15, 2004

The current shaking is laying the foundation of your life bare and exposing that which has not been built on solid spiritual principles. These things are being revealed by fire and consumed as the chaff. Release everything that will not withstand this time of purging, and do not try to protect or maintain any position of ungodliness regardless of how insignificant it may seem to your own heart. This shaking will thoroughly cleanse My threshing floor, and then you must strengthen those things that remain. Do not resist this time of purging; it is a necessary prerequisite to prepare you for My coming, says the Lord.

Children, you have been worried and concerned about many things, and those issues have obliterated your view and perception of what is really important in your life. Release those things that have skewed your perspective, and enter into that secret place of communion with Me. I will remove the blinders and restore your vision. I will bring peace to your heart and assurance to your soul that all things are working together for your good. Come in full assurance that I am for you. I will lead you out of this valley of distraction and bring you to a place of clarity and eternal purpose. Trust Me, says the Lord.

The Joshua Journey

Jill Austin

> Numbers 13:32-33 - "And they gave the children of Israel a bad report of the land which they had spied out, saying, 'The land through which we have gone as spies is a land that devours its inhabitants, and all the people whom we saw in it are men of great stature. There we saw the giants (the descendants of Anak came from the giants); and we were like grasshoppers in our own sight, and so we were in their sight.'"

Are you the Moses generation or the Joshua generation?

Moses sent men to spy out the Promised Land, and they returned with a bad report because of their fear of the giants. Instead of trusting the Lord, their hearts shriveled and they saw themselves as grasshoppers. They had a leftover slave mentality from Egypt and even God's powerful signs, wonders, and provisions weren't enough for them to trust Him. Their grasshopper mentality resulted in their refusal to go to war and take the land. With the exception of Joshua and Caleb, who believed the Lord could defeat the giants, the rest perished in the wilderness, even though the Lord's plan had always been to bring them in!

Many times we base our confidence and faith on outward circumstances instead of on what God has told us He will do. We have to anchor our faith in who He is, rather than in what we can do in our own strength.

So what or who are the giants in your land? What are the strongholds that rob you of faith and enslave you to fear? We need to cry out for a fresh revelation of God's awesomeness. As you believe God and even take baby steps in faith, He will give you the key strategies to do the impossible. God never saw His people as grasshoppers. Rather, He saw the giants as grasshoppers!

God wants you to have faith to believe His promises and His unshakable abilities. The key to conquering new territory in the Spirit and taking out giants is to take the first step - to trust and believe that He is able to do it! Take that leap of faith and be a radical Joshua who will take out the giants in your land.

Prayer: Lord, forgive me for taking my eyes off of You and looking at the giants. Help me not to have a grasshopper mentality and not to move in fear, but in faith. Forgive me for my unbelief. Even as the Israelites needed to go to war and trust you for the strategies, I also want to be courageous and trust you for the victories in my home front. I want to radically seize the territory that you have entrusted to me!

> Numbers 33:11 - "The Lord spoke to Moses face-to-face, as a man speaks to his friend. And he would return to the camp, but his servant Joshua, the son of Nun, did not depart from the tabernacle."

Joshua became Moses' successor. He was in charge of taking the Children of Israel into the Promised Land. How was he prepared by the Lord for this mammoth task? He spent forty years in the secret place - while in the wilderness! When Moses met the Lord in the Tent of Meeting, Joshua would stay around the tent and linger in the Presence because he loved the glory. Exodus 33:11b says, "Moses' young aide, Joshua...did not leave the tent." Numbers 27:18 refers to Joshua as one, "... in whom the Spirit dwelt."

The Lord made covenant with Joshua and told him, "Everywhere you put the sole of your foot, I will give it to you. Be strong and of good courage and do not be afraid, for I am with you all the days of your life. I am going to give you possession of the land" (Joshua 1:3-4). Then the Lord gave Joshua several instructions, which among them was the challenge to "determine to earnestly seek God's presence throughout your life."

God whispered divine war strategies to His intimate friend!

Joshua had to hear God's voice to survive as God's next appointed leader, and he did not underestimate the power of his prayers. Many of us look at prayer as a one-way conversation. But, Beloved, prayer is a dialogue in which God wants to download strategic war plans, blue prints from heaven, and keys to "open doors that no man can shut and shut doors that no man can open" (Isaiah 22:22). There is power in your prayers.

The hotter the battle, the greater the need is to stop, wait, and receive instructions. God wants soldiers whose every move will be an obedient act to their Commander in Chief. As Oswald Chambers wrote, "Prayer does not fit us for the greater works; prayer is the greater work."

Prayer: Oh Lord, I know that you are calling me into the secret place. Teach us the power of prayer! Release a spirit of prayer and intercession so that we can go to the war rooms in heaven, get divine blue prints, and then win earthly battles. Teach us how to war in the heavenlies before we even battle here on earth.

The Josiah Generation

Catherine Brown

The Josiah Generation - Freedom Fighters for Holiness!"

"Josiah was eight years old when he became king and he reigned in Jerusalem for thirty-one years. His mother's name was Jedidah, daughter of Adaiah; she was from Bozkath. He did what was right in the eyes of the Lord and walked in all the ways of his father David, not turning aside to the right or to the left." 2 Kings 22:1,2

From being a young child of eight until the end of his reign at thirty-nine years of age, God used Josiah throughout his life to pursue and promote purity. Josiah was a type of child prodigy -- called from an early age to reign and rule as a Kingdom ambassador for God on the earth. Josiah ushered in a 're-birth' of holiness in God's people. He was a king (literally reigning on the throne as king of Judah); a priest (in his desire to minister to the Lord); and a prophetic 'sign of the times' in the way God used him to speak to and affect change in the nation and the church. King Josiah was eventually killed at Megiddo by Pharaoh Neco, king of Egypt, as he marched out to meet him in battle.

Today, Josiah represents those who will be used by God to usher in purity, holiness, and the fear of the Lord. This Josiah generation WILL include children and young people, but will not be limited to just the younger generations. The end time revival will be a holiness revival and the Lord will vindicate His holy name and reputation by rising up a 'Josiah type generation' who will be freedom fighters for holiness.

Love the Lord with ALL YOUR HEART, YOUR STRENGTH, and ALL YOUR MIND

Josiah loved the Lord with his whole being. "Neither before nor after Josiah was there a king like him who turned to the Lord as he did -- with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his strength, in accordance with all the Law of Moses." 2 Kings 23:25 (See also Matthew 22:34-40)

"Then the king called together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. He went up to the temple of the Lord with the men of Judah, the people of Jerusalem, the priests and the prophets -- all the people from the least to the greatest. He read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant, which had been found in the temple of the Lord. The king stood by the pillar and renewed the covenant in the presence of the Lord to follow the Lord and keep his commands, regulations, and decrees with all his heart and all his soul, thus confirming the words of the covenant written in this book. Then all the people pledged themselves to the covenant." 2 Kings 23:1-4

God says, "I am rising up a 'promise keeper' generation that will joyfully obey My commands and decrees, entering into covenant relationship with the Lord their God in a profound way. As My children spend time in My presence I will reveal the power of My covenant keeping promises. I am birthing a fresh wave of love for right living by My commandments. All those who love Me and love My Son, will desire to live by My standard of righteousness. This will not be done legalistically, rather it will fulfilled through the Spirit of Grace outworking My Kingdom standards in My Body. I am raising leaders who will champion holiness."

The Approach / The Gathering

Josiah was required to approach the Lord's temple (2 Kings 23:2), furthermore, Josiah went with all the people, the priests, and the prophets. In other words, Josiah was part of a remnant called out to live by grace. Josiah chose to draw near to God. James teaches us that if we draw near to God, he draws near to us. (James 4:8)

The Reading and the Renewal of Covenant

Josiah rediscovered the book of the covenant and read it in the presence of the people. Reading the word of God had a profound effect on the gathering, not least of which it led them to a place of renewed dependency on God and they were convinced that it was necessary to re-pledge their affections to God by renewing the covenant in His holy presence. (2Kings 23:2,3).

The Pledge -- Repentance and Confession

All the people pledged themselves to the Lord (2 Kings 23:3). To pledge means to solemnly undertake to do or give something. A pledge is something given as a token of love, favor, or loyalty. God's people were re-affirming their heart affections to Him. They turned in a spirit of repentance from the world to God.

The Lord says, "I am calling forth an emerging holy generation that will seek My face with undivided hearts. Pledge yourself and your affections to Me, for I have etched your names on the palms of My hands and love you with an everlasting love."

The Burning

It was necessary that the temple be cleansed. All the cultic articles for Baal, Asherah, and the starry host were removed from the Lord's temple. Josiah did away with pagan priests, and ground the Asherah poles to dust. He tore down the quarters of the male shrine prostitutes, which were in the Lord's temple, and also where the women wove for Asherah. (2 Kings 4-7) The works of the people's hands and the affections of their hearts had been defiled. Through Josiah's radical commitment to the Lord, his heart burned for purity in his own life and in the lives of his people and he took bold action to remove from the Lord's temple the things that were idolatrous and impure.

The Lord says, "I am seeking a Josiah mentality in My bride, desirous that she will turn from all that would defile her in the spirit of the world and be cleansed by My Blood. I am purging My church of spiritual prostitution. Throw away that which would cause you to stumble and fall into sin. Discard all detestable practices and pagan influences from your life. Devote yourself to spending time in My presence, to prayer, to fasting, to praise, and to My Word. Dedicate yourself to Me with fresh zeal. Pour your lives out as a love offering for the orphans and widows and keep yourself from being corrupted by the world."

Spiritual Prostitution

Jesus once ate at a Pharisee's home, where a sinful woman (a prostitute) came and washed His feet with her tears, dried them with her hair, anointed Him with oil, and kissed the Lord profusely as a sign of her desperate longing and love for Him. Her heart motivation was pure and, in that moment, all she wanted to do was to minister to Christ. Because of this her sins were forgiven and she received new life in Christ (Luke 7:36-50).

To prostitute means to put to an unworthy or corrupt use for the sake of gain. Simon the Pharisee had abused the presence of Jesus. He did not treat the Lord with decency or respect. He did not revere the presence of Christ in his home. Is the church today abusing Jesus' presence? Are we, as believers, guilty of spiritual prostitution? Do we, like Simon, misuse and insult the Lord in our midst by ignoring or neglecting Him -- not treating the Lord with proper respect and reverence? Do we put other things before Christ rather than making the Lord our priority? Do we seek to impress man more than we seek to serve and bless the Lord?

May we attain the humility of the spiritually destitute woman and access the atmosphere of glory as we draw near to Christ, seeking Him with an honest heart. Despite, or perhaps because of, her lifestyle, the sinful woman sought Jesus with tears in her eyes and was found by Him. In such a place of brokenness she received personal salvation. If we desire to see many souls won for Christ, we must realize afresh our need of cleansing and humility. Confessing sinners and Jesus are always found near to one another. We are united in our humanity and as we honestly face our frailty and failings we are able to receive the divine grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. This is the pathway of purity that leads to both personal and corporate revival.

Desecration of Idolatrous Shrines at the City Gates

Josiah was responsible in his generation for desecrating the high places and breaking down the idolatrous shrines set up at the city gates (2Kings 23:8). To desecrate means to treat a sacred thing or place with violent disrespect. Josiah violently disrespected the idolatry of Israel and the false idols and altars that stood as an affront to the Lord God.

I hear the Spirit of the Lord say, "The Josiah generation of today will confront ungodliness in spiritual seats of power (city gates) and pull them down through anointed prayer and praise. This is the time for a resurgence of those who have and will yet embrace the heartbeat of 2 Chronicles 7:14. 'IF' is not a lost word to my children. IF you will embrace humility and holiness I will release anointed prophetic utterance, decrees of Kingdom authority, acts of love and humility, and unity in my body. By my Spirit I will dismantle the kingdom of darkness and the enemy's web over entire cities and nations. I will hear from heaven and heal your land. But, beloved children, you can only impart that which you have received by revelation and application of My cleansing word to your hearts. The warfare for purity must begin first in your heart. From this place of renewed holiness you will walk in My authority and affect the destiny of nations through your testimony and prayer and acts of servant hood."

No More Child Sacrifice

Through Josiah, God drew a line in the sand and said an unequivocal 'NO' to the needless death of children, particularly in relation to child sacrifice to other gods. God cares deeply and profoundly for the welfare of children. He calls the church to share His heart for children, especially for orphans. We must pray protection on this end-time generation of valiant warriors for Christ, some of whom are as yet unborn.

"I am rising up a Josiah generation to stand in this hour against the enemy's plans to destroy the end-time army of children. Through murder, rape, abortion, war, famine, and every kind of abuse, the enemy has sought to destroy this end-time generation of children and Josiah's. But I have raised a mighty shout in the heavens and his plans will not prevail for I am a God of justice and My righteousness shines forth like the dawn. I am causing my sleeping bride to awake and to stand to her feet and fight valiantly for those who have no voice, for the Voice of the Lord is powerful."

The Josiah generation represents an army of God's holy people willing to serve sacrificially with their lives. Ones who are willing to campaign and fight for social action and change, and to pray for justice from Heaven's courts to prevail on the earth.

The Lord says, "Many despots and dictatorships will be deposed through the prayers and the righteous actions of the modern day Josiah generation. This holiness move is birthed in the throne room of heaven and has been prepared, for such a time as this, as an extravagant gift in the Blood of Christ. Now is the hour for my people to embrace holy living. Now is the time for the total abolishment of slavery. Now is the time to declare freedom in Christ to the multitudes. The time is short."

Removal of Idols

"And when you look up to the sky and see the sun, the moon and the stars -- all the heavenly array -- do not be enticed into bowing down to them and worshipping things the Lord your God has apportioned to all the nations under heaven." Deuteronomy 4:19,20

Josiah pulled down, smashed to pieces, and threw away the rubble of the torn down altars from the roof to the temple courts (2 Kings 23:11,12). He desecrated the high places Solomon had built and smashed sacred stones and cut down Asherah poles, covering the sites with human bones (2Kings 23:14). He demolished the altars and high places at Bethel, removing and defiling all the shrines and high places in Samaria (2Kings 23:19). Josiah slaughtered all the priests of these high places on the altars and burned their human bones on them (2Kings 23:30). He had the people observe Passover, a lasting reminder of the escape from Egypt and God's mighty deliverance (2Kings 23:21-23).

It was love for God that compelled Josiah and enabled him to be used to bring about a mighty purging and cleansing to the people and the land. Josiah confronted counterfeit spirituality and the spirit of compromise. There was no room for divination and false prophetic anointing in Josiah's kingdom!

"My people will rise up as a Josiah generation under a prophetic mantle and, in purity, they will confront and cast out all that has come into the church as the spirit of compromise, of deceit, of rebellion, and of witchcraft. I am tired of My children living corrupted lifestyles. I call My bride to the altar of faith, whereby there is forgiveness of sins and cleansing by My blood. I will not tolerate idolatry in My bride. By the Spirit of truth I am pulling down the strongholds of the enemy and, in this move of My Spirit, every deceitful heart will be exposed and every thought that raises itself against My sovereignty will be confronted, and every contrite heart received in grace and mercy.

"Children will speak with accuracy and authority in the word of knowledge, in some instances exposing decades of wrong living in individuals. In these cases, I will pour out My healing through the children to those who are willing to repent. Furthermore, I am birthing a fresh wave of discernment in My church to enable my believers to distinguish between that which is holy from that which is unholy."

Josiah Got Rid of Mediums, Spiritists, Household Gods, Idols, All other Detestable Things in Judah (2 Kings 23:24)

The Lord is exposing sinful fascination with corrupt, spiritual practices and is rooting out the spirit of the new age movement that has subtly entered the church and now masquerades as pseudo-spirituality amongst many believers. The Lord God of Hosts will not tolerate tarot cards, horoscopes, divination, and witchcraft in the church. It is time for these things to be purged from the Bride of Christ. No more!

We are to worship and serve Jesus only. Righteousness is characteristic of faith, whereas lawlessness is characteristic of unbelief. To be 'full of lawlessness' is to lead a life characterized by sin and wrongdoing. Lawlessness and sin is an act of rebellion against God, and this is idolatry. Idolatry is lawlessness and violates holiness. Sin cannot and must not be disregarded or trivialized. In His great Kindness, God calls us to repentance that we might have no regrets but only Life in him (2 Corinthians 7:8-13).

Only One Way is Perfect -- God's Way

"As for God his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is flawless." Psalm 18:30

It is love that compels a parent to direct their children on the straight and narrow path. There is no greater love than that of our Abba Father for His sons and daughters. The path of Life is narrow but is illuminated by the beauty and majesty of Jesus' holy presence (Matthew 7:13,14).

Let all who have an ear to hear listen to the Spirit's call to the Bride to purity and holiness. May we bow the knee today with contrite hearts and embrace the Spirit of Grace that cleanses us from our sins and unrighteous acts as we confess them to Christ. May each man, woman, and child be like modern-day Josiah's and faithfully pursue holy lifestyles in and for Christ.

Talitha Koum

Pamela Hatheway

Talitha Koum: Little Girl, Arise

pamhatheway@yahoo.com

I have sensed the Holy Spirit whispering to me "Talitha Koum." I was familiar with the story in the book of Luke, where the young girl lay dead and Jesus raised her up. I sensed the message was for me personally, Talitha Koum, "Little girl, Arise," it is time to move on to a life of maturity, you can not die in spiritual infancy.

"Talitha Koum" the Holy Spirit would whisper.

"Yes Lord, I know, I heard you last time." I would respond.

After weeks, or maybe even months of this dialogue going on, it dawned on me that my revelation was incomplete, perhaps I should look up the story. When I read the passage, I realized that this was not a message just for me, but a prophetic directive for the church in this season.

Multitudes Waiting for His Appearing

"So it was when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him." Luke 8:40

There is a feeling among many that we are at crucial place in our spiritual history. The majority of the church is waiting for Christ. Some are looking to a literal physical return, others, are anticipating a spiritual inhabitance, where He can be observed manifested fullness in His body, the church. Either way we recognize that the church at large is waiting with anticipation for Him to make an appearance in this generation.

" And behold there was a certain man named Jairus, he was the ruler of the synagogue. And he fell down at Jesus feet and begged him to come to his house for he had an only daughter at twelve years of age, and she was dying." Luke 8:41-42

The name, Jairus means, "he will enlighten, " his name implies a prophetic vision and insight. The text says that this man Jairus was the ruler of the synagogue; he was one of the ones who spiritually sat at the gate. Jairus was waiting for the appearance of Jesus because he had a need; his twelve-year-old daughter was dying.

I want us to take a step back from the literal story in this text and look at the things hidden just under the surface. First and I know I am oversimplifying, but the woman, in scripture usually represents the church as bride.

Secondly, note that the number twelve plays a huge part in this portion of text, we need to look at it symbolically to hear what the Holy Spirit is saying in this day. The number twelve represents divine governmental authority, apostolic order and fullness. In this passage, Jairus represents the father's heart in prophetic- intercession. He is passionately concerned with a sick and dying, or dead apostolic ministry in his house (or sphere of influence). At twelve years old, this girl had not yet reached her place of maturity. Her fruitfulness had not yet had a chance to evidence. At one time, she was probably healthy rosy-cheeked, vital and full of destiny and promise, but unless the Lord intervened, those purposes would be unrealized.

Invite Him Home

Jairus fell at Jesus feet and begged Him to come to his house. Understand that when we invite the King to our house, and submit our "houses" to His sovereignty He will deal with all adversaries. It was important for Jairus to invite Jesus into his home, for it was the location of his greatest battle and greatest victory.

Many of us live compartmentalized lives. We allow Jesus to be King for an hour or two on Sunday morning, we give him ten minutes of our day as we "do" our devotionals. We allow Him to be King on our terms in the areas our lives that we have chosen to turn over to Him. To recognize His sovereignty in the face of our enemies or in the midst of our frustrations and weaknesses is another matter. To be an "overcomer," we must turn throw our crown at his feet and invite the King into our domain. Jesus will fight our battles, as long as we allow Him to be commander and chief and He will fight it His way not our way; He will not sign on as private to take our direction.

The heart cry of prophetic-intercessors, in this season, is to see Kingdom authority come into fullness in earth as it is in heaven. There is an immature apostolic ministry in the church that has not come into her purpose. She has not yet produced fruit, she has never had the opportunity to move into maturity and adulthood, and she lay dying before her time.

Jesus responded to Jairus. He joined this man, and walked with him toward his home and his sickly daughter. The scripture says, "But as he went, the multitudes pressed against him." The multitudes that had been waiting for Him had their own needs. They assumed they knew what Jesus would do when He showed up. In the face of their own personal needs and agendas, Jesus' choice to travel miles away to raise up a young girl, not highly valued in the society of the day, may have been confusing, even frustrating to them. The scriptures tell us they pressed against Him as He went.

Woman with An Issue

It was on the road to Jairus' house that we read about another woman, the woman with the issue of blood. She had been hemorrhaging for twelve years. (Notice the connection?) To recap, twelve means divine kingdom government and apostolic authority. We see a woman mature in age and experience, perhaps in her earlier years she had borne children but for the last twelve years she had been dealing with an issue that kept her barren, and deemed unclean by the rest of the (Christian) community. Because of her "issue," she was labeled, isolated, secluded from society, hidden in obscurity. To many, she may have appeared weak, anemic and maybe depressed because nameless woman was identified wholly with her "issue." She had fallen into a pattern of self-absorption and introspection that had caused her to be ineffective in other areas of her life.

This woman had spent all that she had, exhausting her resources, unsuccessfully trying to deal with her issue. The doctors of the day were unsuccessful. No amount of policy setting or ecumenical discourse has the power to heal these issues that separate.

When she saw Jesus in the midst of the crowd she knew, not only did He have the answer, He was the answer. She turned her eyes away from her need and onto the source. The issue that had kept her isolated for so many years was no longer there. She "had seen Him as He was," and instantly, in the twinkling of an eye, virtue was transferred as the dunamus power of Jesus Christ, permeated her very being transforming her to wholeness.

"and when the woman saw that she was no longer hid&" Luke 8:47

She knew she could no longer be hidden& in this day King Jesus is about to deal with the issues and instantly release the hidden leaders from their caves, and prisons. The "Hidden ones" are about to become the " Revealed ones" as they turn their focus to Him, and take hold of his mantle.

Little Girl, Arise

Jesus continued on his way to the home of Jarius. In the natural, it looked to be too late. The mourners were already gathered, the declaration had already been made. She is dead. Apostolic authority is a thing of the past. Not so, King Jesus made a proclamation, "she is only sleeping." He moved into the inner chamber of the home of Jarius, "Talitha Koum," "Little girl, Arise" into maturity and fruitfulness. "Little girl, Arise" into your manifested destiny. "Little girl, Arise" to the high calling of Jesus Christ.

"And her spirit returned, and she rose immediately; and He gave her orders for something to be given for her to eat. And her parents were amazed; but he instructed them to tell no one what had happened. Luke 8:55-56

To the parents he advised, "give her something to eat, and do not tell anyone about this." The Apostolic ministry of the church needs to be fed (eat the Lamb, eat the Book), equipped and built up for the purpose of releasing and sending her forth. As with the woman with the issue, this girl needs not to be announced for she will be revealed as she begins to function.

Put it Together

Together these two females represent an integrated picture of the apostolic ministry in this day. The first suffers sickness and death within the organized structure of the church, threatening never coming to her maturity. The second, resides on the fringes of the church, just outside the camp, separated from the mainstream by her issue. With the appearance of Christ, both are restored to health and vitality and a promise of fruitfulness.. Both have been properly aligned that they might be sent.

"And he called the twelve together, and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to heal diseases. And He sent them to proclaim the kingdom of God and perform healing." Luke 9:1-2

This scripture follows on the heals of the stories described earlier. Again we see the number twelve connecting the incidences into one progressive revelation. After He raised up the twelve-year- old girl, and He restored the woman with the issue, He gathered His own twelve together for the purpose of imparting to them the kingdom authority and power needed that He might send them to fulfill His mandate.

Conclusion

I believe that this story is not a series of incidences in the human experience of Jesus Christ, but is a pattern for what is taking place in this season.

For the past twenty years, in particular, God has been calling spiritual Jairus's, the prophetic-intercessors motivated with the Father's heart to see an Apostolic ministry in the church raised up into maturity and fruitfulness. At the same time, there is an Apostolic ministry that has been relegated to function on the fringes of the church world, identified not by their anointing but their doctrinal issues. Their issues are about to become a thing of the past. They will be known as the recipients of impartation. There is something else happening, Jesus is gathering or networking His Apostolic contingent not for political agenda, but to deposit His authority and power that they might be sent as an extension of His earthly ministry.

The Key to Revival and Intimacy with God
Jill Austin

Revival Starts with You

2 Chronicles 16:9 - "For the eyes of the LORD range throughout the earth to strengthen those whose hearts are fully committed to Him."

Revival is not born out of mass movements, but out of a series of solitary decisions.

Over the last several years, I have traveled to more churches and nations than I can count. Many have gathered together and called others to pray, fast, and walk in unity. First, the meetings are packed by the mounting momentum of trying out the latest, greatest new idea. Then, slowly, the meetings dwindle down; one or two intercessors are the sole watchmen left on the wall. The faithful few glumly look around at the empty rows of chairs.

We get discouraged when we don't see others manifesting the same enthusiasm for revival that we have. We worry, "How can our city be transformed unless the pastor of that major church is involved and all the meetings are filled?" But I tell you, beloved, God is not focused on the empty chairs!

Rather, He is focused on the chairs that are filled.

You are there.

And He has drawn you there. He is going to begin His work with you. Revival starts today. Revival starts with you.
Intimacy is What Ignites Revolution

He has hand-chosen you, before the foundations of the world, to embark on a journey into the fullness of your destiny. Do you want to be His voice rather than man's echo?

If so, will you return to Him as your first love? Remember, God must first set our hearts ablaze with radical passion for Jesus. Intimacy is what ignites revolution.

Is the presence of the living God fully taking up residence in your heart? If that has not happened, then why are you expecting that to happen in some kind of public meeting? Revival starts with you! Personal transformation must precede city transformation. Let a revolution begin today - and may it begin with you!

Prayer: Oh Lord, I ask that You would radically revolutionize my life from the inside out. Cause revival to burn so deeply in my heart that others can't help but be changed. Oh Lord, You are truly all I want! Tenderize my heart again so I desire to return to You as my first love. Where my heart has drifted and gotten lukewarm, return me back to You. God, I give you permission to do whatever it takes to make me wholly Yours. Set my heart on fire! Set my spirit ablaze today.

Prayer - A Key to Intimacy with God

Jeremiah 33:3 - "Call unto Me and I will answer You and show You great and mighty things."

Sincere and passionate prayer is the key to unlock our relationship with Almighty God. Many struggle with praying because they feel that their intercession is not much more than empty cries to an invisible God who seems so far off or distant. We think that our prayers shoot only as high as the ceiling and then bounce back unheard and unanswered. But beloved, God loves communing with You! He promises that He will hear us and answer!

In fact, communing with God is the highest purpose for which you were created! "This is eternal life to know Me." (John 17) Our hunger for God Himself is what fuels our prayer life. When His presence is our passion and our hunger is for His heart, we can approach the throne of God boldly with the confidence that our Daddy loves our prayers, but having this first love is so important. As John Bunyan said, "In prayer it is better to have a heart without words than words without a heart."

A key to prayer is listening: Remember, God has more to say to you than you have to say to Him! James 4:8 promises, "Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you." Drawing near to Him, free from distractions, with a heart to first worship and commune with Him is where we must begin. He holds the answers to all your questions before they are even on your lips. Listen for His voice!
The Power of Prayer

Another key in unlocking the resources of heaven with our intercession is to pray with the Bible! Like Jacob did in Genesis 32, we can remind God about what He said! God's Word does not return unto Him void, and if we remind God of His promises, we can have confidence that whatever we ask, according to His will, is heard and answered.

A final point of caution is that the ultimate goal in prayer is not to have our prayers answered, but to encounter God Himself. Fellowship and intimacy are not based upon the hours you spend in prayer. Rather, intimacy is the time you spend with God. Prayer cannot just be storming the gates of heaven with a list of requests as an empty exercise of words. Rather, our prayers must be desperate cries for encounter from our heart to His heart! Having the audience of God is not something to take lightly! It is an incredible honor to rest in the knowledge that the omnipotent, ever-powerful God of the universe has one joy above all else – and that is to spend time with YOU!

Prayer: Oh Lord, I want to have a passion for Your presence. Dig deep into my inner soul and help me to not fear the setting apart with you. Oh, how I ache to know you more! Teach me to pray the prayers that stir Your heart. I want to minister to you with my prayers. I want my heart to bless your heart and give you the love that You deserve!

Is There a Cry in You for a Deeper Friendship with God
Jill Austin

Fresh Revelation Face-to-Face

Exodus 33:12-16 - "Then Moses said to him, 'If Your Presence does not go with us, do not send us up from here. How will anyone know that You are pleased with me and with Your people unless You go with us? What else will distinguish me and Your people from all the other people on the face of the earth?'"

After an incredible "mountain top" experience on Mount Sinai with a 40-day visitation, receiving The Ten Commandments, and having God inscribe the Law on his heart, Moses descended the mountain and was hit with heavy spiritual warfare. His people were entangled in blatant sexual perversion as they worshipped a golden calf. The Lord's jealousy burned and He released judgment, costing three thousand men their lives.

In total desperation, Moses cried out for a greater encounter with the Lord - a deeper visitation was needed! It was not enough to see a burning bush ablaze, or watch the Red Sea part, or even to see supernatural provision each day with the raining down of manna. He cried out for more! He wanted to see God's face. He would not take "No" for an answer. Total desperation, unquenchable hunger, and unswerving commitment to his people caused Moses to contend with God for His presence.

While Moses faced death and warfare, it caused him to press into God with a greater desperation! Do your trials cause you to run to God or from God? No matter what your circumstances, God is inviting you to come up higher. Don't live in the valley of death and destroyed dreams. He will give you the strength and the wings of an eagle to soar up the mountain to greater heights in Him.

God answered Moses' cry by letting His goodness pass before him. After Moses descended, the very glory of God rested on him, causing his face to shine. Moses even had to wear a veil to hide the blinding brightness of God's glory.

Have You Cried Out to See the Face of God?

Have you, like Moses, cried out to see the face of God? It is not enough to have a "mountain top" experience or receive fresh revelation as Moses did! Moses wanted more.

He wanted friendship. He wanted intimacy. He wanted God Himself. There is something greater than receiving life-changing prophetic words, attending the latest of conferences, or seeing God's power explode in signs and wonders.

Nothing is greater in this life than being His friend. Is there a cry in you for a deeper friendship with God? God is calling for us to meet with Him face-to-face.

Prayer: Lord, the warfare has been so intense. In the storms of life, I want to run to you and not from you. What I have had before is just not enough. I need to see You face-to-face. I want to be Your friend and hear Your heart. Please encounter me, Lord!

Running to Him...Not from Him: Godly Fear

Exodus 14:31 - "And when the Israelites saw the great power the LORD displayed against the Egyptians, the people feared the LORD and put their trust in Him and in Moses, his servant."

Fear, or reverential awe of the Lord, should help us run to God rather than from God. Moses' encounter with God on Mount Sinai is an awesome example of how encountering God causes reverence and elation, rather than fear of rejection and spiritual boredom.

Moses ascended the great mountain of the Lord, shielded from the glare of life's non-essentials. This was the place where God is all that exists and all that matters. After the lightning and the rumblings on Mount Sinai, Moses returned and told the people something interesting. He said, "God has come to place His fear in you so that you might not sin."

Encountering Him

Godly fear is a reverential awe. It is realized with an encounter with an another-world, extra-dimensional, supernatural reality. And in that place of realization, it empowers our hearts to not settle on the lesser loves of this world.

We find casual, routine religion to be convenient. We find it to be pleasant. But this kind of religion fails to provide the average American parishioner, week in and week out, with the kind of spine-tingling, seat-of-the-pants, edge-of-the-seat environment that delivers us from lesser distractions. I don't want to go to church when I can predict every moment of the service. God is radical and unpredictable. He wants to bring in the suddenly of His personality. He wants to be able to model church after Moses' encounter on Mount Sinai.

When Moses went up onto Mount Sinai, he didn't think that he was going to have forty minutes of worship, then some announcements, and then the timed message. When God is in the house, nothing is predictable! If His presence is there, you are on the edge of your seat and you forget your watch. You don't know how much time has passed. God is there and that is all that matters. Do not let your hearts faint if there is a holy dissatisfaction burning in you. For the most radical encounters that you will have will be in the privacy of your own home in the secret place. You must contend for that something more and let that hunger drive you into a deeper intimacy with Him. Let's all cry out for our own Mount Sinai encounters with the Lord.

We must have more of You!

Prayer: Lord, I want to have a holy fear of Your awesomeness! Help me to climb the mountain, to encounter You, and not to settle for anything less than YOU alone. We welcome you back to our churches to ruin us for the ordinary. We must have Your presence or we will become dull and barren!

The Kingdom Age
Bill Burns

Do you not understand that I am moving you into the kingdom age? This has been My great desire even from the beginning. But, now I say to you that the glory of the kingdom shall be revealed as a witness to all before My second coming, says the Lord. I will have a bright and shining Church in the land, a glorious Church, a Church that moves like I moved, walks like I walked, preaches like I preached, heals like I healed, and delivers like I delivered, says the Lord. You are that people, the chosen generation of this age. You are the people of the morning light of this Day. You are those who have seen the morning star and its light and have arisen in the dawn to praise Me with all of your heart and with the sound of your voice. That praise becomes a habitation for My presence. I will pour out of My Spirit the rain that will fall upon you and bring forth My purposes, which shall be seen and known in the land, for I come to take a people for Myself, and you are that people!

If you will listen, you will hear the sound of the next wave. It is the wave of power and glory that comes. Be like the surfer who takes his board and goes out to meet the wave. You cannot catch the wave if your remain on the shore. You must get in the water and swim with all of your might to get to the place where the next wave is forming. You must be positioned to catch the wave and ride the crest and the glory of the wave. Do not miss it, for it will be the most glorious that has yet come to the earth and upon mankind. I come to cleanse the earth and empower My people to do that which I have called them to do, and you can hear the sound of it if you will listen. The wave is beginning to break. Get into the deep water, and ask Me for the strength to position yourself for the breaking of this wave.

Prepare For An Epic Battle
Marsha Burns

August 13, 2004: I heard the Lord say, "Prepare for an epic battle." And, I saw in a vision the army of the Lord in extreme disarray. There were individuals who were sexually immoral and in great deception, a man cheating on his wife, business partners defrauding one another, a woman with a spirit of infirmity who had settled into her sickness to gain attention and escape responsibility. I saw a couple of women, who had once made a decision to serve God, getting drunk and laughing; one said to the other, "If my pastor could see me now!" There were people who were angry and offended, barely able to speak to one another, seeped in unforgiveness and bitterness. I saw hypocrites who pretended one thing while doing the opposite, insincere and unholy in their attitudes and motivations.

Although I observed only a few individuals in this vast army, I knew it was riddled with all manner of debauchery. Many of the people were wearing only pieces of their armor, and some were asleep. And, I thought to myself, "How are we going to fight this battle at all, let alone win?"

Then, the Commander in Chief called us to attention and asked us to prepare for the greatest battle of humanity. He talked to us about renewing our minds to understand the seriousness of the times and to renew our hope of salvation and be reminded of the price that has already been paid for our redemption. He called us to rise up in faith, to put off all unrighteousness, and to be cleansed and sanctified for this holy battle. He admonished us to be done with all deceit and to walk in absolute truth. He told us to rise up and proclaim His Word and to prophesy and proclaim victory over the land. He said, "Do these things in preparation, and you will win the battle without a fight!"

Thy Kingdom Come
John Martin

I was reading Revelation 4, 5 & 6 when the Holy Spirit caused me to notice something I had not seen before.

(Rev 5:8 NKJV) Now when He had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each having a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints.

At the introduction of the golden bowls of incense, being the prayers of the saints a period of intense worship ensued followed by an event that had been awaited for a very long time;

(Rev 6:1_2 NKJV) Now I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals; and I heard one of the four living creatures saying with a voice like thunder, "Come and see." {2} And I looked, and behold, a white horse. He who sat on it had a bow; and a crown was given to him, and he went out conquering and to conquer.

A seal was broken and judgment was released on the earth. As I continued to read and came to this verse then I understood what the Holy Spirit was trying to reveal.

(Rev 6:9_11 NKJV) When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held. {10} And they cried with a loud voice, saying, "How long, O Lord, holy and true, until You judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?" {11} Then a white robe was given to each of them; and it was said to them that they should rest a little while longer, until both the number of their fellow servants and their brethren, who would be killed as they were, was completed.

These were not rebuked by the Lord for calling for judgment to come on the earth to avenge them and perhaps even others they did not know personally but understood that others beside themselves were suffering for Christ.

The following is what I believe the Lord wants to say to us about the prayers of the saints.

The words "how long" began to reverberate in my spirit as I prayed and waited on the Lord. The phrase is used 60 times in the New King James Bible and are primarily God speaking to His people saying "how long must I wait for you to do right" or the saints asking God "how long before you rescue us from the hand of our enemies".

I believe the Lord is saying to us at this time "how long before you will begin to pray my will?"

When the disciples ask Jesus "teach us to pray" His answer was a very simple one.

After our initial recognition of God as all in all and worshiping His holiness we are instructed to pray that His kingdom rule be brought to earth and divine order established so that earth would reflect His glory just as heaven does.

This would of necessity require some upheaval on the earth and I fear God’s people are reluctant to ask for divine intervention because they either do not want their peaceful lives disrupted or they have fallen pray to false teaching concerning the doctrine of "love". They are convinced that if we all love enough that the world will turn from it’s wicked ways and open their hearts to God. How long before we will become like Lot and call on God to deal with the out of control evil in our land?

(2 Pet 2:6_8 NKJV) and turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them to destruction, making them an example to those who afterward would live ungodly; {7} and delivered righteous Lot, who was oppressed by the filthy conduct of the wicked {8} (for that righteous man, dwelling among them, tormented his righteous soul from day to day by seeing and hearing their lawless deeds);

I believe Lot daily cried out to God to deal with the wicked around him. He just didn’t know it would get so bad that he would have to risk his virgin daughters to turn away the wicked that surrounded him or he might have chosen to leave that city sooner. But even at the end it’s possible to see that he had affections in that city that made him not a little reluctant to leave. How many today are praying the prayer "thy kingdom come" but still clinging to worldly attachments.

We must pray with abandon to all our wishes, riches, possessions and desires "how long oh Lord will you watch injustice, let Thy kingdom come".

Are we to have a heart for the lost? Of course we must but let God decide how to bring the lost to Himself and simply pray that model prayer (The Lord’s Prayer) that is simple but covers the entire will of God for our lives. There is too much teaching today that runs contrary to the revealed will of God and distracts us from our actual responsibility to pray the will of God which does not take an apostolic anointing to understand nor a special gift if intercession to accomplish.

I believe the reason the poured out bowls of incense prayers immediately preceded the breaking of the seals was because the saints were finally praying God’s will.

Unless you are waiting for a pre trib rapture to whisk you away then you know that judgment must come first before He receives His bride for the consummation of the ages.

People today are mostly praying for God to stay His hand of judgment.

The saints are shown here pleading with the bridegroom to come and claim His bride. They are heart sick about what they see around them and are fearful for their loved ones and are love sick for Him. They have finally abandoned their earthly attachments and are ready for His will above everything else.

The problem we are facing today may be worse than many people think. Some think that if gay and lesbian couples get their way and are granted the right to get married and enjoy equal rights that they will leave the rest of us alone (as if we should be content at that)

This is not the case as they will never be satisfied. Homosexuality is only one expression of the spirit of lawlessness. Their particular agenda is to pervert the natural and profane the holy. They are not alone in this but are only a single expression of the deep root of evil that has it’s foundation in the Fall of man from union with his Creator.

In June 2003 when the Supreme Court struck down the sodomy law of Texas the Lord drew me to this verse,

(2 Th 2:7_8 NKJV) For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He who now restrains will do so until He is taken out of the way. {8} And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming.

I asked him how that could be when I did not see all the other things spoken of there happening. He said not to get all tied up in theological arguments about timing of events or chronological order but to know that indeed the "Restrainer" had been taken out of the way.

The absolute flood of filth to flow across this nation gives stark testimony to it’s confirmation.

When the saints fully discern the enemy, they will realize it is not homosexuality or any other specific sin that is the problem but rather the "spirit of lawlessness’ that is now unchecked and can only be stopped by the judgmental hand of God.

We need to de personalize our vision of sin and focus on prayer that calls on the Sovereign Lord to establish His kingdom and His will on the earth regardless of the cost.

(Psa 4:2 NKJV) How long, O you sons of men, Will you turn my glory to shame? How long will you love worthlessness And seek falsehood? Selah

The Kingdom Come on Earth

Mark Wattenford

We stand at the precipice of the end of time. In that I mean – the end of time for MAN to rule upon the earth. Jesus will soon take to Himself all that is His and belongs to Him. When He returns the earth will be restored, but we are in process even now. As The Lord raises up the true structure “As it is in Heaven” we will begin to be acquainted with how His government will be, even before it will come in fullness, because He will raise up that form of Heavenly Government which is in Heaven and we will see it to some degree being raised up prior to His return. We have always thought or considered we would not see any form of it until He had set foot back on the mount of Olives, but He is actually bringing about the basis structure of it before He returns because there will be a “pre-transition” of the structure from the way MAN does it and the way it will be upon the Earth when Christ returns. There is The Father, then Christ to whom all things have been given, then there will be the 24 elders and then many categories and divisions beyond that. As we read in judgment – those who were faithful were given some 30, some 60 and some 100 fold. To some He will say – go then and rule over this city. Even as we see a structure in the earth today, Heaven on earth will have a structure. As we have a King and there are authorities delegated under Him there will still be such a structure, but it will be a HOLY structure. Remember, Satan only tries to copy – so much of what was set up on earth through men were satanic copies of things Lucifer took with him from Heaven to try make himself god here. The Holy Spirit is bringing forth revelation knowledge of the Governing Structure as it is in Heaven – prior even to the return of Christ. The knowledge, essence, and basic structure of the Kingdom will precede the return of Christ. False churches and cults throughout time have tried to emulate this structure and have tried to proclaim themselves “this structure” just as Lucifer tried to raise himself above god so have these false churches tried to raise themselves to be the “class of ruling stature of the Kingdom of God on Earth”. These were of course false prophets building upon a prophetic truth – that they day would come when such a structure from God would actually come – well, - this is to herald in the fact that such revelation and truth is now coming forth. We have seen and put up with the false prophets, but the real ones are coming forth and they WILL HAVE FIRE proceed from there mouth. That is to say, what they will speak will HAVE EFFECT. They will speak and THINGS WILL HAPPEN. They will be effectual. And if there come in their path an Ananias and Saphira again – these prophets will speak the word of God and they will fall dead as well. In a way – these shall prepare the way of the Lord and will proceed as Elijah as did John the Baptist. A note here: It was said of Jesus that John did come in the Spirit of Elijah and a rare insight is that Johns father took from the temple the mantle that was Elijahs and put it upon John the Baptist. The mantle had made it’s way to the temple where it had been kept and so, this mantle will again be taken from the temple and put upon the “Elijahs” of this day as they again make way for the coming of the Lord, but also in the “path clearing” coming along with these “Elijahs” will be true apostolic chosen vessels of God who will bring forth revelation knowledge of the governmental structure of Heaven and will begin to build upon that prior to the Lord’s return. There will have been laid a certain foundational structure that is of Heaven that Christ will return to and continue to build upon. It started with the Apostles of the first century, but it veered off course into what we now call “church” which is NOT the Kingdom Governmental Structure AS IT IS IN HEAVEN. Lord have mercy on us all if we had to spend Eternity dealing with the structure we know as “church” with all of the manipulation and control and self importance that all comes with it. NO! Governmental Structure as it is in Heaven – is “HEAVENLY”. The prophets have declared there is revelation knowledge that is coming forth and I am saying now that much of that revelation knowledge concerns KINGDOM STRUCTURE and order and that revelation knowledge is coming on the heels of these prophets being carried in the hands of the Apostles. They will be given “scrolls from God” that they will carry forward. They will unravel these scrolls and find they are “blueprints” to the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. As we have had gifts and offices on Earth they will continue into the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. Apostles will still have authorities. Prophets will still proclaim the purposes of God. Evangelists of every generation will speak in the Kingdom of the continuing Good News that will ever proceed from the thrown of God. Teachers shall forever teach and expound on the more intricate details of the mysteries of God which are never ending and the Joy of every Pastor will be to serve up the food that will be eternally be given by God to eat of. “Thy Kingdom come, They Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven”. Taken from what we have called the Lord ’s Prayer – this time we are living in is the actual fulfillment and transition that is occurring and coming forth before our eyes.

In the midst of the Anti-Christ trying to establish himself there will be a “construction going on” underneath his nose that is the preparation for the one who will rule the Earth. I imagine that would be an irritation large enough to try to martyr all the believers.

Dan 2:31-35
31 You, O king, saw, and behold, a great image. This image, which was mighty and of exceedingly great brightness, stood before you, and the appearance of it was frightening and terrible.
32 As for this image, its head was of fine gold, its breast and its arms of silver, its belly and its thighs of bronze,
33 Its legs of iron, its feet part of iron and part of [burned potter’s] clay.
34 As you looked a Stone was cut out without human hands, which smote the image on its feet that were of iron and clay – the burned clay of the potter – and broke them to pieces. [I Pet. 2:3-8]
35 Then was the iron, the [burned potter’s] clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold, broken and crushed together and became like the chaff of the summer threshing-floors, and the wind carried them away, so that not a trace of them could be found. And the Stone that smote the image became a great mountain or rock and filled the whole earth.
(Amplified)

A “stone” cut out without hands”. When Christ said to Peter, “Upon this ROCK I will build my church” – Christ was not saying upon Peter He would build His church, but upon that ROCK of REVELATION which Peter had just revealed. This “stone cut out without hand” is, to me, that Rock of Revelation that comes from the Father. To say “Without Hands” is idiomatic to mean – NOT BY MAN, but by God. – therefore this “stone” will be cut out by God and will strike the feet of the image – which is representative of Mans’ rule upon the earth, but here we see “the stone that smote the image” became a mountain and filled the earth. This is the mountain of God. This is “Thy Kingdom come upon Earth as it is in Heaven”. And in this verse it depicts that the history of Man will fade away into nothing. This stone will smite the image and it will fall. Christ already smote the enemy on Calvary, but that “Rock of Revelation” continues to grow. It may still be that small stone, but as revelation knowledge and the power of the Kingdom is revealed and comes forth more and more it will grow larger and larger. In the sense that Christ conquered the enemy upon the cross the stone has already struck the image. We have thought to look forward to this as a future event when in some respect it already has occurred and the statement of Christ that “Upon this Rock He will build His Church” He is saying – this is the stone that will grow and fill the earth.

The time of the Gentiles needed to be fulfilled and the “six days of man to rule on the earth needed to be completed”, but that is where we are now at – so then, building upon this rock will take on exponential growth, because it is now time for it to come into the earth and to topple totally the image and to fill the earth. This is a process of some years we are speaking of, but as Christ chose His original apostles He already initiated the first elements of the blueprints for “The Kingdom Come”. Many churches of course have taken this upon themselves to say they are the fulfillment, but there is now coming a great deal more on the “blueprints of the Kingdom” as it is now close for Christ to return and rule.

These apostles that may bring revelation of such blueprints will be humble of heart and will be as servants. This does not mean they will be faint of heart and not bold in Spirit. What it does mean is they will not be like the false self proclaimed apostles we have seen rise up who did nothing more than manipulate and control the sheep and build kingdoms for themselves. As Christ said – if any among you desire to be great then let him be servant to all. This is a basic axiom to the structure of Kingdom Government. There will be no one in authority who does not have the heart of a servant to those God sends them. Although the “Elijahs” that are coming may speak with power to the world and bring judgment even they will speak correction to the church with a heart to see change – not destruction. Too many at this time who think themselves prophets are too hard hearted like Jonah who would rather see judgment come than see repentance, but – as they spend time in the belly of some great fish – they will have a change of heart. And to those many, many, all TOO MANY who think themselves prophets now – they will prove not to be. Scripture even prophesies that these many will be exposed and then people will come to them and say – were you not a prophet and they will say “I am not a prophet, I am just a businessman”. They are only in the prophetic now because, for them it is a “business venture”.

We have focused a little too much on looking to the sky to see the Kingdom come, when again the Lord said the Kingdom is within you. As we approach now closer to the rule of Christ coming upon the Earth we can expect a supernatural rising up of the Spirit within us bringing forth more reality as to how the Kingdom of Heaven is. While we have in some way been looking for the Kingdom to come out of the sky, what is happening is the Kingdom is rising up in us in a way which has not happened before. In a sense, “We are rising up to meet Him”. The Kingdom in us is rising up to eventually meet Him that shall return, but that kingdom we have been anticipating will be rising in our spirits. This has been happening to me. I have been feeling, to a small degree, this rising in my spirit of the person I am in Christ. When it does I feel totally myself and totally “at home” in the position I am in. I know who I am and I know what my job is and there are no questions and there is NO POWER PLAY or competitive attitude present what so ever – it simply is the KNOWING of who I am in Christ and what my function is – and that is the way the kingdom is going to be rising up in those who are HIS. The religious system will continue on it’s way and will increasingly be agitated at this “whatever it is” that is rising up and growing, but it is that “little stone” that will fill the earth.

Start looking to your inward spirit and be sensitive to that stirring and rising and that kingdom coming forth within you.

Many things will overlap in the transition of Man ruling the Earth and Christ coming to rule. The Harvest will transition through different phases as will the transition from the rule of Man to Christ taking ownership of the Earth to Himself.

Now, let me make clear and point out clearly here THIS IS NOT DOMINION THEOLOGY! That again has become a perversion and twisted false doctrine of this basic prophetic truth. Kingdom Government will come and will manifest in rising up within our own spirits and will come through chosen vessels who come with blueprints on how things are to be built, formed, founded and established. The Apostles will come to clarify that which is rising up in our spirits. I do NOT BELIEVE Christians are called to OVERTHROW the governments of the world so Jesus will come back. What I am speaking and saying here is that there will be rising up in believers the way it will be on earth AS IT IS IN HEAVEN and we will begin to understand that structure and to know what our position is and what we were created for. The whole mess with the fall of Lucifer and Man was based on wanting to become something other than or more than God created us to be. Positions in some churches and in cults are handed out like candy and also taken away as quickly if you fall out of agreement with those in higher positions. The Kingdom of Heaven on Earth will come more and more into play as we all become aware of the position we were created for and occupy that position and stop chasing after a position we think we would like or one we think would be interesting or would pay a good salary or get us the attention we may crave. To the degree that each person in the Body of Christ gets into the position for which they were created will be the degree to which we will see “Thy Kingdom come on Earth as it is in Heaven”. In Heaven each angel and each person occupies the position for which God created them and none are out of line. It is in the earth that anyone says they can have any position they wish. After all, we have to admit we have seen fools become kings, idiots become presidents and actors become governors – and it seems in all of their cases they are “actors” not created by God for the positions they are filling. By the way the word “hypocrite” is from the Greek word meaning an “actor”. When Paul spoke of being a “hypocrite” he was speaking of any who were acting out a role – whatever that role might be. For one to hold a position for which he was not created to have – he is defined as a “hypocrite” and it has always been the temptation of the enemy to offer to us more than we were suppose to have or something other than we were suppose to have. In the Garden to Eve it was – if you eat of the tree you shall be as God. Lucifer was the greatest of Angels and could have retained his position, but he “ran after” that which was not his place and sought to ascend to the throne of God. If you really look at the structure of this world it is very much about trying to attain to a position of power, wealth, fame or what have you. We were all created for a specific purpose and function and position, but we are so influenced by this world’s system to go after, what SEEMS TO BE THE BEST – when in fact it may not be. What is BEST for every creature of God is to find that position for which God created them to occupy. Anything else is out of God’s will and ends up being unfulfilling and a miserable place to be. So – what am I trying more to say about The Kingdom Come? It is to become aware of the position and place and occupation God has created for you to occupy and it is in that position only that you will find the fulfillment of your hearts cry and the communion with God you so desire to have.

We are going to be introduced to the way the Kingdom will be upon this earth as it is on its way already through the revelatory efforts of the Holy Spirit by Jesus Christ who we will come to know more as the Revelator of the mysteries and the structure of the Kingdom of Heaven. This will all progress and culminate in the physical return of Christ. Many will be martyred and the whole planet brought to near extinction of all mankind if it were not for the return of Christ, but we will return with Christ (those who have died and were martyred) already having had, to some degree, instruction on Kingdom structure.

To quote: "These will be the best of times, and the worst of times".

Many churches and countless people think there are no more revelations to come forth. They say all revelation that is to be known has already been written and revealed in the Bible, and yet they bypass and disregard in Daniel 12 where God tells Daniel to "shut up the words of the book until the time of the end". Therefore: there is revelation that is to come forth at the time of the end - things that would be held hidden until the time of the end.

Daniel 12:3 (Amplified version) And the teachers and those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament; and those who turn many to righteousness – to uprightness and right standing with God [shall give forth light] like the stars for ever and ever. [Matt. 13:43] 4. But you, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book until the time of the end. [Then] many shall run to and fro and search anxiously [through the Book], and knowledge [of God's purposes as revealed by His prophets] shall be increased and become great

Matthew 13:43 – Then will the righteous – those who are upright and in right standing with God – shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Let him who has ears be listening, and consider and perceive and understand by listening.

I believe those as stated here in Daniel – those who are wise shall shine as the firmament. I believe there will be a company that will come forth having the gospel of salvation but also the understanding of Kingdom Structure will in fact have a Holy Shine upon them. Maybe some will see it, maybe some won't. Maybe there will be a few visible to all. I think those with spiritual eyes, born again by the Holy Spirit will indeed perceive this upon them. I was at several Kathryn Kullman services many years ago and I have related many times how I would, at times, lose sight of her as – to my eyes – she was covered in a light so bright I would lose sight, off and on, of her physical body as it was on stage. All I could perceive was a 5 foot pillar of light. I was once covered in the Holiness of Christ at a Vic Coburn service in the rear balcony in an auditorium – there were about 20 witnesses to this who said they had lost sight of me into a pillar of light and that was all they could see for about 20 minutes. So, I can actually point to instances of this I have already seen and experienced for myself. There are coming apostles, prophets, teachers, manifest sons of God – or whatever you may wish to call them who will begin to usher in the Kingdom Principles as they are in Heaven and NOT as they have been perverted by Men and false doctrines. The truth will return and God will establish on this earth His Government. Everything of the enemy is coming closer and closer to its end in all its forms. All those who have loved the ways of man and the way of the government of man will suffer loss if they do not let go of this system and embrace the Holy ways and system of God and His ways.

This is simply a proclamation the Spirit has given me today to send out as a heralding of what is being brought forth. It is a structure that God intends it to be. It is taking our place and occupying the place God created for us to occupy and there will come revelation from within us and it will come from apostles who will confirm and affirm in the Body of Christ those positions for which we were created and shall be established.

There will be more – much more to come. For now this is the word given me today to announce what is coming.

"Thy Kingdom come thy will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven".

I look forward to any replies or responses to this article. I feel there will be further details and issues that will be included later as I believe my wife Mary has significant insight and revelation to add to this as I feel others do as well.

The Rock Of Revelation Knowledge
Mary Koons

God is a Spirit (a spiritual Being) and those who worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth (reality). John 4:24

*Pilate said to Him, Then You are a King? Jesus answered, you say it! (You speak correctly), for I am a King. – Certainly I am a King! This is why I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the Truth. Everyone who is of the Truth (who is a friend of the Truth, who belongs to the Truth), hears and listens to My voice. John 18:37

*I am the Good Shepherd and I know and recognize My own, and My own know and recognize Me.

The sheep that are My own hear and are listening to My voice, and I know them and they follow Me. John 10:14, 27

However, I am telling you nothing but the truth when I say, it is profitable – good, expedient, advantageous – for you that I go away. Because if I do not go away, the Comforter [parakletos] (*Counselor, Helper, Advocate, Intercessor, Strengthener, Standby) will not come to you – into close fellowship with you. But if I go away, I will send Him to you – to be in close fellowship with you. John 16:7

God is a Spirit – we know that because in the first verse above – John 4:24 – Jesus tells us so. In the next series of verses we learn that Jesus is a King – and that He bears witness to the "truth" and that those who know him – know and recognize HIS voice and they follow Him.
The final verse in this series was also given to us by Jesus and in it He speaks of the "Comforter" – the parakletos - the Holy Spirit.

Strong's list the following as a description of the Greek word – parakletos:

1) summoned, called to one's side, esp. called to one's aid
a) one who pleads another's cause before a judge, a pleader, counsel for defense, legal assistant, an advocate
b) one who pleads another's cause with one, an intercessor
1) of Christ in his exaltation at God's right hand, pleading with God the Father for the pardon of our sins
c) in the widest sense, a helper, succourer, aider, assistant
1) of the Holy Spirit destined to take the place of Christ with the apostles (after his ascension to the Father), to lead them to a deeper knowledge of the gospel truth, and give them divine strength needed to enable them to undergo trials and persecutions on behalf of the divine kingdom
The underlined section from Strong's description tells us that the Comforter – the parakletos – is to lead us into a deeper knowledge – revelation knowledge. How many of us are aware that "revelatory knowledge" is one of the primary missions of the Holy Spirit to believers? Most of us know and understand that He is here to comfort and strengthen us, but the fact that He is to "reveal" things to us I believe is not only widely unknown, but rarely taught. WHY? As we enter the time of Jacob's trouble (Jeremiah 30:7) - shouldn't this primary characteristic of the Holy Spirit's mission on earth be heralded? We read in the Book of Daniel:

And the teachers* and those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament; and those who turn many to righteousness – to uprightness and right standing with God [shall give forth light] like the stars for ever and ever.

But you, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book until the time of the end. [Then] many shall run to and fro and search anxiously [through the Book] and knowledge [of God's purposes as revealed by His prophets] shall be increased and become great. Daniel 12: 3-4
And in connection with verse 4 above – from Amos we read:

And the people shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the Lord – inquiring for and requiring it [as one requires food] but shall not find it. Amos 8:12

Please note that Daniel 12:3 specifically says that "teachers" and the wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament. A "teacher" is a person who has knowledge and gives – reveals it - to others. In Daniel 12:4 we read that "knowledge" of God's purposes as revealed by HIS PROPHETS – shall be increased and become great. And finally, in Amos we read that although many will run to and fro seeking the "word of the Lord," they shall not find it.

False prophets were the bane of ancient Israel. False prophets and prophecies are the bane of the modern day church. Utterances spoken "In the Name of the Lord," that are soulishly or even demonically based abound and when such prophecies fail to materialize the "modern-day" pseudo-prophets claim a "contingency" was attached and hence the person to whom the word was spoken "failed someway/somehow" to do his/her part for the prophecy to occur. In other words, the pseudo-prophets try to cover their false words by a false doctrine~! But we need to realize that God has told us WHO He will use to "reveal knowledge" to us – and through whom He will do so. Through teachers (Daniel 12:3), through the genuine prophets that He has chosen (Daniel 12:4) and through the Holy Spirit. Paul writes:

Yet when we are among the full-grown – spiritually mature Christians who are ripe in understanding – we do impart a (higher) wisdom [that is, the knowledge of the divine plan previously hidden]; but it is indeed not a wisdom of this present age nor of this world or of the leaders and rulers of this age, who are being brought to nothing and are doomed to pass away.

But rather what we are setting forth is a wisdom of God once hidden [from the human understanding] and now revealed to us by God; [that wisdom] which God devised and decreed before the ages for our glorification [that is, to lift us into the glory of His presence].

Yet to us God has unveiled and revealed them by and through the His Spirit, for the (Holy Spirit) searches diligently, exploring and examining everything, even sounding the profound and bottomless things of God – the divine counsels and things hidden and beyond man's scrutiny. (1 Corinthians 2: 6-7, 10)

There is a "hint" in the first verse – verse 6 – that this new impartation of Holy Spirit "revelatory wisdom" would not benefit the governments or leaders of Paul's time, but we might surmise that as events begin to unfold towards the "time of the end," (Daniel 12:4) this could well change. We can know for a certainty though that God WILL reveal them to those who are fully mature and spiritually discerning enough to recognize them…

And we are setting these truths forth in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the (Holy Spirit), combining and interpreting spiritual truths with spiritual language [to those who possess the (Holy) Spirit]. 1 Corinthians 2:13

In other words – those who do not have the Holy Spirit – aren't going to "get it…" And even some believers as Amos 8:12 bluntly states won't "find the word of the Lord." That begs the question, "Why not?" I believe the primary reason is that some believers will not be spiritually discerning enough. The enemy has so polluted the waters that finding the REAL THING can become a full time pursuit all in itself – again, something that Daniel and Amos both told us WOULD happen. People like recognition – they like to be "noticed," it is after all human nature. But we as believers are to be servants and a true servant is unobtrusive, circumspect, loyal and trustworthy. Their master's wishes and desires come BEFORE their own – his wants and needs take precedence over their own desires and needs. Continuing on in 1st Corinthians:

But to each one [believer] is given the manifestation of the (Holy Spirit) – that is, the evidence, the spiritual illumination of the Spirit – for good and profit. 1 Corinthians 12:7

So then, everyone who is born again – has the "spiritual illumination" but Paul does not tell us that everyone is going to take advantage of it. In fact, later in this same chapter Paul beautifully illustrates the true Body of Christ by equating it to parts of the human body, (verses 14-27). For the first time yesterday I "caught" that Paul through this passage uses the term Body of Christ, and does not use the word church until verse 28.

So God has appointed some in the church (for His own use); first apostles (special messengers); second prophets (inspired preachers and expounders); third teachers, then wonder-workers, then those with ability to heal the sick, helpers, administrators, [speakers in] different [unknown] tongues.

Are all apostles (special messengers)? Are all prophets – inspired interpreters of the will and purposes of God? Are all teachers? Do all have the power of performing miracles?

Do all possess extraordinary powers of healing? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret? 1 Corinthians 12: 28-30

The point is so obvious that you wonder how so many could miss it – God has "appointed" SOME, not everyone - not everyone in the church will possess what Paul calls in verse 31, "the higher [gifts] and the choicest [graces]." Every believer is part of the BODY OF CHRIST, with their own job to perform, but not everyone in the church is called to the higher gifts… This may seem to fine a point of distinction, but it would certainly explain (at least in part) the present day "prophet mania" that pervades and (sorry, but truth is truth) even perverts the modern day church.

Now when Jesus went into the region of Caesarea Phillipi, He asked His disciples, Who do people say that the Son of man is?

And they answered, Some say John the Baptist, others say Elijah and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets.

He said to them, But who do you [yourselves] say that I am?

Simon Peter replied, You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.

Then Jesus answered him, Blessed – happy, fortunate and to be envied – are you, Simon Bar-Jonah. For flesh and blood [men] have not revealed this to you, but My Father Who is in heaven.

And I tell you, you are Peter [Petros, masculine, a large piece of rock], and on this rock [petra, feminine, a huge rock, like Gibraltar] I will build My church, and the gates of Hades (the powers of the infernal region) shall not overpower it – or be strong to its detriment, or hold out against it. Matthew 16: 13-18

And on this rock…. what rock? The rock of "revelation knowledge" – a large rock - that had been given to Simon Peter by God. And upon the rock of revelation knowledge shall a "feminine rock," [a huge rock] – the Bride of Christ - shall Christ build HIS CHURCH… and the enemy will not be able to overpower it, overcome it, or overtake it. It is this ROCK OF REVELATION KNOWLEDGE – that denotes the true church, not the person – Simon Peter. And it is true revelation knowledge, given through the Holy Spirit – through God's chosen prophets – through Spirit filled teachers – that are the bedrock of the church, for Jesus Himself told us that "upon THIS ROCK" would He build His Church. The modern day church barely acknowledges the "revelatory characteristic" of the Holy Spirit, nor rarely allows such true God-given revelatory knowledge to be shared even when it is obtained. We can therefore surmise that the true church of Christ – the church that Jesus describes here, HIS REVELATORY CHURCH – has not yet been seen. But it is coming!! Before harvest, there WILL BE revelation, before anarchy – there WILL BE revelation. Revelation(s) such as we have never imagined – revelation that includes and expounds on "the divine counsels and things hidden and beyond man's scrutiny." The first step in its coming is recognizing the job the Holy Spirit does in this revelation process. That it is His character to "reveal" those hidden things to us. When we – as believers – begin to understand and fully appreciate this wonderful attribute of the Holy Spirit I believe we will begin to see "revelation knowledge" increase on a scale unprecedented. Revelations that will move God's people ever closer to knowing, understanding and moving in the divine will and purposes of God. We can't move if we have no "revelation" as to where we're going to go! Likewise we can't learn if we have no "revelation" of WHOM GOD has chosen to instruct us.

In closing, I would like to say that this "entire study" has been a major revelation to me in itself. I told my husband yesterday that for me personally, a Holy Spirit revelation is like having that "light bulb" turn on when attempting to grasp a complicated math concept. Jesus "talks" to me, the Holy Spirit "reveals" to me – there is a difference and we need to acknowledge it and learn to tell the difference. My prayer for anyone who reads this – is that the Holy Spirit begin to "reveal" to YOU those divine counsels and hidden things as you ask Him to do so in your own life and discipleship.

Playtime’s Over
Mary Koons

Remember when you were a child and your father would walk into your room and tell you to “put those toys away – playtime’s over?” Our Heavenly Father is saying to those of you who remain “playing with your toys,” that playtime’s over and it’s time to put away childish things and begin to move away from those things that have proven to have been untruthful and unedifying! Brothers and Sisters in Christ we can no longer afford to remain “stagnant” and lost in playtime when our fellow believers – and the unsaved continue to languish, unfed and untaught. Can anyone doubt that we ARE in the “last days?” and yet many believers have “circled the wagons” around the prophetic campfires and refuse to acknowledge that the current prophetic atmosphere promotes “individuals” and that those same individuals who have proven to be consistently inaccurate, or downright wrong continue to be “lifted up” by the Body. This same prophetic atmosphere promotes fanatic, frantic and even manipulative, controlling behaviors that are NOT consistent with the soft sweetness of the Holy Spirit. Unfortunately, many believers listen rather than read, believe rather than question, and follow, rather than wait upon the Lord.

If we are truly members of HIS Body we are told to question and “test the spirits….” We are told to pay attention to the fruit(s) that are coming from people who are suppose to be speaking in His Name. We do not have to be the blind following blind guides. When will His Body begin to turn from “playtime” and begin to really do the work that He has given us TO DO? Feed the hungry, clothe the poor, preach the Gospel and teach the untaught? Grow up and learn ourselves that it’s time to put away our toys – so that Our Father does not have to tell us to?

The “glitz” and the “glamour” that we currently find being promoted on television, at conferences, etc., were available when Jesus walked this earth. He chose NOT to associate with it – do we think we’re better than Him? His word tells us that it would be easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to get to Heaven, so how come suddenly it’s o.k. to promote or seek wealth? I’ve got news for you Church, “tithing” was an Old Testament law, and does not figure into the New Testament at all, unless of course you – or someone who is wanting your money - wants it too. His Blood WAS/IS SUFFICIENT – and if you’re being told by your pastor, a television show you watch, or any one else that you must tithe to be blessed, you’re being bilked. Jesus promised us a mansion in the hereafter, not in the “here and now!”

When was the last time you, as a believer, actually heard some good, solid – foundation based, structure oriented teaching? When was the last time you, as a believer, actually chose not to associate, listen or promote someone whom you knew to be teaching or prophesying inaccurately? To “not pursue” the latest prophetic listings to see if your name was listed? Or checked that same list only to find another “same-sounding” word from someone who, from past experience, you know to have been consistently inaccurate and incorrect? Recently, my husband told me of a well-known prophet, who has been consistently inaccurate, but who remains quite popular nonetheless, sending out an e-mail asking for money because he was going to Hawaii and wanted to take his wife along! Unfortunately, he probably got what he asked for… why? Because believers refuse to “look at the fruits,” and truly examine what this “so-called” prophets’ track record really is.

We must learn to sit still and listen for HIS “still, small voice,” for as He continually tells me, “HIS SHEEP KNOW HIS VOICE, and another they will not follow!” If HE is not telling you to “move,” than for Heavens sake – stay put! If He is not telling you to “prophesy,” than for Heavens sake – keep your mouth shut! If it is not His Spirit that is speaking to you through another person – than for Heavens sake - don’t hesitate to tell them so! Manners are one thing – but we are dealing with demonic forces here that could care less about “politeness” and good manners, recognize it as such! Don’t hesitate to call someone to task for speaking in Our Lords name, when you KNOW that they’re not. You are truly doing that person a favor, and saving them from a far worse fate than embarrassment!

The world has become a very scary place where anarchy reigns, and where terrorism and terrorists attempt to promote their cause through fear and intimidation. Do not be misled, the Islamic and Christian religions are diametrically opposed to each other. Historically, those who have refused to convert to Islam, were murdered. This new “battlefield,” has and will continue to pit those of the Islamic faith against those of the Christian faith and we would do well to be fully cognizant of it. We can not "sugar-coat" it up by saying that only the radical element of the Islamic faith is to blame for the current situation(s) we find in the Middle East. Poverty and ignorance are the breeding ground used by radical groups for recruitment. We can see and understand this, but still fail to identify it in the Body of Christ. Spiritual poverty and ignorance have caused believers to fall sway to leaders who know this and use it to their own advantage. Will God hold them responsible for it? Yes, He will – but He will also hold YOU responsible for not knowing His word or listening to His voice..

BE AWARE CHURCH – still "attuned" to His Voice, and another you will not follow…. and don't be afraid to question, any one, any place, at any time!

PLAYTIME'S OVER – it's time to grow up!

Love in Christ by His Grace

Thy Kingdom Come

Mike Forest

29 Apr 2004
There is no greater power in the universe than when the children of God come together in the unity of the Spirit to pray for the will of God to be done, and for His kingdom to come on earth as it is in heaven.

It is no wonder that the powers of darkness have used ungodly men to remove prayer from our schools, the ten commandments from a courtroom in Alabama, and are working overtime to keep church leaders divided, because Satan knows that a house divided against itself cannot stand.

It is amazing but true to think that an all powerful God has given the keys of the kingdom of heaven to the Church. If the Church doesn't pray, then nothing will change. If the Church does not bind the powers of darkness over a region, then they remain in control. If the Church doesn't loose men from the power of the enemy, then nothing will ever be loosed. Jesus Christ has given His power and authority to His Church that whatsoever the Church binds on earth shall be bound in heaven. The Lord has given us His name and the authority of the Church is in the name of Jesus.

Jesus taught us how to pray: "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." There is no greater power that will affect change in this world than men and women that will get a hold of the burden of the Lord, and through travail and intercession, release this burden to the Lord. We must pray the Word of the Lord back to Him.

"The kingdom of God is not meat nor drink, but righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost." It is time that the Church begins to take back whole regions for the kingdom of God. World wide revivals have been the result of a few men and women that would not let God go, until the fire of God fell on their city or area. God is wanting to come down from heaven and give this country a visitation that will turn into a habitation. This is the will of the Lord, and His will is that the Kingdom of God would come to the earth. That the glory of God would cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

The problems of abortion, pornography, and drugs are not going to be solved by politics, but when the kingdom of God comes in then men will be changed, and righteousness and truth will reign.

The fight that we are in is not against flesh and blood, but it against principalities, and powers in heavenly places. Our Lord has given the Church mighty weapons that will pull down the strongholds of the enemy. These weapons are activated by the army of God, when there is concentrated corporate prayer. This is prayer that is being made for a specific purpose, for a specific region. When these principalities and powers are pulled down over a region in accordance with God's will through prayer warfare then the kingdom of God will be established in that region. The kingdom of God is simply the rule and reign of Jesus Christ. The day will come when every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, and He shall rule and reign with His saints.

This prayer warfare must be under the direction of the Holy Spirit, and we must not be presumptuous, but we must know that the authority that the Lord has given to the Church is based on His victory over the enemy through His death and resurrection. His victory has become our victory.

Corporate praise and worship that ushers in the presence of God is a vital part of this warfare that will confuse and defeat the enemy. A victorious church is a church that has abandoned herself to praise and worship.

On May 6, Christians will be gathering in cities all over this nation to pray that the Father's will would be done on earth even as it is in heaven.

May the spirit of prayer get it's grip on our lives, so that we will get beyond the "Lord bless me" mentality, and desire to be a channel for the Spirit of God to intercede and pray through, because the Holy Spirit will always pray the perfect will of God, and that will is that the kingdom of God would come, and the will of God would be done on earth as it is in heaven.

The Knife

Mary Clark

August 24, 2004
Hebrews 4:12

In a dream, someone handed me a large knife. It was sharp on both sides, pointed, and had lots of irregular-shaped prickly places on the blade. I kept hurting myself on it, and I finally gave it back to the person who gave it to me. Why did you show this to me, Lord?

I want My beloved to see something of interest. My word is living and active, and sharper than any two-edged sword, and piercing as far as the division of soul and spirit, of both joints and marrow, and able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart. My word is EXACT truth. It accomplishes My will in My beloved. That is why I want you to read it. Let it do its masterful work in your life, bringing forth My will dynamically.

I am calling to My beloved. I am telling you that My words of truth will accomplish all that I desire. Stay focused on Me. Stay in My word of truth and see many signs and wonders develop in your life that you never dreamed would occur.

My word is not prickly. It is sharp. It does not prick and hurt. It is a healing, cutting away of those things that cause anguish. I want you to know this truth, and savor its meaning. I do not needle My beloved. No! I cut away, making a clean, clear cut which is both healing and purifying.

So be of good cheer. I have given you a wonderful tool – a purifying tool – that you can read and enjoy. Take it into your heart. Be nourished by its truth, and know this truth: The application of My truth does wonders in a life. If you are hearing words that cause you anguish and hurt, do not heed them. My words of truth may correct, but they cause no damage to the one for whom they are intended. They purify and strengthen. Feed on this truth today, beloved. Know that the wondrous words of life that I gave to you were given for a reason. The reason is to restore and place you in the center of My will. They were not spoken in haste. They are well, thought-out words from the loving mouth of your God. So feed on My truth, knowing that it is doing a purifying work within. Know that My words will guarantee you something of great wonder – strength in your walk with Me that you have never known.

So, beloved, stay in My word! Look on it as necessary food for your day. Savor it. Savor every bite, and know with every bite that you take, I am nourishing you within, and providing you the comfort of knowing Me and My will for your life!!!

Ascorbic Acid Vitamin C

Mary Clark

August 18, 2004

This morning the Lord said the words "ascorbic acid" to me, and this is what I found when I checked in the dictionary.

Vitamin C – occurring in citrus fruits, tomatoes, rose hips, and leafy vegetables and produced synthetically; it is essential for the building of intercellular material and a deficiency produces scurvy.

Scurvy – a disease resulting from a deficiency of Vitamin C in the body, characterized by weakness, anemia, spongy gums, bleeding from the mucous membranes, etc.

I am doing something new - brand NEW – in the world, My children. I want you ready to apply yourselves to My principles and stand up straight and tall in any adversity that comes your way. Hear the word of the Lord God Almighty:

I am doing a masterful work in these final days. I am bringing forth a sort of union of hearts – My heart to your heart – in a dynamic way. Many will look on this union with a scowl, but My dear children will look on it with much pleasure. Let Me tell you about it:

Just as you need certain vitamins to fortify the inner workings of your body, I am going to fortify you with My presence in such a way that you will grow mighty in strength and power. Just as the body craves certain vitamins and minerals to sustain its work, you will crave this offering that I am bringing to you – an offering of the living God within your heart in a way that will be satisfying, offering to you a new and wonderful hope for all of your tomorrows.

I am shining forth My glory in the coming hour. I am strengthening you within with My glorious presence. I am enabling you to gain on the enemy, putting him in his place. I am enabling you to rise up stronger in Me than you ever dreamed possible – EVER dreamed possible. So stand fast in this truth, and know that when you are stabilized in the Lord God Almighty you are deficient in absolutely nothing, and that is where I am taking you, beloved – to a place where you will be fortified within, and you will be deficient in absolutely NOTHING!!!

The Kindness of Christ

Catherine Brown

Jun 19, 2004
"The Kindness of Christ is a Mighty Virtue Which Shatters the Kingdom of Darkness and Brings Healing & Wholeness"

Have you ever been close to completing something and then given up? I'm sure we all have at some point. Isn't it wonderful how even in our weakness, God gives us grace to press in for His breakthrough! Abraham's servant didn't give up and was rewarded for his perseverance and humility. He trusted God and fulfilled the task assigned to him. It sometimes costs to go the extra mile, but the effort is well worth it.

GOING THE EXTRA MILE

"'Drink, my lord' she said, and quickly lowered the jar to her hands and gave him a drink. After she had given him a drink, she said, 'I'll draw water for your camels too, until they have finished drinking.' So she quickly emptied her jar into the trough, ran back to the well to draw more water, and drew enough for all his camels." Genesis 24:18-20

Unbidden, Rebekah went the extra mile, showing great generosity of heart. Not only did she draw water for the servant, she also drew water for all his camels. She saw a need and responded in grace, not withholding in greed or selfishness. She was quick to empty herself out for another. There was no apparent incentive or promised reward. Her motivation was pure. Our calling as New Testament believers is to live a life of love.

"Be imitators of God, therefore, as dearly loved children and live a life of love, just as Christ loved us." Ephesians 5:1-2

When we reach out in selfless love, a little bit of heaven is released on earth as Christ's Kingdom comes with a demonstration of His compassion and power. The kindness of Christ is a mighty virtue which shatters the kingdom of darkness.

"Without saying a word, the man watched her closely to learn whether or not the Lord had made his journey successful. When the camels had finished drinking, the man took out a gold nose ring weighing a beka and two gold bracelets weighing ten shekels." Genesis 24:21-22

Rebekah was richly rewarded for her selfless act of humility. She wasn't looking for a reward, but it was given her nonetheless. The Lord is looking for our response today to those in need. He wants us to be His hands and feet, His eyes, ears, and voice to a hurting world. Heaven is watching and waiting with baited breath for our response. Our Father loves to pour out good gifts in abundance on His children. Abundance is a state of plenty. With God there is always enough. Abundance, either physically or spiritually, is often a sign of blessing in relation to a person's obedience and absolute surrender to the will of God.

Perhaps you have been struggling with a mindset of poverty, thinking God's richest blessings belong to others, but somehow you don't deserve them? Today, beloved, I break that lie in Jesus name and ask our heavenly Father to pour out a fresh impartation of blessing and favor upon you.

ALWAYS ROOM IN FATHER'S HOUSE

"Then he asked, 'Whose daughter are you? Please tell me, is there room in your father's house for us to spend the night?'

"'We have plenty of straw and fodder, as well as room for you to spend the night.'" Genesis 24:23, 25

Isn't it wonderful that there is always room in our Father's house for us? His heart is always wide open, and His ear ever attentive to His precious children. Abraham's servant, having made his requests known, received a tremendous blessing as resources were shared and his needs met. Part of the blessing he received was the gift of hospitality. How wonderful to give and receive hospitality. I have often been overwhelmed by the kindness of believers as they have offered their homes as a haven of rest and peace. God has given us the gift of fellowship, kindness, and the opportunity to love and give of ourselves. May we, like Rebekah and her family, be challenged to love without expectation of recognition or reward.

PRAISE GOD FOR HIS LOVING KINDNESS

"Then the man bowed down and worshipped the Lord, saying, 'Praise be to the Lord, the God of my master Abraham, who has not abandoned his kindness and faithfulness to my master. As for me, the Lord has led me on the journey to the house of my master's relatives.'" Genesis 24:26-27

We cannot help but worship our wonderful Savior as He pours out His kindness upon us. Let's remember to praise the Lord for all His goodness in our lives on a daily basis.

LIVES INTERTWINED

As I follow the story of Rebekah, her brother Laban, and, ultimately, her husband-to-be (Isaac), I am struck by the profound interaction of ordinary people on an extraordinary journey with God, and the manner in which their lives were intertwined and destinies shaped and woven as each person's act of obedience and love along the way helped to release another into the next phase of their God-given calling. God is a brilliant Master Weaver of Kingdom tapestry!

We are all on a journey with Jesus, our paths crossing, helping and serving each other, our destinies intertwined in God, people meeting, blessing, and releasing each other in the things of God. As God directs our steps, we are often unaware of how much our destinies are affected by those we meet. Each of us is necessary, useful, and worthwhile in God's sight. Lay down any sense of worthlessness or rejection at the cross in this moment and accept how lovely you are in Christ. How useful you are to the King of Glory because of your surrendered heart of worship!

BETHSAIDA - HOUSE OF KINDNESS

As I meditate on this Scripture, I am drawn to want to love the way Jesus loves. Our calling is to live a life of love. The pool of Bethsaida was where the crippled man was healed. Bethsaida means "House of Kindness." God's heart was kind towards the crippled man, and, likewise, His heart is still kind toward us today. He takes the things that have wounded and crippled us, and the places that have wasted away in our lives, and completely restores them. Whether it is physical, mental, emotional, or spiritual, Jesus pours himself into us and totally heals us. His compassion releases His glory for healing and wholeness.

Before we can show kindness, we first must receive it. I pray that even as you read this short devotional, that you would experience a fresh outpouring of the kindness of Christ on your own life, and, that through this, you will be healed and refreshed and blessed to become a greater blessing to those around you.

Beauty may be described as a physical or spiritual quality, which brings blessing to those who behold it. As Father looks at you, He sees Jesus, and great beauty is reflected and radiated in you. Child of God, you are beautiful because you are created in His image.

The Kingdom Of God Is Preached

Clo DiPilato

http://www.heraldofhiskingdom.com

"The kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it." Luke 16:16

Today, I felt strongly impressed of the Lord that I need to exhort on my "flagship" verse, "The Kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it." Luke 16:16.

Beloved, I will confess to you that I am one that feels a strong need to "press in". I am not just automatically "there", and I cannot just lazily take a stroll into His presence in some laid-back "kumbyah" style of a meeting while I sleepily, (yawn, stretching my arms) go off into some other little spiritual happy place where I have some "awareness" of good and tingly feelings.

That stuff all feels good to the soul. The soul, my mind and my will and my emotions, can find a sense of satisfaction in that lower religious realm of being satisfied with a form of an appearance of a relationship with Him, but until I have pressed through into God by the Spirit, I am not TRULY accessing His throne room, OR the realm of the kingdom of God!

I have heard of people speaking of "portals" whereby they have an entranceway into the heavenlies. Here's Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of the word "portal".

Main Entry: [1]porÂ·tal

Pronunciation: 'pOr-t&l, 'por-

Function: noun

Etymology: Middle English, from Middle French, from Medieval Latin portale city gate, porch, from neuter of portalis of a gate, from Latin porta gate more at PORT

Date: 14th century

1 : DOOR, ENTRANCE; especially : a grand or imposing one

2 : the whole architectural composition surrounding and including the doorways and porches of a church

3 : the approach or entrance to a bridge or tunnel

4 : a communicating part or area of an organism; specifically : the point at which something (as a pathogen) enters the body

I have not followed the "portals movement" closely enough to know exactly what these ones (whom I truly believe are holy men and women of God who have sought the Lord in a very diligent way that they might come into a greater manifestation of His presence and His power) are personally experiencing when they have these unusual times in the Spirit, but I do know that I have personally had some "out of the ordinary" times whereby I have had access to a very holy realm in God.

I have had one "open vision" in my life last year in the month of August. It was the true comfort of the Holy Ghost, and I shared it with a few, but it never went out to my whole mailing list as it simply was not the proper timing, and because of the components of it, it would take several articles to share what I saw.

In a nutshell, the Spirit implanted within my being that we are so fully created in the image of God, that not only does the "New Creation Man" created in the image of Christ Jesus look like Him, but HE looks like US!! In this vision, I saw Jesus as the Man of Sorrows, the Good Shepherd of a VAST MULTITUDE of Sheep, The Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the "joyful warrior", and as an ox, and as an eagle, even as Ezekiel beheld Him.

I saw much activity in the heavenlies, and a God, through the person of Jesus Christ, supremely and full possessor of a peace beyond human comprehension FULLY in control, and when I saw Jesus, my spirit was remarkably and totally satisfied that I was seeing God. I did not need to look for Another. I saw spirits in the form of animals rushed back and forth in the heavens with the extreme opposite nature of God. There was more, but I can't share it here and now.

For days following that vision, I felt so different.......like I had suddenly entered into another world, and I was very deeply affected by it. When I would travel the metro/subway into DC, I would look at all the people, and I was aware of God IN the people, and FOR the people, and I was more than ever, aware of God in me.

Some, I would tell this vision to, and I instinctively knew they thought I was making it all up. I drew it in a notebook, believing that someday I will have an artist paint what I saw. Others, who are desirous of the heavenly realm, and long to see things were eager for me to more fully share. It truly was a profound spiritual event in my life, and changed my understanding about the realm of the Spirit, and what takes place in that realm.

Note: I will tell you very frankly some of the frenetic and angry acts of militant warfare engaged in by some are so way off the mark I can feel nothing but utmost sympathy for the lack of true understanding because when you truly get into a place where you really see it for what it is, you come away knowing within every fiber of your being that THERE IS A NAME ABOVE EVERY NAME, and success in warfare is recognized and won by entering into the anointing of ascension whereby you are not wielding your sword upward beating the air, hoping you might chop off the head of some demon, but you, by the Spirit, are actually FAR ABOVE those things, and seated WITH HIM in heavenly places FAR ABOVE all principality and power and might and dominion.

Beloved, to behold TRUTH as it really is brings such an assurance of true spiritual authority and confidence into your being you can take up the weapon of your choice, whether it be the blast of a long and loud trumpet, or the faintest whisper of a ninety-year old Godly, dying woman on her deathbed, and slay dragons in the Spirit! God is not nervous or confused or offended by our "style" issues when we pray, and I would not dare tell you NOT to shout, or get very militant in your spirit if such an anointing comes upon you. While you are doing it, simply recognize your position. If you are seated in heavenly places with Christ Jesus, the battle is DOWNWARD, and not UPWARD.)

The particular night that I had that vision, I had "pressed in" to God. I was in a place of much spiritual as well as emotional turmoil, and I had to meet the Lord in a special way, and I seemed to know that, but more important GOD seemed to know it. He knew I needed a touch from Him beyond the ordinary, and the deep cry caused Him to take note, and I had a special and unusual and unexpected visitation that night.

And I actually "saw" something. I saw it with my own naked, flesh and blood eyes. Not an impression in my spirit. Not a picture in my "mind's eye". Not the creation of a vivid spiritual imagination. I saw what I saw with the natural eye. I experienced something that I know many long to have happen to them. God in great mercy, allowed me to have that experience.

And yet, as profound as that vision was, I will tell you that when it comes to "pressing in", I have found there is something even greater than that.

There is a place, a situation, a spiritual event, where your spirit makes an "out of the ordinary" contact with the spirit of God, and there is a Spirit (the Holy Ghost) to spirit (your human spirit, regenerated by the power of God because of the blood of the Lamb) connection that there is actually a sense of a spiritual flushing of all that would impede the pure flow of Spirit to spirit, or "deep calling unto deep."

I have envisioned this spiritual work (a presentation to my spirit, NOT like the other vision I had) even like a cylindrical shaped object plunging down into the depths of a my being as if someone were taking a huge drill, and plumbing the depths of the ocean of my inward man. In those situations, I have been so immersed into the realm of the Spirit, but there have been no accompanying visions, or trances, or "transports", (except if such a thing happened without my natural knowledge). Instead, what there has been is an intense spiritual pain comparable to being operated on in your flesh with no anesthesia, only instead it's happening in your spirit, and I could not begin to describe this, and you'd only understand if you have had a similar experience.

The pain is like a baptism of fire, and maybe it IS the 'baptism of fire', as the experience is so deeply purifying and the presence of God so intense, that even absent visions and other desirable spiritual and heavenly manifestations, as painful as it has been, you come away from the experience KNOWING you have "pressed in", and longing for the experience once again.

Why? Because this "spiritual flush" brings with it a marked awareness and sense that you are being prepared for transparency. It's part of the process of being changed from "glory to glory" into His image, EVEN AS BY THE SPIRIT OF THE LORD.

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. 2 Corinthians 3:18.

Perhaps that cylindrical object plunging deep into my spirit causing me such intense inward spiritual pain was to be typical of that "glass" ?

It actually means to "mirror oneself." It means when I look in that mirror what I see looking back at me is not the "me" I know, but actually the glory of the Lord. The view of that glory may be distorted at first, but the more we are in the true presence of the Spirit of God, the more we are changed.

We have such an exorbitant appetite in these times to "see things" and to "hear things" that the church is even now overrun with a spirit of competition to top each other in the department of manifestations, demonstrations and visions. And to some, they seem to come as easily as falling off a log. And yet the Apostle Paul declared that it was through MUCH TRIBULATION we enter the kingdom of God.

Do you understand that even as the pearl in the oyster shell is formed by an irritating grain of sand, that the "gates of the city" are gates of pearl, those gates of tribulation by which we enter into the heavens? Think about it!! Since you've come to know the Lord, when did trouble and trial ever NOT press you into God in a greater way??

Beloved, "pressing in" is going to represent an element of tribulation and pain. Perhaps the intense pain I've felt in the Spirit the few times (it's happened more than once) that I have had the experience I shared was actually prophetic of the process we go through to enter the kingdom of God. The word "presseth" speaks of force and violence. Is violence ever without pain? That word "presseth" also means to "crowd oneself" or be seized.

When I experienced those times of a spiritual plunging, it was as if something of my own nature was being "roto-rootered" OUT to make way for MORE of the Spirit of God to fill the place that had been emptied by the way of intensely violent routing. And I was so aware of the presence and power of God. Every fiber of my being felt the pain of the process, but every cell of my being felt the power of His glory. This was greater than the vision I had with my natural eye.

Beloved, have you yet experienced the power of God that comes through a willingness to be poured out and emptied so that you feel like you have nothing, and like you are nothing?

Again, a religious confession will yield a pleasurable feeling in the soul realm (when the soul realm is yielded to the Spirit of God, it's a GOOD thing, and actually, it's in the realm of the soul that we qualify to be part of the Bride of Christ---another article), but once that confession is made, and God takes it seriously that we are truly willing, He will allow a deeper inward work of emptying us so that we become painfully aware of our inadequacies and lack before Him. Jesus summed the glorious results of the painful process of emptying in these words,

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs in the kingdom of heaven." Matthew 5:3.

My friends, the kingdom of heaven, may truly be a geographical location "somewhere beyond the blue" that we will someday get to claim as our eternal home after we die. But, more than that, it is another realm, another dimension where LIFE and GLORY is even as molecules are to matter in the natural realm. When you press into the kingdom of God, when you're willing to experience the pain, the emptying, the transforming power of the Spirit of God that causes you to be changed from glory unto glory into His same image, you don't have to wait to die and go to heaven to experience heaven.

That spiritual realm, that realm of LIFE and GLORY can be your own personal reality in your atmosphere!! You may not get to see it with your natural eyes like that one day I had a glimpse into the heavens, and you may not wake up in the morning hearing the heavenly choirs of the redeemed.

But, I will tell you this by the promise of the Lord, Oh man or woman of God!! When you allow the deep works of God in your life, submitting to those painful processes of pressing in, your portion WILL BE the Manifest Presence of God. Do you really understand what the "glory of God" actually is?

It's the atmosphere that surrounds the Lord Jesus Christ, and goes before Him announcing His Presence. It's His "aura". When you truly know Him, you recognize His presence and would never be fooled by another spirit.

When someone comes into your home, before you see their face, you feel their presence in your home. The presence of a burglar in your home would provoke great uneasiness within you. Beloved, if Jesus coming to you feels like a "thief in the night", then you do not really know Him. But if you're one allowing transforming change in your life, even as by the Spirit of the Lord, then His coming to you is GLORIOUS, and you WILL see God, IN YOUR FLESH!! When you look in the mirror, you'll see GOD looking back at you!!

The kingdom of God is preached, and not every man will have dreams and visions and manifestations to glory in. But every man, woman, boy or girl who has a heart for God's kingdom to be actively manifesting in their lives can be PRESSING IN. Beloved, I'd like to have more dreams and visions, and heavenly manifestations just as much as the next person. But more than that I want the glory of His presence, and I want His glory to be seen IN ME!!

I feel the ongoing work of the Spirit of God even resident in this word, and it's hard to stop, but I will!!

Love and blessings in His GREAT Name,

The Kingdom Of God

Jesus made an incredible statement to the Pharisees in Luke 17:21 – "The kingdom of God is within you!" The Pharisees have received a lot of instruction from Jesus. There are times where He completely stood against all they taught and believed. There were times that He commended them on their diligence in keeping the law then in the next breath slap them down for being so legalistic.

Like so many of us, they had come to think that the kingdom was manifested in their actions. All the good deeds and kindnesses one could show was the kingdom under this mentality. This is also related to the false concept that our works produces salvation. In true kingdom living there is no amount of work we could do that would cause the Father to love us more than what He does at this moment. In fact, He loved us as an unbeliever as much as he does now that we believe. The difference is our reaction and pleasure in the knowledge and blessings of that love.

There are also those who point to the future. Many wait for the day Jesus returns and takes us with Him. But we were never told to just hang-on 'until He comes'. Jesus shared a parable in Like 17 of how the servants were instructed to 'occupy until I come.' These are the instructions for us in waiting for His return. To occupy is to busy oneself with the work of the Kingdom. The instructions make no provision for procrastination. It's no or never.

"Behold, now is the acceptable time; behold, now is the day of salvation." II Corinthians 6:2

Today is the day of Kingdom living. Everything the Father has blessed us with and promises are for now and tomorrow. We are in the Kingdom today. We are not waiting for tomorrow. 'The Kingdom is within us!' If Jesus would proclaim that to the Pharisees, it is a bigger truth for us as Believers.

If we would take to think of all that is within us as Believers we would find not only unequaled power but the most incredible catalyst of love and peace. We would also better understand John's proclamation of the inner strength we have:
"Ye are of God, my little children, and have overcome them:
because greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world."
1John 4:4

As Believers we have the Kingdom of God within us as we have read above. We also have the Holy Spirit indwelling us, I Corinthians 6:9. This article is not going to deal with those things that are a part of man, i.e. soul, heart, nature; we are talking of those things of greatest priority and power. All things are under the oversight of the Spirit. The Spirit and the Kingdom expresses the sovereignty that the Father has over us.

The very word 'Kingdom' expresses that this is the place where the King reigns. Within us is the realm under the kingship of our Lord. All that is within is either expressed outwardly or is changed into a fitting image to be expressed. Allowing the King of our life to reign gives us the strength and authority to overcome any and all attacks and trappings that come our way. In a Kingdom the King is responsible for all things for our life and righteousness; this is especially true in the Kingdom of God.
"Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only God, be honor and glory forever and ever. Amen." 1Timothy 1:17

"And they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, great and marvelous are thy works, O Lord God, the Almighty; righteous and true are thy ways, thou King of the ages." Revelation 15:3

"These shall war against the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them, for he is Lord of lords and King of kings; and they also shall overcome that are with him, called and chosen and faithful." Revelation 17:14

Whether we have admitted it or not; Jesus is Lord and King. Our admittance only affects the dealing of the Father with us. He is lord and King, our admittance allows the workings of the Kingdom to begin in us. These workings will eventually show in our life.
"But the things which proceed out of the mouth come forth out of the heart; and they defile the man." Matthew 15:18

The Kingdom within is not just of our spiritual life. It is within so that it will affect all that is us. The Kingdom is the priority for our family life, political life, occupational and every other aspect of our life. The Holy Spirit dwells here to do more than 'save' us. God is there to make His kingdom grow and be manifested in and through our life. That is why we pray 'Thy Kingdom Come...'

We are being changed inside out so that the Kingdom will shine. We are being changed in order to reflect him. The father has declared as our Sovereign Lord that we are to be changed and transformed into His image. The power is within us to make such work not only possible but guaranteed to be done. The Kingdom's worst enemy is our own unsurrendered soul, fighting the loosing battle against its King.

"6 Seeing it is God, that said, Light shall shine out of darkness, who shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. 7 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the exceeding greatness of the power may be of God, and not from ourselves; 8 we are pressed on every side, yet not straitened; perplexed, yet not unto despair; 9 pursued, yet not forsaken; smitten down, yet not destroyed; 10 always bearing about in the body the dying of Jesus, that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our body. 11 For we who live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our mortal flesh." 2 Corinthians 4:6 – 11

Each Believer needs to be encouraged to allow the King to have His way. Let us surrender our souls so that His Glory will show. As we rest in His Glory and stare into His face incredible changes happen in us. These changes make it possible for the Kingdom to manifest more in our life. It goes with the prayer of John the Baptist, "He must increase, but I must decrease!" The more He is in my life the more I hide in Him.

The Kingdom is within us and is ready to bust loose through us. In the Kingdom of God are all power, blessing, goodness, righteousness, and provision of all types. See what work He has begun in you, and see the work he will finish through you. It is not the work of our hands but the blessing of His presence.

Part 2

Matthew 6:9 after this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. 10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. 11 Give us this day our daily bread. 12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. 13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever; Amen.

In this prayer Jesus taught us to pray, 'Thy Kingdom Come'. It is obviously an important part of our Kingdom living. This prayer gets quoted quite often in many different settings but it does not diminish the importance of what Jesus was teaching. We are to ask for certain things to take place – 'Thy Kingdom Come!'

Praying 'Thy Kingdom Come,' may sound strange to the fact as we said before that 'the Kingdom of God is within you.' Is it possible for something to come to you whom you already have? It is like the prayer in many of the Revival/Renewal/River churches, 'Holy Spirit, come!' The reality is that the Holy Spirit is already there because He is in each Believer. It must be understood what is really being asked.

When we ask for the Holy Spirit or the Kingdom to come we are asking for revelation, manifestation and/or a new reality. It does not seem logical that Jesus would teach us to pray for something that would not become a reality to us. Our understanding of things needs to increase. He has told us:

Mat 7:7 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you:
8 for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

If we ask for the Kingdom then the kingdom will come. It is not for another time or place. It isn't something we work for. We ask and we receive. We know this because we are asking according to how he taught us and according to the will of the Father.

1Jo 5:14 And this is the boldness which we have toward him, that, if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us:
15 and if we know that he heareth us whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions which we have asked of him.

We must prepare ourselves for the newness of the Kingdom. As much as we want to be ready for such things it can be a surprise. The kingdom, just like revival, may not match what our expectations of it may be. We have to set aside our expectations. We will have to set aside any preconceived notions of how it will happen, what it will look like, and the who that will make it happen.

Though at times we have had glimpses of the Kingdom and what a kingdom life could be; we have yet to see the unconquerable reign over a community in an everyday life situation. Our understanding and knowledge are incomplete to give a good enough picture of what it will all look like.

This we can be sure of, we will be changed. Our community will be changed. We will understand John the Baptist having prayed, 'He must increase, but I must decrease!' When the Kingdom manifests itself through us there will be no question of revival/renewal/reformation/river, it will be the presence of God beaming through us to a lost world through its power.

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven... For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever; Amen. (Matthew 6:10)

How do we know when the Kingdom has come? That is a question that has been asked of me a few times. It is not really a question of when it comes but when will we live it?

As we have mentioned before, Jesus declared that the 'Kingdom was within us.' Luke 17:22. So if the Kingdom is within us then it doesn't have to come; it has to be lived. And so the rub begins. Many want to disagree upon how to live the life of a Believer. People have tried to make everything 'cookie-cutter' clean. The Kingdom is not that way.

Just read the book of Acts. Not everyone was doing the same thing the same way. There were those that believed some things differently than others. I know that goes against the grain of what we have been taught – 'there has to be doctrinal purity.' Why? The more we have indoctrinated ourselves the less we have looked like Jesus.

Jesus told Peter after His resurrection while walking down the beach of the Lake not to worry about John's future. John's path was between Him and John. John would do whatever was necessary and given to him. Jesus was dealing with individuals. Even in the book of Revelation, the epistles to 7 churches were to an individual first, 'the angel of'.
